THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 19 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY JANUARY 1, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

to do your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department. Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

We would be pleased to meet you at

M. Palmby's Big Sale

FRIDAY, JANUARY 9th

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

Klemme - - Iowa

Capital $15,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00
Total $30,000.00

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

Will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

TO HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Plant Will Be Installed In Next 30 Days

The Klemme Co-Operative Auto company last week closed a deal for an electric lighting plant and the same will likely be installed during the next 30 days. The plant will be sufficiently large enough to handle the whole town or any who desire to have electric lights. The outfit will consist of a large special electric Fairbanks-Morse engine, dynamo and a large amount of storage batteries There is now not any further excuse why the town should not be well lighted and it will undobtedly be so.

We cannot see any reason why the plant will not be a paying venture we know of towns even smaller than Klemme that have plants and they are making them pay out.

Now boys, let's have electroliers. And as Klemme is now known as the best town in the county, she will have the added honor of being the best lighted town in the county.

COLD BLOODED ATTEMPT TO COMMIT MURDER

On Wednesday about three o'clock, Jess Oxley shot down Melville Hillary on the street in cold blood apparently with premeditated deliberation.

As Hillary was coming from his dinner earlier in the day he came face to face with Oxley who was pushing a baby cart which he intentionally ran against Hillary and shoved him off the walk. Then when Hillary stepped back onto the walk Oxley ran and with an oath exclaimed, "I will get you before night." As Oxley [illegible] of Oxley, and ordered the mayor to issue papers and put the brother under restraint. This the mayor refused to do and Hillary was attempting to get a constable to go to Britt to get out papers for Oxley's arrest and when just in front of the pool hall Oxley stepped out of the door and just as he got opposite Hillary drew a thirty-two calibre gun from his pocket and shot Hillary, the ball entering the body about an inch below the heart and passed almost through the body, lodging just under the skin on the back. Hillary dropped unconscious and writhing on the walk while the assassin stood over the prostrate form and exclaimed, "D——n you, if you are not satisfied I can give you another." J. A. Ward had stepped from the hardware store when he heard the above remark and ran up and threw his arms around Oxley, holding him there till he was placed under arrest by the marshal, who afterward called up the sheriff. The sheriff came down and took Oxley to Forest City, where he was lodged behind the bars.

Oxley has been in bad repute for a long time and this is not the first time he has threatened to shoot as he drew a gun on Charles Martin five or six years ago.

It is too bad for the families as there are no better nor highly respected women living than the mothers of the would-be assassin and his victim.

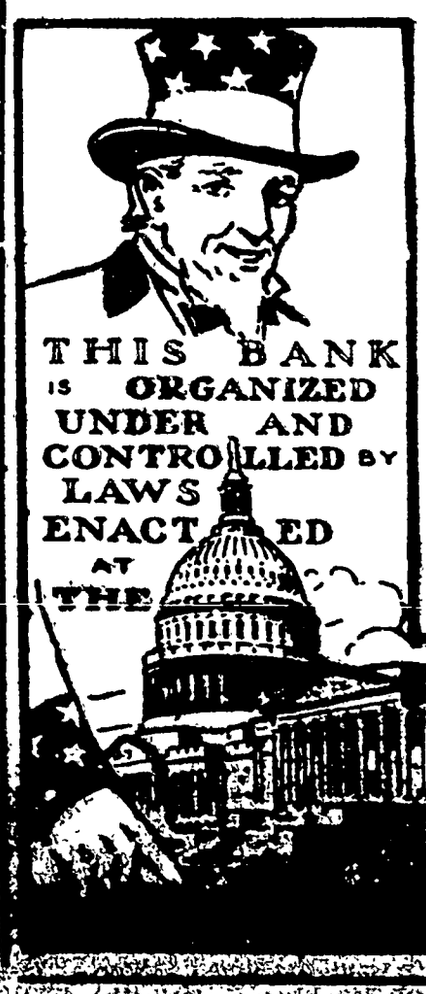
Hillary married the divorced wife of Oxley a number of months ago, which is no doubt the cause of the attempt upon his life.

As we go to press the victim is resting fairly well but in considerable pain and the doctors have no assurance of his recovery.—Corwith Hustler.

Oxley will be remembered by a number of Klemme people as he lived near here on a farm for a few years. The last reports state that Mr. Hillary is getting [illegible]

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00
Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU
Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.



Attend Gibbs' Short-Horn Sale Tuesday

January 6, 1914

35 Head of Cows, Heifers and Bulls

40 Duroc Jersey Gilts

4 Head of Horses

Sale Will Be Held Under Canvas

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants

"Moyer Gates Are Good Gates!"

I looked over nearly every gate on the market. I bought the MOYER in preference to all others. You will too when you look it over. Note the unusual features.

Heavy 1⅝" Steel Tube. Positive latch—opens easily—stays shut. Adjustable to all positions. Flexible Galvanized wire mesh. "You can't break a MOYER."

Will you put it up for 30 days' FREE trial?

Come in and see this Gate

Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

30 Days' FREE Trial — MOYER — 5 Years' Guarantee

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

PIANOS

G. F SCHULER Handles The

CABLE, NELSON PIANO

"THE GRAND OLD NAME," which stands for

ATTRACTIVENESS, TONE, DURABILITY

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Japanese advertisers believe in a lavish use of superlatives. "The paper we sell," runs the announcement in a Tokio stationer's window, "is as solid as the hide of an elephant." "Step inside" is the invocation of a big multiple shop in the same city. "You will be welcomed as fondly as a ray of sunshine after a rainy day. Our assistants are as amiable as a father seeking a husband for a dowerless daughter. Goods are dispatched to customers' houses with the rapidity of a shot from the cannon's mouth."

An automatic photographic apparatus for judging races has proved successful in France and will be used at the next Paris international race meeting A camera is placed in line with the winning post, and the winning horse, by breaking a thread, releases the electrically controlled shutter and a photograph of the finish is taken. A similar device was used at the last Olympic games at Stockholm, but there the phtographs were chiefly used as additional evidence in case of a disagreement between the judges.

The story of the wonderful wanderings of a bottle comes from Rochester, Pa A man named Mitchell is said to have thrown a bottle, containing a brief note, into the Beaver river when it was at flood heighth last spring. This bottle, it is said, was recently picked up on the Scottish coast. The bottle, to reach Scotland, had to float down the Ohio and Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico and be carried in the gulf stream across the Atlantic.

England's scheme to utilize the fiber of a seaweed, posidonia australis, as an admixture with wool in blankets, various kinds of cloth and for the warp of carpets appears to have come to grief An order in chancery was recently made for the compulsory winding up of the company engaged in exploiting this scheme Nevertheless, the process is held to be feasible.

Canada has almost an excess of acerbity in its politics Thus the Manitoba Free Press is in harmony with the usual style when it says "We have now the spectacle of a minister of education who introduced and sponsored amendments to the public schools act solemnly asking a private citizen of Manitoba what those amendments mean"

So many Norwegian emigrants now make their homes in the United States and have so prospered here that a feeling of kinship and sympathy with America exists, and for this reason alone the Norwegian would rather trade, conditions being nearly equal, with the United States than with most other foreign countries.

New cars that have been designed for the subway in New York city will provide seats for 78 persons, instead of 44 as at present The trains during rush hours will provide seats for 624 passengers out of 1,200, while at present only 440 seats are provided and 760 persons must stand

It is reported from London, by way of the yellow press, that the fashionable young men of that center of masculine fashion are trying to grow beards because brown derbies are the correct thing and it is not regarded as entirely proper to wear a brown derby with a smooth face

In the southern part of Lower California are valuable onyx beds These are owned and exploited by an American company which disposes of its entire product in the United States. The value of the onyx shipments from this district to the United States during 1912 was $69 000

Agricultural engineering is becoming a highly important subject in the agricultural colleges according to figures compiled by F B Jenks, of the United States bureau of education. Twenty of the state colleges now give specific instruction in this subject for prospective farmers.

The province of Almeria lies in the southermost part of Spain bordering on the Mediterranean sea. It comprises 3,360 square miles, and in 1909 had a population of 359 013 Almeria, with a population of over 50,000, is its capital and principal seaport

When cane-bottomed seats sag, sponge both sides of the cane with hot soapsuds in which a handful of salt has been dissolved, then stand the chair in the open air Treated like this the seats will become as firm as when new, shrinking into place.

Within a stone's throw of each other at Stonham Parva, Suffolk, England, live 28 persons whose ages aggregate 2,121 years One is 90, two 82, one 81, four 80, one 78, one 76, three 75, four 74, six 73, three 72, one 69 and one 68.

Of the total tonnage of vessels entering Vancouver during 1912, amounting to 5,237 010 for 10,657 ships, the American shipping contributed a tonnage of 463,796 and 1,041 vessels. Of these 53 were fishing vessels with a tonnage of 9,480.

Although there are nearly 53,000,000 sheep in the United States, they represent less than 5 per cent of the total number of domestic animals on the country's farms.

Prince Edward island is going in for the breeding of beef cattle. Registered Herefords, Galloways, Polled Angus and English Shorthorns are to be imported.

An Oregon farmer has discovered that he can raise larger onions on rich soil by tying threads around each plant to check the flow of sap to the tops.

A guard to be fastened to the head with straps to enable a man to shave the back of his neck safely and accurately has been patented.

Rural districts in Denmark show less than 1-29 of 1 per cent illiteracy. In the United States the corresponding figure is 10 per cent.

Germany exports about 70 per cent of the toys it produces The United States has been its best customer each year since 1905

POLICE LEARN THAT GORMAN LIED ABOUT SUICIDE INTENTION

Missing Webster City Man Said to Be in Chicago—Officers on His Trail.

Webster City, Ia., Dec. 20.—Police in this city today learned that Earl S. Gorman, who mailed a letter here to his wife from Des Moines telling her he was going to commit suicide, is alive and is in Chicago somewhere. His exact whereabouts are not known, but it is expected that he will be apprehended within a few days. Webster City people look upon his disappearance as a clear case of running away from creditors. The wife is destitute, with six children in her care.

The family came to Webster City last spring from Algona. When the family moved here one of the Algona papers openly warned Webster City merchants against extending credit. Gorman has always been a free spender and the wife and family always had all that money could buy—expensive clothes, an automobile, diamond rings and the like Authorities in Webster City from the very first gave little credence to Gorman's statement in the letter to his wife that he expected to commit suicide. His financial circumstances had been known here for some time and of late Gorman had spent little time in the city, preferring to follow his insurance soliciting in other towns. While the letter mailed from Des Moines to his wife, in which he told her he was going to commit suicide, created a sensation for a time, few persons here believed the threat would be executed.

EXPOSITION WONDER NOW DECIDED BACK NUMBER

Webster City, Ia., Dec 20 —Twenty years ago at the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago, a monster mogul engine, No 400, attracted the attention of throngs of people, especially mechanics and railroad men. The big machine was one of the most popular exhibits in machinery hall. It was then the largest locomotive ever turned out of any factory or locomotive works in the United States and the throngs of railroad men who admired it were astonished at its size. Almost of one accord they expressed the opinion that no larger engines would ever be made for railroad use. But the 20 years that have intervened have been epoch making in the construction of all kinds of machinery and this king of moguls has just been sent out for use on this division of the Northwestern line, running between Elmore, Minn., and Eagle Grove, Ia.

The monarch engine of 20 years ago is now only a baby, even among the "old timers" the Northwestern sends out for use on this branch division Uncle John Keith, who lives in Eagle Grove, takes the old exposition favorite out of the roundhouse every morning, hooks it onto the little four coach passenger train and run to Elmore and then in the afternoon pilots it back to Eagle Grove.

LIBERAL PRIZE OFFERINGS AT AMES CORN SHOW

Ames, Ia , Dec 20 —With 1,350 entries already booked and a list of $4,000 worth of prizes hung up, $2,000 of which is in cash, the 1914 show of the Iowa Corn and Grain Growers' association to be held at Ames, December 31 to January 9, 1914, will easily outrank all previous shows in interest and attendance

Many new exhibitors and several unusual competitions will give zest to the show Three-pound lots of alfalfa hay taken from the mow of the stack under practical conditions will be entered in the first alfalfa competition ever held in the state Under the auspices of the Iowa Experiment association, competitive exhibits of the heavy yielding "Iowa 103" oats and "Silver King," the new corn for northern Iowa, will be a new feature.

The most comprehensive soil and crop exhibit ever shown in Iowa will be the outstanding attraction of the show Samples of soil from every section of the state with charts showing their plant food content, and an analysis of the soil, will enable every farmer to see for himself the characteristics of the soil with which he is working. Tests for acidity, the liming of Iowa soils, commercial fertilizers and the results obtained in experiment with them, large soil maps, and samples of improved breeding stock of wheat, oats and corn, will give this exhibit large educational value.

NONE SATISFIED WITH COMPROMISE SYSTEM

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 20.—The action taken by the republican national committee, in Washington, Tuesday, will neither satisfy republicans nor pacify bull moosers in Iowa, if the views expressed in interviews with local leaders of both parties, yesterday, may be accepted as those of the rank and file they represent.

Practically every republican interviewed whose leanings are toward progressive republicanism expressed disappointment at the failure of the committee to call a special convention for party reorganization. Even bull moosers were surprised that such action was not taken, but the bull moosers found delight in the fact that it was not. By refusing to call the convention, the progressives said, the republican committee had confessed its control as being in the hands of the reactionary elements as the bull moosers have contended all along.

DIVORCED PAIR BOTH MARRIED AT SAME HOUR

Waterloo, Ia., Dec. 20.—At high noon last Monday, Margaret Smith Cowin, divorced wife of Rhey N. Cowin, wealthy real estate dealer, was married to Leonard Brown, a wealthy resident of California, at Los Angeles.

At the same time of the same day, Mr Cowin, who had been her husband, was united in marriage to Miss Mavorette Hallowell, society editor of a Waterloo newspaper, at St. Paul, Minn.

The peculiar affair wasn't in any way prearranged, because neither of the couples knew of the other's wedding plans, and both started for Vancouver unknown to each other, immediately after the ceremonies.

PECULIAR ELECTION CASE DUE TO DEATH ON EVE OF ELECTION

Dead Man Elected Following Day, But Next Candidate Claims Right in Court.

Carroll, Ia., Dec. 19.—One of the most peculiar election contests ever tried in this section is now in the hands of Judge Hutchinson and a decision is expected within a few days. The title of the case is Patten against Schirck, the designated defendant having died more than a year ago.

Schirck, who was a candidate for reelection, as a member of the board of supervisors, died on the night before election. Patten, who was the republican candidate, failed to receive as many votes as did Schirck, but going on the theory that a dead man could not be legally elected to office, has brought suit, claiming election to the office, alleging that the democratic county central committee was negligent in not having the name of another candidate written or stamped in one of the blank spaces on the ballot.

The board's contention is that as the ballots were distributed to the various precinct committeemen several hours prior to the death of Schirck and that as the news of his death was not generally known until after the polls were open, there was no opportunity to place another name on the ticket.

Should the judge rule there was no election, appointment will necessarily have to be made by the county auditor, clerk or recorder, in which event Patten's only recouse would be with the supreme court.

MOTHER REJOICES AT RESTORATION OF BABY

Council Bluffs, Ia., Dec 19 —Complete details of the baby abandonment case here furnish a strange story. It was fear of scandal from their neighbors that caused Mr. and Mrs. Olof Hofler, of Shelby county, to attempt concealment of the baby's arrival. They were married only last August.

They claim that they thought the baby was dead when they left it on the bank of the Missouri river and the mother seemed overjoyed to find that the little one still lives. There is a strong probability that all criminal charges will be dropped and that the affair will have a happy ending.

The parents are young and unsophisticated country people. They came to Council Bluffs in the vain hope of hiding from their friends the story that is now the talk of this section of the state. With the young people on their arrival here last night in company with Sheriff Roch, of Harrison county, were the parents of the young mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, a wealthy farmer, and also the father of young Hofler. They came to sustain the couple in their trouble and to aid them, if possible, in extricating themselves.

Repentant and crying for her babe, the child was hurriedly sent for and placed in its mother's arms The child had already nearly recovered from the exposure of nearly 24 hours, and had been given out for adoption, but its foster parents readily relinquished it when told the story.

RESULTS SECURED IN INCIPIENT TUBERCULOSIS

Des Moines, Ia , Dec 19.—Over 70 per cent of the incipient cases of tuberculosis received at the state sanatorium are later sent away able to live ordinary lives again and able to do ordinary work. So Dr. H. V. Scarborough, superintendent at Oakdale, declared before the quarterly conference of heads of state instiutions.

Dr Scarborough read a paper on some sanatorium results and presented an optimistic view of the situation

Not all of the cases at the sanatorium are incipient, it is found, for not counting those that are rejected off hand as beyond consideration it is found there are 40 per cent of the patients admitted who are in the last stage of consumption Of these last stage cases admitted to the place an average of approximately only one in six can be made able to return to ordinary living and work. A large majority of these cases will be dead at the end of three or four years.

CHIRIKOS DEFENSE TRIES TO CONNECT BURGESS

Mason City, Ia., Dec. 19.—The attorneys for Louis Chrikos, now on trial for urder, sprung an unsuspected attack on the state when they referred to A. B. Burgess as the one guilty of compelling his wife to kill the 3-months-old child. In support of their theory they claim that Burgess knew that he was not the father of the child, and he had more reason than anyone else to get rid of it. Mrs. Burgess' testimony was admitted and no effort was made by the defense to make it appear that she was an accomplice in the crime. It developed from her testimony that Burgess lived with his wife for some time prior to their marriage and that the child which was murdered was born five months after the wedding vows were taken. Mrs. Burgess held to the story tenaciously that her husband knew nothing of her illicit relations with Chirikos, that Chirikos was the father of the child and that he threatened to kill her if she did not kill the child.

TWO MILLION INCREASE IN COST OF SCHOOLS

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 19.—While the number of school houses in Iowa is on the decrease and the number of children of school age is not as great as formerly, school house property increased nearly $1,000,000 in value last year and nearly $2,000,000 was spent in the year for all school purposes more than the year before.

According to the report of the superintendent of public instruction, soon to be issued, the total number of school houses in Iowa at the close of the last fiscal year was 13,858, and they are valued at $30,422,000. The number of persons of school age, between 5 and 21 years, found on the count for school purposes, was 671,016, which is about 1,000 less than in the year before.

The expenditure for all school purposes in Iowa was $16,442,528, of which $9,614,221 went to pay the teachers and $6,828,307 for other purposes.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL TO HURRY PURCHASE CAPITOL ADDITIONS

Desire to Avoid Trouble About Taxes Assigned as Reason for Rush Order.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 18.—Now that the capitol grounds extension case has been decided, the executive council will proceed at once to close up a number of deals for property in the proposed addition. All that remains to complete a number of transactions is preparation of the deeds and sale of the warrants. Some of the persons from whom purchases of the ground are to be made indicated that they would be willing to accept the warrants themselves, now that they have been held to be constitutional evidences of the liability of the state.

The council plans to acquire deeds to as many pieces of property as possible before January 1, in order that the taxes shall not have to be paid out of the extension fund. All taxes on the property become operative on January 1 and if the state waits until after that date it will have to make this good in some way to the property owners with whom they have been negotiating.

At the request of Secretary Davison, Attorney General George Cosson began preparation today of special certificates or warrants and special deeds which will be used in the transfer of the property to the state. He and his assistants are already at work on a bunch of abstracts examining titles to various pieces of property. As soon as these can be approved it will be possible for the state to begin closing its transactions.

SUPREME COURT CLEARS STATUS OF SALOON PETITIONS

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 18.—Any misunderstanding that a general election is not a sufficient basis for a statement of consent for the operation of saloons which may have been created by the original opinions in the Fort Dodge saloon case was shown to be in error when the supreme court filed its amended opinion.

The court has used different language in the new opinion and does not fall into any "misleading" statements on the proposition. In fact, it goes to the trouble of specifying that either a city election or a general election may be sufficient, it being necessary only that the election be the last held in the city.

"It was the thought of the legislature," says the court in the significant portion of the amended opinion, "and expressed in the statute, that the voters residing in such city who voted at the last preceding election should alone be competent to sign such petition of consent. This evidently refers to the last preceding election held in the city, whether a regular city election or at a general election in which the voters participated, and it is apparent that, with such limitations there must be some way of determining who voted, and so the poll lists of that last preceding election were designated as the proper source of information and regulating the sale of liquors therein, and, therefore, when it speaks of 'elections' it refers to those elections held in cities, whether for the election of the city officers or a general election as defined in 1089 of the code."

YORK MAILED LETTER SIGNED BY "THE PRINCE"

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 18.—George H. York, the Colfax grocer, claimed a letter at the Colfax postoffice signed "The Prince," addressed "J. B. Edwards," Des Moines, and which contained $10, after the letter was returned from the dead letter office.

This was the statement of George Stouffer, substitute clerk at the Colfax postoffice, on the witness stand in Coroner James M. Lee's probe of the Cashier Wheelock case

What connection the letter has with the Wheelock case Coroner Lee has not yet established in the inquest. He has so far failed to identify "J. B. Edwards." The letter stated, according to Stouffer, that "The Prince" was sending $10 to be of some help to "J. B. Edwards." Coroner Lee declares he is going to the bottom of the circumstances surrounding the letter in an attempt to discover whether or not it can throw any light on the Wheelock case.

HEAD CAMP OFFICIALS ACCUSED OF TREACHERY

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 18.—That administration officials of the Modern Woodmen are guilty of double dealing in their attitude on the rate question was the charge made by officials of the Iowa Modern Woodmen assembly meeting in Des Moines yesterday.

While Head Counsel Talbott of the administration force is assuring the membership that nothing more is being done on the rate question and that it is settled until the next head camp, he and his assistants are prosecuting an appeal of the Bradshaw decision in Iowa to have the injunction against the raise in rates revoked, they say. Attorneys for the head officers have served on C. W. Lyon of Des Moines, attorney for the Iowa insurgents, a voluminous abstract of the case, showing plainly that they intend to prosecute the appeal.

THREE GO OVER SPILLWAY OF BIG KEOKUK DAM

Keokuk, Ia., Dec. 18.—Ira E. Spangler, Charles A. Halback and J. Will Huiskamp had a miraculous escape from death when Huiskamp's boat drifted with a dead engine into the water flowing over the spillway in the crosswall between the lock and power house.

The boat was outside of the wall, and was carried into the water rushing over the 30-foot spillway.

Huiskamp and Halback both wore life preservers and swam out near the lock, but Spangler who cannot swim a stroke, lost his life preserver. He was miraculously carried onto a rock which kept his head out of water until he was rescued.

The accident occurred at the same spot where two men lost their lives last spring

RAILROAD COMPANY PAYS TWO IDA COUNTY CLAIMS

Ida Grove, Ia., Dec. 18.—Two damage suits against the Northwestern railroad were settled in district court here, the company paying big claims for injuries caused by trains at this place and at Battle Creek.

In March of the present year the 5-year-old son of F. M. Damerow, of this city, was struck at a railroad crossing inside the city limits, and for a time it was thought that his injuries would prove fatal. He has entirely recovered and settlement for his injuries was made in the sum of $600 the company in addition, paying all the bills for treatment.

Two children, of J. F. Stolley, of Battle Creek, were picking flowers along the railroad rightofway in June, and in crossing a cattle guard just east of town the little boy got his foot caught While his sister was endeavoring to release him the Des Moines and Sioux City passenger train came around a curve and before the engineer could bring his train to a stop the engine struck the children, killing the boy and injuring the girl so badly that she will be a cripple for life. The little girl who was about 10 years old, could have escaped without being injured, but she clung to her brother until the train struck them in her effort to save his life.

Suit was brought by the father for $8,000, for the death of the boy and the injuries of the girl, and settlement was made by the railroad company for $6 600, including all hospital bills

A peculiar coincidence is the fact that both accidents were caused by the same train, although in charge of different crews.

MANY DAMAGE SUITS ACCOUNT AUTO ACCIDENT

Carroll, Ia., Dec. 18.—District court is now in session and the first cases up for trial will be the Dudley damage suits, growing out of the fatal automobile accident at the Ralston crossing 12 miles east of there, when Chicago and Northwestern train No. 12 on the 10th of last June ran into the Dudley party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs R. M. Dudley, their two daughters Louise and Rebecca, and colored chauffeur, Ike Bass. The two daughters were killed outright, Mr. Dudley and chauffeur were injured, while Mrs Dudley escaped injury. Suits have been brought as follows: R. M. Dudley, $12,000; Mrs. Dudley, $10,000; Louise and Rebecca (through administrator), $25,000 each, and Ike Bass, $10,000 against the Chicago & Northwestern and C. A. Spalding, the engineer jointly.

BLOODHOUNDS USED IN CHASE AFTER BANDITS

Council Blus, Ia., Dec. 18.—Particulars of a sensational robbery and a chase with bloodhounds, occurring near Blanchard, have reached here. Three bandits who did not take the trouble to cover their faces entered the home of Thomas Sellars, overpowered Sellars, who is 100 years old, his niece, Mrs. Crookston, and a friend, Mr. Hathaway. The three were bound with a clothes line and tied to beds and chairs Hathaway managed to loosen his bonds secured a shotgun and opened fire on the robbers. In the battle that ensued the robbers escaped. A man hunt lasting all night and part of the day, with many thrills, resulted in the capture of the trio, who were positively identified by Mr. Hathaway. There is much feeling in the community against the bandits.

WATERLOO DRY SLEUTH ACQUITTED OF ASSAULT

Waterloo, Ia., Dec. 18.—The state failed to prove a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, preferred against George F. Moore, a detective for the temperance association.

While making a raid on a colored colony, Moore shot Lawrence McClinton through the scalp.

Justice Tullar, after hearing evidence discharged Moore and released his bond for $1,000. Moore claimed he shot in self defense.

Moore, after his tempestuous experiences, left yesterday to visit his mother and sister in Effingham, Ill. Not only was he twice severely assaulted, but the jury refused to consider his evidence in the bootlegging case on trial in the district court.

SUSPENDED ANIMATUM CASE PUZZLES DOCTORS

Dubuque, Ia., Dec. 18.—The case of an 8-year-old girl, Myrtle Darling, a patient at Finley hospital, is baffling local physicians. During the day the child is unable to move a muscle of her body and lies in bed perfectly helpless. She has absolutely no power over her limbs or arms, and is said to be a perfect example of that contradiction in terms, a living corpse. At night however, when sleeping, it has been noticed that her arms sometimes move and frequently she has gone to sleep with her arms resting by her sides and in the morning they have been found above her head. The patient is able to converse and enjoys stories read or told with all zest of a normal child.

MRS. PATRICK WILL FIGHT ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 18.—"I do not care if Charles Bates gets a divorce from me, but I will fight his attempt to annul our marriage." This is the attitude of Mrs. Maude Patrick, the 40-year-old bride of the 16-year-old high school boy, expressed in court here today.

Charles Bates, through his mother is petitioning to have his marriage with Mrs. Patrick in Chicago last summer annulled, claiming that he was tricked into it.

"This is my baby, and Bates is the father," she sobbed as she picked up the 3-month-old child and displayed it to the judge. Mrs. Patrick claims she is the granddaughter of the late Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts.

OPEN FIELD IN TENTH FOR NAVAL EXAMINATION

Fort Dodge, Ia., Dec. 18.—Instead of following the usual custom of designating candidates to take the naval academy entrance examination, Congressman Woods, of the Tenth district, has provided for an open competitive examination, to be held at Fort Dodge December 29. Applicants must be between the ages of 15 and 20 years and the candidates making the best showing will get the recommendation. The announcement explains that algebra and geometry are the most important studies in the final examination.

FAULTY PLANS CAUSE OF CONCRETE WRECK

Expert Engineer Criticises Use of Tile and Concrete in Combination.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Dec. 20.—That the collapse of the Lyman building in this city on November 14, which resulted in the death of seven men, was not due to faulty or insufficient false work, but rather to the building design is the opinion rendered in a report made to the Master Builders' association of Iowa by C A. P Turner of Minneapolis.

In his report, which is somewhat lengthy, he states that numerous accidents of a similar nature and loss of life have occurred in buildings where the concrete and tile method of construction was used. In the Lyman building the floors were of building tile laid in rows about four inches apart, with the spaces between filled with concrete and about two inches of concrete on top of the tile. Mr. Turner contends that this method of construction makes a floor that is incapable of sustaining a sudden shock.

He also criticises the manner in which the columns on the upper floors were constructed, and gives it as his opinion that the collapse was caused by the giving away of one of these columns on the fifth floor. He states that the use of cold water in mixing concrete while the average temperature was 50 degrees was also a mistake, and criticises the superintending engineer for not instructing the contractor in this connection.

TWINS! PROUD PA THEN FALLS DEAD

Stork Delivers Double Order And Parent Dies While Phoning Doctor.

Speermore, Okla. Dec. 20.—Samuel Bealmer, a young farmer living here, fell dead today when twins were born to his wife.

When the stork came earlier than expected, Bealmer called up a Speermore physician over the telephone and, after asking excitedly that the physician come quickly, fell with the receiver in his hand and the message unfinished.

A woman neighbor assisted him to another room and when the doctor arrived he found the father dead of heart disease. The mother was kept in ignorance of the tragedy and the infants are doing well.

YUAN WILL DISSOLVE CHINESE PARLIAMENT

President of Republic Finds Administrative Council Is More Effective.

Peking, Dec. 20.—A mandate issued by President Yuan Shi Kai today expressed full approval of a petition suggesting the definite termination of the Chinese parliament. The petition purports to come from Gen. Li Yuen Heng, vice president of the republic and is signed by the military and civil governors of all the provinces. The Chinese parliament met for the first time on April 8 this year, but was never afterward able to bring together a quorum of its members. The round robin advising the president to dissolve it permanently says in part:

"The Chinese parliament enacted no important law in the seven months of its existence and will not do so if it be permitted to continue for a hundred years.

"Vice President Li Yuen Heng and other prominent citizens of the republic cannot continue to remain silent while the country goes to destruction. The administrative council now convened in Peking is a more useful body than the old parliament. The council is similar to the convention formed by the 13 states which assisted George Washington in the revision of the American constitution.

"We and the whole of the Chinese people disapprove of the conduct of the bad members of the parliament and foreigners likewise disapprove of it. Therefore the president of the republic need not hesitate."

President Yuan Shi Kai has submitted the question to the administrative council which was formed on November 11 by the president. It has 71 members including cabinet officers and others appointed by the president and the provincial governors. It holds its meetings within the palace where Vice-president Li Yuen Heng now resides with President Yuan Shi Kai.

ETHERLANDS ENTERS PACT WITH UNCLE SAM

Washington, D. C, Dec. 20.—Secretary Bryan and Chevalier Van Rapard, Netherlands minister, yesterday gned a treaty providing that any estion between the United States and e Netherlands which cannot be tled by diplomacy shall be sumbitted investigation to an international mmission of five members. The iod of investigation is fixed at one r, although it may be shortened. his is the first treaty between the ted States and a European nation ed upon Secretary Bryan's peace n. Similar treaties have been otiated with five central American ions.

NO PEANUT TRUST.

ashington, Dec. 20.—There is no ut trust and the price of the peas largely determined by the size of in the United States and Spain, rding to investigators of the dement of justice who have concluded quiry into the subject. Charges to Attorney General McReynolds dealers in Virginia and North Car controlled the market and fixed have not been borne out by the tigation, and a suit under the rust act is not now contemplated.

ATLANTIC TRANSPORT LINES IN RATE WAR

Shipping Pool, Which Soon Expires, Likely Will Not Be Renewed.

New York, Dec. 20.—News from London that a severe Atlantic rate war is imminent was read with interest by shipping men here today.

While recent advices have failed to carry any intimation as to the progress of the negotiations to bring about a renewal of the Atlantic shipping pool, it was hoped here that the present agreement, which expires December 31, would be extended for another year and that the work of reconstructing the pool could be satisfactorily accomplished

The beginning of the present state of unrest in the shipping pool extends back to October 1, when the Hamburg-American line denounced the agreement as being partial to the North German Lloyd

A rate war would involve all the British and continental lines.

BIG RUSH NOW ON TO WATER STOCKS

Chicago, Dec. 20.—The last Illinois legislature provided the state with a public utilities commission. All the states have been solicited for such a commission, but not by the people who are interested in the utilities only as customers.

A curious result has followed the creation of the Illinois commission. The commission has not yet been appointed, but big corporations of the state are not waiting for that. Rather, they have anticipated the coming of the commission by increasing their capital stock in the enormous sum of $200,000,000 since September 1, affording the state a filing fee of $200,000. Normally within that time and under ordinary financial conditions, the state would receive from that source about $25,000.

"While there is more or less uncertainty surrounding the probable effect of the enforcement of the provisions of the so-called public utilties commission law, which becomes effective the first of the year, one thing is comparatively well settled now, and that is that a number of the big corporations subject to its provisions have attempted to fortify themselves against it," said a state official

"Taking time by the forelock public service corporations have made tremendous increases in their capital stock, mergers and consolidations have taken place, bylaws have been amended and changes made, and now the casual observer might take it for granted that big business, as represented in the stocks and bonds of public utilities, awaits the coming of the new year and consequent covering of the new law in contented security.

"Big corporations are usually wise ones in matters of legislation when they are to be affected thereby. The present law, in my judgment, was no suprise to them. In fact, there are people both unkind and indiscreet enough to suggest that the new law is exactly what the larger and wiser corporations wanted

Show No Fear of Law.

"It follows without argument that a corporation which is willing to pay a fee of $50,000 to the state for the privilege of increasing its capital stock a possible $50,000,000 is not afraid of the law under which it must operate. And this is not all. It would seem to be also strong evidence that a private corporation, subject to control, has little fear of the competition to be expected from municipal owned and controlled public utilities under the law authorizing them on the one hand and exempting them on the other.

Some of Little Concerns.

"In this class will be found county and township mutual telephone companies, gas and electric light companies in the smaller cities, towns and villages; warehouses, cold storage and ice plants, elevators, etc., in small towns, and the rural districts, and which come under the provisions of this act. These little concerns, as a rule, cannot afford to retain lawyers, except in emergency cases. Consequently they may not be prepared for the changes that await them.

Only two weeks are left for preparation and while able attorneys have been busy for months building fortifications for their corporation clients, the people's interests, to all intents and purposes, have been apparently wrapped in peaceful slumbers waiting the dawn of the new year, with its possible contingency, as well as experiment of a newly appointed and untried commission vested with broad and comprehensive discretionary powers upon the all important subjects of physical valuation, rate classification, uniform accounting, capitalization, merger, consolidations, the issuance of stocks, bonds and notes, etc."

WANT EMBARGO LIFTED ON DISEASED POTATOES

Washington, Dec. 20.—Whether common Irish potatoes from Canada, New Foundland, Great Britain, Ireland and continental Europe shall be barred from the United States because of the danger of importation of dangerous plant diseases, or shall be admitted under the same restrictions as apply to nursery stock, was the subject of a hearing before the federal horticultural board at the direction of Secretary Houston.

T. P. Gill, secretary of agriculture for Ireland; Dr H. T. Gussow, an expert of the Canadian department of agriculture, and G. F. O'Halloran, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada, were among those who spoke in favor of the admission of foreign potatoes.

Representations have been made to the American department of agriculture that in view of the short domestic potato crop caused by last summer's drought the exclusion of foreign potatoes would go far toward raising prices in the United States.

At the outset Secretary Houston said the question under consideration was not the lifting of embargo against diseased potatoes, but whether a quarantine should be absolute or administered in such a way as to admit the entry of potatoes properly passed by government experts.

AVIATORS DROP RAIN OF BOMBS ON MOORS

Spaniards Rout Tribesmen With Great Slaughter—Air Craft Prove Useful.

Madrid, Dec. 20.—A large force of Moorish tribesmen was routed with heavy loss yesterday by the Spanish troops at Muley Abselam, Spanish Morocco.

Spanish military aviators threw the Moors into disorder with showers of bombs.

The Spaniards attacked the Moors with a brigade of sharpshooters a battalion of infantry, four batteries of artillery and a large body of native auxiliaries

When the order for the general advance of the Spanish column was given the advance guard encountered several thousand of Moorish mountaineers concealed in the irregularities of the ground.

A flotilla of military aviators was sent to reconnoiter. By means of signals, the aviators guided the column of Spanish troops. A heavy artillery fire was opened by the Spaniards without effect The aviators then ascended to an altitude out of range of rifle fire and flew directly over the places where the Moors were in the greatest numbers. Then came what the dispatch to the Spanish war office described as a "veritable rain of bombs tossed by hand by the airmen into the midst of the Moors"

After this bombardment, the Spanish infantry charged with the bayonet and dislodged the Moors from their positions, causing them to flee in great disorder, leaving large numbers of dead and wounded on the field

The Spanish troops also lost a considerable number of men, as the rifle fire of the tribesmen was very accurate.

CHICKEN THIEVES LEAVE MOTOR CAR

Farmer Pulls Spark Plug, Then Fires and Culprits Flee To Brush.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 20 —An Orfordville farmer today possesses an automobile and a couple of empty sacks which he looks on as Christmas presents from college students.

The farmer hear a noise near his hen coop, and seizing his shot gun, went forth and saw two thieves in his hen roost. On the road stood an automobile with no lights. The farmer removed the spark plug from the machine and returning to the hen roost fired over the heads of the thieves who dropped their plunder and ran for their automobile. Failing to start the machine they plunged into the brush and escaped toward Beloit. The farmer is awaiting a call from the owners who, he thinks, may be Beloit college students.

PRESIDENT SIGNS WATER GRANT ACT

Washington, Dec. 20.—President Wilson today signed the Hetch Hetchy bill granting a public water supply to San Francisco. He accompanied his signature with a statement declaring that he believed that the public needs of the region concerned were served by the bill without impairing the usefulness of the public domain.

"I have signed this bill because it seemed to serve the pressing public needs of the region concerned better than they could be served in any other way, and yet did not impair the usefulness or materially detract from the beauty of the public domain.

"The bill was opposed by so many public spirited men, thoughtful of the interests of the people and of fine conscience in every matter of public concern that I have naturally sought to scrutinize it very closely. I take the liberty of thinking that their fears and objections were not well founded. I believe the bill to be, on the whole, in the public interest, and I am the less uncertain in that judgment because I find it concurred in by men whose best energies have been devoted to conservation and the safeguarding of the people's interests, and many of whom have beside had a long experience in the public service which has made them circumspect in forming an opinion on such matters."

The president's signature ends San Francisco's long fight for a city water supply site in the valley of the Tuolumne river in the northwestern part of the Yosemite National park. San Francisco already owns a large amount of land in the Hetch Hetchy valley, and under the new law may erect a huge dam, flooding government land, may construct conduits and buildings and construct a plant for the incidental production of water power to supply the city. It is expected that at least 10 years will be required to complete the work and carrying the water through the 150-mile conduits to San Francisco. Settlers on irrigated lands in the San Joaquin valley who get water from the Tuolumne river, will be permitted under the new law to take electric power from the San Francisco plant at cost.

PRETENDER TO FRENCH THRONE HAS ACCIDENT

Brussels, Belgium, Dec. 20.—The Duke of Orleans, pretender to the throne of France, broke his arm today while skating in an ice rink here. He collided with another skater so violently that both were unconscious for a few minutes.

Dr. J. Recamier, of Paris, was summoned and found one of the duke's arms broken, but no other serious injuriy.

A suit for separation from the duke was started in May last by the Duchess, formerly Archduchess Marie Dorothea, of Austria, who demanded alimony and the restitution of large sums of money advanced to her husband.

The duke has since been on a visit to South America and returned to Europe last month

EQUITY LEAGUE WILL HAVE MARKET BUREAU

Plan to Sell Produce Direct From Farm to Consumer in City.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 19—Co-operative markets through which produce would be sold direct from the farm to the consumer are planned by the Farmers' Equity union, now in session at Kansas City, Kan

Delegates from eight of the middle western states are present The establishment of a market in Kansas City is the proposal under consideration today So far the union has devoted most of its efforts to acquiring elevators and selling the grain of its members direct to the millers

Officers of the union were elected as follows

C O Drayton, re-elected president; R Homer Liberal, Kan vice-president, directors, L F Hoffmann, Mott N D, D W Reed, Lux, Neb. and M Waters, Uma, Colo

FATALLY SHOOTS HIS BRIDE OF NINE DAYS

Girl Wife Threatened to Leave Him, He Says—Begs Her Forgiveness.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 19 —John F Conrad, aged 31, salesman for a local fish company, shot and fatally wounded Mrs Catherine Conrad, 19, his bride of nine days at their apartment here today After the shooting Conrad wrote to his mother, who lives in Toledo, Ohio, the story of the crime, while waiting at his home for the police. Conrad told the police he shot his wife because she had threatened to leave him.

Just before being taken to a police station, Conrad went to the bed where his wife lay and begged her forgiveness.

"Go away" exclaimed the girl. "If I am to die, I never want to see you again. My love has turned to hate."

Mrs Conrad was formerly Miss Catherine Reese, of Cleveland, Ohio

FEDERAL ARMY TO TAKE FIELD AGAIN

Ojinaga, Mex., Dec. 19.—The dispatch of large quantities of rations across the border from Presidio today following the receipt of urgent messages from the war department at Mexico City, ordering Gen. Salvador Mercado to take the offensive against the constitutionalists, gave rise to a belief that the federal troops which have been entrenched here since their retreat from Chihuahua were preparing to attack the Villa forces.

Mercado had previously stated that unless the rebels attacked Ojinaga soon the federals would leave for the interior. He then announced that he would try to recapture Chihuahua, but it is believed here that, should he actually assume the aggressive, he would more likely moved toward Juarez, which is less strongly defended than it was before Villa took a large part of his army to Chihuahua.

Some of the federal officers today expressed the belief that the capture of Juarez would be more advantageous to the federal cause than that of Chihuahua on account of the importance of the former place as a port of entry.

REBELS TO AUTHORIZE REOPENING OF MINES

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, Dec. 19.—Mine owners in territory under the control of the Mexican constitutionalist government may resume the operation of their properties whenever they see it. It was announced today by Ignacio Bonillas, secretary of industry in the Carranza cabinet, that if mining men desiring to work mines located in the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Sinaloa and Durango would apply to the constitutionalist department of fomento, colonization and industry, located here, they would receive the necessary permits to resume operations.

Under the Mexican mining laws, the mining property may not be worked until formal permits to do so have been issued by the federal government. It was said that many American and other foreign mining men holding property in the territory mentioned had found it impossible to secure the proper authorization from the government at Mexico City and for this reason the mining industry in the north was in a state of stagnation.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT IS UNABLE TO FLOAT LOANS

Paris, Dec. 19.—The efforts of the Mexican government to raise money in Europe in order to meet the interest on its obligations falling due in January have thus far been futile. The Paris and London banks, which took $20,000,000 of the loan authorized by the Mexican congress in the spring and an option on the unissued remainder, decline to exercise their option even for a few millions.

The Mexican minister of finance, Adolfo De La Lama, now in Europe, brought with him authority from General Huerta to intimate to the banks here holding the option that they must either exercise it or surrender it. The bankers refuse to do either.

CONFERS WITH LIND.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Dec. 19.—The Russian minister to Mexico Dr. Alexander De Stalevski conferred today for some time with John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson. The Russian diplomat is on his way to visit the Panama canal. He sailed on board the Morro Castle for Havana.

ACTION DEFERRED.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Democrats of the House rules committee conferred today over prospective investigation of the Colorado coal strike and the Michigan copper strike, but concluded to defer action.

PRESIDENT TO TAKE MUCH NEEDED REST

Wilson Will Recuperate Somewhere in Sunny South—Reception Tonight.

Washington, Dec. 19—President Wilson will give his first cabinet dinner tonight at the White House. A few invited guests, outside the cabinet, will be present, among them John Purroy Mitchel, mayor-elect of New York. It will be the first state function of the season and will be followed with dinners by cabinet members to the president and the usual official receptions.

The New Year's reception will not be held this year as the president is going away for the Christmas holidays. There is a possibility that the diplomatic reception, set for January 6, may be delayed a few days to give the president a longer rest in a southern climate.

The agreement, to vote on the currency bill in the Senate, with prospects of its being brought to the president for signature next Monday or Tuesday, have made Mr. Wilson's plans for a vacation more definite. He will leave Washington immediately after signing the bill and will be away for at least two weeks and possibly three. It has not yet been announced to what place the president will go, but the selection is said to have narrowed down to some point on the Mississippi coast or Asheville, N. C.

The president had few engagements for today. He arranged to take part in planting an elm tree on the White House lawn on the spot where the Cleveland elm was uprooted by a storm some time ago.

PREMIUM OFFERED FOR ALL TRIPLETS

California County Will Give $100 Reward For Each New Trio.

Santa Ana, Cal., Dec. 19.—The county board of supervisors is on official record today with a standing offer of $100 reward for each set of triplets born in Orange county. The first reward has been given to Mrs. Otto H. Summers, of the San Joaquin ranch, who recently presented her husband with three little Summers at once. The board of supervisors formally voted Mrs Summers $100 and on motion of Supervisor Leck the board decided to make a standing reward for all triplets.

NEW BORN BABY IS HURLED FROM TRAIN

Authorities Start Search for Clew to Mysterious California Crime.

Truckee, Cal., Dec. 19.—Rigid in death and covered with hoar frost, the naked body of a newly born infant was discovered by a section gang beside the Southern Pacific railroad track near Blue Canyon, at 7 o'clock this morning The Placer county authorities are investigating the matter.

The Overland limited, enroute east, passed through Sacramento at 2 30 o'clock this mornang and the westbound Overland passed through this city at 10:25 o'clock last night.

The child may have been thrown from either of these trains.

George Green, special agent of the Southern Pacific in Sacramento, has telegraphed all conductors on trains which have passed over the line within the last 24 hours requesting that a thorough investigation be made of the drawing rooms, state rooms and berths on Pullman cars. Green inclines to the opinion that the birth occurred on some train and that the mother and father threw the infant out of the window

MRS. WHEELOCK SURE CORPSE IS HER HUSBAND

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 19.—Mrs. M. B. Wheelock, widow of the late Colfax cashier, set at rest all doubt as to whether the body found in the Des Moines river was that of her husband when she took the witness stand at the coroner's inquest today. She declared the corpse was that of Wheelock and that the coat found on the river bank was his. She also identified the note which he wrote her, telling of contemplated suicide, as his own handwriting.

It was stated today that Wheelock's interest in the bank will be sold and the bank reopened. Mrs. Wheelock and her brotherinlaw have pledged their personal fortunes to make good to depositors.

RARE SET OF BOOKS PRINTED BY FRANKLIN

Philadelphia, Dec. 19.—A rare set of law books, printed by Benjamin Franklin, was purchased here yesterday by the New York state library for $415. The documents, which consisted of 17 folios, executed between 1759 and 1764, were part of the collection of Robert F. Skutch, of Baltimore, and are considered among the best specimens of Franklin papers in existence. A portrait in water colors of Charles Willson Peale, who painted the first portrait of George Washington, which was executed by himself, was sold for $70.

"HONEY FITZ" DROPS OUT.

Boston, Dec. 19.—Maj John F. Fitzgerald announced his withdrawal from the mayoralty contest. An illness which kept him in bed 10 days after he collapsed suddenly while making a personal investigation of the Arcadia lodging house fire, is given as the reason for his action. It is said that the mayor has no organic trouble and that after a rest he will be himself again.

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E. Baumgartner.

To Our Readers

We owe our readers an apoligy for not issuing a paper last week. We moved into our new home last week and took up so much of our time that we were unable to get out a paper. We have a very large amount of work in our job department just now and hope to be able to get some help so we can give the paper more attention.

This week we sent for some linotype composition which should have reached us Thursday morning but became lost in transit and did not arrive until Saturday morning and greatly delayed us with this issue

A word about the future We expect to make the paper more interesting during the coming year and one of the features will be the "Literary Convulsions" which will be found on the supplement this issue. We also wish to secure several neighborhood correspondents. If business permits we will enlarge the paper and add to our epuipment.

We wish to thank the good people of this vicinity for the many kindnesses shown us since we came here and wish all of our readers a most happy and prosperous New Year.

M. M MAGNER.

Poland China Boars For Sale

I have a number of good young Pure Bred Poland China Boars for sale. Weigh from 175 to 225 each. Immune from hog cholera.

11 3 O. E. Carlson.

VISION

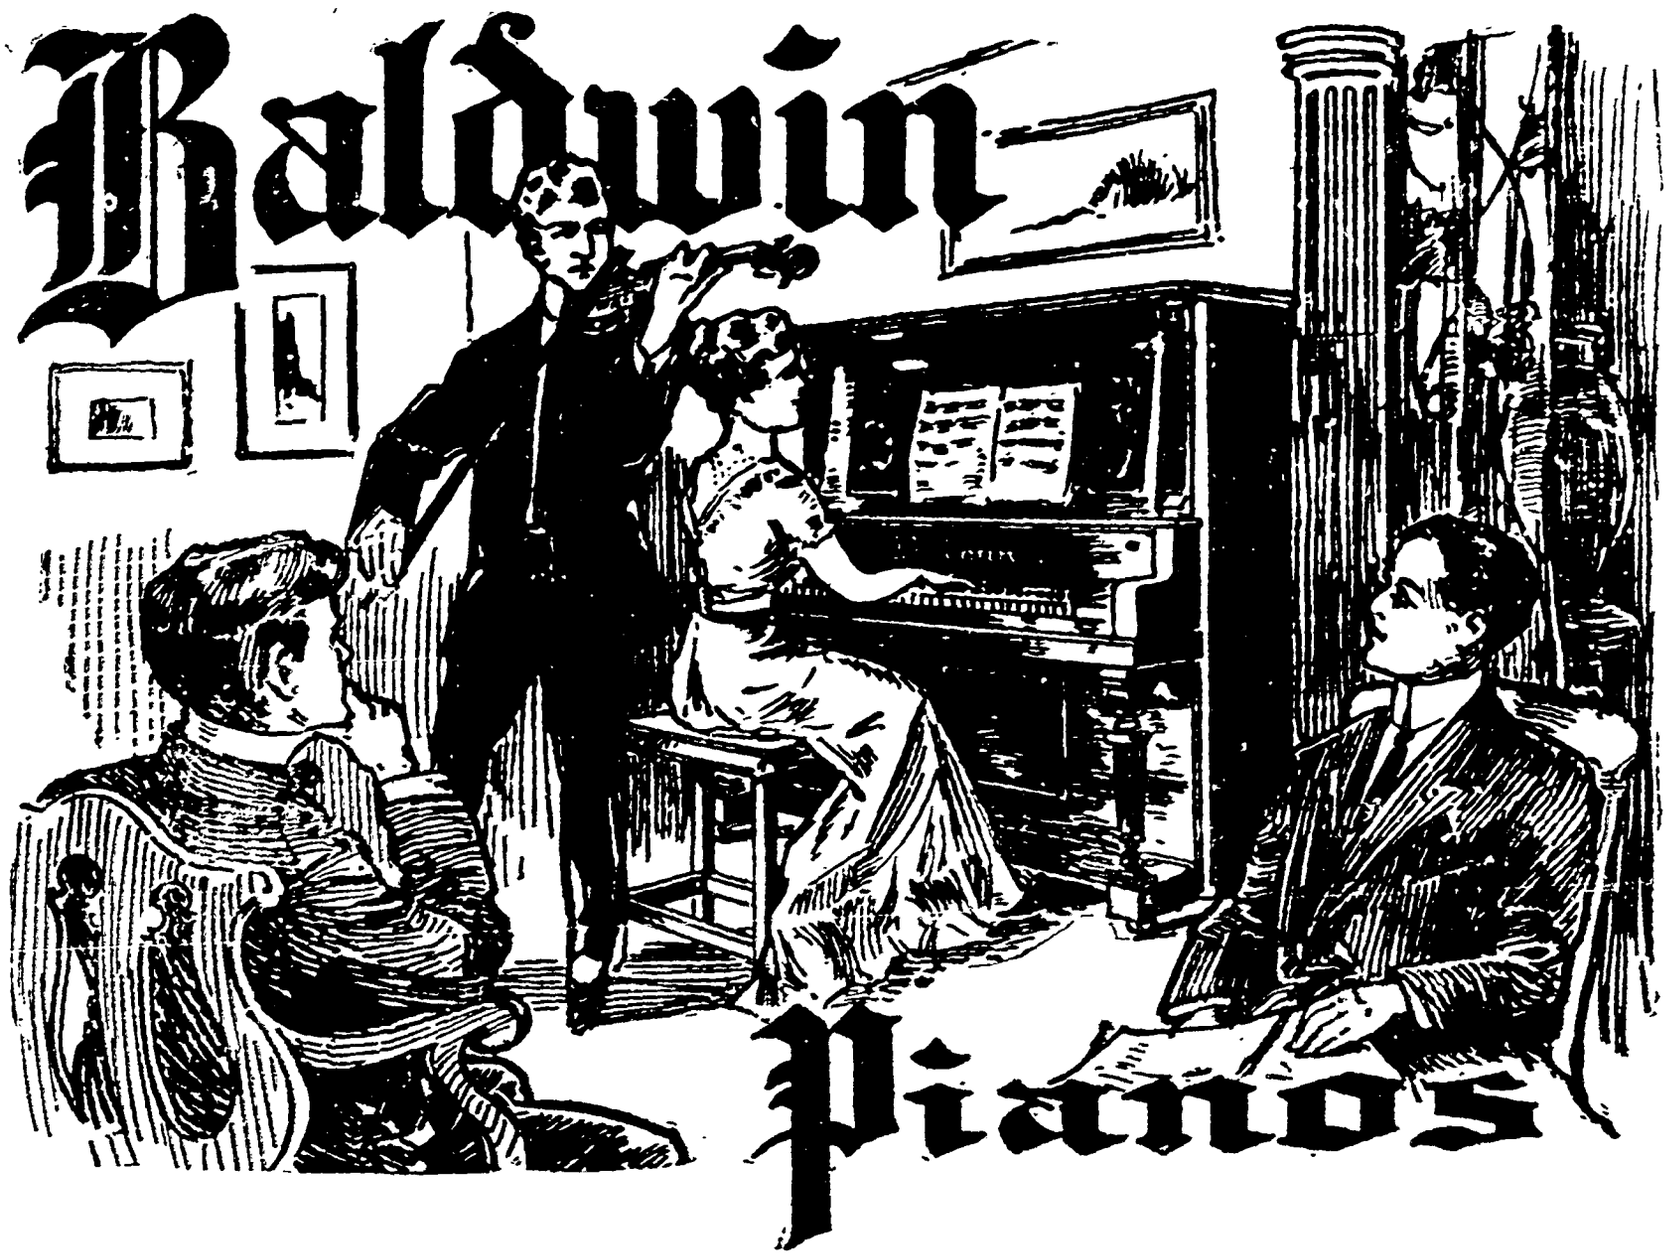
is priceless. The wonderful delicacy of the eye is injured when aches and pains are allowed to go unheeded. Insure your eyes against harm from strain and disease by a pair of glasses carefully fitted by

A. C, KELLY

Registered Optometrist of of Minneapolis

At Klemme Hotel Wed. Jan. 7th

To meet the eye of those with eye troubles. this advertisement is inserted It is my business to make eye tests, to provide the necessary SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES. and return every sixty days to KLEMME.



ANNOUNCEMENT
TO THE
PEOPLE OF KLEMME & VICINITY

We have taken the agency for the Baldwin Line of Pianos and Organs among which is the following well-known and ever satisfactory brands, BALDWIN, ELLINGTON, HAMILTON, HOWARD, and VALLEY GEM. Every one of these instruments are guaranteed to be satisfactory in every respect for no less a term than 10 years by the Baldwin Company, the largest, and one of the most reliable piano manufacturers in the World. This not idle hearsay, and if you want facts come in and we will prove it.

When you purchase a piano you should get full value for your money. Do not be mis-led by some shrewd salesman or traveling fakir—they are not out for their health or yours. They will tell you they can sell a piano cheaper than a local dealer as they buy in car load lots. Their selling expenses per instrument is more than they save by purchasing instruments in large quantities, and besides if they sell you a good, standard instrument, they cannot buy them a cent cheaper whether they buy one or one hundred—think this over before you give an order to a stranger.

On account of a small amount of room we will not carry a large stock of instruments on the floor for the present but will be able to get any instrument you might want on very short notice.

PIANOS AND PLAYER PIANOS
$150. TO $1200

CALL IN AND SEE US MAGNER AT THE TIMES OFFICE

PUBLIC AUCTION!

As I have sold my farm and expect to move to Minnesota I will offer at Public sale to the highest bidder without reserve on my farm 2 miles east of Klemme, the following described property, to-wit, on

FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1914

Commencing at 10:00 o'clock a. m., sharp. Free lunch at noon by A. Kirkwood & Son. All machinery will be absolutely sold before lunch.

102 HEAD OF STOCK 102

12 Head of Horses 12

Black Gelding, coming 4 years, weight about 1500; Sorrel Gelding coming 5 years, weight 1400; Black Mare coming 3 years, weight about 1300; Black Mare 7 years old, with foal, weight 1500; Black Gelding coming 2 years; Sorrel Gelding coming 2 years; Black Mare 10 years old, weight 1400; Black Gelding 5 years old, 1200; Black Stud coming 3 years, weight about 1500; 3 Suckling colts.

40 Head of Cattle 40

12 milk cows, some fresh, balance fresh soon; 3, 2-year-old steers; 2, 2-year-old heifers; 5 yearling steers; 5 yearling heifers; 4 spring calves; 5 summer calves; 4, 2-year-old heifers.

50 Head of Hogs 50

12 white sows, bred; 15 red brood sows; 23 shoats.

Avery Threshing Outfit, complete with separator and engine.

Machinery, Etc.—Dain hay loader, McCormick mower, McCormick hay rake, Twentieth Century 2-row corn plow, Emerson 2-row corn plow, 3 spader discs, 2 round discs, 4 riding corn plows, walking corn plows, 2 corn planters, Deering corn binder, McCormick grain binder, Cassidy stubble plow, Kingman gang plow, 2 set iron harrows, 4-inch truck wagon, high wagon, surrey, 3 hay racks, 2 single top buggies, 3 set work harness, road cart numerous ohter articles.

Terms—$10 and under, cash. On all sums over that amount 10 months' time will be given on approved notes bearing 8 per cent interest from date. No property to be removed until settled for.

M. PALMBY, Prop.

J. A. Young, Auct. P. M. Greisemer, Clerk

While Extending the Season's Greetings

and best wishes for

A Happy and Prosperous New Year

we desire to thank you heartily for your past patronage and hope through the influence of our service and values you may number you among our esteemed patrons for many years.

J. N. DAY

F. MISSMAN
cian and Surgeon
ice Phone No. 11-02
esidence No. 11-03
ce and residence in the te Sav. Bank building.
ested Glasses Fitted

. BAUMGARTNER
he Tonsorial Artist
e you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.
west of State Savings Bank
☞ Call in

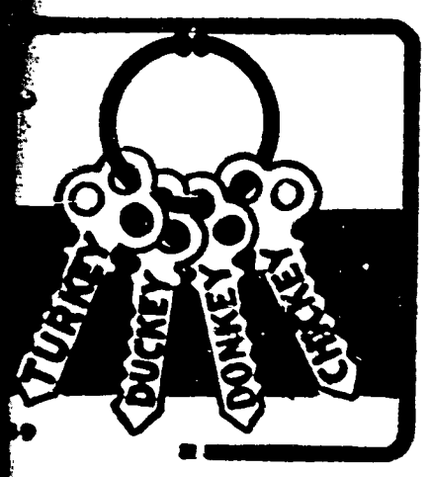
TOM ELDER
—THE—
"HOTEL MAN"

Geo. ZINN
hysician & Surgeon
one No. 19. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
es Tested.
Glasses Fitted

. L. R. PARSONS
DENTIST
ice Over State Savings Bank.
Phone No. 48.
Klemme - Iowa

ol.J.J. Wilson
Livestock Auctioneer
SERVEY, -:- IOWA
ISFACTION GUARANTEED
s can be made at the State vings Bank or 'phone me t Meservey, Iowa, at my expense.

of this bunch will you select he Christmas dinner?



E GOBBLE OF THE TURKEY
Now Echos Thru the Land!
HE QUACK OF THE DUCK
May Be Heard on Every Hand!
ICKENS ARE AS NUMEROUS
As Little Grains of Sand!
BUT THE DONKEY
Christmas Day is Little in Demand!
US FOR CHRISTMAS FOWLS

IAS. F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 55c
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to73
Barley	50 65
Hogs	7.00 to 7.60
Cattle	4.00 to 6.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000 Population in 1915

Read the Supplement.

Baud Concert next Thursday evening.

Have you purchased your short course ticket?

Dr. R. W. Schulz, Osteopath, Garner, Iowa.

Titonka is talking electric lights and water works.

Becker's electric weld soldering wire mends granite ware.

Found:—A plush robe. Inquire of J. N. Day.

Becker's electric weld soldering wire mends granite ware.

If you are in need of any kind of a stove see Henry Lau & Son.

Mrs. George Shafer was down from Garner one day last week, calling on friends.

The Klemme Co-Operative Auto company have just received a carload of Maxwell's.

Attend the concert by the Garner Concert Band at the opera house next Thursday evening.

A. C. Lau & Son shipped out over 15,000 bushels of corn and oats on Wednesday of last week.

Mr| and Mrs. Elmer Dow were over from Sheffield recently for a day's visit at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. A. Shafer.

The Garner Concert Band assisted by a Male Quartet will give a concert at the opera house next Thursday eveniug.

STRAYED—Henry Buseman, Jr., has a stray horse at his place since December 19. Owner can have same by proving property and paying cost of keeping, etc.

Take in the concert given by the Garner Concert Band at the opera house next Thursday evening. They will be assisted by a good male quartet.

"Dear Santa Claus, please come back before next Christmas if you possibly can and build a number of houses for the many people who wish to live in Klemme."

Mr. and Mrs. E. Schoenwetter received a handsome Christmas present Wednesday evening of last week. A fine little daughter came to make her home with them on that date.

We wish to thank our many patrons and friends for thier patronage during the past and wish you all a very Happy New Year. Mrs. John Josten.

Miss Grace Miner, who works as stenographer for the Decker Packing House company, was home for a week's visit during the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Miner.

The Chas. Sinclair company, appearing at the opera house January 5 and 6, is a guaranteed attraction. Your money back after the third reel if not satisfied. One show a night. Six big reels. 10 and 20 cents.

A. D. Gimer departed Saturday evening for Ames, where he will take in a two weeks' short course. The creamery is in charge of his brother, Ray Gimer, of Abbot during his absence.

Chas. Sinclair's big moving picture festival at the opera house next Monday and Tuesday evenings. This company carries their own electric light plant. Bright, clear pictures, twelve feet long. Six reels. 10 and 20 cents.

NOTICE TO SAND USERS—All those indebted to me for sand are requested to please pay for same at once. Payment can be made direct to me or at either bank. Hereafter all small accounts will be cash.
HENRY GRIFFEN

Dr. Parsons returned Tuesday from a visit at the home of his mother in Traer and also a visit with his—well we promised "Doc" we would not tell and besides it is not other people's business whether he has a girl or not.

Mrs. E. J. Schaefer returned Saturday from Des Moines, where she had been to see her husband, who is a patient at the Methodist hospital at that place. Mr. Schaefer is getting along very nicely, which his friends are glad to know.

Miss Alice Spearing of Thompson, who is attending school at Iowa Falls, stopped off the other day while on her way home to spend the Christmas vacation and spent the day at the home of her former pastor, J. M. Howdeshell and family.

The opera house has been leased for the following year by the Idle Hour theatre management. It is their aim to get in first class plays and plently of them. Manager Ell has good bookings ahead and this following year will give Klemme some of the best they have ever had along the show line. Watch for dates.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of A. E. Baumgartner for sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1914, primaries. August has only held one term and is certainly entitled to a second one. He has fulfilled the office to the satisfaction of all and it is not likely that he will meet with any opposition.

Some hoodlums broke into School House No.3 Avery Township during the Christmas vacation. If ever found out they will receive the full limit provided by law against breaking into buildings, and also against damaging or defacing school or church property. Advt

How about that Commercial club? We are going to keep right on asking that question until we get one. It would be the best thing that ever happened to the town and community. We do not mean an organization controlled by a few business men, but admit farmers and any resident of the town that contains enough public spirit to help do a little united boosting. Let's get together these long winter evenings and discuss matters that would be of benefit to the community.

Meeting, Opera House Shareholders

The stockholders of the Klemme opera house are requested to be present at a meeting to be held at the opera house on Wednesday evening, January 9.

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

Did You See
the Crowd that attended
The Big Show
at the Idle Hour
on last
Saturday Night
Everybody is Going Now

Admission 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

COMING!

Chas. Sinclair's
GREATEST OF ALL
Moving Picture Festival
Presenting the Best in Life Motion Photography

WE CARRY OUR OWN
Electric Light Plant
Pistures are shown bright as day and the opera house is brilliantly lighted by electricty.

Don't Miss Our Special Features

GUARANTEE
If after the second reel is over oou are not satisfied go to the box office and get your money back.

Entire Change Nightly

POPULAR PRICES

Monday and Tuesday January 5th--6th

SPECIAL HAND COLORED FEATURES

BAND CONCERT
BY THE
Garner Concert Band
Klemme Opera House, Jan. 8th
Admission 15, 25 and 35 cents
COME

Happy and Prosperous New Year

We most heartily thank you for your liberal patronage of the past year and we pledge ourselves to continue to merit the same by courteous treatment and square dealing.

G. A. PABST

A THOUSAND YEARS AGO

The pessimist who has observed little progress in the world has not correctly read ancient history. The civilization, or rather the barbarism, of a zation of today is as different from the civilation, or rather the barbarism of a few hundred years ago as night is from day For a thousand years, known as the Dark Ages, the population of Europe was stationary. The surface of the continent was for the most part covered with pathless forests, here and there it was dotted with monasteries and towns In the lowlands and along the river courses were fens, sometimes hundreds of miles in extent, exhaling their pestiferous miasmas, and spreading agues far and wide. In Paris and London the houses were of wood daubed with clay, and thatched with straw or reeds They had no windows, and until the invention of the saw mill, very few had wooden floors. The luxury of a carpet was unknown, some straw, scattered in the room, supplied its place There were no chimneys, the smoke of the ill-fed, cheerless fire escaped through a hole in the roof. In such habitations there was scarcely any protection from the weather No attempt was made at drainage, but the putrefying garbage and rubbish were simply thrown out of the door Men, women, and children, slept in the same apartment, not unfrequently domestic animals were their companions in such confusion of the family, it was impossible that modesty or morality could be maintained The bed was usually a bag of straw, a wooden log served as a pillow Personal cleanliness was utterly unknown great officers of state, even dignitaries so high as the archbishop of Canterbury, swarmed with vermin such, it is related, was the condition of Thomas A Becket, the antagonist of an English king To conceal personal impurity, perfumes were necessarily and profusely used The citizen clothed himself in leather, a garment which, with its ever-accumulating impurity, might last for many years He was considered to be in circumstances of ease, if he could procure fresh meat once a week for his dinner The streets had no sewers they were without pavement or lamps After nightfall, the chamber-shutters were thrown open and slops unceremoniously emptied down, to the discomfiture of the wayfarer tracking his path through the narrow streets, with his dismal lantern in his hand

Aeneas Sylvius, who afterward became Pope Pius II and was therefore a very competent and impartial writer has left us a graphic account of a journey he made to the British Islands about 1400 He describes the houses of the country as constructed of stones put together without mortar the roofs were of turf a stiffened bull's-hide served for a door The food consisted of coarse vegetable products, such as peas and even the bark of trees In some places they were unacquainted with bread Cabins of reeds plastered with mud houses of wattle stakes shapeless peat-fires from which there was scarcely an escape for the smoke dens of physical and moral pollution swarming with vermin wisps of straw twisted round the limbs to keep off the cold the ague-stricken peasant with no help except shrine-cure' How was it possible that the population could increase?

Shall we wonder that during the famine of 1030 human flesh was cooked and sold, or in that of 1258, fifteen thousand persons died of hunger in London? Shall we wonder that in some of the invasions of the plague the deaths were so frightfully numerous that the living could hardly bury the dead? By that of 1348, which came from the East along the lines of commercial travel, and spread all over Europe, one third of the population of France was destroyed.

Such was the condition of the peasantry, and of the common inhabitants of cities. Not much better was that of the nobles. William of Malmesbury, speaking of the degraded manners of the Anglo-Saxons, says: "Their nobles were devoted to gluttony and voluptuousness. The common people were a prey to the more powerful; their property was seized, their bodies dragged away to distant countries, their maidens were either thrown into the brothel, or sold for slaves. Drinking, day and night, was the general pursuit; vices, the companions of inebriety, followed. The baronial castles were dens of robbers. The Saxon chroniclers record how men and women were caught and dragged into those strongholds, hung up by their thumbs or feet, fire applied to them, knotted strings twisted round their heads, and many other torments inflicted to extort ransom.

An illiterate condition everywhere prevailing gave opportunity for the development of superstition Europe was full of disgraceful miracles. On all the roads pilgrims were wending their way to the shrines of saints, renowned for the cures they had wrought. It had always been the policy of the church to discourage the physician and his art, he interfered too much with the profits of the shrines. Time has brought this once lucrative imposture to its proper value

For patients too sick to move or be moved, there were no remedies except those of a ghostly kind—the Paternoster or the Ave For the prevention of diseases, prayers were put up in the churches, but no sanitary measures were resorted to From cities reeking with putrefying filth it was thought that the plague might be stayed by the prayers of the priests, by them rain and dry weather might be secured and deliverance obtained from the baleful influences of eclipses and comets. But when Halley's comet came, in 1456, so tremendous was its apparition that it was necessary for th pope himself to interfere. He exercised and expelled it from the skies It slunk away into the abysses of space terror-stricken by the maledictions of Calixtus III., and did not venture back for 75 years'

The step that European intellect had made between 1456 and 1759 was illustrated by Halley's comet When it appeared in the former year, it was considered as the harbinger of the vengeance of God the dispenser of the most dreadful of his retributions war, pestilence, famine By order of the pope all the church bells in Europe were rung to scare it away the faithful were commanded to add each day another prayer and, as their prayers had often in so marked a manner been answered in eclipses and droughts and rains so on this occasion it was declared that a victory over the comet had been vouchsafed But in the meantime Halley, guided by the revelations of Kepler and Newton, had discovered that its motions, so far from being controlled by the supplications of Christendom, were guided in an elliptic orbit of destiny. Knowing that natur had denied to him an opportunity of witnessing the fulfillment of his daring prophecy, he besought the astronomers of the succeeding generation to watch for its return in 1759—and in that year it came

TENER TO GET BUSY AFTER HIS ELECTION

GOV. JOHN K. TENER.

Although John K. Tener, Pennsylvania's governor, who has been selected for election to the National league presidency, will not be free from his gubernatorial duties till January 1, 1915, he will in all probability be able to attend to the chief duties of the new office while still Pennsylvania's chief executive. The annual meeting of the National league to be held December 9 will see Tener proclaimed Lynch's successor Upon the expiration of his term as governor he will be able to take complete charge of the league's affairs. It is not thought that the two duties will conflict to any extent nor that Tener will be unable to make occasional trips to New York to confer with officials at the league headquarters. He will be able to take an active part in the conferences of the national commission until he becomes a member of that body.

In the selection of Tener, National league officials and magnates feel that they could not have chosen a man more admirably fitted for the post. At one time a major league player himself, he is well versed in the national pastime and has proven himself in politics to be a very able executive.

Tener's advent into baseball when a youth is interesting. After having finished school his health was so poor that aphysician advised him to abandon the clerical work he was then engaged in and take to an outdoor life. He had won something of a reputation in semi-pro circles around Philadelphia and was given a tryout with the Philadelphia Nationals. But he was released there before the season was half over and went to Baltimore, where again he wasn't able to stick. At Haverhill, Mass., however, Tener struck a clip that attracted the admiration of old Cap Anson, then leading the Chicago White Stockings, and Anson gave Tener a place on his pitching staff. For three seasons Tener pitched excellent ball for Chicago and at the end of that time accompanied them on their famous world's tour, the first enterprise of the sort ever undertaken. Tener gave up baseball after trotting around the globe with Anson's outfit and engaged himself in politics in Pennsylvania.

A remarkable popularity, due to his engaging manner and personality, won Tener every success in Pennsylvania politics. Since his abandoning baseball, a period embracing something over two decades, he has held many county and state offices and has acquired a record for efficiency and judicious management that is the pride of all of his admirers. Everything seems to point to his coming National league administration as an era of prosperity and content in that troubled and turbulent organization.

Previous to Tener's taking complete charge, Secretary John A. Heydler will be given a little more authority than heretofore, and will negotiate many of the minor affairs that ordinarily would come into the province of the president. However, Tener will pass final judgement on important matters, such as the selection of umpires, the settlement of the disputes that occasionally arise between club owners and the decisions of protested games.

WINTER WHEAT CROP PROSPECT IS BRIGHT

Condition Placed at 97.2 a... Acreage Is Large—Rye in Good Shape.

Washington, D. C, Dec 18—An i... crease of 8.6 per cent, or 2,888,000 ac... in the area planted to winter wheat ... the United States this fall compar... with the revised estimated area so... last year, was reported today by the ... partment of agriculture. The conditi... of winter wheat on December 1 w... 97.2 per cent of a normal the highe... December 1, condition recorded sin... 1903.

Rye shows a decrease of 1 1 per cen... or 29,000 acres in the area sown th... fall, compared with that of last fa... while the December 1, condition 9... per cent of a normal, is the highe... since 1907.

Texas, with 30 per cent and Okla... homa with 35 per cent, show the grea... est increase in winter wheat acreag... while Kansas, which has by far t... greatest area sown, showed an i... crease of 11 per cent.

Ohio's acreage shows an increase ... 5 per cent; Indiana, 13 per cent Illi... ois 15 per cent; Missouri, 10 per cen... Nebraska, 2 per cent and Pennsylvan... 1 per cent, while Washington s acrea... decreased 1 per cent.

The acreage and December 1 condit... with the 10-year average condition ... northern and western states follow

State.	Acreage.	1913	10-y... aver...
New York	364,000	98
New Jersey	83,000	95
Pennsylvania	239,000	97
Ohio 2,118,000		99
Indiana 2,518,000		98
Illinois 2,629,000		99
Michigan	900,000	96
Wisconsin	89,000	94
Iowa	489,000	96
Missouri 2,585,000		98
Nebraska 3,253,000		80
Kansas 8,325,000		100
Texas 1,139,000		102
Oklahoma 2,541,000		103
Arkansas	108,000	99
Montana	506,000	91
Wyoming	43,000	97
Colorado	211,000	91
New Mexico	45,000	98
Arizona	33,000	96
Utah	230,000	96
Nevada	19,000	99
Idaho	346,000	97
Washington 1,258,000		93
Oregon	635,000	100
California	429,000	100

POLICE GET CLEW TO DISAPPEARANCE OF JESSIE M'CA...

New York, Dec. 18.—Detecti... working on the mystery surround... the disappearance of Miss Je... Evelyn McCann, the rich New Y... social worker, stated today they ... lieve the solution of the case is ... at hand. Telegrams from Chic... stated that a girl answering her ... scription had been seen there, stren... ened their belief that Miss McCann ... left New York.

The offer of a reward of $1,000 ... the discovery of the missing girl, w... was withdrawn last week has been ... newed. Photographs of the girl ... been scattered broadcast since she ... appeared on the morning of Dece... 4. Arrangements have also been ... to have her photo displayed in th... ands of moving picture theaters.

Admit Engagement.

Wendell Squires, a Columbia uni... sity freshman, who has persiste... denied his relations with Jessie E... McCann, the missing kinderg... teacher, were more than cas... friendly, admitted he had been sec... betrothed to her since last summ...

This admission followed a 24-... grilling at the hands of the Mc... family, with whom young Squires ... been closeted in the McCann resid... in Flatbush since Saturday eveni...

Miss McCann received a letter, ... posedly from Squires, the morning ... left home. She refused to open ... the breakfast table. She said ... would read it on the car on her ... downtown. She left home and ha... since been seen. The girl's br... says he recognized Squires' hand... ing on the envelope.

The possibility that if Miss Mc... were found to have taken her ... Squires' letter might be found with ... was suggested.

"I'm taking that chance," re... Squires quickly. "But what I ... in that letter will never be ... known by me, you may be sur... that."

Fiance Nervous.

Squires was nervous and ill at ... as he said:

"I have only just begun at this ... day to realize how much I love ... I refuse to go into details concer... my relations with her, but any ... of the world must understand."

It was established that Sq... knew Miss McCann was ill when ... left her home, and that during ... questioning he was subjected t... the McCann family he admitted ...

The case really is pitiful in so... its aspects. The mother of the los... has been prostrated. The aged f... goes daily to Coney Island when ... believes the girl went with the ... pose of drowning herself and ... he believes her body will be w... ashore.

McCANN GIRL IS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN IN CHI...

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Additional ... tectives were placed on the sup... trail of Jesse Evelyn McCann, ... missing Brooklyn social worker, ... today.

Two persons said a young w... who looked like the published p... graphs of Miss McCann was se... them December 9. The first one ... Mrs. Mary Fisher from whom the ... posed Miss McCann sought to r... room; the second was Dr. G... Remington, who was consulted ... fessionally by the same young w...

She spoke of contemplatin... operation for appendicitis and ... tectives today resumed their sea... the hospitals.

TOBACCO WORKERS STRI...

Westby, Wis., Dec. 18—Five hu... employes of the tobacco sorting ... in this village went on strike tod... sisting an attempt to reduce the ... from 90 to 85 cents per 100 p... The plants were obliged to close

BACK TO THE BIBLE

From Collier's.

Certain of our wise men of today have shaded away sin till it becomes an expression of temperament. They tell us that we sin because our grandfather sinned, and because our home is situated in the wrong block These are clever words of clever comforters, and surely they ought to wipe away forever the tears from our eyes. But they do not speak to human need They leave the life blighted and the heart ashamed They leave the sinning one to continue in despair. He does not ask that his sin shall be explained away He wishes forgiveness and a fresh start In the book, which is not read as once it was, there are no soft words about sin But the way out is shown And not only is forgiveness offered in this book, but man's need of comfort is met. There is comfort in plenty These writers knew the human heart. They saw man broken by his toil and his grief And for this, too, they had the answer They told of a being of love, hidden just back of this rude and temporary universe This love, they said, is conscious of how the littlest child and the old man are sick at heart for one to come close to their loneliness. When again will any company of writers say the things they know in such telling words, such pictures of humble life—the boy far away from the faces of his home and far gone in shame—such true stories of lowly devotion breaking through into beauty? Much is swept away between us and them, but not one accent of Naomi's voice is lost to us, and still the "Turn again, my daughters," is as wistful as when it breathed through the alien corn What richer consolation are we hungry for that we turn from Judea? Has the human heart changed under the wear of the centuries, so that sin no longer seeks forgiveness, and grief has no need of a comforter? Have our ships sailed so far that they have revealed to us a braver continent than the fields where pain once reigned? Is our science so acute that it has banished failure from man's life? Is man's heart at last self sufficient and all-suffering?

NATIONAL LEAGUE HONORS ARE CHANGED

Fielding Averages Show a Number of Changes From Records of 1912.

New York, Dec. 9.—The National league fielding averages for the season of 1913 show a number of changes in the standing of players, as compared with the records of the previous year. Konetchy, of St. Louis, moved from fourth to first place, his average as a first baseman being .995, while Jake Daubert, of Brooklyn, who led the league in 1912, dropped to second place, four points below Konetchy. Among the second basemen, Miller Huggins, of St. Louis, with .977, ousted Egan, of Cincinnati, whose record of .972 was one point less than that of a year ago.

John Lobert, of Philadelphia, second among the third basemen in 1912, was ranked first this season, with .974. Joe Tinker, of Cincinnati, wrested first place shortstop honors from Honus Wagner, of Pittsburgh, his percentage being .968, against Wagner's .962.

Tommy Leach, of Chicago, leads the outfielders with .990 for 129 games, although Booe, of Pittsburgh, is the technical leader with 1.000 for 22 games. Leach showed a big improvement over his 1912 performance, gaining 12 points in percentage, although playing 32 more games.

Grover Alexander, of Philadelphia, is given first place among the fielding pitchers of the league, with a perfect percentage for 47 games. Fromme, Cincinnati and New York; Rixey, Philadelphia; Crandall, New York; McQuillan, Pittsburgh, and Burk, St. Louis, are all in the 1.000 class with Alexander, although pitching a number of games less than he did.

In club fielding, Philadelphia is ranked first with .968, and St. Louis comes second, three points below the Phillies. Pittsburgh is third with .964, and New York, Cincinnati and Brooklyn are all tied for fourth place with .961.

AUSTRALIA TO SEND OVER A WHITE HOPE

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Not since the days of Bob Fitzsimmons has Australia produced a champion heavyweight boxer. It has not had a fighter who could be compared with the freckled ex-title holder nor one who ever has been a serious contender for the highest ring honors. Several announced their desire to battle for the crown, but they were false alarms. Australia awakened from its dormant condition and expects to step into the limelight once more as a producer of a champion. It is sending over here a heavyweight whom the followers in the antipodes believe will manhandle the string of white hopes on his way to the championship goal without as much as a pause.

Colin Bell, heralded heavyweight champion of Australia, is the fighter who is to arrive here soon and issue a challenge to all the aspirants for the crown. Bell is not a novice in the game. He has been battling in Australia for a few years and has gained a lot of experience. He has fought many battles. In his record is a draw contest with Sam Langford. This fight took place last June, but it does not show in Langford's list of bouts. If this is so there is certain to be considerable class to the new Australian white hope. To hold the Boston boxer to a draw is a recommendation.

BALL PLAYERS ENCOUNTER SEVERE PACIFIC WEATHER

Tokio, Japan, Dec. 9.—The Chicago team of the American Baseball league, and the New York team of the National league, arrived four day late at Yokohama, the Empress of Japan having experienced terrific weather on her voyage across the Pacific.

So little coal was left in the steamer's bunkers that it was feared at one time she would be forced to make for northern Japan. The captain, however, decided to continue to Yokohama, where the steamer came into port today slightly damaged. Consul General Thomas Sammons went out on board a tug to greet the members of the teams.

Later in the day the players received an ovation on the grounds of Keio university. President Kamada pitched the first ball in the first match in Japan. This resulted as follows

Chicago 9	9	6
New York 4	8	2

WICHITA WILL DROP FROM WESTERN LOOP

Fort Smith, Ark., Dec. 9.—That judge William Kavanaugh, of Little Rock, president of the Southern league, will become president of the rejuvenated Western association instead of D. M. ("Dee.") Shively, of Kansas City, and that Wichita, Kan., would drop out of the Western league and become a member of the Western association, was the information received here today by persons interested in the organization of the Western association.

PARENTS ADVISED HOW TO CURE STUTTERING

From the New York Times

Practical directions to parents and children for the cure of the stuttering habit are contained in a circular printed by order of the board of superintendents of the board of education. The classes for afflicted children in the public schools, according to the circular, are proving day by day that the habit of stuttering can be cured

Here are some of the suggestions contained in the board of superintendents' circular

"Your child has formed incorrect habits of speech He will not speak correctly until he has been carefully trained in correct speech and has formed the habit of correct natural speech.

"The speech improvement class has been formed for the purpose of systematically training pupils in correct natural speech and is in charge of a teacher who has made a thorough study of the principles of speech. Your child should become a member of that class. You should visit the class occasionally and co-operate with the teacher, that you may continue the work of building correct speech habits when the child is at home. This is very important, as he can have at best only a very small part of each day under instruction for speech, and he is constantly using his former bad habits, which are altogether too firmly fixed at present.

"The physical, breathing and vocal exercises are excellent material for home practice, but the application of these to this every day speech is a very important factor in his training Your co-operation with the teacher will more than repay you and the child by the results obtained.

"Though progress seems to be slow, do not lose confidence in the teacher, or fail to encourage the child in his efforts. Do not try scolding, threatening, or ridicule as a means of cure. Never unduly excite him. Never indulge a child because of his stuttering. All stutterers are despondent at times, and hence the attitude toward the child should always be a cheerful one. Stutterers, almost without exception, talk too rapidly, therefore, ecourage slow, deliberate and modulated speech. Singing tones can be used to advantage The child should be led to acquire correct speaking by observing, listening to, and imitating slow, distinct, well spoken conversations.

"Try to get the child to breathe naturally. It is not necessary to say a full sentence in a single breath. Let the child feel free to pause for breath at the end of any phrase.

"Pay particular attention to correct articulation of sounds. When any sound has been learned, see that the child uses the correct form in his daily speech.

"Let the child frequently read aloud or tell an incident to one or more members of the family or let him recite from memory. Call attention to any improvement, have patience, and do not attempt to correct all mistakes at once.

"He should be carefully kept away from stutterers outside of school.

"The physical condition of the child is of the highest importance. He needs nourishing diet, with no stimulants (tea or coffee), and plenty of exercise in the open air. The greatest help toward a cure is perfect health."

"WHY I EMIGRATED"

NOTES OF A PROMINENT JOURNALIST WHO MADE A TRIP THROUGH WESTERN CANADA.

A prominent journalist from Chicago, some time ago, made a journey through Canada obtaining a thorough knowledge of the land and people and the "boundless possibilities" that Canada, the virgin land, affords. In an American Sunday newspaper he published after his return the interesting account which we print as follows. He writes:

"Why did you emigrate from the United States?" I asked a farmer in Western Canada.

"I believe that for a poor man West-ern Canada is the most favorable land," was the reply, "and I have now found that it is the Paradise of the poor."

The farmer, a pioneer of the west, had five years earlier left Iowa for Canada to secure a new home there. After traversing the country for some time, he started his home on the open prairie and with steady industry devoted himself to the working of the virgin soil. Now he is the well-to-do farmer of that endless sea of waving wheat ears that goes on for miles before my eyes. His strong, sunburned figure finds the best background in his farm itself, which is the outcome of unceasing activity—a pretty two-storied dwelling house, a large clean stable, in the midst of a hamlet of barns, sheds and outbuildings, a useful garden overflowing with products; horses, cattle, sheep and swine on the rich pastures, and around to the horizon wheat, golden wheat.

"In Iowa?" the farmer continued, "I farmed on rented land, for at the price of $100 per acre I did not possess money enough to buy. I might farm, I might farm as I could, more than the living for myself and family, I could not attain. Sometimes the harvest turned out good, sometimes bad, but the grand total was a bitter combat to keep want from the door. It was impossible to lay by for bad times and in spite of all trouble and work an old age free of care was not to be thought of. My death would have brought bitter poverty to my wife and children.

"I decided to break up and go to Canada, where at least I could fight out the struggle for existence on my own land. I started out with a mule team, all my earthly possessions were in the prairie-schooner with my wife and children. Then I took up a homestead of 160 acres to which I added by purchase gradually; now as a whole I count about 3,000 acres as my own. The whole property is free of debt. I do not owe a cent to anyone. I bought my land for $2-$10 per acre, now I would not give it up for $50."

"Do you mean to say that you paid for the whole land in the five years?" I interrupted.

"In a much shorter time," replied the farmer. "The land paid for itself, some already by the first harvest, and at longest in 3 years each field had brought in its purchase price. If you doubt that land in Western Canada pays for itself within 3 years you can easily convince yourself of the truth of my assertion. Let us assume that a farmer buys a farm of 160 A. at $15 per A. for $2,400. Farm machines, seed, ploughs, mowing and threshing might bring up the outlay to about $10 per acre. If the farmer sows the 160 A. for 3 years in succession with wheat and harvests 20 bus. per acre, then the product of an A. at the average price of 75c per bu. is exactly $15 per acre. If you deduct the $10 outlay, you will retain a clear return of $5.00. For 160 A. the annual excess amounts to $800, consequently the farm has after the third harvest brought in the purchase price of $2,400.

"Sometimes—and not rarely—the land pays for itself by the first harvest of 35 bus. of wheat bring in more than the purchase price of $15 per acre. As in some years I harvested more than 35 bus., you can reckon for yourself how quickly I paid for my farm."

"Would you not prefer your own farm in Iowa?" I asked.

"No," replied the farmer, "never will I go back, in general very few American settlers return to the old home. In Iowa a 160 A. farm costs $100 per A., $16,000; in Western Canada $15, only $2,400. For the same money that you require to buy a 160 A. farm in Iowa, you can buy here in Western Canada a farm of 1,000 acres. I have money enough to buy a farm in Iowa, if I wished. But there my yearly income would be a small one, whereas here I work for a great gain. There I would only be a small farmer, here I am a large landed proprietor."

In a corner of the farmyard I had during our conversation noticed a mound of earth overgrown with grasses and wild flowers. To my inquiry as to what it was, I received the reply: "That is the ruin of the wooden shack covered with sods, which I called my home when I settled here five years ago."

I gathered a wild aster from the ruin and flung it into the air. In a purplish-glittering line the wind drove the flower towards the fine, modern-equipped farmhouse. What a contrast between the lowly earthy hut of yesterday and charming palace of today! This contrast says enough of the unbounded possibilities, which this new land offers to the willing worker. How the poor emigrant on the open prairie, through energy and activity, within 5 years worked his way up to being a well-to-do farmer and esteemed citizen! More, the farmer did not require to say. Why did he emigrate? WHY? Why I saw the answer with my own eyes."—Advertisement.

TIMID LOVER SAW THE POINT

Sweetheart's Hint Surely Was Broad Enough for Even the Most Backward of Sighing Swains.

Horace was a devout but timid lover. So timid was he that, though the signs were favorable, he had never yet summoned up sufficient spirit to ask his adored one the all-important question.

One day, however, whilst walking with her in the the garden, a wave of unexpected courage swept over him and he begged for a kiss.

"You may have just one!" answered the maiden. "But, remember, a kiss may mean many things. On the lips it signifies all or nothing; on the hand it shows respect, and on the forehead friendship. Choose which you like!"

Horace, with his eyes on the ground, thought the matter over carefully, though nervously. He was roused at last from his meditations by a soft sigh.

Raising his eyes, he beheld his divinity with her hat pulled down over her forehead, her hands deep in the pockets of her jacket and her rosy lips puckered as she sighed.

Horace guessed—and guessed right!

LESSON FOR CECIL RHODES

Arrogant "Empire Builder" Met His Match When He Attempted to Bully Clerk.

Cecil Rhodes' masterfulness and sense of importance met with little opposition as a rule, but a little German clerk in the Transvaal government offices at Johannesburg before the war once taught him a lesson.

"Please attend to me at once," thundered the Colossus, "I can't wait."

"When your turn comes, mister," replied the clerk.

"Confound you, man! Don't you know who I am?" asked Rhodes.

"Oh, yes, I know you; but don't worry about me," was the clerk's unruffled reply.

"If you were in Cape Town, I'd have you discharged at once!" roared the great man.

"Yes," said the clerk, very coolly, "I've heard they discharge people in Cape Town for doing their duty. But this isn't Cape Town—this is a republic."

Open the Windows.

He who sleeps with his windows closed makes his bed in a coffin. There is no reason to be surprised when tuberculosis comes along and fastens down the lid. If all mankind could live out of doors all the time, and not too closely together, tuberculosis would die out in one or two generations. Since this ideal condition cannot be achieved, not even for the sake of baffling humanity's worst enemy, the next best thing is to bring as much out of doors as possible into our houses, and especially into our sleeping rooms.

There is nothing which so quickly lowers vitality to the point where the tubercle bacillus can get in its work as breathing stale, close, lifeless, impure air during the hours of sleep. There is nothing which builds up the resisting powers of the body more quickly than an abundant supply of fresh air, particularly at night. If sleeping out of doors will cure consumption, as it has done many a time, surely it will go far toward keeping a healty person from getting consumption. It is not always possible for city dwellers to take their beds out of doors, but, at least, they can open windows and let out of doors come in.

A simple remedy against coughs and all throat irritations are Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops—5c at all good Druggists.

When He Despaired.

Wife (on her return home)—Have you noticed that my husband missed me very much while I was away, Mary?

Maid—Well, I didn't notice it so much at first, but yesterday he seemed to be in despair.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic, 25c a bottle.adv

Close Quarters.

"A bacteriologist says millions of germs ride on crowded trolley cars."

"I'm not surprised to hear that. A germ is about the only thing that could ride on a crowded trolley car with any degree of comfort."

All the world's a stage, but no one wants to play second fiddle in the orchestra.

SECRETARY HOUSTON WOULD REORGANIZE AGRICULTURAL WORK

Plans to Make Rural Life More Pleasant As Well As Profitable.

TO ASSIST FARM WOMEN

Would Abolish Distribution of Seeds by Congressmen—Favors Better Credit System for the Farmers.

Washington. Special: Reorganization of the department of agriculture is foreshadowed in Secretary Houston's first annual report presented today to President Wilson. A plan to be submitted to congress in the fiscal estimates for 1916 proposes to carry out the work of the department in five or six main groups, such as research state relations, rural organization, forest service, weather and regulation Such a plan, Secretary Houston believes, will promote co-ordination.

Plans for redistricting the country for the enforcement of the pure food law are announced and the secretary announces his intention to ask for authority to prepare amendment to the pure food law to improve the good supply, protect the public health and promote uniformity in food legislation

Against Free Seeds.

Free distribution of seeds by congressmen should be discontinued, the secretary recommends He would conduct in its stead a constructive work in securing and distributing new seeds and plants.

Conditions vary widely in the United States, says the report, because farmers do not equally need better credit arrangements and all sections are not similarly circumstanced It contends that when all necessary allowance has been made for fundamental factors, it is probably clear that the rural communities are not as efficiently served as they should be by existing financial arrangements. The secretary believes there does not appear to be need for unique or special legislation or for legislation which shall aim to give the farmer credit on easier terms than other members of society What is needed is the creation of conditions and machinery which shall enable him on similar credit foundations to secure money at the same rates as those that prevail for other classes and for other sections

Better Market Facilities.

"Even though the problem of how the farmer can best sell his produce and can improve the conditions under which he can secure the necessary capital were solved, there would still remain vital things to be accomplished before rural life can be made fully efficient, profitable, healthful, pleasurable and attractive, and before a larger disposition to remain on the farm develops. Good roads are prerequisite for better marketing, for better schools, and for more comfortable rural living Better sanitation and hygiene in the home, in the school and in the community are just as vital for the rural community as for the urban," says the report.

To gain information to enable the department better to serve rural women, the secretary has addressed letters of inquiry to the women on 55,000 selected farms covering every county. Other surveys and studies were also conducted. Analysis of the small part of the letters as yet digested shows that farm women desire assistance in all phases of home management, especially as to way of securing running water, introducing household power machinery and labor saving arrangements, and providing better hygienic and sanitary conditions. Many seek advice as to the better marketing of the articles they produce. Others ask the department to prove to the man that their work is worth something in dollars and cents. The overwork of women and children and difficulty of securing domestic help are mentioned by a number of the writers. The department believes that intelligent help to women in matters of home management will contribute directly to the agricultural success of the farm. It purposes, therefore, to ask congress for means and authority to make more complete studies of domestic conditions on the farm, to experiment with labor-saving devices and methods, and to study completely the question of practical sanitation and hygienic protection for the farm family.

Good Roads Plan.

As to federal aid for good roads, the secretary says the federal government should deal with the state as the lowest unit, through an expert highway commissioner as its agency. The plan should provide for maintenance as well as construction. Preference should be given to the improvement of roads over which products from the farms can be taken to the nearest railway station. A scheme of road construction and maintenance within a state should be developed and mutually agreed upon. Money appropriated by the federal government should be apportioned on the basis of such factors as total population, farm population, area, taxable valuation and mileage.

Special emphasis is laid on the fact that the figures for crops quoted are estimates. From the estimates at hand it appears that the production of crops in 1913 was materially below the average, the yield per acre of all crops combined being smaller than in any year in the past decade with the exception of 1911. The corn crop, the most valuable product of this country, according to the estimates fell below 2,500,000,000 bushels, which is smaller than any crop since 1903. Wheat production, with an estimated total of 753,000,000 bushels, is the largest ever recorded in this country. This crop was matured before the drought became effective. Brief mention is made as to crop conditions throughout the world. From the estimates it appears that there were increased areas sown to wheat, oats, barley, rye and corn, and that the wheat acreage has probably yielded a record out-turn. Barley, oats and rye are bountiful crops, but corn will probably give the poorest result in 20 years.

SILENCER FOR EVIL TONGUES

"Trace It Back Club" of Albany, N. Y., Has a Good Idea to Do Away With Gossip.

In Albany, N. Y., they have an organization called the Trace It Back club. It was organized twelve years ago as the outcome of an inquiry as to who had set a certain false story afloat. A party of men were in a cafe when a statement was made that practically accused a well-known citizen of crookedness.

"I'd like to see that story traced back," said one of the men at the table, "for there's not the slightest truth in it, in my opinion"

"Well, let's organize a club to do it" said another.

So the club was formed and a committee appointed to investigate the statement. The story was run down within two days.

The club, elated over its success, adopted by-laws and arranged to meet regularly. Whenever a man opened his mouth to accuse somebody the president merely began: "I appoint as a committee of investigation—" and he seldom got further. The Trace It Backs have had many ups and downs and the membership has thinned out considerably, but there are enough still on hand to practice and preach their principles.

ERUPTION DISFIGURED FACE

Lock Box 35, Maurice, Ia.—"In the spring of 1911 our little daughter, age five years, had a breaking out on her lip and part of her cheek that we took for ringworm. It resembled a large ringworm, only it differed in that it was covered with watery blisters that itched and burned terribly, made worse by her scratching it. Then the blisters would break through and let out a watery substance. She was very cross and fretful while she had it and had very little rest at night. When the eruption was at its worst the teacher of the school sent her home and would not allow her to attend until the disfigurement of her face was gone.

"I wrote and received a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which we used according to directions, and they gave instant relief, so we bought some more. It gradually grew better. We kept on using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three or four months the child was entirely cured." (Signed) Mr. Henry Prins, Oct. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Couldn't Blame Him.

One very cold day, Tommy, in his first trousers, was walking out with his overcoat turned back to its utmost limit.

"Tom," said his father, "button your coat. Look at mine."

"Yes, but everybody knows you wear trousers," replied Tom.

Rich "Alpaca."

A costly black silk smoking jacket—the sort that is purchased for "father" and after the holidays placed by him in the list of desirables—was on display in a haberdasher's window. It shone, in all of its silken glory and black braid trimming, against the brilliant light of the incandescent lamp.

Two negroes were passing and the shimmering substance caught their eye. They stopped and gazed for a moment, and then one of them exclaimed:

"Good Lawd; jus' look at that alpaca coat."

Most of us live to be thankful for some of the things we neglected to do in our youth

Your Liver Is Clogged Up

That's Why You're Tired—Out of Sorts—Have No Appetite.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will put you right in a few days.

They do their duty.

Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion and Sick Headache

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

GO TO

WESTERN CANADA NOW

The opportunity of securing free homesteads of 160 acres each, and the low priced lands of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will soon have passed.

Canada offers a hearty welcome to the Settler, to the man with a family looking for a home; to the farmer's son, to the renter, to all who wish to live under better conditions.

Canada's grain yield in 1913 is the talk of the world. Luxuriant Grasses give cheap fodder for large herds; cost of raising and fattening for market is a trifle.

The sum realized for Beef, Butter, Milk and Cheese will pay fifty per cent on the investment.

Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

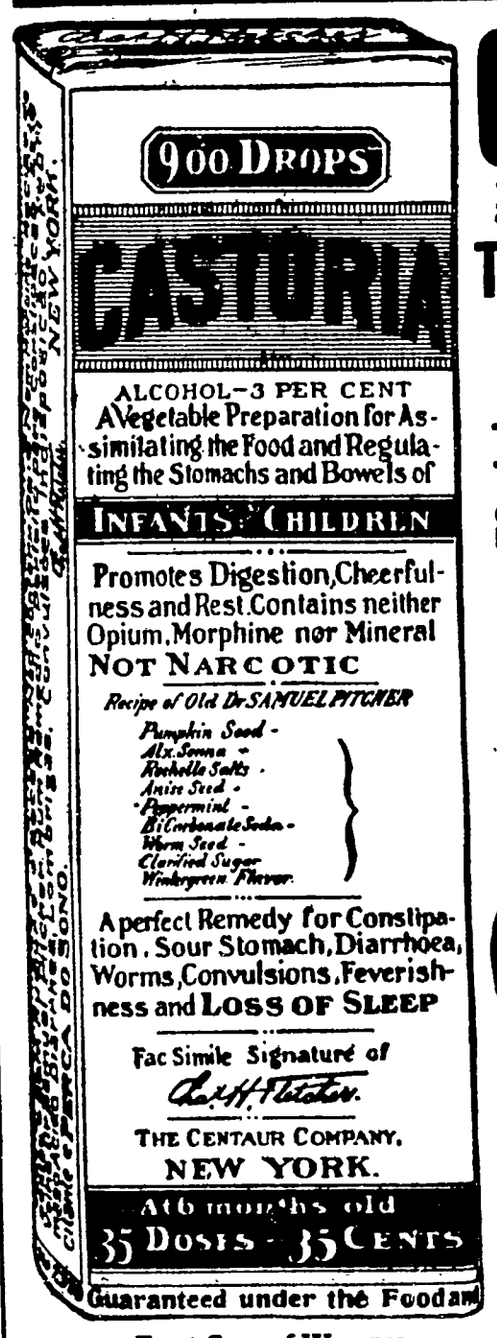
Canadian Government Agt.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

RUPTURE CURED in a few days without pain or a surgical operation. No pay until cured. Write DR. WRAY, 306 Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

BOY WANTED to tack up signs in your neighborhood. Good pay. Signs specially painted with your name. A. H. J., Box 1632, Philadelphia, Pa.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 52-1913.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL—3 PER CENT
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral
NOT NARCOTIC
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna -
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed -
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda -
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP
Fac Simile Signature of
THE CENTAUR COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

Guaranteed under the Foodand

Exact Copy of Wrapper

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

PISO'S REMEDY

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS. 25 CTS.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

WANTED Man with rig to canvass among farmers. $100 monthly. Pleasant work. Answer now. FARMERS SUPPLY COMPANY, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

School Shoes that wear like iron

This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all-steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively.

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day
Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

T. P. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines

IN HOLY WEDLOCK

The home of Joseph Lawhorn was the scene of wedding joys and festivities last Thursday, December 18, when their only daughter, Cora May, was united in marriage to Ferdinand Grell, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grell, of Concord township.

At high noon the bridal couple were ushered into the east parlor by Rev. S. N. McConnell, the officiating minister, where in the presonce of the immediate relatives and very near friends the words were spoken and the vows taken which made them one for life.

The impressive double ring ceremony was used.

At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom led the way to the dining room, where a wedding dinner fitting to the occasion was served by aunts of the bride. When we came to the table it was groaning beneath its burden and when we left it we were. After dinner the congratulations were informally given.

The bride was gowned in a beautiful creation of light blue chiffon over shadow lace and silk, trimmed with rhinestone buttons and silver bead trimmings. They left that evening for an extended trip through various places in Iowa and Illinois. March 1 they will be at home to their friends on a farm five miles northeast of Klemme.

The bride is a graduate of the Garner High school, in the class of 1910 and has been a successful teacher since. The groom is well known in which they live and a myriad of good wishes go with them. The numerous, beautiful and useful gifts received show the esteem in which they are held by their friends.

SUBSCRIBE NOW

We once knew a man who was too stingy to take the newspaper in his home town and always went over to borrow his neighbor's paper.

One evening he sent his son over to borrow the paper and while the son was on the way he ran into a large stand of bees and in a few minutes his face looked like a summer squash.

Hearing the agonized cries of the son, the father ran to his assistance and in doing so, ran into a barbed wire fence, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $4.00 pair of trousers.

The old cow took advantage of the hole in the fence, got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket the stingy man's wife ran out of the house upsetting a four-gallon churn full of cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole flock.

She slipped on the cream and fell down stairs breaking her leg and a $19 set of false teeth. The baby left alone, crawled through the parlor and runied a $40 parlor carpet. During the excitment the daughter ran away with the hired man, taking the family savings bank with them.

The moral is that every man should be a subscriber to his home newspaper.—Des Moines Register and Leader.

PROF. MISSMAN MAKING GOOD

A small crowd of Ploverites accompanied the contestants to Fonda last Friday night to the county declamatory contest, where Plover, for the first time in her history, entered the fight against Rolfe, Laurens, Pocahontas, Fonda and Gilmore City. Plover was represented by Byron Lathrop in the oratorical class with "Peacemakers of Blessed Memory," Lucy Smith in the dramatical with "The Man in the Shadow," and Zella Wallace in the humorous with "Naughty Zell."—Plover Independent.

Prof. I. E. Missman is at the head of the Plover schools and certainly has just reason to feel proud of his success in developing this class for their work. His many friends are glad to see him making good.

A young man under hypnotic influence ran a bicycle 6 hours yesterday without fatigue. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to hypnotize some of the young men around town and stand them before a woodpile with a buck saw in their hands or place some of the girls in a hypnotic condition before a wash-tub full of clothes.—Belmond Herald.

Worms the Cause of Your Child's Pains

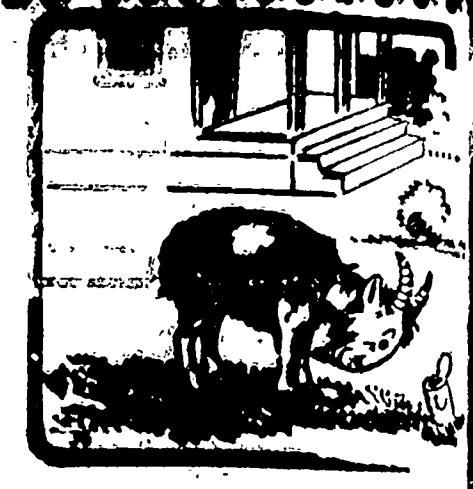
A foul, disagreeable breath, dark circles around the eyes, at times feverish, with great thirst, cheeks flushed and then pale, abdomen swollen with sharp cramping pains are all indications of worms. Don't let your child suffer—Kickapoo Worm Killer will give sure relief. It kills the worms, while its laxative effect adds greatly to the health of your child by removing the dangerous and disagreeable effect of worms and parasites from the system. Kickapoo Worm Killer as a health producer should be in every household Perfectly safe. Buy a box today Price 25c. All druggists or by mail Kickapoo Indian Med. Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

WONDERFUL COUGH REMEDY

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Eidson, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee. This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick



There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

We Wish all our Friends and Patrons a Happy and Prosperous 1914

City Restaurant & Hotel
A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

W. F. PAVEY
Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share of your patronage and if work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 20 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY JANUARY 8. 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

to your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

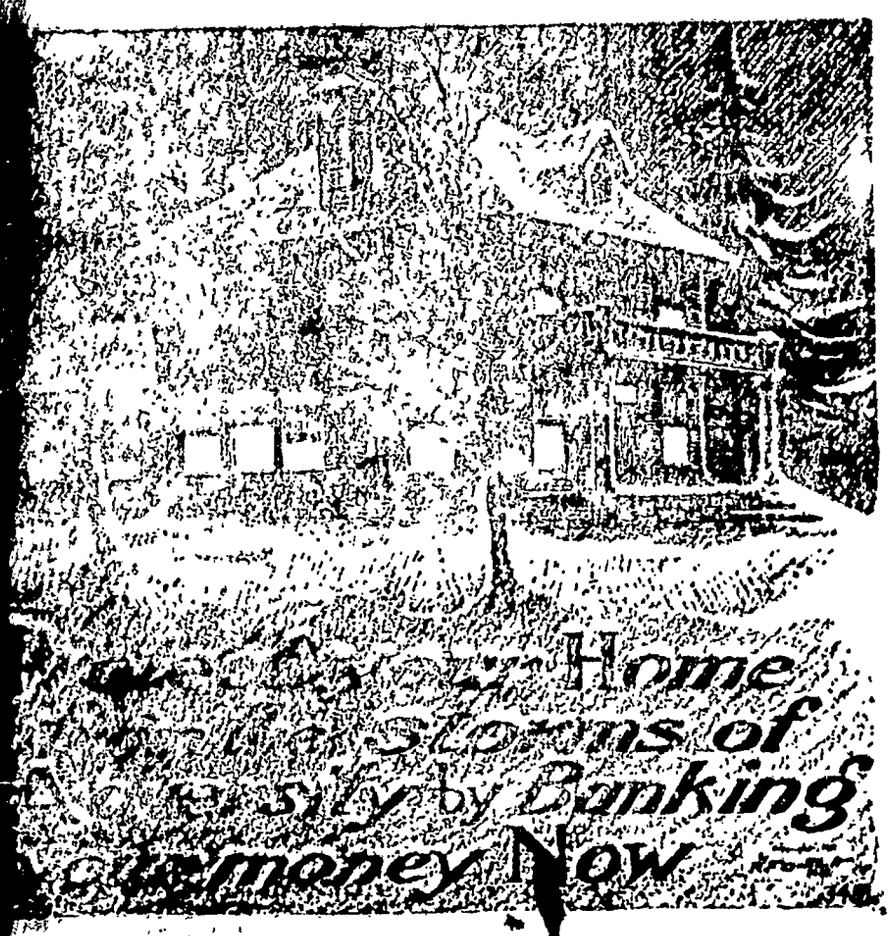
is proof of the success of this policy



The best protection you can have for your family is A BANK ACCOUNT. The best protection you can have from creditors or sickness, or hard times is A BANK ACCOUNT. If you have not any money in the bank, why not begin now? A bank account will fortify your home against misfortune, and you will not have to mortgage it if unfortunate circumstances arise, because you will be prepared with A BANK ACCOUNT.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank

emme - - Iowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

Will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

Some Business

If you are one of the drones that carry the idea that this town is only a fair business place read the following figures and overcome the mistake:

During the month of December 26 cars of stock and 57 cars of grain were shipped from this point This certainly proves that our grain and livestock dealers are wide awake and pay all that the market will afford. If you are undecided where to do this class of business you will surely make no mistake if you choose Klemme.

The amount of actual freight business conducted by the Rock Island at this place during the month of December not including advanced freight was $6,821 24, and then the Rock Island do not think this station does enough business to afford a helper. But then genial Tom says he would rather work a great deal harder and live in a good town.

The above figures are some food for thought. One elevator here alone paid out nearly $1,000 per day for grain during the month of December. This proves two things: This country cannot be beat for productiveness and this town cannot be beat for a business center, considering the size.

Some contemporary may take up this claim and boost our figures, but our quotations are authentic and we are proud of them.

Need More Hitching Posts

We believe that it might be a good thing for the town to invest in a few more hitching posts. A prominent farmer who does a great deal of trading here called the matter to our attention, and we believe that he [illegible] Of course Klemme does not need many more public hitching posts than many towns twice as large, but we have noticed many times lately when there was not a single available hitching post left. Let's give the farmer an opportunity to tie up and stay with us awhile when he comes to town with a load of grain or other produce.

Quarton Here Feb. 5th

W. B. Quarton of Algona will deliver a lecture during the dairy short course on the evening of February 5th. His subject will be "When the Cows Come Home." The lecture will certainly be a treat for all who attend. Mr. Quarton is a very entertaining and instructive speaker and worth going miles to hear. The short course management were fortunate in securing him.

Why You Should Attend

Everyone might not be aware of the fact but at the last session of the Iowa legislature an appropriation of $35,000 per year was allowed the state extension department to carry on the short course and other similar work. So if you fail to attend Klemme's short course on February 4, 5 and 6, you are indirectly helping to defray part of the expense anyway, and so why not purchase a ticket and derive some of the benefit?

He Would Be Happy

A school teacher asked her pupils the following question: "If you could be born again what nationality would you prefer to be." One boy, after a moment's thought raised his hand confidently.

"I would like to be born half darkey and half Jew," he said.

To the teacher's inquiry for his reason he replied:

"Well a darkey is always happy if he has a dollar, and a Jew always [illegible]

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000 00

Pres - C H WIEGMANN

Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU

Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD

5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.

Traeger Bros. Big Public Auction on Wednesday January 14, 1914

63 Head of Live Stock

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited.

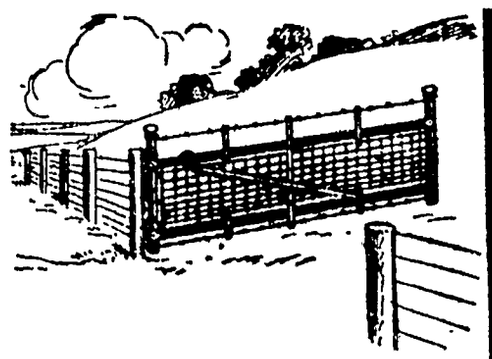
All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants

Will Swing Free On a Hillside

The old fashioned wood gate catches on every bump in the ground. You tug and haul to get it around. With a MOYER you simply tilt it up to clear any obstacle. A time saver and temper saver. Read our 30 day free offer.



30 Days Trial Free
Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa.

PIANOS

G. F. SCHULER Handles The CABLE, NELSON PIANO

"THE GRAND OLD NAME," which stands for:
ATTRACTIVENESS, TONE, DURABILITY

Call in and look them over, prices reasonable.

A Soldier Friend.

"I saw your father taking you to the woodshed yesterday morning, Willie. What had you been doing?"

"Nothing He just took me out there to meet a soldier friend of his."

"A soldier Who was he?"

"That feller Corporal Punishment he's always talking about."

ECZEMA BURNED AND ITCHED

203 Walnut St., Hillsboro, Ill.—"My child had a breaking out on the lower limbs which developed into eczema. The eczema began with pimples which contained yellow corruption and from the child's clothing they were greatly irritated. They seemed to burn, which made the child scratch them, resulting in a mass of open places They made her so cross and fretful that it was impossible to keep her quiet They caused her to lose much sleep and she was constantly tormented by severe itching and burning.

"I tried several well-known remedies, but got no relief until I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which did so much good that I got a large quantity that cured her in ten days after she had been affected for two months." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Schwartz, Feb 28, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Some Big Pecan Trese.

Like the Persian walnut the pecan long has been grown in this country, but its commercial possibilities were neglected Some of the trees are of enormous size and known to be very old In Milledgevillee, Ga, an old pecan tree stands which is known to have been planted by the Indians over 100 years ago The owner values it so highly that he has recently taken out $300 fire insurance on it because it has been so closely surrounded by buildings that it is endangered The largest pecan tree on record is near Little Falls, Okla. It has an altitude of 130 feet, a spread of 110 feet and a trunk circumference of 23 feet taken four feet from the ground. In Louisiana Oklahoma, Arkansas and other sections pecan trees may be found in forests, reaching 170 feet in height

Was It Force of Habit?

An amused smile fluttered over the features of Congressman Samuel J. Tribble of Georgia the other night when the talk topic in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to the wonderful savings of the kiddies He said he was reminded of a recent incident.

A loud father was taking his little six-year-old daughter to town in a motor car, and on stopping in front of a store he noticed that the drive against the strong wind had made the youngster's eyes water

'Just a minute, Jessie," sair father, wrapping a corner of his handkerchief around one finger and dabbing the little girl's eye "Let me wipe that tear away."

"Say," was the rather amazing exclamation of Jessie, "what do you think that is—a push button?"

Money often wins the first battle but seldom the second.

SELF DELUSION.
Many People Deceived by Coffee.

We like to defend our indulgencies and habits even though we may be convinced of their actual harmfulness.

A man can convince himself that whiskey is good for him on a cold morning, or beer on a hot summer day —when he wants the whiskey or beer.

It's the same with coffee. Thousands of people suffer headache and nervousness year after year but try to persuade themselves the cause is not coffee—because they like coffee.

"While yet a child I commenced using coffee and continued it," writes a Wis. man, "until I was a regular coffee fiend. I drank it every morning and in consequence had a blinding headache nearly every afternoon.

'My folks thought it was coffee that ailed me, but I liked it and would not admit it was the cause of my trouble, so I stuck to coffee and the headaches stuck to me

"Finally, the folks stopped buying coffee and brought home some Postum. They made it right (directions on pkg.) and told me to see what difference it would make with my head, and during that first week on Postum my old affliction did not bother me once. From that day to this we have used nothing but Postum in place of coffee —headaches are a thing of the past and the whole family is in fine health."

"Postum looks good, smells good, tastes good, is good, and does good to the whole body."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS. MY BROTHERS KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

(CHAPTER VIII—(Continued). 12

But again Arne growled. Fairchild was the red rag in the faces of the state's political rebels, he was one with the gigantic financial interests that dominated his party. Already his reelection was bitterly opposed.

"Eat that dinner, son," roared the farmer student. "It'll be the last one for that old cuss as a senator! The governor's crowd'll get him! I tell you fellows ought to get an ear to the ground. Here Wiley sits in his old shop kicking off a $4 job for the Gem restaurant when he ought to be out among the people Here's Harlan getting through law and then hanging out for some picayune case old Thad Tanner throws him to keep him lined up with the old guard. In a few years he'll be fat and married, driving a car around, never a hair sweated and respectable! Oh lord!"—Arne smote his hard fists together—"never a rough and tumble fight in your life, was there Harlan?"

Harlan smiled. That sort of thing was not for the Van Harts.

"You ought to come up to Wisconsin instead of going east. That Harvard graft is all right for law but you want to catch the new spirit of the new times. Sometimes up there in the north, I'd like you to climb the hill with me and see the fellows from the cow college fight to get into Carmack's lectures on political science. I say, fight to get in! Carmack's the faculty chap the regents would fire if they dared. But I tell you every man who come out of the class room is a political missionary against the old order. You ought to hear those youg professors talk—that's the stuff for the West!"

Wiley's eyes were on the two. Both native sons of the Midlands, one bronzed with the soil, lean with his ardors; the other healthily pink, the beauty of a Galahad, the pure nurture of his father's victorian standards—of the two he loved Harlan better. There was about him a completion, he was a product of an American era done, the other was in the travail of the making. But he could visualize all of Arne's outcry He himself, in the wandering years, had seen the epic of the old west close, he had mingled the wine of his life with it But now the new land was here, the stately cities rising, the ordered nobleness of form That was the meaning of the cry and tumult, the fuller democracy, the west had seen and caught the vision, and Curran, the Celtic romanticist, could feel the splendor

" 'You shall seek the truth, and the truth shall make you free;' that is what they tell us up there," went on Arne. "I've lain in bed after bucking all night on soil tests and economic history, and listened to the young men going up the hill to Carmack's lectures —the young men up the hill in the snow at 7 o'clock! And when he declared that the spirit of socialism was the spirit of every good thing the world was fighting for, when he told them to go out and preach the recall, and the state control of wealth—I've heard them shout, and others going up the hill took up the shout. That's what we're getting, along with soil culture and forest preservation and law and engineering—I tell you it sounds like the march of a new civilization—the tramp of the young men going up the hill"

Harlan listened with his detached and friendly smile He remembered last week stopping Arne in the postoffice with a forecast of the Yale-Harvard football season, but the western student had not seemed to hear—perhaps he was filled with his vision of the young men going up the hill seeking the vision of the New America, the truth that should make men free.

"All those young fellows going back to their states jump into politics," went on Arne "So am I, Harlan. We're going to stump this county talking pigs and politics, and we'll ditch Jim Hall for congress and Fairchild later And where will you be—you, I say!"

"Arne," drawled Harlan with aggravating calm, "I shall probably be arguing a line-fence case in the justice court."

Arne snorted "Wiley, here, is going to get in the primaries again Jim Hall"

"Wiley," put in Janet slowly, "last week the governor was asking about Curran of the News"

Wiley flushed, disconcerted for once. He felt that Janet was shrewdly reading him. He had met Governor Delroy once—the fighting anti-ring governor, whom the rebellion of the north insurgents had put in the chair. But that Delroy remembered him! After all, with his philandering old News, had he really done something? He raised his eyes to see Janet smiling fondly at him, that old affectionate camaraderie of days long dead. Harlan, too, smiled. It was rather droll to consider this obscure country editor as a contestant against James Hall, one time his father's law partner, now one of the most powerful figures of the lower house. What, then, was Wiley Curran in the new civic conscience of the state? What hidden forces were arrayed against the old order, the easy dominance of property and class to which privilege had given a sort of sanctity? He had his first feeling of class consciousness, now, with these challenging friends. And slowly his thoughts went back to Aurelie, to that sullen resentful shame with which he had become aware of his failure to reconcile his love for her with his sense of obligation to his parents, their tradition, breeding, their love and hopes for him. This seemed deepest in him, this abiding sense of honor to them, to their gentle birth and the manners of their kind. There were two sorts of right then—the clamor of those who fought up to seize the good of life, and the steadfast resolution of those who possessed this good and would hold it against the others. Nothing new in the problem. it was the problem of democracy. Harlan was considered an amiable and democratic young man, yet he could not define certain reserves in himself and why it was almost impossible to pass these reserves or admit others to them, although thy were the common understanding of cultured people everywhere. That was it—this bond of cultured people! And social rebels, political rebels, the eternal spirit of rebellion of any sort did not have this or cared nothing for it—the rough-and-tumble of life left little time for its fineness. That was left to those of the established order, an aristocracy to which, much as he hated the word, he must belong. That was why he could not acutely see Aurelie as the little vulgarian, after all; of obscure origin and social gaucherie once she was placed with people of his sort. His sense of orderliness detested any such thing, and so, in his cooler moments, he told himself he did not really love her. She had touched him with the pathose of her love for him, the pathos of her defeated gaiety and courage, the meagerness of her life; that was all, he told himself. He had been sorry for her—yet, that was all. But he wondered at his anguish and his shame that night she ran away from him.

His thoughts came back to his friends in the News office. In this dingy shop the sense of social revolt centered; it was not strange that through the News Aurelie had come to this abominable notoriety; all the things about Aurelie that would exasperate Harlan, would merely delight the vagabond soul of Wiley Curran. It was no use being angry at Wiley about it; his yellow dog of a paper would merely yelp the louder.

Even now, when Janet Vance and Arne were trying to compel a moment's serious thought in Mr. Curran, the editor was yawning, "Me—for congress? And you actually think I am beginning a career? Janet, yesterday I aws kicking away at this old job press when a drummer blew in here and tried to sell me a set of desk stamps. He was one of those ingratiating boosters, and as I had my hat on he thought I was about 21.

He set down his case, as I didn't stop work, and began to tell me how much good it did him to see a young man fighting away down here to make a start in life

"I said, Stranger, what you see here is no start in life, it's a finish!' "

Miss Vance did not smile—at first. Then, at Wiley's rueful discomfiture she did But she said sternly: "Wiley, I'm ashamed of you!"

"So am I, Janet." He crossed his legs over the waste paper basket and sighed. 'But I'm growing up—slowly. I know what Arne means. The tramp-tramp of his northmen—the big-limbed students up the hill. And I see his leaders, too. I know what Delroy is and means. Good God, I ga e my life to the west!" He sat forward, his eyes shining. "Only it was its poetry and its epic bigness that got me, not its outcry of conscience, its political idealism Arne felt that; he brought it back to us here in the south. And I know, Janet! Something at last has stirred me!"

Arne arose and was winding his big silver watch. "Maybe now you'll get a hustle on and change the News to a daily"

"The bank turned me down on that dinky loan. And when I tried to get it in Earlville, some mysterious power blocked me there. I know well enough; it's all because of the fight I made to get the town to take the pumping contract away from Thad Tanner and have a municipal plant."

Harlan stirred. His father was a director of the bank. He did not like Wiley's insinuation; but then his father did not like Wiley. He murmured some inconsequential badinage and followed Arne out to where the student-farmer was bringing his mud-splashed colts to the News horse block.

"I wish," muttered Arne, "you'd get Wiley into this. He's got a chance—such a big chance for the nomination. It's going to be our year—the young men's turn, Harlan. And, old boy, we want you with us!"

Harlan smiled lazily. "Old boy, it's great to see any one so earnest! I don't imagine it's in me. Father hasn't much use for the insurgent idea. And you know our family; the senator is mother's cousin, and Hall was father's law partner"

Arne grimaced. He knew all that! "Your people expect you to be in politics sometime, Harlan, don't they? Well, you want to look ahead!"

"The tramp of the young men up the hill!" Harlan quoted good humoredly "Well, good-bye, old chap; it's east for me tomorrow, and west for you!" He held out his firm, strong hand to Arne's rough one "Next year I'll have out my shingle above the bank corner, and you'll be experimenting with soils among the farmers, and we'll see!"

Arne smiled back the friendly challenge. "And Wiley—let's help put him over, however things go. I'll be out among the farmers, and you among your sort of people—High street and all. Janet, there"—his eyes went to the trim blue-gowned figure of his sister sitting forward in the editor's chair—"she's set her heart upon it. Harlan, she's waited all her life for Wiley's awakening!" He appealed in all his boyish ardor to his friend. "Wiley, if he'd have a career—if he'd do something, she'd marry him!" Then he added hastily, "Or he'd marry her! He'd realize, then, all she is to him. Wiley's awakening—that's what I'm after—and this is his big chance!"

Harlan nodded. All the county, these many years, had put the names of the erratic editor and the efficient school superintendent together—and in vain. Janet was one of the notable women of the state's educational work. Curran was still "Curran of the News."

Curran, this same minute, was badgering Miss Vance about her political proclivities. "I thought," he drawled, "that since you ventured to remark in your address to the county institute, that the constitution of the United States was not, after all, a supernally wise instrument, Boss Tanner and all the old bats about town had concluded that you were unfit to be school superintendent! Old Thad, who, during the war, cleaned up his million on shoddy contracts with the government, roaring for the constitution—ain't it a holy show?"

Miss Vance arose and came to him determinedly, her clean-cut face looking down at him with a humorous impatience. "Just the same, Wiley, any one who wants to get on in politics in this county must reckon with Mr. Tanner. I wish you'd know it!"

"It's more fun," responded Mr. Curran, "to insinuate he's a thief.'

"But not politics."

"Upon my soul, Janet"—he looked up, curiously—"you women of the day get me. You are so damned successful at this game—tell me how you do it?"

She smiled with some demureness. "If you insinuate I'm a woman politician, very well. I'll tell you some points of my game—it's never to let my waist line lose itself. And investing a deal of my salary in masseurs and hair dressing instead of political assessments And getting about casually among the men, and yet never appearing too wise."

"I understand that the school board, which fought you to the last ditch, has removed all the cuspidors from its rooms and shaves twice a week since the woman superintendent was elected! And that the democrats can't find a man to oppose you. Thad Tanner tried to get young Mills of the Earlville normal to run against you, didn't he? But Mills didn't run."

Janet put a firm gloved hand on his arm. "Not since I put on my best clothes and went to an Elks' club ladies' night dance purposely to put the notion out of Mr. Mills' mind! It took half my dance program, though!"

Wiley rubbed his hands delightedly. "Lord, Janet—it's genius!"

"No—business. And Wiley—oh, I want you to wake up! Do something! Be with us—the people who try something! Oh, Wiley, I want you to!"

That was ever her old fond cry. Ever since their school days she had tried something and that was to make a success of Wiley. Even he, with the trifling blindness of a man, might have known what was behind it all. She went on mournfully: "You said something had stirred you at last, Wiley!"

He was looking past her out the window to Harlan and Arne across the square The door was open, and the evening held the first cool stealth of autumn. The breeze upon the gray facades of the rock behind the town showered down the red and yellow leaves Already, from the elevation of Curran's shop, one could catch glimpses of the distant river through the denuded cottonwood of the bottom lands. And his eyes were there with their old detachment of a man who dreams of what he had found and lost out beyond the circling hills; of what the years had given and taken away, and he had stood by empty-handed. But he turned to her with sudden new eagerness

"Janet, I wonder if it's all as you and Arne say? And McBride, over in Earlville, and Purcell, and these men who have such a curious notion that I can beat Hall in the primaries? And Governor Delroy, he spoke of me?"

"Yes You know his organization doesnt amount to much down here. It needs local leadership. They want a man out for congress. Assemblyman Barrett, of Dallas county, was considered, but they need him where he is And all the other progressives are like fatner—too—well, they've had their fling. The movement wants new men and young men.'

"But me in congress. It sure would be a treat for congress!"

"Oh, Wiley! Be serious!"

He was still for a long time. Yes, he had been the watcher from afar of the fighting men. He had thought his years of ardor done. He spoke at last very gently.

"Janet, Im remorsefully humble. You've been my good angel—always, since we were kids in school. Good God, how a man flings his youth away! Eh, I thought that was what I'd done. But Janet, I've awakened—I have!"

Her eyes were sparkling. She tensed with a new splendid jubilance. She had been the militant; she was of that fine modernity that has given to strong women the fearless vision and the will to do, and has taken nothing from their womanhood. She was alert with the expression of sex, inescapable, undaunted, as free as a man's virile pride. And Curran, with his love for the modern, his hatred of sham, had felt at times, the pulsing of her power and had misunderstood nothing. That was the bond of their intimacy: this knowledge unspoken but unafraid.

"Wiley," she murmured. "You will come out? You will go in the primaries? Oh, will you? I've waited so long, Wiley! For you!"

"I know. And this very week I—I seemed to see myself aright—to realize what a miserable failure I'd been —a dreamer. Oh, something very wonderful awakened me—quickened me. I'll tell you, Janet, the very first thing!"

She looked curiously at him, but with her bright fond faith, her overflowing happiness. The fine hard lines that the years had schooled about her eyes were gone.

"The very first thing' Oh, but the point is that you've done it! We'll work for you—all my friends who've stood by men will be with you. But the first thing—was it today?"

"No. Last Tuesday. A little thing —such a foolish little thing. But it hit me hard—it appealed to the sentimental in me, I suppose. But you know me—all that sense of romance that's made a beggar of me, Janet! It was Aurelie Lindstrom."

She did not stir; her attentive eyes were on him merely, but the cool shrewd reading of her workaday life came over the eagerness of a moment ago. "Aurelie?" she murmured—"and her prize-winning?" She smiled slowly. "Why, Wiley, you hardly knew the child!"

"Yes. But the thing hit me, Janet. She came to me"—he hesitated over mentioning Harlan's name in Aurelie's troubled case—"this thing confused her so. And hurt her—it was—sort of a—a—tragedy, Janet. And she left it all to me—what she should do. Here's this great newspaper going to shout all about her next Sunday—you know the stuff—her beauty, and her position and life and prospects—all that sort of thing I know its cheapness and its silliness, but it's her chance, Janet! She asked we what to do."

"Yes." She watched his ardent eyes.

(Continued next week.)

In 1912 Palermo, Italy, sent 41,196 emigrants to the United States on 173 steamers.

1st

First in Everything

First in Quality
First in Results
First in Purity
First in Economy

and for these reasons Calumet Baking Powder is first in the hearts of the millions of housewives who use it and know it.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARDS World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Illinois. Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912.

POWDER
1 lb
NOT MADE BY THE TRUST
CALUMET
BAKING POWDER
CALUMET BAKING POWDER CO.
CHICAGO
You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—purer, wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Willing to Learn.

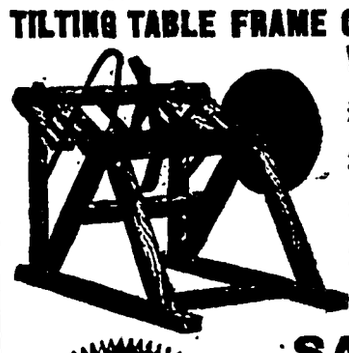
Pauline motored to the station to meet her dearest friend, who was coming down for a week-end.

"Oh, Belle," cried Pauline, enthusiastically, "do you know, Mr. Barnum, the young millionaire, is going to teach me to swim."

"To swim!" exclaimed the guest, wonderingly. "Why, Pauline, I thought you had been taught already."

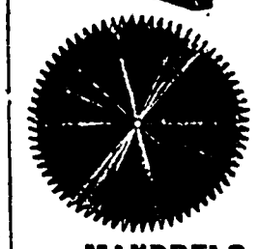
"Yes, so I have, dear," said Pauline, "but not by him."

TILTING TABLE FRAME COMPLETE WITH SAW



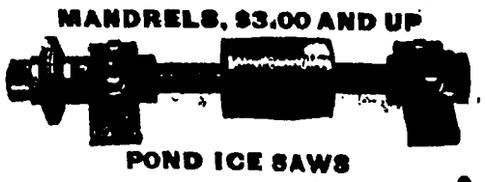
inch
24	$16.00
26	16.50
28	17.00
30	17.50

SAWS

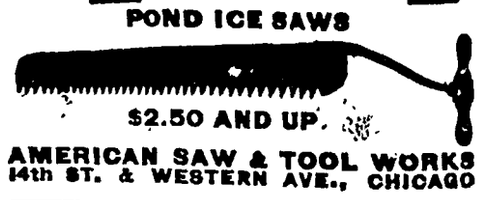


24 inch	$3.90
26 "	4.50
28 "	5.10
30 "	5.70

MANDRELS, $3.00 AND UP



POND ICE SAWS



$2.50 AND UP.

AMERICAN SAW & TOOL WORKS
14th ST. & WESTERN AVE., CHICAGO

The Army of Constipation

Is Growing Smaller Every Day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are responsible—they not only give relief—they permanently cure Constipation. Millions use them for Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Sallow Skin.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

CANCER FREE TREATISE The Lesch Sanatorium, Indianapolis, Ind., has published a booklet which gives interesting facts about the cause of Cancer; also tells what to do for pain, bleeding, odor, etc. Write for it today, mentioning this paper.

...DERFUL GROWTH OF THE CANADIAN WEST

The Cities of Western Canada Reflect the Growth of the Country.

As one passes through Western Canada, taking the City of Winnipeg as a starting point, and then keeping tab on the various cities and towns that line the network of railways that cover the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and covering the eyes as the gaze is bent on these it is felt that there must be "something of a country" behind it all. Then gaze any direction you like and the same view is presented. Field after field of waving grain, thousands and hundreds of thousands of them. Farm hands and laborers are at work converting the virgin prairie with more fields. Pasture land in every direction on which cattle are feeding, thriving and fattening on the grasses that are rich in both milk and beef properties, but it is unfortunate that more cattle are not seen. That, however, is correcting itself. Here we have, in a large measure, the evidence of the wealth that helps to build up the cities, and it should not be forgotten that the cities themselves have as citizens, young men who have come from other parts, and brought with them the experience that has taught them to avoid the mistakes of eastern and southern cities. They also are imbued with the western spirit of enterprise, energy and push, and so Western Canada has its cities. At a banquet recently given in Chicago, a number of prominent citizens of Winnipeg were guests. Among the speakers was Mayor Deacon of Winnipeg. In speaking of the remarkable growth of that city, which in thirty years has risen from a population of 2,000 to one of 200,000, he spoke of it as being the gateway of commerce and continued:

"Now, how great that tide of commerce is you will have some conception of when I tell you that the wheat alone grown in the three prairie provinces this year is sufficient to keep a steady stream of one thousand bushels per minute continuously night and day going to the head of the lakes for three and one-half months, and in addition to that the oats and barley would supply this stream for another four months.

"The value of the grain crop alone grown in the three prairie provinces would be sufficient to build any of our great transcontinental railroads and all their equipment, everything connected with them, from ocean to ocean.

"Now, if we are able to do this with only ten per cent. of our arable land under cultivation what will our possibilities be when 288,000,000 acres of the best land that the sun shines on is brought under the plow? Can you not see the portent of a great, prosperous, populous nation living under the sunny skies north of the 49th parallel? And if with our present development we are able to do as we are doing now, to purchase a million dollars' worth of goods from you every day of the year, what will our trade be worth when we have fully developed the country?

"Now, who shall assist us to develop this great empire that is there? Shall it be the alien races of southern Europe or shall it be men of our own blood and language? In the last three fiscal years no less than 358,000 American farmers have come into Western Canada, bringing with them goods and cash to the value of $350,000,000. And I want to say here that no man who sets foot on our shores is more enthusiastically and heartily welcome than the agriculturist from the south.

"So long as these conditions remain I consider that this is the best guaranty that the sword will never again be drawn in anger between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race. The grain crops of Western Canada in 1913 have well upheld the reputation that country has for abundant yields of all small grains.—Advertisement.

One More, and His Last.

The living skeleton wished another engagement at the museum, but the manager demurred.

"Perhaps I can work in something else," suggested the thin one.

"Well," observed the manager, "I've given you three engagements as a living skeleton; I reckon I can use you once one more if you will agree to go as a dead one."—Pulitzer's Magazine.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Don't place too much faith in the sawbones. The man who says nothing mayn't always saw wood.

It is easy to see why a woman talks she has a pretty ankle.

STORY OF SOUTHERN WOMAN AND HOW SHE SAVED HER BROTHER

Smuggled File Into Cell of Confederate, Sentenced to Death as Spy.

Booneville, Mo.—The daring of a slender blue-eyed southern girl who lived and loved and fairly terrorized federal soldiers in this town in the stirring times of the early '60s still is the subject of many a story. Mary Carroll, of Boonville, was as fearless as she was pretty, as defiant as she was clever and resourceful. She could ride a horse as well as any cavalryman and she could walk, too, when the occasion demanded. She smuggled arms and ammunition to confederate soldiers right under the very eyes of the federals. She aided in the escape of three prisoners who were under sentence of death. Finally she was imprisoned herself, but her ready wit won her release. So it is only natural that those who were neighbors of this dauntless 19-year-old girl should still have vivid recollections of her.

Mrs. Mary Carroll Brooks lives today quietly with her son in Kansas City, at No. 634 Norton avenue. She is 70, but her mind is alert and her clear eyes have not lost their laughter. In the winter of 1863 Dennis Carroll, a brother of Mary, was arrested by federal soldiers on the charge of being a confederate spy, and together with two other men, Mastin Patrick and Lieutenant Charles Brownlee, was imprisoned. Col. D. W. Ware, in command of the Booneville post, ordered the three men shot, but on account of the sudden illness of Patrick the execution was deferred four weeks.

She Saves Her Brothers.

Carroll and Brownlee were held in prison and when Patrick recovered he was placed in the same cell with them. Mary Carroll obtained permission from Colonel Catherwood, in charge of the post, to take meals to her brother and his friends and to give him any sisterly relief she could. So day after day, morning and evening, Mary visited the federal jail with a basket of provisions on her arm. It was almost dark in the cell when Miss Mary brought the evening meal. This caused her brother to devise a plan of escape. "Smuggle me in a file and a crowbar when you come tomorrow night," he whispered in his sister's ear one night. "We'll break out the bars on the window and escape."

The next morning Mary carried a short, stout crowbar and a file dangling from her waist beneath her hoopskirt. She left them in the dark cell, unobserved by the guards. But that night the three men were caught in the act of breaking out the bars, and the work had to be done all over again, under great difficulties now, for the men were thrown in chains and placed in a cell without windows. For some reason or other Miss Mary was not suspected at the time of being responsible for the presence of the crowbar in the cell of the doomed prisoners, and from then on she worked with more assurance.

A Key His Only Hope.

The only hope of escape now was to obtain a key that would unlock the cell door, and Mary unhesitatingly set herself the task of procuring such a key. Being a comely young woman, it was not strange that the federal soldiers about the prison should pay her marked attentions on her visits to her brother. Luckily for Mary and her brother, the man who was the hardest hit was the young sergeant in charge of the jail—he who always carried the precious key at his belt. One day, as the execution time was drawing near, the young sergeant asked her if he might accompany her to her home.

"Why, no. I wouldn't be seen on the street with a federal soldier," replied Mary, archly.

"Then may I visit you at your house tonight?" persisted the soldier.

"Well, perhaps I wouldn't object to that," she teased back at him over her shoulder as she hurried away.

Of course he went to her home. He was young and he made violent love to Mary, who half encouraged, half repulsed him, as women will. He asked her to marry him. She told him she would consider it provided he helped her to get her brother out of jail. This, he sorrowfully explained, he could not do.

"Well, then, you can at least let me see that piece of iron dangling from your belt," she laughed.

How She Made a Key.

He placed the key in her hands. Playfully chatting all the while, the girl folded back the flyleaf of a book against the cover and with a sharp penknife outlined the key on the flyleaf. "There," she said, as she tore the flyleaf out and tossing the book aside held up the page for his inspection, "now I have a paper key to the jail. Isn't that terrible?"

The young soldier seized the paper from her hand and tore it into bits. But the imprint of the key remained on the cover of the book, and the next day and the next, Miss Mary worked to fashion a key after the pattern, first making one of wood, which her brother feared would break off in the lock, and then one of sheet iron, which proved too weak. Finally she began making one of iron.

Four days before the time set for the execution of the death sentence she finished it and smuggled it to her brother and his friends, together with more files to cut the chains. This time the scheme worked, and the next night the three men escaped. Miss Mary and the village blacksmith were arrested on suspicion. Mary's ready confession exonerated the blacksmith. After having been held a prisoner for four weeks she was taken before Colonel Catherwood for trial and acquitted.

Toward the close of the war the jail was turned over to the town sheriff, and this man, overzealous in the discharge of his duties, threatened to rearrest Miss Mary and hang her as a traitor. She was warned of the sheriff's intention and though it was midwinter, she set out with her youngest brother and another little boy whose mother wanted to get him out of the danger zone, and walked 12 miles through the snow and ice to Tipton, taking the train from there to St. Louis. Her feet were so badly frozen and blistered that she was unable to walk for weeks.

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT
soothes your throat!
After smoking it cools your mouth—makes it moist and refreshed.
Heartburn and flatulence disappear.
Enjoy smoking more by enjoying this goody that improves your breath, teeth, appetite, and digestion.
Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT PEPSIN GUM
THE FLAVOR LASTS
CHICAGO
CAUTION!
Dishonest persons are wrapping rank imitations to look like the clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S. These will be offered principally by street fakirs, peddlers and candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. Refuse them! Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S.
BUY IT BY THE BOX
of most dealers — for 85 cents.
Each box contains twenty 5 cent packages.
Chew it after every meal

Thoughtful Wife.

A woman who had gone to a hospital to be operated upon wrote two postcards.

"Please send whichever one is appropriate afterwards," she told the nurse.

These were the cards:

"My Dear Husband: I have had the operation and am doing nicely. Will be at home in a week or two."

"My Dear Husband: I have had the operation, and am sorry to tell you that I did not survive."—New York Evening Post.

Worse Yet.

"He's a frightful bore, your baron. Here he's been buzzing the whole evening long about Kant and Schopenhauer."

"You have my sympathy. For my part I detest philosphical discussions."

"Philosophical discussions, indeed! Kant and Schopenhauer are the names of the baron's two horses."—New York Evening Post.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes color in cold water. Adv.

A Seer Himself.

Fortune Teller—I see a loss of money.

Victim—Yes, so do I; I paid you in advance.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic, 25c a bottle. Adv

Natural Result.

"I saw stars in that collision."

"No wonder, when the train was telescoped."

Enjoy Being Miserable.

There are people so pitiably constituted who, as Carlyle terms it, are "rich in the power to be miserable." Some people are never happy unless they are miserable and make others miserable. They never enjoy anything—except poor health—that's their specialty.

A GRATEFUL OLD MAN.

Mr. W. D. Smith, Ethel, Ky., writes: "I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills for ten or twelve years and they have done me a great deal of good. I do not think I would be alive today if it were not for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I strained my back about forty years ago, which left it very weak. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of that and the Kidney Trouble. I take Dodd's Kidney Pills now to keep from having Backache. I am 77 years old and a farmer. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial, and you may use my picture in connection with it." Correspond with Mr. Smith about this wonderful remedy.

W. D. Smith.

Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at your dealer or Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for Household Hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All sent free. Adv.

Do not borrow trouble, unless by so doing you can relieve some sufferer of the burden.

1913 RECORD

Magnificent Crops in all Western Canada

All parts of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have produced wonderful yields of Wheat, Oats, Barley and Flax. Wheat graded from Contract to No. 1 Hard, weighed heavy and yielded from 20 to 45 bushels per acre; 22 bushels was about the total average. Mixed Farming may be considered fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. In 1912, and again in 1913, at Chicago, Manitoba carried off the Championship for beef steer. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent. For the homesteader, the man who wishes to farm extensively, or the investor, Canada offers the biggest opportunity of any place on the continent.

Apply for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates to

Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 579, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and I. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agent

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

RUPTURE CURED in a few days without pain or a surgical operation. No pay until cured. Write DR. WRAY, 305 Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 2-1914.

PISO'S REMEDY

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post-Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E Baumgartner

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

A SMALL TOWN'S CLUB

As an illustration of what a live club can do for the smaller town the revival of the od time Mulligan club at Union will suffice. The Mulligan club was many years ago a flourishing organization with a political tendency. It had faded away. Lately some of the progressive men of the town revived it as a booster club for Union. Last evening they held a meeting of its 100 members, entertained the town and the country adjacent with a concert by the Industrial school band and glee singers and filled the biggest church in town with a throughly pleased audience of friends and well wishers of the Mulligan club. Better than that the club membership was delighted with the club and its results. They had found a common point of contact for all, an impulse and an opportunity for social and commercial fellowship and had discovered that they like one another much better than they had thought or believed.

The story is the old story over, of lack or organization and fellowship, of individual hard work and competition, of the selfishness such conditions invaribly assist to create and the minor heartburnings and bickerings that arise where men work alone and for their own hands as against the hands of all others, the old story of every town big and little which lacks fellowship; and the revival of good fellowship and common interest and purpose and thought of community welfare is also the same old story. For men are alike and need only opportunity and leadership and a common ground of meeting to become interested in each other and the common interests of all.

The new club is one of the best moves Union has ever made. It means a better Union to live in, to do business in, better relations with each other and with the country contiguous and tributary, better relations with neighboring towns and cities, a better town, a better community and better citizenship; for such a club is a citizen factory where the raw material of youth and inexperience is molded into a higher form of citizenship.

Good luck, hard work, effectiveness and long life to the Mulligan club and many other towns take notice and form like clubs to the betterment of their own communities and the future advancement of Iowa

Times-Republican

We believe that the above article is a good explanation of what can be accomplished by the united efforts of a commercial club or something of that nature. Let's get busy and organize a similar club. Who will start the ball rolling?

Poland China Boars For Sale

I have a number of good young Pure Bred Poland China Boars for sale Weigh from 175 to 225 each. Immune from hog cholera.

11-3 O. E. Carlson.

AN IDEAL WOMAN'S LAXATIVE

Who wants to take salts, or castor oil, when there is nothing better than Dr. King's New Life Pills for all bowel troubles. They act gently and naturally on the stomach and liver, stimulate and regulate your bowels and tone up the entire system. Price, 25c. At all druggists. H E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

CASH CLEARING SALE

10 BARGAIN DAYS

10 BARGAIN DAYS

OF

Men's and boy's Clothing, Shoes & Furnishings

COMMENCING

Thursday, January 8th ENDING Monday Jan. 19th

The mild winter has left us with an enormous stock of heavy clothes that must be sold in the next 10 days in order to make room for our large spring orders now being shipped.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE MONEY. SO COME EARLY WHILE SELECTIONS ARE GOOD

MEN'S SUITS

$10.00 Suits, go at	$6.95
12.50 Suits go at	7.95
15.00 Suits go at	9.95
18.00 Suits go at	12.95
20.00 Suits go at	14.95
25.00 Suits go at	17.95

Fur Coats and Furlined Coats at Warm Prices

Don't Overlook Our Sweater and Underwear Prices

All Shoes, Men's and Boy's at Cut Prices

MEN'S OVERCOATS

POPULAR CHINCHILLAS INCLUDED

$13.50 Overcoats go at	$7.95
15.00 Overcoats go at	9.95
18.00 Overcoats go at	11.95
20.00 Overcoats go at	13.95
22.50 Overcoats go at	14.95
25.00 Overcoats go at	15.95

BOY'S OVERCOATS

$2.00 Overcoats go at	$1.55
3.00 Overcoats go at	2.15
5.00 Overcoats go at	3.65
8.00 Overcoats go at	4.35

Boy's Suits Reduced Accordingly

BARGAINS IN THIS STORE EVERYWHERE

GILDNER BROS. & AYRES.

GARNER, IOWA

F. MISSMAN
...ian and Surgeon
...ce Phone No. 11-02
...sidence No. 11-03
...ce and residence in the ...e Sav. Bank building.
...sted Glasses Fitted

. BAUMGARTNER
...e Tonsorial Artist
...you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.
...west of State Savings Bank
Call in

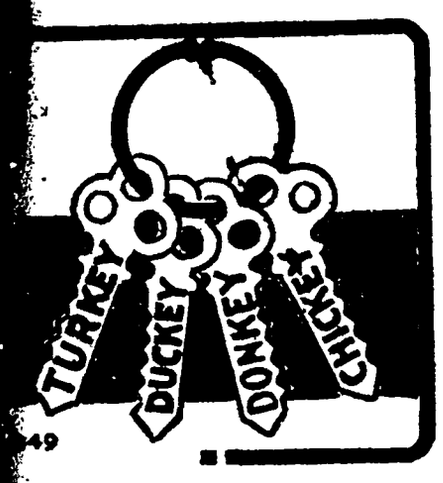
TOM ELDER
—THE—
"HOTEL MAN"

Geo. ZINN
...rsician & Surgeon
...ne No. 19 KLEMME IA;
...Office in Building East ...of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
...s Tested.
Glasses Fitted

L. R. PARSONS
DENTIST
...ce Over State Savings Bank.
Phone No. 48.
Klemme - Iowa

...ol. J. J. Wilson
...Livestock Auctioneer
...SERVEY, -:- IOWA
...TISFACTION GUARANTEED
...es can be made at the State ...avings Bank or 'phone me at Mcservey, Iowa, at my expense.

...h of this bunch will you select the Christmas dinner?



49

THE GOBBLE OF THE TURKEY
Now Echos Thru the Land!
THE QUACK OF THE DUCK
May Be Heard on Every Hand!
CHICKENS ARE AS NUMEROUS
As Little Grains of Sand!
BUT THE DONKEY
Christmas Day Is Little in Demand!
EELS FOR CHRISTMAS FOWLS

CHAS. F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50-55c
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to73
Barley	50 65
Hogs	7.00 to 7.60
Cattle	4.00 to 6.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

Hear the Cowboy Band.

Have you purchased your short course ticket?

Dr. R. W. Schulz, Osteopath, Garner, Iowa.

Becker's electric weld soldering wire mends granite ware.

Found:—A plush robe. Inquire of J. N. Day.

If you are in need of any kind of a stove see Henry Lau & Son.

Fred Albers and wife and son went to Buffalo Center, Thursday.

Duroc Jersey Sows For Sale. George Albers, 2 miles east and ½ mile north of Klemme

L. W. Fuller returned from Belmond, where he had been visiting friends a few days.

Carl Suckow and Herman Katter went to Des Moines, Tuesday where they entered Highland Park College.

Band and orchestra, special scenery, lots of specialties, with the "Cowboy Girl," at the opera house of Klemme

"The Cowboy Girl" is a guaranteed a traction with twelve people, band and orchestra, at opera house, Jan. 15th.

STRAYED—Henry Bauman, Jr., has a stray horse at his place since December 19. Owner can have same by proving property and paying cost of keeping, etc.

Messrs. J. E H. J, and W. F. Stille, W. R. Bloom. P. M Greismer and A. E. Katter went to Mason City, Wednesday on a business mission.

"The Cowboy Girl." the greatest western drama since "The Girl of the Golden West," at the Klemme Opera House on Thursday January the 15th.

The many friends of G. C. Yahnke were grieved to learn of his death Sunday. On account of lack of space and time we are holding over obituary until our next issue.

ESTRAYED:—4 Red Calves. 2 steers and 2 heifers. Left my place about December 18th. Anyone knowing their whereabouts. please notify the owner.
Henry Knoke.

H. L Suckow went to Des Moines, and will accompany his brother in-law, E. J. Schaefer home. Mr. Schaefer has been a patient at the Methodist hospital in that city. where he recently underwent an operation

Grant and Lois Bradfield of Germania, and Mrs. Fred Wolcot and daughter Joy, of Waterloo autoed down from Germania. Wednesday and spent the day at the home of their sister, Mrs. M. M. Magner.

Miss Edna Suckow returned to Ceder Falls, Monday, where she is attending school at the Iowa School Teacher' College, after having spent the holiday vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Suckow Back up California, you have nothing on us.

Short course February 4, 5 and 6. Three big days.

Let's all do a little boosting and make that dairy short course the big success that it should be.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kirkwood returned. Monday from a week's visit with Belmond relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Velau are entertaining a new boy at their home since December 26. Congratulations.

If you have purchased a ticket for the dairy short course, ask your neighbor to do likewise and bring him along.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lindorf are the proud parents of a baby girl which came to live with them last Friday evening.

Mrs. Anna Lijenburg returned to her home at Thompson, Monday, after a two weeks' visit at the G. W. Kluckhohn home.

Harry Bonwell has accepted a position with W. R. Bloom and is now busy helping take care of the large amount of grain being taken in at that place.

Every business man in town is now offering to sell tickets to their friends for the short course, February 4, 5 and 6. If you have not purchased one, do so at once.

Mrs. A. Hosmer returned to her home at Kanawha last week after a visit through the holidays at the home of her sisters, the Mesdames Kluckhohn, Griewe and Nissen.

The Misses Viola Sampson and Ruth Lenz both underwent operations for the removal of their tonsils last week. Dr. Missman, with the assistance of Dr. Parsons, performed the operations.

We have heard many flattering words for the Coyla May Spring Concert company, which held down the boards at the opera house last Friday evening. This was the last number of this season's lyceum course.

Mrs. A. Shafer and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell went to Hayfield, Monday, where on Tuesday they attended the Mrs. Hawley funeral. Mrs. Hawley was well known by a number of Klemme. people as she taught school here at one time.

NOTICE TO SAND USERS—All those indebted to me for sand are requested to please pay for same at once. Payment can be made direct to me or at either bank. Hereafter all small accounts will be cash.
HENRY GRIFFEN

F.P. McCann. who produced the Girl and Ranger to a well satisfied audience is coming again with the Cowboy Girl, and local theater goers are assured of a high class entertainment. Mr. McCann's productions have have been on the road for several seasons and have always satisfaction and he promises the Cowboy Girl to be far ahead of anything he had heretofore. the company consists of twelve people, band and orchestra, special scenery and vaudeville between acts. January 15th at the opera house. Popular prices will prevail.

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

Did You See
the Crowd that attended
The Big Show
at the Idle Hour
on last
Saturday Night
Everybody Is Going Now
Admission: 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

F. P. McCANN PRESENTS
"THE COW-BOY GIRL"
A Western Comedy Drama In Four Acts
A Beautiful Story Full of Good Clean Comedy
Special Scenery. Specialties Between Acts.

Band and Orchestra
Band Concert at 4:00 and 7:30 p. m.

Klemme Opera House
Thursday, January 15th

Admission 35 cents. Reserved Seats 50 cents.

SPECIAL NOTICE—This Show Is Gauranteed to Give Satisfaction

While Extending the Season's Greetings
and best wishes for
A Happy and Prosperous New Year

we desire to thank you heartily for your past patronage and hope through the influence of our service and values we may number you among our esteemed patrons for many years.

J. N. DAY

LADIES

RESOLVE IN 1914 TO GIVE YOUR FACE A Fair Show. It will be all you desire if you will aid nature with the toilet preparations we handle.

Clear Complexions

Are as easily possessed as the sallow spotted kind, if you use the preparations that science has found needful for a clear, soft, velvety skin.

Ivory-Like Teeth

If your teeth are not white as ivory, make them so, and if they are, keep them that way. We have the best brands of tooth washes and powders that medical science produces, and you owe it to yourself to use no other.

G. A. PABST

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"
If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.
If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

How large is your school playground? Henry S. Curtis, in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education declares that every city school building should have at least one full block of ground, whether the block is the usual city block or two or three acres, or one of 10 acres, as in Salt Lake City, Utah.

It is a fact not generally known that Queen Mary is an enthusiastic book lover and whenever she pays short, informal visits to London she usually goes to a famous book shop in the west end, as nothing pleases her better than to be able to look through the new books at her leisure.

Two delegates at the annual conference of the British alliance of dancing masters gave demonstrations of the "tango' and the "peacock glide" and the congress was thrown into ecstasies, declaring that the evolutions were "graceful, elevating and free from vulgarity"

Says the editor of the Vinland Vinez "One of the distinct shocks of my life came when I lost a button off my trousers as I went to church I put it in my pocket along with a quarter I had Imagine my surprise upon returning home to find that I still had the button"

In Belgium and other countries it has been from time immemorial a custom to preserve the heart of a man renowned for his sanctity, and on the anniversary of the death of its possessor this relic receives a large share of veneration from hundreds of people.

A tooth which once gave toothache to Victor Hugo has been carefully preserved since the date of its extraction in 1871 It is kept at his former house in a glass case where it is displayed for the benefit of the great writer's admirers

At the held in Yakutsk, Siberia, last July 946 pounds of bones of the mammoth were sold Other articles sold were 30 000 white polar fox skins, 1,000 red fox skins 10,000 ermine skins, 70,000 squirrel skins and 100 black bear skins.

Andrew Kline, of Dillsburg, Pa., has a barrel which, instead of being made of wood, is made of plaited straw, and in such a way that it is perfectly watertight. Barrels of this kind were frequently used in revolutionary times.

Until recently the greatest ocean depth known was south of the Island of Guam -9,635 meters A few months ago the German imperial ship Planet found a depth of 9,780 meters 40 miles north of the Island of Mindanao

The number of persons engaged in the coal mining industries of the world is about 3,000,000, of which number about 1,000,000 are employed in the United Kingdom and about 750,000 in the United States

A cork sunk 200 feet deep in the ocean will not rise again to the surface, owing to the great pressure of the water. At any less distance, however, it will gradually work its way back to light.

Marseilles annually exports about $10,000,000 worth of cocoanut butter, the business having been developed since 1897 Most of it goes to England, Holland and Scandinavia.

The earliest attempt at sewing by machinery of which there is any authentic record was in 1775, in which year a machine was patented in England by Charles F Weisenthal

Guatemala is about as large as Louisiana. The planters are the most influential element and they sell their products for gold and pay their labor in depreciated currency

In Berlin the exhibition at the door of a butcher shop of a chair partly draped with a clean apron indicates that fresh sausages are on sale

Eastern manufacturers are looking to the northwest for hardwoods for the manufacture of clothes pins Birch is particularly desired

A gas buoy broke away from its moorings in the St Lawrence and drifted for two years, covering a distance of 18 000 miles

Test messages of wireless telegrams sent in Peru with five-kilowatt power passed the Andes mountains from 14,000 to 20 000 feet high

Astronomers assert that there is another system beyond Neptune, which is the most distant of all the planets in our system

The Germans will mount 40,000 candlepower searchlights on some of their airships to illuminate the enemy's camp

Next year's sugar crop in Cuba is estimated at 2,400,000 tons, slightly less than this year, when a record was established.

The candy bill of the American girl is $134,000,000. $10,000,000 more than the cost of the nation's paint and varnish.

Practically all the corn cob pipes used in America are produced by six factories, all of which are in Missouri.

A wireless station is being installed on Juan Fernandez island—made famous by the story of Robinson Crusoe.

Retail dealers in Hong Kong are discovering the advantage of window dressing after the American plan.

The total amount of money reposing on the ocean's bottoms in the shape of submarine cables is $250,000,000

English engineers assert that enough coal to last the world 800 years still is available in Newcastle.

Most of the licorice root used in America comes from the marshy plains of Turkey and Russia.

London has some lamp posts still doing duty which were planted in the time of George III.

WOMEN BACK BOND ISSUES FOR BETTER ROADS AND BRIDGES

Claims "Pay as You Go" System Is Special Protection to People of Future.

Ames, Ia., Jan. 5.—Charging that the present "pay as you go" method of building permanent bridges and highways in Iowa is unfair to every taxpayer who provides these improvements for future generations, F. W. Norris, editor of the Marshalltown Times-Republican, told the county engineers of Iowa in attendance at the highway short course that they should go back to their counties as advance agents of the good roads gospel to convert supervisors, road trustees and all voters to the necessity of some system of financing permanent roads in Iowa by a bond issue.

"Here in Iowa we have not yet learned the wisdom of financing a public project by the same methods used in financing private projects," said Mr Norris. "Every railroad, every telephone company, every commercial enterprise spreads the cost of a new undertaking over a period of years In Marshall county, we have figured that at the same rate of taxation the money we now get for roads and bridges would build 125 miles of permanent highway, and 60 miles of graveled road by a 25-year bond issue, and not cost the taxpayers an extra cent And those roads once built would be good for many years.

"The farmers of the state have learned that the only way to build permanent court houses and school houses is by bond issues The next step is for them to apply the same idea to the matter of permanent highways Though the richest state in the union, Iowa has the smallest per capita indebtedness of any state. Iowans think it is a fine thing when California votes bond issues for permanent highways, but what is a fine thing for California is unthinkable for Iowa. Yet it is Iowa investors who buy the road bonds of California, Texas, Tennessee and other progressive states."

That the legislature should authorize the more progressive counties of the state to bond the county for roads, was urged by Mr Norris He believed that the counities should be enabled to build permanent highways on the county road systems, and proposed that a system of special assessment districts with the heavier charges against the farms immediately benefitted be organized In order to induce the counties to vote the bond issues he proposed that the state should offer the counties $1 for every $2 spent by the county in good roads.

LIST OF JURORS FOR PLYMOUTH DISTRICT COURT

LeMars, Ia , Jan 5 —The grand jury to serve at the Plymouth county district court for the year 1914 was drawn yesterday as follows

Elkhorn, Geo. Fletcher, Lincoln, Fritz Muecke, Hungerford, Henry Ideker, Perry, M H. Hayden, Henry Adolph Witt, Liberty, Geo Veidt, Sioux, Thos. Nason, Marion, Henry Wisser, America, Henry Liesenger; Johnson, Harry Attrill; Meadow, F Staub, Third ward LeMars, Jergen Renker

The petit jurors drawn for the January term are:

Garfield, Walter Champney, John A Murray, Elkhorn J W. Mockler, Lincoln, Henry L Ideker, John Peterson, Hungerford, Mike Fiest, Perry, F M. Rollins Theo Pederon, Hancock, Carl Oleson, Henry Koch, John Breiholtz, Union, David Harvey, Thos. Pratt Stanton, Geo King, Plymouth, J C Halwig, J. J. Schmidt, Liberty Thos Waddle, Sioux, W. H. Weber, Remsen, Hermann Boge, Agust Ericksen, Marion, Nic Therens, W C Bernerjerges, America, J E Kunkel, Ed M Heissel Washington, Albert Mosher, G Von Hagel, Johnson, Alex McInnis Ed Betsworth, Westfield, W S Christensen, Meadow, Wm Siefke, Fredonia, Jake Forman; Elgin, R H. Hinds Grant, Henry Kleihauer, J J Westhoff Preston, Ben Borchers, Portland, W B Ross; First ward LeMars, F C Hentges, Second ward LeMars G W Kluckhohn, Third ward LeMars, George B Lindermann, Akron, M E Balcolm

HEARTBROKEN FATHER SEEKING LOST DAUGHTER

Waterloo, Ia , Jan 5.—A heartbroken father is searching this city for a lost daughter

Edith Wills of Council Hill, Ill., purchased a ticket at her home town last Monday afternoon for Ackley, and she arrived in Waterloo that evening, remaining over night. Since that time no trace of her has been found

Her father, John H. Wills, came to Waterloo Thursday morning. Miss Wills is 16 years old and is attractive. She was expected to go to Ackley to visit with relatives, and when she did not arrive there Tuesday morning, a telegram was forwarded to her parents in Council Hill.

She arrived here on an Illinois Central train, and was informed that the train continued no further than Waterloo, and she could start for Ackley at midnight.

A local cafe manager recalls her having eaten breakfast at his place Tuesday morning. Her father is loathe to believe that she has met with persons who have induced her to remain here. He thinks she has either boarded a wrong train and is stranded in some town nearby or that she has met with an accident or foul play.

WADE SEES 12 YEARS OF DEMOCRATIC SUPREMACY

Washington, D C., Jan. 5.—Judge Wade, in an interview here, declared that 12 years of democratic rule are assured and says the democrats will defeat Senator Cummins in Iowa. He does not predict who will be the democratic candidate.

Regarding the general political situation, Judge Wade expressed the belief that the split between republicans and progressives cannot be healed for a long time He is optimistic about business conditions and says the action of Morgan & Co. in retiring from various directorates shows the great corporations realize the administration is in earnest.

"With this realization, the need for drastic legislation has passed," says Judge Wade.

IOWA NEWS IN BRIEF

IDA GROVE—Friends in this city have received cards announcing the marriage of H. J. Von Dohren and Miss Gene Yockey, well known and prominent young people of this city. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents in Edgerton, Ohio, on Christmas day, and they will be at home in Ida Grove after February 1. Mr. Von Dohren is a member of the hardware firm of Simpson & Von Dohren, and the bride is a sisterinlaw of Editor Schaffer, of the Record-Era.

CEDAR RAPIDS—Harry L. Marshall, for many years superintendent of the composing room of the Cedar Rapids Evening Gazette, has just become a large stockholder in the plant, having purchased the major portion of the Faulke's holdings. Mr. Marshall's son, Verne, formerly of the Sioux City Journal will return from the Minneapolis Tribune where he now holds an editorial desk, to become associated with his father.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—The body of William Dalson of Council Bluffs was brought here today for burial, and his brotherinlaw, Michael J McGuire, who killed Dalson, is held in Kansas City, without bail on a charge of first degree murder. Mrs. McGuire had begun suit for divorce and when her husband tried to enter her room at her boarding house, Dalson interferred and was shot and killed by McGuire. All formerly lived in this city.

FORT DODGE—Eighty thousand dollars alone for transformers will be paid because the Fort Dodge Gas and Electric company will, after January 1, purchase its electricity from the Fort Dodge, Des Moines & Southern and the current will be changed from 60 cycle and 25 cycle. Every motor in Fort Dodge must be replaced. The gas and electric company will stand the expense of the change.

WATERLOO—Though more than 80 years old, Mrs. Marie Urbau had an uneventful journey from Austria-Hungary to Waterloo, which took 31 days. The reunion with her son, Michael, whom she had not seen for many years, was affecting Elaborate preparations had been made for a big Christmas celebration, but owing to her detention at Ellis Island the aged immigrant did not reach here in time.

KNOXVILLE—Those who imagine that small fur bearing animals are becoming scarce in Iowa should examine the books of the Knoxville Fur company One day recently M W Conwell, manager, shipped out a consignment of furs consisting of the skins of 301 muskrats, 275 of the large species of striped skunk, 138 of the civit cat or spotted skunk, 42 mink, 20 raccoons, 36 possums and one fox.

IOWA CITY—Wrestling is to be taught in the Iowa City High school, and the school board has appointed Dr Fred M. Ballard an Iowa City dentist, as instructor Dr Ballard was formerly featherweight wrestling champion of the State University of Iowa. A tournament will be held next spring, in the new high school gymnasium

MASON CITY—George Paulus, a farmer, had the good fortune to shoot a silver wolf which he sold at a local furrier's for $50. In addition to this he secured a bounty of $20. The wolf had lost one foot, evidencing the fact that a short time ago it had been caught in a trap. This specimen of wolf is seldom seen below the Arctic circle

HOSPERS—Shuver & Boterman, proprietors of the creamery here, have installed an ice plant in their building and will furnish the town of Hospers with ice next summer. The plant has a capacity of four tons and will furnish ice more cheaply, according to the owners, than the old way of harvesting it from the river

MARSHALLTOWN—B F Ingraham, a Gilman blacksmith, aged 34 years, was killed almost instantly last night when the automobile he was driving at a high rate of speed missed the bridge at the foot of a hill and turned turtle. Ingraham was buried beneath the car. Two others who were in the car were not hurt.

CEDAR RAPIDS—Harry L. Marshall, for many years superintendent of the Gazette composing rooms, has purchased four-fifths of the stock of the Faulkes estate, half owners of the Gazette. The Miller estate retains its interest. Verne Marshall, formerly of Sioux City, will return to the Gazette staff on February 1.

BOONE—Chief of Police S. F. Moyer and his brotherinlaw, former Sheriff Willard Foster, whose wife is a sister of President Moyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, left at noon Sunday for Chicago to be with their injured brother. Chief Moyer is a brother of the wounded labor agitator.

FORT DODGE—In a resolution adopted by the city council, conditions imposed in a deed to Phinney park, a tract of 30 acres on the west bank of the Des Moines river given by Miss Mary Stevens, are accepted. The new park is just opposite Duck Island park and the two will be joined by a bridge.

OSKALOOSA—Charles Hoover, aged 10, a son of Earnest Hoover, accidentally killed himself with a .22 caliber rifle while hunting. While he was slimbing a fence the gun fell and was discharged. The ball entered his left arm, cut an artery and he bled to death before a doctor arrived.

MASON CITY—Bloodhounds arrived this afternoon from Waterloo and were sent on the trail of the discharged laborer, who is believed to be an Italian, who slashed the neck of W. H. Ward, foreman at the cement plant, last night. Ward is in a serious condition.

MARSHALLTOWN—Col. C. C. Horton, commandant of the Iowa Soldiers' home, received from the state board of control, official notification of his reappointment as commandant for another term of four years. Horton has been at the head of the institution since 1897.

WEBSTER CITY—J. P. Talcott, of Williams, owner of implement and hardware stores in Williams, Blairsburg and Webster City, died at his home here of typhoid pneumonia. He was one of Hamilton county's most prominent and leading business men.

IOWA FALLS—George S. Forest, of Portland, Ore., who formerly owned and operated the gas plant here, has been named by Judge Wright as receiver for the Iowa Falls Gas company. He will proceed at once to resume gas service for the city.

NEWTON—Frank Dickerson pleaded guilty to uttering a forged instrument yesterday and was sentenced to serve not to exceed 15 years at hard labor in the Anamosa reformatory, and was fined $100 and costs. Dickerson forged six checks.

BELIEF GROWS THAT WHEELOCK MET WITH VIOLENT TREATMENT

Wrote About Securing Minister for His Church on Day of Disappearance.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 3.—With a letter in his possession from Mortimer B. Wheelock that is believed will strengthen the murder theory in the probe of the banker's death, Rev. Horace O. Bethel, Presbyterian minister, of Moulton, is being sought by County Attorney Guthrie and Coroner James M. Lee.

The Rev. Mr. Bethel arrived in the city from Moulton and departed for Colfax within an hour after his arrival. He showed the letter to William E. Ballard, proprietor of the Munger hotel, at the hotel. Mr. Ballard immediately sought County Attorney Guthrie and told him of the letter. When he returned to secure the letter the minister left word that he had gone to Colfax. Both the Rev. Mr. Bethel and Mr. Ballard were close friends of Mr. Wheelock.

Mr. Ballard declares that from his conversation with the Rev. Mr. Bethel the letter was written either December 1 or the last day of November. Mortimer Wheelock disappeared, as far as the investigation has disclosed, on Monday evening, December 1. The Rev. Mr. Bethel told Mr. Ballard in the course of the conversation, that he believed "it was one of the last letters that Mort wrote"

If it is shown when the letter is secured that it was written on the date named, officials say that it will go far toward showing that Wheelock had no intention of committing suicide and, therefore, the murder theory will be strengthened.

The letter deals entirely with securing a minister for the Presbyterian church, of Colfax, of which Mr. Wheelock was an active member. As far as Mr. Ballard remembers from reading it, the letter states that prospects were never brighter for a new minister in the parish. The church has been without a pastor for some time.

The Rev. Mr Bethel is pastor-evangelist for the church and would look after the naming of a new minister. Wheelock urged him, as Ballard remembers, to come to Colfax and give the Presbyterian church a new start. Wheelock intimated that with the minister's help he could put the church on its feet again.

BETTER BEEF PRODUCTION NEW EXTENSION THEME

Ames, Ia , Jan 3 —The better market production of cattle, hogs and sheep is to get special encouragement in Iowa from the agricultural extension department of Iowa State college. Through scores of local fat stock shows the animal husbandry experts at Ames plan to do for the fat stock industry what they have done through local colt shows to stimulate the better breeding of draft horses. Iowa's colt shows have aroused farmers in hundreds of communities to the value of good blood and good management in growing drafters with the result that Iowa is producing more high class work horses than any other state. Director W. J. Kennedy, of the agricultural extension department believes that fat stock shows will be just as effective in their field and one will be organized in every community that wants it.

TWO BREAK THROUGH ICE AND HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Iowa City, Ia , Jan. 3 —Forrest Reed, business manager of the Johnson County Independent and former manager of the Daily Iowan and his brother, L. C. Reed, of Manilla, Ia., narrowly escaped drowning in Iowa river today.

They broke through the ice at a deep swift point near Old Terrill dam. They were in the water 10 minutes and were rescued by Robert N. Carson, who was passing by in an automobile and was hailed by a boy in a milk wagon who saw the accident. Carson got a reel of garden hose from the yard of Euclid Sanders, a suburban home, and reeled it out 150 feet Both men got hold and were pulled out, almost exhaused. They were taken in the auto to a hospital.

FAMOUS CARDIFF GIANT RETURNED TO FORT DODGE

Fort Dodge, Ia., Jan 3.—The famous "Cardiff Giant" was returned to its native home here late yesterday. The big fellow, weighing 2,990 pounds, was in good condition. It was immediately placed in a fireproof warehouse. J. R. Mulroney, the new owner of the giant, is undecided just what to do with it.

The giant left Fort Dodge in 1868 as a rough piece of gympsum rock quarried a few miles south of here. It was transported by wagon to Boone and thence to Chicago, where it was carved, then taken to New York state, buried and later "discovered." Many scientists were fooled and its first owners made a fortune displaying the "fossilized man."

NEW MINE EXAMINERS SOON TO BE NAMED

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 3.—The governor will have the appointment very soon of a new board of examiners for mine foremen and engineers. The present board consists of Edward Gray, Des Moines, president; H. W. Ladd, Madrid, secretary; T. L. Evans, Lockman; David Anderson, Albia, and W. L. Jones, Colfax. The board meets four or five times a year to examine persons desiring certificates of qualification to become foremen or engineers in mines; also the board has the duty each year of examining and certifying to the governor persons shown to be competent to act as mine inspectors. The terms of the present members of the board expire late in January.

CONFESSES HORSE STEALING AS NEW YEAR'S OFFERING

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 3.—Will Arnett, held a prisoner in the county jail on a charge of horse stealing, is among those who have resolved to lead a better life during the year. In what he called a New Year's confession, signed and turned over to Sheriff Griffin today, Arnett lifted a burden from his conscience by admitting the charge. Arnett says he always has been honest hitherto and this was his first arrest. He attributed his downfall to the excessive use of liquor and his association with evil companions

SUPERVISORS MUST DIVVY ON THE BIG TAX COLLECTIO

County Advised That Ot Funds Must Receive Their Share.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 31 —T dreams of the supervisors of bei able to retain the entire $75,000 pa into the treasury by the Rock Isla Railroad company were somewh shattered when John J. Haloran the attorney, declared it was his opinio the city, state and school district a entitled to a proportionate share the fund.

Mr. Halloran said there was nothi in the statutes insofar as he had be able to discern that would permit th supervisors to ignore the other taxi bodies. He pointed out that the judg ment entered by Judge Charles A Dud ley Saturday against the Rock Isla showed that it was for unpaid tax during 1909.

The rate of taxation during that ye was 83.4 mills. In the opinion of M Haloran, the city is entitled to $32 562.28; school district, $26,960 40, sta $3,469.75 and county, $12,277.57 Trea urer Martin probably will apportio the money this week.

W. C. BROWN PAYS FOR SHORT COURSE EXPENSES

Ames, Ia., Dec. 31.—When the an nual farmers' short course opened a Iowa State college yesterday fiv Warren county boys began the enjoy ment of a unique Christmas present a two weeks' course in agriculture, a expenses paid by the giver

W. C. Brown, former president o the New York Central railroad bu now an Iowa farmer, is the Santa Clau who made this unusual gift. His man ner of making it is even more unusua for, as a matter of fact, some of Mr Brown's fine standard bred horse provided the money for the gift by their winnings in the races at the War ren county fair last fall. They wer entered by Mr. Brown, contrary to hi custom of not racing his fine horses and they won a good lot of priz money. Some weeks ago he asked hi friend, Harry Hopper, of Indianola, t use the money in sending boys to th short course at Ames, and Mr. Hoppe found enough of it to pay every dol lar of expense for five young men

The five boys chosen for the gift ar Glen Tomlinson, Indianola, Rudolph Otz, jr., Lacona; Leo Adamson, Ack worth; Edward Burlingame, Norwalk and Jennings Reed, New Virginia They were not chosen in any public competition, but on the recommenda tion of 10 different men in as many rural communities of the county. Every boy had to stand the "acid test" of character. Is he industrious? Does he plan to make farming his life work? Is he reliable? Is he a good student? Has he common sense? Does he smoke or chew? Does he loaf in pool halls or anywhere else? Who are his companions? Is he rowdyish or does he swear? Has he qualities of leadership? Those were some of the questions the men who recommended boys had to answer about them. As a result, five of the finest boys in Warren county were secured.

The short course opened with prospects of a large attendance in spite of the increasing number of short courses over the state. At the college the entire equipment of the agricultural division will be turned over to the farmers, their wives, sons and daughters and hired men and instruction will be given for every member of the farm family.

BAGS OF GOLD GIVEN BY BLACK HAWK COUPLE

Waterloo, Ia., Dec. 31.—Pursuant to their custom of "giving while living," Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Klingaman, who have large land holdings four miles south of the city, provided a Christmas tree worth while to their five children and 16 grandchildren. Dangling from the branches of the tree were bags containing $500 in gold and currency for each child, a total of $2 500. All of the grandchildren were generously remembered, and the celebration involved an outlay of nearly $3 000 Those receiving the $500 gifts were Mrs. George F. Johnson, C. E. Klingaman, F. L. Klingaman, Will Klingaman and Ray Klingaman.

CORWITH BARBER SHOT; MAYOR'S BROTHER ACCUSED

Forest City, Ia., Dec. 31.—Jesse Oxley is in jail here and is talking but very little. From the latest advices received in all probability he will have to answer to the charge of murder. Feeling was so intense that he was brought from Corwith, in Hancock county, to this place for safe keeping.

Jesse Oxley is a brother of Mayor George Oxley. Some time ago Mrs Jesse Oxley secured a divorce from her husband. Melville Hillery, a barber, in due course of time, married her. They moved away, but, according to statements made, Oxley followed them with letters that reflected on their characters, and this caused Hillery to lose at least three jobs. He recently returned to Corwith.

Oxley had made some remarks which caused Hillery to seek protection. At the time he was shot Hillery was on his way to the telephone station to call the sheriff. Hillery was shot through the body, the ball passing a few inches under the heart and through the liver.

TWO TRAMPS CONFESS ROBBERY OF COMPANION

Denison, Ia., Dec. 31.—Two of the men who robbed a fellow tramp while riding on the Northwestern train between here and West Side have confessed and were sentenced to 10 years at the Fort Madison penitentiary. There were four of them in the car when two negroes and a white man set upon Vit Stokovich, an Austrian. They took his money, overshoes and most of his clothing and then put him off the moving train. The train crew became aware of what had happened and sent word for officers to meet the train at Arcadia. These were there, but one negro escaped. Charles H. Scott, colored, and A. J. Dougherty were brought here to await trial. The man who escaped had most of the money

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF "THE DAY OF SOULS," "MY BROTHERS KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

11

CHAPTER VIII

TRAMP OF THE YOUNG MEN

Curran was in his office working rush job for the Gem restaurant illumination across the square. e Cooking—Chicago Style" was in yes as he kicked the old press e, when Harlan came in. Harlan ot intended to see Wiley again, p was his hurt and humiliation, hen he crossed the square and the clankety clank of the News' epartment, he could not resist ths and ardors. Wiley too, would rt if Harlan departed without a So it seemed the most natural to lounge in, sink down in the chair, while the editor held up y hands a minute to wave them y.

always it was something like "Hello, Harlan!"

lo, Wiley!"

re you down at the junction for ven-ten this evening?"

"

came in?"

Lady Hicks and that Sheasby om Ottumwa, Billy said."

'em up for the local. Give dy Hicks a real snifter—her subn is abo t out and I want a l."

Harlan reached for some copy and scrawled the items, and over the stuff on the local hook. ws Notes' will be rotten this The brakeman on Ten said his ad a baby."

ve it in."

on't know his name."

ve it in anynow. Splash it on jolly him about the cigars and r 10, and let folks guess who it Harlan scrawled on while the rehearsed all the news he could of. "Tear up some editorial dope option Saloon must be kept our midst. * * * Home and e. * * * Remember Our Boys. Outlaw the Unholy Traffic. * Murmuered Wiley above the ty-clank.

Mr. Curran had no boys, and holy traffic had piled beer bottles h behind the News fence that s could barely pass, and his e and Fireside" consisted of one old lady who had followed his zard fortunes from Puget Sound Rio Grande and back to the wn, but nevertheless, Harlan pa- denounced the traffic for a l.

re'll be," mused the edtor, "Banstarts and coffee in a minute Aunt Abby comes from prayer g. Arne and Janet will drop in be a farewell spree for you, old I'm glad we had you last, after was a rare comforting. Harlan anted to be distant to Wiley, e couldn't. Even Aunt Abby 't, and she ought to know his He was a man, like many a or, who sought the mothering us of elder women. He was his and his best with them. Aunt had followed all the later years wandering; had homesteaded m under the gray low-hanging of the Dakota winters, she re- red the ceaseless winds, and of Nevada where he had prosand the dim buttes of the est where they had slept under ars in lonely cow camps. Al- she had saved him from sheer ondia, given the respectability of rhood to his vagaries, defended ainst town gossip; was proud of ainst all the world. "That limb, T." he was to her lonley need e.

et," mused Wiley, "and Arne—ou—that's about all there's been old town for me. It's been lone- e, Harlan—and I'm a bit gray the temples. You three have the town more green and fair able."

eye had an unwonted sparkle to- he worked. Presently a smart drew to the door, and by way of ne, with his hail, the editor a begrimed newspaper directory e newcomer's feet. A tall, hy-cheeked man with the air of ields upon him, followed Miss into the shop. The woman supndent of schools listened to her er's exuberant chaffing of the for a moment; she seemed mentaking stock of the place—Curran his hands on an empurpled , Harlan impaling copy on the the general ne'er-do-well atmosof the Rome, Iowa, News.

arts," said the editor, coffee. Maybe beer likes beer? Nobody. It's unlaw- But there's a case under Aunt Abbed; and the good old lady, all unecting, is at prayer meeting."

've dined," rejoined Miss Vance, on with your work."

Curran was noted for his pretexts ade work,—which explained a deal the News' circulation. Miss sat down in the swivel chair at itor's desk which Harlan had va- She was tailored far beyond 's possibilities even if Sarah , the dressmaker, had, since a retrip to Chicago, changed the leg- n her shop window to "Modiste red and groomed, 30, aggressive reserved—the county said it was for nothing she was daughter of Vance, the political farmer was accredited to be the most ive campaigner in the courthou had been elected to her seco by a splendid majority after ha carried her first election to s. The old line party men had wahted her, but they had had to t a woman school superintende looked Harlan over with critical t; Mrs. Van Hart and High t had not given her much support. e was poking among Wiley's exes, snorting militantly now and He was on his way back to the ultural school in Wisconsin, where bsorbed as much radical politics l culture. Out of his pockets now bulged a great yellow ear of prize corn and a bundle of congressional speeches. Jake Vance, arguing about the square on market days in his old, moth-eaten, buffalo coat, expounding his heresies to the farmers, was proud of his two children. Country-bred, there was no "hayseed" about them. Out at Cloverland farm they had a telephone, a piano player, a motor that did nearly everything about the house and stables, and all the new-fangled devices; and the doubting farmers always stopped to see what next the Vances were up to.

"While we're all here," put in Wiley, "let's talk over the Christmas number of our magazine so's we can get it out by April. It's really due to our subscribers."

Miss Vance looked at him. "Wiley," she said decisively, "I'm going to sell The Inland Empire."

Mr. Curran feigned distress and amazement. "Sell it? Why, you can't—I'm president!

"Besides," he went on riotously, "we've got a new subscriber. I was afraid our other one would die. The Gem—Chicago Style. Since Sallie Frisby came back from the city she says it's a shame this town has no place where one can go after the theater, so she's going to keep the Gem open until 10 o'clock if there's not a soul in the place. She's going to give Rome a touch of high life, and on that aspiration I got her to subscribe to The Inland Empire—if we give her a write-up. Also, we take it out in trade. By jove, I jumped at it—The Inland Empire does need a square meal!"

Miss Vance looked at him in some despair. "Nevertheless, we're going to sell the magazine—to a Des Moines chap who wants to turn it into a farm journal."

Mr Curran looked doleful. It is true he was president of the corporation, but most of Miss Vance's salary had gone of late to get The Inland Empire out of the Earlville paint shop. Wiley had long since exhausted his eloquence and his credit. Mr. Curran's touch seemed as irresponsible fatal to this grand scheme as it had to the News' circulation. Janet had had great dreams of The Empire. She had wanted expression and achievement beyond the routine of her work; she had thought to touch the world, its letter, crafts, movements with her own convictions; they would build their magazine slowly to success, aspiring high but yet keeping to the good earth, with departments for the home, the farm and countryside, while battling for the militant political ideals of the west. It would mean the sweetness of power and freedom—now she wondered how any practical mind could ever have supposed it would succeed with Mr. Curran at its business head.

"Wiley," she said severely, "I shall sell it."

"You had better," he murmured again dismally, "consult our stockholders."

Arne and Harlan shouted irrepressibly "Go ahead," cried Harlan. "I'll donate mine I'm too busy this year to furnish any more 'Boston Notes,' and the athletic resume, anyway. I move we go down to the Gem, eat out that dollar subscription and then suspend publication at once."

"Harlan," retorted the superintendent, "Wiley is demoralizing you. I'm glad you're going back to Harvard."

Her brother looked with some frank resentment on the immaculate young man. The lean-faced student farmer from Wisconsin had the dyspeptic diathesis of the reformer. The genial ease of breeding in the judge's son galled him at times, even as did Curran's whimsical impracticality. Arne's black eyes went about the old shop with impatient envy, the old Washington press, the stack of frayed ink rollers, the high wooden cases of type stained and whittled by generations of wandering printers, the ramshackly desk piled with yellowing and dusty papers, gummy with paste and inky accretions except in the one spot where the editor was wont to push everything aside to find a writing space—the student-farmer, burning with his fiery zeal, saw in it all power—power unused, dissipated, perverted. He was forever urging Wiley to further radicalism; and Wiley at his best was irresponsible enough. The Vances and the News had been united from the first by common sentiment; from this same old desk, Jake Vance in war time days had lifted the body of the elder Curran, helpless with a copper-head bullet, and defied the mob; and in the years of the granger movements the news had supported Vance in repeated hopeless battles for congress. Arne had grown up in this demagogic ferment of vast ideas; he had come back from his "cow college" quick with a sense of revolt, an impatience to hurry his conservative county of the Reserve into the "young men's movement" of the party.

"Harvard," he growled to end, then, conscious of his intolerance, added: "Oh, well—that's all right. Harlan'll drop all that Bostonese accent when he gets back to practice here a year or two. And he'll be with us on the band wagon when we get this county organized to dump the old gang. He'll forget he's Judge Van Hart's son, and a nephew of Senator Fairchild, and a Beacon [illegible]

[illegible] smiled at Arne's heat. [illegible] and played on the same [illegible] in high school, and the [illegible] they had been the sensation [illegible] athletic reputation. But [illegible] the invading [illegible] championship [illegible] from the field smothering in ribbons and have to face, tongue-tied, the clapping of all the pretty hands in school at the annual association banquet, yet when all's said and done, to be a "Geek" and call on all these girls with flutter-summer evenings in and but the Van Hart [illegible] is a much greater thing. Which [illegible] is reasonable and proper and according to the light of the best people in many places east and west other than Rome, Ia.

"Oh, Harlan's all right," repeated Arne, "and so are these other people along High street. So is that copper Indian over on the Square—he's marking the spot where something once happened. In Earlville they're laughing at our row over Sin Creek. Every time a freshet comes, what happens? Some of our prominent citizens wake up in the morning and find their lawns strewn with drowned socks and busted stovepipes and brass collar buttons that Sin Creek has swept down on us from the garbage heaps of Earlville. Then they roar and talk creek diversion, but nothing was ever done until they made it a county steal with Old Thad Tanner getting the rake-off. Then, being regular, the best families agreed to it."

Sinsinawa had been a scandal immemorially, everybody knew. But then everybody loved Sinsinawa, and Rome without the wanton singing down a dozen channels from the bluff would not have been Rome One could put up with a vulgar collar button washed down now and then from the alleys of Earlville.

Wiley Curran sighed as he watched the copper Indian across the square, Chief Winnesaqua, who ruled the land when squirrels gamboled over the site of Rome. They were still gamboling over the old town, while Earlville had built its Hotel Metropole with English steeplechase scenes around the dining room wainscot. Rome had had Miss Amelia Parsons, of the Parsons house, and her 1 o'clock Sunday dinner, with chicken, since 1856. Earlville had its Elk's club done with a brownstone front. Rome had its Shakespeare club which met Thursdays at the ladies' homes. Earlville had its syndicate theater in cream brick; Rome had its opera house sheathed in tin imitation of sandstone—and peeling off. Earlville—but why rehearse? There is the Carnegie library, the Young Men's Christian association, the federal building, the paid fire department, the interurban, the home of Congressman Hall, which, like all the homes of great men in the west, was spiked with the militant decoration of a German cake—the east addition, and the factory district.

Rome had none of these. In lieu of town plats it had an imperial isolation. When the Earlville boosters, in train, went up the valley, to serenade other communities and parade in silk hats and white flannel trousers, Rome was usually entertaining district delegates to the Baptist Young People's association; and when a girl "show" struck Earlville, direct from 200 nights in Chicago, Rome's tin opera house was invariably given over to Flint, the hypnotist, the Swiss Bell Ringers, or the chautauqua quartet.

Mr. Curran accepted tickets to these on advertising and sat gloomily all through. After all, Mr. Curran was a loyal citizen. Even though he did print the story of the drummer who related that Miss Amelia Parsons, of the Parsons house, insisted on his sleeping with brown papers under his ears, lest the pillows become soiled too soon after the Saturday change.

Of course he lost advertising. But Mr. Curran had an unhappy mania for printing things that lost advertising. Even now Miss Vance, looking with patient eyes at the three—Harlan, fair skinned, resolute, serious, his large boned frame carrying, at 21, a man's dignity; her brother Arne, soil burned, Indian-cheeked, nervous, lean, a Lincolnian awkwardness about his clothes; and then Wiley with his young-old eyes, the close brown beard, lending him, in Rome, an inescapable foreign air—felt Mr. Curran's perennial failure.

At 18, when she taught her first school, she supposed that Wiley would ask her to marry him, but he had gone off on footless wanderings. Twelve years later he came back, a trifle stouter, a bit sad, still mischievous, the many sided friend, but not the lover. She had gone on to a successful and widening career, she had developed a personality, made a place; but Wiley—well, Wiley had become "Curran of the News." Even now Harlan Van Hart, many years the younger, was fitting himself for his father's honored footsteps. Arne was enthusiastically putting in his great schemes for soil sweetening, lecturing to farmers' institutes, and dabbling in county politics; but Wiley had marked time.

She was too sane, too finely schooled to linger over sentimental regrets because of Wiley or herself. Only, as a wife, and a wife of a man of affairs, she saw one pat to the larger life she longed for. She had the instinctive political predilections of her family: the man she should marry must bulk up with the county men at least. Arne, back from his eager drinking of economic revolt at the most radical college in the west, was already listened to, but Wiley's paper—well, it was only the News, barking away as it had done since abolition days! The county was used to that.

Yet Janet had a peculiar sense of his closeness to all that prosy life of the countryside. Never a losing grievance of the farmers for which the News did not contend; never a day but what, in and out of the shabby old shop, some shy countryman did not stray to relate the district news, to ask a favor or confirm some rumor. Curran had inherited all this, and curiously, with all his dilettante indrawing and worldly sophistication, had delighted in it. In her drivings to lonely districts on school visits the lady superintendent found this insistent interest: "The News editor," what was he doing or saying?

When she related this, Curran had laughed carelessly; just as he laughed when Janet urged him to run for congress; just as he had laughed, running his blued fingers ruefully through his hair, when she asked of his plans for the abortive Inland Empire. Miss Vance, in the case of Mr. Curran, usually concluded by going on and disregarding him.

"I suppose," he put in now, on Arne's never ending satire of county affairs, "I'll have to shag along with the old town alone. You boys off to college, and Janet visiting the district schools. Christmas—who'll be home Christmas?" He appealed to Harlan ingenuously.

"June for me. I'll run down to Washington for Christmas at the senator's."

Wiley slowly considered. Senator Fairchild, cousin of Mrs. Van Hart, one time cabinet officer, intimate of the president, most powerful figure from the west at Washington. Surely, for a country judge's son, the mere relating of dinner at Fairchild's bespoke a flattering future. Harlan was, indeed, the son of fortune.

(Continued next week.)

AS GREEK UNDERSTANDS IT

Student's Rendering of Shakespearean Phrase Somewhat Literal, But He Had the Idea.

A young Greek merchant of Washington, who has been taking lessons in English from a private tutor, has so far advanced that his teacher recently introduced him to the beauties—and perplexities—of Shaekespeare. He was instructed to read a passage several times until he had the ideas firmly fixed in his mind and then, closing the book, to put these ideas into his own English, following as closely as his memory permitted the author's text.

He had read over a soliloquy of Othello's several times and was reproducing the Moor's somber thoughts with pretty fair approximation to the poet's words, but when he reached the last line 'Farewell, Othello's occupation's gone!" he stopped short, utterly at a loss The original phrasing had quite escaped him. However, he had grasped the idea, for after a few seconds of frowning perplexity his brow cleared.

"Ah, I haf eet!" he exclaimed. "Eet ees this 'So long! Othello's lost hees job!'"—New York Evening Post.

EVEN IN PRESENCE OF DEATH

Feminine Curiosity as to Another Woman's Wearing Apparel Had to Be Satisfied.

"Over death itself fashion rules supreme," said the woman. "I went to a funeral last week in Riverdale. I wore a new coat. I was not exactly one of the mourners, but somehow I got mixed up with the relatives and walked pretty well up toward the head of the procession. A cousin of the deceased walked just behind me On the way into the church she leaned forward and whispered:

"'Where did you get that coat?'

"I turned my head half way and told her.

"'How much did you pay for it?' she asked.

"'Forty-five dollars,' said I.

"'I thought it cost more than that,' said she.

"Then we walked on as if nothing had happened. That is what I call discussing the fashions under difficulties."

God or Devil?

Commissioner Howell, chief of staff to General Bramwell Booth of the Salvation Army, tells a story with charming frankness against himself

Traveling in a country district, he had one night, with his secretary, to accept the hospitality of a peasant friend. She endeavored to make up for the narrowness of the bed by placing two boxes alongside, and on taking her visitors into the guest chamber, showed that in her mind the primitive condition of things was capable of philosophic consideration, for she pointedly remarked, "There you are If you belong to God, you will be all right, while, if you belong to the devil, it is too good for you Good night"

Old One.

"Johnny, why did Washington cross the Delaware?"

"Aw, why did de chicken cross de street?"

Some married men act as if they had been disappointed in love

IS EPILEPSY CONQUERED?

New Jersey Physician Said to Have Many Cures to His Credit.

Red Bank, N. J. (Special).—Advices from every direction fully confirm previous reports that the remarkable treatment for epilepsy being administered by Dr. Perkins of this city, is achieving wonderful results. Old and stubborn cases have been greatly benefitted and many patients claim to have been entirely cured.

Persons suffering from epilepsy should write at once to Dr. H. W. Perkins, Branch 49, Red Bank, N. J. for a supply of the remedy which is being distributed gratuitously.—Adv.

Works Both Ways.

"Why is it that the man with the squeaky shoes always comes in late?"

"I don't know Why is it that the man who comes in late always wears squeaky shoes?"—Puck.

Stop that cough, the source of Pneumonia, etc. Prompt use of Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops gives relief—5c at Druggists.

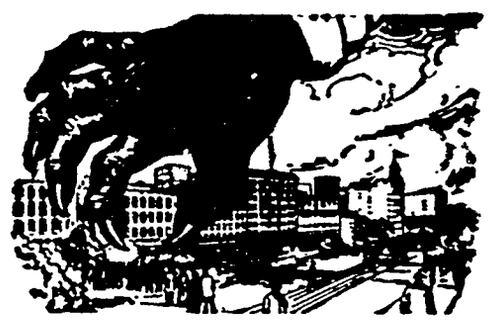
Truthful Husband.

Muggins—Do you ever lie to your wife?

Buggins—Only when I tell her I am not worthy of her.

WHY GRIP IS DANGEROUS.

It is an Epidemic Catarrhal Fever Caused by a Bacillus that Generally Leaves the Patient Weak After the Acute Stage Has Passed.



Grip Patients Grateful to Peruna, the Expectorant Tonic.

Do not make the error of regarding grip as an exaggerated cold. There is a big difference between the two. Grip is an epidemic disease that poisons the vital organs. When a person has grip, the air passages are alive with millions of bacilli poisoning the blood. The infected person feels tired and exhausted.

Peruna is a Tonic Laxative.

It requires a good tonic laxative to keep the body of the patient as strong as possible to counteract the effect of the poisons created by the grip bacillus. An expectorant tonic with some laxative qualities is the safest remedy. Such is Peruna. Beware especially of coal tar powders or tablets because they lessen the vitality of the patient.

There is no specific for the grip.

Peruna has been used with good success in former grip epidemics. Indications point to the return of grip this winter.

Do not fail to read the experience of former grip patients with Peruna.

Mrs. Gentry Gates, 8219 First Ave., East Lake, Ala., writes: "I had a bad case of grip. I tried Peruna and it cured me. I can safely say it is a fine medicine."

Mrs. Charles E. Wells, Sr., 230 South St., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "After a severe attack of la grippe I took Peruna and found it a good tonic."

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Lucky Day Almanac for 1914.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

relieves rheumatism quickly. It stimulates the circulation—instantly relieves stiffness and soreness of muscles and joints. Don't rub—it penetrates.

Rheumatism Never Returned

"I am a travelling man and about one year ago I was laid up with rheumatism and could not walk. A friend recommended Sloan's Liniment and the morning after I used it my knee was all O.K. and it has never bothered me since. I always keep your Liniment in the house and carry it with me on the road."—Mr. Thomas S. Harner, West Philadelphia, Pa.

Rheumatism Neuralgia

Stiffness Vanished

"I suffered with an awful stiffness in my legs. That night I gave my legs a good rubbing with Sloan's Liniment and believe me, next morning I could jump out of bed. I have been supplied with a bottle ever since."—Mr. A. Moore of Manchester, N. H.

Sprained Ankle Relieved

"I was ill for a long time with a severely sprained ankle. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and now I am able to be about and can walk a great deal. I write this because I think you deserve a lot of credit for putting such a fine Liniment on the market and I shall always take time to recommend Dr. Sloan's Liniment."—Mrs. Charles Rouse of Baltimore, Md.

Sloan's Liniment gives a grateful sensation of comfort. Good for sprains, neuralgia, sore throat and toothache. Use it now.

At all Dealers, 25c., 50c. and $1.00

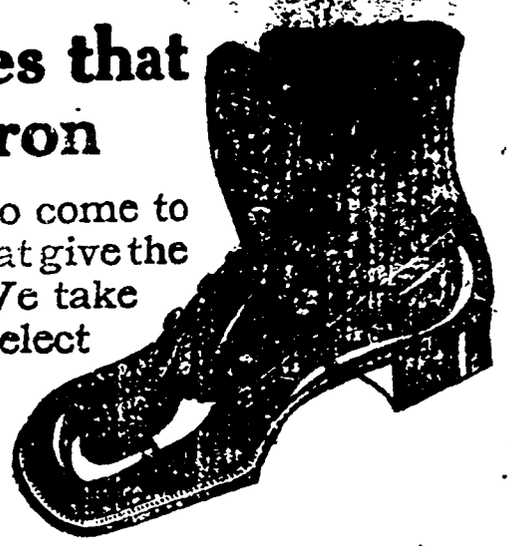
Send for Sloan's free book on horses.

Address

Dr. EARL S. SLOAN, Inc.

BOSTON, MASS.

School Shoes that wear like iron



This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all-steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent.

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day

Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

T. E. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines.
Kewanee, Iowa

Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

PUFFED PARAGRAPHS

Even the vegetarian will try to make both ends meet.

People who go away for a change usually come back broke.

A man's success may be due either to his backbone or his cheek.

Many an earthly saint has a face that scares away temptations.

It isn't the easiest thing in the world to transform duty into desire

Most of the students in the school of experience are forced to study economy.

Even with the aid of a mirror a woman is unable to see herself as others see her.

The black sheep stands a better chance of living to a ripe old age than the fatted calf.

The difference between a politician and a statesman is that the politician invariably lands the job.

THE WOMAN AND THE HOG

The relative value of a woman and a hog was illustrated in Wisconsin recently. A woman wrote to the governor that she had a large family to support and was suffering with tuberculosis and desired state aid. About the same time a letter was received from a man who desired aid for a hog which showed symptoms of cholera. The governor sent word to the woman that no appropriation had been made for tuberculosis victims, and at the same time a man was hurriedly dispatched with a supply of cholera serum to the rescue of the hog. This incident tells its own story without further comment.

THE KNOCKER

After God had finished the rattlesnake, the toad and the vampire He had some awful substance left, with which he made a knocker. A knocker is a two-legged animal with a corkscrew soul, a water sogged brain and a combination backbone made of jelly and glue. Where other people have their hearts he carries a tumor of rotten principles. When the knocker comes down the street, honest men turn their backs, the angels in heaven take preciptate refuge behind their harps and the devil barlocks the gates of hell.—Ex.

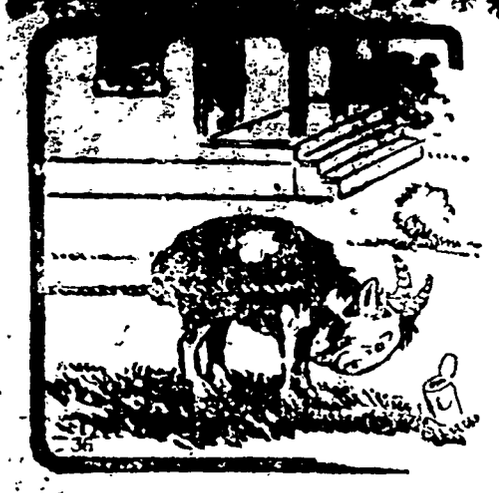
How about that Commercial-club? We are going to keep right on asking that question until we get one. It would be the best thing that ever happened to the town and community. We do not mean an organization controlled by a few business men, but admit farmers and any resident of the town that contains enough public spirit to help do a little united boosting. Let's get together these long winter evenings and discuss matters that would be of benefit to the community.

Worms the Cause of Your Child's Pains

A foul, disagreeable breath, dark circles around the eyes, at times feverish, with great thirst, cheeks flushed and then pale, abdomen swollen with sharp cramping pains are all indications of worms. Don't let your child suffer—Kickapoo Worm Killer will give sure relief. It kills the worms, while its laxative effect adds greatly to the health of your child by removing the dangerous and disagreeable effect of worms and parasites from the system. Kickapoo Worm Killer as a health producer should be in every household Perfectly safe. Buy a box today Price 25c. All druggists or by mail Kickapoo Indian Med. Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

WONDERFUL COUGH REMEDY

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Eidson, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee. This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or



We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash.
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons
INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY
BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

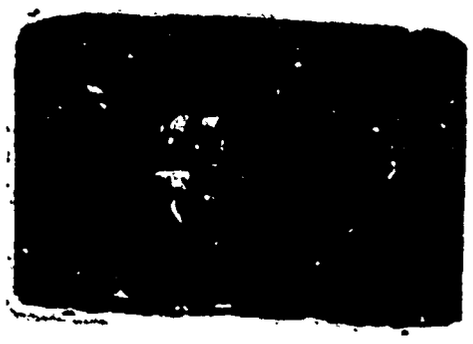
Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

We Wish all our Friends and Patrons a Happy and Prosperous 1914

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.



W. F. PAVE

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share your patronage and if w is intrusted to me I give it my prompt and c ful attention. All w guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

UME XVIII. NUMBER 21 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY JANUARY 15, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.
Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

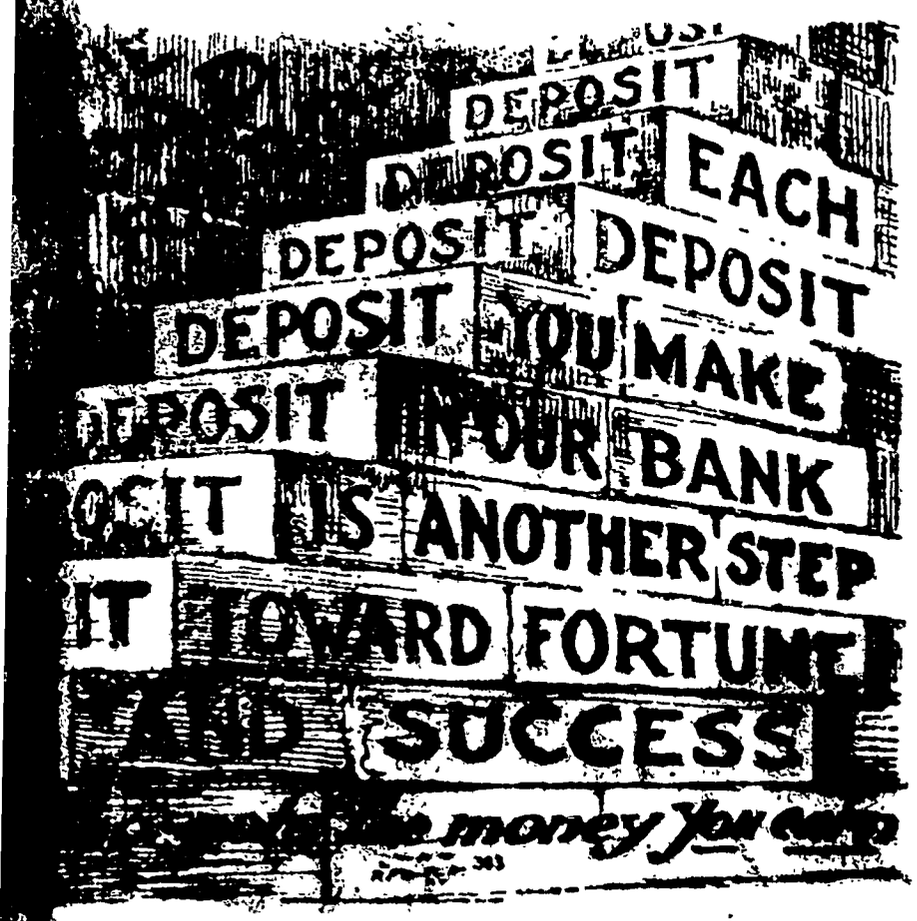
is proof of the success of this policy.



PLAN TO ATTEND

[illegible]

UESDAY, JANUARY 27, [illegible]
Head of Livestock and a large amount of machinery, etc.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

mme Iowa

Capital $15,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00
Total $30,000.00

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

Will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

Successful Sale

The Gibbs' Short-Horn Sale held last week was without question one of the best sales that they ever held. A large crowd of ouyer attending and the bidding was quite lively.

Pride Goods, the fine herd bull was purchased by F. J. Brooker of Thompson for $370.

A number of those who were here to the first sale in November returned to take in the second event, and among the heavy buyers from out of town who bought stock at both sales were Henry Gettman of Swea City and C. M. Hays of Rodman.

The heavy local buyers at both sales were Wm. Lau and C A. Arnold, and Erick Josten was also a buyer at the January sale. These parties were about the only heavy local buyers and are to be commended for not letting all of these valuable animals get out of the community.

The Gibbs' Bros. have worked up an envisble foriegn and local record and rated among the foremost breeders of the state. Here is wishing them continued success.

G. C. Yahnke Obituary

G. C. Yahnke, born Province of Brandenberg, Kingdom of Prussia, August, 18[illegible], 1885, died at the home of [illegible] daughter Mrs. Ed. G. Ell, Klemme, Iowa, [illegible] to Wisconsin, [illegible] America, 1868. First settling in New York state, later Ashley, Iowa, coming to this vicinity 27 years ago. He had been ailing the past few years and the past few months realized that his earthly career was fast nearing an end and being a true Christian was at all times prepared and ready to meet his God in Heaven.

He was the father of twelve children, two of whom and his wife preceded him to the city of dead. He is survived by ten children, six sons and four daughters; thirty-eight grandchildren; eight greatgrandchildren, and three sisters and one brother. The last sad rites were held at the English M. E. Church Wednesday, the services being in charge of Rev. Thiel of the Reformed church and Rev Howdeshell of the M. E. church The remains were interred in the Klemme cemetery.

Thus passes one of our pioneers and beloved citizens. He a man of excellent habits, fine moral character and sturdy constitution, and he continued to be active in his accustomed pursuits long past the age at which men ordinarily drop out of the ranks of the workers. When he died, full of years, and ready to be gathered to his fathers, the grief that was felt over the close of his long career was widespread and sincere. His best monument will be the good report that he has left behind him in the community that he has lived these many years.

Not for him be our tears! rather let us crown his grave with garlands, few of us will live as long or as good and fewer yet will the Angel of Death [illegible]

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00
Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU
Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.

THIS BANK IS ORGANIZED UNDER AND CONTROLLED BY LAWS ENACTED AT THE [illegible]

You Can Have A Savings Account
EVEN WITH YOUR PRESENT INCOME

You can open it with a small amount, and by adding to it each pay day, the dollars that usually are spent needlessly, you will soon be gratified with the increasing accumulations.

The Main Thing Is To Start!

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited.
All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants

You Can't Break a Moyer Gate

MOYER Gates are made to stand the wear and tear—special steel tubing, heavy galvanized wire that won't rust out, four flexible corner adjusting joints. Everything strong and simple and you are protected by the maker's five year guarantee.

30 Days' FREE Trial

Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers
H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

PIANOS

G. F SCHULER Handles The
CABLE, NELSON PIANO

"THE GRAND OLD NAME," which stands for:
ATTRACTIVENESS, TONE, DURABILITY
Call in and look them over, prices reasonable.

ALBERTA CROP YIELDS

At MacLeod, Alta., weather conditions were excellent all through the season. Ninety per cent. of the wheat up to Oct. 1st graded No. 1, the only No. 2 being fall wheat. The yield ranged from 20 to 40 bushels per acre, with an average of 28. Oats yielded well, and barley about 60 bushels.

Inverary is a new district in Alberta. Here wheat graded No. 2 and some of it went 50 bushels to the acre, oats going about 75 bushels.

Lethbridge correspondent says: "In the Monarch district the yield on summer fallow is averaging thirty-five bushels, a large percentage No. 1 northern."

"All spring grains are yielding better than expected in the Milk river district, south. A 300 acre field of Marquis wheat gave 41½ bushels.

"Experimental farm results on grain sown on irrigated land place 'Red Fife' wheat in the banner position, with a yield of 59.40 bushels per acre. Oats yielded 132 bushels to the acre.

"John Turner of Lethbridge grew barley that went 60 bushels to the acre.

"Red Fife averages in weight from 60 to 68 pounds, and at Rosthern the Marquis wheat will run as high as 64 pounds to the bushel, while a sample of Marquis wheat at Arcola weighed no less than 68 pounds to the bushel. This variety is grading No. 1 hard."

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 8.—The problem of handling Alberta's big grain crop is becoming a serious one, and there is a congestion at many points in southern Alberta. One thousand cars could be used immediately. The C. P. R. prepared for a normal year, while the yield of grain was everywhere abnormal with an increased acreage of about 25 per cent.

Moose Jaw, Sask., returns show some remarkable yields.

Bassano, Alta., Sept. 25, '13.—Individual record crops grown in Alberta include 1,306 acres of spring wheat grown near here and which went thirty-five bushels to the acre and weighed sixty-six pounds to the bushel.

Noble, Alta., Oct. 1, '13.—All records for the largest shipment of grain by one farmer will be broken this year if the estimate of C. S. Noble of Noble, Alberta, proves correct. Mr. Noble has notified the Canadian Pacific Railway here that he will have 350,000 bushels of grain, chiefly barley and oats, ready for shipment very shortly.

L. Anderson Smith, writing to a friend in the Old Country, located at Killam, Alberta, says:

"Anyone taking up land will find Alberta an ideal province. The soil is a rich black loam varying from 6 to 12 inches in depth. The land here in this district is not wholly open prairie. At intervals, sometimes closely sometimes widely scattered, there are small plots of poplar and willows. These generally grow round some small depression in the land and the snow drifts here in the winter and melts in the spring, filling these sloughs (province "slews") with soft water. Nearly all these sloughs have old buffalo tracks to them, for it was from them that they always got their water. The poplars are very useful for building barns and hen-houses. Wild grasses are plentiful, while tame grasses, such as timothy, brome and western rye grass do remarkably well."—Advertisement.

"The Devil to Pay."

The expression, The devil to pay and no pitch hot, had its origin in the ship yard. When calking the seams of the deck it was important that the oakum in those seams should be kept dry. This was done by "paying," or in other words filling the seams with hot pitch, which was done with a long handled mop made especially for that use. If a sudden shower should come up and wet the oakum before the seam was "payed" or filled with pitch, the fresh water would rot the oakum and there would be "the devil to pay."

Calumet the Secret of Economy

The high cost of living nowadays, and the way prices are steadily climbing skywards, is making economy in the kitchen even more important than it was in the good old days of our thrifty ancestors. But how to achieve economy? There's the rub!

In many lines, it depends almost entirely on the housewife's knowledge of foods and on her watchfulness—but fortunately, in one line baking, economy can be made almost automatic by the use of the famous Calumet Baking Powder.

Economy in baking as every good cook knows, depends not so much on economy in buying the materials as on the success of her bakings. Failures mean waste—bigger losses by far than the savings she makes in buying. And the fact that Calumet absolutely prevents failures and makes every baking successful has made it the favorite of every cook that seeks to be economical. In other words, Calumet is the secret of economy in baking.

It is the purest, too—attested by hundreds of leading physicians—and as for its general quality, it is enough to say that Calumet has received the highest awards at two World's Pure Food Expositions—one in Chicago, Ill., and the other in Paris, France, in March, 1912. Adv.

Landed.

Ted—Do you think flirting is dangerous?

Ned—Yes, I'm going to be married next week.

CANAL DIGGERS WHO WILL NEVER COME BACK

BY LOUISE POND JEWELL, IN COLLIER'S

"Do you know," said the pretty tourist in the observation car of the Panama railroad, gazing thoughtfully back at the swiftly receding track—"do you know, it makes me sad to look at this splendid roadbed, for I can't help thinking of what it has meant in flesh and blood. Why, they say," she added, with a little, luxurious sigh, that it has cost a—"

"Stop!" exploded the apoplectic-looking old gentleman in the corner, raising his arm as if to ward off a blow. "If you are about to say that the laying of this railroad has cost 'a man for every tie,' you will be morally responsible for my demise! I have heard that expression exactly 66,000 times so far this tourist season, and one time more would be the last straw—especially as the statement is not true."

To be true, the railroad would have cost more lives in its construction than were ever engaged in work on it. But it is at least a striking way of suggesting something that is a fact—the lavish pouring out of human life-blood that has been the price of this great canal of ours.

It is easier to bask in the sunshine of such generalities as this than to produce statistics. It is said that figures always lie, and in this case the figures not only would lie if you could get them, but you can't get them. One high in authority in the sanitation department puts the loss of life among the workers of French times at 20,000 to 30,000. Our own official records from the time of the French purchase to the present are misleading, but are as follows:

Year	Force	Deaths.	Rate Per 1,000
1904	6,213	82	13.26
1905	16,512	427	25.86
1906	26,547	1,105	41.73
1907	39,343	1,132	28.77
1908	43,891	571	13.01
1909	47,167	503	10.64
1910	50,502	558	10.98
1911	48,876	539	11.02
1912	50,893	467	9.18

(Compiled from the annual reports of the department of sanitation, Isthmian canal commission.)

This record does not include the women and children belonging to the families of the workers; does not include, of course, those who have gone home to the states owing to illness, and there died, and does not include the negroes and other foreign employes who died at their homes, unless they were actually on the pay roll at the time of death.

Even at the present time there is a noticeable—albeit desirable—silence about the constantly occurring deaths, especially those by accident.

A hospital car is carried on every train, and it is a common thing—though to some it never ceases being a gruesome one—to see a stretcher, or two, or three, taken out of this car at Panama, upon which lies prostrate a human form: sometimes animate, with only the foot or arm or head wrapped in bloody bandages; sometimes covered by a sheet. Once in a while the monotonous noisy hum on the crowded station platform is rent by a wail or shriek as the stretcher is met by some waiting friend or loved one.

Then a crowd gathers silently around—orderly, unexcited, simply interested in watching the wife or mother at the side of the grim figure on the stretcher, and listening to her weeping. But presently, with the systematic dispatch which marks the whole organization, the stretcher is placed in the hospital ambulance and driven away, and the crowd quietly disperses. The matter has been of too common occurrence even to arouse comment.

Old Tragedies

One would never dream, amid all the canal enthusiasm and energy and the sort of joyousness that prevails among the workers, that every day on an average ends more than one life—that 30 or 40 die each month in Ancon hospital alone, and that two dozen new graves stand ready all the time at Ancon cemetery for the occupants whose speedy coming may be depended upon. The stories of the manifold sufferings of the workers of former years are more picturesque than of today; and, in a way, sadder, in that the fearful loss of life due to ignorance of the causes of the tropical diseases seems, in the light of our present knowledge and splendid use of it, quite needless.

There is the story of the thousand Chinamen who came to work on the railroad, and who began to die off so fast from yellow fever that the rest of them, discouraged and heartsick, committed suicide. The place where they lived and died bears record of this story in its name—Matachin—"Dead Chinaman."

There is the story of the gang of light-hearted Irishmen arriving full of energy and ambition who succumbed even more quickly to the climatic conditions than did the Chinese, and died off promptly, to a man.

There is the story of the French consuls who came with their families, one after another in quick succession, sometimes only six weeks apart—each one sickening in a short time of the dread fever, and paying the penalty with heartrending unoriginality. The quarters of the French consulate, which came into the hands of the Americans when the purchase was made from the French in 1904, and are now the home of the American legation, are still so surrounded with the traditions and memories of those tragic French happenings that not a servant can be induced to sleep there at night. All go home when dusk falls, to return only with morning light.

And the yellow fever in the first years of our own occupation of the zone was unsparing and cruel. Many are the tales told by the few "canalers" still on the isthmus who survived those early days.

"I remember well," said one, "how a dozen of us had a dinner in honor of the engagement of one of our number to a girl—a pretty girl she was," he added, reminiscently. "The dinner was on a Saturday night, and it was the gayest affair of the season. The next Saturday night eight of us dined together again, the other four, including the fellow in whose honor the first dinner had been given, were dead and buried—yellow fever."

Shades of the Past.

Another "canaler," of picturesque appearance and vocabulary, told his tale in a manner characteristic of the canal spirit:

"The funeral, I remember best," he recalled, "was that of ——, a jolly good fellow. We all liked him mighty well, and gave him a big blowout in consequence. The Ancon cemetery hill is so steep that a wagon is out of the question; so some of us fellows acted as pallbearers—I believe I was among them, but I'm not sure. Well, after we had done the thing up in good shape and chucked him in, we went back to Panama and had the most enjoyable dinner I recollect on the isthmus. I shall always remember that feast," he mused appreciatively.

"How can you talk like that about the burial of a friend? How could you be gay that night and have an 'enjoyable dinner?'" was the natural question.

He seemed nonplussed for a moment. Then he brightened up.

"Why, I guess it was because he was such a jolly good sport," he offered, "that we couldn't really think of lugubrious things in connection with him."

But where are they now, the bones of the thousands of canal diggers, French and American, Spanish and Italian and Chinese and negroes; "good fellows" and bad fellows those who have died from disease or accident or violence or by their own hand? The isthmus is narrow, less than 50 miles across. Is it a great charnel house? What sorts of places are the repositories of these numberless bodies? Do headstones mark the spots where human forms repose? Does grass cover the low mounds, do trees afford a pleasant shades? Do visitors sometimes wander past, and give a kindly thought to the workers whose work was so soon over?

Needlessly Lugubrious.

In a train of enthusiastic and thrill hunting tourists perhaps the commonest wail heard (always excepting the "man-for-every-tie" tremolo) is the one over the "abandoned French cemeteries," to be seen from the car windows.

"Oh, look! There is another of them! See the square headstones, deserted, forgotten, far from any town! Poor Frenchmen, how very, very pathetic!"

Thus the tourist. His emotion does him credit and harms no one, but does not quite fit the facts. If the apoplectic old gentleman were aboard and overhearing, he would probably turn his long-suffering head far enough around to hiss:

"Pathetic! Shucks! Those ain't headstones—they're house posts!"

And he would again be right; these numerous "French cemeteries," so touchingly elaborated upon, are in reality only the foundation posts left standing after the removal of the buildings which they supported. For as the work has progressed from one part of the canal to another, the villages have progressed with it, as swiftly, if not a silently, as the Arabs' tents are folded, leaving but these white, bleak post behind. That they draw tears from the eyes of tourists is really a matter of poetic justice, for the genuine cemeteries where the Frenchmen do lie buried, more remote and less picturesque, are seldom seen and very likely never wept over.

There are sixteen cemeteries in the canal zone, a large one at each end, where practically all Americans not taken home to "the states" are buried, and the rest "along the line." ("The line" is always the Panama railroad). Of these, two have been submerged under the rising waters of the artificial lake which forms part of the canal area; and one other, at least, will soon undergo a like fate. Ancon cemetery, the one at the Panama end of the canal a large and flourishing place covers ground too valuable to be given up indefinitely to so quiet and unproductive a community, and the bodies are presently to be exhumed; those unclaimed will be cremated in the new plant to be erected near by, and those having dissenting friends will be reburied in the cemetery at Gorgona, four miles away.

At Ancon and at Empire.

The cemeteries "along the line" are all more or less alike. All the graves are indeed marked—not by headstones, but by small iron crosses generally painted white, each cross extending from one to two feet out of the ground, and bearing on its six-inch transverse arm not a name but a number. At Ancon, however, in many cases, behind the cross and projecting above it, stands a rude white painted board, on which are printed a name and two important dates.

The names on the Ancon headboards indicate a large range in nationality but a small range in age; and the youth of these departed canal diggers impresses even the casual visitor. The average age is somewhere between 20 and 30 years, and rarely goes above 40.

In the cemetery at Empire the monotony of the crosses is varied here and there by a mound surrounded by a rude wooden fence, or even, sometimes, by a pretentious, gingerbready little wooden structure, looking not unlike an old-fashioned bible picture of the Ark of the Covenant.

Expectancy in Massachusetts.

From the Springfield Republican.

It is difficult for a good many folks to accept at face value the statement that Mr. Elliott and the men now in charge of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad are playing an open game, and mean to cut that corporation entirely away from the old order of things. In the course of the hearing before the Massachusetts public service commission Mr. Elliott dropped the following remark:

"Why, only a short time ago a gentleman came to me and asked me if I had any views about who should be elected speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives. I told him I had no views."

Commissioner Anderson was quick to say that such a statement "must have been a shock to the gentleman." However that may be, it represents the present condition of things. Mr. Elliott made the further statement along this line:

"I have told such men on the road as were supposed to be politically active that I wanted them to stop. I said to them distinctly that I did not want officers of the road to go mussing in the political game."

The men who have succeeded to the old order of things in the New Haven system cannot be envied the task which has fallen to them, but they are entitled to have the public accept the fact that they are playing an open game, with no underground adjuncts. The past is what it has been, and the duty of the present is to rescue a great property under many difficulties.

Residents of Ocean City, N. J., have voted to erect a new city hall.

It takes 300 coolies to work a 400-acre tea plantation in Ceylon.

PUBLIC SHARING THE BURDEN

Institutional Care of Consumptives Has Been Largely Shifted From Private Purse.

Out of nearly $20,000,000 spent last year in the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis in the United States, 69.3 per cent. of the money was derived from public funds, either federal, state, county or municipal. These are some of the interesting figures given in the annual statistical statement of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The statement is based largely on actual reports received from anti-tuberculosis agencies throughout the country, but where reports were not available the figures have been estimated.

Treatment of tuberculous patients in the more than 500 sanatoria and hospitals of the country and the construction of such institutions cost over $18,000,000 of the total expenditure. Care of patients in dispensaries and open-air schools cost about $825,000. Anti-tuberculosis associations and committees spent nearly $675,000 in furthering their work of organization and education, while state and local boards of health and special tuberculosis commissions spent over $250,000.

More than $13,800,000 or 69.3 per cent. of the total expenditures came from public funds. The National association points to this growing increase in the spending of public money for tuberculosis as one of the most significant facts in the report, as it indicates the shifting of the burden of institutional care of consumptives from the private purse to the general public purse, where it rightly belongs. Since 1909 the percentage of public money spent in tuberculosis work has increased from 53.5 to nearly 70 per cent.

Needed Supply of Oatmeal.

It is the nature of an Irishman to give a spice of whimsical humor to commonplace incidents of observation. Pat was crossing a broad, shallow stream, carrying a bag of oatmeal upon his back. Mike watched him from the bank. Now, a hole had broken in the bottom of the bag, and as Pat moved the oatmeal trickled down in a thin rivulet into the water.

"Pat," shouted Mike from the bank, "I'm thinking if the oatmeal isn't plenty with you, you'll have thin porridge."

Unknown Quantity.

"Darling, do you love me still?"

"Dearest, I never knew you were still."

Rheumatism Is Torture

Many pains that pass as rheumatism are due to weak kidneys—to the failure of the kidneys to drive off uric acid thoroughly.

When you suffer achy, bad joints, backache too, dizziness and some urinary disturbances, get Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that is recommended by over 150,000 people in many different lands.

Doan's Kidney Pills help weak kidneys to drive out the uric acid which is the cause of backache, rheumatism and lumbago.

Here's proof.

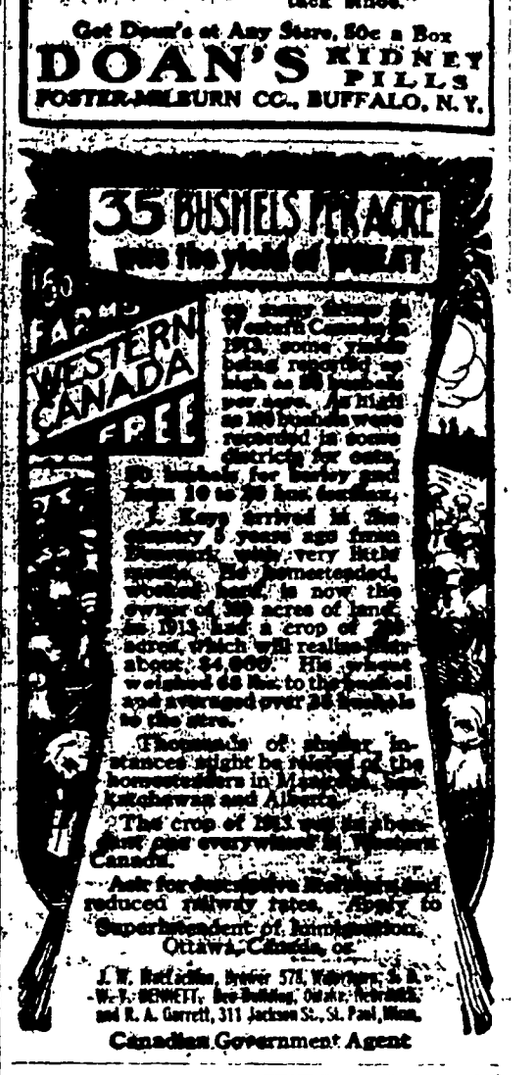
A SOUTH DAKOTA CASE

W. R. Smart, Belle Fourche, S. D., says: "Rheumatism caused me terrible suffering. I had to give up work. I had to be lifted around and was perfectly helpless. Doan's Kidney Pills acted like magic in driving away the rheumatism. It soon left me entirely and I haven't had an attack since."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.



Canadian Government Agent

CANCER FREE TREATISE The Leach Sanatorium, Indianapolis, Ind., has published a booklet which gives interesting facts about the cause of Cancer; also tells what to do for pain, bleeding, odor, etc. Write for it today, mentioning this paper.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sanative Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HODGDON, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1913, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER IX—(Continued.)

The farmer folk guffawed. Jewett rubbed his stomach. Judge Van Hart, his fine face oblivious to all this, went on his way. And Wiley, feeling somehow, that he had lost an opening round by his inability to retort to the boss, crossed the square to his office. He was furious with himself. He had planned to keep the announcement of his campaign until he could see some of the men who would be with him—Purcell and McBride, of Earlville, Jake Vance and Arne and some of the scattered malcontents in other counties of the district. But here the boss had made a fool of him before his own people at the very start. He was savage with the realization that Janet Vance's window in the county building was open; that in all likelihood she had heard Old Thad's jest and the laughter. No, he had not done well. And the old discontent with himself came over him: the pitiless feeling that he did not measure up to the rough game he played in business and politics. It was too much the sentimentalist, that was it.

He was kicking away on his job-work when Hemminger, the recalcitrant board member, came in. Hemminger was from a lonely backwoods district up the river whose people, from poor roads and isolation, rarely came to town. He paid a back subscription, and had a rambling budget of news from the home folk. And, as always, the editor listened sympathetically, and, with thoughts far away, answered at times.

There was a whaling corn crop and it was mostly out of the way of frost. And the late pasture was drying up, and some folks were going to ship their cows. Some folks would, but danged if he would! Some of his land, where it run up in the bluff, hadn't done much and he was going to turn in his hogs and let 'em take the yield. Dinged if he knew what was the matter with that land!

Wiley listened. Then he took a handful of pamphlets from his desk. "Ever see these, Burt? Government reports? Maybe your land is too sour?"

Hemminger was incredulous. Book farming wasn't much!

"I tell you what I'll do," said Wiley suddenly. "Next time Arne Vance comes back from the agricultural school, I'll get him and drive up there and he can analyze your soil."

Hemminger's pale eyes shone. "Would you, now? You're a busy man, Mr. Carran—runnin' fur congress and all!"

"I want to see you all."

"Sure. Folks would be delighted. Nobody comes up our way much. Up our way the wimmen still boil soap—we ain't much on newfangled ways up in Broad Bottoms. But if Jake Vance's boy'd come—we—we'd all meet somewheres and have coffee—and you could talk to us, too, Mr. Curran!"

Wiley watched him with a sudden awakening hope. "Do your folks like me up there, Burt? 'Way out in the bottom districts?"

"You come up our way. It's a right lonesome country. But we know you, Mr. Curran. You remember the time you got Abe Smith's boy out o' jail?"

Mr. Curran's mind went vaguely back five years.

"Our folks talk about that yit! Abe's boy hadn't done much but git too much on board. And you got him out and sent him home!"

Hemminger was stuffing the government crop reports in his pocket. "If you'd come, Mr. Curran, folks would be proud. The News, they say up our way, it's never scared and it's never bought. And Abe Smith's boy—well, you come up!"

He went out, and when the editor saw his farm wagon rumble over the crossing his face was lit with a fine glow. Wiley wondered what he had said or done to bring Hemminger out of his despond—he had come in beaten and humiliated from the supervisors' meeting,—the lone board insurgent against the Tanner dominance over the rich farmers of the southern part of the county. Curran saw him away off, when he went up the path to the cottage where Aunt Abby's lamp shone—a lonely figure seated in a rude wagon that crawled up a gap to the north between the somber harshness of the corn fields—a blur, fainter, drawing into the dusk, lost in the immensity of the dun earth, the autumn sky.

An hour later Curran was chopping his kindling by the fence. A drop of cold rain came out of the scud of cloud. Another—the vast bend of the uplands was lost in a gray veil, and he could hear the patter of drops on the tar-paper roof of his shop. He stood for a moment in the enrobing night, listening to this lulling murmur, the great dried lands sucking in the water, enriching themselves. The sear pastures would green, the black corn bottoms and the fall sowing of the wheat would lave themselves and rest until the freeze came. And slowly it seemed to Curran that never had he loved it all before. The fat Midlands, the never-hungered country! Here were the best men and women. Afar in the glut of the cities of which he had dreamed, of which he remembered, the future might be hideous with wrong and hate; but here were the best people, unhungered, unfearing.

He was carrying in the wood for Aunt Abby's kitchen box, thinking how friendly would be the stove glow after this wet chill, how fine his eagerness for the supper; the kerosene lamp under it red, shade upon the table, and the hale, cheery old woman, her glasses dim with the kettle steam. But he heard a wagon stop, a man's gruff voice on the crossing below his shop. He watched curiously the figure come up the hill and lean over his fence.

It was Hemminger, the lonely and defeated farmer. His pale eyes shone in the lamplight from the window.

"I just thought I'd come to say, Mr. Curran," he blurted, "that you ain't no money much or any way of gittin' about for congress. Well, our folks can drive you about all over the country, some takin' turns and then passin' you on, so's you see everybody. See everybody! And live right among us. Then when you git to Washington, folks'll kind of own you!" He brushed the wet off his cotton sleeve—"I just thought I'd drive back and tell you. It's our folks' way."

Then he was gone out in the night, the clatter of his wagon coming down the hill road, until the falling rain drowned the sound of wheels.

Curran went in, piled his wood, and stood before the cook-stove, watching dreamily the fire, heedless that he was in the housekeeper's way. She bantered him and, suddenly he kissed her, holding down her fat arms as she laughed astounded, shining-eyed. This was unlike Wiley; he, the dilettante, who never quite gave himself to anything. He began to reason absently over the faith, the friendliness, the goodness he seemed to have found about him so curiously. Love, that was it. He had awakened; and all about him had awakened, discovering good in him.

CHAPTER X.

ROLLING STONES GATHER MOSS.

The following week Rome had another sensation. The McFetridge twins came back. Now the McFetridge twins belonged to an older and not easily relished annal. They were the nephews of Old Mowry, the undertaker, and had been the village cutups before they inherited the Carmichael livery-stables. But even a livery-stable did not reform them, and promptly, on attaining their majority, they sold the stable and went off, to the relief of all Rome.

What deviltry Hen McFetridge did not think of in his teens, Ben did. They had been a pillar of red neckties by night and a cloud of bad cigar smoke by day on the drug-store corner, since they spent their patrimony trying to develop racers in the period when all Iowa went mad over trotting and built a mile track in every county and paid fabulous prices for mares and drivers—the days of Allerton and Axtell and Bud Doble. But the fleet-limbed Morgans have long since given place to Percherons and Clydesdales, and the mile tracks are innocuous county fairs, or raising corn today, and with the passing of the trotting craze passed Hen and Ben McFetridge, bankrupt at 21.

Occasional rumor and reminiscences of the McFetridge boys came out of the west as other sons returned, but one bleak day Hen and Ben, rotund and 40, same red neckties, same bad cigars, were discovered in front of Carmichael's relating a tale of Aladdin to Rube Van Hart, the broken-down league player. They had registered at the Parsons House, slapped Miss Amelia on the shoulder, dropped their real alligator-skin cases and walked around the square into every store and office; up-stairs to Vawter, the artist blithely into the back room of Cal Rice, president of the First National; and to Uncle Mowry's, Dickinson's grocery and all through the court house, bringing a presence of freckles, good living, diamond pins and dizziness. They saw everybody, "jollied" everybody—within two hours every one in town knew the McFetridge boys had struck it rich.

"Same old town, Ben," said Hen.

"Same, Hen," answered Ben. "Let's go over to Wiley's and get something in the News about us."

But Wiley was off trying to collect bills. He did not see the McFetridge boys until he went to the Maccabees' supper at Odd Fellows' Hall that evening. There, with Old Mowry, in his long black coat and white tie, at the door, were Hen and Ben, a self-constituted reception committee for the ladies. Wiley was always invited to lodge functions and affairs of the sort because, for his share of chocolate cake and coffee and ice-cream he would have something about it in next week's "News' Notes of a Busy Day." He had heard that the twins hadn't changed a bit except to get fat, and Hen's diamond was in a horseshoe pin, while Ben's was set in a real and immense nugget.

Hen and Ben slapped him on the back simultantously and spilled coffee over his best trousers.

"Hello, Wiley—you old gazabe!"

"Still running the old sheet, Wiley, that the old man used to chase us out of?"

"Yes. Hello Hen—Hello, Ben! Yes, I'm making out about the same!"

"Poor sledding, eh? Hear Cal Rice and Old Thad bumped you when they aranged to have the Earlville papers get over here for early delivery. Say, heard about us in oil?"

"Yes."

"Big. Tulare fields, California, Hen and me was beating it from one water-tank to another one day—flippered, both of us. Cleaned out in the dray business in Fresno. Well, Hen and me coming down a canon along the track about dark, saw some cow tracks. Now, we saw the stars shining up out of those cow tracks. Wiley, if it had been you that's all you would have seen, just stars shining back from them cow tracks. But Hen and me saw oil."

"Ben and me prospected, and lit for town and entered that whole blamed cow pasture. Then we went to Los Angeles, where all the easy marks in the United States come out, and we capitalized them cow tracks. Say, we got more engraved certificates of stock than you can shake a stick at sluing round California this very minute."

"Did they bite?" put in Ben—"couldn't keep 'em off with a club!"

"Crazy about us," said Hen—"us and the cow tracks. We organized, and sold more stock for development, and blew it in; and whenever we wanted more money we assessed the stock and got it. Finally the whole company blew up—Hen was president, and they said they didn't want a president who spent al his presidential time at the girl shows in Los."

Hen looked at Ben—"Was it good, Ben?"

Ben looked at Hen—"Was it, Hen? We made those reorganizers buy us out at five hundred thou. Good— what, Hen?"

"Cow tracks for mine," sighed Hen.

"First thing Hen says was: 'Let's beat it to the ol' town back in Iowa and show 'em we got the money.' We climbed into a Pullman at Los and Hen gives the nigger ten dollars to buy a paper, 'Keep the change, nigger,' says Hen, 'we're going back to see the old town.'"

Wiley smiled. "I'm glad you did so well." He sighed, stilling a resentment against fortune. He, too, had swung the circle of the west and was back to the old town. And oh, what the McFetridge half-million would have done if he had found it! But they were right. Wiley would have seen only stars in the cow tracks—he never saw anything but stars, some way or other. But he smiled cordially: "It's great, boys. Come round to the News tomorrow and see me."

"Sure. We want some stuff in the papers about us. Who's doing the Earlville Mercury-Journal correspondence?"

"Miss Amelia Parsons."

"Oh, lord!" cried Hen—"we're on—big as a house. We'll have a two-column cut made of us and shove it in. Maybe you can use one in the News, too."

"Surely." Wiley laughed—since the days when they and Rube Van Hart and all the kids batted flies on the News lot he had enjoyed the McFetridges.

"Same old town, Wiley."

"Same old town, Hen."

"What if needs is a few funerals. Maybe some of 'em will drop dead when they know Ben and me got money. Where can a man get a drink in this town easiest?"

Wiley look at Rube Van Hart. Rube winked at Wiley. The Maccabees were cluttering up the hall with cake and conversation, and Old Mowry and Hicks, the expressman, with their enormous reception badges of white satin and wired roses, were enough for a welcome committee. Rube winked at Wiley, and the four went out and down stairs.

"I'll bet," said Hen to Ben, "that there's been as much bootleg booze drunk at Carmichael's stable since we sold out as before, and that's going some."

Rube ararnged a row of beer bottles along the side of a horse stall after an erand to the hay. "Shut the door," he said, "the Methodists are coming home from Mrs. Blake's, and Carmichael's trying to corral an agreement with em to do all the hauling for the assembly next summer. Carmichael's wife is going to join 'em to cinch it!"

"Oh, lord," roared Ben, "same old town."

"We'll threw a fit into 'em," said Hen, 'watch us."

Rube and Wiley drank their beer and listened. Poor old Rube, who once had batted .400 with the Cubs, and was now chamberm'd to Carmichael's horses; and Wiley T. Curran, who had the ink on his hands of a three dollar and twenty-five cent printing-job from the Gem restaurant. They listened hungrily to all this magic—they, too, had come back to the old town.

"Say," went on Hen after all the west had been rehearsed, "we got a scheme that's a wonder. We're going to buy the tin opera-house."

"Crazy about the show business," added Ben.

"Why, these old zooks here don't know they're alive," contin'ued Hen. "What do they get here? Swiss Bell Ringers and Flint, the Hypnotist, or some dead one with a picture show on art, that these women's clubs round up. If you want to go to a show you got to go to Earlville, and the blamed cars stop at eleven-fifteen. Now ain't that nice for a man with a girl? Suppose he wants to pull off a little eat after the show?"

"Oh, my Aunt Maria!" whispered Wiley softly. "Where—this side of Chicago?"

"Leave it to us. We had more fun in 'Frisco with the show business than anything you ever heard of. These actors and managers think they're wise, and they did get some of our money, but we got our fun. Backed one show and it broke up for twenty thousand—but that's all right. You see there's always a lot of phony shows around waiting to be financed, and when Hen and me sail in like two little angels from the long uncut, they can't do enough for us. And when we've had all the fun we want, we cut the string, and down comes the show—flop!"

Wiley's face looked vacant. Rube rubbed his aureate nose.

"Four shows now out on the coast wondering what has become of their little angels," said Hen—"but what's the use? We wanted to see the old town."

"What the old town needs," went on Ben, "is a silver cornet band, a semi-pro ball team and a few hot shows in the tin opera house."

"You can buy it of the Gamble estate for $2,000," said Rube.

"Listen. Get something more than that. Morris Feldman, over at the 10-20 Main street house in Earlville, was telling me about this girl who won the Chronicle beauty prize. Why, he says when she goes to Chicago the vaudeville managers will be climbing over one another to sign her. Morris went out to see her and old Lindstrom chased him over the fence with a gun, and then prayed for his soul because he couldn't shoot him. Leave it to a Jew to take care of his hide. Morris finished his interview with the cowshed between him and the Dane, but he says we just get to get that girl."

"Get her?" Wiley looked startled. "You mean—"

"Sign her and put a show out. Morris Feldman says he's found a man with a piece, and all they need's the money. And they tell me around town that this little girl's having a tough time of it. All these High street zooks won't look at her—the Shakespeare club gang and all them."

"Yes," murmured Wiley, "it's true. She's not very happy over it all."

"Is she pretty as the papers tout her?"

"Yes. Isn't she, Rube?"

"All the way. If she coached along the side lines with me pitchin', I'd be rattled clear out of the box."

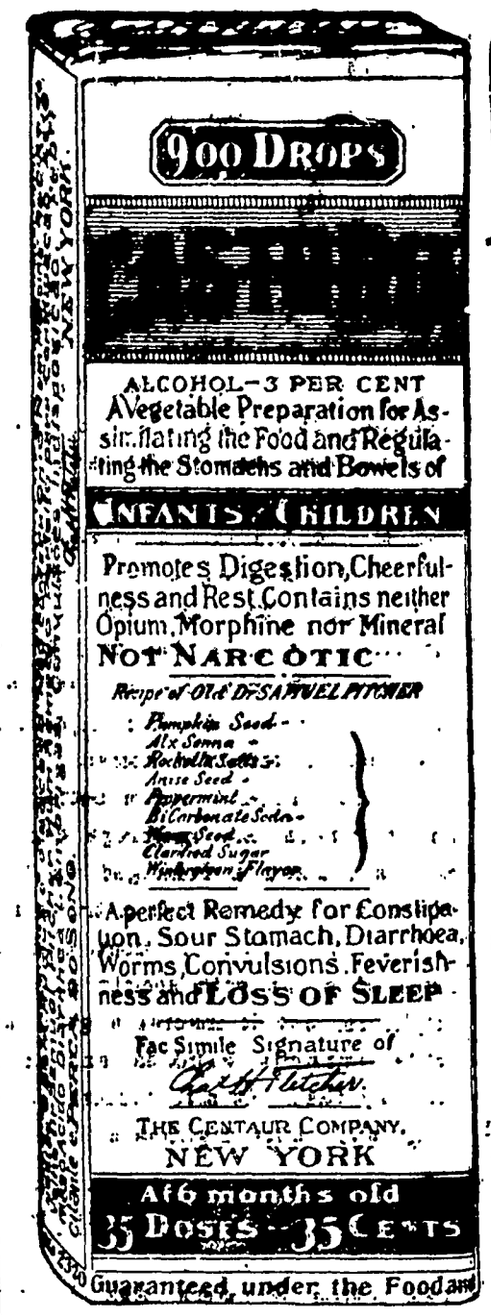
"It's a shame," said Ben, "if she ain't got a chance. Ain't it, Hen?"

"It is. We read that paper and we says: 'Little girl, the twins'll stake you with their last cow track.'"

"You mean," retorted Wiley, staring at them, "that you're going to back Aurelia Lindstrom to go on the stage?"

(Continued next week.)

Granulated glass is being tried as a preservation of the surface of wood in England with much success.



900 DROPS
ALCOHOL—3 PER CENT
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral
NOT NARCOTIC
Recipe of OLD DR SAMUEL PITCHER
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP
Fac Simile Signature of
THE CENTAUR COMPANY.
NEW YORK
At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Food and
Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

POOR HAND AT GEOGRAPHY

Tramp's Comment Worth the Dinner It Cost New York Philosopher and Author to Hear It.

He was a poor, bedraggled, "down-and-outer," working Sixth avenue in the course of his efforts he encountered John P. Wilson, soldier of fortune, actor, philosopher, scribbler, poet and author of the book of "America" at the New York hippodrome.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded Wilson, as he allowed himself to be "panhandled" for a dime.

"Oh, I guess I'm up against it because I never went west, where the money it," responded the unfortunate. "It's a fact, I never was 20 miles away from Fourteenth street and Broadway in my life."

"Well, you don't see any money hanging on me, and I lived 3,000 miles west of there all my days," retorted the author-actor good naturedly.

"Three thousand miles!" gasped the tramp. "Three thousand miles! Why how are things in Australia?"

And Wilson thought it good enough to dash to the nearest cafe to tell to the loungers.

The Cause.

"They say they've made a failure with eugenics in Milwaukee."

"Serves 'em right. They ought to stick to the old makes of beer."

Much Better

"Have you any family ghosts in this old house?"

"No, but we have some fine family spirits."

SKIN CLEARED.

By Simple Change in Food.

It has been said by a physician that most diseases are the result of indigestion.

There's undoubtedly much truth in the statement, even to the cause of many unsightly eruptions, which many suppose can be removed by applying some remedy on the outside.

By changing her food a Kan. girl was relieved of an eczema which was a great annoyance to her. She writes:

"For five months I was suffering with an eruption on my face and hands which our doctor called eczema and which caused me a great deal of inconvenience. The suffering was almost unbearable.

"The medicine I took only gave me temporary relief. One day I happened to read somewhere that eczema was caused by indigestion. Then I read that many persons had been relieved of indigestion by eating Grape-Nuts.

"I decided to try it. I liked the taste of the food and was particularly pleased to notice that my digestion was improving and that the eruption was disappearing as if by magic. I had at last found, in this great food, something that reached my trouble.

"When I find a victim of this affliction I remember my own former suffering and advise a trial of Grape-Nuts food instead of medicines."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Electrically Lighted Hens.

In the face of a world-wide tendency toward shorter hours for the worker, a determined effort is being made in England to make the hen work overtime. The motto of the movement is "A longer working day for hens." It has current interest just now because of the row over the high price of eggs—the purpose of the "long day" obviously being a larger crop of eggs per hen. Mr. William H. Cook has, for nearly a year, kept his poultry house lighted artificially in the early morning and evening. He uses 300 incandescent electric lamps, and has them so arranged that he can imitate sunrise and sunset by turning them on or off gradually.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Natural One.

"They told me I could find a game center here."

"So you can. Here's my pointer's nose."

Coughs and Colds cannot hold out against Dr. King's Menthol-ated Cough Drops. A single dose gives relief—5c at all Druggists.

Proper Species.

He (fiercely)—What was the little bird that told you I had been drinking?

She (coolly)—I think it was a swallow.—Boston Transcript.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes do not stain the hands. Adv.

Froth.

"Does your daughter read much?"

"She reads all the popular novels, but I don't call them much."

Make the Liver Do its Duty

Nine times in ten, when the liver is right the stomach and bowels are right.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

gently but firmly compel a lazy liver to do its duty.

Cures Constipation, Indigestion, Sick Headache, and Distress After Eating.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS

If you feel "OUT OF SORTS" "RUN DOWN" or "GOT THE BLUES" SUFFER from KIDNEY, BLADDER, NERVOUS DISEASES, CHRONIC WEARINESSES, ULCERS, SKIN ERUPTIONS, PILES, write for my FREE book. THE MOST INSTRUCTIVE MEDICAL BOOK EVER WRITTEN. IT TELLS ALL about these DISEASES and the REMARKABLE CURES EFFECTED by THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY. Mod. Med. Bel.

THERAPION

If you can doubt FOR YOURSELF it's the remedy for YOUR OWN sufferers. Don't send a cent. Absolutely FREE. No "follow-up" circulars. DR. LECLERC MED. CO., MAYERSTOCK RD., HAMPSTEAD, LONDON, ENG.

FLORIDA PEACE RIVER FRUIT & VEGETABLE LAND—Northern highland, low price; quality guar.; groves developed, help wanted. Farwell & Sons, Ft. Ogden, Fla.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 3—1913.

25 CTS. PISO'S REMEDY Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists. FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.50 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E Baumgartner.

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.
THOS. H. THOMPSON.

KIRON CONSIDERING CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

A. M. Deyoe, superintendent of public instruction, was at Kiron yesterday conferring with school authorities there concerning the proposition of organizing a consolidated school district.

For similar business he will visit Melbourne today and Britt tomorrow. On his return he will stop at Rowen, where the consolidated school proposition has already carried, and discuss plans for the organization of the district.

Laurens voted $50,000 bonds with which to build a new school house in the Consolidated Independent District of Laurens at a special election. A total of 261 votes were cast, 98 of which were cast by women. Seventeen men and two women voted against the bond. The building will be one of the best in this part of the state and will be fire-proof and modern in every respect.

E. P. Hanson, known perhaps better as "Peck," announces himself this week as a candidate before the June primaries for the office of county auditor This will be good news to his many friends who have signified their willingness to assist him in the fulfillment of his desires. His qualifications are of the best, his integrity unquestioned and the count of the ballots will find that his confidence in the people of Hancock county was not misplaced. The Tribune can support him with a clear conscience.—Britt Tribune.

ON BOOSTING TOUR

Clyde Combs returned Tuesday to Iowa State college. He will go out with the booster club to boost Ames. The club is composed of the college glee club and one person as their speaker and reader. Clyde was chosen by the public speaking department to do the latter. They will make a tour giving entertainments at a number of the larger towns in Iowa and southern Minnesota.—Buffalo Center Tribune.

Thos. H. Thompson of Kanawha was in town Monday and while here left his announcement as a candidate for the office of county treasurer on the republican ticket. He is receiving much home encouragement and his home paper speaks in very flattering terms of his ability to hold the office.

We understand that George Washburn of Garner will be a candidate for recorder on the republican ticket and expects to announce in a short time. He is certainly well qualified to hold the office and has many friends throughout the county who will support him.

Joe A. Moore and son have sold the Thornton Enterprise to J. A. Mader of Northwood. Mr. Moore and son have given the Thornton people a mighty good local paper and have been accorded very liberal support by the local merchants. We believe that Mr. Mader has purchased a good property and hope he meets with a large amount of success.

The short course committee have been fortunate in securing Rex Beresford as one of the special lecturers. This will be good news to the beef men of the community. He will be here on the afternoon of February 6.

"Literary Convulsions"

Being a Series of Dementia Hullucinations Reported Semi-Occasionally for this paper by
ERNEST C. FOSTER

COPYRIGHT 1913 BY THE FOSTER SERVICE

DOMESTIC FELICITY

Domestic felicity is that peculiar condition into which married life evolves when the grocery bill and relatives get more of the dinner table conversation than clubs and matinees. It gives the husband permission to use the fern bowl as a cuspidor if he chooses, and assures Her it is alright to pare potatoes with his safety razor. It has been known to make life bearable for widowed mothers-in-law and has kept children out of detention homes.

Domestic felicity sticks better in homes where the marriage certificate is framed and hanged up than where it is chucked into a trunk and sent to the attic. It doesn't make much of a hit with society and the neighbors, but it insures a good appetite, prevents wrinkles, and saves attorney fees. It also induces sound sleep, and routs nightmare in which less fortunate husbands find themselves murdered and their wives gone with the chauffeur.

This rare gift is usually found among the wedding presents when the bride and groom have a mutual interest in the event, but is almost invariably over-looked when the attraction is staged by a maiden aunt or the leading lady, or by a wealthy uncle of the actor in conventional block.

Domestic felicity has greater stamina in a cozy little home than anywhere else. It can stand a short honeymoon, but always is in danger when abroad. Once affected, it is impaired for life. It can, by careful nursing, be kept alive, but its weakened constitution will be susceptible to every little irritation, and the first headache or soggy biscuit will be very likely to close its eyes in its last, long sleep.

WAR ON FAKE SERUM

Iowa Swine Breeders Ask Federal Inspection of All Serum Plants

Ames, Jan. 12.—War on fake hog cholera serum in Iowa and in the United States was declared by the Iowa Swine Breeders' association at their annual meeting here by the adoption of a resolution asking Senator Kenyon to introduce a bill in the United States senate requiring the federal inspection of all serum and of all commercial serum plants. The Iowa legislature will also be urged to pass a law requiring inspection of all serum produced in this state.

That no progress can be made toward stamping out the disease until there is more confidence among the farmers in the efficacy of good serum was the declaration of W. J. Kennedy, director of agricultural extension.

Confidence in Serum Shaken

"Fake serums and so-called hog cholera cures have caused immense losses in Iowa and have seriously impaired the confidence of the farmers in all serums," said Professor Kennedy. "Every drop of serum should be subjected to rigid federal and state inspection."

J. L. Thatcher told of the remarkabel success with serum on the Iowana farms. "In the past three years we have treated 1,500 pure bred hogs, and have never lost an animal, although the disease has been introduced into the herd a number of times. Every hog born on the place and every hog purchased is treated with serum. We have been able to build up an immune herd through consistent use of good serum."

Warns Against Greater Disaster

Dr. C. H. Stange, director of the state serum plant, warned the swine breeders that they should begin now to prepare against hog cholera next summer. "We have more than a million cubic centimeters of potent serum in store now, but that will not be a drop in the bucket if hog cholera gets the start in Iowa it had last summer. We have one-seventh of all the hogs in the United States here in Iowa, worth from sixty to seventy millions of dollars. Every breeder and every agricultural organization should get a supply of serum on hand to use at the first outbreak of the disease."

That the serum made at the state plant at Ames which is tested on hogs for its potency, has been used in more than 1,200 Iowa herds this past fall with losses of less than 2 per cent was the statement of Dr. Stange. In but three cases did serious losses occur; in none of these was the serum found to be at fault. —Times-Republican.

M. O. Houses Will Buy Space

Bancroft Register—The Buffalo Center Tribune complains about the poor holiday advertising by the local merchants of that town. The Tribune is right in assuming that boosting to bring results first begin with the local merchants. The newspaper can do its part and is always ready to give space and time to the general welfare and progress of the town and community, but the paper cannot do it alone, it must have the co-operation of the merchants and citizens. The Bancroft merchants as well as the Ledyard merchants have been very liberal in advertising their holiday business in many years and in some instances the largest in the history of their business career. No money is ever lost in advertising your goods. There is no better way to eliminate mail order business from your community than by advertising your goods in your local paper. Mail order house are always glad to pay for advertising in country papers. They realize the benefit derived from such investments, but rarely a paper accepts their copy because they are boosting their home merchants. The home merchant in turn should realize the fact that if it is profitable to institutions far from there to advertise, it certainly would be for those right there at home.

Every business man in town is now offering to sell tickets to their friends for the short course, February 4, 5 and 6. If you have not purchased one, do so at once.

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

ACCIDENT AT FOREST CITY

C. C. Myre Killed and Two Others Injured When Auto Turns Turtle on Grade

C. C. Myre, one of the wealthiest farmers of Winnebago county, is dead and two others injured as a result of an automobile accident that occurred at Forest City Monday, about noon.

Mr. Myre lives south of Thompson. Mrs. Grindal, his sister, from Lake Mills, had spent New Year's day at the Myre home and they were enroute to Forest City so that Mrs. Grindal could take the noon passenger for her home at Lake Mills, when the accident occurred. In the car were also the two Myre children, a boy and a girl. Mr. Myre drove a Ford. They were rounding the curve in the road near the Bowers place, where the murder was committed a year ago last May, when the car slipped from the grade, turned turtle and pinned Mr. Myre under the steering wheel. The boy jumped and escaped injury. Mr. Myre was badly crushed and lived only twenty-five minutes after the accident. The Myre girl sustained a broken collar bone and Mrs. Gindal's arm was broken. In the death of Mr. Myre the county loses one of its best citizens. He was a man highly respected and his untimely death has caused a cloud of sorrow to envelope the community where he lived. He was without exception one of the wealthiest farmers in the county. He owned hundreds of acres of fine farm land in the vicinity of Thompson, all paid for and many of his farms were well improved. Mr. Myre and his wife operated all their farms.

In a talk with Dr. Irish, who helped care for the injured, the doctor states that Mrs. Gindal is suffering with a broken arm and that it will necessitate at least a week of quiet before she can be removed to her home at Lake Mills. Her many friends here sincerely sympathise with her in this hour of affliction.

Married

On December 24 at the home of the bride's mother near Goodell, Miss Laura Ruka was joined in marriage to Mr. Harry Sorenson of Belmond. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. Both of the young people are well and favorably known here, the bride's life having been spent with her mother on the farm near Goodell, while the groom is an enterprising and energetic young man, at present employed in Kenefick & Son's meat market in Belmond. Rev. R. N. Burress, pastor of the M. E. church in Belmond, performed the marriage ceremony.

About Our Electric Lights

Klemme with 306 population will have electric lights. The Co-Operative Auto company of that place have purchased a plant and the same will be in operation within the next thirty days. Thompson, with nearly six hundred population will have electric lights. No outfit has as yet been purchased, but as there are a good many years left of the present century, be not dismayed.—Thompson Courier.

A company has been formed at the town of Klemme to install an electric light plant with which to light the business places and residences. That's the proper kind of enterprise that pushes towns ahead. —Kanawha Record.

For Frost Bites and Chapped Skin

For frost bitten ears, fingers and toes; chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skins, there is nothing to equal Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Stops the pain at once and heals quickly. In every home there should be a box handy all the time. Best remedy for all skin diseases, itching eczema, tetter, piles, etc. 25c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Let's all do a little boosting and make that dairy short course the big success that it should be.

Goodell Items

Geo. Ahrenkiel from Klemme was calling on relatives here Thursday.

Mr and Mrs Jake Bachman returned from Le Mars Monday where they have been spending the Holidays with their two daughters.

Rev. E. I. Doty is enjoying a visit from his mother, who arrived here from Clarksville Monday.

The Ladies Aid had a very enjoyable time at the G. W. Butts home where they were entertained Wednesday.

Mrs John Hughes accompanied her daughter Miss Dulcie as far as Belmond Monday. The latter was returning to her school work at Clarion.

Mr. and Mrs. Suurballe and Mr. Mrs. Conway autoed to Garner Wednesday evening

John Savogue returned from Mason City Thursday, where he was visiting his son Arthur

Miss Lorna Ritter returned from Hayfield, Monday, where she attended the funeral of Mrs Hawley.

While skating with a party on the river east of here Saturday evening John Busick failed to see a barb-wire fence a head and tripped and fell gashing his head badly Some of the boys took him to his home. A Doctor was summoned and found it necessary to take five stitches.

Quarton Here Feb. 5th

W. B. Quarton of Algona will deliver a lecture during the dairy short course on the evening of February 5th. His subject will be "When the Cows Come Home." The lecture will certainly be a treat for all who attend. Mr. Quarton is a very entertaining and instructive speaker and worth going miles to hear. The short course management were fortunate in securing him.

AN IDEAL WOMAN'S LAXATIVE

Who wants to take salts, or castor oil, when there is nothing better than Dr. King's New Life Pills for all bowel troubles. They act gently and naturally on the stomach and liver, stimulate and regulate your bowels and tone up the entire system. Price, 25c. At all druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

What might have been a disastrous fire broke out suddenly in the back room of Fischer's store last Saturday night about 7:30, caused by a leak in the generating tank of the gasoline lighting system. By prompt work the blaze was extinguished in a short time with but slight damage, but not, however, without throwing quite a scare into all the merchants along the west side of Main street. —Meservy Register.

It is reported from Washington that the postal savings bank is a failure and has been kept in operation at a loss to the government. That is not strange when it is considered that Uncle Sam does not believe in advertising this feature. The parcels post would produce far less revenue if the newspapers did not give it many columns of free publicity.—Kanawha Record.

The beet sugar factory at Waverly has closed for the season, this being the factory to which beets grown in the Kanawha neighborhood are shipped. A Waverly paper states that the local manager of the factory does not know yet whether they will re-open for next season and no contracts have yet been solicited for the coming season.—Kanawha Record.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bachman spent the holidays with their daughters, Mesdames Lena and Clariss Remer at LeMars, Iowa. They returned home Monday morning.—Goodell Globe.

We are pleased to say that Melville Hillary is much improved and every hope of his entire recovery is now entertained. He was able to sit up a little while today.—Corwith Hustler.

F. MISSMAN

cian and Surgeon

ice Phone No. 11-02
esidence No. 11-03

ce and residence in the te Sav. Bank building.

ted Glasses Fitted

BAUMGARTNER

Tonsorial Artist

you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.

west of State Savings Bank

Call in

TOM ELDER

—THE—

HOTEL MAN"

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surgeon

No. 19. KLEMME IA;
In Building East
Kruetzmacher Har-and Shoe Shop.

sted.
Glasses Fitted

R. PARSONS

ENTIST

r State Savings Bank.
Phone No. 48.
ame - Iowa

J. Wilson

ock Auctioneer
EY, -:- IOWA

TION GUARANTEED

be made at the State
Bank or 'phone me
erver, Iowa, at y expense.

h bunch will you select stmas dinner?

LE OF THE TURKEY
os Thru the Land!
K OF THE DUCK
ard on Every Hand!
ARE AS NUMEROUS
Grains of Sand!
THE DONKEY
Day Is Little In Demand!
CHRISTMAS FOWLS

F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 55c
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to73
Barley	50 65
Hogs	7.00 to 7.80
Cattle	4.00 to 6.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000 Population in 1915

Have you purchased your short course ticket?

Joe Schuldt went to Eldora Tuesday to visit his sister.

If you are in need of any kind of a stove see Henry Lau & Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kluckhohn visited Garner relatives, Saturday.

Mrs. Herman Stroemer went to Clayton county, Monday, for a visit with relatives.

Elmer and Ralph Ludeke recently received a carload of pure bred Galloway cattle from Hechtner of Charitan.

Greutzmacher Bros. are handling the Beatrice cream separator, one of the best kind and the price is reasonable.

Henry Lau & Son have about 25 Black Orphington Roosters at $1,25 per head. Buy some and increase your flock fifty per cent.

STRAYED—Henry Baseman, Jr., has a stray horse at his place since December 19. Owner can have same by proving property and paying cost of keeping, etc.

NOTICE TO SAND USERS—All those indebted to me for sand are requested to please pay for same at once. Payment can be made direct to me or at either bank. Hereafter all small accounts will be cash.

HENRY GRIFFEN

ESTRAYED:—4 Red Calves, 2 steers and 2 heifers. Left my place about December 18th. Anyone knowing their whereabouts, please notify the owner.

Henry Knoke.

We must ask all those that owe us an 1913 account to come and settle at once. We need the money in our business and we have a new system that we want to start for 1914. Do not fail to call at once. Henry Lau & Son.

A prairie fire Wednesday afternoon which undoubtedly started from a passing train succeeded in getting as far as the cemetery and done considerably damage to the evergreens before the that gathered were able to check the flames one-half of the grass was also burned off. It will be hard to estimate the damage done to the trees but there is no doubt but quite a number of them have been injured.

Mrs. Kleeman Dies

Mrs. H. Kleeman who has been very ill for the past three months died at the home of her daughter Mrs Elmer Ludeke this morning. The funeral services will be held Saturday; at the house at 12:00 o'clock and at Garner at 2:00. Obituary next week.

Basket Social

There will be a basket social at Grosbeck school house on January 23, 1914.

Ladies bring basket and gents well filled pocket books.

Maude E. Wilkins, teacher.

Short course February 4, 5 and 6. Three big days.

George Griggs went to Albert Lea Monday on a business mission.

G. W. Kluckhohn and Dick Swalve went to Swea City Tuesday on a business mission.

The Misses Edna and Lydia Schuldt went to Forest City Tuesday to visit friends a few days.

A party was held at the Charles Griffen home last Friday evening and all report an enjoyable time.

Miss Nellie Bradfield of Eldora was an over Sunday visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. M. Magner.

The following parties shipped stock Saturday: Wm. Lau, Chas. F. Busch, Bock Bros and Henschen & Josten.

If you have purchased a ticket for the dairy short course, ask your neighbor to do likewise and bring him along.

Aug. Lau & Son received a new Fairbanks-Morse gasoline engine Monday, which will be installed in their elevator.

Chas. F. Busch, John Henschen, Wm. Lau and Wm. Baack accompanied stock shipments to Chicago, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Henry Freie returned from Jesup last week, where she had been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Braund.

Rudolph Baack, who has been at Sydney, N. D., for some time, returned home Sunday and will remain here for some time.

Miss Mary Flint returned to her home at Forest City Tuesday, after a short visit at the home of her friend, Mrs. Floy Lemon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Zwald and little son returned to their home at St. Paul, after a few days' visit at the home of Chas. Ax at this place and R. Zwald at Garner.

Mrs. John Stork of Garner and Mrs. J. E. Sawyer and son of Clear Lake were over Sunday visitors at the T. F. Mitchell home.

The special electric Fairbanks-Morse gasoline engine which will be used in the electic light plant arrived Monday and will soon be installed.

The concert given here last Thursday evening by the Garner Concert band was certainly fine and should have been more liberally attended. Those who stayed away missed a treat.

Mrs. Fronia Davis and baby returned to their home at Mason City Tuesday, after a few days' visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freie.

Dr. R. W. Shultz, osteopathic physician, Garner, Iowa. For "lame backs," for stomach, bowel or liver trouble or for "nerves" consult an ostheopathetic physician. Get the ostheopathetic view point. It will be helpful to you.

The stork was a very busy bird Sunday and as a result of his visit our population was increased and two families made happy. A girl was left with Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Pabst and also with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trafford. Congratulations.

Mrs. Albert Nassen and little son of Cedar Falls came down from Germania for an over Sunday visit at the home of her twin sister, Mrs. M. M. Magner. Mr. Nassen arrived Monday morning and accompanied his wife home the same evening.

The Idle Hour

Motion Pictures

Every

Saturday Night

Promptly at 8:30

Make
Time Fly
By Watching
Mutual Movies
at the Idle Hour

Admission: 10 and 15 cents

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Manualo

(The Player Piano that is all but human)

Brings a new era of enjoyment and culture into your home. At the Hamilton Manualo the head of the family forgets his every-day business cares. The hostess finds in it a happy medium of entertainment for her guests. The young folks respond to its charms with a vim in song and dance. To all it affords elevating recreation under the family roof. The

HAMILTON

Manualo

Never gets tiresome. Its unlimited repertoire cannot be exhausted. Every new piece of music awakens new emotions and new interest and shows the versatility of the instrument. With it the music of the past, the present and the future is at your command, making your life brighter and happier.

Convince yourself in our music rooms. You are welcome whether you wish to buy or not. Our prices and terms will suit you.

M. M. MAGNER

While Extending the Season's Greetings

and best wishes for

A Happy and Prosperous
New Year

we desire to thank you heartily for your past patronage and hope through the influence of our service and values we may number you among our esteemed patrons for many years.

J. N. DAY

LADIES

RESOLVE IN 1914 TO GIVE YOUR FACE A Fair Show. It will be all you desire if you will aid nature with the toilet preparations we handle.

Clear Complexions

Are as easily possessed as the sallow spotted kind, if you use the preparations that science has found needful for a clear, soft, velvety skin.

Ivory-Like Teeth

If your teeth are not white as ivory, make them so, and if they are, keep them that way. We have the best brands of tooth washes and powders that medical science produces, and you owe it to yourself to use no other.

G. A. PABST

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

After a Canadian named Morgan had been appointed to a government place, it was discovered that the position technically had to be occupied by a lawyer, which Mr Morgan was not. The benchers of the law society, however, undertook to obviate the technicality, and appointed one of their number to examine Morgan. "Tell us, Mr. Morgan," said the examiner, "what do you know about the law, anyway?" "To tell the truth," was the modest response of Morgan, "I don't know a single thing." Whereupon the examiner intimated that the questioning was at an end. He turned in his affidavit, wherein it was stated. "I have examined Mr. Morgan as to his knowledge of the law, and to the best of my knowledge and belief he has answered all the questions with entire correctness."

Descendants of the Aztec monarchs of Mexico still live. There is one in Holland and another in Mexico itself, while some of the lesser kinsmen are still drawing pensions from the Mexican government on the strength of that kinship. Direct descendants of Montezuma live in Salamanca, represented by the Maldonado family allied by marriage with the English house of Lancaster. The Empress Eugenie, of France, claims descent from the great Montezuma, and, as a biographer writes, the widow of Napoleon III is thus of greater imperial stock than her husband, and brought to the alliance more dignity than she acquired by it."

An object lesson in the proper grouting of brick pavements was disclosed by the recent Ohio floods, says the Scientific American. The roadway was invalided by a small creek which rains had swelled to the proportions of a river. A stone retaining wall was wrecked and half the roadway washed out. The concrete base fell away in pieces, but the brick surface stands today apparently as firm as ever and capable of bearing the weight of an automobile. The unsupported portion of the brick is 80 feet in length and several feet in width. The road will be refilled and tamped laterally beneath the paving.

Year after year the lobster fishery on the Swedish coast has dwindled in importance, and now it is feared that the industry is in danger of being destroyed entirely unless some decided effort is made to protect it. Government regulations looking to the preservation of the lobster are already in force, but the Swedish Fish Dealers' association declare that these regulations are ineffective and should be amended.

W. R. ("Pete") Sinkhorn, who resides south of Parksville, is establishing a reputation as a crack shot. Recently while hunting squirrels he shot one in a tall tree. As it fell a hawk pounced down, catching the squirrel before it was near the ground. Another shot from Mr. Sinkhorn's gun killed the hawk, which measured 4½ feet from tip to tip.—Danville (Ky.) Messenger.

The house of commons library in London contains 100,000 volumes of parliamentary records. Among the valuable documents is the death warrant of Charles I and the journal from which Cromwell tore a page of proceedings. It requires six weeks merely to dust all the volumes.

More than 450,000,000 whitefish eggs have been gathered in the last year in Lake Erie by the state fish hatcheries. The eggs make 13,000 quarts in quantity, and will be grown and deposited in the lake to keep up the supply of fish.

The board of education of New York city has obtained an appropriation of $79,000, with which to operate during the coming year, after school, play centers in 163 of its school buildings. Each of these play centers will accommodate from 250 to 350 school children.

A ditch 11 miles long and from 85 to 100 feet wide, has been completed in Clay county, South Dakota. It will drain nearly 7,000 acres of valuable lands. About 1,700,000 cubic yards of earth were removed.

Electricity is generated by a windmill so successfully at German technical school that it is estimated that a similar plant could supply light and water for 100 persons at a cost of $125 a year.

Educational facilities in the Philippines are becoming so highly recognized in the orient that the bishop of North Borneo has obtained permission to send children to Filipino schools.

Consul David J. D. Myers reports that banana exports to the United States from Puerto Cortes, Honduras, during the first five months of 1913, aggregated 1,460,000 bunches.

India's methods of storing grain are still very ancient and inadequate. The first modern grain elevator in all that great peninsula is yet to be finished in the Punjab province.

Of the total 2,258,000 acres of forest in Switzerland, covering nearly one-fourth of the country, 1,679,000 acres are under government control and protection.

The government of Ecuadro will spend $10,000,000 for sanitation works at Guayaquil along lines recommended by an expert from the United States.

Any individual rejoicing in the name of Mr. Earwig may be proud in the fact that originally the name meant the "boar of battle."

Imports from Brazil to the United States last year were $115,000,000, while exports to that country were valued at $39,000,000.

Algerians complain that there is a loss in transit of 7 to 10 per cent of the American leaf tobacco sent to them.

Exports in Bahia coffee from Brazil last year approximated 24,000,000 pounds, of which half went to France.

The entire 1912-13 opium crop of European and Asiatic Turkey is placed at 17,000 cases of 150 pounds net each.

Rent paid by New York city for polling places for four primary and one regular election amounts to $250,000.

EXTENSIVE FIELD OF DEMOCRATIC ENTRIES IN SECOND DISTRICT

Ruling for County Conventions Gives Assurance of Very Warm Contest.

Muscatine, Ia., Jan. 10.—The situation in the Second congressional district, for the selection of a successor to the late Congressman Pepper, will be enlivened by the ruling of the attorney general that county conventions must be held to select delegates to the congressional convention. The election will be held on February 10.

According to the attorney general's ruling, the chairmen of the congressional committees will issue calls for conventions in the six counties of the district. The county delegates elected at the 1912 primary will be eligible to sit in the county conventions. These conventions will select the delegates to the district congressional convention.

Because the progressive party was not in existence at the time of the 1912 primary, it has no regularly elected county delegates. It is understood that the attorney general will not put any obstacle in the way of the progressives holding their county conventions by delegates elected under the old caucus system, and then permitting these conventions to elect the delegates to the congressional convention.

The situation that has thus developed is expected to greatly aggravate contention in the district, particularly among the democrats. The fights of the various candidates will be carried into the county conventions, and the candidate who can control the most county conventions will undoubtedly secure the nomination.

At the present time there are no fewer than 10 contenders for the democratic nomination. They are M. F. Cornin and County Attorney Thompson of Muscatine, W. E. Hayes of Clinton, Fred Volimer, T. L. Griggs, Louis E. Roddewig and Harry McFarland of Davenport, Joe Kelso of Maquoketa, W. J. McDonald of Iowa City and T. J. Stapleton of Marengo.

Republicans are reported to be taking but little interest in the situation. They regard their chances as practically hopeless, it is said.

Just how the progressives will proceed will probably be decided during the state conference now in session at Des Moines. It is possible that another conference will be held in Davenport to put on the finishing touches.

AUTO TAGS BY EXPRESS; STATE PAYS BIG BONUS.

Buck Grove, Ia., Jan. 10.—Automobile owners in this locality are wondering why the Iowa secretary of state should send out the automobile tags by express, prepaid by the state at 20 cents each, when the tags could be forwarded by parcel post at a cost of 6 cents each. The saving of 14 cents on each tag, it is urged, would mean a considerable item on the entire business of the state.

Ben Quathamer, a local auto owner, exhibits to the Tribune correspondent his express tag, with the notation—"prepaid 20 cents." Mr Quathamer says he formerly received his tag by mail and that the postage was 8 cents. Under the new post rate, according to his information, the rate would be 6 cents on each tag.

CEDAR FALLS WOMEN AFTER CIGARET SMOKERS

Cedar Falls, Ia., Jan. 10—Undaunted by their recent failure to get the adult smokers of Cedar Falls to stop smoking on the streets, the local W. C. T. U. has launched a new anti-smoke crusade.

Instead of appealing to the confirmed smoker to retire to some secluded spot to indulge his habit, they have started with the boy smoker of cigarets, evidently with a view of decreasing the number of smokers in the next generation.

This crusade has been launched differently from the other one. Instead of coming out with a stern public demand to stop smoking, the W. C. T. U. has announced that it has procured an effective prescription for the cure of the cigaret smoking habit, from a Chicago doctor, who is conducting daily clinics for the cure of the habit among the boys of that city, that have been marked with unusual success.

They further state that they have placed the prescription in the hands of local physicians "in view of the fact that there are boys in our city who are desirous of ridding themselves of this habit," and give directions for making applications for the benefit of the cure.

"DON'T WORRY" IDEA IS BLAMED FOR FAILURES

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 10.—An unusual and increasing number of failures of high school students to successfully perform their tasks in school was, in an address by Principal J. E. Marshall, of the Council Bluffs high school, attributed to the "I don't worry" sentiment, growing so universally characteristic of the American people.

"The speculator," said Principal Marshall by way of illustration, "loses a small fortune and says 'I should worry.' The student uses the popular expression when he gets a low mark when there really is a necessity for worrying." That this sentiment expressed by pupils is in a great measure responsible for failures was also the opinion of many of the mothers present at the meeting.

EASTERN STAR HOME FORMALLY DEDICATED

Boone, Ia., Jan. 10—Delegates from all over the state arrived in the city Wednesday and Thursday to attend the official dedication of the new Eastern Star home which has just been completed. Mrs. Leslie Grant Cameron, the new superintendent, was a charter member of Rose Croix chapter, O. E. S., in Sioux City.

D. J. MORRISON KILLED IN FIRE AT EMMETSBURG

Emmetsburg, Ia., Jan. 10—D. J. Morrison is dead and Andrew Young is in a critical condition as the result of a fire in their bedroom in the Emmetsburg House, a local hotel. A kerosene lamp was overturned and started the blaze.

IOWA BANKING LAWS BAR MEMBERSHIP IN NEW REGIONAL PLAN

State Banks That Desire to Try Federal System Must Take National Charters.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 9.—None of the 1,000 or more financial institutions organized under the state laws of Iowa will, as such state corporations, ever have the privileges of making use of a part of their reserve for ownership of stock in federal reserve banks in the big money centers.

Some of the bankers in control of state and savings banks and loan and trust companies have indicated a willingness to become part of the federal reserve system, which it is obligatory on the part of the national banks to join; but the state institutions have not been given permission and it is pretty certain that they will not get such right.

State Auditor Bleakly is helpless in the matter and his banking department can only refer to the code of Iowa, which has long expressed the prevailing opinion that it is fundamentally wrong for one corporation of any kind to become tangled up with another. In the fight to prevent interlocking of corporations and to maintain independence of all corporations as of the men, it was long ago put into the laws of the state that no corporation should own another or the stock of another.

An Iowa bank may not own another Iowa bank in whole or in part; hence it would be impossible for any Iowa bank organized under the state laws to take stock in the federal reserve banks to be established. If any state authorized bank is to go into the fold it will have to do so by abandoning the state charter and organizing under federal laws.

In recent years a good many state organized banks have changed to national banks, and vice versa, the changes being about as many one way as another.

It is anticipated that as a result of this new law a number of banks will change their charter, some changing one way to get into the new plan and others changing the other way to escape it.

SAC CITY ACADEMY HALL NOW PUBLIC BUILDING

Sac City, Ia., Jan. 9.—Sac City's new high school building, the former Academy hall, which was recently acquired from the trustees of Sac City institute, has been opened to the pupils of the high school. The building is situated on a spacious campus in a prominent residence district of the city, about three blocks distant from the main building, which was erected 10 years ago, and which will now be occupied entirely by the grades. The newly acquired building has been fitted up with modern conveniences at an expense of nearly $4,000, including new equipment, and will better accommodate the growing high school, which at the beginning of the new semester will number over 160. It comprises seven class rooms, an assembly room, offices, lunch rooms, etc. During the fall the school was granted state aid in the maintenance of a normal department. A domestic science department will also be conducted during the remainder of the year. Miss Sada M. Kinyon, of Algona, has been elected instructor in this department.

JUDGE M'PHERSON HOLDS AGAINST PULLMAN COMPANY

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 9.—United States District Judge Smith McPherson, in federal court here today, overruled the objections of the Pullman Car company and directed that Frank Laughlin, a former Pullman conductor, injured in a wreck at Gothenburg, Neb., March 14, 1913, can prosecute his $50,000 damage suit against the railroad company in federal court here. The Pullman company applied for an injunction restraining their former employe from conducting his action, alleging that under their contract with the Union Pacific they would be accountable for any judgment against the railroad.

Laughlin filed suit against the Union Pacific in federal court at Independence, Mo. In their motion for an injunction restraining the action, it was claimed also that Laughlin had, under his contract with the Pullman company, absolved them from liability for accident, and that his suit against the Union Pacific was in violation of his contract.

FOOD LAW VIOLATIONS RESULT IN MANY ARRESTS

Muscatine, Ia., Jan. 9.—The most sweeping prosecution made under the Iowa pure food and sanitary laws was witnessed here yesterday when Deputy Food Inspector M. E. Flinn filed more than 30 informations charging violations on the part of the local dealers in foodstuffs. Twelve arrests followed within an hour after the cases were instituted. The condemnation and closing of a number of bakeries, butcher shops and confectionaries is threatened unless the provisions of the new law are met. Several firms have been charged with offering for sale impure and adulterated candies.

"Some of the toy candies offered for sale to children were found to be not only impure and filthy, but dangerous," stated the inspector. "One batch containing ingredients might poison a sickly child." He stated further fines and prosecutions are probable.

FARM HAND DETAINED ON INDIANA WARRANT

Ida Grove, Ia., Jan. 9.—Sheriff McLeod arrested a young man by the name of Clyde Curd Monday, wanted at Princeton, Ind., on a statutory charge. He has been working in the northern part of the county for some time as a farm hand. Young Curd says that he is innocent of the crime, and that it was a cousin by the same name who is wanted by the Indiana authorities. He is willing to return without going through the formality of securing extradition papers from the governor of Iowa, as he claims that just as soon as he arrives back in his old home the crime will be cleared up and he will be exonerated. Sheriff McLeod received a wire this morning that an official from Princeton would come for the prisoner.

DES MOINES SCHOOLS USED FOR SOCIAL MEETINGS

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 9.—The movement in Des Moines to make the schools social centers will be realized Friday evening with the beginning of a series of evening entertainments and lectures in the West high school building.

Educational moving pictures, lectures by professors from the Iowa State college at Ames and talks by specialists in various kinds of educational work will be features of the evening sessions.

An admission fee of 5 cents will be charged to the moving picture exhibition, which will open the course, but all the other features will be free of charge.

Lectures already have been arranged on poultry raising, history, printing and engraving, and gas engines. Gardening, bacteriology and domestic science are other themes soon to be taken up.

MASON CITY TO VOTE ON NEW PUBLIC PROPERTY

Mason City, Ia., Jan. 9.—The voters of Mason City will soon have an opportunity of expressing themselves in the matter of buying a lot for city hall and market square purposes. The commissioners have secured an option on a lot very near the heart of the city, and if the voters approve the lot will be purchased for $15,000, the owner taking bonds in full payment. The lot is now owned by Homer I. Holcomb and is located on the corner of Fourth and Washington. The city now owns the lot just north of this and, by combining the two would give a lot with a south frontage of 10 rods and a depth of eight. The lot would have streets on the south and west, and alleys on the east and north. It is thought the lot is sufficiently large for both city hall and market square.

NO REAL "CRIME WAVE" ON AT MASON CITY

Mason City, Ia., Jan. 9.—A number of the papers of the state have been editorially commenting on the "crime wave" sweeping over Mason City. For years this city was the only large city in Iowa without saloons, and it enjoyed the honor then and still does. The past month showed up with a total of 64 arrests, which is not due solely to conditions, but to the activity of the officers. Thirty-five arrests were made for drunkenness. There is only one assault with intent to commit murder, and the 14 remaining offenses are of minor importance. Mason City is amalgamating its immense foreign population in fine shape, not by a process of continual punishment, but by a recognition that they are here and a fair treatment of them.

FOUR DOON RESIDENTS IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Doon, Ia., Jan. 9.—W. S. Gillin, Editor Fitzgerald, Henry Reiltz and Andrew Christensen, all of Doon, were occupants of an automobile that was overturned Tuesday, while en route to a sale. Reiltz and Fitzgerald both suffered dislocated shoulders and Christensen had his nose broken. Gillen was practically uninjured. All of them were pinned under the overturned car.

They were driving along the highway about two miles southwest of Doon when a dog ran out and grabbed one of the front wheels with sufficient strength to cause the machine to swerve and turn over. Gillen, who was driving, fell clear except as to one foot. He released himself by working his foot out of his shoe and overshoe and then lifted the car and released his companions.

CERRO GORDO BOARD WILL PURCHASE BLOODHOUNDS

Mason City, Ia., Jan. 9.—The city and county are to unite in the purchase of bloodhouds. The supervisors have already passed a resolution offering to take care of half the expense, and already the suggestion has clear sailing with the city commissioner. A pair of hounds have been offered at a very reasonable figure. They are two years old and have been broken to ground work and very soon the finishing touches can be put on the hounds. The large number of people who worked with the Yordy hounds when they were here last week, learned with regret today of the death of Topsy, the hound which has done such splendid work in this locality. Her last chase was here, when she traced for a distance of several miles the assailant of W. H. Ward.

PROGRESSIVES IN LINE FOR COMPLETE TICKETS

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 9.—A complete ticket for Iowa, including candidates for United States senator, all congressional districts and every state and county office, appeared to be the almost unanimous sentiment of arriving progressive party leaders here today. The formal state-wide conference will be held tomorrow, but informal conferences are in progress among party leaders today. Tonight Bainbridge Colby, a progressive leader from New York, will deliver an address on "The Progress of Progressivism."

Among those attending the conference from outside of the state are O. K. Davis, secretary of the progressive national committee; W. E. Cadmus, of Peoria, Ill., who will deliver an address tomorrow, and George Fitch, also of Peoria, who is on the program for an address tomorrow night.

DUBUQUE SHOE DEALER IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

Dubuque, Ia., Jan. 9.—B. F. Richardson, doing business as the Richardson Shoe company, yesterday filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. The liabilities are $26,676; assets, $24,020. At the October term of court judgment was rendered against the Richardson company for $7,000 on a personal injury suit brought by Gale T. Parry, an employe of the company.

Richardson's action follows a similar petition of yesterday by Henry Kiene, real estate dealer, in which Kiene listed liabilities of $337,567 and assets of $188,593.

BOIES GIVES A DECISION IN AKRON SALOON CASE

LeMars, Ia., Jan. 9.—Judge Boies handed down a decision yesterday in the cases of Bertha Herschler against Ed Hoffmann, of Westfield, and L. L. Staley, of Akron, saloon keepers, finding for the defendants and taxing the costs to the plaintiff. The plaintiff asked permanent injunctions against the saloons last fall before they were put out of business by the refusal of the consent petition by the board of supervisors.

AMES ENGINEER AS DETECTIVE LOCATES TWO MISSING HEIR

Locates Receiver of $100,00[illegible] Working in Tunnel Far From Oregon Railroad.

Ames, Ia., Jan. 8.—"Isn't your name Jessup?" asked a mud-smeared civil engineer from Iowa of a tunnel laborer who was digging his way, with a gang of laborers, through one of the [illegible] some ranges of the Coast mountains in the trackless heart of the state of Oregon, 89½ miles by surveyor's chain from the nearest railway station in Oregon.

"Yes, I guess I am. Where have I seen you before?" replied the mud-smeared laborer. Within 15 minutes the detective-engineer, the city engineer of Ames, and the tunnel laborer an heir to an Iowa estate worth more than $100,000, were trudging their way back through those 89½ miles of mud to board the first train for Iowa.

On December 29, 1912, H. C. Wickham, a wealthy pioneer farmer, of [illegible] Zearing, a village near here, died leaving no will so far as known. There being no will, the estate must be divided according to the statutes. In settling the estate, two of the heirs under the law were missing; and these heirs were Vaughn Jessup, a nephew of the Ames city engineer, and R. H. Wickham, a brother of the engineer and a son of the deceased.

The court and administrator of the estate were being held up in closing the affairs of the estate and distributing the shares by the absence of knowledge of the whereabouts of R. H. Wickham and Vaughn Jessup. Until those heirs were located and identified by the court the law could not act.

Lost 19 Years.

R. H. Wickham had been out of touch with his relatives almost absolutely for 19 years, but he was located by his brother, the Ames civil engineer.

Jessup had been out of touch with his family for seven years, and not heard from him excepting that a sister received a letter from him a year or last August. His sister lives in Beardsley, Minn., and Jessup called Beardsley his home. In the letter he wrote his sister a year ago, Jessup was in California, and he said he was going to Eugene, Ore., from California, then to Spokane and then home, Beardsley. But, Jessup changed his mind, apparently, because he never got back home to Beardsley.

So, John Q. tried his hand and made good. He already had found his brother who had been lost 19 years, and was therefore had quite a little experience to guide him. The first thing he did was to advertise in the newspapers of many of the western cities for Vaughn Jessup, and this means worked out, for as a result of an ad in a San Francisco paper the detective engineer learned that Jessup had been in a Denver house in San Francisco. Jessup's name was on the San Francisco hotel register so, judging from Jessup's letter to his sister, he surmised that Jessup left San Francisco for Eugene, Ore., where he had worked formerly.

The engineer went straight from Ames, to Eugene, Ore. He tried to get track of him there, but not finding immediate trace of him he followed the Oregon state road, along which an Ashland hotel keeper told him Jessup had gone. The trial began to get warm when the searcher telephoned to the next inland postoffice, where the postmaster said Jessup had been there only a day or so before inquiring for trail. Wickham hastened in the direction of the Noti railway tunnel, three and one-half miles west of Noti, where Jessup had worked once before.

Wickham walked back to Noti where he tried to get a horse and vehicle to go over the trail. The liveryman told him it was absolutely impossible to get through the mud with a horse. Finding this without success, Wickham tried to get a telephone ahead. With nothing left possible to do he set out afoot, thinking the mud which no horse could subdue would overtake Jessup, who took the same route too.

Wickham managed to find places to sleep and planned to reach railroad engineers' camps just at meal time, as victuals were scarce in that region of fastness. He lost the trail more than once and spent hours to re-find it, but he kept plugging along, fighting mud and all sorts of disagreeableness until he came to the mountain where Jessup had found a job and was working, gouging a hole through an abrasion in the earth's crush so a railroad could be put through. The search lasted 11 days from the time Wickham left Ames until he was back with Jessup.

LOGAN STUDENTS TRY FOR DECLAMATORY HONORS

Logan, Ia., Jan. 8.—Supt. Fred Green, of the Logan schools, and a member of the state executive committee has perfected arrangements for the Logan schools to take part in the southwestern district declamatory contest of Iowa. Miss Georgiania [illegible] has been secured as trainer, and a local contest, to select a representative for the Logal high school, will be held here Friday evening, January 16, in the Extension building.

Sixteen students of the high school will contest for the honor of representing the Logan schools. They are Will Hughes, Paul Sonner, Ralph Miller, Robert Aestrand, Melvin Wickman, Ida Isbell, Leona Mills, Ruth Kennedy, Hazel Lusk, Hazel [illegible], Thelma Ehrhardt, Marion Van Cleta McKinney, Margarette [illegible], Sarah Laughler.

CHRISTMAS GIFT CAUSES DEATH OF BROTHER

Garner, Ia., Jan. 8.—A [illegible] tragedy occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weeks. Elmer, their [illegible] old son is dead, the result of an accident. He had been at Clear Lake visiting with relatives, bringing home with him an old rifle, the gift of his father. Elmer was hungry and asked for something to eat, and while his mother was getting him a lunch his little brother picked up the gun and while he was playing with it pulled the trigger, the bullet striking Elmer in the base of the brain and killing him instantly. Elmer was one of the charter members in the Boy Scouts. His death is keenly regretted.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Author of "THE DAY OF SOULS," "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" etc. etc.

Copyright, 1913, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

13

CHAPTER VIII—(Continued).

told her to go on, seize all the best She is a grand little girl, some- You know I've lived south—I her temperament—I know all had to fight, too, out at Lind- Know and sympathize with suppose another person in all could know or care!"

on't imagine." Janet knew Wiley n. Somehow, if there was a less old soldier, or a destitute y in the county, they always to Wiley's attention—he was even ing and caring, helplessly in his struggle with News.

u, Wiley—what can you do know. Only befriend her. own's laughing over her win- beauty prize. No one ever r, except se was considered eccentric. The big fat- e cried breathlessly. "Does suppose they'd see that mar- ity in her face—her grace, at odd quality of her mind now! Scold me—say I can't That it's aroused a lot of ngs and jealousies and silly and I shouldn't be in it! e to me—said she I was only friend in Rome. And is notoriety—Aurelie, bewil- bstruck—needs protection—consider yourself a—laugh. I tell you she woke possibly could she have to do awakening?"

Miss Vance sat back, her ed.

d a long talk. A splendid t. I saw the hopelessness of she stayed here. There's or her here. And now, who Why, I'll bet she gets pro- marriage by the dozen— want to paint her, mana- want her to go on the stage ng is possible with her! And to me, Janet—and I told her all the good in life, anyhow, live, live!".

ou" Janet pursued pitilessly. ell' That little girl—suffer- nd only I know how she is told you it fired me. She de-eyed and big with it, and to be somebody' And I myself-- the years I'd wasted, said to myself. 'God bless If you can, I can!' I don't it was, but I felt my old fire old ambition! That's why you, Janet, to make this net answered slowly. "I'll Wiley"

not see her face. She was er brother bring the rig street. But the splendor have died for her. In its the old threw patience of ful woman touched now of some haunting defeat. lp you, Wiley," she added o go.

tched them drive away At the street the gray of the untry began, the lonely ll and bottom, but over it fires were burning So they mething of him out there? the News—the heart in man without place and hey believed in him, the d quiet men; they had n fight, heard his incessant inst every wrong, every class whether in the ob- ryside, or out in the great e could not tell. It had he spoke alone, champion- but hollow theories against cent incredulity. He had times, the prosperous town professional men, the best had not spent their hearts t for new things—and the enriched them.

out of his long and hidden mself a great vision came: e lights were beacon fires n eternal struggle, await- leaders. And his heart at he would be one to understood at last what. He heard the traps of the up the hill.

CHAPTER IX.

THE BEAUTY PRIZE.

ing Sunday Rome had its specially, written wonder- e colors on the front page y supplement. There was a the Chronicle at the Junc- fter the 1:10 train and at e news stand, which sold per and the agents tele- urlington for more. There Earlville; the two towns ickerings and gazed— day dinner was delayed abbled about Aurelie picture with its three- of cupids and hearts and young men in evening ed in spider's webs and of thing that publishers lish whatever they print ran of the News often re- fingered the magazines office news stand and nday paper, the American perfectly crazy about art and literature went But Rome, Ia., wasn't. at sunny November Sun- heir sweethearts out the feet on the dashboards, gum, gazing at Miss picture, peering furtively om house and then drove r than before. Not a the three-color beauty ey get. And on all the and walking home from eople's services it was he was preposterously d in all the comments— ittling, cruel—ran the ; what would the boot- o no?

n a sort of bewilderment rought the first Sunday Chronicle home. When John came back from church he saw it on the floor and tore the offending picture from the page. Then he ordered her harshly to go to her room, and the girl obeyed. In the chill of the tiny chamber she sat staring at the little silver crucifix hanging over her mirror. Old Michigan crept in after a while, when the buzz of silly neighbor women grew too much for him in the kitchen. He sat on the edge of Aurelie's little white bed and drew her down until her hair was tangled in his shaggy beard.

"Done come up-river," he whispered, "to occupy the land! Reckmon so! Don't mind John, my little girl. He's hard with his religion, but he's meanin' well. Law done drove him to his bitterness and exile, and give him hate 'stead of love. But my girl he can't change a hair of your head, or the pink of your pretty cheek!"

And then she cried as Aurelie cried; and crept to the old whisky pedler, and all the afternoon they huddled together to keep warm, while Mrs. Lindstrom's silly chatter to the neighbor women went on, and the boys sat apart in awe as if some tragedy had fallen on them. The gossip of the town went on. The next day young Butts of the Mercury-Journal drove from Earlville to interview her and met a gaunt, feverish-eyed man who ordered him away, his shotgun lying handily across the rail fence. The correspondent saw two ragged, tow-headed children and a lean-hipped cow or two beyond the forlorn shanty and that was all. Beyond was the corn patch, and the other unpainted cottages of the quarrymen, and then the gray bluff with its never-ceasing roar and dust cloud from Thad Tanner's quarry.

Some curious town people tried to call. Lindstrom gave them the same grim welcome. And all the week the town seethed with curiosity. Prim misses read the newspapers more assiduously than ever before; and the Chronicle felicitated itself and "spread" with more details of Aurelie's life—incidentaly setting loose a horde of canvassers all over the state to work up subscriptions, giving away a half-tone of the beauty winner with each.

"What does it mean?" fulminated the Chronicle, "for this little country girl to be anounced as the most beautiful woman in the country? In the first place it means admiration, love. That is first in every woman's heart of hearts. Hundreds of thousands of men have gazed on her picture and felt their hearts moved. Thousands have writen declaring they adored her. Sincere honest men, some of them laborers, some millionaires, have offered their hands to the modest young beauty They send references of their social and financial standing, church and lodge connections and prospects. Lawyers offer her positions as stenographers; manufacturers seek to have her demonstrate their goods; she is asked to sing, to lecture, to go on the stage. Ministers write her advise; actresses ask the secret of her beauty; others warn her against the seductions of her fame Strangers come to the little town for miles to gaze on the abode of beauty; the telephone bell is constantly ringing as people call up to congratulate her She is showered with gifts, honors, invitations, emoluments—so great a thing is it to be declared by the Chronicle to be the most beautiful woman in the land."

As Yawter, the artist, the pimply-faced youth who took that luckless picture in his shabby studio up above the Hub Clothing store, remarked to Mr. Curran: "Oh, Gawd!"

Yawter was peevish because none mentioned that he took the photograph. "Here's you and me, Wiley, stirred up all this bunk—and just think of 'em sayin' there's a telephone down in Old Mich's shack in the bottoms—and we ain't gettin' a cussed thing out of it! We ain't even gotta line in the papers! Why don't you roast 'em?"

Wiley Curran smiled distantly.

"Bunk!" sniffed Yawter, the artist, and went away. "I don't believe any 1,000 millionaires want to marry Aurelie Lindstrom. Shucks, they's heaps of girls right in high school prettier'n she is. It's my picture that done it and what do I git? Fitchered, by swanny!"

And when the artist came on store clerks and traveling men discussing her about the square, and the strangers asked of the beauty winner, he growled: "Bunk! Don't ask me!"

Mowry, the undertaker, who always came into the News office to peddle gossip and read the proofs of county board meetings to see if there was not some indigent dead he could bury, was rasping his shiny serged legs before Mr. Curran's stove and summing up the town's comment.

"Everybody's sore. Folks air goin' to stop them She-cawgo papers. Wimmen's club says it's demoralizin' and the teachers say it busts up school work. Cal Rice, over to the bank, he says of all the disgustin' things is for the Chronicle to git roped in by a French girl this way. And Dickinson, I guess he's sore because his girl didn't git no prize and everybody is hollerin'; and here I ain't buried anybody for two months!" He looked across at the Widow Steger's hollyhock walk; "Hey, how's the widder?"

"I understand that Dickinson is going to send her to Burlington for treatment," answered Wiley.

"Just so. And she'll die in a hospital! And I been a-buyin' my groceries at Dickinson's for seven years—ever since the widder was took! Dog-gone, Wiley—this is a sorehead town!"

Old Mowry went out to denounce the grocer and the county board to every farmer along the hitching rails. He had been county coroner until the story got out that once he fished a nigger out of Broad slough, held an inquest and buried him, and put in his claim for fees. Four days after he discovered another nigger under the ice, held an inquest and buried him—with fees. Three days after, another mysterious nigger was found and buried—with fees. Then the weather unfortunately grew warm, and some one started an investigation. This nigger and the coroner's political career spoiled simultaneously that week. Old Mowry had been shuffling around the court house trying to collect his fees from every succeeding county board, but always the ghost of that colored citizen haunted him. And every monthly board meeting Father Doyle drove over from Earlyville to see if Mowry's claim had been allowed. Mowry was the sole Catholic in Rome, but the only time he would contribute a cent was when he had buried a Protestant in good standing. And one of the undertaker's grievances, always aired in the News office, was that county dead should not figure in the good priest's calculations—he couldn't collect his fees, anyhow, out of this gol-durned board Mr Curran listened patiently. The priest was his good friend. So was Mowry. So seemed all the lame ducks of the community—and no one else. He wondered now, in his new found ambitions, why all the representative men seemed afraid of him; and why all the nondescrip humanity of the town attached itself to him. Mowry was the first to spread the news about the court house that week that Curran was going to run against Jim Hall in the congressional primaries. Mr. Curran, when he made his usual round of the county building for the batch of items, reaped an unexpected harvest.

He met Thad Tanner and his soninlaw, Cal Rice, of the First National bank, in the corridor. Cal Rice's wife owned most of the Earlville Mercury-Journal stock; and recently the Mercury-Journal had been giving away jardineres and eight-day clocks with subscriptions in an endeavor to put the News out of business. Old Thad and Cal were talking about it now and some of the county board were with them. Thad had boasted five years ago that he would put "that damned four-page rag on the dump" behind Curran's shop, but still the "rag" persisted. Somehow the county remembered the day the elder Curran was stretched senseless across the dingy desk by a copperhead mob.

Old Thad was small and screw-headed with a continually baring upper lip as he talked, and his husky voice came out of a toothless cavern of a mouth that seemed never quite able to close its grinning. Yet he had a certain clear and stinging way of stating facts, a rugged "horse sense," and profane humor that accounted for much of his dominance in the county affairs—that and his money and fighting qualities. And he knew men. He knew Wiley Curran. Wiley had an exasperating idea that Old Thad, by some intuition, had gauged year by year, month by month, week by week, the decay of the News—that he could forecast very nearly how much longer the malcontent sheet would keep up its barking.

"Morning, Mr. Curran." Thad turned from the board members as the editor mounted the court house steps. "How is our very weakly these days?"

That was a never failing banter of the county boss. The farmer members were apt to smile deprecatingly; and the editor kept his temper. He wondered how the big boned countrymen could tolerate the boss's grin—he always was so sure of himself—and them. Old Thad felt good this morning—he had got his contracts for the creek diversion and road culvert about which the News had been peppering the board. Only Burt Hemmeinger, a pale eyed, yellow bearded farmer, had protested and mumbled something about the News' charges that the Tanner quarries were the chief beneficiaries of the work. Boydston and Curry, the road committee, and Tanner men, had put through the contracts without comment—it was the usual program. So now the quarry boss thought he could badger the defeated News complacently.

"The honorable board has just voted for the creek work, Mr. Editor! You might make a note of it. But I suppose the News will be too filled this week with politics. We hear you're coming out against Jim Hall?"

The county men were looking at Curran. Judge Van Hart and the district attorney, Jewett, a pot-bellied nonentity, were coming from the court room. Hanner spoke purposely loud; he wanted to smoke out this joke of the editor's aspirations.

"I am going in the primary," said Curran quietly. The group stopped curiously. Cal Rice, ever taking his cue from the boss, laughed. Jewett rubbed his bald head. The News was his aversion. Wiley had hounded him as a prosecutor who never began action against any one except bootleggers, drunk section hands and any sort of homeless men. Jewett was noted as a famous barbecue cook, and at Old Home Week festivals, Old Settlers' picnics and the like, white-aproned, genial, good humored, he presided. During campaigns he gave bullhead breakfasts in the woods, where county politicians, prominent lodge members, influential farmers—any one who was any one—congregated, and through a night of rough conviviality—a vast glut of eating, drinking, songs and speeches—Jewett won his election. Church folk and wives complained of these orgies, but Jewett offered his cookery and his jokes with equal facility to the church festivals and quieted the talk. Curran never attended these bullhead feasts—they disgusted the esthete's taste in him, and besides, with the unsureness of the nervous man, he did not care to face the banter of the county crowd at its wildest.

Old Thad waddled nearer to tap Curran on the arm. "Young man, congress is a sizable pill for you ain't it? And don't you know there ain't any man gone to Washington in this district in 20 years unless he come to see me about it?"

The country politicians laughed briefly. Wiley watched them keenly. "I didn't know as the nomination was yours to give out, Mr. Tanner. And you know you can't fool all the people all the time!"

The boss closed one pursy eye, grinning. "Young man, that's never necessary!"

(Continued next week.)

The New Patriotism.

From "The Modern Quest for a Religion," by Winston Churchill, in the Century Magazine.

The religion we choose, therefore, in order to satisfy us, must contain a positive, militant righteousness. And it must not be a righteousness which has to do only with our own souls; it must also have a social meaning. In other words, it must have, in a democracy, something to do with the state. If this be so, let us call this positive righteousness the New Patriotism. Patriotism and religion have come hand in hand down the ages. If we believe in the New Patriotism, and if whatever religion we adopt be not in harmony with it, then we shall be doing violence to our deepest instincts.

Good Bowels Are An Aid to Growth

Growing Children Need a Mild Laxative to Foster Regular Bowel Movement.

MARIE DEY

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally, according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally, which is an opinion shared by Mr. John Dey of Bloomfield, N J. He has a large family and at ages where the growth and development must be watched. Little Marie has thrived especially well on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr Dey considers it the right laxative for young and old and has found none better for young children.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills, as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W B Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do Women Freemasons.

Will the far-reaching reforms in the constitution of Fremasonry now under consideration lead to the admission of women to the lodges? Female lodges, though not formally recognized by the governing authorities have existed in France since 1785, and there are several such in Paris at the present time The usually accepted statement that only one woman, the Hon. Mrs. Aldworth, has ever been elected a Freemason in England is erroneous, for several other instances are on record, in the United States, Mrs Salome Anderson attained high position in the order, and was elected a trustee of the Masonic temple.

Ozone Chicks.

A poultryman of Waltham, Mass., is using electric ozonizers to reduce mortality in the hatching and brooding of chicks. Ordinarily 24 to 48 hours elapse from the time the first chick peeps forth from its shell until the last one appears But the use of ozone invigorates the chicks as indicated by a recent hatching which came out in ten hours.

Bad Air.

"Don't you notice how bad the air is in this car?" asked the fussy old lady of the railroad conductor.

"Yes, I do," replied the polite official, "I guess the last time they filled the airbrakes they got a bad lot of air."

Might Be True.

"Hear about Wombat? Four years ago he left home to match a sample. Now he returns and says he couldn't get it matched."

"Wife accept that explanation?"

"Yes, sometimes it sounds weak, but then again, sometimes it sounds like it might be true."

Surely Is.

Redd—We've got a girl in our set who can tell the time of day by her pulse.

Greene—Nonsense! How could she possibly do that?

"She wears a wrist watch. That's by her pulse, isn't it?"

Something in Common.

"We'll have to take a roomer."

"I hate to have an uncongenial outsider in the house."

"He needn't be uncongenial. We'll advertise for one who plays bridge."

Balking at That.

"Come, we must call on Miss Oldgirl. You must toe the mark."

"Not if it's the mistletoe."

Serum Cuts Down Mortality.

In Paris from 1880 to 1893, before the discovery of the anti-diphtheria serum diphtheria killed an average of 1,721 persons a year, 2,244 deaths in 1882 and 1,266 in 1890 being the maximum After Roux discovered his serum, the average of deaths dropped to 318, with a maximum of 736 in 1901 and a minimum of 174 in 1906 Thus, thanks to serotherapy, there is now only one death instead of five, and in some years one instead of seven, or a mortality of six per 100,000 inhabitants

In 1895, soon after the serum came into use in Paris, the mortality fell to 9 7 per 100,000, while in London it was 55.6; in Berlin, 60.1, and in St. Petersburg, 89 9.

ECZEMA IN WATER BLISTERS

748 Congress St., Chicago, Ill.—"My eczema broke out like little water blisters. Each one was full of water and would itch until I would scratch it open, then the water would run out and it would get sore. I first got the eczema on the back of the hand and I scratched it so hard I made it all sore. Then I got it on my legs just above the ankle and above the knee.

"I used what they call ——— and it stopped the itch but it got worse. Then I used ———. In all I had the trouble for about two years. One day I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper. I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I tried them and then bought some more. Cuticura Soap and Ointment left my sores nice and smooth. I used them for six weeks, and am now cured; the eczema left no marks." (Signed) F. W. Horrisch, Oct. 19, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Belated Privilege.

"He is opposed to woman's rights. Says they get along better with privileges."

"Yes, he's the kind of man who lets a woman stand in the street car until a block away from his destination and then acts as if he hadn't noticed her before, and insists that she accept his seat."

Their Advantage.

"I see where the British militant suffragettes have now added a sleep strike to the hunger one."

"Yes, they are wide-awake ones."

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

DR. PIERCE'S

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

(In Tablet or Liquid Form)

Assists the stomach in the proper digestion of food, which is turned into health-sustaining blood and all poisonous waste matter is speedily disposed of through Nature's channels. It makes men and women clear-headed and able-bodied—restores to them the health and strength of youth. Now is the time for your rejuvenation. Send 50 cents for a trial box of this medicine.

Send 31 one-cent stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages—worth $2. Always handy in case of family illness.

Address R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.

School Shoes that wear like iron

This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all-steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively.

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route. Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent.

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day
Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

EASY TO EXAMINE THE LUNGS

Physicians Now Enabled to Perform Rare Operations With the New Bronchoscope.

An instrument known as the bronchoscope has been introduced at the Medico-Chirurgical hospital, Philadelphia, to aid in the examination of the lungs and to remove foreign substances therefrom.

The bronchoscope is U-shaped. One of the legs is hollow and is surmounted by a small mirror and an electric light. To remove a foreign body from the lungs, the hollow leg is inserted in the mouth and permitted to pass down the throat until it reaches the vocal chords. With the aid of the mirror and light on the outer end an examination of the lungs is then made and the foreign substance located. This done, a small steel tweezer is passed through the hollow tube and the offending particle removed.

Dr. R. S. Skillern and his five assistants in the nose and throat department of the institution are skilled in the manipulation of the bronchoscope, and have been performing some rare operations. Such things as collar buttons, screws, safety pins, chicken bones, nails, and dried peas have been removed.

The instrument affords specialists an opportunity of looking into the lungs of tuberculosis patients.

Didn't Think Much of Lecturer.

A well-known Boston lecturer was to give one of his lectures in a western city in which he had a sister who had a family of several children. He was the guest of his sister, and his nephew, a lad of nine or ten years, wanted to attend the lecture. To this his uncle said:

"I don't think that my lecture would interest you, Harold. You would be much better off at home and in bed. Now if you will stay at home and go to bed, I will give you a dollar, which is the price of a ticket to the lecture."

"A dollar!" said the boy with a gasp. "Why, uncle, it surely can't be worth all that! I guess that fifteen cents will be enough for you to pay me. Don't you suppose that that will be as much as it will be worth?"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Judge's Good Advice.

"You should be very careful in your investigations of every case presented to you," said a New York judge in impaneling a grand jury recently. "Many a hard-earned reputation has been destroyed by the filing of unnecessary indictments, and the dismissal of the indictment does not remove the stigma upon a person's name."

That is good advice for any grand jury anywhere. There is always danger of the thought that "this isn't a trial; it isn't calling him guilty; he'll have his chance later on; we'll indict him on general principles." But it is hard for anyone to undo the damage caused by an unjustified indictment.

There would be no harm to the community if indictments were made more difficult instead of more easy.—Boston Post.

Worms the Cause of Your Child's Pains

A foul, disagreeable breath, dark circles around the eyes, at times feverish, with great thirst, cheeks flushed and then pale, abdomen swollen with sharp cramping pains are all indications of worms. Don't let your child suffer—Kickapoo Worm Killer will give sure relief. It kills the worms, while its laxative effect adds greatly to the health of your child by removing the dangerous and disagreeable effect of worms and parasites from the system. Kickapoo Worm Killer as a health producer should be in every household Perfectly safe. Buy a box today Price 25c. All druggists or by mail Kickapoo Indian Med. Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

WONDERFUL COUGH REMEDY

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Eidson, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee. This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds.
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

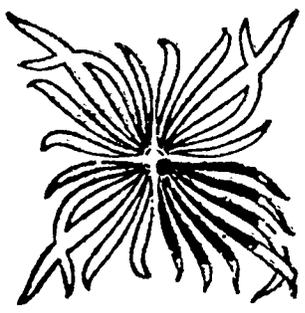
--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,
AUG. LAU & SON

We Wish all our Friends and Patrons a Happy and Prosperous 1914



City Restaurant & Hotel
A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

W. F. PAVE

Blacksmith and Wood Workma

I would like a sha your patronage and if is intrusted to me I give it my prompt and ful attention. All guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 23 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY JANUARY 29, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

To your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of

$15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

posit your money in our bank; you feel se- because it is in a safe place. It will make feel happy to know that some day, if A INESS CHANCE arises, you can go to the and find your money where you left it. possession of a bank account not only gives restige in your community but with YOUR- R. Begin at once to put away just a portion at you are letting go in extravagance.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

me - - Iowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

ill buy hogs six days in the week at e highest market prices.

usiness established 1890.

Hurrah For Our Booster Club

Over Forty Members Now Signed Up—Meeting to Be Held Soon.

A movement was started Saturday whereby Klemme is assured of having a Commercial or Booster club. A list has been circulated by Levi Neese and the writer and it has been very liberally signed. At this writing there has been nearly forty of our citizens and nearby farmers that have signified their intentions of belonging to the organization and it is hoped that much good will result.

A meeting will be called in the near future when officers will be ected, the organization will be given a name and other business of importance will be taken care of.

There are still a very large number who would make good timber for this organization that have not been seen and we should have at least one hundred members in the near future.

Some people seem to take this matter lightly and take it that an organization of this kind will not amount to much. It is just what you make it, kind neighbors and friends. An organization of this kind can accomplish very much if the members will work together and keep at it. We can sight the doubters to many cases where it has proved so and in towns not as good as Klemme, either.

Klemme has done wonderfully well the past few years without an organization of this kind and she can do much more with it, if the members will avail themselves of the opportunity.

Bury that hatchet and join our forces.

No. 6659 Report of the Condition of

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

At Klemme, in the State of Iowa, at the close of business January 13, 1914.

RESOURCES

Loans and discounts		$164,362 48
Overdrafts secured and unsecured		1,266 34
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation		25,000 00
Premiums on U. S. bonds		132 75
Banking house furniture and fixtures		2,170 97
Bonds, Securities, etc		616 13
Other real estate owned		6,781 21
Due from National banks		1,701 63
Due from approved reserve agents		28,537 94
Checks and other cash items		1,045 03
Fractional paper currency Notes of other National Banks		20 00
nickels and cents		171 59
Lawful money reserve in bank:
Specie	10,015 50
Legal tender notes	900 00	10,915 50
Due from U. S. treasurer		1,250 00
Total		243,971 47

LIABILITIES

Capital stock paid in	25,000 00
Surplus fund	2,000 00
Undivided profits less expenses and taxes paid	5,979 12
National bank notes outstanding	24,295 00
Individual deposits subject to check	42,005 33
Time certificates of deposit	144,691 22
Total	243,971 47

STATE OF IOWA, Hancock County, } ss

I, F. A. Arnold, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

F. A. ARNOLD, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 22nd day of January, 1914.

FRANK M. HANSEN, Notary Public.

[SEAL]

Correct—Attest:

C. H. WEIGMANN,
AUG. BARZ,
AUG. LAU } Directors

We overlooked in last week's issue to note the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shoenwetter, northwest of town. Mrs. Schoenwetter was Miss Nora Swanson.—

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000 00

Pres. - C. H. WEIGMANN

Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU

Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD

5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits

THIS BANK IS ORGANIZED UNDER AND CONTROLLED BY LAWS ENACTED AT THE

NO ONE

Is Going to Save For You You've Got To Do It Alone

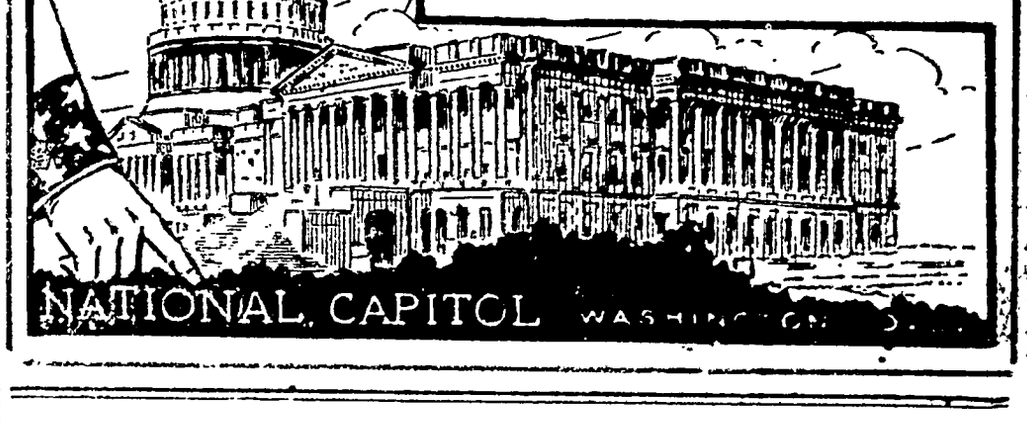
THE SOONER BEGUN THE SOONER DONE

AND

The Larger amount you will Own

MAKE

THE START TODAY



KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants

"I Choose A Moyer Steel Gate Because I Believe You Will"

Because it's so simple—sturdy and strong. I can't see a possible place where it will wear out. It will save you time and bother. Then the maker guarantees it for 5 years against breakage. And you can test it for thirty days free—before you buy it. Better come in.

30 DAYS Trial Free Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

PIANOS

G. F SCHULER Handles The

CABLE, NELSON PIANO

"THE GRAND OLD NAME," which stands for:

ATTRACTIVENESS, TONE, DURABILITY

Call in and look them over, prices reasonable.

PROBABLY BET WASN'T PAID

Youngster Undoubtedly Had Won It but There Were Other Circumstances to Consider.

It was the day after the party Nine year-old Robert came to his mother and said:

"Mamma, how many of those nice cut-glass ice cream dishes of yours are there exactly?"

"Twenty-four, my son."

"Will you bet me that you have more than 23?"

"No, darling. Grandmother Brown gave me one dozen and Grandmother Sullivan another dozen. That makes exactly two dozen"

"All the same" persisted young Robert, "please bet me!"

"Very well, I'll bet."

"Then you've lost. 'Cause I've broke on one of 'em."—New York Evening Post.

THE RIGHT SOAP FOR BABY'S SKIN

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, it is most valuable in the treatment of eczemas, rashes and itching, burning infantile eruptions. Cuticura Soap wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of ordinary soap and making its use most economical.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston"—Adv.

She Should Not Contradict.

An officer in the Indian service who was not particularly noted for good looks, one day turned to his wife's ayah and said

"Do I not look like a monkey?"

Expecting that she would, of course hasten to reply in the negative He was rather taken aback, however when she replied

"The Protector of the Poor is pleased to say so and how can his slave dare to contradict him?"

Nimble-Footed.

The preacher was a young man and nervous but interesting He was making an eloquent plea for the home life, and was descanting eloquently on the evils of the club telling his congregation that married men in particular should spend their evenings at home with their wives and children

"Think, my hearers said he, 'of a poor, neglected wife all alone in the great, dreary house rocking the cradle of her sleeping baby with one foot and wiping away the tears with the other'"

Queer Human Nature.

"People are funny"

"How now?"

"In this Van Million divorce suit they divided $25,000,000 amicably and they scrapped about the custody of a pug dog."

Particular

Visitor—Are you the scrub woman?

Scrub Woman—No, sir. I'm the floor laundress

FRIENDLY TIP.

Restored Hope and Confidence.

After several years of indigestion and its attendant evil influence on the mind, it is not very surprising that one finally loses faith in things generally.

A N. Y. woman writes an interesting letter. She says.

"Three years ago I suffered from an attack of peritonitis which left me in a most miserable condition For over two years I suffered from nervousness, weak heart, shortness of breath could not sleep, etc

"My appetite was ravenous but I felt starved all the time I had plenty of food but it did not nourish me because of intestinal indigestion Medical treatment did not seem to help I got discouraged stopped medicine and did not care much whether I lived or died.

"One day a friend asked me why I didn't try Grape-Nuts food stop drinking coffee and use Postum I had lost faith in everything but to please my friend I began to use both and soon became very fond of them

"It wasn't long before I got some strength, felt a decided change in my system, hope sprang up in my heart and slowly but surely I got better I could sleep very well, the constant craving for food ceased and I have better health now than before the attack of peritonitis.

"My husband and I are still using Grape-Nuts and Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

GETTING A START

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER JR.

LUCK.

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Luck is the result of chance. Success is the product of intention.

What is luck?

I don't know, and I don't know anybody who does know.

But luck exists. It is no use to deny that it is a power for good or for evil.

The unsuccessful man claims that luck is against him, and holds luck responsible for his shortcomings. The man of success refuses to recognize luck, because, if he did, it would shock his conceit.

Luck seems to be everywhere and nowhere. It comes from the land of mystery, circulates like an irresponsible comet, dissolves itself, and disappears. It follows no beaten track, and obeys no law. Its composition is unknown, its ways are unreliable. No chemist has analyzed it, no sheriff has caught it, and no jailer has confined it.

Some time somebody will dissect it, and then the world will understand it, but not now, or near now.

No matter if luck plays an important part on the stage of business, or of any other kind of endeavor, it should not, it must not, be depended upon.

If you wait for luck, you are pretty sure not to meet it.

The ship never comes in to the loafer on the dock.

Don't depend upon luck. Of all the fool things in the world of folly, taking stock in luck is the most foolish, most idiotic, most disastrous. Better try to foretell the weather by pitching pennies for rain or for shine, than depend upon the orbitless asteroid which floats in its trackless space and goes by the name of luck, because nobody knows what else to call it.

Luck doesn't distribute itself with common fairness, and it seems to have little judgment or sense of proportion; but, if you analyze it and tabulate it, you may find that it more frequently visits those who can use it than those who are too lazy to do anything with it.

Many folks are asleep when luck knocks at their door, or are too indolent to get up to let it in.

Luck may call upon you, but it won't come in unless you go out and grasp it, pull it toward you, tie it down.

Cursing your luck won't make luck your friend.

Envying other people's luck won't encourage luck to call upon you.

Figure on getting along without luck, and yet be ready to use luck if it comes your way.

Waiting for luck unmans a man and dwarfs a boy. Don't think about it. Don't wait for it. Don't depend upon it. Forget it. Mind your business. Move on as though there wasn't any luck anywhere, and you had never heard of it. But if you get a glimpse of it, grab it, make it your servant, not your master. Luck uncontrolled is more dangerous than gunpowder, the riskiest thing to be found on the road to success.

ABOUT MARRYING.

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Why not a talk on marriage? Almost everybody worth while is married, is going to be, or is considering it.

Marriage will either make or break a man

The sentimentalist may differ from me, but he cannot controvert the recognized fact that the average man and woman give less attention to making the marriage contract than they would to purchasing an automobile, to building a home-house or to leasing an apartment.

Accurate statistics are impossible but those who have studied the question are of the opinion that not more than one out of 100 marriages are entirely satisfactory to both parties or to either of them although it is likely that most husbands and wives live in reasonable harmony.

If what has been said is true then he who marries has but one chance out of 100 of contracting an alliance which he may not consciously or unconsciously regret

To be married right is heaven to be married wrong, is hell

No one should select a partner for life without the most careful consideration, and without weighing the pros and cons in the final mental scale

Real love is safe it does not play for chances It is sensible and the action of it is sure but it is often difficult to differentiate between real love and the imitation of it or what is commonly called sentiment, which may not be founded on love, and which may be based on passion or infatuation.

Try as we will, we cannot diagnose with certainty but there is a vast difference between carefulness in selection and reasonable grounds for the choice.

Proper marriages are not only love matches, but both parties enter this state with a full realization of the importance of material things, for love will not pay for food and lodging or for clothing the body.

So long as there is a physical side to life, just so long the materialistics must play an equal part with the spiritual or sentimental. Consideration of the material does not interfere with the spiritual.

Most of the matrimonial mistakes are made by those who think they love, or do not think much about it any way, and not by those who know that they love.

The man who marries, when he cannot support a wife, and without prospect of giving her a comfortable home, is a scoundrel, and the woman who marries for a home only, or because she does not desire to continue in the state of "old maidenhood," is not fit to be any man's partner.

To enter matrimony without thought of material costs is as wicked and dangerous as it would be to attempt to cross the ocean in a leaky boat, unseaworthy and unprovisioned.

Before proposing, strip yourself of sentiment for the time being, and do not marry unless you can give several reasons why you would asg the selected woman to be your life's partner If you cannot give them, something is the matter with you, with her, or with both of you. People, fit to marry and suited to each other, do not allow unsupported sentiment to guide them. Their love is both spiritual and material.

Unless you know why you want to marry a certain woman, don't marry her

When in doubt, don't.

THE MISER.

(Copyright 1913 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

There lived in a country once upon a time a man who was very fond of money and he did not care how many people he made miserable if only he could be rich.

To the poor people who lived near the forest and cut wood for him he would pay very little money for their labor while he charged large sums for the wood which he sold to the rich people

One day, while he was walking in the forest, thinking how much money he could make from the cutting of the trees, he met a witch.

"You are a cruel man," she told him, "beware that your love of money does not bring you want and sorrow The poor woodcutters work for you for small wages, and almost starve, while you sell the fruits of their hard work and grow rich"

"Begone!" said the miser, "you are a bad old woman" and he struck at her with his cane But the stroke fell upon the air for the witch had disappeared

A voice however, seemed to follow him as he walked away, saying "I will come again when you least expect me, soften your heart and be just to those poor people The miser hurried along, and when he was out of the forest he no longer heard the voice, and he soon forgot the warning

I'll have all the wood in the forest cut he said and piled in my house and yard and when the people want wood this winter they will have to buy it of me and pay the price I ask."

One night he sat smoking his pipe and dreaming of the wealth he would have for the wood was cut and piled high around him when a spark from the fireplace set fire to the house, and before he could get help it burned to the ground, and then the big piles of wood in the yard caught and burned also.

The miser was in despair; he wrung his hands and called for help, but none came, and he was forced to see his wealth disappear before his eyes.

As the flames grew higher and higher he saw the face of the old witch come from out the red, smoking mass. She pointed at him with her long, bony finger as she came toward him.

"Your greediness has brought this upon you," she said.

"You did this, you wicked old meddler!" cried the miser as he rushed toward the witch, but she waved her cane in front of him and he fell upon the ground before her.

"Listen to me," she said; "I did not set fire to your home and your board. I warned you, and you would not heed. The good fairy who protects the oppressed brought the spark of love to your hearth, but you would not see it, and it sprang into flame and reached your heart by destroying that which was nearest it."

The witch disappeared and left the old miser weeping upon the ground for his vanished wealth, but the people who had worked for him heard his cry and came to him. They took him into their home and cared for him, for now that his house was gone he had no place to live and no money.

When the old miser saw how kind these poor people were he was ashamed of the way he had lived, and repented.

He worked with them and sold their wood, dividing the money he received honestly, and the spark of love which fell upon his hearth at last grew into a flame in his heart.

Animals in Winter.

Mabel R Goodlander in the Churchman.

When winter is coming the wild creatures in the north are preparing for the cold months, some, like the squirrel, by storing up food, but many more by going to bed to sleep through the cold days when food is scarce. This winter sleep is called hibernation.

Each animal chooses some comfortable place for his long rest. The woodchuck rolls up in his burrow in the hillside the coon and bear find caves among the rocks. Many of the warm blooded animals do not sleep all winter, but take long naps from which they wake on warm days.

The cold blooded creatures hibernate, too. Snakes knot themselves up under a log or rock; the toads, wood frogs and tortoises push down in the soft earth, the mud turtles and water frogs bury themselves in the bottom of shallow streams and ponds.

So they sleep till hunger wakes them up, and doubtless the first thing they do in the spring is to hunt for a good meal.

Saved By Umbrella.

From the Strand.

During a thunderstorm in Deal, England, Minnie Rogers, aged 17, was walking along one of the small back streets of the town carrying a number of umbrellas, etc., when a vivid flash of lightning, evidently attracted by the steel frame of one of the umbrellas she was holding, ripped open her own umbrella, struck her, and threw her violently to the ground. There was only one gentleman in the street at the time, and he assisted her to rise. Strangely enough, when she had done so she found that all her clothes, umbrella, and cap were perfectly dry, whereas before she had been drenched, for the rain poured down in torrents. Her description of her feelings was: "I felt just as though my head had been stung by a wasp, there was a singing noise in my ears, and I seemed to see a bright light, like the sun, shining through my umbrella." With the exception of her hair being slightly singed, she sustained no injury.

PARIS IS HAVEN OF MEXICAN STATESMEN

Fallen and Exiled Congregate in French Capital Where Diaz Lives.

Paris, Special: The Parisian colony of Mexican statesmen, past and present, is fast increasing. Headed by former president Porfirio Diaz, as the most conspicuous figure, it now includes Adolfo de la Lama, Mexican minister of finance, who is visiting Paris and London to negotiate a loan for the Huerta government; Joseph Limantour, former Mexican minister of finance; Emanuel Garza Aldape, ex-minister of foreign affairs, of public instruction and of the interior; William de Linda, former governor of the federal district of Mexico, and Minguel Diaz Lombardo, who was Mexican minister to France under the late President Francisco Madero, and who is president of a committee representing the constitutionalists in Mexico.

General and Senora Diaz are living quietly in a family hotel in the Avenue des Champs Elysees. The general's room faces the Arc de Triomphe, commemorating Nepoleon's success. Here, where there is a fine view of the surroundings, the retired president spends much of his time. Ministers who served under his government visit him now and then, but General Diaz is somewhat deaf and this has increased his desire for retirement. Senora Diaz is her husband's constant companion, acting as interpreter for visitors. Senora Diaz has a good command of English, of which the general uses none. Porfirio Diaz, jr., also lives near his father and makes frequent calls.

The impression among persons who know General Diaz and who have been associated with him is that he is not the rich man he is supposed to be. He lives modestly, although paying $20 a day for his apartment, and while considered to be in comfortable circumstances, his wealth is said not to be large. During his active life he paid but little attention to matters of finance, it is said. The general seldom goes to the theaters, but takes frequent automobile rides about Paris. His step is sprightly and he appears to be in good health.

PRIMITIVE MAN LIKED AUK BUT NOT LOBSTER

Early Inhabitants of Oronsay Had Dietary More Varied Than Modern Briton.

Edinburgh, Special Primitive man in the British Isles did not fare so badly, if conclusions drawn by two Scotch archaeologists, A. Henderson Bishop and Ludovic Mann, who have been exploring the Islet of Oronsay, be true. The tiny piece of ground, which lies off the Argyll coast, is rich in ancient mounds, and the results of an examination of some of these has just been reported to the Scottish Society of Antiquaries.

An immense amount of material in the mounds was sifted and scrutinized in the most minute fashion, and great quantities of objects were secured for further examination in the laboratory. The material consisted of worked out implements and weapons of shell, horn, bone and stone.

The Oronsay man, who existed at a remote epoch during which the Scottish climate is supposed to have been like that of Greenland today, is proved to have lived no precarious and miserable life. He had a dietary more lavish and more varied, perhaps, than that of the average Briton of the present day. His food consisted of nuts and the flesh of various animals and birds, among them the now extinct great auk, the red deer, the wild swine, the seal and the otter. Twenty-four various kinds of molluscs and 12 of fish stocked his larder. He ate crabs and sea urchins, but strangely enough did not devour lobsters. Of the fish on which he lived many could only have been caught in wicker traps, submerged in deep water.

People Favor Foreign Names.

From the New York Press.

A writer in a periodical quotes a foreign visitor, surprised at the great number of European names used in this country and the imitation of foreign ideas generally, as remarking that the parrot instead of the eagle ought to be the national emblem.

It appears that the favorite designations of towns in America are Chester, Newport and Troy. There are 32 of the first, 30 of the second, and 28 of the third. Canton, Oxford, Waverly, Belmont and Auburn are close behind. There are 21 Waterloo to seven Bunkerhills; 15 Wellingtons and 13 Wellesleys, as compared with 28 Washingtons; 22 Nelsons to 14 Decaturs and one Farragut. Not only do names based upon historical events in this country make a poor array beside the imported variety, but Indian names are noticeably lacking.

One reason for this condition which will occur to everybody is the fact that a large proportion of the names were bestowed during the colonial period when the thoughts of Americans were centered upon the mother country and upon its kings, noblemen, statesmen and heroes. The colonists were also fond of bestowing upon their new places of residence the names of the towns or counties they had left in England. Even long after the colonial period conditions were not much different in some parts of the country, and as late as 1860 it was estimated that seven-eighths of the people of Massachusetts were descended from colonists who had arrived before 1641.

While these facts apply to the eastern states, they do not cover the nomenclature of the west, where the same following of foreign models is noticeable. If there were a trace in the west of the old disposition to reproduce the names of former homes, that would be a simple explanation; but there is the same use of historical and classic names associated with Europe. A list of new stations on one of the Pacific railroads named a short time ago does not contain even one American designation.

Many of the original Indian names are noticeably euphonious, such as Alleghany, Susquehanna, Pocahontas and a host of others.

According to estimates there are 37,000 electric vehicles in use in the United States, of which number about 25,000 are pleasure cars and 12,000 commercial vehicles. Chicago holds the record with 2,850 vehicles, New York, with 2,000, comes second, and Cleveland, with 1,800, comes third.

Not Worth the Wear and Tear.

The Beggar—Oh, lady—a halfpenny—but what a pity to open a beautiful bag for such a trifle!

The Cough is what hurts, but the tickle is to blame. Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops stop the tickle—5c at good Druggists.

Advantage of Education.

"If a man is naturally bad, do you think that education would make him better?"

"Maybe not; but it would help to keep him out of jail."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. The favorite family laxative. Adv.

Doubtful.

"Now they say that alcohol causes deafness."

"Maybe so. I never knew anybody to fail to hear an invitation to drink

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt.—"We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would bloat. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me."—Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada increased during 1913, by the addition of 400,000 new settlers from the United States and Europe. Most of these have gone on farms in provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lord William Percy, an English Nobleman, says:

"The possibilities and opportunities offered by the Canadian West are so infinitely greater than those which exist in England, that it seems absurd to think that people should be impeded from coming to the country where they can most easily and certainly improve their position.

New districts are being opened up, which will make accessable a great number of homesteads in districts especially adapted to mixed farming and grain raising.

For illustrated literature and reduced railway rates, apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

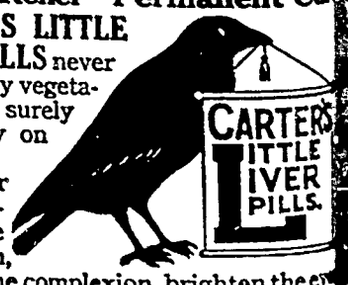
J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agent

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable — act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes



SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

PISO'S REMEDY

25 CTS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists. 25 CTS.

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Author of THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XI.—(Continued).

The peddler sniveled and smirked conciliatingly; they had of late begun to fear John's Puritanism. "Eh, the business, John! I was just casting over it for tomorrow. To lay out my route beforehand, that saves a sight of tramping, and it's to be colder."

"It's no work for the day," growled John. "Didn't Brother Rutherford just now warn us against such unholiness?" He turned to his sons: "Come, Peter—Knute—it's soon to bed for you. Bring in the kindling and be off." He was not unkindly—he was but a man in whom a wrong was burning its way steadily to a cloistered and spiritual purity; the law's harsh enigma, the murk of his day's jailing—they were to him a martyr's portion; they had set him apart in the world; God had smote him for some reason or other, and he accepted. He sat watching the silent urchins, the mumbling peddler pulling his cuffs down over his thin wrists. The mother passed with the baby, and John put a hand softly to its head, but the rasp of his palm drew a sickly wail. He drew back silently, in some pathos at his failure. When she had gone into the chamber, his eyes slowly went to Aurelie, whom he could see before the mirror of her little white dresser in her room. She was patting the sugar leaves around her shoulders, admiring, reluctant to take them off.

"My girl," John called, "come here." She did not move; he saw her face harden. "Come here." She turned and looked at him. "Aurelie, I called you, girl."

"What is it?" But at his silent gazing she came out obediently. He looked again long at her, the daughter of Jezebel, whose eyes did not fear to meet him. "Where have you been?"

"In the hills."

"Whom did you meet?"

"No one. Just Uncle Michigan and Abe."

"I heard this morning—and Brother Andrews told me—that you were on the creek road talking with some one in a red machine?"

"Yes—this morning." She did not falter; she was as stolid as he.

The McFetridge motor car, a snorting, grinning, scarlet devil charging, of Sunday, about the stillness of the hills—he was ruthless in his analysis, as he knew. "They brought you home from town this morning—but they would not come to the door."

"No," she retorted. "It was just a little ride."

"Ah, Lord," the wife cried from the chamber, "the girl, she'll have her name more than it was! The papers and all—Lord save us! And ridin' with a man on Sunday morning!"

"Be still," John went on stolidly. "I know more than that. Girl, can you pray with us and tonight?"

"Pray?"

"With a clean soul?"

She looked at his eyes, the deep eyes of the prophet, and she could not answer; she paled and muttered, and half turned to look at the little rosary hanging over the frame of her dresser among her trinkets.

"I hear," he continued with an awful deliberation as one who had foreordained his judgment and his course, "that you are going on the stage!"

She started—she could not imagine how he knew. And yet all the town must know, must be amazed at this freak of the McFetridge twins. "Papa Holmstrom," she said with a sudden brightness, "will you listen to me? It will be a fine thing for us all—the money I can make!"

"Answer!" he shouted, and stung the girl with his blow: "the truth!"

"Yes," she answered steadily, her face going to hard rebellion. "May God strike you dead first!"

Minute looked up dumb and shivering. The mother put her head from the room. "Ah, John," she cried, "she's a good girl with it all, John!"

"Be still!" he said. "This beauty of hers—I'd burn it off her if I could." He stood up and paced the kitchen, his lined face twitching. "Cleanse her, Lord," he muttered, "put this foul thing from her, Lord!" And from the woman sobbing now in the chamber came a wailing "Amen!"

The girl stood in her robe of autumn leaves. "Mother, the money I could earn! And you know how we all need money!"

John stopped before her: "Hell's money! Harlot's money!" He suddenly gripped her wrist: "Eh, this face of yours—if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off. What's evil in God's sight, destroy it!"

She repressed a scream at the pain of his clutch, at the murder in his eyes. His wife ran out crying. "Ah, John, let her be! She's a good girl, now— a good girl to us all!"

But the fanatic held her closer, casting her up against the kitchen wall among the dusty quarry clothes hanging there. "Can I sit and pray God down this unclean rebellion in my house? Unclean—unclean—" he thrust her harder against the door—"you will renounce it—tell me!"

She looked back: "You don't understand—you don't know anything—"

He shook her until her voice choked: "Answer!"

"You have no right—"

"Answer!" he shouted, and shook her till the house jarred.

When he ceased she threw back her small head in its frame of crushed leaves. "No!" she cried swiftly, and then fought him: "No—nothing!"

He suddenly smashed her against the door. Its flimsy fastening gave way, and she was hurled out, falling to the porch. They heard her cry, but none followed. For a time they watched Lindstrom, huge, hairy-armed, in the doorway. Then he turned to them: "Go back," he said to the mute children, to Swan wife, "we'll have prayers now."

But after prayers the woman stole to look out dumbly into the cold moonlight in the yard.

CHAPTER XII.

THE ANGELS APPEAR.

It was 10 o'clock, and, though Sunday, Mr. Curran was running off the last of the handbills for the A. O. U. W. ball, kicking the tread with his foot, inserting the paper with his right hand, and withdrawing it with his left. The rythm of the press' clank was as exact as this shift of his body as he thought of the day—some day or other—when the News could afford to put in a motor for this drudgery. The curtains were drawn, for it would cost advertising if the church people saw him kicking the press on Sunday night. He hummed an old melody, for Wiley was always happy when he worked, whatever his shift of fortune—it was brain-clearing, and the clank of the old machine always soothed. Up over the dusty front windows he saw the tops of the trees in the square silvered by the moon, and the weather vane on the county building. Sunday nights the square lay in deep peace—only the Gem restaurant, "Home Cooking—Chicago Style," was lighted, save for the blur of the bank window where an incandescent showed the vault front to Marshal Bee if he chanced to be out of bed.

He was distinctly surprised to have Aurelie come in—and yet not surprised; he had a notion that he must have been thinking of her He rubbed his inky hands on a spoiled handbill and took hers. "Why, Aurelie!" He looked over her dress with its girdle of sugar leaves. "Been moon-gazing up on Eagle's point again?"

"I ran off," she answered, and sat down with a sigh. He saw a quiver on her features—a grimace as if she wanted to cry and would not. "Seems like nothing but trouble comes of it all, Mr. Curran."

"Ran off?" He smiled. "Not very far, Aurelie; and I'm glad you ran to me."

"Oh, Mr. Curran—don't make a joke of it. Poor little Peter was so scared. I had a quarrel and left everybody—and I'm not going back. And I just came to you, for you're the only friend I've got."

"I hope I am one, anyhow." The editor nodded his young-old head. "Somehow, I expected you'd have trouble. John—when he heard of it."

"What hurts me is Uncle Michigan. He can't hardly get about any more. And it will just kill him."

"We'll fix it up, Aurelie. You stay with us here, for a bit, and Uncle Michigan can hobble down. How's the leg?"

"The wooden one's all right, but he's got rehumatism in the other one. Mr. Curran"—she sat forward brightening, and unfolding her hand, dropped a bit of crushed paper on the table—"there's the prize! A check—$100!"

One hundred dollars! And she had never possessed two in her whole life. The editor sat staring at it. Poor little prize.

"It's a shame," muttered Mr. Curran—"they ought to give you a million. But it's just a newspaper graft to work up circulation. Just advertising, Aurelie. They think the glory is enough for you."

"I don't want any glory. I want a cork leg—for Uncle Michigan. Like the one in the catalogue Hen McFetridge gave him. Do cork legs cost $100?"

"I think so. One of those legs that bend and twist and seem as good as a meat one—yes, sir, I'm afraid they do, Aurelie."

"You put this check away, Mr. Curran. And I'm a-goin' on the stage and save up my money and buy Uncle Mich the best leg there is anywhere."

The editor folded up the beauty prize. He put it in his pocketbook with a sigh. "I've not seen so much money in—I don't know when! It's just grand of you, Aurelie, to think of Uncle Mich. And so you're really going on the stage?"

"I guess so. I'm sick of everything The letters I get, and all this publicity—it's just upset me, Mr. Curran. And Harlan, he went away"—she looked off—"and left me."

Mr. Curran sighed For his life he could not have asked her further, but with an instinct for her underflow of trouble, he knew. Youth was not so far away from him—nay, it was crying in his heart. He wished guiltily she would say more of this amazing summer romance. He loved Harlan as he had loved few.

"Sometime I'll tell you," she went on; "but now I just want you to tell me what to do."

"About going on the stage?"

"Yes."

Wiley rubbed his head. What he knew of the stage was not much. "I suppose you must do something. And the McFetridge boys—well, honestly, I think they're straight, down in their hearts. They're pretty near impossible and rought, maybe—but some way, I don't think bad of 'em." Mr. Curran never thought bad of any one, even Old Thad. He was always apologizing for Old Thad to Arne Vance's denunciations. "And I can't blame you, Aurelie"—he looked off above the silent park—"the town's no place for you—perhaps for no one who's young and eager to live." He sighed—"I know how it is . . . I had my fling." He took her hands and drew them across the desk: "I'm going to take a great responsibility. I'm going to tell you—go."

"Yes, I'm glad! I like you, Mr. Curran You make me feel that you had trouble, too—and weren't afraid, and were misunderstood. And so I'm going."

"That's right. And be a good little girl, Aurelie, and don't let 'em spoil you."

"And some day I'll come back and play in the tin opera house."

And they laughed. They went out through the dingy old shop and up the path in the moon light, he holding her hand, both laughing. She seemed so like himself—he could understand all that she could not say.

Aunt Abby listened, and then set them out Banbury tarts and milk

"Dearie—dearie—I'm glad you've come back again—and to us in your trouble. And if you want to go be an actress and marry millionaires, so there—go do it, and don't mind what this town says." Aunt Abby was a vigorous, broad-faced old Philistine and a great cook. Wiley had found her on his wanderings, sitting on the tongue of her prairie schooner, watching a dead mule that she had depended on to take her out of the Dakotas when the chinch bugs ate the wheat, and she had abandoned her claim. She had kept house for him ever since, fat, decently 60, and filled with huge chuckles. And the laughter came back to Aurelie's eyes that night, though she did lie awake wondering about Uncle Michigan—a good thing about wooden legs was that one couldn't get rheumatism in them.

"Wiley," grumbled Aunt Abby, when Aurelie was in bed—"that girl is suffering * * * she's terribly in love with somebody!"

"Yes," he answered mournfully, pulling off his shoes in the doorway, "I'm afraid so. But she'll get over it—we all do. I have, myself—a dozen times."

"Get out—you never got over one of 'em! The accumulation of 'em is what's the matter with you." But when he was in bed, the old lady came in and patted his cheek: "You ought to get married—even if I have to leave you."

"I wouldn't—not if you had to leave me—" he answered, "oh, not a bit, aunty!"

The next day he took Aurelie over to Earville. Bravely he faced the stares along High street. As the bobcar jogged to the junction, where it connected with the interurban, the Van Hart surrey drove past them. Mrs. Van Hart was in the rear seat. Aurelie sat back against Wiley's arm and then, conscious that he noticed it she sat forward very straight and stared full at Harlan's mother. The surrey drove on, the lady, composed and with kindly elegance, apparently not seeing them. Aurelie sighed and said nothing, but Wiley guessed her tumult. She was very silent when they were in the tiny office back of the place where tickets were sold at the Majestic, the ornately impressive vaudeville houses in Earlville, across from the equally ornate Elks club. And if you want to see what architects can do in yellow sandstone, see the Earville Elks club.

In Morris Felman's office, young Mr Hanbury of the Dubuque Register, one time sporting critic, explained his play modestly. "I don't claim this piece of mine is any world beater, it'll never see the great white lights, and Frohman will never get the wires hot trying to book us, but that's all right. We're after the "kush,' ain't we, Morris?"

"The what?" gasped Miss Lindstrom.

"The coin, corrected Morris Feldman, "the money, Miss Lindstrom."

"I ain't saying Belasco'll go nuts when he sees our production," went on the playwright, "but we're going to clean up the one night stands while the public is ripe on you. Aint I right, Morris?"

The gazelle eyed young Hebrew held a bunch of blue tickets in his teeth while he slipped a rubber band about them and then deposited them in a tin box. "Believe me," he murmured.

"And if we ever put over that third act situation with you climbing over the mill dam, Miss Lindstrom, you're made."

"Believe me,' added Morris, "and here come our angels."

Now, Hen and Ben McFetridge, coming in from a Main street billiard hall, each with a bad cigar and a red necktie, were not exactly of the celestial choir. They crowded into the box office and felicitated, and offered chairs and rubbed hands.

"I was telling Morris, here—and Miss Lindstrom, the show's a bird," went on the author genially. "Miss Lindstrom, I want you to read the script right away before we get the people together for rehearsals."

"But I"—put in Miss Lindstrom flutteringly—"can't act!"

"Neither can any of the rest of 'em. All these hothouse stars are traveling on their reps. Acting died with Joe Jefferson What you do now is to go around and hand out the bunk, and the rawer it is, the more the public falls for it. And here the biggest paper in Chicago has been handing it out for you, Miss Lindstrom, the warmest line of talk that any actress ever stood for. She's made ain't she, Morris?"

The fat legged young Hebrew, for all the world like a prize calf, waddled about and murmured to the box teller. Hen and Ben poured out their cigar fumes. Wiley lighted his pipe, and they all smoked the histrion-to-be—until her eyes watered.

They all claimed credit for "discovering" her Young Mr Hanbury, of the Dubuque Register, went on praising his handiwork, and again Aurelie put in: "Oh, Mr. McFetridge, I don't know how to act!"

"Leave it to us," ruminated Hen.

"Walk right out in front and slip it to 'em," cheered Ben. "The yokels will be so dead crazy to see the $100,000 beauty that they'll forget you can't act."

"Oh!" she murmured, and gazed at Wiley T. Curran.

"I rewrote the big third act as soon as Morris, here, told me you couldn't act," went on young Mr. Hanbury, encouragingly. "All you do is to come in and look dazed and take the spotlight for a minute right at the climax, and then Miss Norman and the heavy, they run in and grab the situation. You see we give Miss Norman most of the fat stuff."

"Oh!" said Aurelie faintly.

"Yes. There ain't many girls like Miss Norman who'd stand for you taking all the paper while she does all the work."

"You don't hardly have to open your face," added Ben consolingly.

"They'll all fed up to you," added Feldman.

"Wait till we get to Dubuque and have a reading rehearsal," concluded Mr. Hanbury.

"And wait till you see the clothes we give you in act two," said Hen. Ballroom scene. You discover that maybe you're the bank president's daughter."

"Oh!" Her eyes appealed to them—what it was all about she didn't in the least know.

"But the detective swears you're the daughter of the big dip who was operating among the guests in a dress suit. Then—zing! You confront him and deny it—he brings the dip on whom he just pinched in the anteroom, and you do the big flop."

"The what?"

"Faint. See?"

"N--no."

(Continued next week.)

In Switzerland only small tracts of forests are denuded at a time and the ground from which timber is cut is immediately replanted.

HIS FIRST YEAR AT FARMING IN SASKATCHEWAN

Win Premiums and Prizes in Competition With the World.

There are thousands of young men filling positions in stores and offices, and in professional occupations throughout the United States, who in their earlier life, worked on the farm. The allurements of city life were attractive, until they faced the stern reality. These people would have done better had they remained on the farm Many of them, convinced of this, are now getting "back to the land," and in the experience, no better place offers nor better opportunity afforded, than that existing in Western Canada. Many of them have taken advantage of it, and there are to be found today, hundreds of such, farming in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The conditions that surround farming operations today are so much superior to those in existence during their early farming days, that there is an attraction about it. Improved machinery, level and open plains, no rocks to shun, no trees to cut down, but wide stretches with mile-long furrows, elevators to handle the grain, railways to carry it to market, and bring almost to their doors the things necessary to operate. Splendid grazing areas, excellent opportunities for raising cattle These things are all so different from what they once were that there is reason to speak of the attractions. R. H. Crossman of Kindersley, Saskatchewan, the man who won such splendid prizes at the International Dry Farming Congress held at Tulsa, Oklahoma, last fall, grew the prize grains during his first year farming. Up to 1913 he was an engineer and the only knowledge he had of farming was that obtained when he was a boy. That was very useful; in fact it was valuable to him. He had not forgotten it. Thousands with as little experience as he had can do well by taking up one of the 160-acre grants offered by the Canadian government. — Advertisement.

So Economical.

"I want you to see my lovely new shopping bag," said a certain woman to a caller the other afternoon. "My husband gave it to me for my birthday, and it's simply grand. And it's so economical! You see, you open this, and there are two compartments and you open the compartments on this side and there is a little pocket in that, and you open the little pocket and there is a cute little pocketbook for your change, with one side partitioned off for street car tickets."

"I see," said the caller "But why do you call it economical?"

"Why, it takes so long to open all the things and get to your street car tickets that by the time you do whoever is with you has paid your fare."

Living Up to Theory.

"He never spanks his son, does he?"

"No, he's an efficiency crank."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"He says the upward stroke is lost motion."—Houston Post.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Which Class?

"There is a woman out in the street hobbling along—"

"Crippled or stylish?"

Putnam Fadeless Dyes are the brightest and fastest. Adv.

Interested the Feline.

"Serenaded my girl last night."

"Any member of the family come out?"

"Only the cat."

It's sometimes easier to discha an obligation than a cook.

Better Biscuits Baked With

You never tasted daintier, lighter, fluffier biscuits than those baked with Calumet. They're always good—delicious. For Calumet insures perfect baking.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARDS

World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Illinois.

Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912.

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Waste of Powder.

A man who had never been duck hunting shot at a duck in the air. The duck fell dead to the ground.

"Well, you got him!" exclaimed the amateur's friend.

"Yes," replied the amateur, "but I might as well have saved my ammunition—the fall would have killed him."

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day, Cures Grip in Two Days. 25c.

Very Near It.

Sonny—Pa, what is a split infinitive?

Pa—Something like this, Alabamans ought to love Mobile.

...AL'S Weak Hin Herbs

Many people suffer fro... may experience shortness o... pain over the heart, or dizzy feel... after meals or their eyes become ... sufficiently strong to pump blood ... they have cold hands and feet, ... blood supply to the stomach. A heart ... no bad after-effect. Such is which contains no dan...

Dr. Pierce's Gold...

It helps the human system in th... helps the stomach to assimilate or tak... helping digestion and curing dyspep... toms, stops excessive tissue waste ... down, anaemic, thin-blooded people, ...

In liquid or tablet form at ... stamps for trial box to Dr. P...

...place a tablespoonful of ... them two teacupfuls of ... and set aside to steep—do ... to twenty minutes the ...icted, ...edicine can be made from ... is only 25 cents.

A. PABST

Read Chapter VII on Circulatory Organs in the "Medical Advisor"—A French cloth-bound book of 1008 pages sent on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps, address as above.

THE KLEMME TIMES
By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914. And as it has been customary to give all [illegible] terms I would [illegible] reciate the same favor [illegible] of this county.

Yours [illegible],
A E Baumgartner.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries.

G. G. Washburn.

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court, and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J. D. G Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.

Martin Bachman.

...se of intestinal indigestion Medi- treatment did not seem to help I discouraged stopped medicine and not care much whether I lived or d.

'One day a friend asked me why I n't try Grape-Nuts food stop drink- coffee and use Postum I had lost th in everything but to please my end I began to use both and soon came very fond of them

"It wasn't long before I got some ength, felt a decided change in my stem, hope sprang up in my heart d slowly but surely I got better I uld sleep very well, the constant aving for food ceased and I have tter health now than before the at- ck of peritonitis.

"My husband and I are still using rape-Nuts and Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle reek, Mich Read "The Road to Well lle," in pkgs. "There's a Reason"

Ever read the above letter? A new ... from time to time. They

INTENDED FOR LAST WEEK

Items of Interest That Should Have Appeared In Last Week's Issue.—Read Them Now!

Wm. Schlawein went to Garner, Monday.

Rev. Thiel was a Garner visitor Monday.

Ed. G. Ell went to Albert Lea Monday on a business mission.

Charles Schmalle was up from Goodell Monday, greeting friends.

Dr. Zinn and G. W. Kluckhohm transacted business at Garner Monday.

A. M. Griesemer and D. Parsons were over Sunday visitors at Mason City.

The Meservey creamery will be sold at public sale Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. G. Ell visited Buffalo Center relatives and friends last week.

The Klemme creamery now has 170 satisfied patrons and the list is still growing.

Clarence Johnson went to Forest City Monday, where he entered Waldorf college.

Aug Lau, Jr., and O. W. Lemke recently each received a fine Poll Angus male animal from Dumont, Ia.

A. N. Ahrenkiel returned Monday from a visit with friends and relatives at Chicago, Davenport and other points.

Quite a number from here and Avery Center went to Garner Monday to attend a ditch meeting of the Hancock county board.

The electric light proposition will soon be solved. Work is being pushed as fast as the material arrives and the juice will be turned on in a few days. It looks like that there will be more of a demand than the company looked for.

Melville Hillary was taken to his own home last Saturday and on Tuesday he was able to be around town for a little while. It seems to be only a little matter of time until he recovers entirey.—Corwith Hustler.

C. E. Gibbs was over to Ireton last week, where he purchased a pure bred percheron stallion of C. W. Steele of that place. The Gibbs brothers are ever on the alert to better the pure bred stock, and are a credit to the community.

Mrs. John Trafford and daughter, Miss Ann of Sycamore, Ill., arrived last week for a visit at the home of their son and brother, Wm. Trafford. They will visit here a couple of weeks, after which they will go to Blue Earth, Minn., before returning home.

"The Cow-Boy Girl Co.," which held down the boards at the opera house last Thursday evening held over until Friday and put on another show entitled "The Girl and the Ranger." Both shows were only fair. The company also carried a band and orchestra that could have been worse.

ELDER-PALMBY

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Marion Elder, last Wednesday evening, January 14, at 7:00 o'clock their only daughter, Miss Amy Alice, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Palmby, Rev. Wood of Garner officiating. Only a few of the relatives and immediate friends were in attendance.

The bride wore a gown of crepe de chine with shadow lace trimming, while the groom wore a suit of blue serge. Miss Mary Ahrenkiel, a friend of the contracting parties, played the the wedding march.

Both of these young people are very well and favorably known in this vicinity where they have spent their entire lives and they have friends by the score who are extending hearty congratulations.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Elder and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Palmby. Both of these families are among our most highly respected citizens.

After a short honeymoon in this vicinity among their numerous friends they will leave for Eagle Bend, Minn., where the groom has a farm and where they will be at home.

The Times takes pleasure in joining their many friends and relatives and considers it a pleasure in wafting to them our warmest congratulations.

HAPPILY WEDDED

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wille, on Jan. 14, 1914, Mr. Albert Barz and Miss Esther Hartbeck were united in marriage by Rev. W. Thul. In the presence of the immediate relatives and very near friends the words were spoken which made them one for life.

The groom wore a dark blue serge suit. The bride wore a silk embroidery net over a light blue messaline silk.

Both of these popular young people have lived around Klemme all of their lives and have many friends who wish them success and happiness in life. At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom led the way to the dining room, where a wedding dinner was served to the occasion. After dinner the congratulations were informally given. The numerous beautiful and useful gifts received show the esteem in which they are held by their friends.

In the evening a large reception was given for their many friends, who all enjoyed a pleasant evening and played social games 'till a late hour. As they parted for home they all joined in wishing the young couple a long and happy married life and all the blessing that it brings.

They will make their home on his father's farm, east of Klemme.

MRS. KLEEMAN OBITUARY

Mrs. H. Kleeman was born in Germany, February 14, 18.0, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Ludeke, just west of town, Thursday, January 15, at the age of 43 years, 11 months and 1 day. She formerly lived at Garner but has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ludeke the past three years, nearly all of which time she has been very sick and her death did not cause any great surprise but was none the less regretted by her many friends. The funeral was held Saturday, the services being in charge of Rev. Koch of the German Lutheran church at Garner, and interment was made in the Concord cemetery.

The Times joins with the many friends of the family in extending the hand of sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

GOTTLIEB LAUSTER

BREEDER OE

Thoroughbred Poland China Swine

Some Bred Sows For Sale

Farm 4 Miles North of Meservey

Short Course Views

Attention

If enough tickets can be sold to pay expenses of the Dairy Short Course, Feb. 4-5 6, a full week's course will be scheduled for next winter. Consisting of lectures and demonstrations pertaining to Animal Husbandry, Poultry, Farm Crops, Soils, and also a Domestic Science Course which will certainly be of interest to the women.

People in adjoining counties are awakened to the Extension Department s educational campaign.

Wright county will have a Short Course in every township in the county—16 in all Harrison county people take the lead by having erected a $7.000.00 brick auditorium at Logan, in which they will hold all Short Courses and Agricultural meetings. Thus having the distinction of being the most progressive county organization in the state.

Klemme will have the unique distinction of holding the first Short Course in Hancock county.

Let's boost a little and make Feb. 4-5-6, BIG DAYS.

SUBSCRIBER.

Buttermaker Says Attend

I feel grateful to the creamery officials for making it possible for me to attend the two week's Buttermaker's Short Course at Iowa State College.

This course not only gives one an opportunity to learn to make the highest quality of butter from the cream received but also to learn about the new things which the scientists are constantly discovering in regard to the manufacture of butter.

I am glad to state that nearly every shipment of Klemme creamery butter has been selling at a premium in the eastern markets. If this high standard is to be maintained, co operation of the patrons is necessary. The patrons can easily learn how to further co-operate with me by attending the three-day Dairy Short Course which the creamery officials have been very fortunate in securing for the of the people of this community.

A D. GIMER.

School Children at the Short Course

The Farmer's Short Courses that are being held at various points throughout the State Professors from the State Agricultural College, are highly educational. The sole purpose these courses is to give instruction in Agriculture. Believe that much benefit will come the pupils who may be able attend the Short Course at Klemme, I recommend that the Teachers and School Officers not excuse them from their regular school duties but that they encourage pupils over 12 years age to attend the Short Course.

J. R. BAGGS,
County Superintendent

Consolidated Schools

School Consolidation Coming Williams Enterprise:—The subject of consolidating the school district is becoming very prominent. Until the people want to pay an exorbitant school tax the schools will have to be consolidated. It will cost several hundred dollars more each year to teach domestic science and agriculture in each school district. If consolidate there would be only one district to equip for these additional courses with the additional expense of hauling the children to and from school each day. In consolidating this many school districts it would mean a great saving in teachers' and school upkeep expenses and would make the tax lower for the district.

People around Blairsburg are beginning on consolidating in a short time. The subject is also being discussed around Williams.

RURAL SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

The state of Iowa will always be indebted to State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. A. M. Deyoe and the Better Iowa Schools Commission, through the Iowa State Teachers' association for the school consolidation enacted by the last general assembly. The law providing state aid for rural consolidated schools has been largely responsible for the fifty-three consolidated schools established so far during the present year. This is a remarkable record. Rural communities have been very conservative regarding school consolidation, notwithstanding the fact that the movement has been successful and highly satisfactory in those states where it has been thoroughly tried out. We have long advocated consolidation as the solution of the rural school problem and are highly gratified at the progress being made in this state. Let every teacher in Iowa continue to urge rural consolidation.—Midland Schools.

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

MISSMAN
and Surgeon
Phone No 11-02
Office No. 11 03
Residence in the
Bank building.
Glasses Fitted

BAUMGARTNER
Tonsorial Artist
Give you an easy shave or a neat hair cut
West of State Savings Bank
Call in

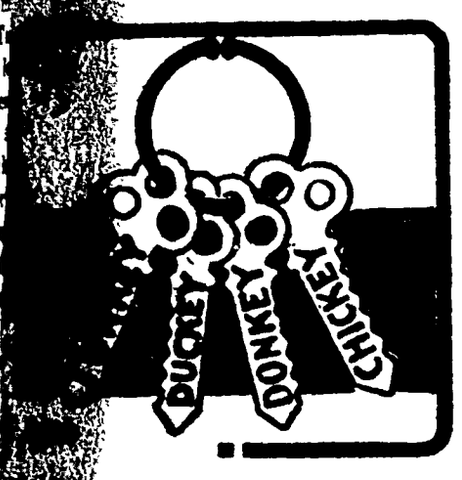
TOM ELDER
—THE—
"HOTEL MAN"

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Gretzmacher Hardware and Shoe Shop.
Invited.
Glasses Fitted

R. PARSONS
DENTIST
Over State Savings Bank.
Phone No. 48.
Klemme - Iowa

J.J. Wilson
Stock Auctioneer
LEVEY, -:- IOWA
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
Can be made at the State Savings Bank or 'phone me at Reserve, Iowa, at my expense.

Which bunch will you select for Christmas dinner?



THE GOBBLE OF THE TURKEY
Will Now Echos Thru the Land!
AND THE QUACK OF THE DUCK
Will Also Be Heard on Every Hand!
THE CHICKENS ARE AS NUMEROUS
As Little Grains of Sand!
BUT THE DONKEY
On Christmas Day Is Little In Demand!
SO SEE US FOR CHRISTMAS FOWLS

CHAS. F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 55c
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to78
Barley	50 65
Hogs	7.00 to 7.60
Cattle	4.00 to 6.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

My House and Lot For Sale. Chas. F. Albrecht.

Mr. Schroeder continues to be quite ill

Chas. Busch has been quite sick all week.

Short course February 4, 5 and 6. Three big days.

H. Espe and family were Dows passengers, Tuesday.

Chris Blumer has his block factory about completed.

If you are in need of any kind of a stove see Henry Lau & Son.

Ed. G. Ell was a business visitor at Thompson and Woden, Tuesday

Mrs. H. Thrun returned from a few days visit at Belmond, Tuesday

Don't forget the dance tomorrow night, Griesemer's orchestra Nuff sed!

Dr Parsons was an over Sunday visitor at the home of his mother in Traer.

Mrs A. Kirkwood has been suffering a severe attack of rheumatism the past few weeks.

Griesemer's orchestra will furnish music for the Quarton lecture next Thursday evening.

There has been a stray Scotch Collie dog at my place the past two weeks. Owner can have same by calling for him

M. Palmby.

Gretzmacher Bros are handling the Beatrice cream separator, one of the best kind and the price is reasonable.

The Quarton lecture Thursday night will be 25 cents, Griesemer's orchestra will also furnish music. Don't miss this rare treat

Henry Lau & Son have about 25 Black Orphington Roosters at $1.25 per head. Buy some and increase your flock fifty per cent

The statement of the condition of the First National Bank will be found in this issue and shows that institution to be in an excellent condition.

Those especially interested in beef animals should attend the Rex Beresford lecture, Friday afternoon of th 6th. It's free to those who have course tickets.

Fred Jahnke has purchased the Frank Roby property and will soon move to town. He will hold a sale next Tuesday, February 3rd at his place southeast of town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gibbs will move to town and occupy the Philip Ell house. They will build a place of their own this summer. We welcome them to our little city.

Herman Miller departed Tuesday for Caledonia, Minnesota, Tuesday, where he has accepted a position as stock buyer. He has a number of friends here who will wish him much success.

We must ask all those that owe us an 1913 account to come and settle at once. We need the money in our business and we have a new system that we want to start for 1914. Do not fail to call at once. Henry Lau & Son.

The basket social at the Grosbeck, school, Friday evening was very well attended. The program was enjoyed by all present and the proceeds totaled the neat sum of $31.50 which will be used for the benefit of the school.

Mart Bachman announces himself a candidate for nomination to the office of Supervisor from this district. Mr. Bachman has made a most excellent official in the one term he has held the office and is entitled to re-election without opposition.

John Braund and little daughter were in town a couple of hours Wednesday, and it kept John busy greeting his many friends. Mrs. Cloyd Lowhorn, his wife's sister, accompanied them to their home at Jesup for a short visit.

Mr and Mrs. John Braund of Jesup, mourn the loss of their little four year old son who passed away Sunday after a short illness with pneumonia. The remains were brought to Garner, Tuesday, and interred in the Garner cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many Klemme friends.

About 60 friends and neighbors of the M. Palmby family gathered at their home in an informal way Tuesday evening and they were greatly surprised. The self invited but welcome guests brought along many eatables and at the proper time a fine luncheon was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Palmby were presented with a handsome rug as a token of remembrance of their many Klemme friends. This estimable family will soon leave for their future home at Eagle Bend, Minnesota, and they will surely will be greatly missed from this community in which they have lived so long and have made so many friends. Although everyone is loath to see them depart, they will wish them the best of everything in their new home.

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

Make
Time Fly
By Watching
Mutual Movies
at the
Idle Hour

Admission: 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

HOWARD PIANOS
are Surprisingly Reasonable!

It does not follow that you have to buy the highest-priced piano to get a really high-grade instrument.

If care is taken in the selection, you can secure an instrument that will more than fulfill every home requirement at a remarkably reasonable cost.

After hearing the Howard Piano and appreciating its absolute durability, you would naturally expect it to be among the costly ones, but it is not.

Considering value with price it is positively the most economical instrument for the home.

It gives you all the qualities of the high-grade instruments at so reasonable a price because it is a product of one of the manufacturing companies of the greatest piano organization in the world—The Baldwin Company.

No other instrument of equal quality can be sold at the price because no other makers possess the facilities and resources.

THE "Howard Manualo", the Player Piano that is all but human, is distinguished by Quality, Durability, Reliability and Attractive Price. It is a quality proposition throughout. Be sure to examine it.

Terms to suit

M. M. MAGNER

MAKE OUR STORE
Your Headquarters
DURING THE Short Course Feb. 4-5-6

WE ARE HERE TO TREAT YOU RIGHT
365 DAYS IN THE YEAR

J. N. DAY

A GOOD OLD
LAXATIVE

For a good general tonic and alternative, one that you can depend on and one that you can make yourself use—

NYAL'S
Mountain Herbs

This is the method—
In a suitable vessel place a tablespoonful of the Herbs, pour upon them two teacupfuls of boiling water, cover and set aside to steep—do not boil. In fifteen to twenty minutes the strength will be extracted,
A large quantity of medicine can be made from one bottle. The price is only 25 cents.

G. A. PABST

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

In the dairies of Holland the most minute care is exercised in order to obtain a product having the lowest possible bacteria count. All the precautions taken in the best of the American dairies are followed, as well as some others which are overlooked in this country. The attendants are required to undergo a frequent medical examination to insure their being quite healthy and are required to wear clothing especially provided for their use when working around the cattle. Sterilized water is provided for washing their hands and boiled water and boracic acid used for washing the hind parts and udder of the cows. The milking is done in a special room which is kept scrupulously clean and all receptacles are sterilized before and after use.

"In remembrance of a bunch of flowers," a woman in Derby, England, has just received a legacy of $500. Such romantic rewards of little acts of kindness are not uncommon. Years ago a tradesman whose name is now a household word, was employed in a modest capacity in a west end shop in London. While exhibiting some delicate ware to the very first customer he served he let it fall and break, the customer, a doctor, good-naturedly, took the blame and paid for the broken article. Years later the salesman, now a wealthy man, called on the doctor, reminded him of the incident and settled on him $5,000 a year for life.

Projecting from the wall of a house overhanging the Lake of Thun, in Switzerland, may be seen the bow of a small rowing boat, with the name Petronella painted upon it. The wife of the owner of the house was drowned from this boat while rowing on the lake. Her husband determined as a memorial to his wife to build the boat into his house. The room destined to contain it, however, proved too short for the whole length of the boat, and the bow projects from the wall, just beneath the balcony.

As a result of the recent boom to south polar exploration a considerable supply of albatross wing bones, ordinarily excessively rare, has been placed on the market. These bones, when dressed, polished and mounted in silver, make ideal connecting stems for the best quality brier and meerschaum pipes. They are greatly prized when made into cigaret and cigar holders, although it is only very rarely that specimens are brought home that are sufficiently large and perfect for this purpose.

Two species of wild lettuce, lactuca Canadensis and L. scariola, both common in the northern United States, have been shown to contain rubber, the former to the extent of 2.19 and the latter 1.58 per cent, of a good quality. As the plants also contain lactucarium, which is a recognized drug, it is suggested that they might be profitably exploited for both these products.

Trinidad is becoming not only one of the chief shipping ports of the West Indies, but its prominence as a coaling station for steamships and naval vessels is growing each year. The imports of coal from the United States aggregates about $250,000 per annum, in addition to large quantities taken by steamers which are not entered at the customs.

Everett L. Swan, of Orange, N. J., has a calliope attached to the automile in which he and Mrs. Swan take long trips throughout New England. An impromptu concert with Mrs. Swan at the keyboard of this moving organ is no uncommon event in Massachusetts and Vermont villages frequented by the Swans.

Among certain tribes on the west African coast any stranger who dies in a town is buried on the road by which he entered it, so that his spirit may easily find the way back to his home, or at least watch the road thither and listen for the coming of friends.

An ear of corn which, for 28 years hung on the wall as an ornament in the home of Frank Stoner, in Belvedere, Ill., is to be tested, and if it is found that the kernels will germinate the seed will be planted next year.

Mrs. Short Jenks, who called at the Globe office today to declare that newspapers are shiftless and never bet anything right, should tuck up her underskirt. It drags and looks sloppy.—Atchison Globe.

Perth, Scotland, where golf is now a municipal institution is the city where the first act was passed in 1424 by James I. forbidding the playing of "golfe, futeball or other sik unprofitable sportes."

The weight of personal baggage allowed free of charge on English railways for each ordinary first-class passenger is 150 pounds, and for each ordinary third-class passenger 100 pounds.

It is believed that previous to civilization baldness was unknown among American Indians. The uncivilized Indian apparently is yet free from pellagra and almost immune from cancer.

If plans for standardizing the gauge of the railways of Australia as recommended by the chief engineers of the lines be carried out, it will mean an expenditure of $180,000,000.

A "social service bulletin" is published by the Washington (D. C.) public library, for the purpose of making known to social workers the latest information in their field.

The convicts of the prison farm at Jackson, Mich., raised 1,500 bushels of onions, 2,500 bushels of parsnips and 2,000 bushels of carrots on a total of six acres this year.

An iron monument in the form of a stepped pyramid surmounted by a globe 90 feet high, has been erected at Leipzig to symbolize the German iron and steel industry.

The opening of a new railroad in German East Africa early next year will help to develop 384,000 square miles of territory with a population of 10,000,000.

INSURGENT WOODMEN CLAIM NECESSITY OF HANDLING HEAD CAMP

Legal Opinion States That Rate Schedule Will Be Business for Next Session.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 24.—Since Judge Bradshaw granted an injunction against enforcement of the Chicago head camp rates, the Modern Woodmen of America have been operating without a legal rate schedule, is the startling opinion given out by the law committee of the Iowa Modern Woodmen assembly—the insurgent organization. Charles W. Lyon, of Des Moines, and John D. Porter, of Webster City, are responsible for the opinion and it was issued at the request of the executive committee of the insurgent wing.

If the holdings of the Illinois and Iowa lower courts on the rates should be sustained in the supreme court the Woodmen will have no legal table of rates and can have none until the next head camp takes action, according to the opinion. If the high courts of the two states should hold the injunctions should not have been issued the Chicago schedule of higher rates will immediately go into effect.

It has been well understood among the Woodmen that the effect of the Bradshaw injunction was to knock out the Chicago rates. It has not been understood, however, that the old rates were not thereby legally re-established but that the injunction merely left the society without any legal schedule.

Exactly that position is taken by the law committee in ruling on the present legal status of the rate matter in the society, and it was stated in even plainer terms by Attorney Lyon in an interview authorized by members of the executive committee in their meeting yesterday.

The opinion was issued by the committee to make formal its explanation that the matter of rates has not by any means been settled as officers of the society have claimed.

John H. Scholl, of Maquoketa, president of the insurgent organization, was emphatic in the statement that from the first of the controversy this rate question has been the important thing before the members and that it is far from settled now. "At present we have no legal table of rate," Mr. Scholl said. "The officers of the administration are pushing their appeals, knowing that if they should be successful the membership will have to decide what the rates of the society are to be.

"It is because of this situation that the insurgents recognize the vital importance of controlling the next head camp. Whether it becomes necessary for the next head camp to repeal the Chicago rates or to enact new rate, the success of the insurgent fight depends on controlling the next convention.

"In Iowa we shall soon know what the showing of the insurgents is to be. At the first meeting in February each camp will select its delegates to the county camps. The county camps will select delegates to the state camp and the state camp will name the men to represent Iowa at the general camp or head camp. I am confident that the insurgents will control in Iowa from the start."

MRS. WHEELOCK THINKS HUSBAND WAS MURDERED

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Annie B. Wheelock, widow of M. B. Wheelock former cashier of the Citizens State bank, of Colfax, now is of the opinion that her husband was murdered.

Until recently Mrs. Wheelock has chosen to believe that her husband met death by his own hand and has resented the probe that has been made into his personal affairs by Polk county authorities. Her attitude regarding her husband's death has changed and she has signified her desire to help the authorities run the matter to the bottom.

Mrs. Wheelock came to Des Moines and held a lengthy conference with local authorities regarding the case. She was questioned closely regarding numerous telephone calls her husband received immediately preceding his death and was asked to explain numerous other incidents that have proved puzzling.

OLD TIME LEGACY IS NOW CLAIMED BY HEIRS

Mount Pleasant, Ia., Jan. 24.—A small fortune of over $500 has been lying idle in the vaults of Henry county for over 15 years, patiently awaiting a claimant. In 1898, when the estate of the late Mr. Heatherington was settled up it was found that the sum of $540.67 had been bequeathed to the "unknown heirs of Hanna Winters." Original notices were published in all the local papers acquainting the unknown heirs of the fact that this sum of money had been left them.

The very fact of its existence had almost been forgotten, being only recalled when an outgoing treasurer finally balanced and checked up his books. Some time ago, a man from Kansas City, wrote stating that he had discovered the unknown heirs. At that time there was some little technicality involved and the matter was dropped. It has, however, been taken up again and a local attorney has filed a petition asking that the money be turned over to the unknown heirs, who have at last made themselves known.

STATE WAR MUSEUM AT DES MOINES IS PLANNED

Muscatine, Ia., Jan. 24.—A statewide movement which looks forward to the erection of a war museum to cost $100,000 has been launched by the local post of the G. A. R. and the auxiliary bodies. The plan contemplates a $50,000 appropriation from the state legislature and an equal amount to be raised by popular subscription. Des Moines is named as the site of the museum in which it is proposed to assemble the war relics of the state and through the collection to preach a sermon of patriotism to the coming generations. The movement anticipates the disbandment of the G. A. R. posts which would likely take place within the next 15 to 20 years.

RACE TO SERVE PAPERS BEFORE ACTION OUTLAWS

Officers Are on a Hunt for Proper Party So Suit Can Be Started.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 23.—Deputy United States marshals are making a hunt near Malvern and Tabor for Robert McClelland, owner of the Tabor & Northern railroad, and also the Presbyterian hospital of Omaha, his pet philanthropy, in the hope of being able to serve papers upon him in a $50,000 damage suit before the action is outlawed, which will be within two days.

The case was started in the United States court at Omaha by the parents of Hattie Rosenbeck and it is alleged that Miss Rosenbeck was strangled to death in McClelland's hospital by a patient while Miss Rosenbeck was there serving her apprenticeship. Allegations of mismanagement are made.

SETTLEMENT CONTRACTS AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 23.—The suit of Miss Tella McCoy, of Seattle, Wash., against the estate of Thomas F. Flynn a local capitalist, who died last February, for failure to carry out an alleged contract to pay her $10,000 for the injury she claimed to have suffered because of his refusal to wed her was dismissed by Judge William S. Ayres in the district court here.

Judge Ayres decided "that contracts made in Iowa which tend to place restraint on marriage are contrary to public policy and, therefore, invalid."

Miss McCoy's attorneys announced that the case would be appealed. Miss McCoy alleged in her petition that Flynn agreed to marry her on June 1, 1909, but did not carry out his promise and then entered into the contract which is the basis of the suit.

TEAM SELECTED FOR FRUIT JUDGING CONTEST

Ames, Ia., Jan. 23.—The team which shall represent Iowa State college in a triangular fruit judging contest among Ames, Kansas university and Nebraska university horticulture students, to be contested at Lincoln next week, has been selected. The men on the team are Robert Clark, Ames; Roland S. Hoyt, Des Moines; E. L. Kirkpatrick, South English; F. D. Miller, Muscatine, and P. C. Tomlinson, Marshalltown. Ames judges twice consecutively have won the trophy and if they win in this competition they gain permanent possession of the cup. The men who were the Iowa State college team in the international contest in Washington D. C., were not admitted to try for the team owing to objections raised by the other institutions.

CHICAGO BONDHOLDERS GET IOWA SHORT LINE

Dubuque, Ia., Jan. 23.—George B. Caldwell and L. E. Meyer, of Chicago, the only bidders, bought at public auction the $600,000 capital stock and $350,000 bond issue of the Chicago Anamosa & Northern railway, 35 miles of track, running from Anamosa, Ia. The purchasers bid $252,030.09, the amount of judgment in their favor rendered against the road by Federal Judge Reed in a suit brought to recover on a $200,000 loan secured by bonds and stock. The court ordered the line sold to satisfy the judgment. The road was a pet project of the defunct Peter Kiene & Son concern, but never paid owing to the lack of trunk line terminals, and it proved one of the factors in forcing the Kiene concern to the wall.

SHELVES APPROPRIATION FOR POLICE INVESTIGATION

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 23.—The city council yesterday sidetracked a measure to appropriate funds for an investigation of the police department. As the council will not meet again until next Wednesday the civil service commission must begin its investigation next week with an empty pocketbook.

It also makes it impossible for the commission to summon witnesses from outside the city as it has no funds for traveling expenses. Members of the city council were reluctant to say whether they would grant the request for funds. They say they do not want to be drawn into the affair in any way and are anxious not to be connected with the police "scandal."

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS STILL SLOW ON REPORTS

Ames, Ia., Jan. 23.—The county engineers of the state are slow in filing special reports from their respective counties, which the state highway commission ordered in a circular request last fall.

L. A. Wilkinson, the accountant in the office of the commission, a few days ago had received only 15 of the 99, which were due January 15.

The commission decided to get a report from every county in the state, the report to contain the actual figures on the county books showing the exact amount of money the county spent in the last year for highway, bridge and culvert improvements.

OTIS WENSEL KILLED BY FAST MILWAUKEE TRAIN

Marshalltown, Ia., Jan. 23.—Failing to notice the approach of a fast Milwaukee train, Otis Wensel, 23 years of age, was instantly killed last night at Melbourne, and his companion, David Nelson, had a narrow escape, but will survive his injuries. Wensel was hurled about 50 feet and his back and neck were broken.

CHEROKEE VOTES AGAINST COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Cherokee, Ia., Jan. 23.—The commission form of city government was defeated at the special election here by a majority of 94 votes. Each of the three wards of the city registered against the proposition. The total vote was light, being 165 for the commission system and 259 against it.

Howell Peeples, a business man in Atlanta, Ga., has attended 34 weddings, at 12 of which he has acted as best man. He calls himself "an assistant to Cupid."

IOWA STATE NEWS.

PRIMGHAR—A joint debate between the Sheldon and Primghar high school teams at Sheldon was won by Primghar. The debate is a preliminary to a series that will determine eligibility to the state contest. The subject was the advisability of requiring corporations doing all interstate business to take out a federal charter. Primghar had the affirmative and was represented by Anton Strandberg, Elsie Brown and Leslie Johnston.

DUBUQUE—The Smedley Steam Pump Manufacturing company, one of Dubuque's oldest concerns, Thursday went into a receiver's hands on petition of Ulrich Willy, who holds a $2,000 account. The court appointed Phil Schwind temporary receiver. The assets of the company are quoted at $70,000; liabilities, $100,000. The Smedley concern was one in which the defunct Peter Kilene & Son company was largely interested.

SAC CITY—At the annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Telephone company in Sac City, the following officers were elected: President, James Comstock; vice president, Fred Fellersels, secretary, F. R. Hierscher; treasurer, E. N. Baily. The executive committee comprises William Pitstick, Fred Pellersels and J. H. Delbert. In addition to these officers the board of directors includes George Hein, L. M. Barnhill, W. Rhoads and L. Mann.

WATERLOO—An agreement has been entered into by the girls who will graduate from East high whereby they will wear inexpensive gowns at graduation. The maximum cost for material and trimming for dresses is to be $5. The junior and senior girls also agree to wear gowns costing no more than $5 at the annual junior-senior reception. This price covers material and trimmings.

IDA GROVE—The Bobby Burns society of Ida county is making great preparations for the celebration on January 23 of the 155th anniversary of Burns' birth. This annual event has come to be the greatest gathering of Scotch people in this section of the country, and there are present each year hundreds of Scotch from all over the state. The attendance last year was over 1,500.

ORANGE CITY—P. J. Donlin, of Emmetsburg, deputy revenue collector, was here this week looking up records in the county treasurer's office and taking the names of men whose incomes top the $3,000 mark. Mr. Donlin was especially careful to get the names of fancy cattle and hog breeders and even took the names of some who own 160 acres of Sioux county land.

ALGONA—O. J. Stephenson, clerk of the court of Kossuth county for three successive terms, has been elected assistant cashier of the First National bank of this city in place of Earle Vincent, who resigned on account of ill health. Mr. Stephenson's term of office does not expire until January next, at which time he will take up his new position.

ORANGE CITY—M. Conway, of Hawarden, has commenced mandamus proceedings in the district court here against the school directors of Buncombe township to compel them to transport his five children to and from the central school. Not only this, but Mr. Conway asks $200 for the refusal of the school board to do it in the past two years.

FORT DODGE—A. R. Loomis, who has served for six months as president of the reorganized Commercial club, has resigned his office. E. H. Rich, cashier of the First National bank in this city, was unanimously elected to succeed Mr. Loomis. Mr. Loomis, with his wife, start soon for an extended tour around the world.

DUBUQUE—S. J. Rosenblatt, secretary-treasurer of Maimonides hospital, Chicago, who is in the city, announced he had received a donation from Abraham Slimmer, Iowa philanthropist now residing in Dubuque, of $5,000 to his institution. This makes $25,000 Slimmer has contributed to this hospital.

FORT DODGE—B. O. Aylesworth, organizer for the progressive party, was the principal speaker at a progressive organization meeting Thursday afternoon. Only bona fide progressives were allowed at the meeting. The local progressives plan to put a county ticket in the field next June.

MUSCATINE—A fall down the cellar steps brought instant death to Mrs. Oscar Brunson a resident of Fairport. The woman was visiting at a neighbor's, and in descending the cellar stairs she tripped and fell. She suffered a broken neck and had been dead some time before being found.

MARSHALLTOWN — Patrons of the rural schools of Melbourne have started the circulation of a petition to call a special election to vote on the consolidation of the Melbourne school with nearby rural districts. Similar action is to be taken at Rhodes, also in this county.

ESTHERVILLE—The new high school building, which was recently completed at a cost of $125,000, was opened for public inspection Thursday night. The citizens turned out in goodly numbers and were shown over the building by the teacher and scholars.

MARSHALLTOWN—Following a suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Harley K. Zanels, of this city, against Harley T. Zanels, a railway conductor of Valley Junction, Ia., Zanels brought suit against Earl Maher, of this city, for $10,000, charging alienation of his wife's affections.

MOUNT PLEASANT—Isaac Cook, 10 years old and considered to be the oldest man in this section of the state, died at his home near Salem. Mr. Cook celebrated his 102d birthday last October. He moved to this county in 1855.

ESTHERVILLE — James Maloney, a farmer, lost seven head of cattle under a strawstack Wednesday. They had eaten a hole under the stack, which caused the stack to topple over on them, thus smothering them to death.

DENISON—An election will be held in this city January 22 to determine what the people will do in the matter of issuing $65,000 in bonds to buy the electric light ing plant, and have municipal lighting. The city council favors such action.

QUIMBY—Mrs. R. J. Clark, 83 years old and a pioneer resident of Cherokee county, died at her home here yesterday after a long illness. Mrs. Clark came to Quimby in 1869 and, with her husband, was one of the first to take up farm lands.

BURLINGTON—The committee of the Iowa druggists' convention met here and decided to hold the convention of that body in Burlington June 9, 10 and 11. There will be 1,000 delegates in session.

H. VOLLMER SELECTED BY IOWA DEMOCRATS OF SECOND DISTRICT

Davenport Man Is Chosen to Lead Fight for Congressman Pepper's Seat.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 22.—Henry Vollmer of Davenport was nominated yesterday by the democrats of the Second Iowa district for congress to succeed the late Congressman J. S. Pepper. The special election to fill the vacancy will be held February 18.

The nomination of Vollmer came on the first ballot, when every vote cast for him except that of Jones county, which cast 11 votes for Thomas Stapleton of Marengo. Stapleton withdrew his name and the selection of Vollmer was made unanimous by acclamation.

On an informal ballot Vollmer received 70 votes and the combined opposition polled 44 votes. Vollmer polled 24 votes in Scott county 24 from Clinton county, from Jackson, Muscatine county gave its 17 votes for H. G. Thomas of Muscatine; Johnson county voted solidly for W. J. MacDonald of Iowa City and Iowa county gave Stapleton 11 votes.

The republicans will hold their convention at Davenport Wednesday to name their candidate. Delegates to this convention are uninstructed as no candidate has thus far announced himself.

C. P. Hanley of Muscatine is mentioned as the choice of the progressives for the convention to be held at Davenport Thursday. He is a prominent Second district politician and is reported to have a strong following in democratic circles.

DUBUQUE RAILROAD PUT UP AT AUCTION

Dubuque, Ia., Jan. 22.—

FOR SALE—One railroad. Apply to Major Horace Poole, court house, Dubuque, at noon, Wednesday.

The above advertisement inserted in Dubuque papers was the advance announcement of an auction sale which was scheduled to be held this week on the steps of the Dubuque county court house. The road is the Chicago, Anamosa & Northern, promoted by the late Peter Kiene, and running between Anamosa and Coggon. If any of the bidders happen to have $250,319.57 in his pocket, he can become the owner of a railroad. Major Horace Poole has been named auctioneer with instructions to allow the road to go to the highest bidder.

On December 11, a decree was entered by Federal Judge Reed authorizing the sale of the Chicago, Anamosa & Northern railroad at noon on the first Monday of January, 1914, and appointing Major Poole as special commissioner. The decree was made in the case of George B. Caldwell and Louis F. Myers against the Chicago, Anamosa & Northern railroad, the Midland Railway construction company, B. F. Bloomer, administrator of the estate of the late Peter Kiene, Henry and Paul Kiene. The judgment of $250,319.57 was rendered against the defendants in the case. It is said the railroad represented one of the big items that drained the resources of Peter Kiene & Son, who went into bankrupt, and the disposition of the road property is now in the hands of the receiver of the federal court.

WOMAN SCIENTIST DIES AT BURLINGTON CHURCH

Burlington, Ia., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Charles Wachsmuth, wife of the late Charles Wachsmuth, known as a scientist and an expert on crinoids, dropped dead of heart failure at a lecture in the First Congregational church here last night.

Mrs. Wachsmuth was 78 years of age at the time of her death. After the death of her husband, in 1896, Mrs. Wachsmuth housed and cared for the remarkable collection of crinoids which he had collected. Mrs. Wachsmuth was equally as well known to scientists as her husband, she having accompanied him in all his tours of explorations for research and had attended with him scientific meetings throughout Europe.

IOWA CITY LAWYER COLONEL FIFTY-THIRD REGIMENT

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 22.—L. J. Polley, an Iowa City lawyer, was elected colonel of the Fifty-third regiment of the National Guard, at a special election with only one dissenting vote.

Probably the first time in the history of the National Guard a commanding officer has been selected residing outside the jurisdiction of the regiment. Rowell was elected lieutenant colonel when a resident of Tipton four years ago. He succeeds Brigadier General Allen as colonel. The special election for a lieutenant colonel resulted in a deadlock between Majors Bartley, of Clinton; Johnson, of Cedar Rapids, and Cotton, of Waterloo.

UNWRITTEN LAW UPHELD IN IOWA MURDER CASE

Centerville, Ia., Jan. 22.—The unwritten law cleared Jody Mosley of the murder of John Schrum, prominent coal operator, the jury returning a verdict of not guilty after being out two hours. Mosley, on coming home in the evening found Schrum there and killed him. Mosley, a few months before had marched Schrum at the muzzle of a revolver to the city jail when he found him in his home. When arrested Mosley confessed to the sheriff and told the same story to the jury, which, by its verdict, found his act justified.

MORTGAGE FOR $150,000,000 ON FILE AT LOGAN

Logan, Ia., Jan. 22.—George P. Bell, deputy recorder of Harrison county, has just completed placing on record the $150,000,000 Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company mortgage to the Trust Guarantee company, of New York city. The instrument is composed of 153 pages of printed matter and made in single space on the large books of record 40 pages of typewritten matter.

IOWA MAY SPLIT ON REGIONAL PROPOSITION

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 22.—In the opinion of the Des Moines bankers who attended the reserve hearing at Chicago yesterday, the northern portion of the state will be placed in Chicago territory and the southern counties in St. Louis.

...NT MAKES ...N TRUST PLANS

...reak Up Interlocking ...orates and Holding Companies.

...on, Jan. 20.—President ...onally laid before a joint ... congress today the funda... ...ciples of the democratic ...ration's program for dealing ... and "big business." The ... presented the case, he said, ... in the thought of the coun... ...ing "that private monopoly ...sible and intolerable," and de... ...that conscientious business ...throughout the nation would not ...tained until practices now depre... ...by public opinion as restraints ...trade and commerce were corrected. ...We are now about to write the ad... ...articles of our constitution of ..." said the president, "the peace ...is honor and freedom and pros... ...ity."

...Besides suggesting the scope of leg... ...tion, the president made a personal ...peal for an atmosphere of friendli... ...and co-operation in congress. ...ing the problem.

...Meet Half Way.

..."The antagonism," he said, "be... ...siness and government is ... We are now about to give ... to the best judgment of ... what we know to be ... conscience and honor ... The government and ... men are ready to meet ... half way in a common ... to square business methods ... public opinion and the ...

...The chief points which the president ...ailed out as a basis for legislation ...here:

...1. The effectual prohibition of the ...interlocking of directorates of ...great corporations—banks, rail... ...industrial, commercial and ...public service bodies.

...2. A law to confer upon the ... Commerce commission ... to superintend and reg... ... financial operations by ...railroads are henceforth to ...supplied with the money they ...their proper development ...ved transportation facil...

...3. ...ident made it clear that ...rity of the railroads and the ...of the country inseparably ...in this regard.

...4. ...inition of "the many ...restraints of trade" by ...legislation supplementary ...herman law.

...5. ...he creation of a commis... ...id the courts and to act ...ring house of information ...ng business to conform ...law.

...6. ...ovision of penalties and ...nts to fall on individuals ...le for unlawful business ...

...7. ...ohibition of holding com... ...nd a suggestion that the ...ower of individuals hold... ...s in numerous corpora... ...ght be restricted.

...8. ...ving to private individ... ...ight to fund suits for re... ...facts and judgments ... government suits and ... that statute of limita... ...uld run only from the date ...usion of the government's ...

...Wilson's Address.

...ident spoke as follows:

...emen of the congress

...y report on the state of the ...which I had the privilege of ... to you on the 1st of December ...ventured to reserve for dis... ...at a later date the subject of ... legislation regarding the ...ficult and intricate matter of ...And monopolies. The time now ...opportune to turn to that great ... not only because the cur... ...islation, which absorbed your ...s and the attention of the ...n December, is now disposed ...so because opinion seems to ...g about us with singular ra... ...this other great field of ac... ...the matter of currency it ...uddenly and very happily after ...-debated act was passed, in ...of the monopolies which have ...about us and in regard to ...us means by which they have ...anized and maintained, it ...be coming to a clear and all ...ersal agreement in anticipa... ...our action, as if by way of ...n, making the way easier to ...easier to set out on with con... ...and without confusion of ...

...Hostility Disappearing.

...lation has its atmosphere like ...thing else and the atmosphere of ...odation and mutual under... ...which we now breathe with ...refreshment is a matter of ...congratulation. It ought to ...our task very much less difficult ...barrassing than it would have ...d we been obliged to continue ...midst the atmosphere of sus... ...and antagonism which has so ...de it impossible to approach ...estions with dispassionate fair... ...Constructive legislation, when ...ul, is always the embodiment ...incing experience and of the ...public opinion which finally ...out of that experience. Legis... ...s a business of interpretation ...origination, and it is now plain ...e opinion is to which we must ...ect in this matter. It is not ...or hasty opinion. It springs ...the experience of a whole gen...

It has clarified itself by long ... and those who for a long time ...with it and sought to change it ...w frankly and honorably yield... ...it and seeking to conform their ... to it.

...great business men who or... ...and financed monopoly and ...who administered it in actual ...day transactions have year after ...until now, either denied its ex... ...or justified it as necessary for ...ective maintenance and develop... ...of the vast business processes of ...untry in which modern circum... ...of trade and manufacture and ...are involved; but all the while ... has made head against them. ...verage business man is con... ...that the ways of liberty are ...e ways of peace and the ways of ...as well, and at last the mas... ...business on the great scale ...have begun to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps judgment also, in honorable surrender.

Constructive Program.

"What we are purposing to do, therefore, is, happily, not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened businessmen prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them: and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

"When serious contest ends, when men unite in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business joining with those who ask for the change, it is possible to effect it in the way in which prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about, with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances, nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts rent asunder, which can be left in wholesale combination.

Not Revolutionary.

"Fortunately no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary. It will be understood that our object is NOT to unsettle business or any where seriously to break its established courses athwart. On the contrary we desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safe guards of industry against the forces that have disturbed it. What we have to do can be done in a new spirit, in thoughtful moderation without revolution of any untoward kind.

"We are all agreed that 'private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable' and our program is founded on that conviction. It will be a comparative, but not a radical or unacceptable program and these are its items, the changes which opinion deliberately sanctions and for which business waits.

"It waits with acquiescence, in the first place for laws which will effectually prohibit and prevent such interlockings of the personnel of the directorates of the great corporations—banks and railroads, industrial commercial and public service bodies—as in effect result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same, those who sell and those who buy but the same persons trading with one another under different names and in different combinations and those who affect to compete in fact partners and masters of some whole field of business. Sufficient time should be allowed, of course, in which to effect these changes of organization without inconvience or confusion.

"Such a prohibition will work much more than a mere negative good by correcting the serious evils which have arisen because, for example, the men who have been the directing spirits of the great investment banks have usurped the place which belongs to independent industrial management working in its own behoof.

Develop New Blood.

"It will bring new men, new energies, a new spirit of initiative, new blood, into the management of our great business enterprises. It will open the field of industrial development and origination to scores of men who have been obliged to serve when their abilities entitled them to direct. It will immensely hearten the young men coming on and will greatly enrich the business activities of the whole country.

"In the second place, business men as well as those who direct public affairs now recognize, and recognize with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice which has been done to many, if not all, of the great railroad systems of the country by the way in which they have been financed and their own distinctive interests subordinated to the interests of the men who financed them, and of other business enterprises which those men wished to promote. The country is ready, therefore, to accept, and accept with relief, as well as approval, a law which will confer on the Interstate Commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation. We cannot postpone action in this matter without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps and hazards, and the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected. Upon this question, those who are chiefly responsible for the actual management of the railroads have spoken very plainly and very earnestly with a purpose we ought to be quick to accept. It will be one step, and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of the business of production from the business of transportation.

Defining Anti-Trust Law.

"The business of the country awaits also, has long awaited and has suffered because it could not obtain further and more explicit legislative definition of the policy and meaning of the existing anti-trust law. Nothing hampers business like uncertainty. Nothing daunts or discourages it like the necessity to take chances, to run the risk of falling under the condemnation of the law before it can make sure just what the law is. Surely we are sufficiently familiar with the actual processes and methods of monopoly and of the many hurtful restraints of trade to make definition possible, at any rate up to the limits of what experience has disclosed. These practices, being now abundantly disclosed can be explicitly and item by item forbidden by statute in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, the law itself and the penalty being made equally plain.

Trade Commission.

"And the business men of the country desire something more than that the menace of legal process in these matters be made explicit and intelligible. They desire the advice, the definite guidance and information which can be supplied by an administrative body, an interstate trade commission.

"The opinion of the country would instantly approve of such a commission. It would not wish to see it empowered to make terms with monopoly or in any sort to assume control of business as if the government made itself responsible. It demands such a commission only as an indispensable instrument of information and publicity, as a clearing house for the facts by which both the public mind and the managers of great business undertakings should be guided, and as an instrumentality for doing justice to business where the processes of the courts or the natural forces of correction outside the courts are inadequate to adjust the remedy to the wrong in a way that will meet all the equities and circumstances of the case.

"Producing industries, for example, which have passed the point up to which combination may be consistent with the public interest and the freedom of trade cannot always be dissected to their component units as readily as railroad companies or similar organizations can be. Their dissolution by ordinary legal process may often times involve financial consequences likely to overwhelm the security market and bring on its breakdown and confusion. There ought to be an administrative commission capable of directing and shaping such corrective processess, not only in aid of the courts, but also by independent suggestion, if necessary.

No Immunity Baths.

"Inasmuch as our object and the spirit of our action in these matters is to meet business half way in its processes of self correction and disturb its ligitimate course as little as possible, we ought to do it and the judgment of practical and sagacious men of affairs everywhere would applaud us if we did see to it, that penalties and punishments should fall not on business itself, to its confusion and interruption, but on the individuals who use the instruments of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn. Every act of business is done at the command or on the initative of some ascertainable person or group of persons. These should be held individually responsi... and the... [illegible]

...ion was greeted by a fair audience despite the very inclement weather. There is not any question but what there would have been a record crowd here Friday if we had been treated fairly by the weather man. The lecture Friday night was poorly attended on account of the above reasons but Mr. Woodruff will return in the near future and give us another chance to hear him. Professors Barker and Watson, who had charge of the regular course work certainly knew their business and made a number of warm friends.

A large number of those in attendance were in favor of holding a full weeks course next year and twenty five of the [illegible] subscribed $25 in gold to limit the sales of stocks to bonafide purchasers. Shall we require the owners of stock, when their voting power in several companies which ought to be independent of one another, would constitute actual control, to make election in which of them they will exercise their right to vote? This question I venture for your consideration.

Right of Redress.

"There is another matter in which imperative considerations of justice and fair play suggest thoughtful remedial action. Not only do many of the combinations effected, or sought to be effected in the industrial world, work an injustice on the public in general, they also directly and seriously injure the individuals who are put out of business in one unfair way or another by the many dislodging and exterminating forces of combination. I hope that we shall agree in giving private individuals who claim to have been injured by these processes the right to found their suits for redress on the facts and judgments proved and entered in suits by the government where the government has on its own initiative sued the combinations complained of and won its suit, and that the statute of limitations shall be suffered to run against such litigants only from the date of the conclusion of the governments action. It is not fair that the private litigant should be obliged to set up and establish again the facts which the government has proven. He cannot afford, he has not the power to make use of such processes of inquiry as the government has command of. Thus shall individual justice be done while the processes of business are rectified and squared with the general conscience.

"I have laid the case before you, no doubt as it lies in your own mind, as it lies in the thought of the country. What must every candid man say of the suggestions I have laid before you, of the plain obligations of which I reminded you? That these are new things for which the country is not prepared? No, but that they are old things, now familiar, and must of course be undertaken if we are to square our laws with the thought and desire of the country. Until these things are done, conscientious business men, the country over, will be unsatisfied. They are in these things our mentors and colleagues. We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

President Wilson left the White House at 12:10 o'clock to deliver his message on trust legislation to a joint session of congress. Both the House and Senate met at noon and recessed while the senators two by two, filed to the hall of the House for the president's address about 12:30 o'clock.

House galleries were packed. Mrs. Wilson and others of the president's family occupied places while the diplomatic corps was well represented and the floor was crowded with various government officials. A joint committee met the president in speaker Clark's office to conduct him to the rostrum.

The president arrived at the capitol at 12:25 o clock. Both houses were assembled and waiting for his appearance.

Colorful Scene.

The president was ushered into the crowded chamber at 12 29 o'clock while the audience rose and gave him prolonged applause and cheers. The president took his place at the clerk's desk and began reading promptly at 12:30 o'clock. His auditors gave rapt attention.

The secene was a colorful one and no less dramatic than on any of the previous occasions when the president, setting aside precedent that had prevailed since George Washington's time, came to the halls of congress to address the national legislative body in person. The high banked galleries presented a wave of color. On the floor the legislators in somber, conventional garb, packed the hall to its utmost corners. Secretaries Garrison, Daniels and Wilson and Postmaster General Burleson had seats on the floor and the other officials were clustered about the speaker's dais. Hundreds of people straining for a glimpse of the president and unable to obtain admission, packed the halls of the capitol.

The round of applause that began when the president entered was only stilled by Mr. Wilson's evident desire to proceed with his reading, and as he began in a clear voice that carried throughout the chamber, one might almost have heard a pin drop.

Frequent Applause.

... president read his message of ...siness peace and industrial freedom" as the administration supporters called it, he frequently was interrupted with long applause and at times demonstrations approaching cheering. His reference to interlocking directorates was received without demonstration, but when he read the proposal to use the Interstate Commerce commission to regulate the financial operations of the railroads a burst of applause halted the reading and the president had to wait for it to subside.

His declarations that the laws should "tear nothing up by the roots" and that "no sweeping or novel change is necessary," were received with attentive silence. Republican Leader James R. Mann led the applause that greeted the declaration for giving the Interstate Commerce commission power to regulate railroad finances.

Another round of applause greeted the statement as to railroad control with its declaration that the "business of production must be separated from the business of transportation."

The declaration for an interstate trade commission was received in silence and applause greeted the statement that "penalties and punishments should fall not on business itself, but on the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to those things which public policy and sound business practice condemn."

Great applause greeted the conclusion of the president's address at 12 51 o'clock.

Sand in the Law.

From the Marshalltown Times-Republican.

R. H. Sheffield, of Eldora 90 years old, has for sale a gravel pit at Gifford in Hardin county which lies adjacent to the C. & N. W. and M. & St. L. railroads. He advertised 1,000,000 yards of road ballasting gravel for sale, but owing to his extreme age he wants the purchaser to do the loading.

Mr. Sheffield and owners of other gravel pits in Iowa should arm themselves with a copy of the new law as to gravel pits enacted by the last legislature which makes it mandatory that boards of supervisors shall purchase gravel pits so that no portion of the county road system shall be more than six miles distant from a pit and which provides removal from office as the penalty for a board which neglects to purchase these pits where available. The new statute reads:

It is going to take some time for the public and its officials to understand all that was done by the last legislature toward permanent road building in Iowa. Under this law bridges will be sized according to the drainage basins to be spanned instead of being left to the desire of the contractors who like to build them. Roads will be put to established grades as railroads are. It is contemplated that when the road grades are built and permanent bridges constructed the county roads will then be surfaced with gravel.

If the next legislature will now authorize counties to issue bonds so as to distribute the cost of permanent hard surfaces evenly over a period of years approximating the life of the improvement, the money can be raised for permanent roads without increasing taxes.

We have plenty of sand in the present law but it will require more than sand to build as good a road in Iowa as most other states are building.

"Multiplying Words."

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

That Dr. Eliot is bent upon making wreck of the bible is clearly seen in the advance sheets of his supplementary article. And it cannot be said that, in dealing with the book itself, aside from the divine personality, he is at all convincing. Declaring God to be "a sleepless, active energy and will, recognized chiefly in the energies of sound light and electricity," he condemns, illogically as it seems to us, the dim, crude records of the race, first of all races so far as we may know, to apprehend him as such a unit, beneficent as well as terrible in his judgments. Dr. Eliot could use his great learning to better purpose in trying to find out of what land of polytheism the Jews first came west in Asia with their one and only God. Accepting their monotheism while rejecting all of their traditions of its revelation, is hardly fair to them. A large part of the Christian world will share their feeling of shock. We can part with the snake without a pang. We can let the whale sink, and Jonah with him. We know that the sun did stand still in Joshua's day because it is standing still now. It is no longer worth while to dispute Dr. Eliot's opinion that all of these stories are myths and traditions. What consecrates them, to much modern intelligence, is that they are a part of the traditions, or superstitions, of the people who first saw the light. Dr. Eliot now sees in one God who is "a sleepless, active energy and will." We might part with all of them, however, without impairing the validity of scripture. But we cannot part with all scripture without impairing the validity of Christ. Dr. Eliot has been multiplying words to no logical end.

Dog vs. Shark.

One day last summer my retriever killed a blue shark, weighing over 20 pounds, at Looe, says a writer in the Strand. The fish was sporting about in a small lagoon left by the tide, and as it made a dart for the open sea the dog sprang at it and fastened his teeth well in its side. For quite five minutes a keen struggle between dog and fish took place, first one and then the other gaining the upper hand, the fish making many ineffectual attempts to bite its assailant. Gradually the shark got more and more feeble, and was finally dragged to the shore in triumph by its canine vanquisher.

ARMY MEN FIGURE IN COASTING ACCIDENTS

One Killed and Nine Hurt at West Point—One Woman Injured.

West Point N. Y., Jan. 24.—Three coasting accidents on Mile Rock hill in Highland falls near here during the last 24 hours, caused one death and sent nine persons to the military hospital.

Harry J. Young, who died today was a young private in the field music detachment at the military academy. His home was in Baltimore.

Young was steersman on a bob sled loaded with soldiers which ran in to a telegraph pole last night. Private Russell C. Elliott, also a musician had his skull fractured and probably will die. Three other privates were slightly injured.

Lieut. James Gorden Steese, of the engineering corps, an instructor at the military academy suffered a broken leg yesterday afternoon when a bob sled carrying a party of officers and their wives collided with an ice wagon. Mrs. George Vindmer, wife of a cavalry captain, and Captain Frederick B. Downing, of the engineering corps, also were badly hurt in this accident.

DRAFT OF WILSON BILLS SUBMITTED

Washington, Jan. 24.—Administration leaders in congress settled down today to deliberations on the tentative anti-trust measures designed to supplement the Sherman act, in accordance with suggestions of President Wilson.

Measures prohibiting interlocking directorates, defining restraints of trade, included within the meaning of the terms of the Sherman act, and prohibiting "cut throat" competition, were introduced in the House by Representative Clayton in the form agreed on in conferences.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, planned to also introduce them with the interstate trade commission bill, in the Senate as soon as the Alaska railroad bill was out of the way.

In the trade relations measure no provision was made for the prohibition of holding companies as suggested in President Wilson's message, but it was announced that the committees would further consider that phase of the trust regulation program and probably would add a section to the bill. It was explained that the reason for omitting reference to that subject was because neither the president nor administration leaders had determined just how far the government should go.

What Bills Provide.

The three bills to be introduced embrace the following subjects:

Prohibition of interlocking directorates of industrial corporations, railroads, banking or trust companies, to be effective two years after approval.

Definition of the terms of the Sherman anti-trust act to specifically include within the meaning of "conspiracy in restraint of trade," every contract, combination in the form of a trust or otherwise within the meaning of the word "monopolize," certain definite offenses, all of which would be prohibitied and fixing guilt upon individuals.

A trade relations measure, designed to prohibit cut throat competition through price discriminations, discounts, rebates, territorial restrictions, etc., and giving to individuals injured by reason of anything forbidden in the Sherman act the right to bring suits in equity against corporations against which decrees have been obtained by the government.

Chairman Clayton announced that a fourth projected measure, which would provide for government regulation of railroad securities, had not been drafted and would be taken up by the House and Senate interstate commerce committees.

Trade Commission Bill.

President Wilson's message to congress suggesting anti-trust legislation supplemental to the Sherman law, which would eradicate evils of big business and restore confidence and commercial activity, bore its first fruit yesterday when a bill to create an interstate trade commission was introduced in the House.

Following a conference between Attorney General McReynolds, Senator Newlands, of the interstate commerce committee; Representative Clayton, chairman, and other members of the judiciary subcommittee, Mr. Clayton submitted the measure, and it was referred to the interstate and foreign commerce committee. An effort by Senator Newlands to introduce simultaneously in the Senate was blocked by Senator Smoot, owing to debate on the Alaska railroad bill.

Watered Stocks.

While the president recommended in his message the supervision by the Senate interstate commerce committee of the issuance of railroad stock and bonds, he took occasion today to emphasize that he did not necessarily mean that past issues of securities would be inquired into or affected by the present legislation. Nor did the president consider that the regulation of railway securities has anything to do with the subject of regulating stock exchanges. Legislation on this subject, he explained, was not recommended in the democratic platform, and he did not feel that he should recommend anything that had not been included in the platform.

The commission proposed by the bill introduced yesterday would absorb the bureau of corporations, which would have as its first chairman the commissioner of corporations—in this case Joseph E. Davies, of Wisconsin—would consist of five members, salaried at $10,000, and would have power of inquisition over all corporations, save common carriers, which are regulated by the Interstate Commerce commission. It would also act as an advisory board to the attorney general and the courts.

FIRE LOSS $370,000.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 23.—Fire, believed to have been started by sparks from a locomotive, destroyed the plant of the Trinity company, 4,400 bales of cotton and about 25 loaded freight cars late yesterday. The loss is estimated at $350,000. A second fire destroyed 11 small buildings with a loss of $20,000.

School Shoes that wear like iron

This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly durable, well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges The best makes in Farm Machinery We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right You are invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all-steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent.

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day
Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

E. L. Stilson of Corwith announces in this week's issue that he will be a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court in the June primary. Mr. Stilson is very highly recommended by his home people and has many friends who are boosting for his nomination and election. He is very well fualified to hold the office.

GOODELL

Mrs. George Hall entertained her Sunday school class at the Rev. Doty home Friday. All enjoyed a pleasant time.

Wm. Nelson of Belmond spent the week here, working life insurance at which he is making a success.

John Suurballe left for Illinois Friday on a business trip.

Mrs. Bruce Waddington and two children of Belmond came Saturday to visit relatives until Monday.

John Hughes and son, John Savvogue and sons and John Reed went to Kanawha Sunday to see Arold Africa, who is still very sick.

Bert Butterfield of Belmond visited his parents here Thursday.

The next number of our lecture course—a musical given by the Adams-Darnelle Co.—will be on Wednesday night. This company comes highly recommended.

A large crowd of friends and relatives attended the funeral of Mrs. Bruce Christie here on Sunday.

n June 1, 1909 [illegible] is promise and then entered into the ontract which is the basis of the suit

TEAM SELECTED FOR FRUIT JUDGING CONTEST

Ames, Ia., Jan 23—The team which hall represent Iowa State college in a riangular fruit judging contest among mes, Kansas university and Nebraska niversity horticulture students, to be ontested at Lincoln next week, has een selected The men on the team re Robert Clark, Ames; Roland S oyt, Des Moines; E. L. Kirkpatrick, outh English, F. D. Miller, Muscatine, nd P. C. Tomlinson, Marshalltown. mes judges twice consecutively have on the trophy and if they win in this ompetition they gain permanert possession of the cup. The men who were he Iowa State college team in the international contest in Washington D. .. were not admitted to try for the am owing to objections raised by the ther institutions.

CHICAGO BONDHOLDERS GET IOWA SHORT LINE

Dubuque, Ia., Jan. 23—George B. aldwell and L. E. Meyer, of Chicago, e only bidders, bought at public ction the $600,000 capital stock and 50,000 bond issue of the Chicago namosa & Northern railway, 35 miles track, running from Anamosa, Ia. he purchasers bid $252,030.09, the [illegible]

Sand and Gravel

Sand 50 cents per load, cash, or paid in 30 days, after 30 days 60cts per load, All small amounts strictly cash.

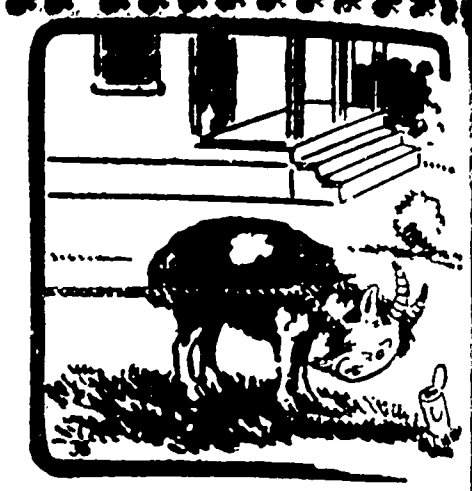
Henry Griffen,
Klemme, Iowa.

WONDERFUL COUGH REMEDY

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Eidson, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee. This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

AN IDEAL WOMAN'S LAXATIVE

Who wants to take salts, or castor oil, when there is nothing better than Dr. King's New Life Pills for all bowel troubles. They act gently and naturally on the stomach and liver, stimulate and regulate your bowels and tone up the entire system. Price, 25c. At all druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.



We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash.
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons
INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY
BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

Meals and Lunches FOR Short Course Visitors

We will be prepared to give you prompt and efficient service and will be pleased to see you during the Three Big Days.

City Restaurant & Hotel
A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

W. F. PAVEY

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share of your patronage and if work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

ME XVIII. NUMBER 25 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 12, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

our banking business with you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department. Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

e likes her Valentine.

rls are looking for husbands who e Bank accounts; so are their Parents.

ung man the most valuable asset that you have if you are thinking of getting married BANK ACCOUNT. No girl or no girls par- want a poor man. Later on the poor man 't want himself; because being poor when ight have been comfortable is no fun. Start love affair and your business affairs with e MONEY IN THE BANK. It will be YOUR ST FRIEND. Ask anyone who knows.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

me - - Iowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

Will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

Short Course Is Well Attended

Much Interest Taken---Full Week Next Year---List of Prize Winners

Hancock county's first short course which was held last week W dnesday, Thursday and Fri- was a great success in every se se of the word. Good crowds were in session each and every da and much interest was take- e The lecture Thursday evening by W B Quarton of Algona e tled, "When the Cows Come was attended by very l d and we have heard many say that it was worth the t the whole course. Rex for who gave a special lectu for the beef men Friday afternoon was greeted by a fair audience despite the very inclement weather There is not any question but what there would have been a record crowd here Friday if we had been treated fairly by the weather man. The lecture Friday night was poorly attended on account of the above reasons but Mr. Woodruff will return in the near future and give us another chance to hear him. Professors Barker and Watson, who had charge of the regular course work certainly knew their business and made a number of farm friends.

A large number of those in attendance were in favor of holding a full weeks course next year and twenty five of the farmers subscribed $75. to guarantee such a course. It is planned to include Domestic Science and that should gain many lady boosters.

The following are the prize winners in the Animal Husbandry class and their score out of a possible 300:

1st, Franklin Bredlow	267
2nd Joseph Schuldt	266
3rd Roy Newman	255
4th Albert Schmidt	252
5th Frank Ward	250

There were a number of others who had very good markings and two who might be given honorary mention are Reginald Houghton and Lester Stille.

Let's all commence right now and boost for that full week's course next year.

Many Install Electric Lights

Up to date the following have had electric lights installed:

Klemme Co-Operative Auto Co., garage; W R. Bloom, office and elevator; Northern Lumber Co, office and yards, J, E Baumgartner, barbershop; State Savings Bank; Opera House; W. R. Bloom, house; Tom Blank, house and N. L, Palmer, house.

Electrians, Papousek and Koerner still have a lot of work ahead of them and doing it as fast as possible, although they have been handicapped more or less on account of the non-arrival of supplies.

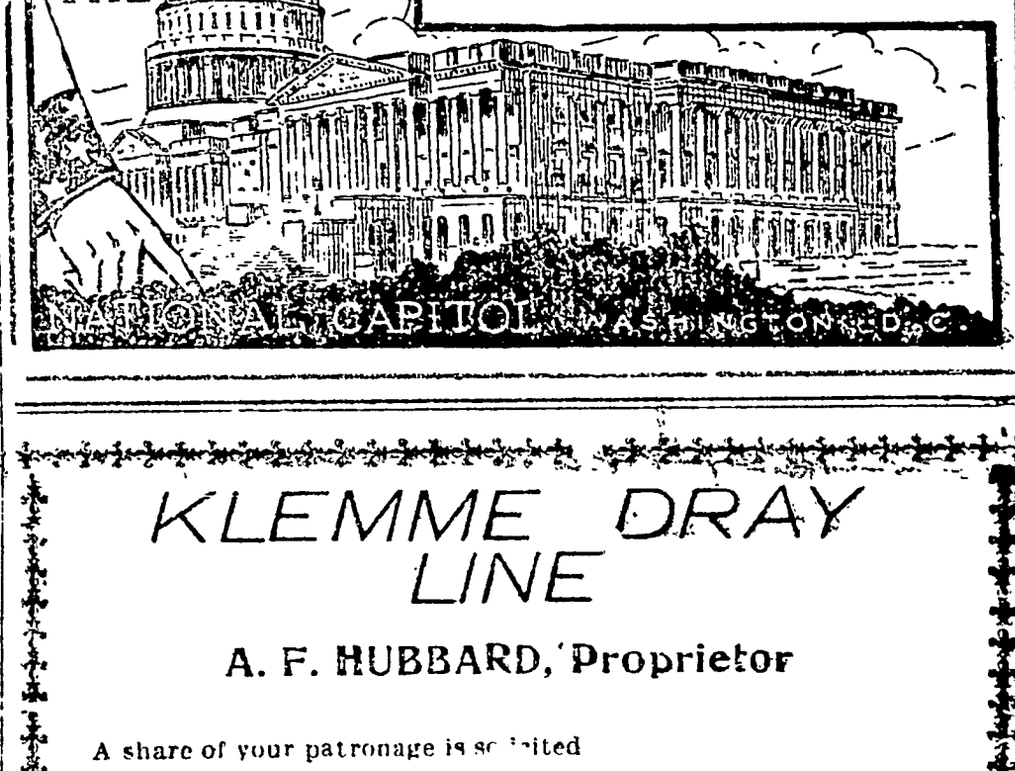
Klemme should and does feel proud of her 24-hour electric light service.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000 00
Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU
Cashier - F A. ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.

THIS BANK IS ORGANIZED UNDER AND CONTROLLED BY LAWS ENACTED AT THE

THE
Value of A Dollar You Most Appreciate
When With The
The Starting of a Bank Acct
YOU
See Them Accumulate
DON'T PROCRASTINATE

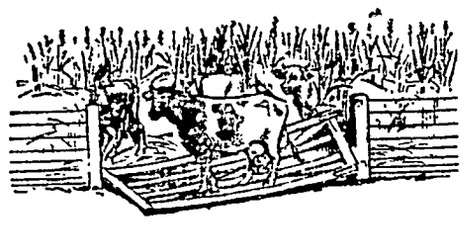


KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited
All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants



It Couldn't Happen with a MOYER

The damage done your crops by your cattle would easily pay for a MOYER Steel Gate. A MOYER Steel Gate is an investment which will pay for itself many times over. See the gates in this store.

30 DAYS' Trial Free
Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers
H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

PIANOS

G. F SCHULER Handles The
CABLE, NELSON PIANO

"THE GRAND OLD NAME," which stands for:
ATTRACTIVENESS, TONE, DURABILITY
Call in and look them over, prices reasonable.

Happy Bake Days
CALUMET
BAKING POWDER
The cook is happy, the other members of the family are happy—appetites sharpen, things brighten up generally. And Calumet Baking Powder is responsible for it all.
For Calumet never fails. Its wonderful leavening qualities insure perfectly shortened, faultlessly raised bakings.
Cannot be compared with other baking powders, which promise without performing.
Even a beginner in cooking gets delightful results with this never-failing Calumet Baking Powder. Your grocer knows. Ask him.
CALUMET BAKING POWDER
NOT MADE BY THE TRUST
CALUMET BAKING POWDER CO. CHICAGO
RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARDS
World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Ill.
Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912.
You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Versatile Alpine Guide

In a lecture recently on some Alpine adventures Julian Grande F R G S said that 95 per cent of Alpine accidents were due to climbers without a guide The Alpine guide was a wonderful fellow He had to undergo three years apprenticeship before receiving his license and had to pass an examination in topography and geography as well as in ambulance work He knew also how to sew and how to cook and his charge was $5 a day and all found

ITCHING TERRIBLE ON LIMB

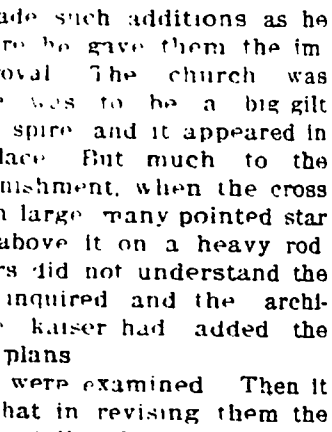
R F D No 1 Clarkfield Minn — "My trouble was of long standing It started with some small red and yellow spots about the size of a pin head on my leg and every morning there was a dry scale on top covering the affected part and when those scales were falling off the itching was more than I could stand at times The first year I did not mind it so much as it was only itching very badly at times, but the second year it advanced all around my leg and the itching was terrible I had to be very careful to have my clothing around the affected part very loose At night time I often happened to scratch the sore in my sleep Then I had to stand up, get out of bed and walk the floor till the spell was over

"I bought lots of salves and tried many different kinds of medicine but without any success I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a fifty cent box of Cuticura Ointment and when I had used them I was nearly over the itching But I kept on with the Cuticura Soap for six weeks and my care was complete (Signed) S O Gorden, Nov 20 1913

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world Soap 25 Ointment 25 and 50 Talcum 25 Sample each free, with 32-p Skin Book Address postcard "Cuticura Dept L Boston —Adv

Philadelphia has established a municipal bureau to care for transportation matters and projects

Men Fight On Their Stomachs



Napoleon so said. A man with a weak stomach is pretty sure to be a poor fighter. It is difficult—almost impossible—for anyone, man or woman, if digestion is poor, to succeed in business or socially—or to enjoy life. In tablet or liquid form helps weak stomachs to strong, healthy action—helps them to digest the food that makes the good, rich, red blood which nourishes the entire body.

Dr. Pierce's
Golden Medical Discovery

This vegetable remedy, to a great extent, puts the liver into activity—oils the machinery of the human system so that those who spend their working hours at the desk, behind the counter, or in the home are rejuvenated into vigorous health.

Has brought relief to many thousands every year for over forty years. It can relieve you and doubtless restore to you your former health and strength. At least you owe it to yourself to give it a trial. Sold by Medicine Dealers or send 50c for trial box of Tablets—Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel & Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

You can have Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser of 1008 Pages for 21c.

THOUGHT IT KAISER'S ORDER

Explanation of Mysterious Star Raised Above Cross on Roof of Church in Berlin.

In illustration of the deference paid to the kaiser's wishes in even the smallest details, the following story is told of the star above the cross on the spire of the Emperor William Memorial church

As the kaiser insisted on revising the plans of the church in person brought the plans to him, and the kaiser scratched out what he did not like and made such additions as he desired before he gave them the imperial approval The church was built There was to be a big gilt cross on the spire and it appeared in its proper place But much to the general astonishment, when the cross was put up a large many pointed star was raised above it on a heavy rod The Berliners did not understand the star They inquired and the architect said the kaiser had added the star to the plans

The plans were examined Then it was found that in revising them the kaiser had let fall a drop of ink from his pen on the paper just above the cross The architect studied a long time over this blot of ink There could be no appeal, no inquiries He finally decided that the blot of ink signified a star above the cross, and he put the star there, making it correspond as nearly as possible to the outline of the blot. The star is still there

A Bad Beginning.

Did you tell pa you wanted to marry me?

Yes and he gave me his consent, then asked me to lend him $10 —Baltimore American Worse Still.

Can you imagine anything worse than marrying for money?"

Oh yes, having to work for it."

THE MAN WHO PUT NIAGARA TO WORK

In the "Interesting People" department of the American Magazine appears an article about Hugh Lincoln Cooper, a graduate of the pick and shovel university, who tunneled under Horseshoe Falls at Niagara and dammed the Mississippi at Keokuk, Ia., —a $27,000,000 project. Following is an extract from the article:

"Twenty years or more ago an ambitious youth walked into the private office of George Morton, a western structural engineer He was fresh from high school, where his boyish thoughts had been full of bridges, engineering plants and power dams. This had developed in him a passion for mathematics and blue prints. He told Morton in just about so many words that he wanted a job. Even that was more of a formality than anything else, for the boy had gone into the office firmly convinced that he was going to get it. Morton told him that business was light, and that if any changes were made in the force he would lay off men rather than take them on.

"'Now Mr. Morton,' was the answer, 'I came here to go to work for you. Where shall I hang my hat?'

"Morton decided that, dull as business had been, he could afford to give a boy of that caliber an opportunity

"It was confidence and determination that won for Hugh Lincoln Cooper in Morton's office, and it has been these same factors that have enabled him, while still in his 40s, to harness the Mississippi river at Keokuk, Ia. and by means of a $27,000,000 power development dam, a concrete monolith from the Illinois to the Iowa shore, to develop 200,000 electric horsepower, 60 per cent of which is furnishing the current for the public utilities of St. Louis, 143 miles to the south.

"Hugh L. Cooper did not need a technical school to prepare him for his work. And the manner in which he financed the Keokuk project is the best illustration of the dogged perseverance that has won for him success throughout He had just completed unusual power plants in the east when he heard of Keokuk One of them was at Niagara, where Lord Kelvin and other British scientists laughed when he spoke of driving a tunnel under the center of the Horseshoe Falls. Cooper ignored their protests, went ahead and carried his blue print plan to complete success

"Then he looked to the Mississippi, An article in an engineering publication had attracted his attention and he decided to go to Keokuk to investigate. He made the trip, saw, and was convinced. The waters of the Mississippi held the power running unchecked toward the gulf and Keokuk felt that in Cooper it had found the man to carry out the hopes of many years past. But the most difficult problem of all remained unsolved—how to get the money Cooper's lowest estimate was $20,000,000 To finance it as a local proposition was out of the question, and Cooper could not handle it alone, although he did spend before the work was under way $100,000 of his own money It is even said that when actual construction began he was $500 in debt

"Cooper went east and before he received one favorable answer he had been shown out of the office of 58 capitalists The strange part of it is that when he found men that would listen, they were not Americans, and when the project finally had been financed 60 per cent of the stock was held by foreign re The man was in doubt whether the power could be sold as a paving proposition after it had been developed Cooper was positive that St Louis alone would give contracts large enough to warrant the undertaking The financier still was skeptical In order to settle the argument, Cooper went to St. Louis, and before one bucket of concrete had gone into the work he had contracted for the sale of 60,000 horsepower to the Mound City At that point the engineers who had studied the situation began to shake their heads. They told their chief that a turbine wheel could not be found that would prove successful under conditions at Keokuk

"If there isn't a turbine wheel on the market that we can use, was Cooper's answer, we will build one to fit our needs. You men come into my office and we'll work this out together.'

"They did so and today 30 of these wheels of entirely new design, built to meet the peculiar conditions in the river at Keokuk, are developing tremendous horsepower under conditions that are the wonder of the engineering world"

India's Millions.

From the London Spectator

The total population of India at the census of 1911 was almost 313,500,000 Of this number 18,500,000 were returned as literate, and only 1,670,000 as literate in English, including 1,029,000 classed as Hindoo Brahmanic" The increase of the total population in 10 years was 20,000,000, of literates 2,853,000, and of literates in English 545,000 There are nearly 2,400 main castes and large numbers of subcastes still increasing. The census enumerates 119 groups of languages belonging to 15 families, exclusive of European tongues. "Agriculturists" number more than 65 per cent More than 294,750,000 of people are illiterate, and at least 230,000,000 of people live the simple village life of old India. Of Hindoos about 40,000,000 belong to the depressed classes and are banned in degrees, varying from actual oppression to social ostracism. The operation of British law and the ministrations of the missionary bodies are gradually ameliorating the condition of these poor people

Any one who attempts to understand the greater problems of India must, as an essential preliminary, master these and other figures and must be able to grasp their political significance. The vast mass of the population is totally unfit to take part in self government and has never done so but its attitude toward any government is supremely important, and if disaffected it could make all government impossible. Between the simple, kindly masses of India and the British officials there is no trace of natural antagonism. Warm attachment on both sides is common. The Briton knows nothing of the physical repugnance which the superior castes feel toward the lower orders, and he is able to acquire influence and to win real affection where the ablest Brahman would absolutely fail to secure either

FOLKS PREFER LIFE IN COUNTRY VILLAGE

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH W. FOLK.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri, who have been living in Washington since the beginning of the Wilson administration, admit that they like the intimate, informal relations of life in a small town better than the more formal ones of city existence. Mr. Folk, however, is too busy with his duties in the department of state to care much about social affairs. Mrs. Folk thinks Washington the most interesting American city, so neither is complaining about life in the national capital.

FASHIONS AND FADS.

Dark rich colors are emphasized

New tailored costumes are olive green

There are many simple blouses of chiffon in color matching the skirt, over white

There is a marked popularity of the hip tunic

Among dainty footgear, beaded heels appear

There are mantle coats with wide, full raglan backs

Fur appears in vivid tones of yellow, blue, rose and purple

Waistcoats are in a great variety of embroidered color effects.

There is a tendency toward wide pocket effects around the hips.

Both suit and dress skirts show tunics and three-flounce effects

The most extensively used furs are lynx, beaver, and fox and sable

An interesting fashion detail is the high poke collar, both on dresses and coats.

Tartan silks, Scotch plaid lainage and tartan ribbon make a record in popularity

Short, mantle, bolero-shaped wraps having loose, sac backs, are much shown.

Many of the suits for the young girl have kimono shoulder line with the inset sleeves.

Loose sac careless styles in coats and mantles seem a remarkable point in winter fashions.

Scotch checked lainage coats are worn with plain duvetyne skirts and odd colored waistcoats.

Among the smart accessories are purses of moire, with mountings of silver, gold or enamel.

A pleated basque, having a long, flat, paneled back, seems a favorite form of tailored coat.

Some skirts have pleats inlet on one side, combined together with a short hip tunic at the back.

Small neck boas in two colored skunk are an attractive finish to many of the latest autumn models.

Bows in tulle with diamond button centers, made in the color of the robe, are a fad of the moment.

Vests are still holding an important place in the autumn modes. Some are trimmed with fluted ruffles.

appeared during the last season.

Striking features among the few straight tailored skirts are width of hip and full effects in the upper portion.

Duvetyne, chiffon, velours, ribbed velours and drap damas have a great success among the new materials.

A conspicuous detail of almost every costume are the fichus of sheerest linen, tulle and mousseline de soie.

Parisian couturiers hold to the short, stiffened crinoline tunic, which first Belts and narrow cloth sashes remain favorites and are popular. These are details on many winter coats.

Ribbon strapped shoes and brilliant brass buttons remain first favorites in dressy shoes for day and evening wear.

Among the novelties are leather hats. The smartest models are made of suede or kid, combined with velvet, moire or taffeta.

Who Owned the Cart?

Joe Mitchell Chappie in National Magaine

Since automobiles must carry numbers the expression, "They've got your number," has come into vogue again from old Welsh tradition. An old law in Caermarthan county in Wales required that every conveyance passing over the turnpike toll roads should be plainly marked with the names of the owners so that the perpetrators of any lawlessness could be easily detected.

One young farmer, known as "Stammering Jim," was summoned before a magistrate, who demanded why his name did not appear on his two wheeled cart.

"W-w-whose n-n-name am I to put on?" stammered the defendant.

"Your own, of course," said the magistrate.

"B-b-but it isn't my cart, your worship," says Jim.

"Who is the owner then" demanded the squire.

"T-t-that's the t-t-trouble sir Jam. "The old sh-shafts D-d-david T-t-thomas, the w b-b-belong to Hugh J-j-jones t axle to W-w-william B-b-bower t-t-tab belongs to Joshua M gan; the t-t-tail-board belongs Rees D-d-davis; and only the old belongs t-to me. Then wh n-name am I t-to put on, sir same confusion has occurred in newly mortgaged motor of today suggested a young congressman as he prepared to walk home.

A Snail's Real Pace.

From the Newcastle (Ohio) News.

"At a snail's pace" is a common expression and usually signifies a slow gait, but what do you suppose the actual speed made by a snail traveling?

We can give it to you in accurate figures.

One foot in four minutes, or at the rate of one mile in 16 days, if traveled continuously.

These are figures given by Geo Zahnizer, a civil engineer, of this city taken from actual observation

A short time since Mr. Zahnizer was standing along the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad waiting for a train. He had nothing in particular to do and "killed a little time" by watching a snail which was creeping along the ground.

That snail traveled just exactly one foot in four minutes, Mr. Zahnizer says, and computing distance at the rate of travel shown Mr. Zahnizer has figured out that it would require 16 days for that snail to move a mile.

HE MENDS THE SHOES OF THE PRESIDENT

F. SUMNER IN HIS SHOP.

F. Sumner is the Washington cobler who mends the shoes of the presidents. His tiny shop is located not far from the White House and some of his best customers have been the presidents and their families. McKinley was his first presidential patron and all the rest have followed suit. T. R., he says, was his best customer, but it took more leather to fix the footgear of President Taft. McKinley, he remembers, wore square gaiters. Roosevelt had a liking for tan shoes and President Wilson wears lighter weight shoes than any of his predecessors.

Winter

e-ru-na

CATARRH TONIC

COUGHS & COLDS

MR. Samuel McKinley, 1215 Grand Ave., Kansas City, writes: "I can honestly say I owe my life to Peruna. Traveling from town to town, and having to go into all kinds of badly heated buildings, plying my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently.

"Last December I contracted a severe cold which, through neglect on my part, settled on my chest. I heard of Peruna. It cured me, so I cannot praise it too highly."

Those who prefer tablets to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna in tablet form.

It is mighty seldom that you find hard work and hard luck going hand in hand.

To Clean Bird's-Eye Maple.

Bird's-eye maple furniture which has become soiled and finger marked can be cleaned by washing it with lukewarm water in which a little kerosene has been added. Rub dry quickly and polish with a soft cloth.—From the Mothers' Magazine.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for Infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Worth Knowing.

The seven wonders of the modern world, according to the vote of some European and American scientists, who were asked by Popular Mechanics to express their opinion, are the following: Wireless, telephone, aeroplane, radium, antiseptics and antitoxins, spectrum analysis and the X-ray. The seven wonders of the ancient world were the pyramids of Egypt, Pharos (lighthouse) of Alexandria, hanging gardens of Babylon, temple of Diana at Ephesus, statue of Jupiter by Phidida, mausoleum of Mausolesia and the Colossus of Rhodes.

Human Purchase In Africa.

Lecturing on his African experiences, a traveler says he once saw a wife sold as a slave for seven goats, which in open market fetched $1.44 each. As values go in some parts of Africa, the price was high, for within a few hundred miles of the equator wives are transferred for less. Marriage, of course, is by barter, and the indemnity demanded by a father for the loss of a daughter used to be paid from the bridegroom. Today it has risen to about $5, but the scale of values is shown by the fact that a native will gladly give his labor for a week in return for an empty medicine bottle with a metal screw stopper.

Between Friends.

Alice—Somehow, Jack cannot seem to get up courage to propose.

Marie—Perhaps he's afraid you'd say "yes."

Appetite Finds Ready Satisfaction

In a bowl of

Post Toasties

and Cream.

Thin, crisp bits of Indian Corn—cooked and toasted so that they have a delicious flavour—

Wholesome Nourishing Easy to Serve

—sold by Grocers everywhere.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS. MY BROTHERS KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1917, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XIII—(Continued).

18

The editor was musing Janet, again. Always Janet' She seemed behind every manifestation of his new place in the hearts of men, his awakened ambitions, his power to be himself. The enfranchised and free companion, demanding freedom, giving it, that was what she had said the modern woman could be! He was awakening to this magnificence in Janet. And yet she must love him—she could do that also' And slowly his dream grew to a vision of a love past the common call of sex, a passion ennobled by the riches of her personality. There would be none of the parastic clinging to a man, the need of sentimentalizing shelter and protection. The helper to power, the counselor to a widening life—this would be the woman to come' This would be Janet!

He met the elder Vance next day, Jake, the political farmer, the malcontent, an original Greenbacker a mugwump, party trouble-maker, forever given to standing about the Square Saturday afternoons in his motheaten, old buffalo coat arguing with the countrymen He could not have been elected to any office, but he had not soured. His children had inherited his reasoning unrest, but they had disciplined it to achievement

"Somebody to beat Hall - somebody to beat Hall'" he roared. "Folks say it's comin' to be you, Wiley I get it everywhere except in the News, and in the banks and warehouses and the court house' The county ain't what it used to be—there are mines and factories and libraries and labor unions' The old gang doesn't realize that It's you, Wiley, all the kickers want And I hear you ain't got the money' Ain't some of these new real estate men and boomers over in Earlville close to you for that?"

"Not much. Cal Rice and Thad are in with 'em on most of their deals."

Jake went out in the frosty sunlight. "Don't forget," he growled, "that there's a sight of people who ain't in any deals! Arne, let's go home and feed stock with that contraption of yours up in the haymow'" He looked off across the Square to the window of the school superintendent's office "I guess that girl of mine is ready to go home, too!"

Wiley watched the Vances drive off, the three of them in Jake's old buggy. "Jake used to travel to political convention in the smoker, and, at 12 o'clock, put a basket up between his legs, spread a newspaper on his knees, eat his chicken and sweet pickles, and then pitch the paper out the window, but when Arne comes back from college he eats in the diner and uses a finger bowl," he told Aunt Abby "And they have two hired girls at the farm! Janet and Arne make up the price of the dining car and the maids by figuring out soil analysis, or new school methods and don't bother their heads with picking chickens, or putting up lunches."

"Well, there'll come an end," she warned; "'tain't in nature for a farm to stand two hired girls, or even one"

He laughed' "Get on the band wagon, Aunty'" Then behind her, in the fragrant kitchen, he saw Old Michigan warming his leg across the wood-box. Michigan grinned expectantly

"Done got a letter from our little girl, Mr. Curran!" And I done brought it up here first thing for you to read."

"Aurelie?" Wiley was conscious of a disappointment that she had not written him. She had sent a post card from some town, with a blithe comment, but little news, only that everything was all right. Now he reached eagerly for the letter in the old soldier's hands. Aunt Abby stopped her cooking as he tore it open. Then they lost the world in Aureli's tale of wonders

"What she done say, Mr Curran?"

"Fine' Says you'd look good to her, now, Uncle Mich. She's having the time of her life. Everybody's good to her, and helps her, and the McFetridge boys are just grand and everything's grand." Wiley looked shinning-eyed around: "That's the most of it—just grand."

"Wiley," said Aunt Abby severely, "I did hope she'd not get her head turned'"

"Not a bit. She says' "Uncle Mitch, the first night I was scared, and when I walked out there and tried to see over the lights I just wilted—inside' Mr. Gratz stood in the wings with the book, and Hen McFetridge kept waving to me not to cross so far, and Mr Feldman kept whispering something from the other side, so I guess I must have looked scared I tried to speak and couldn't say a word, and I looked hopelessly off, and there was Mr Hanbury having a regular fit because I was going to spoil his play. He kept shouting to himself and dancing around: "Dried—I knew it!" Then that made me mad, and I glared at him, and then I heard what Morris Feldman was trying to whisper, and I said, "Father, I am here." And just right, too, Sol Gratz says—just like the haughty young beauty I was supposed to be, who's under suspicion of being a thief. Because I was mad at Mr. Hanbury and his old play' And every time I lost my lines they all helped me—every one, and you ought to have seen what the papers said!" cried Mr. Curran—"I wish I'd seen that paper'"

"Go on," said Uncle Michigan. "When's she coming home?"

"Don't say," answered Wiley "Says the hotels are pretty bad, and the theaters are cold and dirty, but it's just a glory' Oh, lord- Aurelie'"

"Likes it?" queried Aunt Abby, from her doughnuts.

"Says she's got a mission' To uplift the stage' Oh, lord- Aurelie!"

"But when's she comin' home?" quavered Uncle Michigan

And looking in Michigan's eye, Mr Curran saw a tear.

"She doesn't say, Uncle Mich' She just says she's sending a number of things for 'you all" out at the Pocket—with the first money she ever earned! Christmas presents for you and Knute and Pete and the baby, and Albert and Mrs. Lindstrom—and for John."

"And John, he prayed so mighty hard he chased her off the place' Reckon she's the same old girl, Mr Curran'

"Sure, I think so, Uncle Michigan."

"Don't reckon this yere stage business'll ever change her a mite, Mr Curran?"

"Hope not, Uncle Michigan. Darn the smoke—it's getting in our eyes, ain't it?" Mr Curran coughed and spluttered; he didn't want to see the tears on Michigan's whiskers. The old man thumped the wooden leg on the box and against the stove preparing to get out of the house. "Uncle Michigan," said Mr. Curran, "stay to supper and we'll talk about Aurelie Gee whiz, I hope that little girl makes good"

"You want me to stay fo supper?" Uncle Michigan turned to Aunt Abby—'You're church folks, and I done been an ole whisky peddler Johnny Reb"

"You done been an old fool Uncle Michigan' You sit right here till supper's ready'"

'Right here till supper's ready' added Mr Curran. 'Here's some more of this letter"

"But not any word about comin' home"

"She'll get home She says up in Waterloo the comedian got drunk and nearly busted up the show And that night they had to cut out her big situation."

'What?" gasped Aunt Abby 'cut out her—what?"

'I swear—"

'Well it can't be serious or they'd telegraphed!"

'I guess so She says Mr Hanbury changes his play so much they just can't keep up with it in rehearsals but that Sol Gratz thinks pretty soon they will get it all over"

"Get over what—over the operation I suppose, Wiley?"

'She's picking up this stage slang so fast she must be getting on. I swear it's a fine letter."

Aunt Abby was peeking at it over his shoulder. What's that' She asks if any one ever hears from Harlan Van Hart'"

Wiley sighed "Yes. She—sort of knew Harlan." He folded up the letter and handed it to Uncle Michigan, who stared at it as if it was a jewel.

'I reckon," mumbled Uncle Michigan, 'you done better keep this in your safe at the office, Mr. Curran.'

"That safe rusted shut in '96, Uncle Mich—the time the creek flooded the News office—and it's never been opened since."

'Well, you better keep this letter in the clock, Mr. Curran—or somewhere. I wouldn't lose it for the best leg I got." He handed it back to Mr. Curran, and the editor locked it in the clock case. "When I git lonesome, I'll come up here and we'll read it all over again Kind o' lonesome at the ole place. John he's sourin' on the world. Keeps the boys cuttin' brush And the baby's ailin' And the woman's frettin. Seems like the sun don't shine so bright since Aurelie went away"

"Don't you worry, Uncle Mich She'll come back rich and famous and everybody'll be happy, and she'll give a show in the tin opera house'

Uncle Michigan's eyes shone again Just as Ole Captain Tinkletoes prophesied down in Louisany' She'll done grow up to occupy the land!

Mr Curran's eyes shone, too. He had been told Aurelie's fantastic story, oh, these many times' He had gilded it, enshrined it—loved it.

'Our little girl, Uncle Mich'" he cried "Out in the big world fighting her way and not being scared' I never think of how she came to me but I want to gather her up and shelter her, protect her -he stopped slowly— love her—" he sighed. Then he turned away from them and looked down the hill to his shop. 'Eh, well' I reckon I am the man who is in a state of arrested development concerning women'

CHAPTER XIV.

BACK TO THE OLD TOWN

Spring comes about Rome by simple tokens In the black bottoms the willows gently free themselves from the soiling snow, bend upward ever so lightly, and presently are wands of furry gray. In the clay gaps of the hills one hears the tinkle of water under ice and over rock, answering the first call of the robins The rabbit tracks along the fences drabble down to mere muddy markings in the snow and then are lost in the first faint green. Also, in town, housewives hang their rugs on the porches and beat them, stopping to look up at the blue and breathe, as if the winter's housing had taken a bit out of their souls which now was coming back, and one sees the children digging their toes in the mud on their way to school, testing eagerly its release from the frost.

But chiefly, in Rome people know spring has come when Rube Van Hart disappears. When the former leaguer began to climb the hills in February and look off south, and when his work in Carmichael's stable grew slack and his eyes vacant and his promises to coach the high school ball team more vague, and when he came silently in the News office to read the "pink uns" of the Chicago papers, paid no attention to Jim Mims, the tramp printer asking for a chew, or to Wiley when he asked who looked good for the second cushion with the Cubs since Delahanty was sold—paid no attention to any one at all, but wandered down to the junction and dreamily read the names of the box cars jogging down the cut, why then it was safe to set out garden truck—spring had come.

Then the News announced that Rufus Adrian Van Hart, one time catcher with the Cubs, had gone south to help with the spring try-outs at San Antonio and would also get himself in condition. This pleased Rube and all the town kids and hurt nobody' Poor old Rube was merely stowed in a box car getting away just because spring called and baseball was here and he could not help it. Among the Van Harts there was no accounting for Rube.

And when Rube came back to town the women knew it was near time to take in house plants and let the children go for hazelnuts, and resume the lapsed work of the Shakespeare club. With Rube watch for a nip of frost.

But now spring, and Uncle Michigan scouring up Mr Curran's garden, disputing with his housekeeper while they knelt in the black damp earth over a package of seeds magnanimously distributed by the Honorable James S Hall M C Their voices came to the editor at his desk Jim Mims had gone to the blind tiger in the haymow of Carmichael's livery stable, and Aleck, the press boy had stolen off to Sink to see if it was yet good bullhead fishing

'If I'm going to congress" murmured the editor 'I've got fire this spring fever and scold everybody into working" He was watching Janet Vance tie her team of colts to the county yard hitching rail, her trim blue figure against the young elm green She looked at her watch decisively It was early for a county officer to be down town She came across the street with her direct and springy step and to the News door The editor took his feet off the desk and waved his hand lazily.

"Janet, let's go fishing Let's get Old Mowry's wagon and take Aunt Abby and Jim Mims—if he's sober—and Mitch and Aleck and all go fishing'

Wiley that's what you've always done the first spring weather But this year—now—'

"Don't finish it Now—congress—"

"I drove in behind your back lot" she went on calmly 'and I see that the W C T U ladies are right. The size of that pile of beer bottles in your alley Just suppose you'd bought books all your life instead of beer"

'Janet" Curran smiled at her 'I never had a place to put the books all my life But there's always been a place for beer

She looked at him in her old despair Now—now' he went on and waved a hand at her don't scold I'm up—I'm doing' In for a career—congress—anything' But the weather, Janet' Can't a fellow sit once in a while over his pipe and watch you through the smoke perhaps and dream"

She shook her head I know' he went on lugubriously The problem with the new woman is will she ever let a man go fishing'

She smiled but continued her directness 'Tom Purcell of Earlville, is going to take the active management of your campaign this summer The committee of the Progressive league decided on him

He shrugged Up the cliff back of his shop the bluebirds were calling. The committee of the nascent Progressive league -and Janet—had kept Mr. Curran plugging rather steadily all winter He had addressed farmers' institutes and gone to state conferences of the progressive had met Governor Deroy and the men of the state organization glad handed around the circle, as he put - and had also gone among the men of his own county, lodge meetings, church fairs district school entertainments And on Arne's visits from school they had taken long drives to lonely precints where they had discussed farm problems from Arne's new angles and Wiley had told the men simply and frankly that he wanted them to vote for him in the primary.

"I don't know any other politics," he assured Janet.

'You don't need to. The county crowd knows now your candidacy is not a joke I hear Judge Van Hart has written Congressman Hall that he'd better come home and look over his constituency They feel you, Wiley

Wiley opened a benign eye "Apparently, Tanner and Rice and Boydston are organizing this Retail Merchants' association, the secret motive of which is to get the town's advertising withheld from the News That's one angle of the fight Janet I shan't have an advertiser left except the undertaker and he wants me to take it out in trade"

Be serious Wiley' she retorted—and then Uncle Michigan stuck his old squirrel skin cap in the window.

"April, Mr Wiley, and dewberries air ripe down in Louisiany'"

'And the mocking birds are singing in the canebrakes Uncle Mich'"

And if the ole house boat wasn't done stuck hard and fast up yere—and if my little girl hadn't done gone off in the show busines, I'd-

'Uncle Mich'" roared the candidate, pounding the desk—'shut up, or I'll never get to congress' Blue birds up Eagle point' Bullhead fishing! Aunt Abby sowing lettuce' Get out of here with it all' Take April with you!"

Uncle Michigan' smiled Miss Vance "we're trying to talk business. Now you know that business and Mr. Wiley"

"Fine'" cried the candidate—"Uncle Mich—"

Old Mich took off his cap "Miss Vance, I know what gets Mr Wiley. Done been my little girl'"

Miss Vance was impassive. Mr Curran amiably evasive "Your little girl" Mich you old scoundrel, you haven't a sign of title to her Why don't you tell us all who was Aurelie, to begin with, and who was Captain Tinkletoes" It isn't right to wink and grin when people ask you about her—people never know what to believe'"

"Reckon decent people believe only what's good- and the others don't count But my little girl come of better stock than those big bugs on High street."

"Well, who?"

Then Uncle Michigan did his abominable old trick He leaned close and shut one eye tight and opened the other very wide, drew up his face so that the white whiskers, sticking out in all directions, made his face like a sunflower. Then he exploded his famous joke. "She done come from the holy family!"

Then he doubled over with laughter. That settled them' He roared it to Father Doyle when the good priest tried to settle Aurelie's patrimony; he chuckled it to Aunt Abby and the Epworth league ladies: he discomfited Mr. Curran and all the town with it—his little girl was descended from the holy family!

"Uncle Michigan" put in Miss Vance distantly, "what is Aurelie doing these days?"

"I dun-no exactly. Mr Wiley will read you her letters.

(Continued next week.)

Liverpool has completed the world's largest drydock, 1,020 feet long and 155 feet wide at the later line, the only one in the world large enough to receive the new 50,000-ton liners.

MOVING 186 MILES A SECOND

That Is the Speed of the Greatest Nebula, If Figures Lately Compiled Are Correct.

A great deal of controversy has been waged about the structure and composition of the great spiral nebula in Andromeda, the most beautiful and striking apparition which celestial photography has revealed.

It was suggested some two years ago that the nebula was not gaseous, but was a universe of stars external to our own galaxy This inference, made by V M Slipher, was based on the appearance of certain lines in its light spectrum which were inconsistent with the idea that it was a gaseous nebula.

The same observer by examining the shift of the lines in its spectrum—from four good plates obtained some months ago—has calculated the speed at which the nebula is moving. He obtains the startling result that the nebula is approaching us at the rate of 186 miles a second

It is a little difficult to credit that such a vast object as this, which at the least estimate must be hundreds of millions of miles in diameter, could be moving at so great a speed

Moreover, no movement sideways of the nebula has ever been detected, and therefore, since it does not seem probable that it can be coming toward our telescopes directly head on," it must either be at a very great distance or else there is something wrong in the observations.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for full name. LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Naturally.

When a grass widow attends a hop, of course she is a grass-hopper.—Florida Times Union

Daily Thought.

Those who bring sunshine into the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.—J M Barrie

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules Easy to take as candy. Adv

An expert is any person who is able to impress us with how little we know

Little Rock, Ark., citizen the other day caught a wandering alligator in a street near his home

Many a man has grasped an opportunity that was too hot for him to handle

Few things come to those who wait for others to do it for them.

Pride goeth before a fall, and it doesn't soften the bumps any at that.

Vigo Spain has 43,000 inhabitants, who depend largely on fisheries.

Life is a game in which mighty few of us cash in our hopes.

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md. — "I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health." — Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1632 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1 00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly
A E Baumgartner

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries and respectfully solicit your support and assistance Peck Hanson

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS H THOMPSON

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office Recorder of Hancock County subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914

Christen Christen

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination for the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries

Jennie Hammell

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa.—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E L STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J D. G Houghton.
Goodell, Iowa

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June 1914

Martin Bachman

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries

I C Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J Cole

Junior Band Social

Will Hold Basket Social and Program at Opera House Feb. 24th--Deserve Liberal Support

The Junior Band Boys will hold a basket social and program at the opera house on the evening of February 24th. It might be said that this young organization has been holding regular practice twice each week for some time past and have been improving greatly with this added practice and there no doubt but what they will blossom out in the spring into a very good musical organization and that they will be able to give some fine open air band concerts next summer we feel certain. The boys would like to raise enough money to purchase uniforms and as they are paying for their own instruction it is no more than fair to ask the public to help a little and the coming event will be one of their opportunities.

The boys will also put on a miscellany program which will be published next week if possible

Make arrangements to attend and don t forget the date, Tuesday evening, February 24th

Basket Social

Will be held at German, No 9, or Otto Lenke school Friday evening, February 20th Program by school and vicinity

Ladies please bring baskets
Ida Ludeke, Teacher.

What Dye Ye Mean, Ye Lost Yer Dog

A case that has caused considerable local attention was pulled of in Judge Suckow's court, on Wednesday afternoon The principals were the State of Iowa vs H Espe who was accused of stealing one dog of medium size and unusual intellect of which Chas Stehl was the owner and also was the instigater of the action. The defendant was represented by Attorney Hastings while Mr Stehl endeavored to represent the state on account of the county attorney being unable to be present and it is said that Chas covered himself with glory and on account of the "crep" he made will be urged to make the race for County Attorney. However, eleqpent words, rapid fire delivery and strong pleading could not overcome the shortage of evidence and the case was decided in favor of the defendant, Mr Espe. But where that doggone dog could have went is the doggondest mystery that ever struck this community.

Basket Social

There will be a basket social at the Palmby school house, 2 miles east of Klemme, Friday evening, February 20th at 7:30. Everybody invited. Ladies please bring baskets.

Ethel Dow, Teacher.

500 Loads of Gravel

To Be Placed on Our Streets Work Now Started

That we are going to have excellent streets in the future is now an assured fact, at least the principal streets of the town should be put in tip top condition. The hauling of 500 loads of gravel was commenced this week and the work is progressing nicely but of course it will be some time before the work is completed.

Our Mayor and City Council are to be commended on the enterprise shown in this and other matters and we are glad to know that we have a progressive bunch of city officials who are doing their part to maintain the present growth of our bustling little city.

Coyla May Spring Concert Party Return

In order to meet the demand on all sides the lecture course committee have secured a return date for the Coyla May Spring Concert Party who will appear at the opera house in a complete change of program on Wednesday evening, February 18th. This extremely popular company had an open date for the above evening and the local lecture course committee were glad to take advantage of the opportunity to secure them Tickets are now on sale at the State Savings Bank Remember that there will be a complete change of program

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

Loses Finger in Corn Sheller

While shelling corn at home Wednesday, Will Ludeke was unfortunate enough to get his hand caught in the sheller and as a result had the first finger on his [illegible] badly mangled [illegible] necessitating the removal of the second joint

Basket Social

There will be a basket social in the Rossel district [illegible] miles south and 2 miles east of Klemme on Friday evening February 13th. Ladies are requested to bring baskets A prize will be given to the highest bidder. All are cordially invited

Mabel G Wilkins, Teacher

NOTICE OF LEVY OF SPECIAL EXECUTION

State of Iowa, Hancock County—ss.
State Savings Bank of Klemme, Iowa, Plaintiff.

—Against—

—Notice to Defendant

J. A. Wilson, Defendant.

To J. A. Wilson—

Sir: You are hereby notified that, by virtue of a Special execution issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, in the above entitled cause, to me directed, I have levied upon as your property, the following described Real Estate, to-wit: South half of Section Twenty-five (S ½ Sec. 25) Township Ninety-five (95) North, Range Twenty-three (23) West of the 5th, P. M. in Hancock County, State of Iowa.

And I have advertised the same to be sold on the 2nd day of March, A. D., 1914 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in Garner, Hancock County, Iowa.

Witness my official signature this 30th day of January, A. D. 1914.

A. E. BAUMGARTNER,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.

GOTTLIEB LAUSTER

BREEDER OE

Thoroughbred Poland China Swine

Some Bred Sows For Sale

Farm 4 Miles North of Meservey

Big Electric Show

AT THE

Idle Hour Theatre

Saturday Eve., Feb. 14

The management has just installed the latest electric equipment and now are giving the same shows as seen in the Cities. We have good clean films, consisting of Western, Comic and Dramatic Subjects. -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:-

Every Saturday Night and

A SHOW THAT IS SURE TO PLEASE

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Tuesday morning Miss Minnie McKee tried to start a fire by pouring kerosene oil on it. The can caught fire and exploded, throwing the oil all over her. She ran into the bedroom to have her father help her. In trying to extinguish the flames on her he caught himself afire. Both of them rolled around and used blankets to put the fire out. They succeeded with the help of Wm. Bemis, but they were both badly burned, Mr. McKee being so badly burned that it is feared he will not recover. The room was all afire and it was feared at one time that the house would go. Mr. McKee was burned on the back, chest and legs and it is feared that he inhaled some of the ignited gas.—Hancock County Democrat.

Both of the above parties died later from their wounds and it is certainly a most sorrowful calamity Mr. McKee is a brother of our neighbor, Mr. C. H. McKee and the bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community

I SHOULD WORRY

A boarding house keeper at Manly, the Rock Island terminal town was recently put under arrest for serving young kittens to his guests as rabbits. Having some nice young cats he hit upon the idea of disposing of them. So they were killed and dressed and served as "rabbits" and all the boarders partook freely as the meat really tasted good But when someone around the house "gave it away" there was a sick bunch of boarders.—Dows Advocate

WHY NOT HANCOCK?

At the contest in Algona nine editors, representing nine papers were present. Bro. Sherwood of Britt Swartz of Fenton, Thaves of Germania, Jenks of Ledyard, Bash Dowel, Clarke and Hichon lent their presence at the hearing. A well defined sentiment was prevalent favoring the division of the county preferring among all of the papers of the county, to draw pay pro rata, according to the number of bona fide subscribers each had on their respective lists.—Titonka Topic.

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

ISSMAN
nd Surgeon
e No. 11-02
No. 11-03
esidence in the ank building.
Glasses Fitted

MGARTNER
orial Artist
a easy shave or a neat
hair cut
of State Savings Bank
Call in

TOM ELDER
—HE—
"HOTEL MAN"

G. ZINN
& Surgeon
KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Grossmacher Harness and Shoe Shop
Glasses Fitted

R. PARSONS
NTIST
State Savings Bank.
ne No. 48.
me - Iowa

J. Wilson
ck Auctioneer
Y. -:- IOWA
TION GUARANTEED
be made at the State
Bank or 'phone me
erver, Iowa, at ny expense.

and Gravel
cents per load, cash,
in 30 days, after loads per load. All counts strictly cash.
nry Griffen,
Klemme, Iowa.

T MARKET

ndeavor To Wait On
Just As Promptly
As Possible!
ST MEATS, HONEST WEIGHTS
ND LOWEST PRICES
Worth a Short Wait
Occasionally
Will Be No Longer Than Neccessary Here!
AS. F. BUSCH

About People You Know

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

August C. Schuldt was a Belmond visitor, Tuesday.

A good organ for sale cheap. Inquire of Tom Elder.

Big doin's at the opera house. Tuesday, February 24th.

Cornelius Wille was a business visitor at Garner. Monday.

Band basket social and program at the opera house the 24th

Mrs. Henry Schroeder arrived Tuesday, for a visit at the Geo. Schroeder home.

John Goll, Sr, and R. Zwald were down from Garner. between trains, Tuesday.

Fred Knoke departed Monday for St Olaf, Clayton county, for a visit with relatives.

The Palmby families left last week for their new home at Eagle Bend, Minnesota.

The morning passenger from the south now arrives seven minutes earlier or 8:43 a. m.

Mrs, Dr. Missman returned Wednesday from a week's visit with her parents at Belmond.

Pure Bred Duroc Jersey Boar and good surrey for sale.
Chas. Ax.

The home of Mr and Mrs Dick Swalve was made brighter Friday by the safe arrival of a baby girl.

Verner Lewis left last week for Eagle Bend, Minnesota, to visit his sister, Mrs. Henry Yahnke.

Fred Henschen returned last Thursday from a two months visit with Ohio and Indiana relatives and friends.

E. R. Schier was down from Fenton last week visiting relatives and friends and also attended the short course.

Coyla May Spring Concert Party, Wednesday, February the 18th. A return date, an entire change of program.

Among the latest parties to purchase lots and who will build residences this spring are Cloyd Lowhorn and C W. Wiles.

The revival meetings at the English M. E church are attracting good crowds and it is hoped much good will result

Mr and Mrs. Sam Kirkwood went to Belmond, Monday, where the letter remained for a weeks visit with her parents

Chas. Yahnke left for Eagle Bend, Minnesota, last week to look over the country and may buy some land in that vicinity

Alberts Brds. returned last week from Chicago where they had been marketing a couple car load of hogs of their own raising

J. Boyer arrived last week by rail with couple of cars of stuff and moved out on the Stone Ranch. His family arrived Monday.

Miss Julia Techhan arrived last week from Germany and will make this country her home She is a sister of Mrs. Henry Keeper.

A district Sunday School and Epworth League convention was held at the Germantown church Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Nissen returned Monday from a two weeks visit at the home of her son George and family in Iowa Falls and her brother in Belmond.

Clarence Sampson who has been at the hospital in Rochester is getting along nicely and it is thought he will be able to return home by the 28th.

Miss Muzelle Powell came up from Des Moines, Wednesday, where she is attending school at Highland Park College for a few days visit with her mother.

Philip Ell was over from Mason City, a couple of days this week visiting his son Ed. G. Ell and other relatives and friends. He is looking hale and hearty,

In this issue will be found the announcement of I, C, Hastings for County Attorney, Mr Hastings is the junior member of the firm of Wichman & Hastings, and capable in every way to hold the office.

Dr Cole's announcement for representative from this county will be found in this issue. He has held one term and filled it very satisfactory, and is entitled to due re consideration from the voters of Hancock county.

Dr. R W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves", consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you

Wm. Nissen arrived Wednesday evening for a visit with his mother and numerous friends. This is the first time "Billie" has been here in nine years and he will doubtless see a great many changes in the old burg. His many friends were indeed pleased to see him.

The Klemme Times and Kimball,s Dairy Farmer, both one year for $1.15 We would like all of our subscribers to take advantage of this offer and if your subscription to the Times is paid in advance send in or hand us 15 cents and we will see that you get Kimball's Dairy Farmer twice per month for one year If you have not paid your subscription now is the time to do it and take advantage of this bargain.

No More Frame Buildings

Doubtless all of our subscribers read the ordinance in last weeks paper in regard to the building of frame buildings on main street. This of course caused both howling and rejoicing. The majority of the people we have heard comment are glad to see the council pass the ordinance. and right they are. The writer is in the fire district and we are glad to see this move on the part of the city dads. Just so long as the town will stand for fire traps they are going to be erected, and while we may not get quite as many new buildings as were contemplated, those that do go up will be of a substatial nature and prove an asset and also greatly lessen the the cost of insurance.

MOTORCYCLES
New and rebuilt, on monthly payment plan. Dealers and riders wanted. Eagle Motor Co., Cedar Falls,

HOWARD PIANOS

are Surprisingly Reasonable!

It does not follow that you have to buy the highest-priced piano to get a really high-grade instrument.

If care is taken in the selection, you can secure an instrument that will more than fulfill every home requirement at a remarkably reasonable cost.

After hearing the Howard Piano and appreciating its absolute durability, you would naturally expect it to be among the costly ones, but it is not.

Considering value with price it is positively the most economical instrument for the home.

It gives you all the qualities of the high-grade instruments at so reasonable a price because it is a product of one of the manufacturing enterprises of the greatest piano organization in the world—The Baldwin Company.

No other instrument of equal quality can be sold at the price because no other makers possess the facilities and resources.

THE "Howard Manuale", the Player Piano that is all but human, is distinguished by Quality, Durability, Reliability and Attractive Price. It is a quality proposition throughout. Be sure to examine it.

Terms to suit

M. M. MAGNER

NOW IS THE TIME
TO DO YOUR SEWING

and this is the place to buy your goods. The store with one price and that the Lowest. We are busy unpacking Spring Goods and can show you a nice line of Messaline, Silks, Crepes, Ratines, Voiles, and Ginghams, Also Laces and Embroidery at prices that will please you.

Remember we carry the celebrated ALBERTA CORESET and have one to fit you. Be sure to call for the Alberta—the brand that speaks for itself.

Clean, Fresh Groceries Always On Hand.

Call In And See Us

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store

A GOOD OLD LAXATIVE

For a good general tonic and alternative, one that you can depend on and one that you can make yourself use—

NYAL'S Mountain Herbs

This is the method—
In a suitatable vessel place a tablespoonful of the Herbs, pour upon them two teacupfuls of boiling water, cover and set aside to steep—do not boil. In fifteen to twenty minutes the strength will be extracted,
A large quantity of medicine can be made from one bottle. The price is only 25 cents.

G. A. PABST

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Hampton court palace, London, may became the home of Lady Scott, widow of the south pole explorer. King George, it is said, having decided to make the offer. These apartments are occupied principally by the widows of men who have greatly distinguished themselves in the service of the country in a naval, military or civil capacity The only stipulation made by the king when he offers a suite is that the recipient may not sublet rooms to any one without obtaining permission from the court.

The introduction of western medicines and methods of treatment in Afghanistan has been accomplished partly through the important influence and example of medical missions along the Indian border and partly by the example set by the ameer buying his own medical supplies outside of Afghanistan and in giving encouragement to local medical practitioners who have been trained in western methods of medicine.

Even little Switzerland is crying out against the increasing cost of the military arm of government. The total estimated revenue of Switzerland for 1914 is $20,000,000 The total estimated expenditures of the government is $21,085,000 By far the heaviest item of expenditure is the army which calls for $9,150 000 Trade, industry and agriculture call for $3,375,000, and the home office for $3,225,000

The experimental work conducted by the Canadian government in regard to the manufacture of peat proved so successful that there are now two private concerns producing peat, one at Alfred, Ontario, and the other at Farnham, Quebec It is said that the pete manufactured by the Canadian government is satisfactory for grates and also good for cooking

Results of anti-typhoid inoculation among the French troops in Algeria and Morocco during 1912 were reported by Professor Vincent at the recent international medical congress in London. In western Morocco, while about 16 per cent among the noninoculated contracted the disease, only one in 5,000 among the inoculated did so.

American trade relations with Chili have made great progress since 1908, when the imports from the United States amounted to only $8 697 289, as compared with $16,806 341 for 1912 a gain of nearly 100 per cent The figures for 1913, not yet compiled will show a still further advance

Coal dealers and merchants in Sweden expect to import considerable quantities of coal from Spitzbergen in 1914 A Swedish company has secured a large tract of land on the island, which is said to contain deposits of coal superior in quality to the best English product

Los Angeles county, California, now has a legally constituted office known as "public defender" said to be the only one in the world It is the duty of the public defender to work as diligently in the defense of any accused person as the district attorney does in his prosecution.

Russian peasants formerly sold their wine in advance to middlemen, realizing only about one-half the value of the product Last year, however there were only a few such transactions and the peasants expect to do without the middlemen in future

George Johannes, a government employe at Washington, received a check from the treasury for 1 cent that being the amount out of which he had cheated himself when in another department, through an error in his accounts.

The average output of coal to each person employed in the industry in the the United States is a little more than 600 tons, in the United kingdom 266 tons, in Germany 240 tons in France 188 tons, and in Belgium 164 tons

China has been hit hard by the increased cost of living The price of rice has jumped 50 per cent since 1911 due partly to the famine and more to the destruction of crops during the fighting on the Yangtze

After a typewriting contest in Copenhagen the words were counted and it was found that the speed was only 67 words a minute To account for the low record it was explained that the words were Danish

In New York city a certificate is issued to all moving picture theaters which are properly ventilated, and the public is asked to patronize only those which display the certificate.

It is estimated that the amount of capital invested in Swiss hotels and restaurants is $175,000,000 and that these establishments employ more than 10,000 persons.

The municipal authorities of Berlin have forbidden men to smoke while driving automobiles, ruling that many accidents have been due to the practice

A German economist, Professor Wolff, estimates that by 1920, if the present tendency continues, Germany's birth rate will be the lowest in Europe.

It is conceded by Englishmen that the American telephone service is superior to that of Great Britain but the latter is being rapidly improved.

Although the United States has more cattle than any other country except India it is the world's greatest importer of hides and skins.

In the west end of London there are scores of head waiters whose incomes range from $' 000 to $4 000 a year from tips alone

Newfoundland is now regarded as one of the most promising future sources of supply of petroleum within the British empire.

The number of passengers carried on British railways in 1911 was 1 326 317 000

Russia is the home of nearly one-half the world's horses

M'MILLANS NOW WANT $50,000 ON ACCOUNT BUSINESS SLANDERS

Famous Iowa Horsemen Institute Proceeding Against Worthington Man.

Rock Rapids, Ia., Feb. 9.—Three of the McMillan brothers, members of the famous horse breeding firm here, have started an action for $50,000 damages against George Patterson, of Worthington, Minn., for alleged slanderous statements about their business methods

They contend, in their petition, that Patterson had a desire to "get even" because H G McMillan, sr., defeated him for president of the Percheron Society of America It is cited that Patterson circulated stories attacking the integrity of their importation certificates.

The plaintiffs claim large damages resulted to their stock breeding business, the profits of which had been running from $30 000 to $40,000 a year, and also to the business of the Farmer and Breeder, a Sioux City publication in which they are interested

It is stated by the plaintiffs that the suit will be pushed to trial at the first term of court

DR. F. T. BREENE CHOSEN DEAN OF DENTAL COLLEGE

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 9 —Dr Frank T. Breene has been selected by the state board of education to be dean of the college of dentistry in the State University of Iowa. The appointment is in harmony with a recent petition of the faculty of the college of dentistry recommending that Dr Breene be elected dean

Dr Breene was born in Iowa, raised in Iowa, educated in Iowa, was graduated both from the college of medicine and from the college of dentistry of the State University of Iowa, practiced in Iowa and for many years has stood as one of the leading dentists in the middle west He has been president of the Iowa State Dental society and has served at different times on its executive committee

After finishing his course in the University of Iowa's college of dentistry in 1888, Dr Breene entered the college of medicine, from which he was graduated in 1893. For the past 20 years he has practiced dentistry in Iowa City and has also taught in the college of dentistry being professor of operative dentistry and therapeutics.

REPORTED ROUTE CHANGE, MANNING TO SIOUX CITY

Denison, Ia Feb 9 —According to a report being circulated at Manning, the Milwaukee railroad intends making an important change in its line from Manning to Sioux City The report says the new line as contemplated will run from Manning directly northwest to Denison and on to Charter Oak then into Sioux City The road for some time has been contemplating double tracking from Manilla to Sioux City, and there may be something tangible in the report coming from Manning The Denison Review says the road should have been built through Denison at the beginning and had Denison been awake instead of sleeping she might have listed the Milwaukee as one of the leading roads to Denison While there is nothing definite in this latest report concerning the new route it might be well for the Commercial club to interest itself and keep posted upon the affairs of the Milwaukee

SWEDISH LUTHERANS HOLD SESSION AT FORT DODGE

Fort Dodge Ia Feb 9 The 46th annual convention of the Swedish Lutheran church of Iowa is in session at Gowrie with 125 delegates attending Reports how good progress in the work for the success of the Iowa Lutheran hospital at Des Moines The Gowrie church has contributed $4 000 and the Dayton church has given $2 000 June 1 was appointed as hospital Sunday in Iowa

Among the prominent speakers at the sessions are Rev C J Segerhammer, of St Louis Rev Emil Ewenson of Lockridge Ia Rev N E Kron of Dayton Ia and Rev. Emil Lund, of Fort Dodge

The business sessions will be concluded today and on Sunday big religious services will conclude the convention

CONSOLIDATION SCHEME IS DEFEATED IN SAC COUNTY

Sac City Ia Feb 9 —The proposition to consolidate the schools of Clinton township was lost by a vote of 43 to 78 The voters of the northern part of the township favor a consolidated school, but oppose a school in the center of the township In the southern districts however there is much opposition to a division of the township, and it was a movement on the part of the northern districts to unite with an adjoining township that precipitated the election

PAYING FARE OF CUSTOMER FOUND EXPENSIVE PRACTICE

Fort Dodge, Ia., Feb 9 —During the latter part of 1913 Fort Dodge merchants paid out more than $9,000 in railroad fares to people who shopped at their places of business. According to newspaper reports some Fort Dodge women would represent that they came from out of town and thus get railroad fare for some distance Some of the stores there have discarded the practice on account of its alleged misuse.

IDA GROVE WOMAN FALLS ON LANTERN; DIES OF BURNS

Ida Grove, Ia., Feb. 9 —Mrs. Paul Kettleson, of Cook township, who lived some 15 miles northwest of Ida Grove, was burned to death She took a lantern and went into an adjoining room and while there must have been stricken with a paralytic stroke for she fell on the lantern and was so terribly burned that she died in a short time Her husband is deaf, the oldest man in the township, aged 85, and did not know of her fate until he went to look for her

HINSHAW FINDS FEDERAL RESTRICTIONS GOVERN

Spirit Lake, Ia., Feb. 9.—E. C. Hinshaw, state game warden, finds that he was mistaken in advising state license holders that they would be allowed to shoot ducks this spring, in spite of federal restrictions. He is now mailing circulars explaining that the federal law is in full force and effect in Iowa. An extract from the circular follows:

"The government passed a law prohibiting spring shooting of ducks, and it was understood that this law would not be put into force until after the close of the present year and the hunting licenses that had been issued had expired. We issued a statement to this effect some time ago, but since have been informed that the government is holding that the law is in force in Iowa and that any parties shooting ducks this spring will be liable to prosecution under the national law.

"So far as the state department is concerned, we expect to fulfill our part of the contract, and will take no part in prohibiting the shooting of ducks until the close of the season according to the Iowa law. We cannot and do not offer any relief to parties who hunt and are prosecuted under the government law, as that is entirely out of our jurisdiction and something over which we have no control."

PRISONERS MAKE RULES IN JOHNSON COUNTY JAIL

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 9.—Monarchy reigns in the Johnson county jail, due to the establishment of a system of government among the prisoners that has been continued for years, being handed along from one set of inmates to another, and persisting even when there were but a couple of prisoners.

This monarchy consists of a king, a lord of the chambers, a royal scullion and retainers Their rank is determined purely by seniority of service.

The king of the calaboose is the prisoner who has served the longest time of any in jail At present this office is held by a man who was sent up a few weeks ago for lifting $75 from the pocket of a friend who was trying on a new suit of clothes.

The king does not work. The newest prisoner is the royal scullion and he washes dishes for the entire set of prisoners. Next higher in rank is the lord of the chambers, who makes beds in the jail Next to the king stands the knight of the mop whose duty is to scrub out the jail. When there are enough prisoners available these dignitaries are given assistants.

CLAIM WEBB-KENYON LAW DID NOT PASS OVER VETO

Des Moines, Ia., Feb 9 —While the Iowa supreme court is deliberating on the meaning of the Webb-Kenyon bill and trying to decide whether or not it is in violation of the constitution of the United States, it is found that the law may yet be completely knocked out on another question just raised in Missouri This is the claim that it was never legally passed over the Taft veto

The bill was vetoed and the congress passed it again The vote in the Senate on February 28, 1913, was 63 for and 21 against with 11 not voting. It is claimed that at that time there were in fact 95 members of the Senate, so that a two-thirds vote would be 63 2-3. This would require 64 votes for passage if the number of member is found to have been 95 at that time. The discrepancy arises over how many really were members.

AGED GRAFTER WORKS ON SYMPATHY AMES CITIZENS

Ames Ia. Feb 9 —A man who claims to be 81 years of age sprang a new way of appealing to charity on most of the city of Ames Ragged and famished the old man who said he was a veteran fell to the sidewalk in front of a newspaper office He was picked up placed in a new outfit of clothing from underwear outward and given a ticket for Marshalltown The old man did not go to Marshalltown, but he went to the college community and collapsed in front of half the club and fraternity houses At each place he was given financial aid and he must have accumulated several student dollars He tried to sell the suit of clothes that was given him by the Associated Charities and he tried to redeem the ticket at the depot

CHEROKEE PIONEER DIES IN DUBUQUE HOSPITAL

Cherokee Ia Feb 9 John Hogan, sr of this city died at Dubuque Tuesday night aged 78 years His death was the result of exposure endured in a railroad wreck in Nebraska last March, from which he never recovered.

Mr Hogan was one of the pioneers of Cherokee county having moved here from Michigan in 1872 He located on a large farm in Sheridan township and founded what is known as the Michigan colony in that township His wife died about 25 years ago He is survived by seven children James L and J T of this city Mrs Alice Dwyer of Ann Arbor Mich Mrs Anna Carney, Dubuque Miss Agnes Hogan Chicago, and Misses Mary and Katherine Hogan, of Dubuque

MEREDITH EXPLAINS WHY HE DROPPED FROM RACE

Des Moines Ia Feb 9 —T E Meredith publisher of Successful Farming, who had been planning to run for governor on the democratic ticket, today issued a statement in which he says he will not be a candidate The chief reason advanced is that because of the state prejudice against the capitol extension, which he favors he feels his candidacy might embarrass the party He also states that because of the feeling against Des Moines he fears a Des Moines man would not prove a popular candidate. While he favors the capital extension Mr Meredith says the question should have been submitted to the people

ONAWA POULTRY PLANT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Onawa Ia Feb 9 —Fire Wednesday morning destroyed the Swift poultry and egg plant here. How the fire originated is not known, it first being discovered at 4 o'clock in the morning. The entire building was enveloped in flames. About 400 head of live poultry was consumed by the flames The building was owned by Frank Hawkins, of this city, and was covered by insurance. It is not determined as to whether it will be rebuilt or not, but it is expected that the Swift company will continue to maintain a branch house at this point.

COUNTIES GET BOOST FROM INTEREST PAID STATE SCHOOL FUND

Woodbury County's Share of Distribution Reaches Neat Sum of $7,006.21.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 7.—Every county of the state will this year receive from the state 32.26 cents for every person between the age of 5 and 21, in the apportionment of interest on the permanent school fund now being made by John L. Bleakly, auditor of state. The first installment or half of the total apportioned, will be sent out to the counties on March 1, and the remainder will be available September 1.

The amount each county will receive will depend upon the result of the school census in the county. Dickinson county showed a total of 3,030 persons between the ages of 5 and 21, and is entitled to $967.47 from the school fund. This is the lowest amount any county will receive. Polk county will receive the highest of any one county. Having a school population of 31,286, the county will receive $10,092.86, on the basis of 32.26 cents per pupil.

The school census showed a loss of population in the state of school age last year. In 1912 there were 672,940 persons over 5 and under 21. In 1913 the number dropped to 670,018.

The amount of money to be apportioned between the counties did not increase to any extent in the last year. There were two small estates added to the fund in 1913. The estate of Harriett Hailstock of Webster county, who died without heirs, amounted to $269.92, and the estate of Edward Townsberger of Des Moines county totalled $204.58.

On January 1, 1914, the total school fund was $4,803,890.39, which at 4 5 per cent interest produced $216,175.07 during 1913

Woodbury county's school population is shown to be 21,067, which will draw a payment of $7,006.21. Of the Woodbury residents between the ages of 5 and 21, the males number 10,610 and the females 10,457.

PHARMACY CANDIDATES BOUGHT QUESTION LISTS

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 7.—That 10 of the 30 successful candidates for licenses as registered pharmacists in Iowa made up a jackpot of $300 and bought copies of the examination questions given by the Iowa state board of pharmacy in its regular test, January 21, was the statement made by John Fletcher, assistant attorney general, last night.

Mr Fletcher with the members of the state board, has been making an extended investigation. The leak has been traced to the office of Robert H derson, state printer, according to Mr Fletcher.

Those successful in obtaining licenses since the last examination have been called to Des Moines from all parts of the state since the rumors of cheating started nearly two weeks ago. Ten of the 30 owned up to helping make up the $300 for the purchase of the questions in advance of the examination. Two of the applicants for licenses paid $10 each for their copies of the questions, while the other eight had to give $25 each. The board probably will revoke the licenses of the 10 men who admitted cheating and compel them to take another examination. The board will make every effort to find the employe of the state printer who aided them and discharge him.

There are persistent rumors today that similar affairs have taken place before and that in one instance one man received a $500 jackpot from would be druggists for stealing questions for them Police are holding W F. Thompson, linotype operator, J Packmon, clerk in the McKay Pharmacy, and Charles Randolph, an employe in the office of state printer Robert Henderson

POLICE CAPTAIN APPEALS REMOVAL FROM FORCE

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 7 —An appeal from his suspension from the police department will be filed with the civil service commission by G. J. Breeding, night captain of police, who was found in an alleged disorderly room Wednesday evening.

Breeding's decision to appeal his suspension immediately solved a question which was perplexing Chief Jenney and Superintendent Van Liew. They could not ascertain whether the city council or the civil service board should take up the captain's case.

Dr. C. N. O. Leir, chairman of the civil service commission, said that the council has no power in such a matter. There is no truth in the contention of some that the council should conduct an investigation because Breeding obtained his appointment to the captaincy through that body, according to Dr Leir.

Grace Holmes, the woman with whom Breeding was found, will be tried before Police Judge Utterback on a charge of keeping and maintaining a disorderly house.

ESTHETIC WINNER MINISTER HAD CAREER AT CARROLL

Carroll Herald: Lyn Geo. J. Kelly came to Carroll over a year ago to preach as a supply in the Presbyterian church. He was a student in the theological institute in Omaha, and his sermons attracted wide attention He soon had the satisfaction of preaching to full congregations, and attempted a revival But he did not last long, listeners detected a woeful lack of kernels in his chaff and verbiage. His personality was repulsive to many and he manifestly lacked the essential element of spirituality. It is very evident now that his real personality became known to persons who mistakenly concealed his real lack of ordinary manhood, to say nothing of Christianity He was veritably fired along in the summer It is now stated that his hasty and informal departure was in a measure due to conduct not wholly unlike that charged against him since leaving Carroll. He bamboozled some while here, though there were many who knew his real character but for obvious reasons kept still.

Condemned as useless but a few years ago, the Eiffel tower has made Paris the center of the wireless world

M. W. A. INSURGENCY AT WEBSTER CITY HEAD CAMP CLEA

Resolutions Oppose Re-Ele of Any Officers Concern in the Rate Increase

Webster City, Ia., Feb 6 [illegible] seething hotbed or Mod[illegible] W insurgency toward the pr[illegible] camp of the order. Webster Ci[illegible] has just adopted sweeping res[illegible] demanding a thorough house le[illegible] the head camp and oppos[illegible] tion or reappointment to [illegible] one who favored or adv[illegible] "Chicago rates." The [illegible] clare that Webster City W[illegible] unalterably opposed to the rate tion adopted by the Chicago he[illegible] in special session in the [illegible] do hereby demand its repeal reinactment of our former pl[illegible] rates of assessment."

It is also further resolved "[illegible] asmuch as the best interests of [illegible] der, and the perpetuity of W[illegible] make a thorough housecleaning [illegible] society imperative, we, therefo[illegible] strongly opposed to the elect[illegible] election, appointment or reappoi[illegible] to any office by the head cam[illegible] held at Toledo, Ohio, June [illegible] either directly or indirectly [illegible] neighbor who voted for, favo[illegible] vocated, or who may now be [illegible] pathy with the Chicago rates"

Other resolutions follow

"Resolved, That we are stro[illegible] posed to more than two cons[illegible] terms for any officer of the hea[illegible] including all head officers and th[illegible] pointees, and that no person [illegible] permitted to hold any two of[illegible] immediate succession.

"Resolved, That we favor a[illegible] mand a substantial reduction [illegible] salaries of our head officers an[illegible] appointees and a general and [illegible] retrenchment in the expense o[illegible] ducting the business of the so[illegible]

"Resolved, That we demand t[illegible] storation of self-government [illegible] membership, to the end that any [illegible] of the policies and principles [illegible] society may be determined only [illegible] submission therof to the said m[illegible] ship and their ratification by a ma[illegible] vote thereon."

IDA GROVE MAN GETS NORTHWESTERN PEN

Ida Grove, Ia., Feb [illegible] Penning, of this city, has been [illegible] on the pension list by the North[illegible] Railway company. Mr Penning [illegible] the company's employ in the [illegible] 1876, when he assisted in build[illegible] line from Maple River Junction [illegible] as this place, the first train [illegible] the city in the spring of 187[illegible] year he was given the section fo[illegible] ship at this point, and he contin[illegible] this work until 11 years ago w[illegible] gave up the foremanship, but th[illegible] pany retained him in railroa[illegible] work. Mr. Penning is in no [illegible] financial aid, but during the rem[illegible] of his life he will draw a month[illegible] sion check for $13.75.

FLAG LABELING AUCTION CAUSES WOMAN TO PRO

Sanbor[illegible] Ia., Feb. 6.—Some commotion was caused here by [illegible] of an American flag to desig[illegible] auction sale of household goods in an empty store room. A [illegible] who stated that her patriotic se[illegible] ities were outraged by this us[illegible] flag made a protest to those in [illegible] of the sale and was informed [illegible] was none of her business. This [illegible] then states that she appealed t[illegible] patriotic instructor of the W[illegible] Relief corps and was again inf[illegible] that the incident was not wo[illegible] agitation. The woman who m[illegible] protest was a native of Massa[illegible] and declares that her reveren[illegible] flag dates from the stirring t[illegible] the civil war.

NUMBERED LEAD PENCILS PREVENT GERM CONF

Council Bluffs, Ia., Feb. 6 - S[illegible] pencils for the primary pupils, new battle cry of certain [illegible] thusiasts who have watched [illegible] stallation of sanitary drink f[illegible] tains at all the school buildings city, have witnessed the disapp[illegible] of the common drinking cup [illegible] road trains; and have behe[illegible] abolition of the roller towel f[illegible] public places.

In the upper grades of the s[illegible] of course, the pupils all supply [illegible] own pencils, but in the primary the teachers keep a supply o[illegible] which are passed out to the n[illegible] of the classes that will desire them

One child will chew the end pencil, which is then passed [illegible] teacher The next day another feasts on the same pencil, cont[illegible] and tangling the germ collection it is beyond all restraint or con[illegible]

A member of the Mothers cl[illegible] offered the solution. Now all the [illegible] cils are passed out by the p[illegible] teachers as before, with this differ[illegible] Each pencil now bears a number each child receives the same pe[illegible] was chewing the previous day

SUGGESTS NEW PLAN TO DISTRIBUTE LIGHTING

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 6.—P[illegible] solutions of many street lighting [illegible] lems, and other questions relati[illegible] public utilities, were placed befo[illegible] officials of 40 cities of the st[illegible] Iowa in the "municipal lighting c[illegible] ence" held under the auspices [illegible] State university college of eng[illegible] ing yesterday.

Dean Raymond, head of the [illegible] of engineering, created a great in[illegible] by proposing a new system of d[illegible] bution of the cost of public uti[illegible] electric lighting, gas and water [illegible] plies, under municipal ownership proposed divfding the cost into [illegible] parts, charging a portion on every payer for general service to all [illegible] zens, a second portion levied o[illegible] property enjoying potential or [illegible] service because of the existence [illegible] service lines in its vicinity and a portion paid by the users for the service rendered to them exclus[illegible]

Under the present system of c[illegible] ing the whole cost of operation [illegible] actual consumer, the consumer [illegible] stand the entire expense of [illegible] lighting and of water used [illegible] protection, while the benefits a[illegible] by the entire population.

CAUGHT IN EAT JAMS OF ICE

ing Schooners Trapped Navy Tug Cannot Be Located.

on, Feb. 9.—Wireless calls ring out from the big navy at Arlington today to the frozen of the New Foundland coast, for the navy tug Potomac, the ice after an unsuccessful to rescue the crews of the schooners Hiram Lowell and Willard They heavy ice packs Bay of Islands turned the sturdy Potomac back from her work of rescue days of useless smashing at the fields that hold the Lowell and Willard prisoners. She left the for North Sydney Thursday night should have put into port yester- When the tug was not heard today navy officers said there no cause for alarm, but put the less feeling for her They thought she merely had been delayed making way through the heavy ice in the straits.

The however, probably will be the safety of the crews of the im- prisoned fishing schooners Officials are not concerned for their safety, if their ships are crushed in the they easily can make their way ashore over the ice.

PLUNDERERS WHO LOOTED RAILROAD FACE PROSECUTION

Feb. 9.—Senator Nor- directing the Interstate commission to continue its of New Haven railroad passed today by the Sen- modified form.

He had been informed that Paris bankers commission 7½ per cent, Speyer & Co. French people to buy the a few months before the nt into bankruptcy sult was that American given a greater blow in n it had ever received be- ared Senator Lodge.

Oliver put into the record tment of Speyer & Co. as its of the navy department ited States in London last

Kenyon made a vigorous ling for investigation of the that enormous funds of the ven have vanished He re- the story of the plunder of Haven as "a tale of infamy" ared the plunderers to "yegg- o rob a bank or the guard- filches from his ward"

Norris insisted that further tion might furnish a basis for gs by the present manage- the New Haven to recover for the widows and orphans e been plundered."

y General McReynolds takes that any prosecutions for operations of the New York, en & Hartford railroad must der state laws, not federal according to a statement in e today by Mr. Newlands, of The attorney general's was reported during debate, Norris resolution to direct state Commerce commission its investigation of New fairs was taken up.

odification was to specify the ion need not duplicate any of ous work and leaving it to the n of the commission of whether ious investigation had de- all the information it de- Commissioner Prouty, who the first investigation, recently he could see little to be gained er work by the commission, something might be brought committee of congress.

information was called for by lution became of the funds of the ven invested in various en- and corporations mentioned recent report of the Interstate ce commission" ther the person or persons au- investment of those funds person or persons receiving efit are liable to punishment existing laws ther under existing law these an be recovered on behalf of kholders of said company legislation, if any, is nec- to prevent the recurrence of transactions"

MEETING BOLTED BY CUMMINS AND CLAPP

ington, D C., Feb 7.—Because ere informed that amendments t bills proposed by them would sidered, but would be decided by mocratic members of the com- sitting in secret session by lves, Senators Cummins and walked out of a session of the ate commerce committee They otest on the floor of the Senate tor Cummins said he would have to do with such proceedings. al with legislation in secret cau- the majority of the Senate," nator Cummins, "is bad enough, hen it comes to the shaping of tion in secret sessions of the ma- of a committee, that to be is so ent that I will not consent to hout protest."

eveloped the democrats on the ittee had held two secret ses- and decided against part of Sen- Cummins' amendments to the commission bill.

ROCKEFELLER TAX FIGHT COME TO HEAD MONDAY

eland, Ohio, Feb 9.—With John ockefeller in New York, where he from here yesterday afternoon, D Fackler and William Agnew, y state tax commissioners, said they would take no action to list feller's $500,000,000 personal prop- in Cuyahoga county duplicate here Monday. Today marks the expir- of the time provided by law for feller to voluntarily list his rty here.

CLUB WILL PROCURE WORK FOR THE IDLE

Prominent Women Form Association to Help Unemployed Sisters.

New York, Feb. 9.—To provide work for unemployed women and girls is the object of an organization formed today at a general meeting of women prominent in social and philanthropic work. The committee on ways and means, appointed at a preliminary meeting a week ago, has issued a brief statement requesting the co-operation of all women in sympathy with the movement.

The women who have interested themselves in the movement include Mrs. Amos Pinchot, Mrs. Ogden Reid, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Walter Maynard and Mrs. Grant La Farge

In connection with the organization, a free employmen bureau for women has been established at the Women's Trade Union league headquarters, which is near the center of a large district of garment and other factories.

WILSON PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO BRYAN

Baltimore, Md Feb 9 President Wilson in a letter to William L Marbury, of this city published in the Baltimore Sun today says that the exemption of American coastwise ships from Panama canal tolls 'constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view and benefits for the present, at any rate only a monopoly The president also pays a high tribute to Secretary of State Bryan

The letter follows

White House Washington February 5 1914—My Dear Mr Marbury I have your letter of January 30 With regard to the question of canal tolls my opinion is very clear The exemption constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view It is economically unjust as a matter of fact it benefits for the present at any rate only a monopoly and it seems to me in clear violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty There is of course much honest difference of opinion as to the last point as there is no doubt, as to the others but it is at least debatable and if the promises we make in such matters are debatable I for one, do not care to debate them I think the country would prefer to let no question arise as to its whole hearted purpose to redeem its promises in the light of any reasonable construction of them rather than debate a point of honor

Your reference to the secretary of state shows how comprehensively you have looked on during the last few months Not only have Mr. Bryan's character his justice his sincerity his transparent integrity his Christian principle made a deep impression upon all with whom he has dealt but his tact in dealing with men of many sorts his capacity for business his mastery of the principles of each matter he has been called upon to deal with have cleared away many a difficulty and have given to the policy of the state department a definiteness and dignity that are very admirable I need not say what pleasure and profit I myself, have taken from close association with Mr Bryan or how thoroughly he has seemed to all of us who are associated with him here to deserve not only our confidence but our affectionate admiration

(Signed) Sincerely yours Woodrow Wilson

WHAT IT COSTS TO LIVE IN MANHATTAN BOROUGH

New York Feb 9 —On an income of between $1,050 and $1,150 a year a family of five can live, under ordinary conditions in fair comfort in the borough of Manhattan, and an income of between $1,100 and $1,200 probably is necessary for the average family to maintain unaided a normal standard of living in that borough, "preserving health; mind, character, self respect and proper conditions of family life"

This is what the experience of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor in caring for 27 families in the Home hospital in the Vanderbilt tenements has taught, according to a report issued by the organization For the daily budget of an average family, based on its observations, the association allows 65 cents for rent and $1 29 for food Clothing is given at 43 cents per day and miscellaneous items bring the daily expense to $2 96½ or $1,082 25 a year, for a family of five

GREAT AERIAL RACE TO MONTE CARLO PLANNED

New York Feb 9 —From seven capitals in Europe airmen are to take flight simultaneously on April 20, according to a cablegram which reached the Aero Club of America last night, and all of them are to make the Monte Carlo casino their goal. For the first airman from each city to alight on the Monte Carlo grounds a prize of $5,000 will be waiting.

Besides the first prize there will be prizes of $2,000 for the flier from each capital who makes the best time and prizes of $1 000 for those finishing second. The European capitals selected as starting points are London, Brussels, Paris, Gotha, Madrid, Vienna and Rome.

A route has been designated to Monaco and all the fliers will have to pass above a number of intervening cities.

HANK O'DAY WOULD STOP GIVING BASE ON BALLS

Chicago, Feb 9—A rule limiting the catcher to a "box" four feet in width will be suggested by Umpire Henry O'Day at the baseball rules meeting in New York next Monday as a means of preventing the international base on balls. O'Day, who is one of the National league's representatives for the meeting, believes that a pitcher will have difficulty in "pitching out" or beyond the reach of the batsman's club, if the catcher is compelled to stand practically behind the plate.

O'Day will try to get a ruling enforcing the rule that keeps a manager on the bench and limits protests on umpires' decisions to the field captains.

You'll wake up with a good taste in your mouth if you chew this after every meal.

The refreshing digestion aiding mint leaf juice does it.

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT PEPSIN GUM

THE FLAVOR LASTS

THE FLAVOR LASTS

Wrigley Jr Co CHICAGO

This clean, pure, healthful gum purifies your mouth —sweetens your breath. It's a pleasant, inexpensive, beneficial pastime. It brightens teeth besides.

BUY IT BY THE BOX

at most dealers for 85 cents

Each box contains twenty 5 cent packages

Chew it after every meal

It stays fresh until used

6

Well, Does It?

France is considering a new method of checking her falling birth rate Every male head of a family would have by this arrangement as many votes as he represents persons—"two, if married without children, three, four, five, etc., if he has one, two, three children who do not themselves vote" "This," adds our informant, "The British Merical Journal," "seems logical"

Nightly coughing and torturing throat-tickle quickly relieved by Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops—5c at all Druggists.

Its Drawback.

Jinks—"You don't mean to say your wife wants to sell that prize toy terrier you bought for her?" Binks—"Yes, she does." "Why, I thought that dog was said to be the smallest dog in the world" "That's the trouble It's so small she keeps mistaking it for a mouse!"

Putnam Fadeless Dyes are the easiest to use. Adv.

Light From Mushrooms.

Mushrooms growing on decayed wood often have a degree of brilliancy that, when they are placed on a newspaper, will enable one to read the words in their vicinity with no other light. One species of mushroom in Australia, 16 inches in diameter, was of such brilliancy that, seen from a distance, its light frightened the natives.

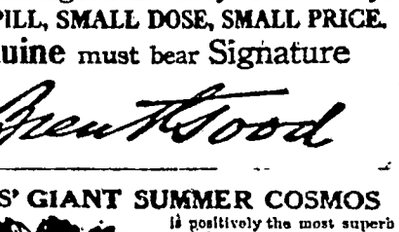
Divided Up.

"Her warm heart is mine."

"And I get a cold shoulder."

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.



Purely vegetable —act surely and gently on the liver. Cure Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, and Indigestion. They do their duty.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

CHILDS' GIANT SUMMER COSMOS

is positively the most superb and beautiful garden flower known Blooms profusely from June to Nov , each plant producing thousands of flowers, larger and more exquisite than the fall Cosmos, white blush, pink, rose, crimson etc Thrives anywhere finest cut flower for vases, etc. Mailed for 10 cts. per pkt., including 5 other leading Novelties free for trial, viz.

Crego Pink, largest and finest of all Asters

Fansy, Orchid-fld, superb new orchid colors.

Primrose, New Giant White.

Petunia, Brilliant Beauty

Snowball Tomato, new (white)

All these Six leading Seed Novelties for only 10 cts., together with Notes on Culture, Catalogue, Floral Hints, etc

Our Big Catalogue of Flower and Veg. Seeds, Bulbs, Plants and rare new Fruits FREE to all who apply We are the largest growers in the world of Gladiolus, Cannas, Dahlias, Lilies, Iris, etc., and our stocks are best and cheapest.

JOHN LEWIS CHILDS, Floral Park, N Y

PISO'S REMEDY

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.

25 CTS. FOR COUGHS AND COLDS 25 CTS.

35 BUSHELS PER ACRE was the yield of WHEAT

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

on many farms in Western Canada in 1913, some yields being reported as high as 50 bushels per acre. As high as 100 bushels were recorded in some districts for oats, 50 bushels for barley and from 10 to 20 bus. for flax.

J. Keys arrived in the country 5 years ago from Denmark with very little means. He homesteaded, worked hard, is now the owner of 320 acres of land, in 1913 had a crop of 200 acres, which will realize him about $4,000. His wheat weighed 68 lbs. to the bushel and averaged over 35 bushels to the acre.

Thousands of similar instances might be related of the homesteaders in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop of 1913 was an abundant one everywhere in Western Canada.

Ask for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates. Apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D.
W V BENNETT, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska.
and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson St., St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agent

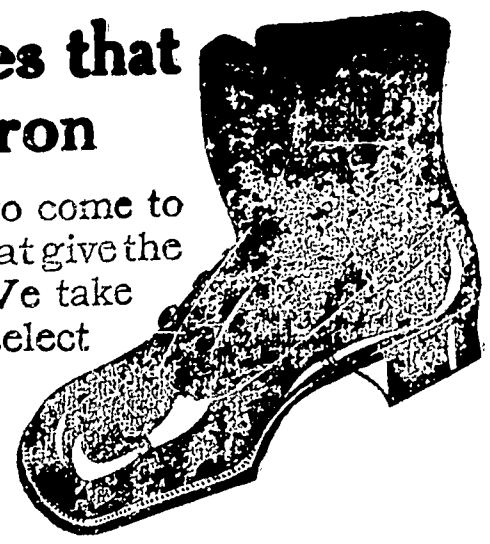
EYE ACHES Pettit's Eye Salve

Alfalfa Seed $6 Farms for sale and rent. J Mulhall, Sioux City Ia.

FREE TO DETROIT, FLORIDA — CLIP THIS AD, appearing but once Send with letter for information about free trip to Detroit's Celebration February 20th and 21st. completion first canal and rock paved road from Detroit nine miles to Biscayne Bay. Detroit the farthest south town, in the semi tropics. Agents bring buyers, regular commissions Miami Land & Development Co Detroit Dade Co Southeast Florida.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 7-1914.

School Shoes that wear like iron



This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

The store where you need anything in the line of Hardware and Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best makes of Farm Machinery. We carry the best Paints Oils and Varnish

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all-steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent.

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day

Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

E. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

NOTICE OF LETTING TILE CONTRACT.

Sealed bids will be received at the Auditors office in Garner, Hancock county, Iowa, until 1 o'clock p. m., March 9th. 1914, at which time and place the contract will be awarded to the lowest and best bidder for the material and labor necessary to construct county drain No. 34. (Petition of J. J. Stauffer et al) according to the plans and specifications on file in the Auditors office, said district being in the N. E. part of Avery township and is located and divided into sections as follows.

Sec.	Lat.	No Tile	Size	Av. Depth
1	Main	2300	28"	7'
		3500	26"	6 9'
		3.00	24'	6 9'
		2300	22'	6.5
		2700	18"	7 8
		17 0	16"	5.4
2	1	1000	14"	6'
		10:0	12'	6'
		500	10'	6
3	2	2200	12"	6 2'
4	3	2000	16"	6 8
		20:0	15'	7
		1400	14"	6 4'
5	4	600	10"	6 7
6	5	150	12"	6 4
7	6	2000	15"	6 3
		2200	1[illegible]	[illegible]
		50[illegible]	[illegible]"	[illegible]
8	7	1500	12"	6'

20' galvanized iron outlet pipe
Filling at outlet per cu. yar[illegible]
Concrete lu[illegible] per cu. ya[illegible]
Four surface inle[illegible]
All tile to be [illegible] quality bu[illegible] burned clay, which [illegible] fur[illegible] ply with the spe[illegible] tions as adopted [illegible] State Drainage [illegible] 13, 1913, and all ti[illegible] on the ground and [illegible] hitch before [illegible] Engineer or his [illegible] or assistant.

All connections of [illegible] with main or Laterals will [illegible] as to be made [illegible] joints. No cement [illegible] cepted where holes [illegible] the outlet pipe. All [illegible] lets to connect with the drain will be T. joints and to have suitable grated iron covers.

Said work to be completed not later than Janv 1 1915

All bids must be accompanied with cash or certified check for 10 per cent thereof, and each bid to show price per 100 ft. complete

Bids must be by sections separating main from laterals.

Successful bidders will be required to execute bond in favor of the county in the sum of 25 per cent of the bid and to execute contract within ten (10) days after work is awarded

Board reserves the right to reject and and all bids All bidders for said work shall give price per lineal rod for each tenth foot over or under depths

Dated at Garner, Iowa, Jany 22nd, 1914.

(SEAL) W. L. FITKIN,
Auditor of Hancock Co., Iowa

PUBLIC AUCTION

Three miles east and one-half mile north of Klemme, 8 miles southeast of Garner, 10 miles southwest of Ventura.

February 20th. 1914

10 o'clock sharp. All machinery and household goods will be positively sold before noon.

Free lunch at noon served by Kirkwood.

7 Head of Horses—1 sorrel horse 11 years, weight 1200; 1 brown mare 10 years, weight about 1200; 1 brown horse coming 4 years, weight about 1200 2 gray geldings coming 3 years, weight about 2600; 1 gray mare coming 3 years, weight about 1200, 1 black horse colt coming 2 years

23 Cattle—5 cows, some fresh, four soon, 9 heifers coming 3 years old with calf; 1 Hereford bull, 1 year

4 Head of two year-old Steers

4 Spring Calves—14 sows, all bred, 1 sow with 7 small pigs 8 weeks old

About 150 chickens.

Machinery—1 Dain hay loader; 1 McCormick mower, 1 Deering rake; 2 Sattley cultivators with scraper attachment; 1 Hay's corn planter with 160 rods of wire; 1 Derric gang plow; 1 Derric sulky ploy; 1 R. T. disc; 1 spader; 1 seeder; 1 four section drag; 1 feed grinder; 1 Clover Seal manure spreader; 1 nearly new Birdsell wagon; 1 truck wagon with rack; 1 surrey; 1 single top buggy; 1 pair bob sleds; 1 tank and tank heater 1 lawn swing; 1 grind stone; 3 sets of double work harness; 1 saddle; 1 single harness; 400 bushels of corn in crib; some hay in stack; 10 bushels of clover seed; 12 bushels seed corn; 3 swarms of bees. All household goods will be sold and other articles too numerous to mention.

JOHN A. JOHNSON, Prop.
J. A. Young, Auctioneer.
P. M. Griesemer, Clerk.

PUBLIC AUCTION

2 miles east and 2 miles north of Klemme right near Ed Center school house, 6 miles southeast of Garner, 10 miles southwest of Ventura

10 o'clock. Free lunch at noon served at 11:30 sharp by Kirkwood.

FEBRUARY 17th, 1911

7 Horses 7

Team bays (driving team) 6 and 7 years old, weight 2300 pounds; pair [illegible] (one and one grey) 4 and 4 years old, weight 3200 pounds; sorrel gelding 5 years old, weight 1400 pounds; Grey mare in foal, 12 years old, weigh 1700 pounds, mare colt one year old

9 Head Cattle 9

1 milch cow; 2 coming 3 years old; 2 steers two years old.

5 brood sows, bred.

80 Chickens 80

6 bushels good seed corn

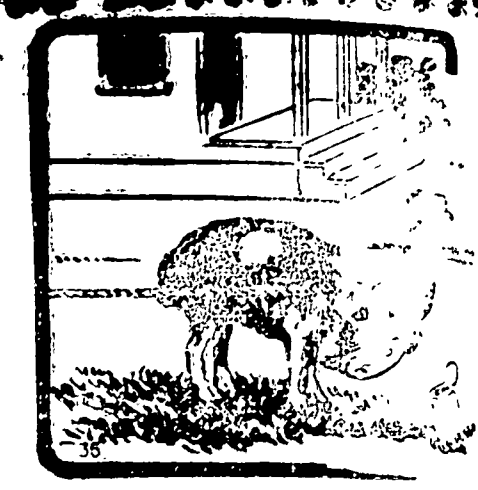
Machinery—8 foot Acme Binder, new; McCormick mower, hay rake; 16 inch Deere Sulky plow 14 inch walking plow; 2 six shovel riding cultivators; waking cultivator; Rock Island disc; 16 foot drag, 11 foot seeder; corn planter with 120 rods wire; low wagon with box; 2 steel truck wagons, bob sled; top buggy; open buggy; colt cart; hay rack; corn sheller; 2 scoop boards; 3 sets of work harness; single harness; Swedish sleigh bells.

Household goods and other articles too numerous to mention.

IVER ARVIDSON, Prop.
J. A. Young, Auctioneer.
P. M. Griesemer, Clerk

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath,
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick



There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

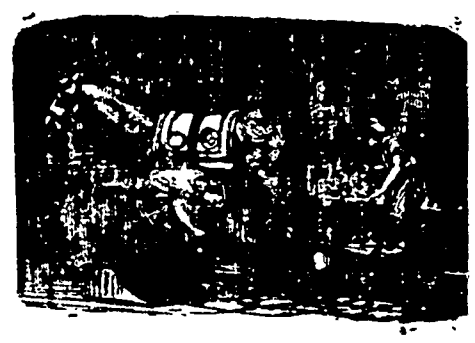
To The Housewife

Watch This Space Next Week We Will Have Something Interesting To Relate

---

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.



W. F. PAVE

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share your patronage and if work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 26 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 19, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

to do your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

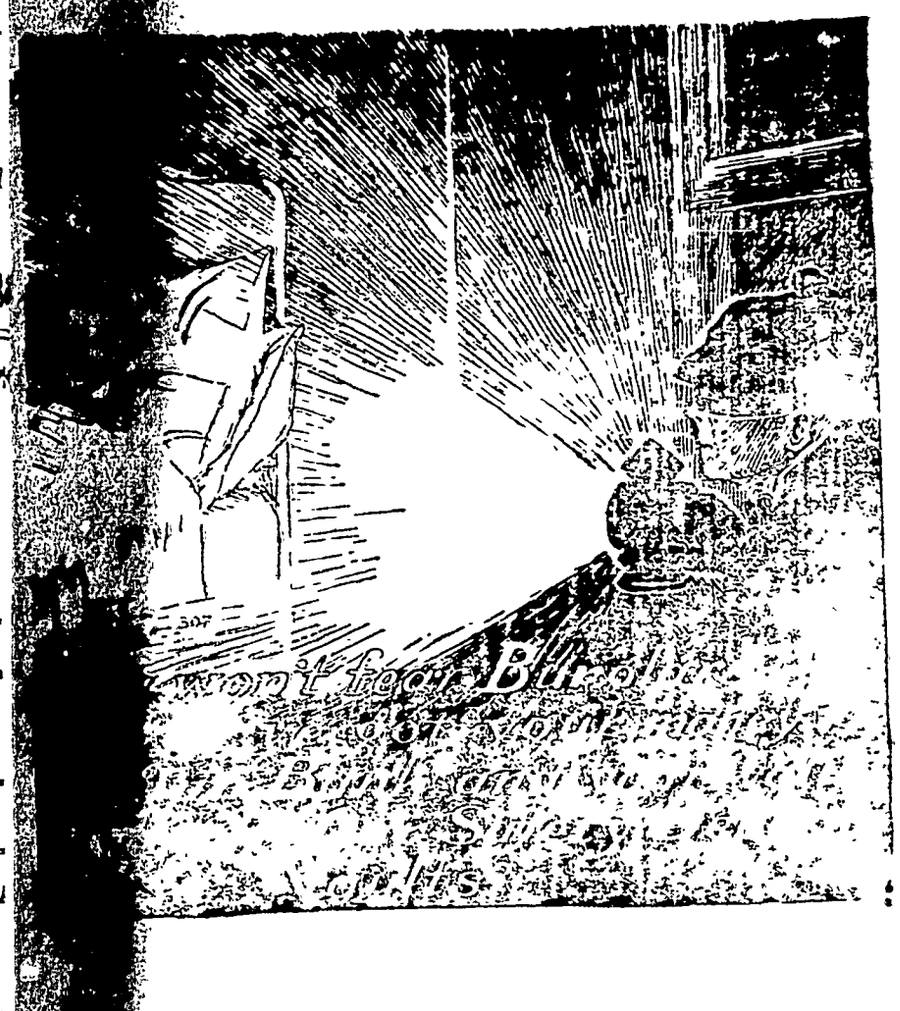
is proof of the success of this policy



you got a SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX? If nt one from us and put away safely YOUR and your valuable papers, jewels and oms. We will charge you a rental of only er year, for a private box. Then your e things will be SAFE from fire and bur- Also put YOUR MONEY IN OUR BANK

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

lowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

Will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

Local Overflow

Items of Interest to You and Your Neighbor

Gruetzmacher Bros. are their new implement building completed and now is filled with all kinds of new machinery. If you are in need of any implinery kindly call and look stock over.

The stock train was wrecked about a mile south of town early Sunday morning and two cars of grain went into the ditch. The track was put in passable condition Sunday by the wrecking crew and section men.

What is a gawk? A gawk is an awkward fellow, not necessarily a "rube" or a "clod-hopper." Some of our greatest men were called "gawks" in their youth —Abraham Lincoln for instance. Opera house, March 5th.

My residence property in town and farm of 58 acres for sale. Both properties to be sold together or separate providing both will be sold. Possession given March 1st. Will also sell all personal property with same.

C. W. Stiehl.

Geo. Schroeder who has been suffering some time past with dropsy passed away Monday afternoon. The funeral services were held at the German Reformed church, Thursday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock and the remains laid to rest in the local cemetery. We will publish the obituary in our next issue.

The Grand Jurors drawn for 1914 who are from this vicinity are, Tom Elder, C. G. Lowhorn, O. H. Garten and Wm. Bredlow. The petit jurors drawn from this vicinity for the March term of court are Chas. Busch, Louis Griffen, Wm. Haes, Herman Kalter, Chas. Lewis, Clarence Merten and James Quigley.

The editor of this weekly conglomeration has been trying to be laid up this week with an abscess caused by a "bum" tooth and likely some of the blame can be laid to an over dose of vacuum in our upper story. Dr. Parsons tapped the cuss Friday or we would have likely had to call in outside assistance in order to get out this paper.

Will Nissen went to Lake Mills, Saturday, for an over Sunday visit with his brother, Chas, who has a position in the Graphic printing office. Wm. returned here Monday, and left Tuesday for a visit with his brother, George at Iowa Falls and Joe at Estherville, before leaving for his home at Lisbon, North Dakota, where he is the owner of a paying business.

V. E. Carlson departed Tuesday for Atkins, Iowa, where he has secured a position as manager for a Farmers' elevator. V. has lived here so long that he will be greatly missed and his many friends regret his departure. He a model young man and capable of holding down the position for which he has been selected. The people of Atkins are fortunate to secure him as a citizen.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

...ion of
... WIEGMANN
... & LAU
... A. ARNOLD

Interest On Time Deposits.

THE Value of A Dollar
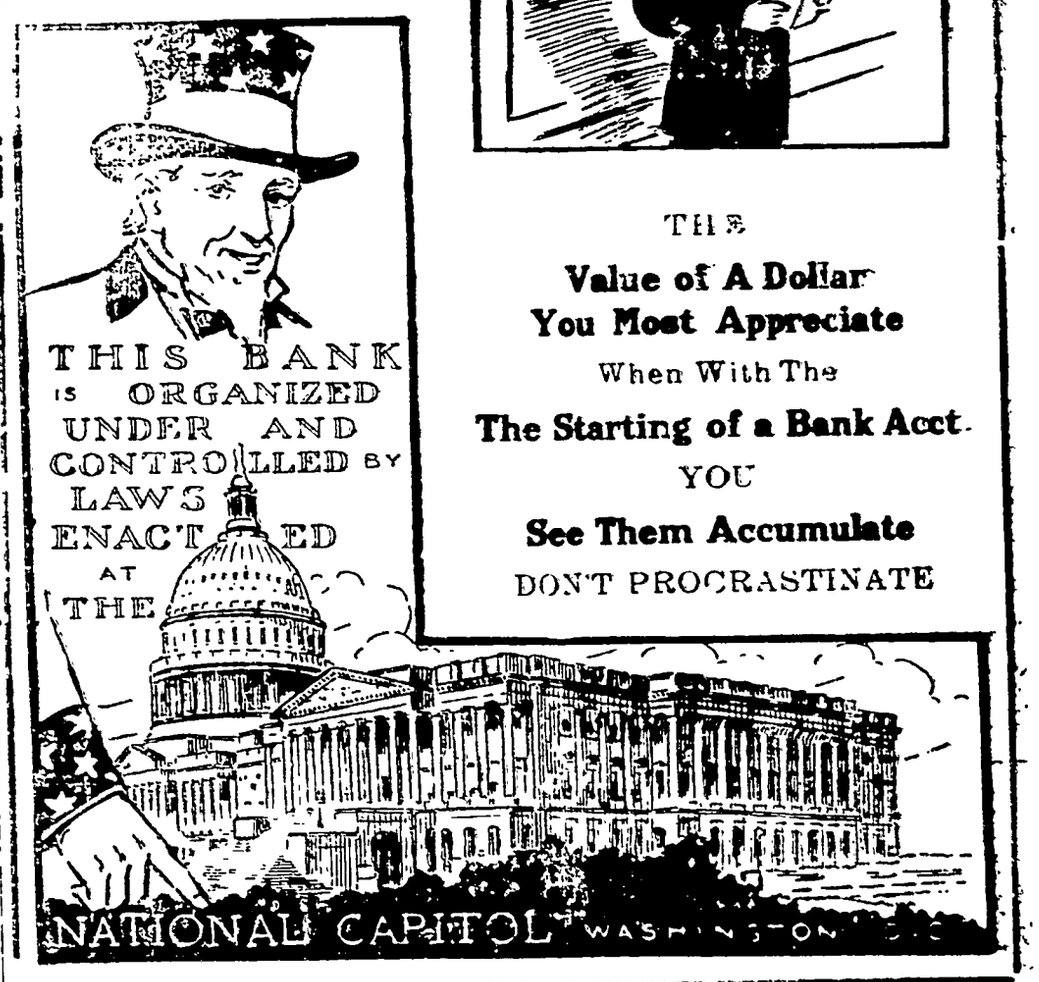
You Most Appreciate
When With The
The Starting of a Bank Acct.
YOU
See Them Accumulate
DON'T PROCRASTINATE

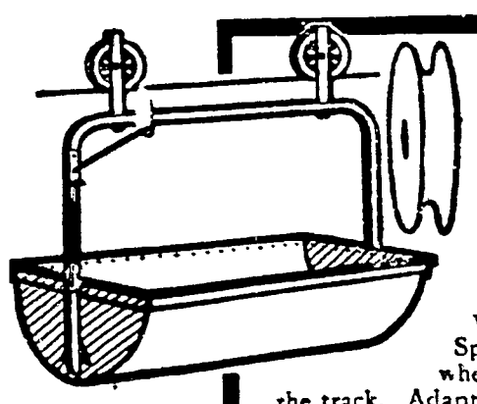


KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited
All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants



The Moyer Litter Carrier

has no complicated parts to get out of order. Strong, simple and always on the job. Special deep-groove wheels so it can't jump the track. Adaptable to any requirements. Guaranteed for five years and we now offer it for

30 DAYS Trial Free
Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual work. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not

Exclusive Dealers
H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

PIANOS

G. F SCHULER Handles The CABLE, NELSON PIANO

"THE GRAND OLD NAME," which stands for:
ATTRACTIVENESS, TONE, DURABILITY
Call in and look them over, prices reasonable.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

The whaling bark Charles W. Morgan, of New Bedford, is said to be the oldest whaling vessel in the world. Built in 1841, she has hunted whales for 72 years, and is still seaworthy. On her latest voyage she took 3,000 barrels of serum oil and obtained 15 barrels of that coveted trophy, ambergris, which is the whaleman's greatest prize.

Statistics issued by the provisional forest branch of the department of lands at Victoria show that the cost of timber fire protection for the present year is much less than for any previous year in the history of the department. The cost for fire protection during the first 10 months of 1913 was less than $8,000, as compared with $30 000 in 1912.

The Great Western Railway company has put in service two experimental fireproof trains, each consisting of four cars. The cars are built entirely of steel and they are lighted throughout electrically. Wood has been practically eliminated from these trains. The only wooden construction is the footboard on the outside.

According to a conservative estimate, in an ocean steamer of 100 feet beam, 950 feet in length, and 60,000 horsepower, no less than 20 per cent of the horsepower, or about 12,000 would be consumed in overcoming head wind resistance when the ship was steaming at 15 knots against a 65-mile gale.

Elk have been found in the Uinta national forest, Utah, for the first time in many years. Since they are not from shipments from the Jackson hole country to neighboring forests the state and federal officials are gratified at this apparent increase in the game as the result of protection.

According to a Kansas paper a man in that state bought his wife a revolver with which to defend herself but after a bullet had been dug out of his leg, and the cow had been buried he decided she had better do her defending with an ax.—Kansas City (Mo.) Journal

For the first six months of 1913 the total importations of complete motor cars into the United Kingdom amounted to $4,469,855 of chassis, $4,881,123, and of parts, $9 202,264 Exports for the same period were as follows. Complete cars, $5,317,113, chassis, $1,235,282 parts, $3,833,594

After the caretaker in a public park in San Francisco had watched over a mango tree on which there was fruit for the first time in several years, a monkey escaped from an organ grinder, and, making a bee line for the tree, ate all the mangoes, which were ready for picking

A woman riding in a trolley car in Philadelphia found an umbrella, and by the initials on the handle traced its owner and went to return it The latter, however, at first disclaimed it, but later recognized it as an umbrella which she had lost five years before.

Mrs. Kate Penner and Gertrude Pendel, English nurses connected with the Constantinople hospital have received Red Cross medals from the German emperor for gallant service during the Balkan war.

The first baby born in Lorraine Ohio, will receive from merchants of the town gifts including a theater pass for life and corsets or barber service for life, as the case may be

The free lodging house in Hibiya ward, Tokio, has housed 50,000 persons since its institution 11 years ago. Most of the lodgers have been men between the ages of 20 to 30

The first skyscraper was planned (but not built) by a Parisian architect in the year 1601 It was to be more than 700 feet high and provide rooms for 500 persons

The mayor-elect of Portsmouth N H and five ex-mayors live on the same street in that city and it is proposed to change the name of the street from Middle to Easy

Recent surveys of an island in Nagasaki harbor have revealed an extensive deposit of coal and Japan has found another coal mine close to its Sasebo naval station

Having introduced medical inspection in 1872, Elmira, N. Y., asserts its claim to having been the first American city to adopt health supervision of school children.

There are seven spruces in the United States. Four are confined to the west, two to the east, while one, white spruce, has a continent-wide distribution.

The secretary of the navy has recommended the building of a great naval dry dock at Norfolk, Va The dock is to be 1,700 feet long and to cost $3 000,000.

A large mirror placed on the log carriage of the sawmill enables the sawyer to make a survey of both ends of the log This is for reasons of economy

It is said that nearly every fish firm in New York and New England participates in the smelt trade of Prince Edward island or its vicinity.

Mrs. Clara S. Butler of Cleveland, Ohio, has invented and patented a device which eliminates the harsh metallic sounds in a phonograph.

A fork carried above an aeroplane has been invented by a French aviator to enable a machine to alight by clutching a cable.

Miss Christie Holmberg has been elected clerk in Santa Barbara, Cal., by an overwhelming majority over her male opponent

The New York Housewives' league has engaged several women to act as inspectors in their crusade against cold storage food.

Australian pedigreed cows, pure bred pigs and white leghorn chickens are being imported into the Philippines

The ancient town of Cambridge, England, is soon to have women police.

IOWA COMMISSION IS OVERRULED ON GRAIN CARS DISTRIBUTION

Held That Situation Cannot Be Met by Arbitrary Ruling of Commerce Officials.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The interstate Commerce commission dismissed the complaint of the Iowa railway commission against the Rock Island other roads, involving the proper basis of the car distribution in times of car shortage, with special reference to grain business.

The commission draws a distinction between distribution of cars for grain traffic and apportionment of cars for coal under fixed mine ratings. Judge Clements in deciding the case said:

"Complaint is made that cars for transportation of grain are distributed at stations and between shippers at stations throughout Iowa during periods of car shortage upon an equitable basis. Some shippers are satisfied with the present practice which distributes cars, generally speaking, equally between shippers for business in sight ready for shipment, combining in the plan the effort to keep all elevators at a station open for business by giving to the closed elevator such reasonable preference in cars as may tend to accomplish that purpose.

"Other shippers who are shareholders in co-operative elevators advocate substitution of a rule which will distribute cars between shippers or elevators according to their comparative past volume of business over a given period The situation is one that cannot be dealt with by a fixed arbitrary and inelastic regulation and the decision must in the nature of the case finally rest in the exercise of a sound discretion in the station agent as to what is right and proper under the circumstances of each case"

"CORN, CALVES, COOKERY," NEW SLOGAN FOR FARMERS

Luverne Ia Feb 14—Corn calves and cookery—that is the combination which was advertised for the recent farmers' institute and beef calf show at Luverne, and that combination was the first of its kind in the state. But it is not to be the last, for this type of show is to get special attention from the Iowa Beef Producers' association during the coming year for the purpose of increasing interest in the growing of market beef on Iowa farms.

The beef calf contest captured the interest of the whole community Nineteen calves were entered, not a big class, but unusual in that they were the first calves ever lined up in this way before cattle judges. The animals were all under a year old and not one was a pure bred. One class was open to all comers, the other only to boys and girls under 18 years of age The two classes were judged separately, a young woman, Miss Lela Chambers, winning first in the open class and Clifford Holz in the boys' and girls' class. In connection with the judging Rex Beresford, specialist of the Iowa Beef Producers' association, gave a lecture and demonstration of the essentials in beef production.

MASON CITY WINS NEXT GRAIN DEALERS' MEET

Waterloo Ia Feb. 14—After a long discussion and balloting, the board of directors chose Mason City as the place for the next convention of the Farmers Grain Dealers' association Representatives from Sioux City Fort Dodge and Cedar Rapids also made bids On the first ballot Sioux City had two votes, Mason City two, Fort Dodge two and Cedar Rapids one. Two directors were absent and their proxies not admitted

On the final ballot the vote stood Mason City four Fort Dodge three. Mason City had $500 as a bonus, but the records of the meeting show, the question of any monetary considerations

The following officers were elected President Ira D MacVicar of Eagle Grove vice president P Hathaway, of Kingsley secretary W J Ray of Colo, treasurer D S Coughlan, of Fort Dodge

TWO HARLAN MEN HAVE EXCITING BURGLAR CHASE

Harlan Ia Feb 14—Attorney Veru H Byers, of Harlan, and his younger brother had a thrilling experience with a burglar About 10 o'clock Attorney Byers brother went to his room and upon attempting to open a closet door was knocked down by a man secreted in the closet who took $15 from young Byers Recovering quickly, young Byers called his brother They both gave chase to the burglar, cornering him in a woodshed at the residence of Senator T H Smith The attorney stood guard while his brother sought a revolver In the meantime the burglar ordered Attorney Byers to step aside and let him pass or he would shoot. Byers complied and the burglar ran, making good his escape.

IOWA SUPREME COURT.

Des Moines, Ia Feb. 14—The Iowa supreme court today handed down the following decisions.

Pictorial Review company, appellant, vs. Fitzgibbon & Son, et al, Woodbury county, affirmed

Dolan, guardian, appellant, vs. Bartruff, Lee county, affirmed

Achsah Ruth Hall, et al, appellant, vs. Hampton Wintermute, et al, Taylor county, affirmed

John Zahnen, appellant, vs. Lane Bottling works, Woodbury county; affirmed

COMES TO JOIN HUSBAND; GREETED BY HIS CORPSE

Clinton Ia, Feb 14—When Mrs. John P Ayer and her little son arrived here today from Savannah, Ga., she was greeted with the news of the death of her husband. He died yesterday from injuries received when he fell from a balcony on the third story of a local cold storage plant, where he was employed as engineer

Word of his death was sent to Mrs. Ayer at Savannah, but a message came back saying that she had left for Clinton to make her home here. Mr Ayer had gone to the balcony to fix a motor and was found unconscious some time later on the floor, 24 feet below.

IOWA NEWS IN BRIEF

IDA GROVE—Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gibelstein celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in this city Tuesday. These two well known Ida county people were born in Germany, and were married in that country February 10, 1864. They came to America two years later, locating in Jackson county, and in 1881 came to Ida county, locating on a farm, and several years ago moved to this city. They have four children, three sons and one daughter.

SHELDON—Seventy-five plates were laid at the banquet at the Arlington hotel Tuesday night given in celebration of the opening of the Sheldon Fixture company in their new building. George Wight, secretary of the Iowa Manufacturers' association, gave an address and the following gave toasts, with Dr. Cram as toastmaster: Judge W. D. Boies, J. R. Elliott, F. W. Houck, Earl Hollenbeck, Attorney J. B. Linsday and Ray Blampied.

IDA GROVE—John Helm, a young man who came here from Noblesville, Ind., two weeks ago, dropped dead from heart trouble in the home of Herman Frye, a farmer residing north of this place. He had been in apparently good health and had made no complaint. He suddenly fell to the floor and expired before aid could reach him. The body was taken to Indiana last night.

SUTHERLAND—D. M Sheldon, of this place, died Saturday. He served four years in the civil war as a member of Company E 74th Illinois volunteers. He was prominent in this community for more than 30 years, serving three years as supervisor His daughter, Ethel, was a nurse at the Samaritan hospital in Sioux City for three years.

LE MARS—Representatives from schools in Plymouth and Sioux counties, Iowa, and Union county, South Dakota, will hold a spelling match at Hawarden on Friday night. Sixteen pupils from each county will contest. A spelling match will be held here Thursday night to determine who shall be Plymouth county representatives

MUSCATINE—Muscatine lost in the initial skirmish in the $1 gas fight when Judge A P Barker, of Clinton, granted a temporary injunction sought by the Muscatine Lighting company to restrain the city from putting into effect the gas rate ordinance. The court ordered receipts of the company for gas be held in trust pending final adjudication COUNCIL BLUFFS—Lewis E. Chamberlain an aged chiropractor of this city, was injured by being hit by a fast Northwestern train passing through the city Wednesday afternoon The engineer claims that when he whistled his engine Chamberlain stepped from between two tracks in front of the train.

LAKE CITY—Eleven thousand bushels of corn were shelled on the farm of Pierce brothers near Lake City, in three days. All of it was sold in Lake City for 55 cents per bushel, seven teams and wagons being employed to haul the corn four miles to market. Indicating the condition of the roads, the teams hauled from 75 to 85 bushels to the load.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Bascom H Robinson, of Omaha, president of the Bankers' Reserve Life association, has paid a high tribute to Iowa farm land by buying a 525-acre farm in Adams county, near Prescott, for which he paid $85,535, and which he will develop into a fine stock farm and summer home for the Robinson family

COUNCIL BLUFFS—The police are searching for a Rock Island newsboy and $200 belonging to a dining car conductor The conductor gave the boy the money to take forward to the express messenger Money and boy disappeared and the loss was not discovered until the train had reached Atlantic.

FORT DODGE—Labor union men in Fort Dodge are ordering their telephones taken out in response to request of the Trades and Labor assembly because of the recent alleged lockout by the company The assembly was notified today that Governor Clarke will investigate the trouble at once

SHELDON—George W Barrager for many years a resident of this city died at his home here of heart disease. He was a pioneer and homesteader in Osceola county Iowa, in 1873. He is survived by his widow, one son, now in Van Tassel, Wyo and a daughter Mrs Dr Brown of this city

MASON CITY—The announcement was made here today that Joseph D. Farrell, postoffice inspector of this district, had received from Postmaster Selph, of St Louis, the appointment as deputy postmaster of that city. Mr Farrell has been a resident of this city for a number of years.

EAGLE GROVE—John Shoenhair, a young farmer near Eagle Grove, has sold 12 acres of his tract, unimproved with the exception that there is an artesian well on the acreage, for $321 66 per acre. This is an advance of $104 16 per acre in two years.

LE MARS—Eugene Eilenbecker, a well known retired business man of this city, surprised his friends by bringing home a bride Tuesday. He was married to Miss Margaret Brauch, a wealthy woman of this place The marriage took place at Excelsior Springs, Mo., on January 31.

DUBUQUE—At a spirited meeting of Ironwood camp, No. 83, the oldest Modern Woodman camp in Dubuque county, the lodge elected a full delegation for the re-election of Frances R. Korns, of Des Moines, to the national board of directors.

STORM LAKE—W J. Caskey, a conductor on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, has just received a patent on a new type of lantern The lamp burns acetylene and is intended for railroad men's use.

AKRON—Mrs. George Carlson died at the Akron hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. Mrs Carlson leaves six children, the youngest a baby of about 6 weeks, and one little boy about 4 years of age.

IOWA CITY—The deadlock in the Fifty-third regiment was broken by the election of Major Cotton, of Waterloo, lieutenant colonel. The result was Cotton 20 Bartley, Clinton, 13, Johnson Cedar Rapids, 3.

ORANGE CITY—Forty acres of land belonging to Mrs. H Nieuwenhuise, located a mile east of Orange City was sold at public auction Wednesday for $10 480, being $262 per acre Herman Tott of Orange City, was the purchaser.

"BLUE SKY" DECISION NOT CAUSE OF WORRY TO STATE OFFICIALS

Claimed Judge McHenry Disposed to Annulling Laws—Supreme Court Different.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 13.—In view of the record already made by the district court here in regard to laws the constitutionality of which were attacked, the state not greatly disturbed over the decision that the Iowa "blue sky" law is void in every line and paragraph. Julge W. H. McHenry, who knocked out the law, has this score to date on constitutional questions.

Four Iowa laws held by him to be unconstitutional, namely:

The Iowa law for hotel inspection, held by McHenry to be unconstitutional; held by the supreme court to be constitutional.

The law as to regulation of hack stands in cities, held by McHenry to be unconstitutional; held by the supreme court to be constitutional.

The Iowa ice cream law, held by McHenry to be unconstitutional; not yet passed on by the supreme court.

The Iowa "blue sky" law, held by McHenry to be unconstitutional; also held by him to violate federal constitution, but held by Judge McPherson to not violate the federal constitution.

Judge McHenry held good, however, what the attorneys for the state believed to have been the only weak spot in the whole case, that in regard to the manner of passage of the bill. It will be recalled that this bill was bungled in the senate when it was before the legislature and an amendment which had been adopted by the house and properly messaged back to the senate was ignored by the senate and the enrolled and signed bill therefore was not just as it had been agreed upon. This was held to be all right.

SAYS DEALERS MUST QUIT SELLING GUNS TO NEGROES

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 13.—Chief of Police J. M. Carl says that unless local dealers agree sincerely not to sell guns to colored people, he will take the permits away from the dealers. Chief Carl is determined to stop the reckless sale of guns. The shooting by Dan Williams Monday exhausted his patience. Williams, evidently in a rage, rushed to a second hand store and purchased not only the biggest revolver in the store, but the biggest revolver that could be found in Cedar Rapids.

Chief Carl is of the opinion that the dealer could have exercised more judgment in selling such a gun, especially when the dealer knew what colored men have done recently with guns. The gun sold to Williams was one of the big range revolvers which were used by cowboys in the days of the old wild west.

WILL SEEK COMPROMISE ON IOWA EXPRESS RATES

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 13.—Efforts to reach a compromise on express rates on Iowa business will be made February 17 at a hearing to be held by the state railroad commission. Attorneys for the railroads have been notified to appear for consultation.

The Iowa board of railroad commissioners is hesitating about adopting rates on Iowa express business made by the Interstate Commerce commission because it would mean an additional charge of $70,000 a year to Iowa shippers. The local board wishes to have the rules and classification conform to the interstate rules and classification without shouldering an additional expense of nearly $100,000 upon Iowa business men.

The interstate express rates went into effect February 1, but the Iowa rates planned by the interstate commission cannot become effective unless the Iowa board takes favorable action upon them

The fact that the Iowa board has called a special meeting for the consideration of the express rate proposition is an indication that if the express companies do not offer a compromise whereby the raise in rates may be partially or entirely overcome, the board will retain the present Iowa rates.

PEACE IN PROSPECT FOR CLEAR LAKE MUNICIPALITY

Clear Lake, Ia., Feb 13—Peace and tranquility reign in this city For the first time in half a century the people are going to refrain from their annual municipal scrap and both sides have agreed to remain quiet The citizens apparently have united on F L. Rodgers, cashier of the First National bank, as their candidate for mayor He has been serving as a councilman. When asked if he would consent to become a candidate for mayor he said he would if he were given the right to make the conditions The conditions were that there was to be no factional fight and that both parties would ask him jointly to serve the city. They have done this There is perfect concord, his election is not doubted, and the people are looking forward to an aggressive and economical administration.

MASON CITY MAN NAMED ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL

Mason City, Ia., Feb. 13.—Wiley S. Rankin, of this city, today received notification from Attorney General Cosson that he had been selected by him as assistant attorney general. The appointment came without any knowledge on the part of Mr. Rankin that there was even a vacancy in the office. To reporters today he said that he would accept the position and will leave this city March 1 to take up his residence in Des Moines. Mason City will be retained as his legal residence. Mr. Rankin is a brilliant young attorney. At the present time he is state committeeman and general treasurer of several states for the progressive party. His appointment has no political significance.

PARK HOTEL AT LOGAN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Logan, Ia Feb. 13.—The Park hotel, one of the two standard hostelries in this city for many years past, was destroyed by fire last night. The origin of the fire is unknown. The building was a frame structure valued at about $3,000. It was insured.

VOLLMER WALKS AWAY WITH CONGRESSIONAL HONORS SECOND IOWA

Republican Candidate Strong in Rural Districts—Hanley Was Decisive Third.

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 12—Complete returns from the Second congressional district of Iowa, show that in the special election yesterday, Henry Vollmer, democrat, was elected congressman with 12,285 votes, a plurality of 1,850 over Harry E. Hull, republican, who received 10,435 votes Charles P. Hanley, progressive, ran third with 3,672 votes.

In 1912 Dunn, democrat, carried the Second congressional district for governor by 5,734 plurality over Clark republican, with the progressive candidate for governor getting a total vote in the district of 7,343.

In the rural districts, away from the Mississippi river, the republican candidate showed strong. Republican leaders claim this condition was an expression by the farmers in opposition to the democratic administration, especially as to reduced grain prices. This analysis is only partially true, if at all, as the republican showing in the interior sections was quite largely due to personal opposition to Vollmer on the saloon question

The vote for president in the Second district in the election of 1912 was as follows: Wilson 23,371; Roosevelt 11,600; Taft, 8,303.

There was a very light vote cast yesterday, as Vollmer, the winner, received but little more than 50 per cent of the 1912 vote for Wilson, thus an unknown quantity in politics and entirely lacking his general popularity over the nation. The surprise of the election was the strength shown by Hull, who was nominated but a few days before the election.

FIRST IOWA GAME PRESERVE LOCATED NEAR OTTUMWA

Ottumwa, Ia., Feb. 12—The first state game preserve in Iowa is being established at Blakesburg, near here The tract will include about 10,000 acres of farm land in Wapello and Monroe counties. Final negotiations are now being made with the farmers of the community by G. B. Coon, deputy game warden, at Albia. The proposition to the farmers, as set forth by the state is that each man who wishes to lease his land to the scheme signs a lease for which he is paid the sum of $1 by the state. The substance of this lease is that he will not allow hunting on his place for the period of five years. He also agrees to do all in his power to protect any game that by chance locates on his place. The state is planning to set out poles to mark the boundaries of the tract. By March 1 600 Hungarian partridges will be liberated on the Blakesburg reserve. It is also planned to liberate several thousand ring necked pheasants and wild turkeys later.

OFFICERS RETURN WITH HOTEL GIRL AND COMPANION

Webster City, Ia., Feb. 12—Sheriff Nelson, of this city, and Sheriff Lund of Fort Dodge, returned today from Rock Island, Ill., with Miss Flora Stockwell of this city and J. M. Steeley, a married man of Fort Dodge The man will be charged with wife desertion and white slavery and the woman with theft.

Miss Stockwell was a dining room girl at the Willson hotel in this city It was there that Steeley met her Ten days ago the two disappeared It is claimed that the girl took a quantity of silverware and linen from the hotel.

It is not certain which charge the man will first be tried on. If with desertion, he will be taken to Fort Dodge. If white slavery, he will be put in jail here. The case is attracting unusual attention, both here and in Fort Dodge. Steeley is said to be very well known and prominent Miss Stockwell is a young woman of striking appearance.

OFFICIALS CLAIM CONVICTS ARE EFFICIENT LABORERS

Ames, Ia., Feb. 12.—Convict labor is not inefficient labor. At least it is not less desirable than free labor when it is on the same footing. This was demonstrated in Iowa last year. Convict labor without restraint and paid as other labor is the equal of free labor.

The experiment in the use of labor in highway construction at Ames last year was so satisfactory that 50 men are wanted for this year. It was found their work was efficient in every way. And it is quite probable that in other parts of the state where there is to be systematic highway construction where the preliminaries have been attended to so that real permanent work can be commenced, convict labor will be used

DECATUR COUNTY BOARD ROASTS HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Garden Grove, Ia., Feb. 12—The hostility toward the state highway commission in Decatur county has come to a head in condemnatory resolutions passed by the county supervisors. They base their attack on the alleged action of the commission in abandoning certain roads and having constructed other and more expensive routes. They declare the commission has arbitrarily and unnecessarily increased the burden of taxation. The Decatur county supervisors especially condemn Commissioner H. C. Beard of this county.

A lawyer, C. W. Huffman, has been engaged to fight the proposed changes in the highways, directed by the highway commission.

IOWA SUPREME COURT.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 12—The Iowa supreme court today handed down the following decisions:

Teasdale, vs. city of New York Insurance company, appellant, Monroe county; affirmed.

John P. Looney, appellant, vs Sioux City, Woodbury county; affirmed

Baptist Home Mission society vs First Baptist church, et al, appellants Woodbury county; affirmed.

SETS NEW AIR RECORD.

Johnisthal, Germany, Feb. 11—Robert Thelen, a German aviator today made a world's altitude record for a flight with four passengers. He attained a height of 9,350 feet.

L FORCES AWAIT AGGRESSIVE MOVE

ball War in New York in Temporary Lull, Pending Action on Both Sides.

New York, Feb. 14.—The rival baseball forces remained in town today with each side apparently waiting on the other for some aggressive move. The rumor would not down that the purpose of the Federal managers in coming to New York was to make arrangements for a club within the confines of Greater New York. It was reported that anouncement to this effect would be made today or tomorrow and that the federal league officers had interested capital here.

The announcement yesterday that the national commission had decided to bar any ball players who jumped a signed contract or the reserve rule and that the players' fraternity, headed by David L. Fultz, would work with the the big leagues in this respect, did not disconcert the Federal managers. They were angry at Fultz, though, and said he had aimed a blow at the very principal of his organization.

Ban Johnson said the disbarment rule would be strictly enforced and that other war measures against the Federals had been planned and would be made public when occasion for their use developed.

Johnny Evers, the deposed manager of the Chicago Nationals, is expected to decide in the course of the day whether he will go to the Boston Nationals or with the new organization. There was a report late last night that Joe Tinker, his one-time side partner in the Chicago club, had succeeded in signing Evers for the Federals for three years at $15,000 a year, but this was denied by President James A. Gilmore, of the Federal league. Evers has sent for his lawyer, who lives up-state and after a conference to get an opinion whether or not he is a free agent he will make known where he will play the coming season. The Brooklyn club, probably despairing of weaning Tinker away from the Federals, has closed an option with the Cincinnati club for Dick Egan. The price was $5,000. Egan will probably fill the gap at shortstop for the Brooklyns.

BLOOEY! BLOOEY! THE FOE SLEEPS!

Narcotic Powder Capable of Sending Whole Army To Dreamland.

Berlin, Feb. 14.—A narcotic powder designed to revolutionize warfare has been discovered by a woman named Bickham, who demonstrated it to the government officials. She alleges that shells charged with the powder, when let loose among the enemy, will put them to sleep for several hours, so that they may readily be taken prisoners, without injuring them. It is reported that the Prussian war office is making tests with the device.

VAN HISE POINTS OUT TRADE NEEDS

Washington, Feb 14.—While President Charles R. Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin, was testifying today before the House commerce committee, Representative Stevens, of Minnesota, ranking republican of the committee, declared the administration Clayton bill for an interstate trade commission was unconstitutional in many respects.

No member of the committee defended the bill, which was framed by Chairman Clayton and others after conferences with President Wilson. The discussion which followed seemed to indicate a new bill might be drawn.

Dr. Van Hise, saying the courts had been too slow in treating industrial problems, proposed that a commission should have broad powers, act on its own initiative without waiting for complaint or litigation and that its findings of fact should be accepted as final with certain stipulations.

Dr. Van Hise urged that a commission be empowered to investigate the affairs of any concern so large as to have assumed a public interest or likely to co-operate with other firms in controlling the market. He contended that under present conditions the country was as helpless before great industrial corporations as it was before railroads and food manufacturers came under control of the Interstate Commerce commission and a pure food body.

"If there had been an interstate trade commission when the United States Steel corporation was organized with a great quantity of capitalization not represented by investment, would it later have been allowed to turn in $500,000,000 from its dividends to make that aqua pura substance?" asked President Van Hise.

"The problem to be met is fair distribution of profits between stockholders and wage earners. Co-operation is alright within limits, but we must have a commission to watch over it."

Henry R Towne, of New York, urged the judiciary committee to combine the trade commission project with other trust and commerce proposals into one measure to carry out the legislative program.

CAPTAIN OF MONROE OFFERS NO CRITICISM

Philadelphia, Feb. 14.—Capt. Edward E. Johnson, commander of the Old Dominion line steamship Monroe, sunk in the collision with the Merchants' and Miners' steamship Nantucket, off the Virginia coast on January 30, today again took the witness stand in the trial of Captain Osmyn Berry of the Nantucket, who is charged with negligence in connection with the disaster. The master of the Monroe has been on the stand two days, during which he has several times gone over the details of the accident in which 41 persons lost their lives.

So far Captain Johnson has made no criticism of the conduct of Captain Berry, but has commended him for the efforts he made to rescue passengers and members of the Monroe's crew.

ULTRA VIOLET RAYS EXPLODE TORPEDOES

Deadly Machines Set Off at Distance of Over Two Miles.

Florence, Italy, Feb. 14.—A successful experiment of exploding torpedoes from a long distance by means of the ultra-violet rays discovered by Giulio Ulivi, was carried out here today. Signor Ulivi has handed over his secret to the Italian government.

Although today's experiment was secret, it became known that Admiral Pietro Fornari had placed in the River Arno two torpedoes charged with smokeless gunpowder and two others with black gunpowder. The ultra-violet ray apparatus was posted on the tower of the Palazzo Capponi two miles away. When the signal was given, the apparatus was put into operation and in less than three minutes all four torpedoes exploded.

DARING SENATORS TO BEARD LEONINE RAIL MAN IN DEN

Washington, Feb. 14.—Five senators were named in a special resolution today to co-operate with the Interstate Commerce commission to investigate affairs of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and get information the railroad declined to give federal agents.

The commission had reported Vice President Mapother, of the Louisville & Nashville, was defying its agents, withdrawing important information from files and threatening to destroy records.

With a Senate committee authorized to participate in the inquiry, such attention could be held contemptuous. The committee might also employ special counsel to aid its inquiry.

Chased Agents Away.

Mapother, it is alleged forcibly ejected the commission's agents from his offices.

In a letter to Senator John Sharp Williams, Chairman Clark, of the commerce commission, enclosed a memorandum by Commissioner Meyer charging that Vice President Mapother forcibly ejected the agents while at his order certain files of the road containing data on railroad passes and records of contributions to political campaigns were being revised and subjected to "apparent secretion and destruction."

In his memorandum, Commissioner Meyer said information was sought concerning money subscribed, expended or contributed for maintaining political or legislative agents or contributions to political campaigns and for creating sentiment in favor of any of the plans of any of said railroads, and also the issuance of passes.

Threatened to "Lick" 'Em.

That Mr Mapother in directing defiance at the government agents, denounced them as "spies" and threatened to "lick" them and declared "we refused files to you people before and are not in jail yet," was charged by Commissioner Meyer. "Information from our examiners" reads Commissioner Meyer's report, "has been to the effect that Mapother was the official under whose direction any of the subscriptions, expenditures or contributions contemplated by the resolution would be made and that data in regard thereto, especially records of subscriptions not yet paid, would most probably be found in his files."

The commission was proceeding under a resolution by Senator Lee calling for an investigation of various activities of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and some of its allied lines.

MAQUOKETA TO LAND FIREMEN'S TOURNEY

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 14.—Maquoketa will get annual tournament this year of the State Firemen's association. While business men and firemen of Boone, Marion and other towns were trying to persuade the directors of the association to let them have this year's tournament, the citizens of Maquoketa raised a guaranty fund of $3,350 to induce the directors to let them be the tourney's hosts. It is practically settled that the event will go to Maquoketa, William Burnett, local fire chief, said yesterday. Burnett yesterday received a letter from E. E. Parsons, secretary of the association, telling of the offer the Maquoketa business men had made. He said he favored sending the 1914 tournament to that town and that also Thomas Price, of Clinton, association president, was in favor of such action. Burnett, who is treasurer, will add his vote to that of Parsons and Price.

RADIUM BILL TOO DRASTIC, HE SAYS

Washington, Feb. 14.—General objections to Senator Walsh's bill for government control of all radium bearing lands were made today before the Senate mines committee by J. M. Flannery, of Pittsburgh, president of a private corporation producing radium. He attacked principally the broad powers to be conferred on the secretary of the interior, some of which he characterized as an "outrage." Flannery declared that a government representative in Colorado gathering information of the carnotite fields had not been sufficiently informed to furnish information on which the House radium bill was based.

EVELYN THAW FREED BY VIRGINIA JUDGE

Richmond, Va., Feb. 14.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who was arrested here has been set free.

The warrant was issued on complaint of Chief of Police Weiner, and it charged that she did "unlawfully but not feloniously" appear at the theater in a public performance, thereby "outraging public decency and to the detriment of public morals and common nuisance of all the citizens of this commonwealth."

Justice Critchfield, after hearing testimony, ordered the charges dismissed and Mrs. Thaw released.

TOKIO RIOTERS CUT DOWN WITH SABERS

Police Charge Crowd Making Demonstration Against High Taxes.

Tokio, Feb. 14.—Serious riots started by citizens of the Japanese capital as a protest against the levying of increase of taxation led to the arrest of 200 persons in the lower section of the city early today. The disorders were quickly suppressed by a column of 500 policemen, who used their sabers freely.

In pursuance of its determination to stifle all street demonstration the government today ordered the arrest of a number of editors of opposition papers which had advocated the agitation. Their newspapers were suppressed.

Mass meetings have been called for today and tomorrow to insist on the resignation of the cabinet and to protest against the harshness used in the suppression of popular demonstrations.

CADAVER IS POOR GIFT, SAYS JOHN

Kentuckian Receives Corpse of Mexican Labeled "Present."

Mayfield, Ky., Feb 14.—John Singleton, a farmer, went to Murray, Ky., to claim an express package which had been addressed to him.

Upon opening it he was startled to find the body of a Mexican. The box was shipped from Roswell, N. M.

The identity of the dead man is a mystery.

The body has been turned over to the county officials for burial.

The box was marked "A Present for John Singleton."

NINE DIE OF COLD IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Feb. 14.—The cold wave claimed another victim here today. The death of Erie Nelson an aged tailor, frozen on the streets brought the total since the arrival of zero weather Wednesday night to nine.

The municipal lodging house and other charitable organizations overflowed with human derelicts and unfortunates. Prostrations reported by the police are almost continuous.

The lowest dip in the mercury today was at 7 o'clock this morning, when it stood at one below.

The local weather office prophecized a dubious relief in the form of a blizzard and a slightly increasing temperature. At 11 o'clock the mercury obeyed this forecast by climbing to nine above.

All over the city water gas and other supply and feed pipes burst.

ST. LOUIS IS SNOWBOUND: ALL TRAFFIC IS BLOCKED

St. Louis, Feb 14.—St. Louis was nearly snowbound today as a result of a blizzard that started late yesterday afternoon and which at 10 o'clock this morning was at the height of its fury. Street cars on all routes were blocked. Most of the through passenger trains arrived at about on time but only to encounter a blockade in the terminal yards. Great difficulty was experienced in getting the trains into the Union station.

Hundreds of men were put to work by the city early today clearing the streets, but they were able to accomplish little more than prevent long blockades for the snow continued to fall and to pack as it fell. Snowplows drawn by four horses, were driven through the downtown streets to make way for vehicle traffic.

ALL KINDS OF WEATHER FOR THE EASTERN STATES

Washington Feb 14.—Snow and cold today and tonight and warmer tomorrow was today prediction from the weather bureau.

The Texas storm advancing on the east turned into rain today as it was approaching Tennessee and even had caused thunderstorms on the gulf coast. Snow and sleet fell in the south Atlantic states as far north as the Carolinas but the zero blanket remained over the middle Atlantic and New England states.

From the Ohio valley tonight snows were expected to extend to the New England coast and to bring general rising of the temperature tomorrow.

TEMPERATURES RISING BUT SNOW STORM IS ON WAY

New York Feb 14.—New York today was still in the grip of its second cold wave of the winter with the temperature rising slightly with dawn and predictions that it would become much warmer before nightfall. But with the relief from the zero weather, the forecasters sounded warnings of an approaching snowstorm from the southwest, which is hourly expected to envelope the eastern seaboard.

All day yesterday and last night the temperature hovered around zero.

IDLE OF ST. LOUIS WILL REGISTER COMPLAINTS

St Louis, Feb 14.—The "pageant of the unemployed" is the name which James Eads How has given to the parade of unemployed which he has organized for a march on the St. Louis city hall late this afternoon.

"Instead of holding a pageant in May to show the conditions once existing in St. Louis," said How, in explaining the purposes of the parade, "we felt a pageant should be given now to show the conditions existing in St. Louis today."

How said that as spokesman of the demonstration he would ask Mayor Kiel for $25,000 appropriation for a city hotel to accommodate the thousands of unemployed, for the establishment of two municipal commisaries where food and fuel could be sold to the poor at cost and for the free use of tools so the unemployed might find work.

NEWS FLASHED OVER OCEAN BY WIRELESS

Berlin and New York Newspapers and Associated Press Exchange Messages.

New York, Feb. 13.—Wireless press messages between Germany and the United States were exchanged for the first time early today by means of the Sayeville, L. I., station of the Atlantic Communication company.

On the invitation of the company practically all of the New York newspapers and the Associated Press sent messages of greeting to the Berlin newspapers, the Wolff Bureau, Germany's leading news association; the emperor James W. Gerard the American ambassador and to the mayor of Berlin.

Several replies were received, among them one from Mr Gerard which read:

"The more Germany and America know each other, the greater will be their friendship. The great achievement in wireless communication will immeasurably help to promote knowledge and friendship."

Another reply was from Mayor Wermuth of Berlin. It contained greetings for Mayor Mitchell of New York. Answers were also received for some of the Berlin newspapers.

HUERTA SOLDIERS CHASED BY YANKS

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 13.—There were 258 armed men in the band of alleged federal recruits who escaped across the river at Ysleta last night with American troopers on their heels, according to J. Todd McClamy, the rebel cattle agent here.

McClamy told reporters that he received the first information three days ago that crossings were to be made at Ysleta, at the El Paso smelter and at a point in New Mexico.

He succeeded in locating the Ysleta contingent, which he said was recruited and led by Sylvester and Rodrigo Quevedos, two federal officers formerly at the head of troops at Casas Grandes.

McClamy said that he notified General Villa of the plot and confirmed Villa's statement last night that he had troops down the river waiting to receive the intruders. It was a current rumor in Juarez today that 29 of them were killed, but this could not be confirmed. General Villa, having been up most of the night, was still in bed at noon, and could not be disturbed.

The Americans spent the forenoon beating up the stubby growth of the vast flats which flank the river, seeking the trail of the Mexicans, but at noon General Scott had received no important news of their quest.

The horses which the Mexicans failed to run off are said to be privately owned.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 13.—Troopers of the United States at down today resumed search for the Mexicans who last night headed across the Rio Grande from the American side carrying arms and supplies in violation of the neutrality laws to join the federal forces at some point unknown or to harass the rebel garrison at Juarez, across the river from El Paso.

So far as the American cavalry could learn in the course of the night the plot was to capture a corral of horses and saddles at Ysleta, 13 miles east of here and about a mile from the river bank and rush them across.

In some way this part of the plan miscarried for the ride to the other side, as reported by citizens of Ysleta was precipitated before many, if any, of the horses could be stolen.

The alarm reached Gen Hugh L. Scott, in command at Fort Bliss about 1 o'clock last night. Ranchers and others whose homes are scattered along the road near Ysleta telephoned into the city to find out the cause of the unusual number of automobiles seen, some of which were covered with canvas and apparently carried boxes. Counts of the number of those varied from 10 to 50.

Carried Arms in Auto.

Mrs. Mary O'Neill, the night telephone operator at Ysleta saw six of them seemingly laden with boxes under their canvas covering, turn toward the river. They were without lights. Five of them she saw later, at 3 o'clock this morning when with lights out and their loads discharged, they reappeared and dashed toward El Paso.

The only soldier so far known to have seen any of the alleged Huerta recruits was Corporal Kauffman of troop A, One Hundred and Fifty Eighth cavalry. When the alarm sounded he was dispatched to Ysleta to guide other troops being rushed to that point.

He arrived ahead of the reinforcements and lay in a ditch from which he saw detachments of about 15 men each make a rush toward the river. When the other soldiers arrived they had disappeared.

All night the Americans searched among the bushes and stunted cotton wood trees which dot the sandy plain and watched the three principal fords between Ysleta and Socorro a hamlet three miles east of Ysleta, but did not catch sight of their quarry.

Villa Says He'll Get 'Em.

Gen. Francisco Villa commanding the rebel forces and now at Juarez received an intimation of the situation at Ysleta early in the evening and sent small detachments of his men east along the Mexican bank of the river to capture the invaders. They did capture 10 men, but six of these proved to be harmless peons and the other four were held for further investigation.

General Villa said he hoped the recruits got across the river, for if the Americans captured them they would only be imprisoned, while he could shoot them.

"But, I'm glad they did not get away with the horses," he exclaimed. "Good for the Americans; I am for them."

BIG NAVAL EXPENSE IS FAVORED BY JAPANESE

Tokio, Feb. 12.—The Japanese house of representatives today adopted the budget, which provides an appropriation of $62,000,000 spread over five years for the expansion of the navy.

JEW TAILOR CHARGED WITH RITUAL MURDER

Christian Boy Killed—Thirteen Wounds Found on Body—Suspect Is Held

London, Feb 13.—A Central news dispatch from St Petersburg today reports the arrest of Pashkoff, a Jewish tailor, at Fastoff, 40 miles from Kiev, in connection with the murder on December 9 of a boy known as Yosel Paskoff and supposed hitherto to have been the tailor's son.

Rumors of ritual murder were spread and the exhumation of the body was ordered. At the second examination this week the Central News says, it was found that the boy was a Christian.

A woman called as a witness stated that the lad was really the son of a Christian law court official named Tarantevich, employed at Vitomir, from which place the boy had fled.

The arrest of Pashkoff followed the investigation. It was said after the exhumation that 13 wounds had been found in the boy's neck.

POOR OF EASTERN CITIES FEEL GRIP OF ZERO WEATHER

New York, Feb 13.—Zero weather held all of New England, New York state and northern Pennsylvania in its grip today, temperatures ranging from 37 degrees below zero at Pompoy, N. Y., to 1 degree below in this city.

Thousands of the poor—men, women and children—sought shelter in the municipal lodging houses. A dense vapor amounting almost to a fog, hung over the waters in and about the city.

The cold was accompanied by a stinging northwester, which reached the proportions of a gale along the coast with hourly velocity of 50 miles at Highland Light, Mass., 40 miles at Nantucket and 46 miles at Block island. The ocean was covered with mist and observation of the shore was obscured. There was anxiety regarding the four masted schooner Dustin G. Reesey which rode out in the gale last night off the Pamet river life saving station. The schooner was leaking and her crew had the assistance of the Pamet river life savers who went on board yesterday afternoon. It was reported that the revenue cutter Gresham would tow her to Provincetown later in the day.

Other temperatures recorded were as follows: Jamestown, N. Y., 34; Rome, N. Y., 30, Little Falls, N. Y., 24; Winsted, Conn., 20, Northfield, Vt., 24; East Port, Me., 20; Albany, N. Y., 16, and Ellenton, Pa., 30, all below zero.

SNOW STORM SWEEPING UP FROM CHILLY SOUTHWEST

Washington, Feb. 13.—The coldest weather of the season—in some localities, the coldest in many years—enveloped the entire east today and is expected to be succeeded by a snow storm from Texas during the next 24 hours. Real winter weather is expected with the snow storm, the weather bureau said today, and it was predicted that flakes would be falling over the middle Atlantic and southern New England states by tonight or tomorrow morning, if nothing interrupts the Texas blizzard on its way.

The weather bureau issued a special forecast heralding the coming of the storm. More drops in the already falling mercury will attend it from New England westward to the upper Mississippi valley. Brisk northeasterly winds are wafting the new weather hurriedly on its way.

GENERAL SNOW IS FALLING OVER HAWKEYE STATE TODAY

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 13.—The first heavy snowstorm of the season is falling throughout central Iowa today, according to reports at the government weather bureau. Below zero temperatures were registered at various points early today, the thermometer in the Des Moines bureau showing 4 below. At noon six inches of snow had fallen here and railroad and street car traffic was badly demoralized.

33 BELOW ZERO.

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Extreme temperatures prevailed in central and northern New York today. Tupper Lake and Lake Clear Junction, in the Adirondacks, reported 33 degrees below zero. Utica thermometers registered 20 degrees below.

DROP AT BOSTON.

Boston, Feb. 13.—A quick drop in temperature carried the mercury early today to 11 degrees below zero, the lowest point reached in this city for several years.

SEEKING JOB, BUT LANDS PROPOSALS

Woman Who Merely Wants Work Gets 15 Offers of Marriage.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 13.—Proposals of marriage galore, but no unattached jobs have come to woman whom the Calvary mission is trying to help. She went from Philadelphia to Denver, after the death of her husband with her four children, all of whom were tubercular. At Denver two of the children died, her money gave out and with what was left she started back to Philadelphia with the boy and girl who were left.

She arrived in Omaha a week ago with hardly enough to keep the three of them while she looked for work. She could not get anything to do and finally placed a small ad asking for a place on a farm. What she wants is a place where her children can be outdoors a good part of the time. To her amazement offers of marriage began pouring in to her. She received 15 offers of marriage from farmers around Omaha.

She is so heart-broken over the loss of her husband and children and so worried over her misfortunes that she has no desire to marry. All she wants is work.

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E Baumgartner.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G. Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court [illegible] will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican primary election [illegible] held in June 1914

J. D. C[illegible]

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primary in June 1914

Martin Bachmann.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries.

I C Hastings

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole.

Junior Band Social

Will Hold Basket Social and Program at Opera House Feb. 24th--Deserve Liberal Support

The Junior Band Boys will hold a basket social and program at the opera house on the evening of February 24th. It might be said that this young organization has been holding regular practice twice each week for some time past and have been improving greatly with this added practice and there no doubt but what they will blossom out in the spring into a very good musical organization and that they will be able to give some fine open air band concerts next summer we feel certain. The boys would like to raise enough money to purchase uniforms and as they are paying for their own instruction it is no more than fair to ask the public to help a little and the coming event will be one of their opportunities.

The boys will also put on a miscellany program which will be published next week if possible

Make arrangements to attend and don't forget the date, Tuesday evening, February 24th.

PROGRAM

1. Debut March,
2. Red Tips Waltz.
3. Carolus March.
4. Budding Flowers, (Andante and Waltz)
5. Caramba March
6. The Colored Dude (Coon March)
7. The Brook (Andante and Waltz)
8. Viva March

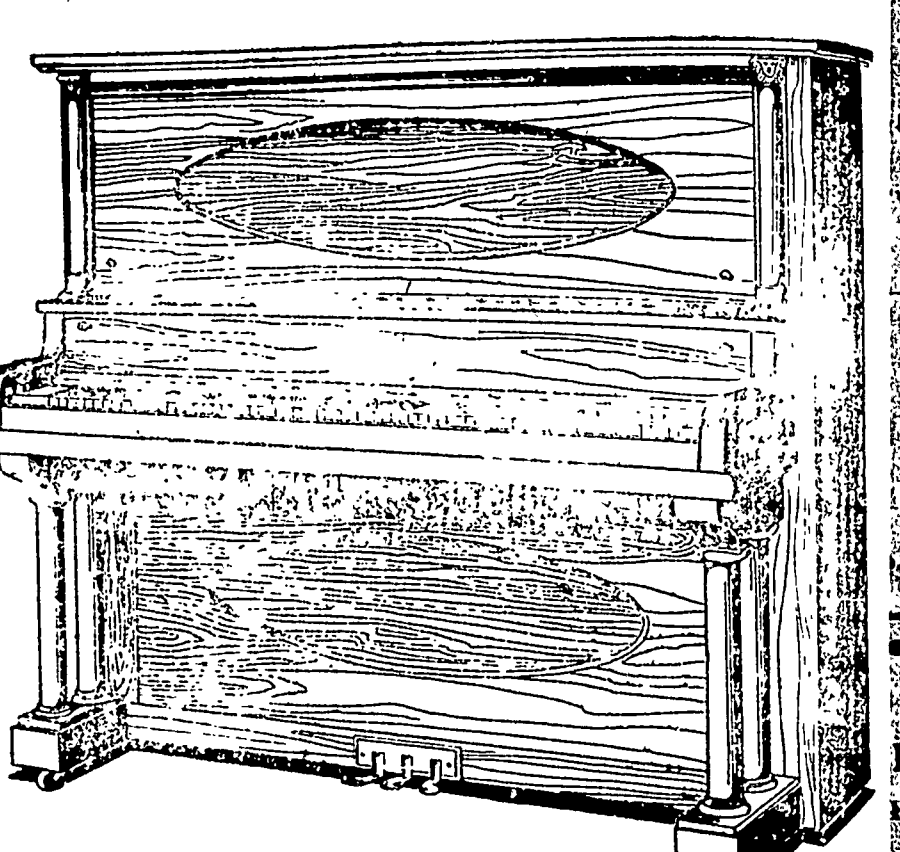
Nomination and Election of School Officers in Independent Districts

The attention of the public is called at this time to an important change in the manner of electing school directors and treasurers in the Independent School Districts. Candidates for these offices now must file with the Secretary of the School Board, not later than seven days previous to the day of election, a nominating petition, signed by at least ten qualified voters of the district. Blank nominating petitions may be secured from the County Superintendent. Elections this year in Independent Districts, will be held March 9th, 1914, J. R. Buggs,
County Superintendent

C. D. WELTY'S

Ten Days Great Sacrifice

PIANO SALE



AT BRITT IOWA

February 19th to February 28th

On account of the heavy bills coming due which must be met, these pianos must be sold and in order to make them move quickly I am making the attractive prices mentioned below. Don't miss this golden opportunity of securing a piano for your home at less than it's real value.

1 MARSHALL & WENDELL piano New York make, Burl Walnut, fancy carved, double pilasters, slightly used in store for teaching purposes, price $325, slaughter price ... $75.

1 HOSMER piano, dark fancy oak, beautiful tone slightly used, but in fine condition, was $350. Our slaughter price ... 100.

1 KLINE piano, Mahogany case, new, was $300. Selling price ... 175.

1 A. M. BOWERMANN piano New York make, beautiful mahogany case, just out of the box Beautiful tone The regular price $325. Our ten day special offer ... 225.

1 McCAMMON piano, new Sarcassion walnut, was $350. Speceial ten day offer 250.

1 HOBART M CABLE, style L fancy burl walnut, slightly used, $375 ... 250.

1 HOBART M CABLE piano, beautiful dark oak, regular price $375. sale price .. 275.

1 TONK piano, just arrived. Fancy burl walnut, excellent tone, fine action, was $385 00 Our price during this sale ... 275.

1 HOBART M CABLE, burl walnut, satin finish beautifully and artistically designed with fine musical deep tone. Regular price $425. will sell during our sale ... 300.

1 BEHR BROS. high grade piano, burl walnut, $400. Our special 10 day price .. 300.

1 PACKARD piano, very fancy burl walnut, excellent tone, price $500. now .. 335.

1 HOBART M. CABLE piano player, just received fancy burl walnut, beautiful tone. Fool proof, easily manipulated by any child. Regular price $650. During this sale ... 450.

Remember the date, Feb. 19th to 28th. First come, first sreved.

C. D. WELTY, BRITT, IOWA

by the government at Kansas City. The hogs have never been sick.—Dows Advocate.

[illegible] baufman, assistant state veteri[illegible] was here the first of the week [illegible] attended a herd of hogs own[illegible] Nichtern. Mr Nichtern [illegible] to sell the hogs at his [illegible] sale January 29, and took [illegible] to the ruling in this case. [illegible] attorney who enlisted the [illegible] attorney in the matter and [illegible] hogs are out of quarantine. [illegible] will be sold at the sale as [illegible] The hogs were shipped [illegible] Missouri by Mr Nichtern about [illegible] weeks ago and were inspected

Kanawha has the wrestling craze.

Kossuth county has organized an editorial association and it is now up to the editors of this county to do likewise. We need one brethren, why not get busy?

MOTORCYCLES

New and rebuilt, on monthly payment plan. Dealers and riders wanted. Eagle Motor Co., Cedar Falls,

GOTTLIEB LAUSTER

BREEDER OE

Thoroughbred Poland China Swine

Some Bred Sows For Sale

Farm 4 Miles Nort of Meservey

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

...MISSMAN
...and Surgeon
...Phone No. 11 62
Residence No. 11 03
...ffice and residence in the ...State Bank building.
Tested Glasses Fitted

E. BAUMGARTNER
The Tonsorial Artist
...ve you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.
...r west of State Savings Bank
Call in

TOM ELDER
—THE—
"HOTEL MAN"

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East Of Gretzmacher Hardware and Shoe Shop
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

R. L. R. PARSONS
DENTIST
...State Savings Bank.
...Phone No. 48.
Klemme - Iowa

Col. J. J. Wilson
...Stock Auctioneer
...EY, -:- IOWA
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
...be made at the State ...Bank or 'phone me ...Reserve, Iowa, at ...my expense.

Sand and Gravel
...50 cents per load, cash, ...on 30 days, after ...days 60cts per load. All ...accounts strictly cash.
Henry Griffen,
Klemme, Iowa.

...Endeavor To Wait On ...u Just As Promptly As Possible!
...EST MEATS, HONEST WEIGHTS AND LOWEST PRICES
Worth a Short Wait Occasionally
...ll Will Be No Longer Than Neccessary Here!
CHAS. F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 52
Oats	33 33½
Wheat	78 to75
Barley	45 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8 10
Cattle	5.00 to 8.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

And the next day the dog came back!

"The Girl and the Gawk" March 5th.

A. M. Griesemer was a Garner visitor, Monday.

A good organ for sale cheap. Inquire of Tom Elder.

Chas Papousek spent Sunday at his home in Garner.

A. C. Lau & Son shipped a car of hogs, Wednesday.

Big doin's at the opera house, Tuesday. February 24th.

Miss Hulda Johnson was a Garner visitor, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C, F. Keraus went to Garner, Wednesday.

Band basket social and program at the opera house the 24th

Ben Ridder left for Waterloo. Tuesday, to visit with friends.

N. L Palmer went to Iowa Fall, Tuesday, on a business mission.

John Henschen went to Chicago last week to attend the Cement Show.

Mrs. Homer Butcher went to Garner, Wednesday, for a visit with her sister.

Mr, and Mrs. H. R, Gibbs returned from their honeymoon trip, Wednesday.

A. C. Lau has bought the Ernest Schuldt home farm for the sum of $20,000,

Dr. Parsons returned Wednesday from a few days visit with his mother at Traer.

A. C. Lau & Son report that they have their elevator filled clear to the shingles.

Chris Blumer departed Wednesday evening for Chicago, to attend the Cement Show.

Frank and Miss Winnie Walsh went to Garner, Saturday, for a visit at the parental home.

Pure Bred Duroc Jersey Boar and good surrey for sale.
Chas. Ax.

Mrs. Anotn Duit and family of Iowa Falls, arrived Tuesday, for a visit at the F. A. Pringnitz home.

Kirkwood's Cafe and the E H. Lenz residence are some of the latest places to have electric lights installed.

Miss Anna Lijenberg returned to her home at Thompson, Tuesday, after a visit at the G. W. Kluckhohn home.

Prof. Levi Neese and Art Wellemeyer were at Garrer, Saturday, interviewing County Superintendent Baggs.

Miss Muzella Powell returned to Des Moines, Tuesday, to take up her school work at Highland Park College.

Franklin Bredlow was the victim of a runaway accident last week Thursday evening in which he was so unfortunate as to receive a broken leg.

The writer and family were over Sunday visitors at the home of our wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S Bradfield in Germania.

Henry Schroeder and son, arrived from Chicago, Tuesday, to attend the funeral of the formers father. which was held Thursday.

Dan Webner, Jr. had the misfortune to have one of his valuable horses receive a broken leg by being kicked by one of his other horses.

A play without a mortgage, no shooting, and no killing is a short description of "The Girl and the Gawk" at the opera house, March 5th.

Mrs. John Josten went to Chicago, Wednesday evening to buy her Spring and Summer millinery stock and get acquainted with the latest ideas in that line.

"The Girl and the Gawk" is a peculiar title and it is a peculiar play. You never saw one like it and you will like it when you see it at the opera house March 5th.

Archie Walkup of Marshalltown who will move onto the John A. Johnson farm was here a few days this week but was called home by the illness of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ell returned to their home at Mason City, Saturday after a weeks visit at the home of their son, E G., and other relatives and numerous friends.

The following parties shipped stock Saturday evening: Chas. F. Busch, Wm. Becker. Herman Ax and W R. Bloom. Messrs. Busch, Ax and Wm. Becker, Jr. accompanied the shipment.

FOR SALE:—1 Black Mare, with foal, 12 years old, weight about 1450 1 Black Gelding, coming 3 years old. 1 Short-Horn Durham Pure Bred Bull.
C. H. McKee.

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves", consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

The latest and Best Pictures are now shown at the Idle Hour and they are as a Crystal on account of our new ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT

Admission: 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

are Surprisingly Reasonable!

It does not follow that you have to buy the highest-priced piano to get a really high-grade instrument.

If care is taken in the selection, you can secure an instrument that will more than fulfill every home requirement at a remarkably reasonable cost.

After hearing the Howard Piano and appreciating its ab... durbuty, you would naturally expect it to be among th... ...nes, but it is not.

...ring value with price it is positively the most e... instrument for the home.

It gives you all the qualities of the high-grade instruments at so reasonable a price because it is a product of one of the manufacturing companies of the greatest piano organization in the world—The Baldwin Company.

No other instrument of equal quality can be sold at the price because no other makers possess the facilities and resources.

THE "Howard Manualo", the Player Piano that is all but human, is distinguished by Quality, Durability, Reliability and Attractive Price. It is a quality proposition throughout. Be sure to examine it.

Terms to suit

M. M. MAGNER

NOW IS THE TIME
TO DO YOUR SEWING

and this is the place to buy your goods. The store with one price and that the Lowest. We are busy unpacking Spring Goods and can show you a nice line of Messaline, Silks, Crepes, Ratines, Voiles, and Ginghams, Also Laces and Embroidery at prices that will please you.

Remember we carry the celebrated ALBERTA CORSET and have one to fit you. Be sure to call for the Alberta---the brand that speaks for itself.

Clean, Fresh Groceries Always On Hand.

Call In And See Us

J. N. DAY
The General Merchandise Store

A GOOD OLD LAXATIVE

For a good general tonic and alternative, one that you can depend on and one that you can make yourself use—

NYAL'S Mountain Herbs

This is the method—
In a suitatable vessel place a tablespoonful of the Herbs, pour upon them two teacupfuls of boiling water, cover and set aside to steep—do not boil. In fifteen to twenty minutes the strength will be extracted,
A large quantity of medicine can be made from one bottle. The price is only 25 cents.

G. A. PABST

Charity begins at home, and is generally too weak to travel.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes color more goods than others Adv.

Faith will move mountains, but it won't fight a gas bill

Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops work wonders in overcoming serious coughs and throat irritations 5c at Druggists.

It's so much easier to be entertained than it is to be entertaining.

SUFFERED FOR 25 YEARS.

Mr. R. M. Fleenor, R. F. D. 39, Otterbein, Ind., writes: "I had been a sufferer from Kidney Trouble for about 25 years. I finally got so bad that I had to quit work, and doctors failed to do me any good. I kept getting worse all the time, and it at last turned to inflammation of the Bladder, and I had given up all hope, when one day I received your little booklet advertising your pills, and resolved to try them I did, and took only two boxes, and I am now sound and well I regard my cure as remarkable I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to any one who is suffering from Kidney Trouble as I was" Write to Mr. Fleenor about this wonderful remedy

R. M. Fleenor.

Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50c per box at your dealer or Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y Write for Household Hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free. Adv.

True Blue

He was in New York on a visit, coming from a small town in Connecticut which still retains her traditions of the Blue Laws He was invited to spend a whole day at our minister's, who had a little boy about his own age We asked him when he got back if he had had a good time, and he replied with great enthusiasm, "Yes" Then he began to look puzzled as if trying to account for the fact that he really did have a good time in a minister's family and said apparently talking to himself, "They are the best people for Christians that I ever knew New York Evening Post

Dusseldorf Exposition

The sum of $1,190,000 has been pledged as a guaranty fund for the exposition to be held next year in Dusseldorf and it is assured the cooperation of museums, organizations and authorities in all parts of Germany. The exposition will be divided into ten main groups, with 52 divisions and 118 classes and will cover over 700,000 square yards, extending over two miles along the Rhine A plan of the exposition grounds will be loaned on application to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce Washington, D C

Railroad Play

Patience What is the motif of the play?

Patrice Why a locomotive

SCHOOL TEACHERS. Also Have Things to Learn.

"For many years I had used coffee and refused to be convinced of its bad effect upon the human system," writes a veteran school teacher

"Ten years ago I was obliged to give up my much loved work in the public schools after years of continuous labor. I had developed a well defined case of chronic coffee poisoning

"The troubles were constipation, flutterings of the heart, a thumping in the top of my head and various parts of my body, twitching of my limbs shaking of my head and at times after exertion a general 'gone' feeling, with a toper's desire for very strong coffee I was a nervous wreck for years

A short time ago friends came to visit us and they brought a package of Postum with them, and urged me to try it I was prejudiced because some years back I had drunk a cup of weak, tasteless stuff called Postum which I did not like at all.

"This time, however my friends made the Postum according to directions on the package, and it won me Soon I found myself improving in a most decided fashion.

"The odor of boiling coffee no longer tempts me I am so greatly benefited by Postum that if I continue to improve as I am now, I'll begin to think I have found the Fountain of Perpetual Youth. This is no fancy letter but stubborn facts which I am glad to make known"

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for a copy of "The Road to Wellville."

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHERS KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

19

CHAPTER XIV—(Continued).

"Mr. Wiley!" She looked at him. Mr Wiley sighed. "Got a telegram from Hen McFetridge yesterday. They played to S. R. O at Marshalltown And another one from Cedar Rapids says 'Biggest house here since '96.' Janet'—he looked at her with the first burst of enthusiasm she had seen this morning—"Aurelie's a winner!"

The woman of 30 was looking off to the hills "Wiley, I wouldn't publish all the things you do about her in the News. It's not good taste- all those press notices and things. And it doesn't do you any good in your new—career" She had hesitated and looked full at him. Uncle Michigan had gone back to scratching his garden bed. "The town says--" again she paused at his resentful wonder

"The town says what?"

"That you must be rather in love with Aurelie."

He was on his feet before her. 'Janet' They say that?"

Well, you've run on in such enthusiasm about her. Of course it's just your way"

"My way? I can't help what the town says. The town made an outcast of me much as it did of Aurelie in the old days But by George, Janet--this!"

"She is the sort you would love, Wiley With all her courage, the brave fight, as you say she is making—she is one of the superlatively feminine sort -or at least what you men stupidly imagine is the really feminine. Appealing to your absurd chivalry, as you call it, but actually your vanity—clinging to you and so giving you an enlarged sense of your strength, your wisdom your indispensableness to womankind! Come now"—she smiled good humoredly- "isn't that the type of woman you like best?"

He faced her with a hurt laugh, she had begun with a touch of bitterness which her common sense subdued

"The parasite? Not the woman who can help and who dares demand! You men are all primitive in your ideas of women Wiley"

'Janet' he essayed slowly "you don't understand A child, misplaced, hurt proud struggling for the bit of good she sees that is what I saw in Aurelie I don't deny her appeal I've felt like taking her in my arms and saying 'Why, your dear kid, you ought not to be in this business- knocking about cheap hotels and in such shows You ought to have a home a shelter some one'"

'That is just it' She smiled impersonally, and briefly "Well no matter, Wiley Only I wondered why the bluebirds were calling to you this morning, and not congress It is spring, Wiley"

But Mr Curran was put out and angry He did not want her to divert the matter with her serenly measuring smile Janet!" he cried again "I don't know [illegible]

No no! Merely attracted. As you are to bookpo for girls and the magazine cover girls! She laughed now. "Oh, well the eternal masculine" Then she turned to him stubbornly 'But you are coming through this fight this campaign this means work for us all"

"Yes," he answered quietly "I will And you've hurt me Janet But perhaps you were intending to'

She left him with another banter He had a feeling that she was guessing shrewdly at the struggle dimly growing in his mind, he was trying to grasp her larger standards, her victorious self as a woman of the time, and his yielding to the common thrall of men in this chit of a girl. And he gave it up as a bad job, and turned to his work But he observed that he did work the rest of the day, savagely and with effect He would not listen to the bluebirds

Bluebirds and spring ushered in full June With his shop and his outer activities he was busied, but not too busy to read the scrawly letters from Aurelie which Uncle Mich brought Things had happened. The McFetridge combination had barnstormed the northwest and then booked into a Chicago stock house Then it lost the money garnered on one-night stands The city did not seem to recognize last year's winner of the beauty contest. The Chronicle, having worked its subscription lists as far as might be on the exploitation, was rather indifferent to Miss Lindstrom Other reviews were perfunctory Morris Feldman said it was Mr Hanbury's "rotten" play. But every one cheerfully admitted that, even young Mr Hanbury, of the Dubuque Register

All this between lines of Aurelie's exuberant letters She was undaunted She was expanding vivaciously, throwing herself into work, living every minute Her first glimpse of a city fascinated her She bewildered Uncle Mich in with her adventures

That limb of a girl,' commented Aunt Abby, 'she ought to be home. It 'ud be doing her a mite of good, Wiley."

Home' murmured Mr. Curran. "Where is Aurelie's home'"

'She ought to be gathered up and taken care of'

Yes" Mr Curran sighed "I think so too now"

The next they heard was of a wrangle between the McFetridges and Morris Feldman Then Mr Feldman was 'out' and the "house was dark" and she was boarding with Miss Norman who was a "perfect dear." Then the company reorganized with a lot of expensive scenery and a new play which the "angels" had procured Then they had a summer booking and Aurelie was to be "leading lady!' Out in the west again somewhere' So Aurelie put it

Mr Curran was struck dumb. Aurelie a "leading lady!" He could not stick his job press that day "That girl," he mused, "must just be running that show and the twins and everything!"

"Done goin' to occupy the land!" chuckled Uncle Michigan.

One afternoon when the sugar trees over the town were summer-heavy, and from the uplands came the faint clicking of the first mowers, and the young corn was high across the black bottoms, Mr. Curran, looking up from his press, saw the Van Hart surrey at his door. It held two suit cases and a bulldog the like of which in jowl and legs Rome, Ia., had never before seen. And a broad-shouldered young man was descending. Mr. Curran threw proofs to the wind and seized his hands.

"Harlan! Back to the old town!"

"Fine! Going to stay, Wiley. Not exactly at the head of my class, but I got through comfortably." Harlan drew himself up and looked across at the dingy windows of his father's old law offices above the bank. "I'm going to buck into the work, the worst you ever saw, Wiley."

"It's great. So many of our young men drift west or to the cities. But you—right here with the home folks."

"Right here." He looked at his friend with the old affectionate intimacy. "I hear, Wiley, you're going to run for congress"

"Yes. They got me into it. We'll make Hall busy, too"

Harlan smiled gravely. "Father wrote me of it."

Wiley glanced up at him. "Your father isn't for me, Harlan. And he's a pretty big man. But—eastern We're rattling on pretty strong for 'em out here. Direct elections for senators, the initiative, the recall of judges—the control of wealth by the state—the new democracy, boy. But you know all of it. The old dreams we used to argue in the the old News shop. Why we --the old News and I—we sort of raised you, Harlan. We made you as much as Harvard!"

Harlan smiled. Wiley's eyes were shining. They had a great brother love, a faith, a pride.

"What's got into you, Wiley? You're changed—you're awakened! Your campaign—the big fight ahead? Is that it?

"I shouldn't wonder! Everything seems changed. Even the old town—God bless it, it's come to seem green and fair and livable! Yes, I awakened, Harlan So's the old town' We're going to have a new building—the McFetridge twins are going to remodel the tin opera house"

"Yes?"

"And they've got a new show out And the leading woman is little Aurelie Lindstrom!"

His friend's face had hardened "Yes" Harlan muttered.

"You knew?"

"Yes I read of it—I sort of followed her—in the reviews" Harlan was gathering up the lines. "Wiley,—I—wish I had saved her!"

Wiley's hand closed over Harlan's on the dashboard. "Boy," he murmured, "I didn't mean to bring this old matter up." Then his face lit with a sudden exaltation as if he had put a great hope to the test "Tell me—you do love that girl, Harlan!"

"I did love her once" retorted Harlan squarely "You might have guessed why I wanted her out of this. And you got her into it!"

"And now?" Wiley muttered But Harlan drove on suddenly and without looking back. The older man watched him with a feeling that the fine zest of spring had dulled in him He seemed trampling on some rugged loyalty to the best thing in life--the faith of friends. He sighed as he went back to his shop. "Got her into it? Bless her, I did' But I couldn't explain to any one what it's meant to me!"

But the bluebirds in the maples did not call so jubilantly as they had the summer long

CHAPTER XV

FIGHTING BLOOD.

The last week of June Mr. Curran received this telegram

"Busted at Broken Bow.—Hen"

He showed it to Aunt Abby, and Uncle Mich, who came around every week with a letter from Aurelie for Mr. Curran to read

Mr Curran sighed "Broken Bow is a jerkwater station out in the short grass country Western Nebraska. Pretty tough I've been there—I was busted, also"

"I hope," said Aunt Abby, "that the child hasn't been compelled to have anything else cut out, even if it is busted"

Mr Curran explained that this was merely the theatrical company Then they put the telegram away behind the clock where all of Aurelie's letters and press notices were kept The next week came Aurelie's explanation The Beauty Winner company was stranded All that expensive scenery and the reorganized troupe had gone for nothing Business was very poor. Hen McFetridge explained, and the actors were clamoring for their salaries All except Aurelie who received hers every week and sent most of it home. Aurelie intimated that the twins were getting hard up She heard frequent discussions of oil and Verde copper stock and other matters extraneous to art. And the following week Mr Curran, in Earlville to see some of his political confreres, was surprised to see Morris Feldman in front of his 10 and 20-cent Main street vaudeville and moving picture house.

Morris rolled his calf eyes complacently "Those two big blobs from Tulare, Calif., Mr. Curran, what they don't know about the show business is much, believe me They done some fierce things. Why, up in Bozeman, Mont., Mr. Curran, those two big ginks from Tulare, Calif., they leased the hotel and turned everybody out just because Miss Lindstrom didn't like the room she had! Can you beat it? Nobody in that hotel except our bunch of old hams. Say, and Hen and Ben hired a chef in Denver what stuck 'em for $300 a month to go along and cook for the troupe because Miss Lindstrom didn't like a breakfast she got one morning. And that old bunch of hams we had playin'—some of them troupers hadn't had a square meal since '81. Why, Hen and Ben blew in more money on cabs some days than we could play to in a week. And they plunged on oil and played poker, and nobody got any salaries; and then they let me out. They let Hanbury manage the back of the house after that; and believe me, anything Hanbury manages is frazzled before it starts."

"Well, what'll the company do now?" asked Mr. Curran.

"Walk," commented Mr. Feldman.

"And the twins?"

'Back to Tulare. Oil."

"And Miss Lindstrom?"

Mr. Feldman turned a limpid eye on Mr. Curran. "Miss Lindstrom, she'll make good if she ever shakes that crazy bunch. I said 'Little girl, you get the clothes and go to New York. You got the stuff in you and you look the part."

"Actually?" Mr. Curran stared.

"Believe me. What broke up the show was the twins got stuck on her."

"What?"

"Dippy. Hen and Ben laid awake nights thinking how to put it over each other. Flowers, cabs, candies—every girl in the bunch was in on it, too. Aurelie Lindstrom ran that whole show and the twins paid the bills. Then we blew up out in Nebraska. When I left, them ham actors was trying to walk out of the hotel wearing two suits of clothes apiece and leaving their trunks behind; and Hen and Ben were buying drinks for some rube and trying to sell him oil stock."

Mr. Curran was worried. He asked Aunt Abby if he should not send Aurelie some money to come home on. But he didn't have any. Then another letter came. Aurelie was playing "summer stock" in Denver "Miss Norman and me, but I'm not leading lady any more. I'm going ingenue bits. Leading lady with Hen and Ben around was pretty bad. They were so foolish! And it was such a noisy play, for the farther west we got, the more shooting Mr. Hanbury insisted on putting in. The big situation always gave me a headache."

"Land!" murmured Aunt Abby, "I thought she had that cut out?"

"But, Mr. Curran," ran on Aurelie's letter, "don't you and Uncle Mich worry about me. I'm working hard and everybody seems to like me. The juvenile I play against is good-looking—quite distinguished. But everybody borrows my money. I'm awful sorry for Hen and Ben—they were broke completely. Hen came to me and said 'Little girl, we aren't sorry for a cent we ever blew in on you. If you don't want to marry us, you don't have to.' So they went back to Tulare to hunt more cow tracks, and if they find oil again they're going to make me a bigger actress than Mrs. Fiske. Yes, sir—you see! Why, I just cried when the twins went west—busted. They were grand good fellows after all!

"P. S. I'm going to send Uncle Mich some more money next pay day to pay on the cork leg And, Uncle Mich, I saw a mountain Just like you said when we came up river to occupy the land. Only such a teeny mountain way off—like a baby's toe sticking out of a blue coverlet! Lots of love

"Aurelie"

"Done never forget Uncle Mich!" cried that old rebel thumping his pegleg joyously on the wood box. "And I done promised I'd never peddle a pint o' whisky long as she sends me money!"

"Mich, I understand John won't let the family have a cent of Aurelie's money."

Uncle Mich winked wisely. "Knute and I sneak 'em in—underclothes for the baby and socks and truck. John's too busy with his soul and plannin' to drive Tanner's men off the creek survey to think about Aurelie's show money now Devil's money, John says. But it buys things for the baby, Mr. Curran Just like my old bootleg money, somehow. But these here Holiness people that got hold of John, they don't think o' that."

"John's a fool, Uncle Mich. If the county decides to divert the creek down the Pocket all you squatters will have to get out or be flooded"

"Not John. He says the God o' Battles done told him to fight. Mr. Curran, there'll done be trouble sometime over that."

"I'm afraid so," Wiley sighed. The deal for the turning of Sinsinawa creek back from the uplands above the town to its ancient channel which led to the bottoms above Tanner's quarry, had gone quietly through. Everybody favored it, except, the outlying farmers who grumbled that it was another piece of favoritism, or maybe worse. "Tanner's boards," however, were an always present grievance. The only item of interest the News found in the proceedings was that Harlan Van Hart, Esq., son of Judge Van Hart, the latest addition to the Winnetka county bar, made his first public appearance as an attorney for the Tanner company to argue for the ordinance Wiley "spread" himself in the most approved rural journalistic fashion on Harlan's effort, but he sighed—and sent the clipping to Arne Vance

And not even young attorney Van Hart, toiling away that summer in the little side room of the firm of Donley & Van Hart—names reversed, you notice—getting up his briefs and citations, knew that in his little side room in the bank Old Thad Tanner chuckled and roared The News actually commending something that he had done! But that fool editor didn't really think Van Hart's boy had anything to do with it? He took the paper to his soninlaw, Cal Rice, the pallid cashier. "We gotta get this boy, Cal We gotta get him on the ticket next fall if he can hold the News and these sorehead cusses who've started that progressive league over in Earlville Yes, sir, Cal—a mighty clever boy, and a good boy—like his father—steady and safe. The party needs more young men like that—and maybe it would be just as well to put old jelly-belly Jewett off the ticket this year and run Harlan for district attorney"

Old Thad joked about this to Judge Van Hart the next day, and the judge frowned He deprecated politics. But when he went in the bank Cal Rice said something about it. Then the judge mildly and worriedly told his wife. Her eye brightened Harlan should have a career in the state—certainly. But it was absurd to talk of it his first year out of school. But the next day Old Thad stopped her surrey to speak of it when she was shopping about the square. He had a joking and yet deferential patronizing for the Van Harts that always made the good lady detest him—as much as one may the richest man in the county—and the most influential.

(Continued next week.)

The pessimist Fletcherizes his quinine pills. The optimist gets treed by a bear and enjoys the view.

Brightened by Use.

Yeast—Have any trouble getting the house last night when you home from the club?

Crimsonbeak—Did I? Say, do you member how rusty that night-key last night? Well, look how bright is now!

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy infants and children, and see that

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

New System

Biggs—How is your flat heated?

Diggs—By tipping the janitor.—Boston Transcript.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day

Boston's Idea of Alfalfa.

Wife—John, what is alfalfa?

Hub—Oh, that's merely a slang term for whiskers.

Constipation causes and seriously aggravates many diseases. It is thoroughly relieved by Dr. Pierce's Pellets They are sugar-coated granules. Adv.

Things are seldom what they seem. It isn't always the forward child that comes out ahead.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE

Though Sick and Suffering Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I [illegible] taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was dreadfully run down, my state of health was bad, I had internal troubles, and was extremely nervous, prostrated that I had given up all feelings I could have been in. As it was I was hardly strong enough at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night, of course felt very bad in the morning and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and I feel that I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know of a woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. [illegible] CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It will pay you to do so. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Army of Constipation

Is Growing Smaller Every Day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are responsible — they not only give relief — they permanently cure Constipation. Millions use them for Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Sallow Skin

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS

If you feel 'OUT OF SORTS' 'RUN DOWN' 'GOT THE BLUES' SUFFER from KIDNEY, BLADDER, NERVOUS DISEASES, CHRONIC WEAKNESS, ULCERS, SKIN ERUPTIONS write for FREE CLOTH BOUND MEDICAL BOOK these diseases and WONDERFUL CURES effected by THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY No. [illegible] and don't delay your case

THERAPION

the remedy for YOUR OWN ailment. Absolutely Safe. No 'follow up' circulars. No obligations. DR. LE BRASSEUR MED. CO., HAVERSTOCK RD. HAMPSTEAD, LONDON, ENGLAND

WE WANT TO PROVE THERAPION WILL CURE YOU

TAPE-WORM Expelled alive in head, or no fee. No fasting. 88 page Book free. DR M. NEYSMITH, Specialist, 500 N. 12th St., St. Louis, Mo.

RUPTURE CURED in a few days without pain or danger from surgical operation. No pay until cured. DR. WRAY, 308 Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

Pettit's BEST FOR Eye EYE ACHES

PISO'S REMEDY 25 CTS Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists. FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

STAKE UPON SWEEPSTAKE

ADDING OTHERS TO ITS ...ES OF VICTORIES.

...Steer Carries Off Similar ...o Those Won by a Half-...Brother in 1912.

...ncarnock I., the Aberdeen-..., owned by Mr. McGregor ..., Manitoba, carried off the ... at the Chicago Live Stock ... 1912, it was considered to be ... victory for barley, oats and ... versus corn. So that there ... be no doubt of the superiority ... feeding, Manitoba climate, ...gment in selecting the animal, ...egor placed in competition ... another Aberdeen-Angus, a ...other to the animal that won ... year, and secured a second vic... in the second year. In other ... he had excellent winnings, but ... big victory was the sweepstakes ... the best steer. This victory proved ... Manitoba-grown barley and oats, ... prairie hay, had properties better ... contained in corn, which in ... has been looked upon as ...ior to other grains in fat... ...d finishing qualities. Not ... but Glencarnock's victory ... the climate of the prairie ... of western Canada, in com... ...h rich foods that are pos... ...at country, tends to make ... a success at little cost.

...innings at the live stock ... placed western Canada in ... big victories were: Three ... seconds, and five other ...ydesdales.

...ners, Bryce, Taber, Suther..., Mutch, McLean, Hagger... and the University of Sas... are like family names in ...an. Each one had "the ... won honor to himself and ...ade a name and record for ...an.

... the recent victories won by ...nada within the past three ...

...uary, 1911, Hill & Sons of ...ter, Saskatchewan, showed ... oats at the National Corn ..., held at Columbus, Ohio, ...ed off the Colorado silver ...lued at $1,500.

...uary, 1913, the same men, ... son, had a similar victory ...bia, N. C., and should they ...14 at Dallas, Texas, they ... the trophy.

... Seager Wheeler of Rosthern ...0 in gold at the New York ... for the best 100 pounds of ...

... at the Dry Farming Con... Lethbridge, Alberta, Mr. ... of Cardston won the $2,500 ... engine for best wheat in the ...

... at the Dry Farming Con... held at Tulsa, Okla., Mr. P. Ger... of Allen, Saskatchewan, carried ... honors and a threshing ma... for the best bushel of wheat ... competition with the world. ... at the International Dry ... Congress at Tulsa, Okla., ... won the majority of the ... honors in individual classes, ... seven out of the sixteen sweep... including the grand prize for ... bushel of hard wheat.

The grand prize, a threshing ma... was won by Paul Gerlack for ... bushel of hard wheat, which ... 71 pounds to the bushel, and ... of the Marquis variety

... district in which the wheat ... that won this prize, there ... thousands of acres this year that ... have done as well. Mr. Gerlack ... to be congratulated, as well as the ... of Saskatchewan, and west... Canada as a whole, for the great ... that has been achieved in ... and cattle.

Other prizes at the same place ...

... ...eck of barley, Nicholas Tot... Claresholm, Alberta.

... ...ck of oats, E. J. Lanigan, El... ...katchewan.

... ...bushel of flax, John Plews, ... Saskatchewan.

... ...eaf of barley, A. H. Cross... ...dersley, Saskatchewan.

... ...eaf of flax, R. C. West, Kin... Saskatchewan.

... ...heaf of oats, Arthur Perry, ..., Alberta.

... ...rict exhibits, Swift Current, ...ewan, won the board of ...ward, with Maple Creek sec...

... exhibitors and winners were: ...life spring wheat, E. A. Fred... ...ple Creek.

... variety of hard spring wheat, ...hart, Abernethy, Sask.

... oats, Alex Wooley, Horton, ...

... ...ern rye grass, W. S. Creighton, ...t, Sask.

... ... of Red Fife wheat, R. H. Car... ...t Qu'Appelle, Sask.

... ... of Marquis wheat, C. N. Car... ... Dysart, Sask.

... any other variety, Wm. S ..., Pambrun, Sask.

... ...owed barley, R. H. Carter, ...u'Appelle, Sask.

... ...wed barley, R. H. Carter, Fort ...elle, Sask.

... ...ern rye grass, Arthur Perry, ...rdston, Alta.

... ...sike clover Seager Wheeler, Ros... ... Sask Advertisement.

Business Failures in Canada.

According to a statement compiled by Bradstreet's, the following figures show the comparison between failures in the different provinces of Canada in 1912 and 1913:

	—No.—		Assets.		Liabilities.
	1913.	1912.	1913.	1912.	1913.	1912.
Ontario	409	363	$1,369,962	$1,197,847	$2,914,330	$2,410,625
Quebec	501	488	3,092,078	2,096,849	6,221,329	5,206,801
New Brunswick.	45	50	145,619	195,044	226,627	337,245
Nova Scotia	65	45	121,615	569,208	250,575	1,670,881
P. E. Island	4	7	4,750	10,400	7,950	30,409
Manitoba	204	96	689,626	481,743	1,520,819	781,410
Alberta	128	76	592,878	285,225	994,362	471,704
Saskatchewan..	186	37	761,263	221,378	1,544,708	338,699
Brit'h Columbia	284	144	1,484,891	526,320	2,948,354	1,048,408
Yukon Territory	...	.	.....	.....	.....	. ....
Totals	1,826	1,306	$8,261,882	$5,583,614	$16,629,054	$12,296,282

AS EDITOR MARK TWAIN STIRRED UP HANNIBAL

It Was His First Venture and He Went After Every One in County.

From "Sketches New and Old," by Mark Twain.

I was a very smart child at the age of 13—an unusually smart child I thought at the time. It was then that I did my first newspaper scribbling, and most unexpectedly to me it stirred up a fine sensation in the community. It did, indeed, and I was very proud It did, indeed, and I was very proud and a progressive and aspiring one. My uncle had me on his paper (the Weekly Hannibal Journal, $2 a year in advance—500 subscribers—and they paid for it in cordwood, cabbages and unsalable turnips), and on a lucky summer's day he left town to be gone a week, and asked me if I thought I could edit one issue of the paper judiciously. Ah! didn't I want to try!

Higgins was the editor of the rival paper. He had lately been jilted, and one night a friend found a not on the poor fellow's bed, in which he stated that he could no longer endure life and had drowned himself in Bear creek. The friend ran down there and discovered Higgins wading ashore. He had concluded he wouldn't do it The village was full of it for several days, but Higgins did not suspect it. I thought this was a fine opportunity. I wrote an elaborately wretched account of the whole affair and then illustrated it with villanious cuts engraved on the bottom of wooden type with a jacknife —one of them a picture of Higgins wadding out into the creek in his shirt with a lantern sounding the dept of the water with a walking stick. I thought it was desperately funny and was densely unconscious that there was any moral obliquity about such a publication. Being satisfied with this effort I looked around for other worlds to conquer, and it struck me that it would make good interesting matter to charge the editor of a neighboring country paper with a piece of gratutious rascality and "see him squirm." I did it, putting it into the form of a parody on "The Burial of Sir John Moore," and a pretty crude parody it was, too. Then I lampooned two prominent citizens outrageously, not because they had done anything to deserve it, but merely because I thought it was my duty to make the paper lively.

Next I gently touched up the newest stranger—the lion of the day, the gorgeous journeyman tailor from Quincy. He was a simpering coxcomb of the first water, and the loudest dressed man in the state—and an inveterate woman killed. Every week he wrote "lushy" poetry for the Journal about his newest conquest. His rhymes for my week were headed "To Mary in H—l," meaning to Mary in Hannibal, of course. But while setting up the piece I was suddenly riven from head to heel by what I regarded as a perfect thunderboldt of humor, and I compressed it into a snappy footnote at the bottom—thus: "We will let this thing pass just this once; but we wish Mr. J. Gordon Runnels to understand that we have a character to sustain, and from this time forth when he wants to commune with his friends in h—l he must use some other medium that the columns of this journal."

The paper came out, and I never knew anything to attract so much attention as those playful trifles of mine.

For once the Hannibal Journal was in demand—a novelty it had not experienced before. The whole town was stirred. Higgins dropped in with a double barreled shotgun early in the forenoon. When found out that it was an infant (as he called me) that had done him the damage, he simply pulled my ears and went away; but he threw up his situation that night and left town for good. The tailor came with his goose and a pair of shears; but he despised me too, and departed for the south that night. The two lampooned citizens came with threats of libel and went away incensed at my insignificance. The country editor pranced in with a warwhoop next day, suffering for blood to drink; but he ended by forgiving me cordially and inviting me down to the drug store to wash away all animosity in a friendly bumper of "Fahnestock's Vermifuge." It was his little joke. My uncle was very angry when he got back—unreasonably so, I thought, considering what an impetus I had given the paper, and considering also that gratitude for his preservation ought to be uppermost in his mind, in as much as by his delay he had so wonderfully escaped dissection, tomahawking, libel and getting his head shot off. But he softened when he looked at the accounts and saw that I had actually booked the unparalleled number of 33 new subscribers, and had the vegetables to show for it— cordwood, cabbages, beans and unsalable turnips enough to run the family for two years!

TRUE CONTENTMENT.

By John Ruskin.

The things to be desired for man in a healthy state are that he should not see dreams, but realities, that he should not destroy life, but save it; and that he should be not rich, but content.

Towards which last state of contentment I do not see that the world is at present approximating There are, indeed, two forms of discontent one laborious, the other indolent and complaining We respect the man of laborious desire but let us not suppose that his restlessness is peace, or his ambition meekness. It is because of the special connection of meekness with contentment that it is promised that the meek shall "inherit the earth" Neither covetous men nor the Grave can inherit anything: they can but consume. Only contentment can possess

The most helpful and sacred work, therefore, which can at present be done for humanity is to teach people (chiefly by example, as all best teaching must be done) not how "to better themselves," but how to "satisfy themselves" It is the curse of every evil nation and evil creature to eat, and not be satisfied. The words of blessing are, that they shall eat and be satisfied. And as there is only one kind of water which quenches all thirst, so there is only one kind of bread which satisfies all hunger, the bread of justice or righteousness, which hungering after, men shall always be filled, that being the bread of Heaven, but hungering after the bread, or wages of unrighteousness, shall not be filled that being the bread of Sodom.

And, in order to teach men how to be satisfied, it is necessary fully to understand the art and joy of humble life—this, at present, of all arts or sciences being the one most needing study Humble life —that is to say, proposing to itself no future exaltation, but only a sweet continuance, not excluding the idea of foresight, but wholly of fore sorrow, and taking no troublous thought for coming days, so, also, not excluding the idea of providence, or provision, but wholly of accumulation —the life of domestic peace, full of sensitiveness to all elements of costless and kind pleasures -therefore, chiefly to the loveliness of the natural world

What length and severity of labor may be ultimately found necessary for the procuring of the due comforts of life, I do not know; neither what degree of refinement it is possible to unite with the so-called servile occupations of life; but this I know, that right economy of labor will, as it is understood, assign to each man as much as will be healthy for him, and no more and that no refinements are desirable which cannot be connected with toil

Converting the World.

From the Los Angeles Tribune.

To "convert the world" is an ambition frequently expressed. To promotion of it much appealing oratory is being expended, and millions of dollars are being gathered. Sometimes the thought occurs that a wider difference morally ought to divide the Christianized portion of the globe from the rest so that the reason for bridging the chasm might be more apparent. In every city of the land there is ignorance, poverty, squalor, crime and despair. This is the richest nation of the world, yet in parts of it children are worked in the mills, and elsewhere reeking sweatshops destroy all the beauty of life for the toilers. Fields yield abundantly, and speculators grow grossly rich on the products, yet the people starve. Mines create millionaire coal barons, the profits going to pay dividends on fictitious capital, in the form of stock these barons have issued themselves, while the miner has to fight for a living wage, and many a hearth is cold for lack of the money wherewith to purchase one poor hod of fuel. The Christian nations of the world maintain great armies to prevent their possessions from being overrun by the army of some other Christian nation. Occasionally one makes a foray on the un-Christianized, returning with spoils. England forced the opium trade upon reluctant, heathen China. A glance at conditions as they exist gives rise to inquiry as to what are the new conditions after the Christianizing has been perfected. Not long ago a fervent worker stated that with a certain sum—exact figures forgotten—India could be "converted in a year" A reasonable knowledge of the Islamitic character makes reasonable the belief that India could not be "converted" in a century. That missionaries have accomplished distinct good is not to be denied Vast sums have been poured out to enable them to make the essay Not so vast, however, but that the donors could well afford to give. Nobody would discourage their work Only it seems that the field nearer home is ripe and neglected, and that before bringing the distant and benighted up to the standard of civilization ought to be elevated so as to be acceptable to those born and bred within the sphere of its influence.

The Kaiser's Youth.

From the New York World.

A ruler of Kaiser Wilhelm's energy and vigor has the faculty of never appearing to grow older. At the respectable age of 55 he still wears his years lightly and serves as an example of the advantages to be gained by leading a busy life. With good care a constitution that was none too sound has been strengthened and made equal to bearing throughout a long reign the burden of a daily round of duties that would have exhausted the ordinary man.

Yet among the sovereigns of Europe in point of age Kaiser Wilhelm stands near the top. The venerable emperor of Austria, who is past 83, and King Charles, of Roumania, and King Nicholas, of Montenegro, are really his only seniors, for the king of Sweden outclasses him by barely six months. The thrones of Europe are held by young men, for the most part, well under 60, who can well afford to borrow the kaiser's secret of youth.

A man who enjoys his life's work as much as he does can defy the calendar to do its worst.

To Save Ohio Floods.

From the New York Evening Post.

To deal with the flood problem was the first task of the Ohio legislature this week. The measure prepared after general agreement between engineers, lawyers and the legislative reference bureau is interesting from several points of view. Partial application of the local option principle is permitted The "conservancy act" rests primarily on the organization of districts, each under its board of directors, and no district may be established except on petition of a specified number of freeholders. But as only 10 months ago Ohio was suffering from a flood that cost scores of lives and $200,000,000 in property, unanimity in action is almost certain. Once established, the governing body has large powers; it may condemn lands, issue bonds, and exercise police powers, subject, of course, to court review It is to regulate, widen and deepen stream channels, reclaim wet and overflowed land wherever possible, and improve drainage The work, by state direction, will be pushed first where the peril is greatest, and "extended to all sections where potential flood dangers exist" The reclamation of waste lands and conservation of water power are expected to be incidental, but substantial ...

Mechanical Calculator.

A Swedish inventor has designed an apparatus for counting money and sorting the pieces into specified quantities. In the first place, money of various denominations is put into the machine and separated according to value, these being sent into various tubes. When in the tubes the coins can be taken out in lots of ten, twenty, fifty or one hundred pieces, at the will of the operator. The apparatus is capable of separating, counting and dividing in the lots mentioned above 72,000 pieces in an hour. One machine under one operator is able to accomplish in one day as much counting as could be done by fifty most experienced bank cashiers —Northern Weekly Gazette

ECZEMA SPREAD OVER BODY

Roxbury, Ohio.—"When my little boy was two weeks old he began breaking out on his cheeks. The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. Wherever that matter would touch it would cause another pimple until it spread all over his body. It caused disfigurement while it lasted. He had fifteen places on one arm and his head had several The deepest places on his cheeks were as large as a silver dollar on each side. He was so restless at night we had to put mittens on him to keep him from scratching them with his finger nails. If he got a little too warm at night it seemed to hurt badly.

"We tried a treatment and he didn't get any better. He had the eczema about three weeks when we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him at night with the Cuticura Soap and spread the Cuticura Ointment on and the eczema left." (Signed) Mrs. John White, Mar. 19, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Best She Could Do.

A little girl (daughter of a fashionable dressmaker) was walking out with her baby brother in a pram, when a lady friend met them, and after kissing and complimenting baby, asked the little maiden if she would let her have the baby to keep.

"Oh, no," replied the little girl, "we couldn't spare Frankie, but mother would lend you a paper pattern of one like him."

Uric Acid Is Slow Poison

Excess uric acid left in the blood by weak kidneys, causes more diseases than any other poison

Among its effects are backache, headache, dizziness, irritability, nervousness, drowsiness, "blues," rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. Later effects are dropsy, gravel or heart disease.

If you would avoid uric acid troubles, keep your kidneys healthy. To stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills—the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Missouri Case

Mrs J P Pemberton, 716 S. Lafayette St., Marshall Mo., says: "My whole body was swollen with dropsy. I had terrible backaches and headaches. The kidney secretions were in awful shape. I gave up hope and was ready to die. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my aid just in time and I improved rapidly until I was well Today I am in better health than ever before."

Get Doan's at Any Store. 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

The opportunity of securing free homesteads of 160 acres each, and the low priced lands of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will soon have passed.

Canada offers a hearty welcome to the Settler, to the man with a family looking for a home; to the farmer's son, to the renter, to all who wish to live under better conditions.

Canada's grain yield in 1913 is the talk of the world. Luxuriant Grasses give cheap fodder for large herds; cost of raising and fattening for market is a trifle.

The sum realized for Beef, Butter, Milk and Cheese will pay fifty per cent on the investment.

Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D., W.V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agt

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Alfalfa Seed $6 Farms for sale and rent J. Mulhall, Sioux City, Ia

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 8-1914

Weak Women!

Some women are weak because of ills that are common

In Girlhood—Womanhood and Motherhood

The prescription which Dr. R. V. Pierce uses most successfully—in diseases of women—which has stood the test of nearly half a century—is

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Take this in liquid or tablet form as a tonic and regulator!

Mrs. Kate D. Richardson, of Beazley, Essex Co., Va., says, "I esteem it a pleasure to testify to the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For some years I suffered greatly with weakness peculiar to my sex. I was treated by several physicians but gradually grew worse. One of my friends told me of the good results of your "Favorite Prescription." I went to the drug store and got a bottle, and after taking it, with the "Pleasant Pellets," I commenced to get better. I never knew what happiness was, for I was always sick and complaining and made others as well as myself unhappy. So you see what a debt I owe you!"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate stomach, liver, bowels

Lumbago-Sciatica Sprains

"The directions says, its good for lumbago too,—Sloan's cured my rheumatism; I've used it and I know." Do you use Sloan's?

Here's Proof.

"I had my back hurt in the Boer War and two years ago I was hit by a street car. I tried all kinds of dope without success. I saw your Liniment in a drug store and got a bottle to try. The first application caused instant relief, and now except for a little stiffness, I am almost well."—Fletcher Norman, Whittier, Calif.

Instant Relief from Sciatica

"I was kept in bed with sciatica since the first of February, but I had almost instant relief when I tried your Liniment."—W. H. Hawkins, Frankfort, Ky.

Sprained Ankle

"As a user of your Liniment for the last 15 years, I can say it is one of the best on the market. Fifteen years ago I sprained my ankle and had to use crutches, and the doctors said I would always be lame. A friend advised me to try your Liniment and after using it night and morning for three months I could walk without a cane and run as good as any of the other firemen in my department. I have never been without a bottle since that time."—Mr. William H. Briscoe, Central Islip, N. Y.

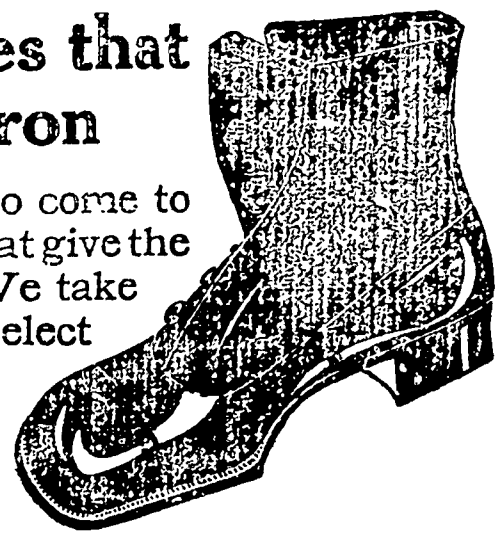
SLOAN'S LINIMENT

At all Dealers. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00

Sloan's Instructive Book on horses, cattle, poultry and hogs, sent free.

Address, DR. EARL S. SLOAN, Inc., BOSTON, MASS.

School Shoes that wear like iron



This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges The best makes in Farm Machinery We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right ... invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all-steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent.

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day
Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

C. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

THIRD ANNUAL

HORSE SALE

To Be Held at Britt, Iowa

March 7, 1914

We will sell 75 horses and mules at this sale No more and no less;

Sale will be held regardless of weather at the big Schriver barn and yards in the north part of Britt

Sale will commence promptly at 10 o'clock

This will be the best opportunity of the year to buy or sell horses Our former sales were a complete success, buyers and sellers both satisfied

Bring In Your Horses & Mules

Horses must be listed with clerks by March 6th, and anyone listing horses for this sale may withdraw same by March 5th, by notifying the clerks, and shall receive back his guarantee entrance fee.

Don't Fail to Come Whether You Want to Buy or Sell

Positively no horses will be sold at this Sale unless listed by March 6th

Hay and stall room furnished free for entries all day of sale Horses may be listed with either the clerks, managers or the auctioneers.

G. S. Sheridan, Geo. Wermersen, Mgrs.

Col. H. H Ellsworth, C. J. Hern Brummond, Auctioneers
C. W. Erwin, O. J. Muller, Clerks.

Repeated Three Times

A play that has been repeated in the same town as many as three times in as many years and each time has played to increased houses, should be worthy of the patronage of the citizens of Klemme. "The Girl and the Hawk" which will appear at the opera house, March 5th, is such a play, guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Don't Miss This Bargain

The Klemme Times and Kimball,s Dairy Farmer, both one year for $1.15 We would like all of our subscribers to take advantage of this offer and if your subscription to the Times is paid in advance send in or hand us 15 cents and we will see that you get Kimball's Dairy Farmer twice per month for one year If you have not paid your subscription now is the time to do it and take advantage of this bargain.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION WINS OVERWHELMINGLY AT ELLSWORTH.

School consolidation swept the whole country in and about Ellsworth Tuesday at the special eection. The proposition carried by 136 to 19 and establishes the school in Ellsworth as the first consolidated school in Hamilton county. Two ballot boxes were kept. The town voted 79 to 2 in favor and the country 57 to 17. Prof. Runkle, the members of the school board and all the other boosters in both the town and country roundabout are the happiest men in the county over the outcome. The Journal predicts that before the year is out there will be several other districts established in Hamilton county.

ADVERTISING FARM SALES

An exchange tells of a farmer who spent $25 advertising his public sale, which is about four times the amount usually spent. The result was that the sale brought him over $700 more than his highest estimate, so he thinks that it was money well spent. Farmers are just beginning to learn the value of liberal newspaper advertising of public sales. A few dollars spent in advertising in the local paper will be read by ten times as many people as read the bills which cost nearly as much as the advertisment and therefore is a much better investment. We would not advise dropping the sale bills, but it should be supplemented by some vigorous newspaper advertising.

OUR MISTAKES

When one remembers that in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, that there are seven wrong positions each letter may be put in and there are 70,000 chances to make errors, besides millions of chances to make transpositions, he will not be too critical. In the sentence, "To be or not to be," by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,759,022 errors. So you see the perils that beset a printer.

THE PRESIDENT'S THIRTEENS

President Wilson, evidently, is not superstitious. At least, he has withstood an avalanche of the supposedly unlucky number, thirteen.

There are 13 letters in the name "Woodrow Wilson."

Woodrow Wilson was the 13th president of Princeton

President Wilson was nominated on the 13th of the month.

Adding 1, 9, 1, 2, the year in which he was nominated makes 13.

President Wilson was inaugurated in the year '13.

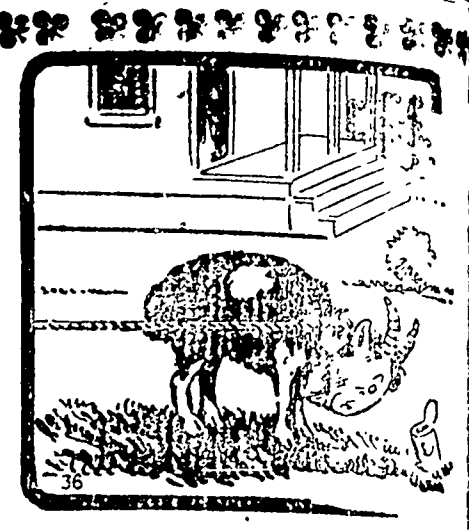
Miss Wilson was the 13th White House bride.

There were 13 members of the

A prenuptial luncheon was given by Mrs. Daniels, wife of the secretary of the navy, on November 13, at which there were 13 guests, 13 candles, 13 colored lights, 13 bouquets and 13 kinds of food.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath, Shingles, Posts, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Cement, Fencing, Lime, Plaster, Roofing, Sewer Pipe, Drain Pipe, Brick



There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION

Because Our Patrons INVARIABLY WIND THEIR WAY BACK with a SPOOL OF HOPE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

YOU MRS. HOUSEWIFE

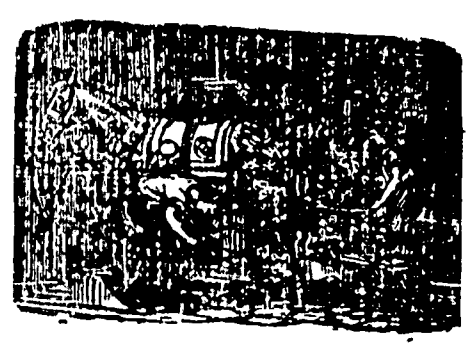
might prepare right now for more pleasure than you have ever had in the years past by resolving to let us do the greater share of pour baking. If you will try our

Bread, Cakes and Cookies

you will find you have spent many a needless hour in the kitchen, and if you learn this NOW, you will save yourself the burden of hot stoves and headaches next summer.

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.



W. F. PAVEY

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share of your patronage and if work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 27 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 26, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

to do your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

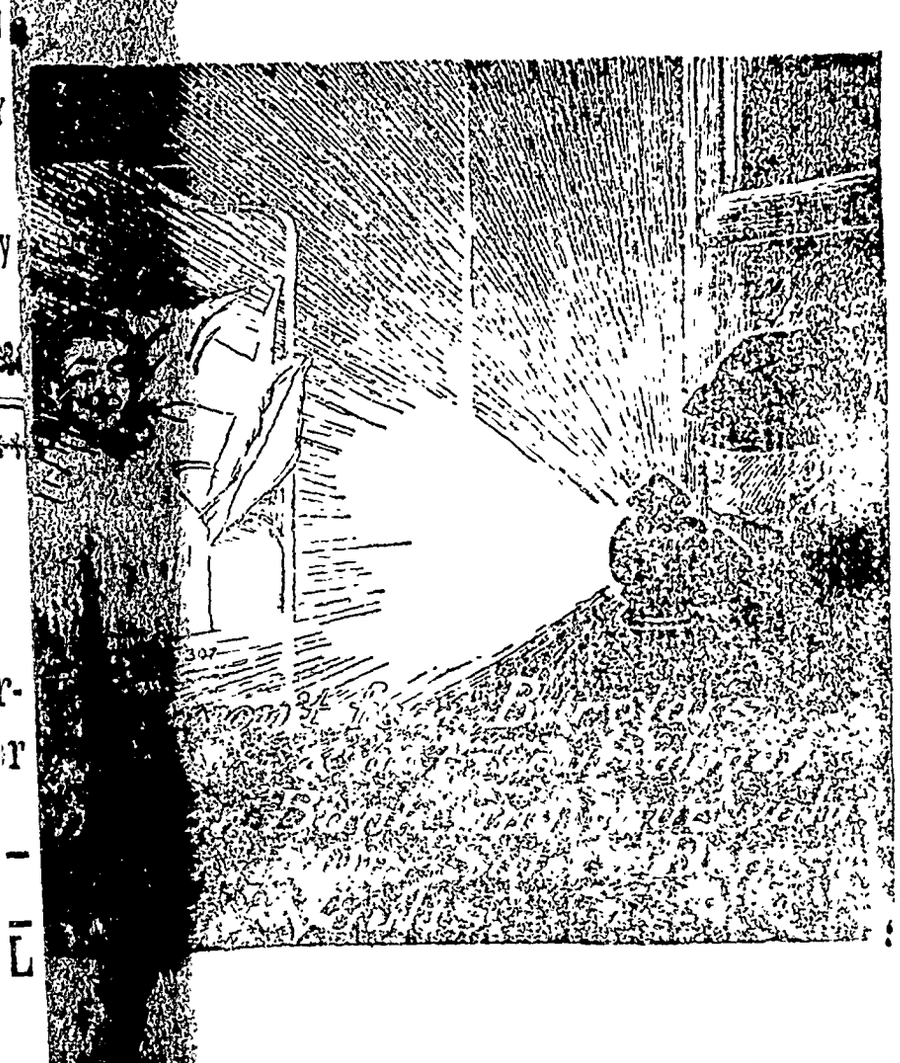
is proof of the success of this policy.



u got a SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX? If one from us and put away safely YOUR d your valuable papers, jewels and . We will charge you a rental of only ear, for a private box. Then your hings will be SAFE from fire and bur- o put YOUR MONEY IN OUR BANK

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

lowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

IN COAL AND

LIVE STOCK

MAN

hogs six days in the week at est market prices.

ess established 1890.

Local Overflow

Items of Interest to You and Your Neighbor

What is a gawk? A gawk is an awkward fellow, not necessarily a "rube" or a "clod-hopper" Some of our greatest men were called "gawks" in their youth —Abraham Lincoln for instance. Opera house, March 5th, Gruetzmacher Bros. have their new implement building completed and now is filled up with all kinds of new machinery. If you are in need of any machinery kindly call and look our stock over.

The band boys social and concert Tuesday evening was well attended and the boys netted about $30 00 They are showing a great improvement in playing and we can look forword to some swell concerts this summer.

A meeting of the Booster Club will be held at the opera house Tuesday evening March 2nd at which all members are urgently requested to be present. Officers are to be elected and other important business disposed of.

Last week C. A. Arnold purchased the Polled Durham "Craggs Archer" from Gibbs Bros. This bull is a grandson of "Golden Hero" the World's Fair Champion at St Louis. Mr. Arnold appreciates the value of good blood and we are glad that he secured this good sire.

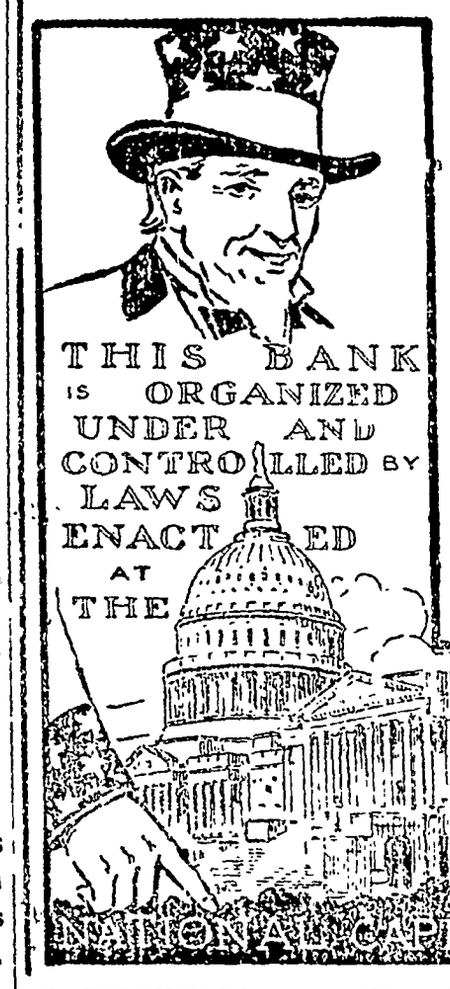
Word has been received from State Superintendent Deyoe that he will be here on Saturday afternoon, March 7th, and deliver a speech on the Consolidation of Schools. Mr. Deyoe's many friends should plan to be present whether you are interested in this school question or not. Remember Saturday afternoon, March 7th.

'TWAS EVER THUS

I tell you when your friends come round and slap you on the back,
And friends you never knew before hand you a hearty whack,
The things they say all make you feel just like you are a king,
They listen and they laugh right out when you say anything.
"There's nothing in the world too good for you," that's what they say.
They tell you that the world will talk about you some fine day.
They go and kill the fatted calf when e'er you heave in sight,
They spread the pleasant salve on you and surely spread it right.
They're proud to know, yes they are, and flatter as they should,
Your friends besiege you day and night when you are makin' good.
You never see a single soul you know from morn till night,
You gaze around quite anxiously, but no one heaves in sight;
You wonder where those friends have gone you used to know so well,
You somehow miss the hearty laugh when your best yarns you tell;
Nobody slaps you on the back or treats you like a king,
You cannot find an audience. You feel the dreaded sting
Of failure in the atmosphere and cannot tell just why
The flattering friends of yesterday are wont to pass you by,
You miss the glad acclaim they gave, the ever-welcoming shout;
For very few will stick by you when you are down and out.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00
Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU
Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.



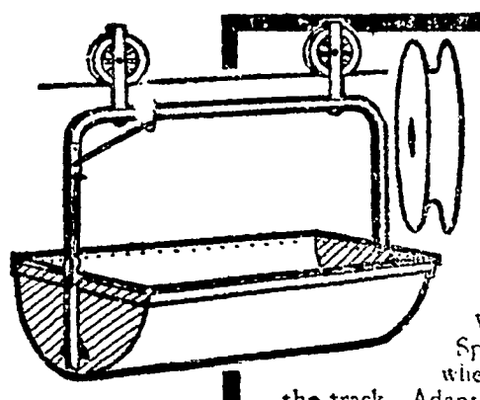
THE
Value of A Dollar You Most Appreciate
When With The
The Starting of a Bank Acct
YOU
See Them Accumulate
DON'T PROCRASTINATE

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited
All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants



The Moyer Litter Carrier

has no complicated parts to get out of order. Strong, simple and always on the job. Special deep-groove wheels so it can't jump the track. Adaptable to any requirements. Guaranteed for five years and we now offer it for

30 DAYS Trial Free
Put up a MOYER carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not

Exclusive Dealers
H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

A new device for night firing has been brought out in Germany, which consists of an electric torch fixed, says the Army and Navy Gazette, to the barrel of a rifle, with lenses such as throw a narrow pencil of light to the front. The soldier has only to throw the disc of light steadily on his opponent while he presses the trigger and the bullet should strike the mark. The range of light is limited by the weight of the accumulators which can be carried on the weapon; thus it is stated that an electric torch, weighing seven ounces, is fully effective at 40 yards. The difficulty has so far restricted the application of the device to pistols.

A foreigner in Paris had been challenged to a duel. "Sure," he cried, "we will fight with clubs." "That won't do," said his second. "As the challenged party, you have the right to choose the arms, but chivalry demands that you should decide upon a weapon with which Frenchmen are familiar." "Is that so, indeed?" returned the generous foreigner. "Then we'll fight it out with guillotines."

The largest tree in the United States is said to be the "Mother of the Forest," a giant redwood in the Calaveras big tree grove in California. It is supposed to contain 140,619 board feet of lumber. There are, however, many claimants for the honor of being the "largest tree" and the "oldest tree," and these claims, according to foresters, cannot always be verified.

According to Dr Jacques Bertillon, the French statistician, suicide is commonest among liquor sellers, chimney sweeps, butchers, fruiterers and musicians. It is frequent among "camelots," shop assistants, cutlers, hairdressers, servants, costers, lawyers, doctors and druggists. It is rare among the clergy, government officials and men leading an active, open air life.

The highest point in Nevada is Wheeler peak, which, according to a chart, published by the United States geological survey, is 13,058 feet above sea level The average elevation of the state of Nevada is 5,500 feet. Only four states Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico, are higher

The family of Mr and Mrs Exor Matthews, of Grand Rapids, Mich, consists, besides the parents of 12 children, all of whom are skilled musicians or are taking lessons in the use of some instrument. Each parent is able to play two or three instruments

The Russian department of agriculture has appropriated the sum of $5,665 for the reorganization of the Moscow museum of agriculture, the first institution of its kind in Europe, which will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary in 1915

Japan has about 125 steam trawlers, and at the present rate of increase the number will reach several hundred in a couple of years. The catches range from five to 10 tons each, and the net profit on one ton of fish is $50 to $75.

J W. Cook has just paid, in London, $4,000, a sum covering debts from which he was freed in the bankruptcy court 19 years ago The payment was not the result of a windfall, but represented many years' savings

Jamaica produces a great variety of hardwood trees Lists of its timbers classified according to the suitability of the timbers, (113 in all), have been printed in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture

There are more than one thousand concerns in Japan engaged in manufacturing knit shirts socks gloves and drawers Factories employing large capital, labor or modern machinery do not exist

The number of persons killed by lightning in the United States during a year averages nearly six hundred about four thousand cattle are killed and annual damage by lightning is $3,000,000

The equivalent of one school year for more than four hundred children is lost because of contact with minor contagious diseases, according to figures recently compiled for Pittsburg.

Most of the domestic vessels used by the people of India are made of copper or brass, and departure from this usage is rendered difficult from certain ritual observances of cleanliness.

The University of Southern California has appealed to the Central Labor council of Los Angeles to aid in the work of making its course in trade unionism a success.

A rancher applied for rental of 320 acres of the Pike national forest, Colorado, to be used in connection with private land, for raising elk as a commercial venture.

Joseph and James Martin, brothers, living in Syracuse, N. Y., have built a windmill attached to an ordinary buck saw. It cuts as much wood in a day as 25 men.

According to the "Mexican Year Book," the total capital employed in the Mexican mining industry is $667,000,000. Of this $500,000,000 is said to be American.

The chain used by Abraham Lincoln to survey the boundary line of Arkansas is being exhibited in the window of a hardware store in Houlton, Me.

Living up to Hohenzollern tradition, the German crown prince is now a tradesman, having adopted the handicraft of a master turner.

Under forest regulations in Columbia rubber gatherers are required to give the trees a rest period in tapping them for gum.

Moving pictures shown on a slightly concave screen are relieved of some of the distortion that is noticeable on flat screens.

Sheffield cutlery firms have subscribed $55,000 for the purpose of prosecuting for fraudulent use of the word "Sheffield" abroad.

The Italian ministry of education will spend $15,440,000 for new public school buildings in the next four years.

REPRESENTATIVES OF FIVE COUNTIES AT THE SAC CITY CONFERENCE

Interesting Session of "Older Boys" Division of Y. M. C. A.—Officers Elected.

Sac City, Ia., Feb 23—The inter-county Y M C A conference of older boys opened last night in Sac City with 85 delegates present outside of Sac City, representing the associations in Green, Calhoun, Pocahontas, Buena Vista, O'Brien and Sac counties. Following a banquet in the parlors of the M. E. church, which was attended by 150 men and boys, and which included a program of toasts by the various county secretaries or their assistants, an address was given by Rev. Howland Hansen, of Des Moines.

Officers for the conference were elected as follows: Chairman, Robert Aborn of Sheldon, O'Brien county; vice chairman, Claire Welch, of Marathon, Buena Vista county, secretary, Dewitt McIntyre, of Pocahontas, Pocahontas county.

The remaining program will include addresses by Leonard Paulson, of Des Moines, state boys' secretary, Rev. C E. Chapler, of Rockwell City, Dr. E. H Crane, of Odebolt and E. C Wolcott, of Sioux City The conference will close this evening.

KETCHAM LOSES FIGHT TO KEEP OUT OF ASYLUM

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23.—William H. Ketcham of Algona, who was the center of financial disturbances until the people of the town took action to have him adjudged insane and confined in the hospital at Cherokee, has lost his fight in the Iowa supreme court, but as he is now a resident of Illinois, apparently everyone is satisfied.

The court dissolved the restraining order which it had granted, preventing the authorities from taking Ketcham to the asylum

Ketcham was wealthy prior to his going to Algona. He is said to have dropped most of his fortune in alleged misdirected investments His ideas and movements became so objectionable to the people of Algona that they took action against him And after an order had been issued adjudging him insane, he secured an injunction from the supreme court

Instead of making further fight he hustled back to Algona, packed his goods and traveled to Illinois He cannot be taken unless he returns to Iowa again

IOWA CITY MAN HEADS ENGINEERS' ASSOCIATION

Council Bluffs, Ia, Feb 23—The Iowa Association of Engineers and Highway Officers closed its convention here yesterday afternoon These officers were elected President, W G Raymond, Iowa City, vice president, William H. Kimball, Davenport, secretary treasurer, S. M. Woodward Iowa City directors M G. Hall, Centerville, and J. B. Davidson, Ames.

That Iowa and the greater part of the United States is on the eve of the greatest era of road building ever seen and that road building in the state has been put on the best foundation possible was the gist of an address by Henry E Sampson assistant attorney general The need of state appropriations, such as are being made by the million in eastern states for better roads and the employment thereby of competent engineers to protect the improvement of the public highways were emphasized by Mr Sampson, who declared that engineers are being called upon more and more to supervise improvement of public roads and other great public undertakings

LINCOLN'S FORMER PAL IS 98 AND A BACHELOR

Fort Dodge, Ia, Feb 23 "Uncle Mc" Bargar of Lehigh, a "pal" of Abraham Lincoln in his boyhood days, has just celebrated his 98th birthday and finds fun to have to be a centenarian He has lived for 72 years in Iowa

He was born in Perry county Indiana and grew up until he was 14 years of age he lived but seven miles from the home of Abraham Lincoln, then a raw country boy who gave no evidence of his future greatness From Indiana, the family moved to Illinois where it remained until 1852 when it settled in Jefferson county Sixty years ago, Mr Bargar arrived in Webster county and has been here ever since

Mr Pargar cast his first vote for Martin Van Buren and has participated in 19 presidential campaigns He became a republican when Lincoln came up for election but later affiliated himself with the democrats

Mr Bargar is still hale and hearty He chops his own wood and wheels it to the house in a wheelbarrow Although he is a home loving man he never has married, and in addition to his other distinctions, probably has that of being the oldest bachelor in Iowa

FORT DODGE LINEMEN NOW APPEAL TO GOVERNOR

Fort Dodge, Ia, Feb 23—Eight linemen discharged by the Fort Dodge Telephone company have appealed to Gov G. W. Clarke, by a petition largely signed, for the appointment of a board of arbitration to decide the local labor trouble. This appointment is made possible by a law passed by the last legislature. The proposal of the laboring men that two of the discharged linemen be taken back to work and that the eight be allowed to rotate in holding the two positions until they secure work elsewhere has been refused by the company. A counter proposal that two of the linemen be reinstated and the other six ignored has been refused by the local union of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

UPPER DES MOINES EDITORS AT MANSON MARCH 26-27

Manson, Ia., Feb. 23—The Upper Des Moines Corn Belt Editorial association meeting will be held in Manson, Thursday and Friday, March 26 and 27. John F Dalton, of the Manson Democrat, is one of the committee to look after the program for the two days' session and promises that the editors will be given the right kind of a reception at the hands of Manson citizens

IOWA EGG OUTPUT IN 1913 MORE VALUABLE THAN ALASKA'S GOLD

State Board of Agriculture Is Out With Answer to the Claims of Minnesota.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 21.—The production of eggs in Iowa in 1913 was greater than the annual output of the gold mines of Alaska or California or any other state in the union, according to a statement issued yesterday by the Iowa department of agriculture. Aroused over the claims made by Minnesota as an important egg producing state, the Iowa department prepared statistics showing that Iowa has twice as many fowls and that they produce twice as many eggs annually as the fowls of Minnesota do. Iowa also lays claim to being the leading producer of ham and bacon. The statement says:

"Iowa hens lay 1,170,569,772 eggs in a year and take a three months' vacation," declares the department.

"It would require the annual poultry products of two states like Minnesota to equal Iowa's annual egg and poultry output, notwithstanding the fact that Minnesota is out with a statement that if all the eggs laid in Minnesota in a year were placed end to end they would reach all the way around the earth and leave 3,000 miles over.

"The figures the Iowa department of agriculture has received from township assessors show that in 1913 there were 36,092,390 fowls on Iowa farms and that the egg production for 12 months amounted to 97,549,731 dozen. The department estimates that the value of the poultry and eggs would be $38,000,000. The value of the egg output alone would be $21,000,000."

HARDING PREDICTS BIG REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDE

Perry, Ia., Feb. 21—Lieutenant Governor W L. Harding, of Sioux City, who was in Perry a short time Wednesday, sees nothing but republican victory in Iowa, and believes that the usual big republican majority will be polled at the elections next fall.

While here Mr. Harding said that he would be a candidate again for the office of lieutenant governor He has been over the state considerably the last few weeks and says that he believes the republican party in Iowa is now stronger than ever.

"Iowa is naturally a republican state," said Mr. Harding. There is a lot of talk at present about high taxes and capitol extension, but the longer these things are talked the better acquainted the people are with the issues, the better it is for the republican party. The democrats are not placed in a very good condition to decry state taxes which may cost the farmers of Iowa a few dollars, when the democratic tariff is robbing Iowa farmers of hundreds of dollars where the taxes have not been increased in cents"

CLEMMONS IS PRESIDENT OF IOWA BUTTERMAKERS

Fort Dodge, Ia., Feb. 21.—The Iowa state buttermakers, who close their week's convention here today, elected officers as follows. President, R. E. Clemmons, Burt, vice president, C E. Brant Fairbank secretary, J J Brunner Strawberry Point, treasurer, W E Mittlestadt, Manchester

The resolutions passed approved the recommendation to United States senators for their guidance in procuring just fines and penalties against law breaking buttermakers, that a fat standard for American butter be used in lieu of the present moisture standard, that salted butter containing less than 80 per cent butter fat and unsalted butter containing less than 82.5 per cent fat shall be deemed adulterated that there be inspectors to determine the fat content of butter and that supervision of this inspection be transferred from the treasury department to the agricultural department. Another resolution adopted included a recommendation for a more active state interest in the butter industry, reduction in cost of butter production, an increase to 12 in number of assistant dairy commissioners, a change in the law to include one or more members of the dairy association on the state dairy board, increase in the support fund for dairy and farm schools.

MANY TAX BLANKS SPOILED AND MURPHY IS SHORT

Des Moines, Ia, Feb 21—Des Moines is out of income tax blanks

A supply of 2,000 blanks was received several weeks ago. It was expected at the revenue collector's office on the second floor of the federal building that the supply would be sufficient to go around

The officials in charge of the local branch had counted up on their fingers that there were somewhat less than 2,000 persons in Des Moines who boast of a net income of $3,000.

"We are shy just about 2,000 blanks," said the man in charge of the local office yesterday. "We telegraphed to Collector Murphy at Dubuque, but he is out, and we tried to get some at Davenport and they are out up there It isn't that there's so many rich in Des Moines any more than they are in any other place like Des Moines where every one is doing well, but nearly every one that got a blank spoiled the first one in filling it out because they were not used to it. We had only a few extras because we thought that 2,000 would go around."

LOGAN LIMESTONE FOUND GOOD SOIL FERTILIZER

Logan, Ia., Feb. 21.—An exceedingly favorable report has been received from Ames on the analysis of the limestone quarry adjoining town on the east. The limestone tested nearly 95 per cent and the surveyor of soils says: "This is one of the best limestone samples, in regard to carbonates, that I have analyzed. If such rock was ground and pulverized so that 50 or 60 per cent of it was dust, it would be valuable to add to land to correct the acidity wherever present."

C. W. Hunt, former member of the legislature, has expressed his intention of giving the local limestone a thorough test on his farms near Logan. It has been found that this stone makes excellent building material and is unaffected by exposure but its value for soil purposes is a new feature.

ARGUS EDITORS WILL UNITE NEWSPAPERS AT CORRECTIONVILLE

Promised County Printing Fight Will Not Proceed—Change Occurs Saturday.

Correctionville, Ia., Feb. 20.—With today's issue of the Correctionville News, Fred W. Colvin will retire from its ownership. The property has been sold to Bergstrom & Freeman, who for the past year have been publishing the Correctionville Argus. Possession will be given Saturday of this week.

The consolidated newspapers will be called "The Sioux Valley News," the title under which the News was started in 1882 by Daniel Freeman, father of Fred Freeman, one of the new owners of the consolidated papers. The present quarters of the News will be used. This action will stop the pending contest over designation as official newspaper of this county, the News having taken an appeal from the action of the supervisors in naming the Argus as one of the official papers at its January meeting.

In his farewell statement, Editor Colvin says he could elaborate on his reasons for selling, but contents himself with the following brief statement:

Last December, when the local business men made the reasonable request that some arrangement be made to relieve them of the double advertising burden, I promised them to do what I could, offering to either buy the Argus or sell the News. The opportunity to keep my promise came suddenly, and I kept it.

My duties as postmaster demand my constant attention during the day, so that nights and Sundays only were left for the work of editing the News and looking after its business affairs

Another consideration at this time is the matter of help in the News office. My foreman, E C Lee, has been fighting rheumatism for weeks and had decided he must go to a sanatorium for treatment. This complicated my affairs, and the sale of the News, for this reason, is opportune.

When I turn over the keys of the News office to my successors, tomorrow night, I shall begin my first genuine vacation from newspaper work in 23 years—four and one-half years on the Sioux Falls Daily Argus-Leader, six months on the Chicago Tribune, over 11 years with The Sioux City Tribune and six and one-half years with the Correctionville News After the strain I have been under, running two businesses, a "vacation" will seem good

MEMBER "UNDERGROUND" CREW DIES AT TABOR

Tabor, Ia, Feb 20—Lemuel E. Webb, aged 81, died here Wednesday night. Mr Webb was a personal friend of John Brown, and often assisted in operating the "underground railroad for runaway slaves, Tabor being one of the important points on the line.

FEDERAL BUREAU EMPHASIZES SPRING SHOOTING ILLEGAL

Mason City, Ia., Feb. 19.—The government and the state authorities have now fully agreed on the proposition that spring shooting is illegal, no matter whether a license has been issued or not W F Bancroft, of the federal bureau replied to a query propounded by Jack Schell, president of the Central Heights club, as follows

"I beg to advise you that spring shooting is now prohibited throughout the United States under the federal law. The fact that your hunting license allows spring shooting has no bearing on the matter The Iowa legislation had adjourned before the federal regulations were promulgated and therefore did not have an opportunity to pass such laws as would comply with the seasons established under the regulations. I understand that the state game warden of Iowa has issued a further statement and now concedes that the federal law supplements the state laws, and advises the sportsmen to comply with the regulations"

BUTTERMAKERS SCORE HIGH AT FORT DODGE CONTEST

Fort Dodge, Ia, Feb. 20.—Scoring for the Iowa buttermakers' contest at the fourth annual convention which opened here today resulted as follows:

Whole Milk Cheese—First place, J J Brunner, Strawberry Point, second, Carl Hovdland, Lake Mills

Gathered Cream Class—First, H. K. Nelson, Joice, second, Herbert Soballe, Coulter

Brunner's score was 96½. Nelson's score, 96

In 139 tubs none scored under 90 in either contest

In the Iowa state educational class for eight months for the purpose of raising standard of butter in Iowa, places given were Whole Milk Class—First, T. E. Sadler, Oelwein, second, J. J. Brunner, Strawberry Point.

STICKS HEAD IN SHAFT AND CAUGHT BY ELEVATOR

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 20.—Curiosity almost finished W. A. Miller, a carpenter living in this city. While doing some work at a local packing plant he inadvertently stuck his head into the elevator shaft in an effort to look downward to the lower floor, not observing that the elevator was descending

The elevator platform struck Miller's head with considerable force and pinned it between the car and the platform. A workman, who was nearby, perceiving the situation cried a warning to the elevator boy just in time to prevent Miller from being decapitated. It was necessary to raise the car in order to release Miller. He is now resting easily at a local hospital and will recover. He was badly bruised about the head and upper limbs.

CONTRACT LET FOR LARGE NEW HOTEL AT DUBUQUE

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 20.—The contract for Dubuque's new $550,000 hotel to take the place of the Hotel Julien destroyed by fire last April, has been let to the Central Engineering company of Davenport. A large number of applications for the lease of the building for a long term of years have been received from the best hotel men in the country Work on the new hotel will begin as soon as the weather moderates.

SECRETARY OF IOWA COMMERCIAL MEN'S ASSOCIATION DE

A. W. Rader Succumbs to Illness of Several Months at Home in Des Moines

Des Moines, Ia., Feb 19—A Rader, secretary and treasurer of Iowa State Traveling Men's association and one of the most prominent members of the Iowa United Commercial Travelers, died yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at his home at 644 Thirty-sixth street. He was 54 years old

Mr. Rader had been in ill health several months, but it was only a month ago that he was confined to his home. A complication of diseases brought about his death, which was a great shock to his friends among the 50,000 members of the Iowa traveling association.

Elected secretary of the association only three years ago, Mr Rader has become one of the most prominent members of the organization in nearly 15 years he had been a traveling man, with headquarters in Des Moines. He had represented both the Iowa Dairy company and the Des Moines Dairy company as traveling salesman.

He is survived by his widow and two sons and one daughter. One son Albert Rader, lives in Cincinnati while the other, Kirk Rader, is a resident of Mason City. The daughter Lucile Rader, is dean of women at Iowa Wesleyan college at Mount Pleasant

JOHN T. HAMILTON WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Cedar, Rapids, Ia., Feb 19—John T. Hamilton, of this city, has announced that he will be a candidate for nomination as governor at the June primaries on the democratic ticket His candidacy was secured by Paul Kersch of Davenport, who managed Henry Vollmer's congressional campaign in the Second district. Mr. Hamilton, who formerly was a member of the board of control was urged to become a candidate for governor two years ago, but declined to enter the race.

Hamilton's candidacy has been strongly urged by leading democrats from many sections of the state and the matter has been under advisement for several weeks. It is understood he will make his campaign on a platform of better business administration of state affairs.

STATE HOUSE CROWD BACK TO MONTHLY PAY SYSTEM

Des Moines, Ia., Feb 19 With the adoption of an ironclad rule by the state executive council the state goes back to the monthly instead of semi-monthly pay day. More than 1500 employes in the state departments who have been enjoying a pay day every two weeks will be affected

The rule adopted is a return to the law which declares the state shall pay salaries monthly. For several years custom has grown up at the state house whereby employes have been drawing their salaries in semi-monthly installments. The practice has been followed so long that the clerks in some of the offices felt that it was a right given them by the state legislature

As many of the clerks had this privilege and others did not, a petition was signed by the outsiders asking the executive council to give them the same rights the others enjoyed

J. L. Bleakly, auditor of state declared that the custom of making semi-monthly pay warrants twice a month crowded work onto his already overworked department, and that it would be an act of justice to add to the burden The result of the conference was that instead of extending the semi-monthly pay day plan to the entire state house and all departments, it was voted away from all.

ANOTHER BIG FAILURE DUE TO KIENE BANKRUPTCY

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 19.—Petitions in voluntary bankruptcy were filed yesterday afternoon by Judge Bonson, of the Dubuque county district court, and his brother, William Bonson.

The petitions are almost identical in character, aggregating in liabilities $150,000 and assert the value of the assets is not known. They represent holdings in the Bonson Dry Concentrator company, a concern controlling mining machinery patents, large real estate holdings, including 10,000 acres of mining and other lands in Dubuque county. Even the old Bonson homestead is listed.

The failure is due to embarrassment occasioned by the late Peter Kiene and Son failure, which concern is now in bankruptcy. Immediate cause of failure was foreclosure of mortgages procured by the Bonsons and the latter Kiene, which mortgages were given to raise money to carry on the works of the now defunct Iowa Iron works

EFFICIENCY ENGINEERS NOW COMPILING REPORT

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 19.—The corps of "efficiency engineers" or expert bookkeepers, who have been at work all the year on a report which will indicate how differently they do things elsewhere than in Iowa in the matter of handling public business, is now engaged in having the report printed. When it is supposed the report will be ready for distribution for general use. The report will then go to the committee of the legislature which authorized it. The report is for the private information of the committee and their guidance in making up a report to the thirty-fifth general assembly on changes and improvements that can be made to the public service. The committee will have a meeting early next month to consider the report of the bookkeepers who have checked up on state affairs.

ALBIA POSTOFFICE.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Sharp political complications have arisen over the Albia postoffice. Representative Dunnpatrick recommended the democratic county chairman, Wiley Fall. After hearing from John R. Clark chairman of the district congressional committee he has withdrawn the recommendation and recommended J. M. Gass, editor of the Monroe County Democrat.

[illegible] ROBBERS KILL [illegible] THREE, THEN ESCAPE

[illegible] Trio Hold Up the Great [illegible]rthern Passenger, But Get Little Loot.

[illegible]ham, Wash., Feb. 23.—When [illegible] passengers on Great Northern [illegible]er train No. 358, bound for Vancouver, B. C., undertook to resist one of a trio of holdups who entered the day coach, when the train was running along the edge of the bay, nine miles south of here tonight at 7:30, the holdup man pulled an automatic pistol and shot the men dead in their tracks. Thomas R. Wadsworth, a Canadian Pacific conductor, of Vancouver, B. C.; R. L. Lee, of Bremerton, Wash., and H. R. Alderson, a traveling salesman, of Vancouver, B. C., are the dead men.

The robber who killed the men turned and started back to the front coach. As he passed along several women passengers held their purses in the aisle. He gathered up a handful of them and then ran. The three bandits left the train together as it came to a stop from a signal given by the conductor who had heard the shooting from another coach and pulled the cord.

GREAT DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY FLOOD IN GOLDEN STATE

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23.—Three days of unprecedented rainfall brought six southern California counties to a condition of complete prostration today. There were no street car or railroad [illegible] in service. High winds off the [illegible] prostrated wires and for [illegible]ay Los Angeles and surrounding territory within a radius of 200 [illegible]re without power or telephone [illegible]raph service.

[illegible]men and women have lost their [illegible] in the floods since Wednesday.

[illegible] damage has been done by the [illegible]aters which were the most [illegible] in the recorded history of the [illegible] end of the state.

Fruit District Suffers.

[illegible]e and lemon growers of the [illegible]ruit region about Los Angeles, [illegible]ered severely in the freeze of [illegible] 1913, sustained another hard [illegible] the storm. Groves nipped and [illegible] by the frost a year ago were [illegible] out by mountain torrents and [illegible] instances homes floated off on [illegible] of the swirling current.

Still More Rain.

The heavy downpours of yesterday [illegible]llowed by a torrential rain [illegible]nt. This was succeeded by a [illegible] high velocity and practically [illegible]wn and city in six counties are [illegible]lete isolation.

[illegible] Angeles, although it escaped [illegible]viest rainfall, two great steel [illegible] collapsed. The usually dry [illegible] the Los Angeles river and of [illegible]ya Seco carried raging streams [illegible]verwhelmed and demolished [illegible] and bungalows that stood [illegible]ir banks.

[illegible]ainfall for the three days in [illegible]eles was more than seven [illegible]

At various points within a radius of [illegible] as much as 10 inches fell, most [illegible]aring brief and frequent inter- [illegible] which sent torrents roaring [illegible] attempt has been made to esti- [illegible] damages caused because of the [illegible] of authentic reports from outlying [illegible]. But it probably will amount [illegible] into the millions

One man was drowned at Alhambra [illegible] night and at Victorville, in the Mojave desert a hurricane destroyed the home of Mrs Grace Sprague, who was killed in the collapse

At Huntington Beach, Eva Preston, a 22 year old student at the University of Southern California became confused by the high wind and pelting rain and stepped in front of a suburban car [illegible] was instantly killed.

Situation Summarized.

Summarized, the flood situation [illegible] Los Angeles follows:

[illegible]ona—Center of a Large Fruit [illegible] District—Orange and lemon [illegible] razed by the storm waters. [illegible] grove damaged more or less. [illegible] suffering losses in each case [illegible]ed at from $500 to $10,000. All [illegible] and electric lines washed out.

[illegible]ena—Two reported drowned, Miss [illegible] Beville, a woman rancher, and [illegible]sin, H. M. Seitz. Temporary [illegible]ld the floods.

[illegible]rio, San Bernardino County—Many groves flooded.

Monrovia, in the Foothills—Citrus groves and streets swept by torrents. Scores of poor families driven from homes and the lowlands inundated when a temporary dam, erected to protect railroad tracks, gave way.

Pasadena—Surrounding citrus groves [illegible]; steam and electric railroad [illegible] interrupted.

[illegible]tier—All bridges gone, roads [illegible] out, suburban service demoralized. Fruit orchards damaged; large [illegible] lowlands flooded.

[illegible]a Ana, Orange County—Bridges [illegible] away; train and trolley service cut off.

[illegible]ewood, South of Los Angeles—[illegible]looded when storm waters over- [illegible]a sewer draining Los Angeles [illegible]rst a monster pipe.

[illegible] Pedro—Harbor traffic demoralized. Railroad and trolley tracks under [illegible]reading to a width of 15 miles [illegible]tending nearly 20 miles to Los [illegible].

[illegible]laya Del Rey, Long Beach and [illegible]—Heavy ocean tides were re- [illegible] with some damage.

DECIES ARE STRANDED.

[illegible] Francisco, Feb. 23.—Lord and [illegible] Decies are again storm bound. [illegible] heels of a two days' enforced [illegible] Santa Barbara because of rail- [illegible] washouts they are stranded on [illegible] Southern Pacific's valley line near [illegible], according to information re- [illegible] here early today. It is proble- [illegible]l when they will reach Los An- [illegible]eles.

SHOW BUILDING DAMAGED.

San Francisco, Feb 23.—A portion of the great dome of the Panama Pacific exposition's palace of manufactures collapsed and fell 165 feet, causing damage estimated at $20,000. There were no workmen about because of rain.

VILLA'S OUTBREAK RENDERS MEXICAN SITUATION GRAVE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The alleged killing of William S Benton, a British subject, by Villa, has unquestionably added gravity to the Mexican situation.

President Wilson is deeply worried over it, though official statements are going out that there is no occasion for alarm.

One effect of it is to convince many of the hopelessness of expecting anything from the constitutionalist leaders. The British government apparently does not intend to take forcible steps to protect British citizens in Mexico, despite the fact its traditional policy would call for such action. But there is a big question whether the British public will sit quietly by and allow the British government to let the matter drift.

Washington officials are much concerned as to how the British public will take it. Ministries have been overturned on issues of less moment than this.

The situation is rendered more grave because of the possible fate that may have befallen two other English subjects, John Lawrence and a man named Curtis. They went to Juarez from El Paso to find Benton and have not been heard from since. It is feared they too may have been executed. Neither has the department been able to ascertain what has become of Gustav Bauch, an American who was held by Villa as a spy.

REBELS DECLARE BENTON ATTEMPTED TO KILL VILLA

Washington Feb 23.—Roberto Pesquiera, constitutionalist agent here, made public the following telegram from constitutionalist headquarters at Juarez:

"Benton entered Villa's apartment very unexpectedly discarding protection for his interest and bitterly insulting Villa and the constitutionalist army. General Villa told him that he considered him an enemy to the constitutionalist cause and that in order that he might not continue to work against it, he Villa was going to pay him the value of his (Benton's) property in the state of Chihuahua.

"Benton became very exasperated at this and drew his revolver intending to kill the general, but the latter immediately knocked him down, disarmed him and sent him to jail. Benton was afterward tried by a special military tribunal, sentenced to death and duly executed, all in accordance with the laws and usages of war."

Announcement that Benton met death in Juarez after a court martial ordered by Villa was made today by Secretary Bryan, who said he had no further details. His information came in a dispatch from Consul Edwards at Juarez, who said he had read the court martial proceedings which were forwarded by mail to Washington.

Secretary Bryan communicated Consul Edwards' latest message to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador and directed Consul Edwards to demand complete protection and a fair hearing for Gustave Bauch, an American citizen, for whose safety in Juarez grave apprehension has been felt. Friends of Bauch in El Paso have telegraphed to Representative Smith of Texas that he had been held as a "spy." No report had been received at the state department today on the reported disappearance of the other Englishmen, Lawrence and Curtis, who were said to have gone to Juarez to search for Benton.

A telegram from R N Dudley, of El Paso, Tex., to Senator Fall declaring Benton "was murdered like a dog," was read in the Senate today at the request of Senator Fall. He also had read a telegram from the El Paso mass meeting.

"I am almost certain Villa did it in person," said the telegram from Dudley. "No evidence that Benton was the aggressor," added the Dudley telegram. Everything shows it cold blooded murder. Castillo, a guest of our government with safety from punishment. Villa boasting of his crime. Is there no protection anywhere? El Paso full or rebel officers. The business affairs of the rebellion openly done here. Watchful waiting a failure."

Later today Villa telegraphed Pesquiera as follows:

"The attention of the commanding general of the division of the north having been drawn to the published reports in respect to the recent execution of Wm. S Benton, he desires it known that the action of the authorities in that case was entirely justified by the laws and usages of war.

"Under article 84 of general order 100, for the government of the United States in the field, it is provided that 'armed prowlers' who come within the line of the army of occupation with hostile intent, are not entitled to the privileges of prisoners of war.

"Article 85 provides that persons within occupied territory who employ violence toward the established authorities are subject to the penalty of death, whether they arise singly or in number.

"There is absolutely no doubt but what Benton, Huertista sympathizer and a murderer of Mexican citizens, deliberately attempted an act of violence against the person and life of the commanding general, and for that reason in accordance with the laws and usages of war he was tried by a military tribunal, constituted for that purpose and executed pursuant to its sentence, a proceeding sustained by American and European precedents.

"General Jackson in 1818 hung two British subjects, Arbuthnot and Ambrister for having given alien sympathy to hostile Indians in Florida.

"General Butler hung Mumford at New Orleans in 1862 for merely hauling down an American flag from over the custom house, and two years later Kennedy was hung by the United States militaries at New York because of his complicity in a plot to set fire to that city.

"What was justifiable under martial law in the United States then, is certainly justifiable under martial law in Mexico now. The fact that Benton was a British subject has no bearing on the legal aspects of the case as under international law the alien is as amenable to martial law as is a citizen."

NO ACTION IS TAKEN BY GOVERNMENT OF BRITAIN

London, Feb 23.—The British government up to noon today had not taken any action in regard to the execution at Juarez of William S Benton, the Scottish ranchman, beyond instructing Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador at Washington, to obtain from Secretary Bryan all possible information on the affair.

Although the tragedy has created a sensation throughout the British Isles it has not aroused any disposition on the part of responsible members of the British government to change their policy in regard to Mexico.

There is no concealment of the fact, however, that the murder of British subjects in Mexico, unless followed by punishment of the murderers and payment of indemnity is likely to arouse public opinion here to the point where it will demand that the British government take a more aggressive attitude.

This fact had been impressed on the state department at Washington, by Sir Cecil Spring-Rice before any British lives had been lost in Mexico.

In its official attitude Great Britain is looking to the United States government to protect British subjects and has no doubt that the United States will do its best.

The state department at Washington has already informed the British government that where there are no British consuls in Mexico, the consuls of the United States will look after British interests.

The British government has no communication with the Mexican constitutionalists through diplomatic or consular channels.

The Globe after asking what is going to happen in case investigation proves the guilt of Villa, says:

"The United States has not only the responsibility involved in its assertion of the Monroe doctrine but the responsibility of having supplied Villa and the rebels with arms thereby promoting the lawlessness which has had such grievious results for British lives and interests. President Wilson has gone too far to shrink from going farther."

VILLA MAINTAINS BENTON THREATENED TO KILL HIM

Washington Feb 23. White House officials stated today that official reports from General Villa and his friends declared William S Benton, the British ranchman, was executed because he entered the camp of Villa armed and threatened the life of the constitutionalist commander.

In view of this latest report, there was a disposition at the White House to await a full investigation of the facts before expressing any opinion. It was also stated that Great Britain was holding in abeyance any representations pending the completion of a report on the affair by the American government.

Late official dispatches to the state department containing Villa's version of the affair, were brought to the White House, but a complete account of the killing as personally explained to Consul Edwards is on its way by mail.

Official dispatches from American consular representatives say further that Villa claims Benton came to him armed and that during the course of a long argument and quarrel, Benton raised a gun to shoot, but was disarmed, and a trial by a military court followed.

Villa takes the position that a foreigner who threatened the life of a military officer is subject to no immunity or the rights ordinarily extended to non-combatants.

FATE OF THREE CAPTIVES IS AN UNSOLVED MYSTERY

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 23.—The alleged disappearance of John Lawrence an engineer of Yuma, Ariz., and a friend of his by the name of Curtis, in Juarez, last Wednesday, or whether they have disappeared at all, constituted a mystery today.

In Juarez officials denied that any such men had been detained. The American consul, Thomas D Edwards, was officially informed that Gustav Bauch, who was reported executed as a spy last night, had merely been removed from the Laredo street barracks, where he was held incommunicado, to another lockup and the consul was assured that probably he would be released in a day or two.

The accusations against Bauch, so far as could be learned, simmered down during the trial to the charge that he had assisted in repairing locomotives for the federals. Bauch is a railroad mechanic.

If the statement to Edwards proves true, and he is released, American refugees here say it will indicate that the indignation meeting held here last night to protest against the murder of William S. Benton by Gen. Francisco Villa influenced the rebel decision.

CLASH BETWEEN BRITAIN AND AMERICA EXPECTED

Mexico City, Feb 23.—The story of the execution of William S Benton by the rebel Villa is displayed today under large type headlines in all the Spanish and English newspapers.

El Imparcial labels it "The new assassination, which has horrified even the dupes captained by the execrable bandit."

It declares that Villa killed Benton in cold blood, afterward ordering a fictitious courtmartial in order to cover his act of murder.

El Pais predicts that the affair will provoke a conflict between the chancelleries of London and Washington.

El Independiente refers to the crime as having been committed with "all the refinements of cruelty."

The leaders of the British colony here are contemplating calling a mass meeting of British residents to make representations on the subject and to demand from their government more adequate protection for their countrymen residing in rebel territory.

The affair is widely discussed in the federal capital and has caused expressions of indignation on all sides.

TWO MEXICANS HELD.

El Paso, Tex. Feb 23.—The two prisoners taken by Troop M, Thirteenth cavalry last night, when 15 or 20 shots were exchanged between the Americans and a crowd of Mexicans, probably will be released. Capt. Harry M. Cootes said today after questioning the prisoners that they appeared to be employes of the smelter, who inadvertently became mixed up with the flying Mexicans.

ASK RETRIAL OF GORE.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 23.—Motion for a retrial of the $50,000 damage suit instituted by Mrs Minnie E. Bond, of Oklahoma City, against United States Senator T P Gore, in which a verdict for the defendant was returned here Wednesday was filed in behalf of Mrs Bond yesterday.

INQUIRY INTO GRAIN QUESTION CONSIDERED

Hearings as to Advisability of Investigating Price Fixing to Be Held.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Congressional investigation of Representative Manahan's charges that the Chicago and Duluth boards of trade and the Minneapolis chamber of commerce compose a combination in restraint of trade which fixes the price of wheat for the farmer and the price of flour to the consumer, was before the House rules committee today for the first steps for public hearings.

Before the committee may report a special rule for the investigation—which under the House procedure is the first requirement—opponents and proponents of the inquiry will have opportunity to be heard. The time and place to be named later.

BRITON EXECUTED BY VILLA; BORDER COUNTRY AROUSED

Washington, Feb. 21.—Secretary Bryan, after a cabinet conference, ordered an immediate investigation of the killing of W S Benton, the English ranch owner at Juarez.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 21.—William S. Benton, of El Paso, Scotchman, subject of Great Britain, is dead. The death of the man is confirmed by Pancho Villa and was officially conveyed to the widow at 316 North Oregon street by United States Consul T. D Edwards, of Juarez.

Mystery surrounds the report of the death William Benton, a cousin of the dead man, confirmed the report.

"Consul Edwards told Mrs. Benton," he said, "that her husband was dead in Juarez. The consul said that Pancho Villa has confirmed this, but said that Villa had asked him not to make public the details except in official dispatches to his government."

Benton was executed Tuesday night after a trial by a military court in Juarez, of which Federico Gonzales Garza was the head, according to what appears to be a correct version of the affair. The charge against Benton was that he was implicated in a plot to take Villa's life.

Protested to Villa.

Villa left for the south this morning on a special train. Benton was last seen alive in Juarez Tuesday morning. He was making his way to Villa's home and said he was going to "tell Villa what he thought of him" for the manner in which his ranch, the "Los Remedios" in western Chihauhua, had been looted and raided by rebel soldiers.

Instructions had been sent by the state department yesterday to Consul Edwards, it is reported, to see that no harm should come to Benton, the instructions being sent upon the request of the British ambassador at Washington. The warning, it now appears, came too late.

It is supposed that Villa's defense will be that the man was shot because he entered Villa's office and started to draw a gun, although the cousin says Benton did not go to Juarez armed. Benton had been in Mexico for about 25 years. He was about 45 years of age.

Villa and Benton have been acquaintances for many years. Benton knew him when, as an outlaw, more or less accepted as a part of the Mexican social fabric, the then bandit crossed the Benton ranch west of the city of Chihuahua. The ranch of 100,000 acres is known as "Los Remedios," and is considered one of the best in Mexico. It was well watered, contained fine pasturage, crops grew abundantly and the owner was particularly proud of his orchard which succeeding bands of revolutionists cut up into firewood. Benton paid $125,000 for it, but improvements are said to have brought the value close to $1,000,000.

Deny He Was Armed.

It was with the assurance of this acquaintance behind him that the doughty Scotchman, whose courage, if not his discretion, is admired, went to Villa with complaint of the depredations committed on his property.

Yesterday Villa, who has consistently denied that he had Benton in custody, told a reporter that Benton was armed when he made his visit.

Friends of the rachman assert indignantly that Benton, while of fiery temper and ready to use fists, was of sober habit and never known to carry a gun. His great reason for going unarmed was his own knowledge of his temper.

In the course of the interview Benton and Villa quarreled and Benton was lost to view of his friends. James Hambleton, an Englishman and others including reporters, exhausted every means of ascertaining the fate of the missing man, but everywhere were met with evasions and denials.

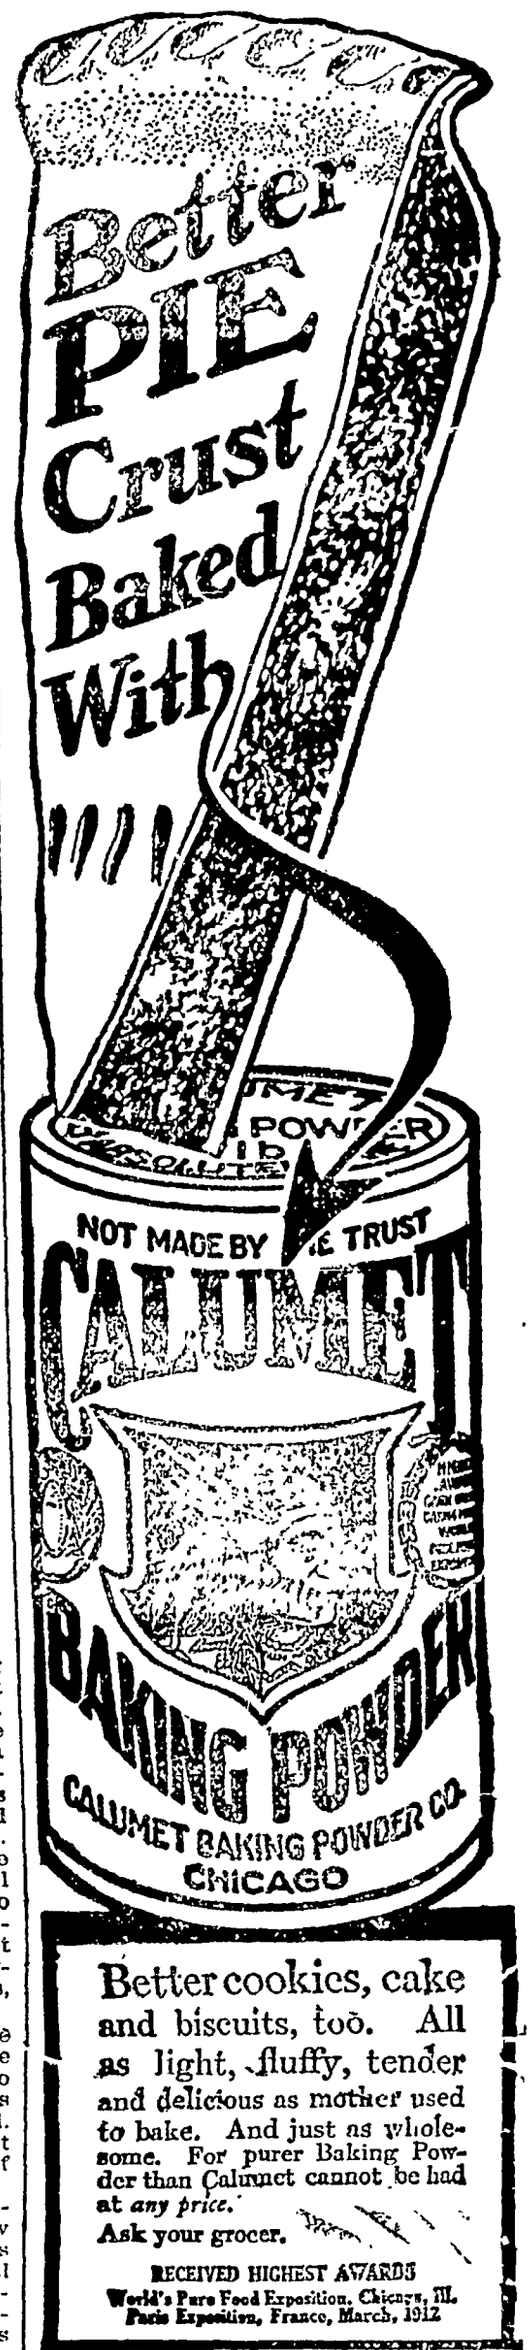
Consul Edwards was the first to learn the true facts. He gave Mrs. Benton only a bare outline of the case.

SENATE TO STAND BY PEACE POLICY

Washington, Feb 21.—By a vote of 40 to 13 the Senate in executive session today rejected the Chamberlain amendment to the Spanish general arbitration treaty to exempt from arbitration questions relating to Panama tolls, immigration, admission of children to state schools and all questions involving the Monroe doctrine.

On one objection the final vote on ratification of the Spanish treaty went over until tomorrow. Senator Shively, changing the plan of the committee, then called up the British treaty and offered a resolution for its ratification. Extended debate followed.

Other treaties pending are with Great Britain, Japan, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Portugal and Switzerland. The Chamberlain amendment would exempt from arbitration all questions of immigration, the admission of aliens into public schools of the state, the Monroe doctrine and all that it might imply in relations with other American nations and the provision of the Panama canal act exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls.



Better cookies, cake and biscuits, too. All as light, fluffy, tender and delicious as mother used to bake. And just as wholesome. For purer Baking Powder than Calumet cannot be had at any price.

Ask your grocer.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARDS
World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Ill.
Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Declined.

They had scrambled through the first dance on the program and he was leading her back.

"I could die dancing, couldn't you?" he asked.

"No," she replied. "There are pleasanter ways than being trampled to death."

Mean Spirit.

"The railways have done away with passes entirely," said the member of the town council.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the embittered rural editor. "Now and then one of them passes a dividend."

Some things are better left unsaid. Every breach of promise suit demonstrates that.

Make the Liver Do its Duty

Nine times in ten when the liver is right the stomach and bowels are right.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS gently but firmly compel a lazy liver to do its duty.

Cures Constipation, Indigestion, Sick Headache, and Distress After Eating.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 5-1914.

PISO'S REMEDY
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.
FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E Baumgartner.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G Wishbarn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa.—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914

E L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters a the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

I D G Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914

Martin Bachman.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election

A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries

I C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole

Financial Statement of the Independent School District of Klemme

TEACHER'S FUND

On hand July 1, 1913		$1,198.08
Received from Co. Treas.		625.00
Received for tuition		39.00
Total		$1,802.08
Items of Expenditure
Teachers' Salaries	$1.220 00
Refund over paid tuition	2.50	1,222 50
Balance on hand		$ 659.58

CONTINGENT FUND

Balance on Hand		$436 65
Received from Co. Treas.		180.00
Received from sale of books		69 39
Received from sale of seats		8 05
Total amt received		$694.09
Paid Out
Sec. and Treas Salary	$ 60.00
Coal & Kindling	177 40
Books	89.07
Seats, Desk, Teachers Desk and Chair, and other supplies	105 21
Janitor Salary	125 00
All other expenses	124.11	$680.79
Balance on hand.		$ 13 30

Estimated expenditure for the coming year

Teachers Fund	$2,100 00
Contingent Fund	$ 800.00

LEW LEWIS, Secretary.

E C Waddingham will start a panatorium here in a couple of weeks

Opera House, Thurs. Eve., March 5th

Beautiful Scenery
A Play Worth While
Excellent Specialties
Clean, Wholesome Fun

THE LOCKE THEATRICAL ENTERPRISES Present
The Four-Act License For Laughter and Tears

"The GIRL and the GAWK"

(By Will H. Locke)

A Story that touches the Heart.

A Plot that contains no Killings.

—GUARANTEED AS ADVERTISED, OR MONEY BACK—

SEATS NOW ON SALE AT STATE SAVINGS BANK.....

GRIESEMER'S ORCHESTRA WILL FURNISH MUSIC

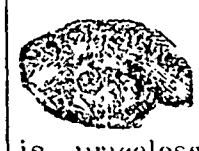
A play without a mortgage, no shooting, and no killing is a short description of "The Girl and the Gawk" at the opera house, March 5th.

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER



VISION

is priceless. The wonderful delicacy of the eye is injured when aches and pains are allowed to go unheeded. Insure your eyes against harm from strain and disease by a pair of glasses carefully fitted by

A. C. KELLY

Registered Optometrist of Minneapolis

at Klemme Hotel Wed. March 11th

To meet the eye of those with eye troubles, this advertisement is inserted It is my business to make eye tests, to provide the necessary SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES, and return every sixty days to KLEMME.

Wm Bredlow F. A. Bredlow

Wm. Bredlow & Son

Breeders of

Pure Bred Short-Horn Cattle

Young Breeding Stock For Sale.

Route 3, Garner, Iowa

Esther Bloom was up from Iowa Falls, Friday and Saturday.

MOTORCYCLES

New and rebuilt, on monthly payment plan. Dealers and riders wanted. Eagle Motor Co., Cedar Falls,

"Literary Convulsions

Being a Series of Dementia Hullucinations Reported Semi-Ocasionally for this paper by
ERNEST C. FOSTER

COPYRIGHT 1914 BY THE FOSTER SERVICE

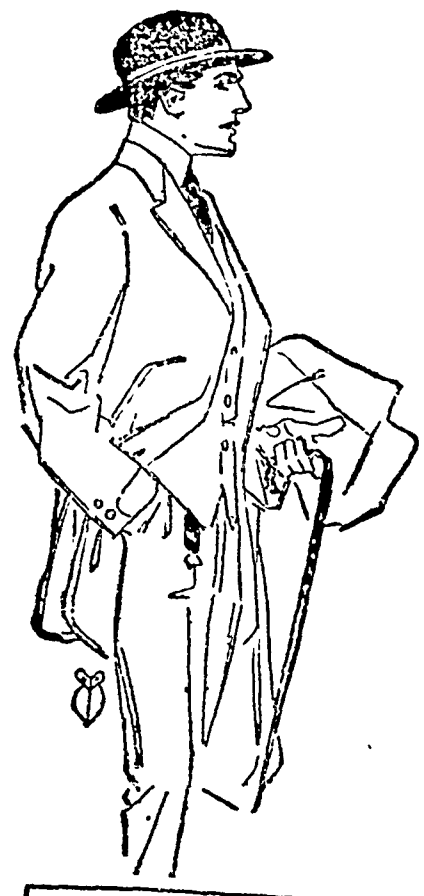
MARCH this year, brings the closed season on all [illegible] beginning to end. the month is under the [illegible] Let the lid will be on the Tango, Texas Tommy, Bunny Hug, and [illegible] modern contortions permitted only in dance halls, The ever [illegible] away, the cards are out of sight, each member of the family [illegible] at night. O, wouldn't it be terrible if life were always so—no [illegible] als, gossiping, O, such a world of woe—just staying home with [illegible] indeed, 'twould be a bore. So hasten, Easter, end of Lent, that [illegible]

The first Grover Cleveland was born March 18 1837 since which time [illegible] 499,133 more have come into being. When a man's initials are G C [illegible] question's his full name W. J. Bryan, too, was born in March and [illegible] is giving that of Cleveland's a race for it's money The month claims [illegible] another celebrity in the person of Lutner Burbank, the man who can [illegible] an ordinary squash and tomato in the holy bonds of matrimony and produce an off-spring that no one recognizes, bus which all of us are willing to vegetable soup and declare it wonderful The seventeenth is Irish day and lads and fair coleens do honor to their patron saint by wearing [illegible] And on the twenty first begins the verdant season, Spring, but it would be the policy to figure on a thing less warm to wear about our [illegible] up the spine, for Spring's a fickle maid we know, and I see [illegible]

The first steam cut-off valve was invented March 10, 1849 [illegible] geniuses of all nationalities have failed in their efforts to apply them to politicians and afternoon teas.

Dean's

Make the Clothes That Make the Man



Our Leader Blue Serge to your measure $18.00

For Strictly Tailor-Made Clothes, the Biggest Bargains of the year, send for our catalogue and we know you will be a customer for life.

Many styles and a large variety of materials to select from, which are shown in our new booklet.

Write us at once and it will be forwarded to you.

We bring Smart, Correct Tailoring to your door.

Dean's Clothes Shop

Mallers Building, Chicago

Kindly Mention Your Local Paper

W. ISSMAN
and Surgeon
Phone No 11-02
No. 11-08
Residence in the Bank building.
Glasses Fitted

BAUMGARTNER
Tonsorial Artist
Give you an easy shave or a neat
hair cut.
West of State Savings Bank
Call in

TOM ELDER
—THE—
"HOTEL MAN"

C. ZINN
Surgeon
KLEMME IA;
Office building East of Garner Harness Shop.
Glasses Fitted

PARSONS
TIST
Savings Bank.
No. 48.
Iowa

Wilson.
Auctioneer
-:- IOWA
GUARANTEED
can be made at the State or 'phone me
Iowa, at expense.

and Gravel
per load, cash,
in 30 days, after 60cts per load, All
strictly cash.
Griffen,
Klemme, Iowa.

MARKET
For To Wait On As Promptly
ssible!
HONEST WEIGHTS
EST PRICES
a Short Wait ionally
No Longer Than
sary Here!
F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 52
Oats	33 33½
Wheat	73 to75
Barley	45 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8 10
Cattle	5.00 to 8.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

Hear Deyoe March 7th "The Girl and the Gawk" March 5th.

Booster Club meeting next Tuesday evening.

A good organ for sale cheap Inquire of Tom Elder

A. C, Lau & Son shipped three car load of hogs this week.

John Weiland went to Hay field, Wednesday, on a business mission.

Andrew Reiffenstein moved this week fro. east of Garner onto Dr. Zinn's farm.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Arnold is recovering from attack of pneumonia

Erick Josten and C E. Gibbs were at the big percheron sale at Mason City last week.

Mrs. Schroeder and daughter Selma, left Tuesday evening for Chicago for an extended visit.

FOR SALE:—Young Pure Bred Duroc Jersey Boar, weight about 260. Cal Newman.

Richard Zwald was down from Garner, Tuesday and Wednesday visiting at the Chas Ax home,

The following have had electric lights, Chas. Lenz, John Waterman, Thos. Nelson, Fred Haupt, Chas Lenz and Ernest Schuldt.

"The Girl and the Gawk" is a peculiar title and it is a peculiar play. You never saw one like it and you will like it when you see it at the opera house March 5th.

Ted Dutheridge arrived this evening from Morris, Illinois, with a couple of cars of emigrant stuff and is moving onto the farm just vacated by Iver Arvidson.

John Sanderfeldt arrived this evening from Watkins, Iowa, with eight carload of emigrant stuff and is moving out onto the Palmby place which he purchased last fall.

Ten carload of stock has been shipped out of here the past week as follows: Joe Johnson 3, A. C. Lau & Son 3, W. R. Bloom 2, Wm. Neuhring 1, and John Swichtenburg 1.

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves", consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point: It will be helpful to you

Wm, Breitsprecher sold his house last week to Fred Jahnke who in turn sold the recently acquired Frank Robey property to his son Henry. Mr. Breitsprecher will move to Belmond for the present as he is unable to even find an empty dry goods box in which to live.

BASKET SOCIAL:—There will be a basket social in the Mart Bachman school, District No 1, Avery township on Friday evening, March 6, 1914. Ladies bring baskets. Everybody is invited. Nellie Wilkins, Teacher.

The First National Bank is now nicely settled in their new building. They certainly now have fine quarters and their building would be a credit to a town much larger than Klemme. For the benefit of our many out of readers we will next week attempt to give a full discription.

The announcement of August Katter as democratic candidate for the office of Superaisor in the 2nd district will be found in this issue. Mr. Katter entered the campaign on account of the very urgent request of numerous friends. He was a resident of German township for a number of years and is known throughout the county as being one of our most successful farmers and heaviest tax-payers. He is one of our honorable and reliable men and should he be elected to the office he will certainly prove to be a most efficent official.

Some Bred Sows
For Sale

GOTTLIEB LAUSTER
BREEDER OE
Thoroughbred
Poland China Swine
Farm 4 Miles North of Meservey

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
February 28th
"Renegades Heart"
"A Study in Sociology"
"On his Wedding Day"

Admission: 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

HOWARD PIANOS
are Surprisingly Reasonable!

It does not follow that you have to buy the highest-priced piano to get a really high-grade instrument.

If care is taken in the selection, you can secure an instrument that will more than fulfill every home requirement at a remarkably reasonable cost.

After hearing the Howard Piano and appreciating its absolute durability, you would naturally expect it to be among the costly ones, but it is not.

Considering value with price it is positively the most economical instrument for the home.

It gives you all the qualities of the high-grade instruments at so reasonable a price because it is a product of one of the manufacturing companies of the greatest piano organization in the world—The Baldwin Company.

No other instrument of equal quality can be sold at the price because no other makers possess the facilities and resources.

THE "Howard Manualo", the Player Piano that is all but human, is distinguished by Quality, Durability, Reliability and Attractive Price. It is a quality proposition throughout. Be sure to examine it.

Terms to suit

M. M. MAGNER

NOW IS THE TIME
TO DO YOUR SEWING

and this is the place to buy your goods. The store with one price and that the Lowest. We are busy unpacking Spring Goods and can show you a nice line of Messaline, Silks, Crepes, Ratines, Voiles, and Ginghams, Also Laces and Embroidery at prices that will please you.

Remember we carry the celebrated ALBERTA CORSET and have one to fit you. Be sure to call for the Alberta---the brand that speaks for itself.

Clean, Fresh Groceries Always On Hand.

Call In And See Us

J. N. DAY
The General Merchandise Store

A GOOD OLD
LAXATIVE

For a good general tonic and alternative, one that you can depend on and one that you can make yourself use—

NYAL'S
Mountain Herbs

This is the method—
In a suitatable vessel place a tablespoonful of the Herbs, pour upon them two teacupfuls of boiling water, cover and set aside to steep—do not boil. In fifteen to twenty minutes the strength will be extracted,
A large quantity of medicine can be made from one bottle. The price is only 25 cents.

G. A. PABST

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

20

CHAPTER XV—(Continued)

Meanwhile Harlan plugged away. He seemed more reserved, but still his genial self He picnicked with the girls of his set along the river; the High street young people wandered in and out of his mother's home at informal summer dances, and played tennis on the lawns, and ate ice cream of evenings, and flirted on the veranda much as they had done when he was 16. Nothing was changed, only he was now a man at a man's work Much like his father, people said From his office window Harlan could see the judge drive in town behind old Dutch, tie him to the rail and walk slowly under the maples to the court house steps, speaking gently to every one, bowing with old time courtesy to the women, patting the dogs -a fine, upright, beloved figure of a man That was what he should one to be doubtless, a sturdy, unfearing clean minded American of the best people

And once as he watched the court room windows with the June sweetness straying in, he thought of that evening when John Lindstrom's hoarse and despairing voice cursed his father and the law He felt that even now the hurt of it was on his his father's mind A hurt growing with what the town was slowly coming to think of Lindstrom He had defied society, cut himself off, a religious fanatic, in his patch of corn land in the pocket. Only last week, a shotgun under his crippled arm, the gaunt quarry worker had come upon the surveyors on his land running the line for the diversion dam and forbade them further entry. Harlan remembered that he had heard Marryat, the good natured sheriff, telling his father that he would have to drive out and have a little friendly talk with John. The somber quarryman was a "bit off" maybe Taken his children out of school forbade them to mix with the town boys and all that. The judge had not answered Harlan knew in his heart there was a grief and an outrage he would not reveal People had whispered that John had become an outlaw from the day Judge Van Hart put the taint of the jail on him.

Then to Harlan's mind the thought of Lindstrom brought the memory of another summer the long quiet evenings when he had met Aurelie in the hills It seemed that he must have been desperately sorry for her to love her so. That was it her pathos and her grace and prettiness and all the magic of the summer Now he heard her discussed about the verandas by the nice girls he knew - her notoriety, the laughable idea of her going on the stage! And backed financially by the McFetridge boys! It seemed to Harlan, as the nice girls talked of it in the hammocks and over their tea that all that was cheap, unworthy grotesque, utterly apart from all he had known, had come to gather about Aurelie

"Imagine!" said Elise Dickinson in a group about his mother's porch one evening A traveling man who came in papa's store yesterday told him that Aurelie Lindstrom was being billed in a stock company as the $100,000 prize beauty and was wearing diamonds! I don't suppose they are real!"

Mrs. Van Hart was watching Harlan's face She was thankful that none of the younger set had ever known of her son's summer infatuation. Now Harlan's firm lips closed as coldly, his square jaw set as hard as his mother's had done the night Aurelie was dismissed The mother's placidity was unruffled As real, my dear," she murmured, "as her beauty prize As an advertisement for the newspaper she was undoubtedly a success, however But the diamonds—are those men who used to run the livery stable still her managers?"

Ever so carelessly! But Harlan's jaw set more doggedly She had stung the last refuge of his pride. The McFetridge boys—and Aurelie!

And the story of those diamonds wandered over the town and grew and grew First a mere brooch, then a necklace—after that a tiara! Playter, the druggist, told Wiley Curran of Hen McFetridge clothing Aurelie in diamonds out of the exploitation of his doubtful oil speculations, and Wiley called him a liar The News lost another advertising contract right there

Wiley told Aunt Abby about it that night at supper She looked curiously at his drawn face "Wiley, I don't believe it That girl's as good as gold. And good girls don't sell their virtue, Wiley—they give it away maybe, because they love And Aurelie doesn't love Hen McFetridge—the twins just amuse her Her letter shows that"

And the old lady waddled to the sewing circle that night to hear what she could hear to defend what might be defended There was need. Aurelie was the town's daughter of scarlet long before half the missionary boxes were filled that year, and the Shakespeare club was done with its critical study of Desdemona's story Aunt Abby was unable to counteract the Shakespeare club digressions, for the Shakespeare club was composed almost wholly of High street ladies And Shakespeare club gossip, though covert and well bred was as deadly. The Rome Shakespeare club held itself aloof The Earlville Woman's club was busy with civic programs Every time the Rome Shakespearian ladies had a paper on Twelfth Night or Lear, the Earlville women had a protest to the city council about street lighting or the saloons or the need of shade trees. As the Mercury-Journal said: "The Woman's club was the livest booster in the burg."

The Rome women never boosted anybody except Shakespeare or Ruskin, or the intellectual development of Europe, or the court of Louis XIV.

There were two persons in Rome who were silent about that gossip concerning Aurelie, Harlan, lounging in Wiley's shop as of old, after the day's grind, reading state exchanges and bantering the editor on politics, never asked of her, nor did Wiley relate of her letters. Apparently their friendship drifted back to the old affection, yet there was this one reserve.

Wiley would look up from his job press to find Harlan's serious face turned to him in a study. Harlan was easily the best dressed man in the county, even the drummers about the Elks' club in Earlville, or the Hotel Metropole, were no more punctilious as to business garb. And Wiley was in his shirt sleeves and well inked sleeves at that. Invariably they drawled at each other with summer laziness: "Hot, isn't it, Harlan?"

"Yes."

"Bucking hard?"

"Some dinky line fence case Donley turned over to me. Justice court. Term is closed, and dad is off to the St. Lawrence for vacation."

"Make a note of it. Farmer caught a big catfish—70 pounds—at Ellick's ford Thursday. Dig up a squib about that!"

Harlan lazily wrote out the copy, it was the old high school habit to help Wiley get out the News personals. Also to jibe the editor about his paper. "Worst country sheet in Iowa, Wiley—worse and worse!"

"I know. But still able to squawk occasionally." Wiley was distributing type as Jim Mims was fishing. He kicked the job press half an hour, and then did the printer's work under the impression that he was getting both tasks farther advanced somehow or other. "Still able to make Old Thad cuss. Even if his Retail Merchants' association is doing its best to head off all my advertising Thad can round up the county to put through his Sin creek steal, but still the News can call attention to it."

Harlan stirred "Still you praised my argument before the board."

"That was you, son! But as to the creek diversion, every one of those poor devils in the pocket will be drowned out"

"They haven't a sign of title. And every property owner on the north side will benefit."

Sure"

"You're hurting your political chances, Wiley"

"I know But I can't help that. The under dog gets me, Harlan. I been one, myself I have to fight for 'em! Mine own people! I can't stop to consider whose land is benefited, or who has the title at law I'm only thinking of those people who fought floods and droughts and stumps to make themselves their little corn patches and keep their children alive on them down there. The News—" his hand patted the splintered old type case fondly—"it's always fought that way, somehow! It's never right—it's always wrong Ask any of the law abiding, respectable people in town and they'll tell you so"

Harlan smiled "Here on the start of your primary campaign, you're making enemies of your home people And I want you to succeed, Wiley In spite of Hall being a friend of father's—and everything I hate greed and oppression as badly as you do. Only—"

"That's it—only! It's hard to go against one's class, isn't it? Hate oppression, hate wrong—only except one's privilege, one's class, one's tradition Why, right here between you and me, boy—in our little prosy village, is the whole problem which confronts the nation! We give to Tanner, to the property owners—our sort—the privilege of exploiting others who can't help themselves. And a hoary tradition of the courts exists to defend the privilege. The courts"—he checked himself, but hotly—"Harlan, come on over to Earlville to dinner with us Sunday night and meet this McBride, the chap who's organizing the soft coal miners. He's a new article in this county—and he's behind me in this fight against Hall. I want you to meet him."

McBride, the man who defied the supreme court last year and went to jail for it?"

"Yes I'm glad he did. He made a lot of people stop and think—and that's what we're after."

The judge's son smiled tolerantly. "All right 'I'd like to see him I'm curious, But his friendship won't help you, Wiley."

Wiley smiled in turn. But thus it came about that Harlan and Arne Vance came over to the 75-cent table d'hote dinner at the Hotel Metropole to meet Mike McBride. The dining room of the Hotel Metropole, all excessively new and Earlvillian, with a tapestried wall of stiff necked steeplechasers, gorgeous dogs in four colors climbing a fence, while over a bulging and lavender hill dashed a motor car, the cloud of dust and the ladies' veils forming a diaphanous perspective in five more colors, which, with the Hunt club dogs and the riders' coats, made the picture of General Parsons above the Parsons house mantel over in Rome, seem old and faded. You would understand at once that it belonged in a town which had an interurban, and an Elks' club and pressed its trousers, along with other cocky modernity. But neither Arne Vance nor Wiley T Curran let on to being impressed, for they had dined in a number of the beplastered and multi-colored cafes of ambitious western cities. And Harlan, on his first visit to the Metropole, looked about with a smile and then at McBride as he stirred his demi tasse—even the girl waiters said demi-tasse—now in Earlville

This is a live wire town," McBride was saying, "and when it gets through laying out parks and boosting factories it's going to go after you fellows over in Rome who've run the county so long." He was a short thick, red browed man to whom one would rather break disagreeable news over the telephone. His fingers were hard and stubby, and he dug sugar out of the bowl and dumped it into his demi-tasse without so much as a glance at the dogs done in four colors. He went after local affairs like a man who could assimilate more significent facts in a week than all the best people of the county could discover in a lifetime. "That county ring has run things ever since the war, and long as the tax rate wasn't too high the business people didn't growl, and Tanner fixed every board to suit himself—and hogged all the county work. He's a good man, this Tanner—I like his method—he gets things. But we ought to get him. A live grand jury would smoke him out in no time. And a district attorney who'd throw the gaff. The one you got is a crook."

"I agree," murmured Wiley—he felt too amiable after his 75-cent occasion, with dogs in four colors, to be the zealot. "New blood is needed. But there's some good men on our side the creek, also."

"Skunk?" queried McBride.

"Sinsinawa."

"Call it Skunk. Then we'll get down to brass tacks. I always wanted to talk with some of you fellows from the county seat. State labor is right with the governor in this progressive fight. That's the reason I'm down here. I'm here until this district is organized by the Delroy crowd. The governor wants Fairchild's seat in the Senate, and he wants Jim Hall's scalp in congress, because he thinks Hall will get the old crowd's support for it if Fairchild can't win out. So he and his people are going to put Curran over and I'm with 'em. I ain't no reformer, but labor is going with 'em. But first we ought to clean up this county."

Wiley mused. Arne, his black eyes snapping, listened as if a fresh breath had come somewhere out of a fighting world Harlan wondered rather satirically why an outsider should come down here and talk like a man of authority

"The Catholic vote in them new mines where the Poles and dagos have come in, it'll be for Curran," went on McBride. "Father Doyle gives it to me straight. All that's good. And this new Earlville contracting company, which is sore over Tanner gobbling all the work, is going to unload on the old ring. Ain't any reform going to get far unless some one expects to clean up something. Take it from me. We're going to elect Curran."

Harlan had listened more acutely. He had begun to resent Wiley's problematical success. McBride was worse than he had dreamed. His father's ideals of politics had not encompassed such brute truth. McBride turned his blue eyes under their red brows directly on him

"Are you the man they're talking of for district attorney?"

Harlan stared at him incredulously. The easy ingratiating standards of his father's sort of men around the court house, even the rustic geniality of the county board members, he felt equal to, but this ruthless analysis and militant directness of the man of new conditions jarred him. He still stared at McBride.

"Come out," rasped McBride, "we can put you over this year I hear you'll do—Vance, Curran, here—put it up that way"

Harlan turned to them with a laugh. Since when had Arne and Wiley and a few unknowns took it to themselves to parcel out the county offices? These audacious rebels without authority, without organization? It was actually humorous!

"We want to trim this crook—Tanner—and an honest district attorney can do it."

Still Harlan was silent. He knew that secretly his father deprecated Thad Tanner And Jewett, the prosecutor, was not invited to his father's house. Still this did not keep Jewett out of office. His father was a good man. But here was a different good—the fighting good of the new order.

"How about it?" pursued McBride.

Harlan smiled at length, complacently on the labor man. "No, thanks, McBride, I think I'll stick to the law yet a while" He was thinking how funny it would be to tell his father of the trio sitting in the baldly new dining room of the Metropole, plotting against that ancient and honorable thing—Winnetka county politics. It had not been rippled since James G. Blaine.

"You young men are needed," went on McBride, "instead of going off to Canada and the cheap lands, or to the cities, you ought to be right here making your fight. There's big chances—rough knocks and big chances"

"I have mine," retorted Harlan quietly. He was conscious of Wiley's look upon him, appealing, sorrowful—and of Arne's subdued belligerency. They had apparently been talking of him to McBride—the strongest young man in the county!

"See here, we need you"—there was a flash of menace in McBride's tone, "You'll make a name, too, cleaning up that crooked board. Go after your courts, too. They're not right. Here's this man, Lindstrom, they tell me about—gone crazy over religion. The quarryman who lost an arm and then his damage suit against Tanner on a technicality—and then was sent over on a contempt charge. Why, your court made a criminal right there!"

Wiley saw Harlan's face turn an ugly red. McBride went on: "Here the court wrecks a man over some holier-than-thou tradition of the law. That's the stuff the courts hand out."

Harlan was on his feet. His clenched hand shot across the table near McBride's face. "See here—the judge that made that decision was my father!"

McBride stared back· "Your father?"

"Yes! And no man can speak that way of him!"

There was silence through the begingered and tapestried room. Arne and Wiley sat back. There was nothing else to do between man and man. McBride, the older, the rugged powerful figure, and Harlan with the anger of a young god, fair, handsome, towering over him.

"You take that back!" roared Harlan

McBride slowly relaxed. He watched the other unceasingly.

"Apologize!"

McBride sat father back on his chair. A slow smile came to his face as he looked up at the youth.

"Young man, I was raised on a slag pile in Pennsylvania. I never saw the sun shine except Sundays and the time my father was killed, until I was 24, it seems to me. I've been hungry so many times in my life that sometimes now it ain't natural to eat. You can't know by any manner of means what that's like. I'm a rough man and I work with rough men, but I know a man when I see one. Sit down."

"Apologize!" shouted Harlan.

McBride looked long and grimly at him. "Well," he growled, "if your father raised you to stand up like this with the fighting blood hot in you—I guess I'm wrong. Now, if that's an apology, take it. If it ain't—to hell with you!"

Harlan stood quivering. "Sit down, boy," whispered Wiley. The room was dumb. Even the waiter girls knew who young Van Hart was.

(Continued next week.)

HAD PROOF OF ASSERTION

Small Girl Was Certain Sunday School Teacher Was Wrong on at Least One Point.

The abilities of the Creator would appear to have been slightly overestimated, according to a story told by Harry Lauder, the comedian.

"A Sunday school teacher," he said, "was trying to impress upon the minds of her pupils the omnipotence of God. 'God,' she said, 'had made the trees, the land and seas, and fish, the animals, the birds.'

"A little hand went up.

"'Did God make everything?'

"'Yes,' was the teacher's reply; 'he made everything.'

"'But I know one thing that he didn't make.'

"'Do you? What is it?'

"'Why, God didn't make rabbit holes, because I saw the rabbits making them themselves.'"

The Difference.

"That fake doctor's cares are not patent."

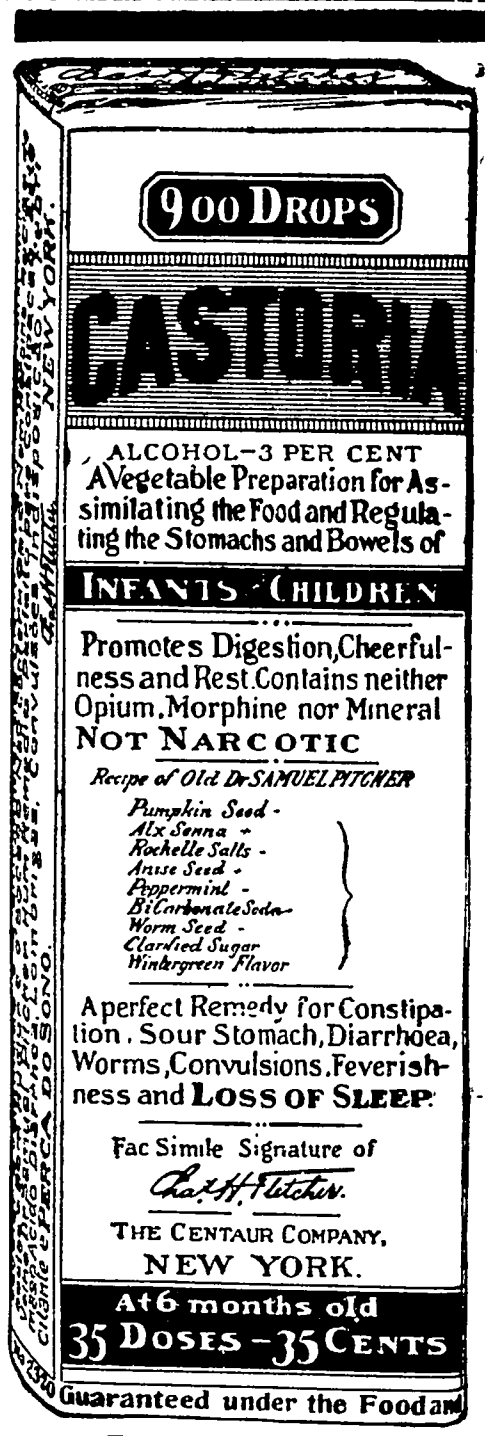
"Perhaps not, but his medicines are."

COLDS

An up-to-date remedy for colds. That is what Peruna is. In successful use for 30 years.

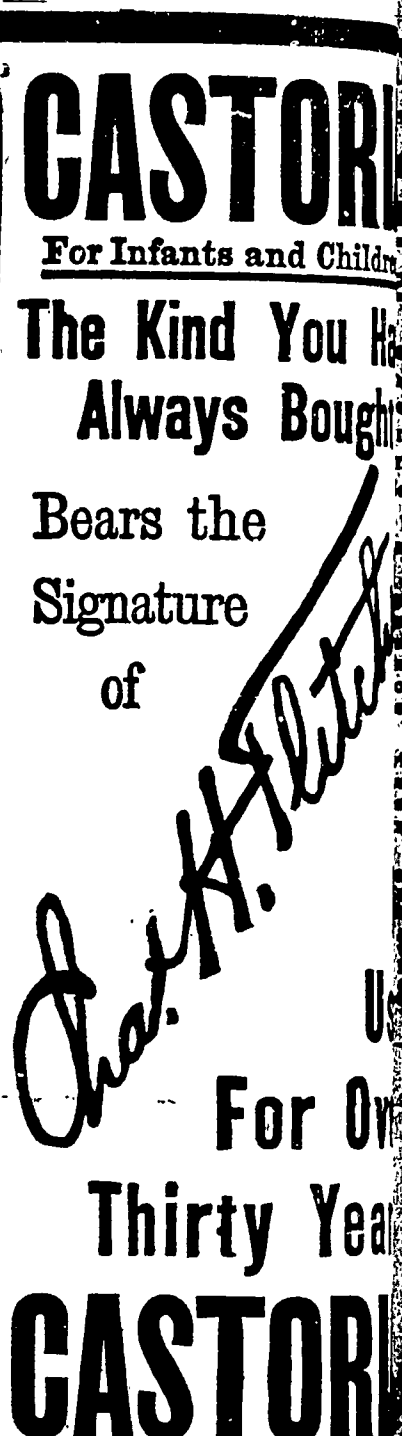
Colds are caught in various ways: Illy ventilated rooms that have direct draughts; crowded rooms; damp basements; stuffy school rooms; overheated.

A dose of Peruna at the first time, at the first symptom of a cold, before the bones begin to ache, before the sore throat manifests itself, or the cough or the discharge from the nose appears, a dose or two of Peruna will if these symptoms begin is usually sufficient. But after the cold is once established with the above symptoms prominent a bottle of Peruna, or maybe two, will be necessary.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL—3 PER CENT
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral
NOT NARCOTIC
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx Senna -
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed -
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda -
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Food and

Exact Copy of Wrapper



Opportunity does not own an alarm clock.

There is nothing like a small brother to take the conceit out of a girl.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes guarantee satisfaction. Adv.

Proof Absolute.

She—All extremely bright men are conceited, anyway.

He—Oh, I don't know; I'm not.

The Prospects.

"That play came in on gumshoes."

"Yes, and it's likely to go out on its uppers."

The Result.

"Now we'll have arms going over the border."

"Yes, and legs coming."

An epigram is a fool remark that people accept as gospel because it is easy to remember.

Only a woman who is in love will look up to a man who is socially beneath her.

200 Farm
Absolutely F

We will give away FREE of and without restrictions as provement or settlement 20 tracts of from 5 to 40 a Palm Beach County. $1,000 an acre is often m similar land from winter veg alone and fortunes in grap and oranges. This is the three crops a year, below th line; 365 growing days. T day for registration is Ap 1914. Low excursion rates 3rd, 17th, April 7th and Apr Write for full particulars

Secretary, Chamber of merce, Lake Worth, Fl

Pettit's Eye Salve QUIC SOL

Readers of this paper desiri anything advertised in umns should insist upon having w ask for, refusing all substitutes or i

Strength and Beauty

Come With Dr. Pierce's

Golden Medical Discovery

This is a blood cleanser and alterative that starts the liver and stomach into vigorous action. It thus assists the body to manufacture rich red blood which feeds the heart—nerves—brain and organs of the body. The organs work smoothly like machinery running in oil. You feel clean, strong and strenuous instead of tired, weak and faint. Nowadays you can obtain Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Tablets, as well as the liquid form from all medicine dealers, or trial box of tablets by mail, on receipt of 50c. Address R. V. Pierce, M.D., Buffalo, N.Y.

Dr. Pierce's Great 1008 Page Illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent FREE, Cloth Bound for 21 One-cent Stamps.

[illegible] never sees a play [illegible] a striking resemblance [illegible] and the heroine.

[illegible] a cheap sort is a chap [illegible] trying to make a [illegible] some waitress in a res-

[illegible] from your system. [illegible] Cough Drops will [illegible] you—5c at all Drug Stores.

Well Put.

[illegible] what is a luncheon? [illegible] feminine for lunch, my [illegible] Woman's Home Companion.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy. Adv.

Poor Man's Blow-Out

"I hear Jones had a blow-out the other night."

"I didn't know he owned an auto."

"He doesn't. This was a ham-and-[illegible] affair."

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

[illegible] the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Love laughs at locksmiths, and [illegible] poverty comes in at the door he [illegible] laughs at glaziers.

[illegible],000 [illegible]s

[illegible] Year

Immigration figures show that the [illegible] Canada increased dur- [illegible] addition of 400,000 [illegible] the United States [illegible] Most of these have gone [illegible] Provinces of Manitoba, [illegible] and Alberta.

[illegible]rcy, an English Nobleman, [illegible]

[illegible] and opportunities offered [illegible] West are so infinitely [illegible] which exist in England, [illegible]urd to think that people [illegible]d from coming to the [illegible]ey can most easily and [illegible] their position.

[illegible]e being opened up, [illegible] accessable a great [illegible]eads in districts [illegible] to mixed farm- [illegible]ing.

[illegible] literature and [illegible] rates, apply to [illegible]tion, Ottawa,

[illegible] Drawer 578, [illegible] W. V. Bennett, [illegible], Nebraska [illegible]311 Jackson [illegible] Minnesota

[illegible]ent Agent

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Napoleon's Victory at Brienne.

One hundred years ago Napoleon met the army of the allies at Brienne, a village in northeastern France, and was victorious after a keenly-contested battle. The emperor had left Paris only two days before, prepared to make a last desperate effort to halt the advance of the enemy on the French capital and thereby save his tottering throne. The allied Russian and Prussian armies were in command of Marshal Blucher. Napoleon's forces were in a deplorable condition. At Brienne, it is true, his old soldiers displayed prodigies of courage, in his name and under his orders, but the raw conscripts were discontented and many of them deserted their colors. Napoleon owed his victory chiefly to the fact that he came up to Blucher when the latter was separated from a part of his forces. Prince Schwartzenberg, in command of the Austrian forces, immediately set out for the purpose of supporting the Prussians, and the combined armies of the allies recommenced their advance on Paris.

FACE BROKE OUT IN PIMPLES

Falls City, Neb.—"My trouble began when I was about sixteen. My face broke out in little pimples at first. They were red and sore and then became like little boils. I picked at my face continually and it made my face red and sore looking and then I would wake up at night and scratch it. It was a source of continual annoyance to me, as my face was always red and splotched and burned all the time.

"I tried ——, —— and others, but I could find nothing to cure it. I had been troubled about two years before I found. Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and tried them and I then bought some. I washed my face good with the Cuticura Soap and hot water at night and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In the morning I washed it off with the Cuticura Soap and hot water. In two days I noticed a decided improvement, while in three weeks the cure was complete." (Signed) Judd Knowles, Jan. 10, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv

In the City Hotel.

Wife (as the sugar is passed)—Use the tongs, William.

Bill (from the country)—'Tain't 'ot, is [illegible]?—Tit-Bits.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters that we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

They could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain these recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

Camden, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a [illegible] battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go [illegible] but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping-chair, and soon [illegible] almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his [illegible] and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable [illegible]nd and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I [illegible] a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend [illegible]edicine to every one and so does my husband."—Mrs. Tillie [illegible]s, 1135 Knight St., Camden, N.J.

And this one from Mrs. Haddock:

Utica, Okla.—"I was weak and nervous, not able to do my work [illegible]rcely able to be on my feet. I had backache, headache, palpi- [illegible] of the heart, trouble with my bowels, and inflammation. Since [illegible] the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am better [illegible] have been for twenty years. I think it is a wonderful medi- [illegible]d I have recommended it to others."—Mrs. Mary Ann Had- Utica, Oklahoma.

[illegible]w answer this question if you can. Why should a [illegible]n continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. [illegible]ham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that [illegible] saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable [illegible]ound has been the standard remedy for fe- [illegible]ills. No one sick with woman's ailments [illegible]stice to herself if she does not try this fa- [illegible] medicine made from roots and herbs, it [illegible]stored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

HOW HIGH CAN A BALLOON GO?

From the New York Press.

The highest point ever reached by man made mechanism is 37,700 meters, or about 23½ miles. No man has ever been anywhere near so far away from the earth, but a balloon sent up on December 17, 1912, from the observatory at Pavia recorded this altitude. The balloon was of rubber, inflated with hydrogen and furnished with a parachute. It was 1,900 millimeters, or about 6 feet 3 inches, in diameter, and carried automatic meteorological instruments. These recorded a minimum temperature of—56 9-10 degrees C., not, however, at the highest point reached, but at 19,739 meters, or about 12½ miles high. Until 1 4-5 miles up the thermometer fluctuated between 10 degrees above zero C., the temperature at which it reached at about two miles. Then came a rapid drop, until just above the usual level of the cirrus clouds, or about seven miles up—55½ degrees C. was registered. At this the thermometer remained steady for several miles, then rose slightly, again descending to —56 9-10 C. at about 12½ miles, from which it steadily rose At the highest point it reached —51 3-5 C.

The earth is surrounded by air called the atmosphere. How thick this blanket is no one knows, but has certain definitely defined layers or strata, the thickness of which has often been measured. The pioneer in this atmospheric exploration was M Leon Teisserenc de Bort, who founded the observatory at Trappes, France, and died only a few weeks ago

As one rises from sea level, either in a balloon or in climbing a mountain, the density of the air sensibly decreases and the temperature diminishes.

The at mosphere may be divided into three parts. The first extends from sea level to about 10,000 feet high. In this layer are almost all the water vapor or cloud and all the dust In it all the storms take place. The temperature tends to decrease, but very irregularly The second layer extends to between six or seven miles high In it are the cirrus clouds; the temperature decreases uniformly. Man cannot go beyond it.

These two layers together are called the troposphere, because in them all the vertical movements of the air take place. Beyond them is the stratophere, in which occur any movements of the air in planes parallel to the earth's surface.

The temperatures recorded at different heights by the balloon sent up from Pavia are approximately those found in the upper regions all over the world, but it has been found that near the poles no such cold is found as in the air over the tropics. The temperature of the tropical air falls more rapidly, because the air is dry, and it continues falling for a longer time, because the atmosphere is thicker than in the arctic regions, and it is always coldest where the troposphere ends and the stratosphere begins. At nine to 10 miles high over the equator it is 20 or 30 degrees colder than it is over Lapland, according to observations made in 1906, 1907 and 1908 by M. Teisserenc de Bort.

World Weather.

From the Kansas City Star.

The wind still bloweth where it listeth, as it did of old. But modern science has begun to trace its path with an accuracy that has been possible only in recent years. An instance of this progress comes from the weather bureau at Washington in the shape of a weather map of the northern hemisphere.

For several years the bureau has been making up a manuscript map of this sort in Washington, but under the administration of the new chief, Mr. C. F Marvin, the publication of this map has begun

The first map issued—that for January 1—shows eight great atmospheric eddies swirling around the north pole, traveling from west to east. These eddies range from 500 to 1,000 miles in diameter and are made up alternately of revolving masses of heavy and light air.

For instance, on New Year's day there was a vast swirl of light air (low barometer or "low") central midway between Lake Superior and Vancouver sound. This was producing mild weather all over the plains states. An eddy of cold, heavy air (high barometer or "high") was just leaving Halifax In mid-Atlantic was a "low;" a "high" was central over London, a "low" was east of Moscow, a "high" was over eastern Siberia, a "low" was over the northern Pacific and a "high" was on the southwest coast of the United States.

Comparatively warm weather, with southerly winds, with snow or rain, usually attends the "lows," while the winter "highs" deluge the country with cold north winds. A constant procession of these "highs" and "lows" marches around the pole, bringing changes of weather For instance, the "low" that was over the North Pacific January 1 was wrecking piers of Atlantic City nine days later

It is of much help to the weather bureau at Washington in forecasting the weather to mark the movement of these air eddies around the pole from day to day. On these maps of the northern hemisphere the weekly forecasts sent out from Washington are based. Unfortunately the procession is not uniform in its movement. Occasionally one division in the line halts for days at a time without apparent reason, while other divisions may move at unexpectedly high speeds and may sweep off in new directions. Thus the best laid forecasts gang aft aglee.

It is hoped, however, that a careful study of these world maps over a period of years will reveal to the observers something more of the mystery that at present veils the workings of the cosmic forces that parcel out cold waves, blizzards, droughts and the summer's refreshing rains.

The Unheeded Lesson.

From the Denver Times.

Thirty-six years ago—in 1877—a commission appointed in New York to devise a plan for better government in the cities of that state reported among other things:

"Good citizens interested in honest municipal government can secure their object only by acting together. Political discussions separate them at the start, and render it impossible to secure the object desired equally by both."

If the real remedy was no secret in the past generation, why has it not been applied more frequently in this? There are very few cities in the country where parties do not lock horns at each election, with neighbor killing neighbor's vote, while the time between campaigns is spent criticizing the administration and complaining of high taxes, wasteful expenditures and political machines that are over-extravagant with the people's money. The fathers knew the cure, but did not resort to it. Neither do their sons, nor their sons' sons. Why?

More than 5,200 students are enrolled in the correspondence courses of the University of Wisconsin. Of those 1,400 are pursuing correspondence work for university credit and 1,500 are carrying college subjects without being candidates for a degree.

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food.

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth but is now doing fine. Naturally, she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin, as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

RALPH M. PATTEN

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Wash-Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Contraries Meeting.

"How about that play for a run?"

"It will be a walkover"—Baltimore American.

To Cultivate Cheerfulness.

Sydney Smith once gave a woman a score of recipes for cheerfulness, and among them was to remember all the pleasant things said to and of her, to keep a box of candy on the chimneypiece and a kettle simmering on the hob. Do not give way to melancholy; never ask "Why were we born?" If you are given to asking questions, ask easy ones.

Wanted More Information.

"What do you understand by 'edible fungi'?" 'It has something to do with mushrooms an' toadstools," replied Father Corntossel. "But whether it's what you swaller or what happens to you afterward I wouldn't like to say without writin' to the department."—Washington Star.

Well Stuffed.

A patient in hospital had been kept on low diet for a couple of weeks, and naturally he longed for a square meal.

One morning the doctor found him so much better that it seemed his appetite could at last be safely appeased.

"Do you think you could eat a small chicken today, Tim?" asked the doctor.

"Faith, an' Oi could, sorr," eagerly responded the patient.

"If it's all the same t' yez," answered Tim, "Oi'd loik t' have it sthuffed with another chicken, sor."—Pearson's Weekly.

WESTERN CANADA CAME INTO EVIDENCE

AT THE CRUCIAL PERIOD FOR SUPPLY OF WORLD'S FOODSTUFFS.

The present demand for foodstuffs in all parts of the world, and the expense of producing it on high-priced lands, would make it seem that western Canada came into evidence at the crucial period. There is to be found the opportunity that will be a large factor in meeting this demand. With its millions of acres of land, easily cultivatable, highly productive, accessible to railways, and with unexcelled climatic conditions, the opportunities that are offered and afforded are too great to be overlooked.

There have been booms in almost every civilized country and they were looked upon as such, and in the course of time the bubble was pricked and was burst. But in no country has the development been as great nor as rapid, whether in city or in country, as in western Canada.

The provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have the largest area of desirable lands on the North American continent, and their cultivation has just begun

Even with a two hundred million bushel wheat crop, less than eight per cent. of the land is under the ploughs, four per cent. being in wheat. Less than five years ago the wheat crop was only 71,000,000 bushels. It is a simple calculation to estimate that if four per cent. of the available cultivatable area produces something over 200,000,000 bushels, what will 44 per cent. produce? And then look at the immigration that is coming into the country. In 1901 it was 49,149. 17,000 being from the United States; in 1906 it was 189,064, of which 57,000 were Americans, and in 1913 it was about 400,000, of which about 140,000 were Americans. But why have they gone to Canada? The American farmer is a man of shrewd business instincts, just like his Canadian brother, and when he finds that he can sell his own farm at from $100 to $200 per acre and move into Canada and homestead and pre-empt half a section for himself, and similarly for all his sons who are adult and of age upon lands as rich and fertile as those he left, and producing indeed several bushels to the acre in excess of anything he has ever known, it will take more than an ordinary effort to prevent him from making the change.

And then, too, there is the American capital following the capital of brawn, muscle and sinew, following it so as to keep in touch with the industrious farmer with which it has had dealings for years back. This capital and the capital of farming experience is no small matter in the building up of a country.

Nothing is said of the great mineral and forest wealth, of which but little has been touched.

No country in the world's history has attracted to its borders a larger number of settlers in so short a time, or has attracted so much wealth in a period of equal length, as have the Canadian prairies. Never before has pioneering been accomplished under conditions so favorable as those that exist in western Canada today.—Advertisement.

A sharp appetite doesn't mind a dull knife.

Speaking Of Lunch

the wife said, "Bring home a package of

Post Toasties

—Sure!"

Toasties are wonderfully good at any meal, and somehow seem to match the appetite of both home folks and guests.

Bits of selected Indian Corn, delicately seasoned, cooked, rolled thin and toasted to a rich golden brown—that's Post Toasties.

Fresh, tender and crisp, ready-to-eat direct from the package. With cream and a sprinkle of sugar—

"The Memory Lingers"

Toasties sold by grocers —everywhere.

School Shoes that wear like iron

This is the store to come to for school shoes that give the greatest wear. We take special pains to select the best shoes for children. That's why we handle the reliable.

Mayer HONORBILT SCHOOL SHOES

These shoes are strong and exceedingly well made. They are designed to fit children's feet, which is important. The leather is extra strong, selected from the best hides. Two layers of leather cover the toes. They wear like iron. If you want children's shoes that last twice as long as average shoes buy Honorbilt School Shoes. In all sizes for boys and girls.

Frank Gruetzmacher

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

DON'T FORGET

This store where you can find anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

A Safe, Quick Trip—

To California

—choice of routes—

Via Direct Route of Lowest Altitudes

and route of the foremost transcontinental train — the

"Golden State Limited"

New all steel Pullman equipment—every luxury of modern travel—for first-class passengers exclusively

The "Californian"—a second transcontinental train via same route Modern equipment—both standard and tourist sleeping cars.

Via Scenic Colorado

Through service via Colorado and Salt Lake City—the scenic route across the continent.

Rock Island Passenger Trains cover over 50,000 miles every day

Finest modern all-steel passenger equipment.

Rock Island

Let me quote fares and help you plan a delightful trip.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

THIRD ANNUAL

HORSE SALE

To Be Held at Britt, Iowa

March 7, 1914

We will sell 75 horses and mules at Public Sale. No more and no less;

Sale will be held regardless of weather at the big Schriver barn and yards in the north part of Britt.

Sale will commence promptly at 10 o'clock.

This will be the best opportunity of the year to buy or sell horses. Our former sales were a complete success, buyers and sellers both satisfied.

Bring In Your Horses & Mules

Horses must be listed with clerks by March 6th, and anyone listing horses for this sale may withdraw same by March 5th by notifying the clerks, and shall receive back his guarantee entrance fee.

Don't Fail to Come Whether You Want to Buy or Sell

Positively no horses will be sold at this Sale unless listed by March 6th.

Hay and stall room furnished free for entries all day of sale. Horses may be listed with either the clerks, managers or the auctioneers.

G. S. Sheridan, Geo. Wermersen, Mgrs.

Col. H. H Ellsworth, Col. Herm Brummond, Auctioneers.

C. W. Erwin, O. J. Miller, Clerks

Repeated Three Times

A play that has been repeated in the same town as many as three times in as many years and each time has played to increased houses, should be worthy of the patronage of the citizens of Klemme. "The Girl and the Gawk" which will appear at the opera house, March 5th, is such a play, guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Don't Miss This Bargain

The Klemme Times and Kimball's Dairy Farmer, both one year for $1.15. We would like all of our subscribers to take advantage of this offer and if your subscription to the Times is paid in advance send in or hand us 15 cents and we will see that you get Kimball's Dairy Farmer twice per month for one year. If you have not paid your subscription now is the time to do it and take advantage of this bargain.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION WINS OVERWHELMINGLY AT ELLSWORTH.

School consolidation swept the whole country in and about Ellsworth Tuesday at the special election. The proposition carried by 136 to 19 and establishes the school in Ellsworth as the first consolidated school in Hamilton county. Two ballot boxes were kept. The town voted 79 to 2 in favor and the country 57 to 17. P. F. Runkle, the members of the school board and all the other boosters in both the town and country round about are the happiest men in the county over the outcome. The Journal predicts that before the year is out there will be several other districts established in Hamilton county.

ADVERTISING FARM SALES

An exchange tells of a farmer who spent $25 advertising his public sale, which is about four times the amount usually spent. The result was that the sale brought him over $700 more than his highest estimate, so he thinks that it was money well spent. Farmers are just beginning to learn the liberal newspaper advertising of public sales. Newspaper advertising in the local paper will be read by ten times as many people as read the bills which cost nearly as much as the advertisment and therefore is a much better investment. We would not advise dropping the sale bills, but it should be supplemented by some vigorous newspaper advertising.

OUR MISTAKES

When one remembers that in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, that there are several wrong positions each letter may be put in and there are 70,000 chances to make errors, besides millions of chances to make transpositions, he will not be too critical. In the sentence, "To be or not to be," by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,759 022 errors. So you see the perils that beset a printer.

THE PRESIDENT'S THIRTEENS

President Wilson, evidently is not superstitious. At least, he has withstood an avalanche of the supposedly unlucky number, thirteen:

There are 13 letters in the name "Woodrow Wilson."

Woodrow Wilson was the 13th president of Princeton.

President Wilson was nominated on the 13th of the month.

Adding 1, 9, 1, 2, the year in which he was nominated makes 13.

President Wilson was inaugurated in the year '13.

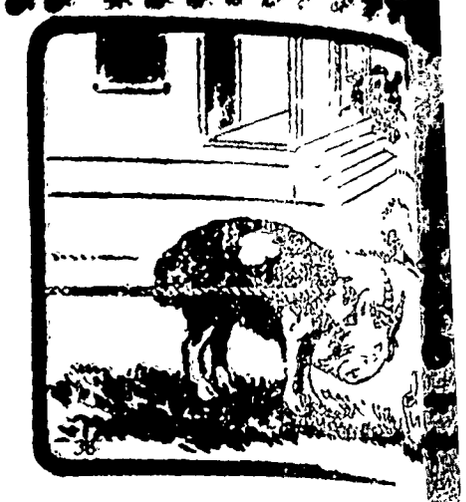
Miss Wilson was the 13th White House bride.

There were 13 members of the

A prenuptial luncheon was given by Mrs. Daniels, wife of the secretary of the navy, on November 13, at which there were 13 guests, 13 candles, 13 colored lights, 13 bouquets and 13 kinds of food.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath, Shingles, Posts, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Cement, Fencing, Lime, Plaster, Roofing, Sewer Pipe, Drain Pipe, Brick



There Is A String Attached Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

YOU MRS. HOUSEWIFE

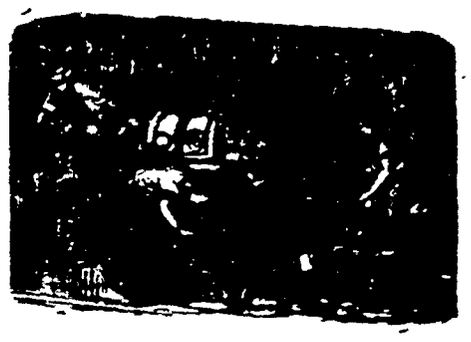
might prepare right now for more pleasure than you have ever had in the years past by resolving to let us do the greater share of your baking. If you will try our

Bread, Cakes and Cookies

you will find you have spent many a needless hour in the kitchen, and if you learn this NOW, you will save yourself the burden of hot stoves and headaches next summer.

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.



W. F. PAVEY

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share of your patronage and if work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 29 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY MARCH 12, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

to do your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

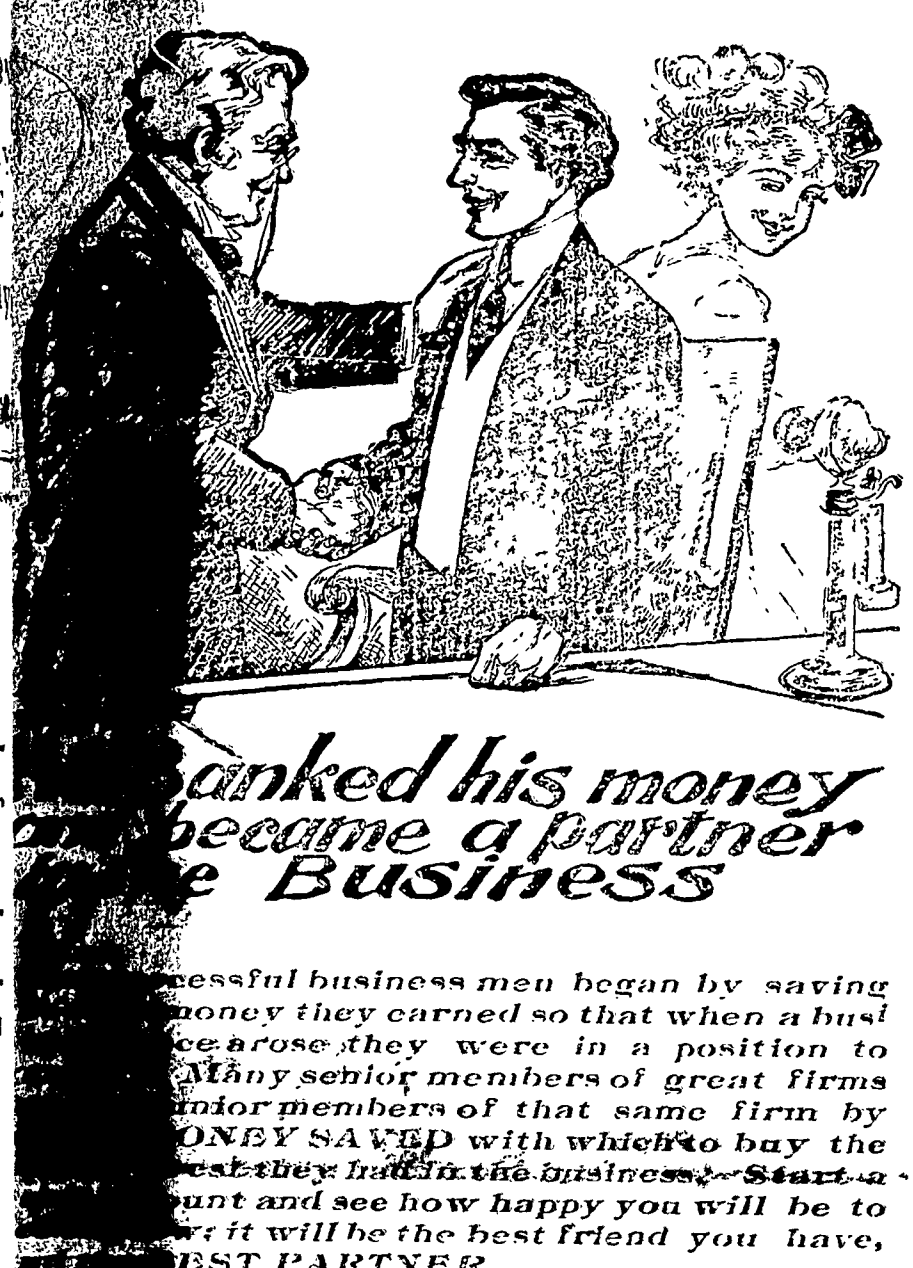
is proof of the success of this policy.



anked his money became a partner e Business cessful business men began by saving money they earned so that when a busi ce arose they were in a position to Many senior members of great firms nior members of that same firm by ONEY SAVED with which to buy the st they had in the business. Start a unt and see how happy you will be to r it will be the best friend you have, EST PARTNER.

Do YOUR banking with US

ate Savings Bank.

- - Iowa

$15,000.00
$15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00

an you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

AIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

uy hogs six days in the week at ghest market prices.

iness established 1890.

Council Do Things

Buy Electroilers and Plan Park Improvement at Meeting Monday Eve.

At the regular session of the city council Monday evening, the council purchased 14 electroliers like the sample now installed on the First National Bank corner, and 24 bracket electric lights for the residence section. The electroliers will be placed on the both sides of Main street extending from the Northern Lumber Co. office to the Frank Gruetzmacher harness shop This certainly will be a very notable and substantial improvement and when the lights are installed will put Klemme in the list of better lighted towns

It is also planned to put a cement band stand in the park and a six foot cement sidewalk leading from each corner of the park up to the band stand which will be placed in the center of the park. A few more trees will also be set out and the land seeded down In a few more years Klemme will have a park that many much larger towns will envy us.

Short Course Next Year

Extension Department Will Send Man Here, Thursday, Feb. 19th.

All of our farmer friends and others that would be interested in boosting a full week's short course here next season should attend the meeting that will be held here Thursday, February 19th

P C Taff will be here that day to meet with the local enthusiasts and explain the full week's course that the extension department will put on here if they are guaranteed enough support The ladies are also especially invited as it is planned to add Domestic Science to our next course and there should be a good turn out on their part

Don't wait for the other fellow to get this course started, but plan to attend the meeting yourself and do your part to land it.

The Baldwin Piano

(Grands and Uprights)

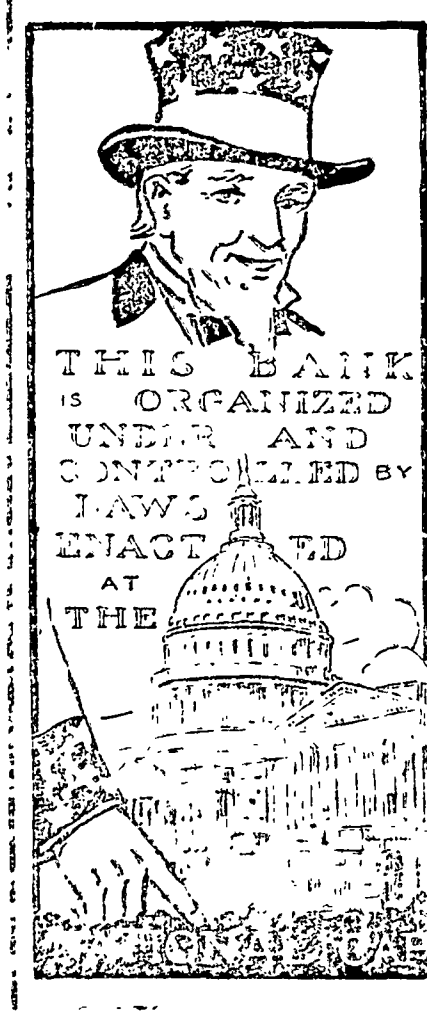
received the Grand Prix (the very highest award) at the great International Exposition in Paris—an honor coveted by all manufacturers of the world, but which has never been bestowed upon any American piano except the Baldwin.

M. M. Magner

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25 000 00
Pres - C H Wiegmann
Vice Pres - Aug Lau
Cashier - F A. Arnold
3 per cent Interest On Time Deposits



Don't Do It?

It Might Not Be A Foolish Investment and Then Again, It Might?

If You Bank It It's Safe

AND YOU'RE JUST THAT MUCH AHEAD

KLEMME DRAY LINE

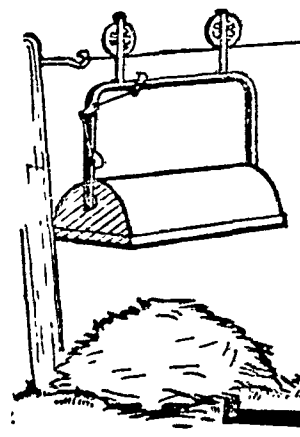
A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants



Dumps Itself—Comes Back For Another Load

Load the MOYER Litter Carrier—give it a push. It glides easily 50 to 100 feet to your pile—dumps itself and comes back for another load. The MOYER Litter Carrier is a simple, sturdy servant. Will save its cost many times over. Come in and look it over.

30 DAYS' Trial Free ¶ Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgement as to whether you keep it or not

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

Hoarseness

Have you got hoarseness that continues? Or do you get hoarse once in a while, whenever you get the slightest cold?

Hoarseness means a catarrhal condition of the vocal cords. The vocal cords are way down in the larynx and when affected by hoarseness should cause serious concern.

Peruna has been found to be an excellent remedy for such cases. We have received testimonials from responsible people who have been relieved of hoarseness by Peruna. Should you want to read a lot of excellent testimonials on all subjects write for the sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

"ILLS OF LIFE"

Peruna can also be obtained in tablet form. Ask your druggist, or send to us direct.

BRIGHT SCHEME WENT WRONG

Well Planned, But Next Time It Is Probable Minister Will Use Stronger Bag.

Nothing if not ambitious, the young minister determined on a plan to gain him greater popularity.

"Well, John," he said to the beadle after service one Sunday. "I was just thinking it might greatly enhance my sermons if you would oblige by saying 'Amen' now and again."

"Right' Right! I will, sir. But hoo am I tae ken whaun tae say 'Amen'?" inquired sturdy John.

"I'll have a bag o' green peas beside me, John, and if you just sit under the pulpit I'll drop one when I wish you to speak," was the reply

The following Sunday all went well, until of a sudden John exclaimed, hurriedly 'Amen' amen' amen' ame—"

"Hush, John," the minister whispered, "the bag s burst'"

He Could Trust Her.

Mrs. Capron saw old Uncle Timothy starting away on a fishing expedition, and knowing how hard his wife worked, thought it a good time to reprove him f his laziness

"Timothy, she said, 'do you think it's right to leave your wife at the washtub while you pass you 'me fishing"

Yassum miss replied the old colored man it s all right. Mah wife don' need any watching She ll wuk jes' as hard as if I was dah —Lippincott's.

Striking.

"Your honor, I've been married to both these men and they both beat me with equal cruelty "

"Come to think of it,' said the judge, "there is a striking resemblance between them."

An Ill Wind.

"Wouldn t it be great if everybody in the world paid their bills promptly?"

'It wouldn t be for me I m a bill collector'

Easy.

"Bjones has an easy life"

"Why, I heard him say he had his work cut out for him'

"So he has. But he s a sculptor"

Light of Love.

Cora—Were you and Jack in the dark?

Dora—Yes until we struck a match —Judge

LIFE'S ROAD

Smoothed by Change of Food.

Worry is a big load to carry and an unnecessary one When accompanied by indigestion it certainly is cause for the blues.

But the whole trouble may be easily thrown off and life s road be made easy and comfortable by proper eating and the cultivation of good cheer. Read what a Troy woman says

"Two years ago I made the acquaintance of Grape-Nuts and have used the food once a day and sometimes twice, ever since

"At the time I began to use it life was a burden I was for years afflicted with bilious sick headache, caused by indigestion, and nothing seemed to relieve me

"The trouble became so severe I had to leave my work for days at a time

"My nerves were in such a state I could not sleep and the doctor said I was on the verge of nervous prostration I saw an adv concerning Grape-Nuts and bought a package for trial.

"What Grape-Nuts has done for me is certainly marvelous. I can now sleep like a child am entirely free from the old trouble and have not had a headache in over a year I feel like a new person. I have recommended it to others One man I knew ate principally Grape-Nuts while working on the ice all winter, and said he never felt better in his life"

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XVI—(Continued.)

Harlan, from his office window, looking absently across the square, saw Miss Norman come out of the News door and go down the street toward the Parsons house presently. Then she paused at the corner of the court house park to glance up at the splendor of the August maples. The birds were singing, and the sunlight flickered through. She crossed the lawn to a seat and sat down. Harlan could see her looking about, drawing in the air perfumed with the bloom of the corn and the golden stubble up the hillsides. Her eyes closed, and after a while she slept—just a tired woman of 40 who had worked hard and had no illusions, who was just what the inevitability of work and life makes of all of us. But about the square in 15 minutes, gossip ran. The bleached-hair lady who had come back with Aurelie Lindstrom from her triumphant $100 000 prize beauty tour of the west wearing the ill-gotten McFetridge diamonds, was asleep in the park!

No other woman had ever slept in Rome's park. Nothing could have so jabbed convention, nothing so focused comment on Aurelie Lindstrom. All about the square, the stores, the billiard parlor, at Playter's corner, at the bank and around the hitching rails the buzz ran. Harlan heard talk of it from his window. Clerks stopped and told others, farmers stared. Some one asked where was old Marshal Bee; and others said the sheriff's office had jurisdiction as the park was county property.

Wiley Curran, talking to Aurelie in his shop, saw Miss Norman drowsily lurch back under all the mid-summer glory and sleep as a child sleeps.

'Poor Ad'" murmured Aurelie, "she's been tired for 10 years and never had such peace and air as this. It's just fine to see her'"

And Aunt Addy, who had hurried down, wiping her floury hands to settle back her "specs" and kiss the wanderer, looked over in the park and said "Poor dear—let her sleep till supper time if she will What else is the park good for except tired people, and maybe heart-sick, too

But meantime Rome rocked with scandal Old Marshal Bee was routed from his midday meal and told to do something and he ambled into the sheriff's office and said they ought to do something Old Deputy Amos pulled his whiskers and protested The undertaker came in and denounced both of them, and the district attorney was appealed to, but he shook his head. Never would he wake anybody up just before the primaries'

And while the agitation grew and seethed in the court house and about the square, Miss Norman slept. Slept a whole, long beautiful hour, and then awoke slowly, luxuriantly, to stare up at the splendor of the sky through the maples Afar off came a drowsy cowbell and the singing of a reaper She hated to come back to her banal world of grease paint and the hunting of jobs Just peace—that was what she longer for But she rubbed her eyes and went over to the Parsons house as Aurelie had directed her

Aurelie and Mr Curran were laughing together over old times and Uncle Michigan, who had been summoned by a small boy was sitting spellbound listening to Aurelie's adventures, her hand tucked under his own black paw, when Miss Norman came in

"Well," she drawled with her good humor "the old dame put me out proper"

"Old dame" Miss Amelia"

"I suppose so Never had such a frost The old catamaran—zing'"

"What's the matter'" cried Aurelie.

"She said," drawled Miss Norman calmly, "that no friend of that Lindstrom girl could get a room in her house. Said it had been a respectable house since 1856. We could take our diamonds and beat it to Earlville. Lord, Aurelie, our diamonds'"

Aurelie colored to her ear tips. Her eyes began to blaze And to damp the kindling fires. Wiley called up Amelia Parsons on the telephone. She declined to explain She wouldn't have "them actresses" and that ended it.

Aurelie caught his lamely repeated phase "Them actresses'"

'I wish some of the managers could hear that' went on Miss Norma. 'They've told me now and then. I wasn't actress enough to hurt."

But Aurelie could see no humor in it Oh it's town' It always did hate me' And it burst out of the News office to stare at the court house. 'That's just where they sent Papa Lindstrom to jail and made him crazy' And it's just where they laughed when I went to school wearing daisies in my hair And no shoes

"Now, dear protested Aunt Abby, "it's just proud of you"

'I won't stay here a night'" She came back and threw her arms about Uncle Mich's grizzled head. "We'll go over to Earlville and stay at the Metropole—and take you, Uncle Mich, and Mr Curran—and everybody that's good to me." She was on the verge of tears. "And the rest—I hate 'em' They say I'm different—and I'm glad I'm different' I hate 'em'"

Uncle Michigan had sat rubbing the brass band of his peg leg. This radiant Aurelie his old rabbit hunting Aurelie? The same child Aurelie who used to dive among the water hyacinths in futile chasing of the baby sharks in the south Louisiana bayous? Done come to occupy the land' But now he was more bewildered. "Reckon I'd take you out home, Aurelie, but John he's got so filled with the holiness spirit. The holiness brethern done turned John hard against the show business."

"We won't stay another minute!" cried Aurelie. "I'll call up the Metropole and have 'em send their taxicab!"

Wiley fell in his chair. Aunt Abby stared. That would be the last word. Aurelie skipping out of town in a taxi. For there was a taxi. Earlville had a tax. Where there is an Elks' club in brownstone and a hotel—tapestried dogs in four colors—there must be a taxi. But never had this blatant taxi desecrated the streets of Rome.

"Aurelie'" gasped Mr. Curran. "Take the street car from the junction. But the taxi—gee whiz!"

Too late. She flew to the telephone and ordered the taxi.

Miss Norman sat back and settled her skirt under her belt. "Well, she drawled, "I had a nap, anyway, on the old town. And, seeing that we've put it on the blink, I might just as well light a pill." She took a cigaret out of her bag. "Mr. Curran, this country air gives me a pleasure."

She lighted it. Aunt Abby stared. "I'm a church member in good standin'!" she cried, and fled through the office and back to her peach preserves.

Mr. Curran looked wildly across the square. People were standing about watching the News office Old Marshal Bee was sticking his head out of the undertaker's and even the prisoners in the basement jail of the court house were gazing across the lawns. Mr. Curran retreated farther into his shop. Great heavens, here he was entertaining a blonde haired actress and she smoking a cigaret in broad daylight in front of the News, too! And he running for congress!

Then up the street that taxi came whoofing, and stopped before the News. All the consternation before was as nothing. Business ceased all about the square. The grocers' clerks stood with jaws hanging and potato measures in their hands. The cook came out of the Gem restaurant—Chicago home cooking—and lawyers and dentists put their heads out of the old stone slabbed windows; and Vawter, the artist, came down with his camera to get a post card picture. And all the time the county deputy, Amos, and old Marshal Bee doddered at each other across the square as to whose jurisdiction should extend to Miss Norman's noonday nap But when the taxi stopped they stopped also

'If that-air machine," shouted Deputy Amos, 'runs more'n four mile an hour in this town it air your bounden duty as a city officer to stop 'em'"

"I'll stop 'em, cackled Marshal Bee, if I can catch em'"

Mr Curran was in despair. "Aurelie don't go It makes it worse than ever. Why, people aren't against you' Only some old tabbie—lots of folks are proud of you—they ask me about you'"

Aurelie was pushing Uncle Michigan into the taxi. Miss Norman followed languidly. They had trouble with Uncle Michigan's wooden leg and the chauffeur assisted. "Uncle Mich," whispered Aurelie, "you're just going to surprise 'em They never thought of you and your shiny old leg in an automobile'"

"Done goin' to see the world'" chuckled Uncle Mich, and Miss Norman patted his hand "Ain't he the game old sport—leg and all'"

'Oh, Aurelie'" gasped Mr. Curran again. 'Tell Miss—er—what's her name—to put out that cigaret. I m runing for congress'

"Well, run along' We ain't going to hurt congress'" She sat up very straight, and then gave the taxi man a dollar. "You just tear around the square as fast as you can three times and then out High street. And if you get arrested we'll pay your fine And run over everybody you can except dogs and babies and chickens!"

Young Mr. Van Hart, from his law office windows heard every word. He saw his mother driving up High street slowly and dignifiedly as the Van Hart trap was wont to go And he saw the red taxi start, Aurelie sitting up with her odd foreign air. And Miss Norman with that cigaret, while all the populace of Rome, Ia., marveled. He stood clutching the window shade and groaned. "Aurelie! And I loved you, Aurelie!"

He heard the taxi go whoofing by. Then he heard Old Dutch snort as his mother's trap turned out of High street. He looked out and then dashed down stairs. When he reached the corner the taxi was making its second lap, and his mother was speaking calmly to the backing horse. Harlan ran to seize Old Dutch's bit. And then the taxi went past them hurling the corner dust clear into Dickinson's vegetable boxes. People simply waited. Even the dogs gaped mutely Neither to right nor left did Aurelie glance Old bootlegger Mich sat still between her and this cheerful woman with the cigaret Then the taxi, with a final derisive snarl, made its last circuit of the square and shot out High street. Old Dutch flew up on his hind legs, while a tall, dignified young man stood pulling him down in the whirl of dust and leaves kicked by the taxi all over his immaculate summer suit.

Mrs. Van Hart looked calmly after the taxi. "Harlan, wasn't that Aurelie Lindstrom?"

"It was, mother," he answered quietly

Across the square, old Deputy Amos was hurrying. "Hey, Marshal—why don't you stop 'em?"

"I would," retorted Marshal Bee, "if I could catch 'em'"

In the taxi Miss Norman patted Uncle Michigan's hand. "I think," she murmured, "the old town will remember Aurelie!"

CHAPTER XVII

THE BACKWARD TRAIL

Harlan did no know what haunting of loneliness took him the next evening to the hills. It was the first day of September, and already a veil of haze lay in the wooded little valleys, and the far slopes had the first bronze of the ripening corn. Yet it was summer, with a harvest moon drawing up across the river, round and full and golden.

He wandered down old trails from Eagle Point, northward along the bluff were glimpses of the distant Mississippi over the sycamores and window sloughs. He crossed the last glade to the ridge over which was Tanner's quarry. Already through the laurel and maples and young elms a patch of white sheer rock arose. And on this point he stopped to look down in the valley. From the quarry bed the road ran on winding past the fringy corn patches of the pocket squatters. But all the unloveliness of their meager homes was hidden in the shadow, and all the beauty of the hill beyond lay revealed by the moon. Harlan had not been on the back trail for more than a year. When he came to the old familiar rock jutting over the cliff he started to climb the last step and then paused. Some one was before him, sitting where he had intended to sit, looking as he had wished to look out over the valley and the town.

And before he came out of the shadow he knew it was Aurelie. Aurelie, who could not leave without one visit to the home trail. She had not been to Lindstrom's house, but tonight had ridden over from Earlville, tied the livery mount at the Sinsinawa creek bridge, and clambered up to where she could look either way, to the village or to her foster father's place below the quarry. Harlan watched her long. She was mute, dry eyed, very still; but when, at length, he came out and stood before her, curiously she did not start.

She move slowly and looked up at him. Her face had all that grave purity of outline that belied alike her temper and her humor.

"It just seems," she murmured, "as if I was to find you here."

He remembered now that she said she was coming to the hills. "But I never thought of it, Aurelie. And yet—"

He stopped and she sat forward to se his face. "Yet you came. Oh, the moonlight made me come, Harlan! I was restless and—unhappy—and I remembered such beautiful nights here. Oh, very wonderful! September—like this" She moved over with a little friendly gesture. "Sit down."

But he stood with ihs hand on the lichened rock above her.

She did not seem to notice his restraint. "When I was a little ragged kiddie, I used to climb up here. Always I loved it, Harlan."

"But I tell you," he answered quietly, "you came tonight because you remembered something else, Aurelie."

"Yes," she answered simply. "Our nights. I couldn't quite forget the last one. The night you took me to your mother's, Harlan." She laughed briefly "And she tricked me—and I ran away. I saw so clearly. I just woke up that night, Harlan."

"She didn't trick you, Aurelie. Mother couldn't—"

"Oh, well!" she smiled wisely. "If you could realize how I've changed! That night I was breathless before her. She appealed to me—she wanted me to let you go—to help you, Harlan. I thought it was fine that night—but I tell you, I paid! I did love you, Harlan"

He watched her face in the moonlight. "Mother did something, I knew. I wasn't sure; but that wasn't what hurt, Aurelie. It was afterward—your going on the stage—in that way. Everything—hurt."

She made a blithe protest at a grimace of mockery. "Oh, well—boy' It's all different with you and me. I was a weak and silly girl to hang on you and love you, and confuse into thinking that you loved me! And that night I saw all the girls of your set and the dancing and the music—it all rushed over me—the difference." She smiled with a tender mystery she could not deny—he was amazed to find how immeasurably older she could be in her womanhod—"I knew you'd forget if I made you." She smiled bravely. "And I'm glad. We both ought to be glad. My'"—she was laughing now. "We were both kids, weren't we? Now I know the world a bit—I'm a heap different. Done growed up, Uncle Mich says, and he's scared about it! I'm going to be a real leading lady sometime, and come back and play in the tin opera house—play in a piece that hasn't so much shooting in it—and you will be fat and prosperous and married and bring your kiddies to see me. And you'll be mighty glad, Harlan, you never married that Cajun girl from down river."

But he would not smile. In the moonlight on the hillside she had the same defying gipsy charm as of old; wilful, mocking, humble, buoyant, when she wished it. All the inevitable vulgarian stamp of her upbringing was vanished; and he felt the old pathos for her—that what was dear and simple in her he could find and save and make his own. The rest would not matter. He could not fathom how the invincible heritage of his family was now shamed before her gay, proud honesty, the sense of woodland freedom from all the conventions of his sort. He wanted to be as honest as she, as fearless as she, but he did not know the way.

"Aurelie," he muttered, "be still. You know I love you."

She was very still The shadow of the rock was not more mute. Only her face was turned, evading him, a pretense of unhearing.

"I tell you so again, Aurelie. It costs a lot. I bucked through school and forgot you—almost. I came back here and set my teeth together and worked. And all the things they said about you—this town never will get over talking about you—all this miserable notoriety—it hurt. I said nothing. But I knew I loved you, for all the talk hurt—hurt! I didn't want you to go on in this miserable, cheap show business. There was so much to do—to make of ourselves—before we—before it would be right for us to marry."

It was badly put to such as Aurelie. "Oh, a girl doesn't want a lover who thinks of what there is to do, or make of her before he marries her. That's what you mean, of course!" She blurted on, checking her hot tears. "I don't care! I came back here yesterday—perfectly happy! And the way this awful town treated me!"

"Aurelie!" he said sternly, white with a battle to be master; forever this desire to shelter her and teach her, mingled with his passion. "You do so many things! Racing around the square yesterday in that machine. And you ought not to have kissed Wiley Curran!"

"Why not?" She looked up innocently. "I felt happy—and he was so glad to see me."

He sighed with discouragement. "And then there's that story—Aurelie, did Hen McFetridge give you any diamonds?"

"Yes. A tiny one—" She held out her hand with naive pride. "And he said he'd have given me lots more if he'd sold more oil stock."

(Continued next week.)

Remarkable Offer of Free Transportation Expenses to Moline, Ill., and the Famous Tri-Cities, and Return, Made to Intending Automobile Purchasers.

Any intending purchaser of an automobile in this vicinity who writes Mr. Chas. E. Giltner, personal representative of Mr. Velie, care of Velie Motor Vehicle Co., Moline, will receive full details as regards unusual offer the Velie Company making of paying transportation penses of intending motor car ers in this vicinity to and from Mo

The Velie company has a claimed that anyone going through automobile factory, and studying fully how an automobile is made, a great advantage over those merely know how to drive an mobile. In order to popularize idea of having factory selections and to educate Velie buyers at Velie factory they are making this usual offer.

This offer is made with the app of the local Velie agents; in fact, Velie agent nearest to you will antee service of the highest type any purchaser of an automobile goes to Moline and selects his there.

Any publisher of a paper in this cinity is well acquainted with high standing of the Velie Com and knowing the gentlemen interes in the Velie and John Deere Co nies (for years agents for Velie tors and Buggies), will take pl ure in recommending this offer as ing of unusual interest and wor in every way of careful considera

Special arrangements can be m with those preferring to visit the lie Agencies at Omaha, Kansas Minneapolis, Chicago, or other cities nearer than Moline.

Write Mr, Chas. E. Giltner, c/o Velie Motor Vehicle Co., Moline, at once; even if you cannot go later.—Adv.

No Sympathy.

"Waiter," said the man in the dining room, "there's a fly in this cream."

"Serves him right, sir," replied waiter. "Let him stay there and fr to death. He was in the soup yes day."

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy infants and children, and see th

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Cast

The Natural Ones.

"Are they making any changes that broom factory?"

"Oh, yes; sweeping ones."

Children seldom realize how well they are until they grow up—and the circus parade has passed.

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent dollars on your medicine and I feel much better than did when the doct was treating me. I don't suffer s bearing down pa at all now and I sle well. I cannot s enough for Lydia Pinkham's Vege ble Compound s Liver Pills as th have done so mu for me. I am enjo ing good health now and owe it all your remedies. I take pleasure in t ing my friends and neighbors ab them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 501 C quhone Street, Danville, Va.

No woman suffering from any fo of female troubles should lose hope til she has given Lydia E. Pinkha Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medici ingredients of which are deriv from native roots and herbs, has forty years proved to be a most val ble tonic and invigorator of the male organism. Women everywh bear willing testimony to the wonder virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege ble Compound.

If you have the slightest do that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege ble Compound will help you, wri to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for vice. Your letter will be open read and answered by a wom and held in strict confidence.

OF LINDSEY AIDS HER HUSBAND

Wife of Noted Denver Man Takes Up Duties as "Assistant" Judge.

Ben. B. Lindsey, who is the bride of the famous Denver has just taken up her work as ant" juvenile judge of Denver. Her first bit of work on the b consisted in advising a young of 17 how she should treat her d.

Lindsey plans to give a great f her time to the work which es so large a corner of her nd's heart. She said in a re- nterview:

m going to visit all the pro- officers and mean to learn the ual cause of each case that before my husband's court. I am going to attend the hear- and see that the facts are pre- d properly. I love children and eve that in most cases the bad is bad because he has had no e to be good."

MRS. BEN B. LINDSEY.

fore her marriage to Judge ey in Chicago, December 20, Mrs. Lindsey was Henrietta ot, stepdaughter of Dr. J. F. ert, of Detroit, Mich.

ke Judge Lindsey has devoted y his entire life to solving the problems of the law, trying to dy the miseries and failures and breaks of the courtroom, and hwarting the crookedness and nery of corrupt politics, his bride o far devoted nearly all of her life to study, to art and to y being happy.

T COSTS TO BE A GENIUS.

bles Which Beset Artists in Following Their Professions.

m the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

e sufferings of the musical artist his own exotic sensibilities are itional. The great composer haikowsky wrote of a visit to Eng- : "In consequence of my peculiar perament I tormented and worried elf to fiddle strings." To his friend idoff he said: "I suffer from tor- ts that cannot be put into words— atred of strangers, and an indefin- terror." Even in dreams he saw s and sharps that refuse to do what y are ordered." Every journey cost agonies of homesickness.

One is reminded of Tschaikowsky's onic state of nervous agitation by report that Paderewski has can- ed his Pacific coast engagements use of his fear of what the "Black nd" agents may do to him. His pri- car has been enringed by detec- s night and day, but it seems that e phlegmatic disciples of Sherlock e been unable to assuage the mas- vague alarms.

aruso had—or thought he had—a lar experience with murderous lings of the Camorra; it preyed his nerves and affected his sing- Those who think of the seasoned, an artist as insensate, imperturb- , are much mistaken. Ysaye, the ut peerless violinist, confesses to a ng of almost paralyzing diffidence the first few minutes of his per- ance. The greatest artists before public will own to recurrent attacks that distressing malady known as "stage fever." Once confronted h the audience, however, most of the uosi find that confidence returns inspiration is not wanting.

he artistic temperament is a strange session. Generally one in whom it is fully developed sees his own figure gnified to heroic proportions, is in- ely self-conscious, inordinately vain resentful of imaginary infringe- nts upon his own dignity. Pader- ki lately brought suit—and success- ly—against one who advertised that was a pianist who played just as l as Paderewski, and he would not y at a Cincinnati concert till an of- ding page of the program book had n removed that declared De Pach- nn his equal in the performance of opin.

f the rewards and privileges of ius make the lot of a great artist viable in the eyes and opinions of laity, the ordinary mortal, on the er hand, may thank his prosaic stars t he is not subject to the gusty lis and capricious visitations of the firmities of the artistic tempera- nt, from which the artist suffers n more than his long suffering man- r or his indulgent audience.

God Planted a Garden First.

By Bacon.

od Almighty first planted a garden. indeed it is purest of human pleas- . It is the greatest refreshment to spirits of man; without which build- and palaces are but grosse handy- rks. And a man shall ever see that n ages grow to civility and elegancie, come to build stately sooner than to garden finely; as if gardening were the greater perfection.

Sealed!

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT

is now electrically sealed with a "SEAL OF PURITY" so absolute that it is damp-proof, dust proof, impurity-proof—even air-proof!

Give regular aid to teeth, breath, appetite and digestion. It's the safe besides delicious and beneficial confection!

BUY IT BY THE BOX

for 85 cents—at most dealers. Each box contains twenty 5 cent packages. They stay fresh until used.

It's clean, pure, healthful if it's WRIGLEY'S.

CHEW IT AFTER EVERY MEAL

Look for the spear

11

Muscular Religion.

Bishop Cross said the other day of a clergyman who advocated a standing army:

"Muscular Christianity is all very well in its way, no doubt, but whenever I see an ebulition of it I think of the revivalist.

"A revivalist on a street corner was a good deal annoyed by a group of rough young men. Glaring at these young men, he said:

"Let us now kneel in prayer, and if that young fellow with the hare lip interferes with me again while I'm praying I'll break his jaw, if I do seven years' hard labor for it."—New Orleans States.

WATERY BLISTERS ON FACE

Smithville, Ind.—"Six months ago our baby girl, one year old, had a few red pimples come on her face which gradually spread causing her face to become very irritated and a fiery red color. The pimples on the child's face were at first small watery blisters, just a small blotch on the skin. She kept scratching at this until in a few days her whole cheeks were fiery red color and instead of the little blisters the skin was cracked and scaly looking and seemed to itch and burn very much.

"We used a number of remedies which seemed to give relief for a short time then leave her face worse than ever. Finally we got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed the child's face with very warm water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment very lightly. After doing this about three times a day the itching and burning seemed entirely gone in two days' time. Inside of two weeks' time her face seemed well. That was eight months ago and there has been no return of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. A. K. Wooden, Nov. 4, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Satisfied With Entertainment.

A little boy was watching certain adult visitors to a city amusement park ride donkeys. An exceedingly fat woman hired a donkey and was about to mount when she noticed the boy's eager gaze.

"Little boy," she called, pleasantly, "don't you want me to hire a donkey for you, too?"

"No, thank you," he replied, chuckling, "I'd rather sit here and laugh."

FOR WHAT PURPOSE SAVED?

Leisurely Englishman at a Loss to Understand Value of Those Precious Four Minutes.

In no other metropolis of the world are similar expenditures contemplated for traffic purposes, and that for very obvious reasons. Not only is the physical conformation of New York without parallel, but nowhere else is there a public so insistent on the subject of "saving time." Minutes spent in transit must be cut down to the irreducible minimum, no matter how prodigally the saved time may be wasted

In this connection, continues Alan Sullivan in Harper's Magazine, consider an actual occurrence. An Englishman who recently dropped in at a friend's office in Twenty-seventh street, was asked to dine. At the nearest subway station they took a local train to the Grand Central, there dived across the platform into an express that disgorged them at Seventy-second street, where they entered another local train that finally deposited them at the door of the Gothamite's apartment at Broadway and Seventy-ninth street. Followed then a smoke and a most leisurely dinner. Half-way through the dessert, the Briton looked at his host.

"I've been wondering why we took three trains to get here?"

"Why? We saved four minutes!"

The visitor pondered. "I say," he questioned, thoughtfully, "what are you going to do with them?"

Indefinite Question.

A contributor to Everybody's Magazine tells of two men who were working on the highway in a small town in Maine. As they worked, they discussed various people and affairs of national importance. Finally one of them referred to the secretary of war, and the other asked:

"Joe, who is the present secretary of war?"

"Why, I don't remember his name," replied Joe, "but here comes old Uncle David Blake. We'll ask him."

As the old man drove up, the laborers called out: "Uncle David, can you tell us who the secretary of war is?"

Uncle David thought deeply for some moments. "Well, I ought ter know, but, bless me, I can't seem ter remember." And he drove on, thinking deeply. Soon the two men saw Uncle David coming back, and when he came within hailing distance, he called out:

"Say, you fellers, what war did you mean, anyway?"

Now, Really!

"Hilda," said Mrs. Suburbs to her maid-of-all-work, "that black hen is in the coal cellar again. Shoo her out. What do you suppose makes her neglect her nest to go poking in there all the time?"

"I dunno, ma'am," came Hilda's innocent reply, "unless she's seen them ads in the papers 'Now is the time to lay in your coal.'"

Merely a Rehearsal.

"Charley proposed to me last night and I accepted him."

"Why, he proposed to me yesterday."

"Indeed? Well he did it so prettily that I was sure he had rehearsed several times."

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Personal Viewpoint.

"What's your objection to strikes?" asked Mr. Rafferty.

"Well," replied Mr. Dolan, "the way I feel about strikes is that if you're rich enough to be able to afford them you don't feel like taking the trouble."

Anybody can dye successfully with Putnam Fadeless Dyes. Adv

Her Game.

Affable Customer (to barmaid)—And you don't go in for winter sports at all, miss?

Barmaid—I? I should think so—ain't I always mixin' iced drinks?

It is seldom that a man can look with admiration upon an old photograph of himself.

Tolled and Ringed.

"How does she know she is a belle?"

"A number of people have told her."

"But no one has yet succeeded in ringing her."

35 BUSHELS PER ACRE was the yield of WHEAT

160 Acre FARMS WESTERN CANADA FREE

on many farms in Western Canada in 1913, some yields being reported as high as 50 bushels per acre. As high as 100 bushels were recorded in some districts for oats, 50 bushels for barley and from 10 to 20 bus. for flax.

J. Keys arrived in the country 5 years ago from Denmark with very little means. He homesteaded, worked hard, is now the owner of 320 acres of land, in 1913 had a crop of 200 acres, which will realize him about $4,000. His wheat weighed 68 lbs. to the bushel and averaged over 35 bushels to the acre.

Thousands of similar instances might be related of the homesteaders in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop of 1913 was an abundant one everywhere in Western Canada.

Ask for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates. Apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

J. M. Macfachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D.
W. V. BENNETT, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska.
and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson St., St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agent

Pettits Eye Salve FOR EYE DISEASES

Saskatchewan Improved Farm Equipped machinery, horses, seed, fodder, etc. Snap. Write owner 624 WILTON, TORONTO, CANADA

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 11—1914.

Banish the "Blues!"

If you have that depressed feeling it's more than likely that your blood is out of order—impoverished or poisoned.

There is only one thing that will alter your present condition—that's to restore your stomach to normal health and strength. For a weak or diseased stomach cannot make good blood. If your digestion is bad your food will not make the good blood which nourishes body, brain, heart and nerve.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

helps the stomach to do its work naturally and properly. Stimulates the liver. The system is freed from poison. The blood is purified. Every organ is rejuvenated. Instead of the "Blues," you feel fit and strong, equal to any task or up to any pleasure.

This great remedy has proved its worth year after year for over forty years. Let it prove its worth to you. Sold by medicine dealers in tablet or liquid form or send 50c for trial box by mail.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1 00 per year in advance

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E Baumgartner

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary

Ray Thada

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance Peck Hanson

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.

Christvart Callison

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa.—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914

E L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914

I O G Houghton.
Goodell, Iowa

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914

Martin Bachman.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself as Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.

A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries.

I. C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J Cole

OF A LOCAL NATURE

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves", consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you

Fenton is having trouble with their water supply and the Reporter says: "It has been discovered that something besides the pump is the fault of the shortage of water all the time, and a more rigid investigation is being made now"

A Kirkwood & Son are keeping up with the progress of our little city and have just installed a handsome new soda fountain The back used on the old fountain has been re-grained and varnished by Artist Miller and looks like it just came from the factory.

The following parties have had electric lights installed or having them installed during the past two weeks: Levi Klotzbeck, Al Koerner, Louis Sampson, Rev Hoeffer, W F Pavey, blacksmith shop, Mrs Barck, Reformed church and personage, Aug Barz and Wm Hafford.

Garner voted on a new $35,000 school proposition Monday and if it had not been for the ladies, the proposed building would probably been a dream. Out of 550 votes cast, 256 were voted by the ladies and they gave a majority of 83 for the proposed new building, while the men voted it down by a majority of 2. We suggest that if Garner wishes to be classed among the live ones that they turn the town over to the ladies.

Monday, March 30th, the citizens of Corwith will have the opportunity to prove whether they are going to be progressive or if they are willing to remain in the same old rut. On the above date they will vote on two propositions, the first will decide if they wish to install an $8,000 electric light plant, and the second if they will vote bonds to the amount of $6,000 to extend their water works system Two issues that should prove popular.

Ray Thada from near Garner, has announced himself in this paper as a candidate for the office of sheriff and his announcement will be found in the proper place. He is a pleasant young man to meet and looks like he would make good timber for the office, but we believe that he has come out at the wrong time of the moon if he expects to land the nomination this year. Mr. Baumgartner, the present incumbent of the office has held but one term, has made a most excellent official and is entitled to a second term if any man ever was, and there is but little doubt that he will land the job again.

An observing writer plays on the ignorance of the fair sex when he tells about the girl who expressed much sympathy for the farmer because of his cold job in harvesting his winter wheat is equal in knowledge to the one who expressed a desire to see a field of tobacco just as it was plugging out. But the damsel who asked which cow gave the buttermilk is entitled to the whole bakery. And a girl on her return from a visit to the country, asked if she ever saw anyone milk a cow, replied: "Oh! yes, indeed I have, and it just tickled me half to death to see uncle jerk two of the cow's faucets at the same time."

$12 000 worth of Hungarian partridges have just been received at the state game farm to be sent out over the state. These birds cost $4 75 per pair and it is estimated that each pair will increase 100 birds per year. Farmers who have a grove that will provide shelter should send in their application, for if there are enough birds to go around they will be sent to you free of charge if you will promise to see that they are given some natural shelter. We do not know how many birds have been shipped into this vicinity, but we are entitled to some of them.

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

MOTORCYCLES

New and rebuilt, on monthly payment plan. Dealers and riders wanted. Eagle Motor Co., Cedar Falls.

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our and new customers, we don't like to see a single go estray away to another town and think of buy goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts in price. You will not sell a $[illegible] at $100.00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery the [illegible] Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other doors [illegible] cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell the [illegible] Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the [illegible] Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date [illegible] Island, Hayes, Sattley and the J. D. Tower goods Five hundred line Engines, Letz Grinders, Aarrows, Acme Harvesters, Mowers, Rakes. The new Advance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers, Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles

Call and See Us at our Old Shack,

HENRY LAU & SON

C. W. Post, millionaire, who made Battle Creek Michigan, famous, made a trip from California to Rochester, Minnesota, on a special train, where he entered the hospital for the purpose of undergoing an operation. The trip was made on the Santa Fe railroad to Kansas City and thence over the Great Western The special averaged 79 miles per hour from Los Angeles to Kansas City, beating the Santa Fe's fast limited De Luxe over three hours The daily dispatches do not state what is the matter with Mr Post and it may be that he has become "nutty" from eating so many of his grape nuts, or full of "post holes" on account of drinking so much postum. Nevertheless there is a reason, but maybe it is only free advertising and a desire to get rid of some of his surplus income to avoid the income tax as much as possible

Some of the narrow minded Republican editors and other people as well are commencing to put up the calamity howl While we are not a Democrat just because we have a Democratic administration we do not believe that the country is going to the eternal bow wows as some would like to lead the people to think. It is also reported that Gen Coxey will make another march to Washington, D C., with his army of [illegible] Why are so many people [illegible] We believe that the [illegible] ists, will answer the [illegible] fact that a large number [illegible] ing class of our country [illegible] learned trades refuse to [illegible] thing else even if they [illegible] cure a job of some other [illegible] will net them as much [illegible] much money. If there [illegible] to be had in some of our [illegible] gested cities, why don't [illegible] are in need of work get [illegible] country and secure a job [illegible] hardly a place in the middle [illegible] what there is nearly two [illegible] to man We believe that [illegible] ity howl is a fake and it [illegible] hard times, just such [illegible] viduals are going to do [illegible] them about than the close [illegible] factories that is making [illegible] that is not needed.

English M. E. Church Notes

Preaching Sunday at [illegible] a. m., and 7:30 p. m.

Sunday School at 11:00 o'clock

Prayer meeting every [illegible] evening at 7 30 o'clock.

All are invited to these services

REV. J. M. HOWDEN

Dean's

Make the Clothes That Make the Man

Our Leader Blue Serge to your measure $18.00

For Strictly Tailor-Made Clothes, the Biggest Bargains of the year, send for our catalogue and [illegible] you will be a customer [illegible]

Many styles and a large variety of materials to select from, which are shown in our new booklet.

Write us at once and it will be forwarded to you.

We bring Smart, Correct Tailoring to your door.

Dean's Clothes Shop
Mailers Building, Chicago

Kindly Mention Your Local Paper

MISSMAN

...n and Surgeon

...Office Phone No 11-02
...Residence No. 11 03

...Office and residence in the ...Sav Bank building

...Fitted Glasses Fitted

BAUMGARTNER
Tonsorial Artist

...an easy shave or a neat hair cut

...t of State Savings Bank

Call in

...OM ELDER

—THE—

...TEL MAN"

Notice CORN Belt Farm Land
...from $ 5 00 to $30 00 p r
...erms Write,
...lle, Belmond, Iowa

...o. ZINN
...ian & Surgeon
...o. 19. KLEMME IA;
...in Building East ...uetzmacher Har- ...and Shoe Sho p
...sted.
Glasses Fitted

R. PARSONS
ENTIST
...r State Savings Bank.
...hone No 48.
...mme - Iowa

...ow F A. Bredlow
Bredlow & Son
...Breeders of
...ure Bred
...-Horn Cattle
Breeding Stock
Garner, Iowa

...d and Gravel
...cents per load, cash,
...in 30 days, after
...60 cts per load, All
...mounts strictly cash.
...nry Griffen,
Klemme, Iowa.

...r Special!
...just received a car
...EN CREAM FLOUR
...y of my customers ...ed of any flour I ... pleased to have ...l and try a sack. ...r is fully guaran- ... if it proves unsat- ... bring back what ... left and we will ...our money.
...l Prices on 5 and 10 ..., and will also give ...n with that amount.

...S. F. BUSCH

About People You Know

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 53
Oats	33 34
Wheat	60 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8 10
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

M M Mat ner was a Belmond visitor Monday

Walt and ... Priebe were Garner visitors ...

Miss Delia ... was a Garner visitor, Wednesday

W. H Milligan was a business visitor at Garner, Monday.

FOR SALE—Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles

C. E Gibbs was transacting business at Hayfield and Wesley, Monday.

Gretchen Blank went to Belmond, Tuesday, for visit with her sister.

J A McAlpine is Belmond's new postmaster assuming his duties March 1st

L. W. Fuller was up from Belmond, greeting friends and noting our improvements

Tom Elder went to Garner, Tuesday, to attend an adjourned session of the Grand Jury.

Herman Coobs went to Forest City, Monday, where he will work in a blacksmith shop.

Miss Mattie Bieber of Chicago, is the new milliner at the Mrs. John Josten millinery parlors.

Mrs Dr P L Parson came up from Traer, Tuesday, to have some dental work done by Dr. Parson

Walt Priebe returned from Belmond, Monday, where he has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Gus P. Baack arrived Monday from Sydney, North Dakota, for a visit with his mother and family.

C W. Wiles and John Josten departed Monday morning for Hinkley, Minnesota, on a business mission.

Mrs. A. Shafer returned Monday evening from LuVerne, where she had been visiting at the Dr. Spooner home.

Miss Martha Baack returned to her home at Woden, Wednesday after a few days' visit at the home of her aunt, Mrs Baack.

Frank Kluckholm and Frank Terhufen went to Swea City, Monday, to do some carpenter work for the Kluckholm Land Co.

Mrs Philip Ell of Mason City, arrived Wednesday for a short visit at the home of her son, Ed. G. Ell. and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Anton Ahrenkiel and daughter, Miss Mary, left Wednesday for Iowa City, where the latter will undergo a slight surgical operation.

The basket social held in the Mart Bachman school last Friday evening was quite well attended despite the stormy weather and nearly $25 00 was realized from the sale of baskets. The teacher, Miss Nellie Wilkins is to be congratulated.

Dan Webner, Sr. is building a house 16x24, on the old home place for himself and wife. His son Dan Jr., having moved onto the farm.

WANTED.—Local agent to represent us in the sale of North Dakota Farms --Dennstedt Land Co. 504 Putnam Bldg, Davenport, Iowa

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Pavey were made happy parents Tuesday morning by the safe arrival of an 8¼ pound baby boy We extend congratulations

School election Monday was a rather quiet affair, less than 50 votes being polled Arthur Wellemeyer for Director was the only candidate in the field

Mart Bachman went to Garner Monday to attend a special session of the board that let the contract for drainage district number 34 which is in Avery township

George Hartfelder of Omaha, a nephew of John Hartfelder, has located in Mesrevey and will do auto repair work. If he is as good a man as his uncle he will make a success of the business

Gruetzmacher Bros have their new implement building completed and now is filled up with all kinds of new machinery If you are in need of any such machinery don't fail to call and look our stock over

J F Stokesbury and family have moved on a farm northeast of Klemme Their neighbors have lost a good family, but Klemme has gained a family of good citizens and a good farmer. —Corwith Hustler

Henry Wentzel of the Mesrevey neighborhood is minus some of his fingers by getting them in a corn sheller recently and later blood poison developed and he is now in a Mason City hospital where it is thought he will recover

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
March 14th

Big 2 Reel Feature
"The Sinews of War" and a big comic feature "Jennie's Pearls."

Admission: 10 and 15 cents

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Spring Millinery Opening
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
MARCH 20 AND 21

We will have many Pretty New Spring Hats each hat showing the hand of a Master Designer in Originality and Newness.

Don't Fail to See Them.

MRS. JOHN JOSTEN

NEW HARDWARE
In Old First National Bank

I will be open ready for business on March 20th.

With a complete line of new hardware. I have also secured the agency for the

Monarch Malleable Ranges

which will be on display at my store. These goods will bear inspection. The best is none to good for Klemme.

Right Prices and Square Dealing. Shall be My Motto. Call and get acquainted.

C. W. WILES

NOW IS THE TIME
TO DO YOUR SEWING

and this is the place to buy your goods. The store with one price and that the Lowest. We are busy unpacking Spring Goods and can show you a nice line of Messaline, Silks, Crepes, Ratines, Voiles, and Ginghams, Also Laces and Embroidery at prices that will please you.

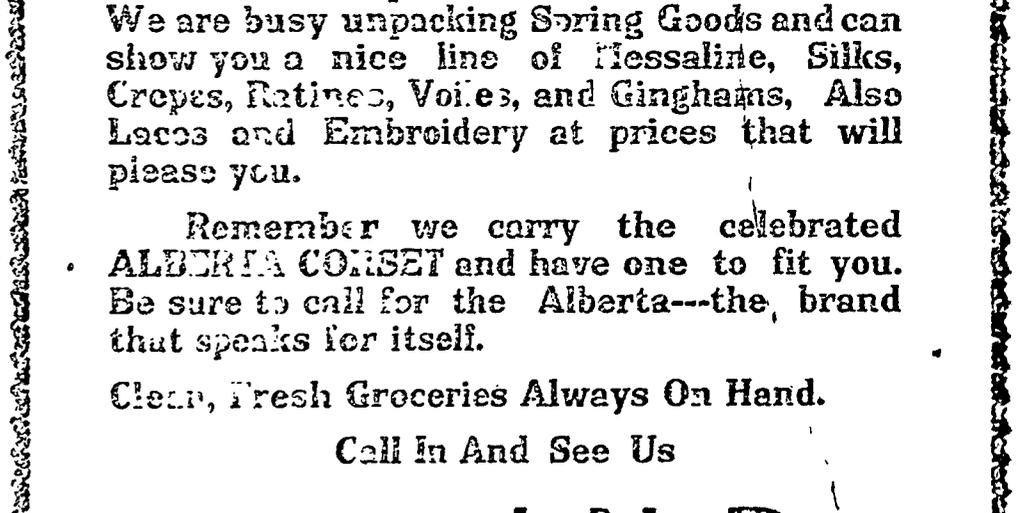
Remember we carry the celebrated ALBERTA CORSET and have one to fit you. Be sure to call for the Alberta---the brand that speaks for itself.

Clean, Fresh Groceries Always On Hand.

Call In And See Us

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store



WALL PAPER

On entering a beautiful home your first impression is the decoration.

The matter of decoration and beautifying your home becomes easy after an inspection of our complete line of newest creations in Wall Paper.

PRICES RIGHT

G. A. PABST, DRUGGIST

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Hudson Maxim, inventor of the powder called Maximite the first high explosive to force a projectile through heavy armorplate, which he sold to the United States government recently celebrated his 60th birthday He has risen to wealth and fame by his own determined efforts for his boyhood in the backwoods of Maine was one of poverty combined with a bitter struggle to obtain an education. He never went to school until he was 13 and up to that time he had gone barefoot, even in winter He went to school two months out of each year after he was 13 and kept up until he was 25, working his way In addition to his many inventions, he is a deep student of all the great philosophies and religions and has written much, his best known work being "The Science of Poetry and the Philosophy of Language."

The automobile expert of one of the English magazines has been calculating the speeds at which various parts of the engines of cars move Of the 15 horse power motor of a Peugeot car that won a recent race, he says it made 2,800 revolutions a minute on the level and went much faster when descending hills This means that the pistons made 5,600 dead stops in every minute to reverse their motion It also means that 1,400 times a minute the induction, compression, explosion and exhaust cycles take place and the magneto has to deliver 1,400 sparks a minute.

For many years the French have extracted coloring dyes from sawdust. The sawdust, it appears is acted on by sulphur and caustic soda in a furnace Sulphuretted hydrogen is liberated in large quantities, and the vegetable substance, whatever it may be, is rendered soluble in water, to which it imparts a strong color varying with the substance employed These solutions are employed as dyes which are fixed by passing the fabric through boiling bichromate of potash

Learning that his friend had fallen off a roof on which he was at work, the scientific chap hastened to his bedside I have an opportunity to prove an old theory here,' he said, after obtaining all the details "They say that when a man falls from a great hight he thinks of all his sins before he hits the ground Now is that true? Did you do that?" "Well, I didn't have time to think of quite all of them You see I only fell five stories!"

No one who has attempted to estimate the age of the earth by scientific methods has arrived at a result smaller than 50,000,000 years Above this the figures run up to 1,000,000,000 so every one is free to take his choice for when Mother Earth has once owned up to 50,000,000 she can scarcely object to being credited with a few hundred millions more.

Trade unions of London are about to build a central labor palace that will contain club rooms, a restaurant picture gallery, meeting halls and trade union offices, at a cost of $250,000 The plan has the official support of the London trades council, representing 120 trade unions with a membership of about 200,000

Two London daily newspapers the Mail and the Chronicle are insuring their readers against rail accidents The London Express figures that the odds against death from injury caused by accidents to trains are 80,000,000 to 1, while London Truth estimates the value to each subscribed is 6 cents a year

The old state silver mines at Kongsburg, Norway, which have been worked for nearly 300 years have in recent years increased their production until now it is more than 22,000 pounds of silver a year Other rich silver mines have been recently found in the same neighborhood and may soon be operated

The Norwegian budget of 1914-15 has just been sanctioned by the king The total expenditures will reach $48,600,000, of which the army and navy take only $50,000 It is proposed to spend $5,500,000 for state railways and $225,000 for phthisis sanitaria A public loan of $3,000,000 is announced

In 61.7 per cent of the cases of women factory workers in the state of Washington investigated by the industrial welfare commission the wage was less than $9 a week. The average was kept up by the pay of employes of fish canneries, who are permitted to work more than eight hours a day

London is divided into two camps over the proposition to widen Richmond bridge, over the Thames The bridge was opened for traffic in 1777. The way is narrow but opponents of the improvement plan say that to tamper with the ancient structure will destroy its beauty.

A Yonkers woman has asked the police to find her husband who she says, washed, ironed, scrubbed, pared potatoes, cooked, never smoked, drank or stayed out late, and always did as he was told. Has she thought of looking in the insane asylum for him' Buffalo Express Both Colombia and Peru are competitors of Ecuador in the manufacture of Panama hats, though Ecuador has the advantage of being the sole producer, so far as is known, of the best grade of "toquilla," the straw or grass from which the hats are made.

Rome's venerable Appian way, with its countless associations of a magnificent past, will now be disfigured by the rails of a modern tramway In the interior of the city streets are being torn up and ancient squares sacrificed to projected enlargements

There is only one species of birds known whose bite is poisonous the Rpir N'Doob or "bird of death," of New Guinea. Loss of sight, convulsions and lockjaw are symptoms which follow rapidly after the bite.

Cows in Belgium wear earrings. The law requires that when a cow has attained the age of three months it shall have in its ear a ring to which is attached a numbered metal tag for taxation purposes

CARROLL TEST VOTE SHOWS DISAPPROVAL CAPITOL EXTENSION

Returns From Republicans Give Startling Results—Very Few Favor It.

Carroll, Ia., March 9.—The publisher of the Carroll Times is conducting a test vote on the capital extension question. Assuming that his own readers, mostly democrats, might be accused of merely registering their political prejudices, the inquiries have been sent only to readers of the republican newspapers within the county, the names being secured from the lists filed with the county auditor in the applications for county printing

On returns so far received the vote stands 34 in favor of the appropriation and 320 against it, the negative side leading in a proportion of more than nine to one Practically all of those voting gave their politics as republican

The following tabulation gives the returns by postoffices

	Yes	No
Carroll	8	36
Coon Rapids	1	9
Glidden	13	114
Halbur		11
Lanesboro		3
Manning	9	109
Ralston	3	10
Templeton		23
Lake City		5
Scranton		1
Total vote	34	320

Comments by Voters.

Quite a number of the voters in addition to recording their votes in the squares provided for the purpose, expressed themselves more fully by means of penciled comments on the ballot cards or in some cases by letters accompanying the votes Those who favored the measure were more inclined to making these comments, perhaps for the reason that they felt that their votes need some explanation or defense One Glidden voter for the tax writes on his card these words

"We see the colored man in the political woodpile You can't hide the colored man, he has his head out"

One at aMnning says "Nothing too good for Iowa This room will all be needed'

Another at Manning who writes 'Rev" before his name says "The author of the bill shows statesmanlike foresight"

One Carroll voter writes "Sure, isn't it my capital? I was born in Iowa"

A Templeton voter, indignant at the bill, writes that he would rather pay the tax "if they could not get it."

A Carroll voter writes on his card. "The next governor of Iowa will be a democrat,' while another simply writes the words "Extortion and Extravagance" The voters in the negative, however, were much less inclined to make comments, evidently feeling that the arguments against the tax are so obvious and conclusive that their votes needed no defense or apology.

NEW RECORD CLAIMED FOR IOWA FARM PRODUCTS

Des Moines Ia., March 9—Iowa's crops in 1913 added to the value of the live stock on farms on January 1, 1914, total practically $1,000,000,000 a new record for this state, according to a report published by the department of agriculture in Greater Iowa"

The statistics on live stock compiled by the government shows that Iowa's live stock on January 1 was worth $470,272,000 The field crops of Iowa in 1913 together with the poultry wool and dairy products, amounted to $522,-174,227

The department report says

The total value of farm products, together with that of farm animals show Iowa's farm products and live stock on January 1, 1914 were worth practically $1,000,000,000 This establishes a new record on the value of Iowa farm products and live stock The total figures for Iowa live stock are only a little in excess of last year being $470,272,000 as against $459,-576,000 but the total farm products amounts to $522,747,227 making the total value of live stock and farm products $992,746,227

No other state in the union approaches this remarkable record of the Hawkeye state Iowa leads in so many products and in so many kinds of live stock that the sum total for the last few years has surpassed other states in a marked degree Iowa is coming to be a great draft horse state Horses are high in price and run up into money so that Iowa's horse industry is now the most valuable of any of her live stock industries.

CLARION MINISTER TO HOSPITAL AT CHEROKEE

Clarion Ia March 9—Rev Nathaniel Pye pastor of the Methodist church at Rowan and well known throughout the state was taken yesterday to the insanity hospital at Cherokee for treatment He is not insane, but has been in ill health of recent years, and at times while preaching, will have a sudden lapse of memory, lasting at times 10 or 15 minutes It is thought that treatment at the hospital will result in much good for him. He is a brilliant man and has had several of the large pastorates of the state. His son is superintendent of schools at Eagle Grove

Rev Mr Pye has held pastorates in some of the leading charges of the Upper Iowa conference

AUTO RACES ADDED TO PROGRAM FOR STATE FAIR

Des Moines Ia., March 9—One additional day was added to the state fair period for 1914 by the state board of agriculture September 4, the additional day, will be devoted to automobile racing on the race course opposite the amphitheater. The board listened to two propositions from firms presenting auto races, and a contract with one of the concerns will be made.

Auto polo will be put on with five machines in action. There will be 10 racing events between autos, the number of starters to be at least five for each event

The board increased the cash prizes to be given for exhibits at the fair from $68,000 to about $75,000, an addition of $7,000

CLAIMS IOWA PRISON LIFE HOLDS CUSTOMS OF OLD SLAVE TIMES

Attorney-Convict Attacks Conditions—Says Parole Law Is Farce and Fraud.

Webster City, Ia., March 6.—Is Iowa prison life a worse form of slavery than ever existed in the south? Likewise, is the Iowa parole law a farce and a fraud?

L. J. Tjernagle, of Story City, formerly one of central Iowa's best known attorneys, answers "Yes" to both questions Not only that, but he makes the formal charge that the slavery of Iowa prisons is worse than that of the black man in the south before the war and that the parole law is a ridiculous farce. Mr Tjernagle served a sentence of five years in the penitentiary at Anamosa for embezzlement—a crime which even the chief prosecuting witness afterward declared was never committed.

Since his liberation, Mr. Tjernagle has dedicated his life to a fight for imprived prison conditions and better criminal laws. He has spent the past two years lecturing over Iowa and now in an open letter to the graduating classes of Iowa offers three prizes amounting to $100 for the best essays on prisons and prison reform work.

In his letter to the graduates of the state he says "It is very fitting for you to commence at your 'commencement' to take a hand in social wrongs that are perpetrated within the state It is well to bear in mind that a worse form of slavery exists in Iowa today than ever existed in the south, also that the sweet sounding parole law is twisted and turned so that, instead of it being a blessing, it is made into a ridiculous farce and a fraud, not only upon those whom it was intended to benefit but also upon you and the taxpayers

J. H. GROVES, PIONEER OF CHEROKEE COUNTY, IS DEAD

Cherokee, Ia March 6—Joe H Groves well known cattle raiser and rancher died at the home of his son-inlaw, Niel Bushlow, in Pilot township, March 3, aged 71 years The immediate cause of his death was a stroke of paralysis, following a serious condition for a number of months from stomach trouble Mr. Groves was one of the two or three pioneers in the business of cattle raising and feeding in this vicinity Coming to Cherokee county in an early day, he settled on a large farm in Pilot township and devoted his energies to the successful raising and feeding of cattle. Of late years, since the death of his wife, he has divided his time between a large ranch in South Dakota and his landed interests here. He was interested in several of Cherokee county's banks. He leaves three sons, Charlie, George and Roy, now of South Dakota, and one daughter Mrs Neil Bushlow, of this county

YOUNG ELOPERS CAUGHT BEFORE GETTING MARRIED

Des Moines, Ia., March 6.—Miss Lilly May Pinney, aged 15, and Frank Hollwasser, aged 18, were arrested in Des Moines after eloping from the Pinney home in Iowa City J Pinney, the father reached Des Moines and located his daughter before the elopers located a minister He notified his attorney in Iowa City to file charges against both of them The father declares he will take his daughter back home and send her to the reform school as well as Hollwasser if it is possible

Iowa City, Ia., March 5.—Frank Hollwasser a Des Moines youth, charged with enticing 15-year-old Lilly May Pinney from home was held under $1,000 bonds, furnished by Phillip Beener, a Des Moines butcher The Pinney girl was brought before Judge Howell, who declined to announce his decree in the case for publication

INCREASING NUMBER OF STATE GAME PRESERVES

Des Moines, Ia., March 6—There will be at least 300,000 acres in the state game reservations scattered among probably 85 of the counties and on these 6,000 birds will be placed as early as possible These birds are now at the state game farm As soon as the weather shows signs of warming up and the birds begin pairing off they will be shipped to the game reservations, 30 to 40 pairs to a reservation

This system of establishing game reservations all over the state is attracting general attention Iowa is a pioneer in the work but since the matter was exploited in Iowa, Illinois has taken it up and started the same thing It is original with Elmer C Hinshaw, state game warden for Iowa. It was commenced at the national meeting of the game associations held recently as the most practicable way of stocking a state with game.

MORE WITNESSES DECLARE MAGISTRATE WAS DRUNK

Iowa City, Ia., March 6—The state placed its most important witnesses on the stand yesterday in the Herring ouster case, all but one testifying to Herrings' alleged "pickled' condition. Thomas Conner who brought the ouster proceedings, and Mary Conner, his sister, both testified to the justice's intoxicated condition during the trial of C L Foreschinger A juror in the Conner vs Maher case said Herring was sick not drunk Foreschinger said Herring threatened to fine him $25 for standing up during the trial

LEAVES ESTATE OF $100,000 TO BROTHER IN NORWAY

Lansing, Ia., March 6.—Andrew Idick, money lender, who died here yesterday, leaves a fortune of $100,000 to two brothers in Norway, whom he has not seen in 35 years, according to the will filed today Mr Idick came to this country in 1879 and had not since met his relatives. The members of his immediate family died recently.

GRANT DRURY HELD FOR DEATH OF MARTIN SCOTT

Eldora, Ia., March 6.—Following a verdict by the coroner's jury charging him with responsibility for the death of Martin Scott, who died from exposure after being struck on the head, Grant Drury was arrested and lodged in jail. The prisoner had been employed as cook for a Northwestern bridge gang

IOWA NEWS IN BRIEF

CLARINDA—Mr and Mrs. J A Orth, of this city, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary under conditions that were unusual and pleasant All members of the family, including the brothers and sisters of Mr. Orth, were present. There were five of them and they came from New Jersey, Kansas and Illinois. The children all reside in Clarinda. They are Mrs. R .D. Farrens, Mrs. J. C. Beckner, the Misses Florence, Fanny and Grace Orth, and Guy Orth.

FORT DODGE—Several hundred Masons from northern Iowa have been in attendance at a three days' school of instruction in grand lodge work, conducted at the Fort Dodge Masonic lodge rooms. Grand Master F B. Whittaker, of Hillsboro, N. R. Parvin, of Cedar Rapids, and J M Graham, of Denver, took prominent part in the ceremonies. Senator W S. Kenyon was one of those who attended

IOWA CITY—Miss Emma Ricord will not be tried for perjury. Judge Treichler, of Tipton, holding court for Judge Howell, sustained a demurrer to the indictment in this case, which grew out of Miss Ricord's testimony in a hearing before Judge Howel to determine her connection with the disappearance of Annie Clark, the star witness in the Kimball disbarment proceedings.

HAWARDEN—The senior class of the Hawarden high school gave their annual play at the opera house on Thursday and Friday evenings, playing to capacity houses on both occasions. The title of the play was "At the College Frat" and was given under the direction of Mrs J A. Emerson It was pronounced one of the very best productions ever given by local talent

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Discouraged with life because she had been arrested by the police, Olive Spencer, 14-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Elias Spencer of Missouri Valley, swallowed the contents of a three-ounce bottle of indelible ink The effect was not the one desired however, and beyond a disagreeable illness of a few days, it is not thought the girl will suffer as a result.

CEDAR RAPIDS—After a continuous service, with the exception of a few weeks' occasional vacation, of nearly 39 years in the railroad business, Andrew S. Hart has punched his last ticket as conductor on the Illinois Central branch between Cedar Rapids and Manchester Mr Hart received word Monday that he had been honorably retired on a pension

LEMARS—The Wheat Meal company, of LeMars, has been organized with the following officers: W T Shepard, president, E T Bedell, vice president E H Carey, secretary, John Sagon, treasurer, George Richardson S C Colledge, E H Carey, W T Shepard, John Bogen, directors. The company will sell a breakfast food invented by Dr M T Shepard

FORT DODGE—Fred Wood, of Fort Dodge, enjoyed a birthday dinner sent him by his brother Dr J A Wood, of Chicago The express service conveyed the dinner with dispatch and delivered it intact and in appetizing condition. Everything from "soup to nuts' was included, and ice cream was in the list of good things.

OSKALOOSA—Local churches, claiming injury to attendance, have inaugurated a campaign against the "movies" and the opera house shows on Sunday The local Welfare league demanded action by the city authorities but resolutions providing for Sunday closing failed The league, it is said will invoke state aid under the statutes.

WATERLOO—A hundred township officers and others interested in good roads attended the annual good roads meeting The main address was delivered by Senator A L Ames, of Buckingham who had much to do with framing the new law. He advised permanent improvements, especially in the way of bridges and culverts

HUMBOLDT—One of the most important mercantile changes in Humboldt in a number of years will take place this month when Bradley Kinseth & Co. will succeed E O Bradley Mr Bradley has been a successful merchant here for many years and the change is made largely that he may shift some of the responsibility of a steadily enlarging trade

CLEGHORN—The United States civil service commission announces that on Saturday March 28, an examination will be held at Cherokee, as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of Fourth class postmaster at Cleghorn The compensation of the postoffice was $620 for the last fiscal year

WATERLOO—For the first time in Waterloo the workers will have a complete ticket in the field at the coming election It will be called the social-democratic ticket and will be headed by Roy R. Reed, a plumber, for mayor The labor unions are quite solidly back of the movement, only the electricians thus far failing to give indorsement.

MUSCATINE—In the parole of John Alpf by the state board finis was written to the Muscatine button workers' strike. Of more than two score indictments, Alpf was the only union man to be convicted He was found guilty of tarring the home of a nonunion worker and was sentenced to five years.

MUSCATINE—The smallpox epidemic in Muscatine reached a climax Tuesday when the schools of the city were closed by order of the board of health. More than 40 cases have been reported and a further spread is feared General compulsory vaccination is being considered.

LEMARS—E H Townsend has sold his interest in the Globe-Post newspaper to his partner, J C Peterson, who is now sole owner Mr Townsend and Mr Peterson bought the plant from W F Miller on December 1 Mr Miller has recently purchased the Independence Conservative

LEMARS—F J Drilling has announced his candidacy for the office of representative for Plymouth county on the republican ticket Mr Drilling is engaged in business at Craig and is mayor of that town

IOWA CITY—Joseph Feller, 15 years old, who ran away from his home in Victor, was discovered by Marshall Miller working in the boiler room of the Hotel Jefferson His mother had followed him to Iowa City, and a short search resulted in the discovery.

DUBUQUE—Paul Lattner, aged 54, a resident of Dubuque, met death when he missed his footing and fell down a flight of stairs at the home of Emil Pfalzgraf, of Lattnerville, near here, where he was visiting His neck was broken CLAIMS $15,000 FE... IN SETTLEMENT MA... FOR IDA GROVE F...

Attorney C. S. Macomber Cl... He Prevented Threatene... Internal Trouble

Ida Grove, Ia., March 5 - ... asking for a fee of $15,000 ... services has been filed with the ... of the district court here by C. S. ... comber, and the outcome of the ... will be watched with interest by ... lents of this city and the country ... general. The dissolution of the ... ing house of Baxter, Reed & ... this city, in 1913 is the issue ... which the suit hinges.

For nearly 20 years W J Reed ... practically the manager of the ... ing business of this firm, and for ... years past had been in active charge ... the Baxter & Reed Ranching Co. (Ltd), which was extensively interested in Canada land, owning several ... tions of land near Calgary, Alberta ... which was stocked with cattle and ... extensive improvements in the way ... buildings. The wealth of the firm ... cording to Mr. Macombers petition ... was about $1,200,000. In addition ... firm had about half a million in ... receivable, owning a bank at Sel... wig, in addition to the banking ... here.

According to Mr Macomber ... Baxter became dissatisfied and ... ble started during the year 1912 ... Reed threatened to ask the court ... appoint a receiver for the entire ... nership at that time. Mr Ma... as legal representative of the de... ant, used his influence to keep ... Reed from doing as he threat... and a settlement was finally reached ... between Mr. Baxter and Mr. Reed ... latter stepping out and turning ... the Canada interests, land in South ... Dakota and Nebraska and the ... Iowa banking institutions to Mr. Baxter. He took the firm's extensive holdings in California, located in the Imperial valley, and sold out all his personal interests in this community ... moved to California.

During the 30 years that Mr. Macomber has been practicing law in the city he has occupied a suite of rooms in the Baxter, Reed & Co. block. In his petition he states that he had been accused by the defendant of being disloyal in the matter of a settlement between the two men, and a few years ago he moved to quarters in another building. He asserts that it was through his efforts that a settlement was reached without going through the courts, and that owing to the magnitude of the interests represented a sum of $15,000 would not be too much for his services.

Mr. Macomber ran for county attorney on the republican ticket last fall and was elected. Mr. Baxter is one of the wealthiest men in this section of the state, and his brother, Robert Baxter, associated with him, represented Ida county in the legislature one term and gained the sobriquet of "Barnum Bob."

KRIEGER'S RESIGNATION ANNOYS CORRECTIONVILLE

Correctionville, Ia., March 5 ... surprise was occasioned here yesterday afternoon when President J. Quitty of the school board received a letter from Prof. Herbert W Krieger stating that he desired to resign the superintendency of the Correctionville schools, effective at once.

When Superintendent Krieger was here last Saturday to look after his farm at Lake Wilson, Minn which he acquired about Christmas time, he had any intimation that he would not be back for school work Monday ... came to the superintendent's office following two years of teaching in a government school in the Philippines His home is in East Burlington, Ia. Is 26 years of age and a graduate of the Iowa state university, where he taught for a short time

The high school here which has a widespread reputation for its musical productions, was on the eve of giving "Pinafore," Professor Krieger being director His resignation may mean the abandonment of the production and in addition, greatly embarrasses the school work, it being anticipated that the securing of a good superintendent at this late date will be very difficult.

JUSTICE HERRING OUSTER PLAYS TO CROWDED HOUSE

Iowa City, Ia., March 5.—The ouster trial of Justice Herring opened here yesterday with the courtroom packed. Three witnesses for the state testified they thought Herring intoxicated while conducting official business J. Sterritt and Rev. H. P. Chaffee, of the Baptist church, testified they asked Herring to release James Harris from serving time for a family disturbance that he migh attend tabernacle meetings then in progress. The negotiations consumed several days owing to Mrs Harrison's objections to her husband's release. Both testified that Herring's manner indicated intoxication and that he had an alcholic breath, but didn't stagger."

Sterritt said he though the refusal to allow the prisoner to attend religious meetings was proof of intoxication.

R. L. Scott, a farmer, testified that Herring bound him over to the grand jury for fighting, which isn't an indictable offense. He thought he was drunk because in writing a receipt for the fine Herring wrote "in full" three times.

COMMISSION RULES ON IOWA RATE PROTEST

Washington, D. C., March 5.—The Interstate Commerce commission has further suspended, from March 20 to September 20, the schedules that provide for the cancellation of present commodity rates on cement in carloads from Mason City, Ia., and other points to certain points in Minnesota and North Dakota, located on the Northern Pacific railway. The cancelled rates mean substantial increases if allowed.

In the case of the Sioux City Brick & Tile company against the Burlington railroad, the commission allowed a refund on account of unreasonable rates on mait from Longmont, Colo., to Sioux City.

Jacob E. Decker & Sons, Mason City packers, were allowed a refund of $... from the M. and St. L. for unreasonable rates on 17 carloads of fresh meat from Mason City to Duluth.

...OF MILWAUKEE TANGLED, BOARD SAYS

...erce Commission Finds ...ounts Were Not Kept According to Rules.

...gton, March 9.—Charges that ...accounts of the Chicago, Mil... St. Paul railway company ... subsidiary, the Chicago, Mil... Puget Sound railway have ...anipulated as to mislead the ...d tend to create a more fa... ...market for the securities of the ...re contained in the report ...blic vesterday by the Inter... ...mmerce commission after an ...e investigation of the finan... ...rs of the road.

...riticising and condemning the ...g methods followed by the ..., however, Commissioner ...who prepared the report said: ... not mean to be understood ...ing here said as intimating ... St. Paul company is not a ...property and is not achieving ...s reasonably anticipated from ...ion of its lines to the Pacific ...

...closures by the investigation ... Commissioner Harlan de... ...n the report as "serious ir... ...les" in the accounting system ...oads, were regarded by the ...on as indefensible, although ...ers of the St. Paul company ... that they "resulted from ...e in attention and a lack of ...y on the part of the com... ...mptroller and those under him ... requirements of the commis...

...is no sufficient basis of ...says the commissioner's re... ...enable us to condemn or ac... ...comptroller either of full re... ...ty or his share of responsi... ... the condition of the accounts ... companies; but there are ... for thinking that his responi... ...s materially qualified and min... ... the instructions and direction ...n by the executive and other ... Whatever may be the fact ...regard the commission now ...t a more careful observance of ... and regulations is promised ...uture. This we confidently an... ...will be realized."

...ERAL ORDERS COFFIN OF BRASS

... Wants Casket Made Ccnnon Taken in Civil War.

...elphia, March 9.—Though still ... remarkably good health at the ... years, Gen. John P. Taylor, of ... fame, is making detailed ad... ...reparations for his funeral and ...ed an order for a $1,000 solid ...offin cast from captured can...

...l Taylor, who in four years ...m lieutenant to brigadier gen... ...he civil war, lives on the estate ...edsville, Mifflin county, which ...e generations has been in the ...on of his family.

...he last few years the general ...oted much time and money to ...ng the private Taylor burial ... for his funeral. A vault has ...unk with foundations strong ... to support a big granite block ...ultimately will cover it and be ...nted by a bronze statue of Gen... ...ylor.

...AHAN CHARGED WITH SPITE WORK

...ashington, March 9.—At today's ..., on Representative Manahan's ...tion for congressional investiga... ...of the Chicago, Duluth and Min... ...is grain exchanges, the interests ...dle western grain farmers were ...nted by J. W. Shorthill, of Ne... He urged a full investigation ...id that the farmers wanted to ... just what the effect of elimin... ...uture dealings in grain would ... had been suggested, he said, ...ohibition of the future dealings ...give the "moneyed elevator in... ... control of the cash grain mar... ...e also said that the effect of ...grain dealings on the credit of ...mer in the country bands should ...stigated.

... F. Simpson, of the Minneapolis ...r of commerce said he believed ...ain exchanges of the country ...welcome a broad, thorough in... ...tion and insisted they had not ...ted competition nor combined to ... the price of grain to farmers. ...son said the Minnesota courts ...cided that the grain exchanges ... no way operating in violation ... law and that the evidence ... the exchanges was part of a ...l fight for business between ...innesota exchanges and the ... Co-operative exchange, recently ...ed, now being waged in the ...est.

...on said the Minnesota legisla... ...investigation had developed that ...entative Manahan, author of in... ...tion resolution, was one of the ... of the equity association. Man... ...rose to say his name had been ... the organization without his ...dge, but after learning of its use ... acquiesced.

...r heads showing the use of Mr. ...an's name were placed in the ...

T. R. IS GRANDPA.

New York, March 7.—A son ... born today to Mrs. Richard ...by, who was Ethel Roose... ..., daughter of Theodore ...osevelt.

FAIL TO REACH VERDICT.

...Chicago, March 9.—The jury in the ... of B. J. Mahoney, assistant state's ..., accused of fraudulently ...g ballots in the election of No... ..., 1912, was discharged today, having failed to reach a verdict. The jury deliberated nearly 24 hours.

COLLECTION OF ART WORKS GOES TO CITY

Vanderbilt Paintings to Be Given to New York Metropolitan Museum.

New York, March 9.—It has long been understood in art circles of this city that George W Vanderbilt, who died in Washington yesterday, intended to leave to the Metropolitan Museum of Art the splendid collection of modern paintings gathered by his father, William H Vanderbilt Several years ago Mr Vanderbilt loaned the pictures to the museum and they have been on exhibition ever since The collection comprises 135 pictures bought between the years 1868 and 1885, many of which are now priceless

George Washington Vanderbilt was the youngest and probably the least known of the sons of the late William K. Vanderbilt He never took an active part in the business and financial world where other members of the family gained wealth and distinction. He was a student and traveler and his chief interest was his magnificent estate at Biltmore near Asheville, N. C. where he spent the greater part of his time

Mr Vanderbilt was born in the old Vanderbilt home at New Dorp Staten Island November 14 1862 In 1885 he became interested in the wild mountain region of western North Carolina and by successive purchases he accumulated an estate of 100 000 acres on the French Broad river and laid out there a vast park and erected buildings on a scale which has seldom been equalled in this country Mr Vanderbilt devoted most of his time to the personal supervision of this estate In the valley he built a model town and called it Biltmore His farms were filled with blooded stock and he devoted thousands of dollars to the scientific conservation of forests which covered the greater part of his property

George Vanderbilt's fortune was never a factor in Wall street He was supposed, however to be one of America's wealthiest men

O'BRIEN COUNTY LAND CASE IN HIGH COURT

Arguments Will Be Made Monday at Washington in Notable Litigation.

Washington, March 9 The supreme court of the United States Monday will hear arguments in the case of Scott Logan vs W. R Davis This is a well known Iowa case in which E C Herrick, Congressman Geo C Scott and Wm Milchrist, of Sioux City, are counsel for Logan The late Congressman Hubbard was also counsel for Logan. M B Davis will appear for W R. Davis.

(The title of a quarter section of land in O'Brien county is under question in this litigation The plaintiff claims the title under an entry for a railroad company, while the defense claims the same under a homestead entry)

VAGRANT ARMY IS GROWING IN SIZE

San Francisco, March 9 —"Pass them along" is the plan on which California communities are dealing with "General" Kelly's army of unemployed now on its way to Washington, D C., and as a result the tourists are traveling in state.

It cost Contra Costa county $709 50 in railroad fares yesterday to ship the army to Benicia, Solano county Benicia at once made preparations to send it on to Yolo and Sacramento counties. An appeal to the state railroad commission brought permission for the Southern Pacific to grant a reduced fare, but the railroad company itself refused to be a party to any plan "for dumping a lot of undesirables onto unoffending communities," and the Solano county officials then agreed to pay first class fares, as had Contra Costa. There was a hitch while the railroad company rounded up cars to make a special train, and the army camped at Benicia for the night with Adjutant General Forbes, of the California national guard, on hand to see if there would be any need of calling out state troops to preserve order.

Contra Costa county was lavish in its hospitality. It distributed to the two companies of marchers 3,000 loaves of bread, six quarters of beef, 50 sacks of potatoes, 12 sacks of onions, a wagon load of fish, and tea, coffee and rice by the hundred weight.

Gives "Army" Black Eye.

"Col." Louis La Place, attached to the staff of "General" Kelly, deserted last night and returned to San Francisco today to resume his place as a police detective. When the unemployed first invaded the city four months ago, La Place was detailed to join them, and his identity was hidden so completely that he returned today with his head in bandages as the result of a beating given him by a deputy sheriff at Richmond Thursday, when the army engaged in a riot.

La Place says the army consists of 1,172 officers and privates, and is growing in number daily, that it plans to divide into two divisions on reaching Kansas, one continuing on toward Washington, D. C., by way of Kansas City and the other by way of Omaha.

La Place expresses little sympathy with the personnel of the army or the purposes of its leaders. Some of the members, he says, are working men who were lured from good positions, and the rest he declares to be incurable vagrants with no thought of looking for work. The leaders, he said, are all professional agitators.

BOASTER KILLS MAN.

Joplin, Mo., March 9.—William Degraff, son of a prominent mine operator, last night shot and killed George Hunt and probably fatally wounded Jesse Corder, miner, after a quarrel over who was the "best man" of the three. The shooting occurred in the center of the business district. Degraff was arrested.

WILL FAVOR SCHEME TO SETTLE STRIKES

Colorado Investigators to Urge Compulsory Arbitration in Mine Disputes.

Denver, Colo., March 9.—A compulsory arbitration law for the settlement of disputes between coal operators and their employes, as one of the recommendations of the federal strike investigation committee, was foreshadowed today by questions put to E. L. Doyle, secretary and treasurer of District 15, United Mine Workers of America, by Representative Howard Sutherland, of West Virginia

In the examination of Doyle, Mr Sutherland questioned the witness closely on the subject of arbitration, his questions indicating that he would urge the enactment of a federal statute similar to the Canadian "dispute act," which includes coal mining among the industries in which controversies between labor and capital must be submitted to boards of mediation

The method is similar to that provided in the amended Erdman act for the settlement of disputes between railroads and their employes

It is Mr Sutherland's theory that fuel is a public necessity second only to transportation, and that the rights of the public should be protected through the power of the federal government to regulate interstate commerce Under his plan the controversies would be submitted to a board of mediation empowered to summon witnesses under oath, and whose findings would be binding on both parties

During the period of arbitration the miners would be compelled to remain at work Thus the public supply of coal would be provided without interruption

SHIP SINKS; CREW ADRIFT IN STORM IS THOUGHT LOST

Seaside Park, N J, March 9 — Eighteen members including the captain of the crew of the steamer Charlemagne Tower, jr., which sank near here, are adrift on the ocean in an open boat. The last seen of them, they were going out to sea in a southeasterly direction The steamer sank in 50 feet of water, three-quarters of a mile from shore between Cedar Creek and Forked River life saving stations, six miles south of here

H B Thompson, of Brooklyn, first mate, and three members of the crew were brought ashore The revenue cutter Itasca was signalled from shore of the predicament of the 18 men and put to sea in search of them

Life Savers Helpless.

There are two big sand bars near where the steamer went to the bottom yesterday and the life savers were seriously handicapped in launching their boats One was finally launched, but was upset and the life savers waded ashore

Capt. Harold Simmons, of the Tower and 17 men took a long boat. It was so overcrowded that they were afraid to try landing on the first bar and remained outside hoping the turbulent sea would subside Snow was falling It grew thicker about 3 a. m. today and the long boat was lost to view

When last seen the men seemed unable to use the oars and therefore could not control the craft Unless found by the revenue cutters or some steamer, it is believed here all will perish

Wire communication along the coast has been completely prostrated since last Sunday's great storm, and communication among the life saving stations is difficult and only accomplished after delay

The self-bailing life boat of the Barnegat life saving station has been out of commission for three weeks awaiting repairs

The Tower was owned by the Southern Transportation company with which Charles W. Morse, of New York, is identified It is said this was the first trip of the steamer in six years and that the crew was new to the officers.

According to the crew the captain edged into shore because he did not care to risk going on the bar and have the boat pound to pieces.

All hands were ordered into the boats one hour before the steamer sank.

There were only three boats on the ship and one was used for the clothes and other personal effects of the crew This boat came ashore today at Barnegat inlet.

20 DOGS TO EACH BABY IN BOSTON

Legislator Shocked at Lack of Perambulators in Back Bay.

Boston, March 9.—That the Back Bay has 20 dogs to every infant, a full score of kennels to each perambulator, was the assertion made by Representative John L. Donovan, the "Mayor of Chinatown," in opposing the bill authorizing cities and towns to provide for the care and disposal of homeless dogs and cats.

"Out in the Back Bay," he said, "there are more cats and dogs than there are children, and I am not surprised if the Back Bay has become alarmed over its unfortunates. I say, let the Back Bay take care of its cats and dogs. I hope the bill will be killed."

NORDICA RECOVERING FROM SERIOUS ATTACK

Thursday Island, Australia, March 9. —The condition of health of Lillian Nordica, the American singer, is said by her physicians to be steadily improving, although subject to frequent changes. She hopes to be able to leave here on March 28.

Mme. Nordica suffered from a serious attack of pneumonia in December, brought about by shock and exposure at the time of the grounding in the gulf of Papua of the steamer Tasman, on which she was traveling

HECLA STATION SITE IS HALF MILE FROM ITS LEGAL LOCATION

Alt Survey Makes Changes in Boundary Lines—State Does Not Accept.

Lincoln, Neb., March 7—The Burlington Railroad company has just discovered that its station at Hecla, up in Hooker county, is half a mile from the land on which it is located That is to say a resurvey of the county by the government has disclosed that the land upon which the station is legally located by section and range is half a mile off the right of way The new survey, called the Alt survey, is breeding a lot of trouble in northwestern Nebraska. The state board of educational lands and funds, in making new leases for school land has refused to recognize it because of the different lines run, but the government has adopted it G J Hunt, of Bridgeport, has asked the attorney general for an opinion to aid a client of his who had a lease on some school land that adjoined some land he owned by deed. The Alt survey has moved the line of the school section in such a way that there has been left a strip of land 56 chains wide upon which somebody has homesteaded, and the hay which the former lessee secured has been taken by the new claimant

SAYS BRYAN FUND AIDED IN "DISTRIBUTION OF GAS"

Lincoln, Neb., March 7—Secretary of State Bryan was made the butt of a joke in the hearing of the law suit the city of Lincoln is having with the gas company, in an effort to secure legal enforcement of a $1 gas ordinance. The city attorney was cross-examining a former superintendent of the company with respect to certain vouchers yesterday.

"Here is a voucher calling for $5, payable to F. W. Brown. This is dated in 1908 Do you know what that was for?" asked the city attorney.

"Yes, sir," said the former official, "that was a contribution to the local campaign fund for Mr Bryan, then a presidential candidate"

"The charge is certainly legitimate," declared the city attorney. "It cannot be denied that it was to aid in the distribution of gas"

NEGRO PHYSICIAN TELLS OF EXTENDED EXPERIENCES

Grand Island, Neb March 7—The case now on trial in the district court against Dr. C. A. Flippin, a negro physian, sued for $3,000 damages by Mrs. Elsie McIntyre, of this city, for alleged malpractice, today brought out some rather interesting testimony on the part of the defendant Although 70 years of age the negro looks much younger, his testimony being to the effect that he saw fours years' service as a hospital attache during the civil war; going to Ohio after its close, where he practiced for several years, later attending a Chicago medical college and coming west in the late '70s. He swore upon the stand that he had officiated at over 5,600 visitations of the stork during his practice and had administered more than 100,000 applications of anesthetics

INVESTIGATING ARREST OF SOLDIER FOR FIGHTING

Lincoln, Neb March 7 Adjutant General Hall has gone to Fairbury to ascertain whether the state of Nebraska has been abusing one of his soldier boys. The militiaman was on duty at the foot of a stairway leading to a room where a military court was in session A man who was being pursued by snowballing youths attempted to take refuge in the stairway The vigilant guardsman refused to let him in, and after an exchange of saucy words, the guardsman laid aside his gun and licked the man Now the question is was he exempt from legal process while engaged in military duty, or did he temporarily divest himself of his exemption by laying his gun aside and wading in on the citizen?

HEIRS FIGHTING OVER BLIND FIDDLER'S ESTATE

Lincoln, Neb., March 7—Samuel Tout, a blind fiddler who earned his living at Nebraska county fairs back in the '70s, is the direct cause of a law suit on trial in the district court. Tout saved enough to buy an 80-acre farm in Lancaster county, but left his wife and a stepson there while he roamed about the country It amounted to a desertion and in the divorce suit that followed he agreed to deed his wife the land. He died before this could be done His wife lived on the farm till her death and shortly after she passed away her son also died. The present contest is between the brother of the blind fiddler and the heirs of the son.

GETS DAMAGE AWARD FOR BEING ACCUSED OF THEFT

Lincoln, Neb., March 7—Ten thousand dollars is the sum that a jury says Willard Kimball, proprietor of the University School of Music, must pay to Mrs. Martha Van Dorn, keeper of a rooming house, for damages caused by her being arrested on a charge of theft preferred by Kimball. When the police went to Mrs. Van Dorn's house they found bed linen and other goods that belonged to Kimball's school. Mrs. Van Dorn had formerly had charge of one of the rooming houses attached to the music school, and she contended that the laundryman had mixed the bed linens up so that she did not really know which was hers and which belonged to Kimball. She was never prosecuted.

ICE GORGE IN PLATTE MENACES FARM PROPERTY

Grand Island, Neb., March 7.—The ice in the various channels of the Platte river surrounding the island south of this city, from which the town originally took its name, has commenced to break up, and some danger is feared to property. At one point where nine bridges are required to cross the various channels, a gorge formed yesterday which has flooded the farming land of the island. Large quantities of blasting powder were used with good effect, and property owners are hopeful that the danger is safely passed —solved once for all by Calumet. For daily use in millions of kitchens has proved that Calumet is highest not only in quality but in leavening power as well—unfailing in results—pure to the extreme—and wonderfully economical in use. Ask your grocer. And try Calumet next bake day.

Received Highest Awards

World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Ill. Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912.

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Located.

"I see you have recovered from the measles, Johnny," said the primary teacher "Yes'm," replied Johnny, "but ma says that they are still in my cistern."

Constipation causes many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative, three for cathartic Adv.

No Wonder.

"We had a perfectly killing time."
"Where did you go?"
"On a sleighing party"

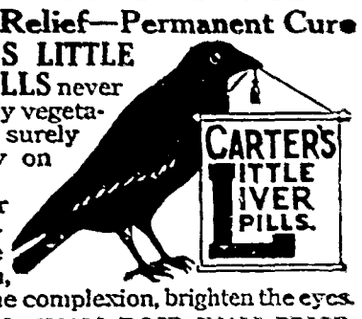
Your family Doctor can't do more for your cough than Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops; "they cure"—5c at Druggists.

The deeper a man is in debt the less he cares for expenses

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable — act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes.



SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

25 CTS. PISO'S REMEDY 25 CTS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.
FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

Deyoe Pleases

Large Crowd Saturday Afternoon to Hear Old Friend and Neighbor

The opera house was packed saturday afternoon with the crowd that turned out to hear State Superintendent of Public instruction. Hon A. M. Deyoe, discuss the Consolidated school question.

He impressed his audience with the fact that his sympathy is and always has been with the rural community, and after a careful study of the question has become heartily in favor of the Consolidation of Schools. He thinks that it is the only solution whereby we can better the schools of the rural community and give the country boy and girl the advantages of a better education. He also states that it has to some extent issued a decree [illegible] over two thousand schools have been organized [illegible] and that seventy [illegible] right now [illegible] and two assistants busy going from one place to the other explaining and [illegible] such an organization [illegible] sisting in the work. He also proved that wherever consolidation has been tried out that it has proven a success and is popular in every section. For instance, at Marathon [illegible] was organized some [illegible] ago and there are [illegible] school houses [illegible] diate locality. And that every district that he has visited has found over 95 per cent of the patrons more than satisfied with the change. According to a government investigation out of over 1500 schools consolidated in the United States only two districts have ever gone back to the old plan

He gave everyone present much food for thought and if he did not make some new consolidated school boosters it is not because he did not do his part.

Ole Was Indignant

W A Riley, formerly editor of the Larchville Bulletin, and who is now editor of the Battle Lake, (Minn.) Review, gets off the following alleged criticism.

Battle Laken, Meenesoty.
Mr ester Editor levne

Dr skriever vesom s, Det er A aut bane jused to rite nuspaper men Ay tank ay skal try to skrive out some things dat ant ban talk about to mey Ay vas to Fargo last veek an ay see many things dat mak me feel mighty sad Ay see you nice N'ske gurl valk on side valk, but [illegible] more skirt A say to see You get big fate in dress shoe to dis hot s vety pin and fix him up off She says to mey, 'Ole fuse,' and valks rite along In little time come along odder vomens vid just same fer A tank vat is matter vid Battle Laken kyering Ay tank dey must be crazy Ay go in hardvare store and ask hardvar man bout dese things I'm say it skal be alrite. him say dey used to show gude calfs at fair but now dey show calfs on foot

Ay don't tak dat besness Nex day Ay see stowing whol menegari. A [illegible] vomans show her [illegible] ay skal go sae Thomson Davets papers quak A man on desk as me gat to horn but [illegible] ay skal tak harness tug and mak dem plenty sorry bout it. Ay skal gaa tu Battle Laken next veek en of ay sae eny more caffs a skal rite Senator Knute Nelson by Vashington bout it.

Ole Varmland

Ladies Should Not Read

There is scarcely a thing a woman cannot do with a hairpin. They use it to pick their teeth, button their shoes, clean their finger nails, punch bed bugs out of cracks, fasten up stray bangs, clean out the stems of their husband's pipe, scratch their heads, trim lamp wicks, run it into cake to see if it is sufficiently done and about a million other things the poor, deluded men know nothing about; and they do it all with the same hairpin.— Exchange.

Goodell News

Mr and Mrs Jack Forsythe went to Garner Saturday to visit relatives

Miss Lorna Ritter went to Hayfield to stay at her home there while she is having her eyes treated. Miss Esther Wesenberg is teaching her room

Mrs Anson Avery went to Garner Tuesday where she visited her daughter, Mrs Schmalie, until Saturday.

Charles Vorishek, from Garner, came down here Saturday to visit friends until Monday.

Mr and Mrs Henry Christensen are the proud parents of a baby girl born Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs Justin Lowenberg and baby returned from Redwood Thursday where they have been visiting relatives

Miss Dolcie Hughes from Clarion, visited her parents here Saturday and Sunday

Reginald Houghton returned from Eden Prairie Minn Saturday where he has been visiting and has [illegible] the M & St L Agency there

There will be a dance here March 17th

Notice Probate of Will

STATE OF IOWA }
HANCOCK COUNTY, } ss
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Notice is hereby given that an instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of George Schroeder deceased was filed in the office of the [illegible] on the 2nd day of March A. D. 1914 and that May 11, 1914 was [illegible] for the hearing proof in relation thereto.

WI [illegible] the Seal of the District Court of Hancock County, in said County this 2nd day of March A. D. 1914

J. W. KNADLER
Clerk of the District Court
283 Hancock County Iowa

Notice of Appointment of Administrators

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned have been duly appointed and qualified Administrators of the Estate of [illegible] late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased.

All persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make immediate payment [illegible] and those having claims against [illegible] duly [illegible] for allowance, at the office [illegible] on or before the 2nd day of March A. D. 1915

CHARLES L. [illegible]
ARNOLD, Administrators

FARMERS!

Send 25c for a copy of the Farmer's Rapid Figurer and Calculator; the handiest book you ever saw, money back if wanted.—E. C. Foster, Assumption, Ill.

Chas F. Ber and A M. Greis were in Mason City, today seeing that great play "Ben Hur."

An interesting meeting of the Commercial League was held last evening. We will give a full report next week.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash.
Doors. Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION

Because Our Patrons INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF LUMBER

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in allkinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your heavy or [illegible] and promptly
Your patronage [illegible] solicited
Large [illegible]

Fred Kluck[illegible]n, Prop.
Coal Hau[illegible]

Very Low
One-Way Fares
to California
and
North Pacific Coast Points
On Sale Daily
March 15 to April 15, 1914

Personally Conducted Excursions
via
Rock Island Lines

[illegible] modern through Pullman [illegible] Cars

[illegible] attention and courtesy.

[illegible] of routes—via El Paso, the direct route of lowest altitude, or through Colorado and Salt Lake City

Dining car service unexcelled. Stopovers permitted

Let me quote you fares and plan the trip.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

When You Buy

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

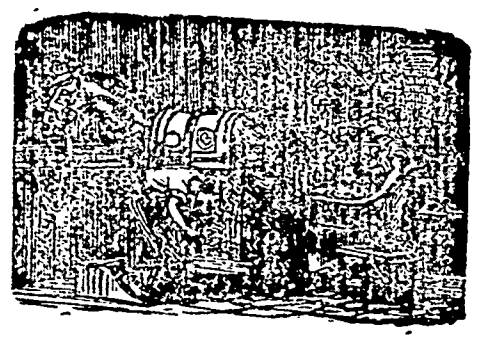
C. M Wagner

Some People Eat To Live
WHILE OTHERS
Live To Eat
WE CATER TO BOTH CLASSES

City Restaurant & Hotel
A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.



W. F. PAVEY
Blacksmith and
Wood Workman

I would like a share of your patronage and it work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

THE KLEMME TIMES

ME XVIII. NUMBER 30 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY MARCH 19, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

r banking business with, you can feel assured of pt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

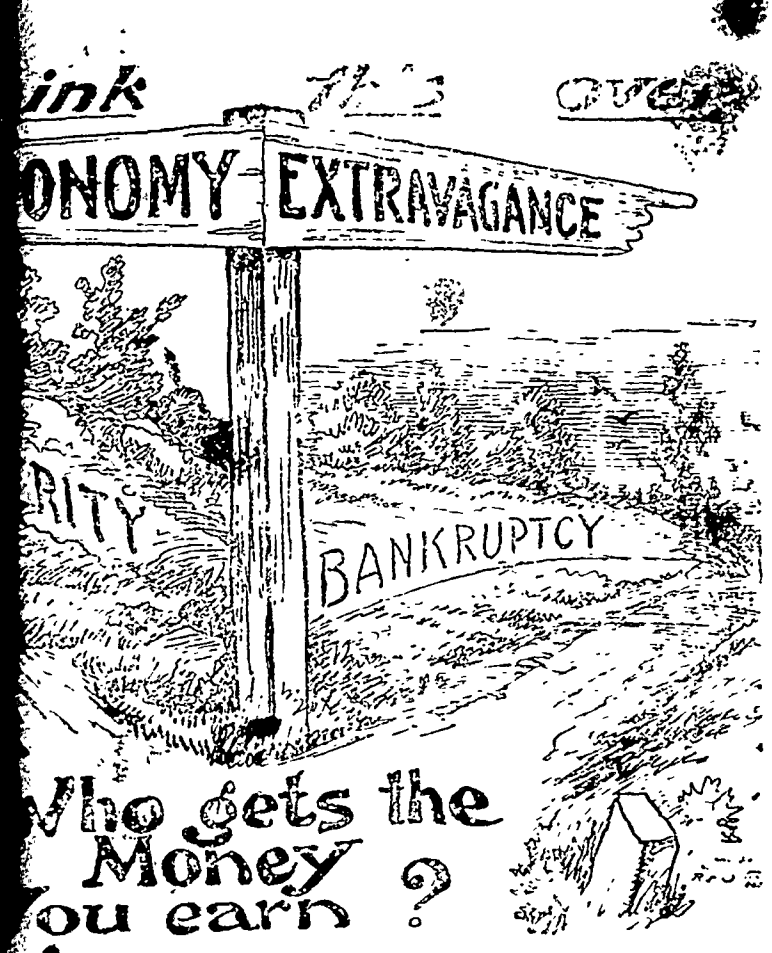
is proof of the success of this policy.



omy looks like an up-hill game when t begin, and sometimes it IS an up-hill ut it is the ROAD TO PROSPERITY ou can persevere in your small econo- will find this out. Your extravagance draw interest Some day you will pay on your present extravagances. If you money in the BANK NOW, you can afford to buy the luxuries you crave missing the money.

Do YOUR banking with US

ate Savings Bank.

Iowa

1 $15,000.00
us $15,000.00
Total $30,000.00

Can you beat it?

. R. BLOOM

—THE—

AIN COAL AND

LIVE STOCK

MAN

uy hogs six days in the week at ighest market prices.

ness established 1890.

Bro. Bailey, of the Britt Tribune, is worrying about the Income Tax. We never suspected that Bro. Bailey was so rich that the income tax would cause him any grief, but we are glad to know that there is at least one editor in Hancock county that does not have to work for a living. We should worry like a bee and get stung.

L. G. Roberts has sold a half interest in the Britt News to his brother, R R. Roberts, a former employee of the News, but of late in the banking business in the Farmers' National Bank at Osage. L. G. Roberts will have charge of the office and mechanical end of the business while the new partner will take care of the editorial end.

The fire alarm caused a small amount of excitement for a short time, Monday evening A passing train set fire to the roof of the Northern Lumber Co shed but the bucket brigade and Agent Palmer beat the fire laddies to the job. We can feel mighty thankful that the fire originated in the day time or we fear we would have had a great loss to report this week.

Valentine Josten, an old timer, lives near Klemme and was 79 years old Saturday Physically he is getting feeble, but mentally strong He reads and takes the same interest in all that transpires in the world just as he always did. He is one of the nicest gentlemen who ever lived in the county—always affable and every day the same. He has five sons all farmers, in Hancock county.—Britt Tribune

---

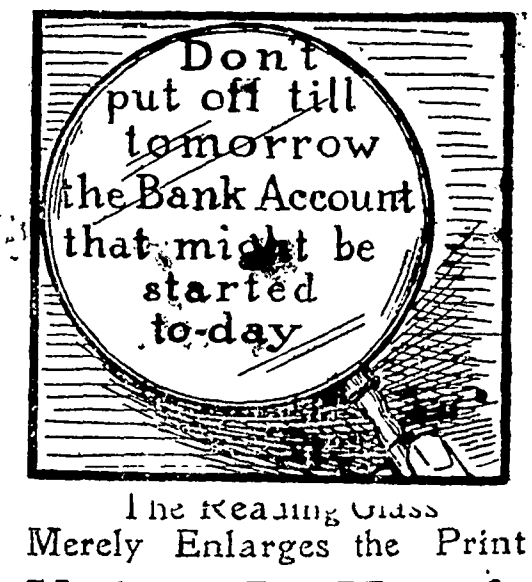
The Garner papers are crowing over the large amount of business transacted by their banks. It is a fact that they have two very good financial institutions but what about Klemme banks. When you take the size of the two towns into consideration? The Klemme banks with combined capital of $40,000.00 shows a combined total footing of over a half million and deposits well over four hundred thousand dollars. We are not knocking on the Garner institutions but when it comes to crowing we have just as much license to do so.

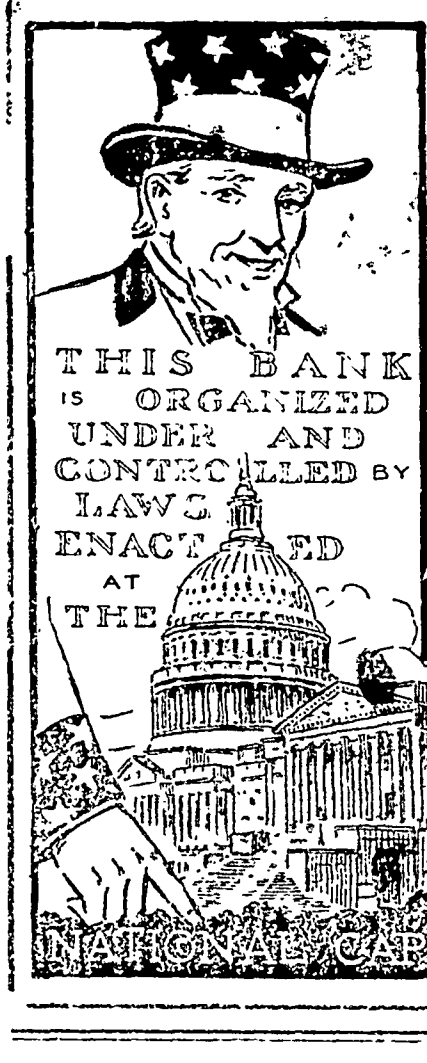
Vincent & Richardson, the hardware men, have put in a new electric operated National cash register. This is said to be one of the finest machines west of the Mississippi river It has six drawers, has a capacity of $999.99, is equipped with a discount button and other features not usually found on cash registers. Vincent & Richardson are always to the front. —Britt News.

Vincent & Richardson are also one of Britt's heaviest advertisers and recently contracted with the News for a half page for every week in the year and are not ashamed to give a good deal of credit for their successful business to advertising. A firm never becomes too well known to not need advertising.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00
Pres - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU.
Cashier - F A. ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits





The Reading Glass Merely Enlarges the Print

Nothing Can Magnify The Importance Of Saving Your Dollars

A Bank Account In Youth Begun Means A Comfortable Old Age Won

KLEMME DRAY LINE

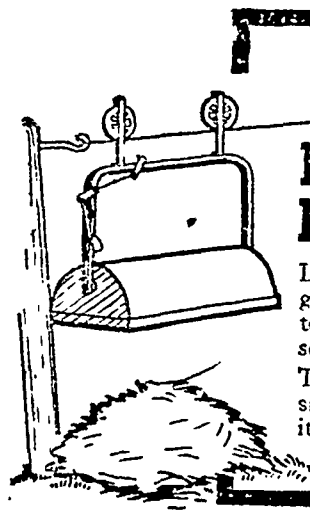
A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurants



Dumps Itself—Comes Back For Another Load

Load the MOYER Litter Carrier—give it a push. It glides easily 50 to 100 feet to your pile—dumps itself and comes back for another load. The MOYER Litter Carrier is a simple, sturdy servant. Will save its cost many times over. Come in and look it over.

30 DAYS' Trial Free

Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

People were less particular in the matter of children's reading 100 years ago. Readers of Dickens will remember that it was on such strong meat as Fieldman and Smollett that the infant mind of David Copperfield was nourished. "My father," writes Dickens, "had left a small collection of books in a little room upstairs, to which I had access (for it adjoined my own) and which nobody else in our house ever troubled. From that blessed little room 'Roderick Random,' 'Peregrine Pickle,' 'The Vicar of Wakefield,' 'Don Quixote,' 'Gil Blas' and 'Robinson Crusoe' came out, a glorious host, to keep me company They kept me company They kept alive my fancy * * * and did me no harm, for whatever harm was in some of them was not there for me, I knew nothing of it."

An Arab who visited New York city is said to have sent this letter home "People in America travel like rats under the ground (meaning the subway), and like squirrels in the air (meaning the elevated railways), and the buildings are so high that people have to be put in square boxes and pulled to the top by heavy ropes (meaning the elevator) In the day the sun furnishes the light the same as in Morocco. At night the light is as strong as the day, but people here do not seem to have much use for sleep, as the streets are just as crowded at night as in the day."

A crowd of small boys was gathered about the entrance of a circus tent in one of the small cities in New Hampshire one day trying to get a glimpse of the interior A man standing near watched them for a few minutes, then walking up to the seat seller, he said Let all the boys in and count them as they pass" The man did as requested and when the last one had gone he turned and said 'Twenty-eight,' "Good said the man, "I guessed just right, and walked off' — St Louis Mirror

Frank Daggett, curator of the museum of Los Angeles county, California, says that he has indulged in a whale hunt in the city of Los Angeles The whale was perhaps 1 000 000 years old and was found by a contractor in cutting down a hill to open a street The contractor didn't know what he had caught but Mr Daggett assured him that it was a giant whale of preglacial times, which had probably been trapped in a shallow bay after an earthquake had shut off its escape to the sea

The saxophone, an instrument that few can get any real music out of, was played to perfection by the three ladies, especially Miss Stella, who played her instrument and accompanied herself on the piano, something rarely seen We heard Will Ritter say that the saxophone playing was fine, and he being a member of a band ought to give his expression some weight — Fayette county (Illinois) Democrat.

Britain's income tax, which the prime minister thinks should be revised, was first imposed in January 1799, by that ingenious financer, Mr Pitt It was submitted to by an indignant nation who got rid of the abomination in three years But Napoleon could not be conquered without it, and it made spasmodic entrances and exits until in 1842 it became a hardy annual Ireland managed to struggle on without it until 1853

A lieutenant of police in Berlin has invented a parachute for aeroplanes which is designed on lines quite different from those which have been heretofore offered, for the parachute surface is operated in connection with the wings of the aeroplane. According to this scheme a large surface of cloth is rolled up and attached to the wings this being released by a lever so as to spread out and allow the flyer to descend to the ground slowly

Lloyds is insuring Englishmen against mumps, which is epidemic in London Those who have already had the disease must pay a premium of $2 50 to obtain the payment of $25 for each week of the next three months during which they might be disabled by a fresh attack Those who have not yet had the mumps must pay $6 25 to obtain the same benefit The whole staff of one large London firm has been insured

Aviation has made rapid strides in Russia, and large numbers of young Russians have taken enthusiastically to flying. In Russia every science and art and trade has its patron saint, but for flying men there was no saint whose good offices might be invoked for the protection of the aviator The difficulty has been solved by canonizing Elijah, who, it will be remembered, flew to heaven in a chariot of fire

Litigation in a London court has revealed the fact that a considerable trade in dogs' teeth has sprung up in the Pacific islands where they are used for currency and ornaments The best tearing and corner teeth for the Pacific trade sell in London for a guinea ($5.25) a hundred

When the Rev Charles P MacGregor, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pittsfield Mass discovered that there were five bachelor reporters on the staff of a local newspaper he said "The first one of you that comes to me to be married this year I will marry free of charge"

Two record loads of logs were recently hauled into Kennebunk, Me one scaling 2,250 feet of lumber and the other 2,400 feet Each load was hauled by a single span of horses, except on hills, where both spans drew up the two loads, one after the other

No American city, says the Scientific American, has a pneumatic tube system (for postal use) comparable with that of Paris or Berlin. The average Parisian "tube letter," it asserts, is delivered in an hour and a quarter after it is posted.

An automobile was built in 11 minutes and put on the road in 19, at a test conducted at a factory in Manchester, England. This beats by six minutes the time made at a similar test in Detroit.

'BEEF SPECIAL' WILL TOUR THIS SECTION; TO CARRY TALKERS

Will Spend One Week in Northwestern Iowa and Instruct at Many Lectures.

Des Moines, Ia., March 16.—The "Beef Special," which is to run over the Milwaukee line will start from Slater on Monday, a week earlier than first announced. Two weeks will be spent on the road and 65 stops will be made with as many lectures. The train will arrive at Slater at 9:30 o'clock next Monday morning and spend the day there. The stops for the rest of the week will be:

Tuesday—Cambridge, Collins, Melbourne, Ferguson, Potter, Tama.

Wednesday—Vining, Keystone, Van Horn, Newhall, Atkins, Covington, Marion.

Thursday — Springville, Anamosa, Monticello, Hopkinton, Delaware, Greeley, Strawberry Point.

Friday—Arlington, Fayette, Hawkeye, Waucoma, Lawler, New Hampton.

Saturday—Bassett, Charles City, Rudd, Nora Springs, Mason City, Clear Lake, Garner.

Night meetings will be held at Marion, Strawberry Point and Garner on the first week out. On Monday, March 23 stops will be made at the following stations

Monday—Britt, Wesley, Hobart, Whittemore, Emmetsburg, Ruthven, Spencer.

Tuesday—Everly, Harley, Sanborn, Sheldon, Hull, Rock Valley.

Wednesday—Webb, Albert City, Fonda, Jolly, Lytton, Sac City, Storm Lake.

Thursday—Rockwell City, Churdan, Jefferson, Cooper, Bagley, Bayard, Coon Rapids.

Friday — Perry, Woodward, Madrid, Granger, Luther

The list of speakers who will make the trip includes Profs. W. J. Kennedy, W. H Pew, J M Evvard, R. F. O'Donnell, C. N Arnett, Dean C. F. Curtiss, of the state college at Ames; Charles Escher, Botna; George H. Burge, Mt Vernon, R. M. Gunn, Buckingham, Howard Vaughn, Marion.

STATE TREASURER ORDERS BURGLAR ALARM SYSTEM

Des Moines, Ia, March 16.—Thousands of concealed wires will guard the vault in the state treasurer's office in the future. The state executive council ordered the installation of a burglar alarm system on the state's strong box.

The system is made up of innumerable wires which are strung about the vault in such a way that when the locks are set it is practically impossible for violence to be used without setting off the alarms. Wires from the vault will lead to a huge gong which probably will be placed over the door of the state house. This bell is guaranteed to sound loud enough to be heard a mile. Another circuit will connect with a gong at the police station, and a third set of wires will connect with a bell to be placed in the engine room of the capitol power house, where there are men on duty during the night

The plan is such that when any wire is cut or tampered with in any way, it will set the gongs to ringing therefore making it impossible for clever crooks to suspend the operation of the system, the manufacturers claim

DENISON WILL INSTALL GYMNASIUM FEATURES

Denison Ia March 16—The Denison schools were among the first in Iowa to place in the course a manual training department and now it is proposed to install gymnasium facilities and an athletic field At the last meeting of the school directors the board was authorized to rent the large opera house soon to be vacated for assembly purposes for a high school gymnasium. Private funds will be contributed for the equipment

With Prof Albert Wiese as coach, the high school has done well with both basketball and football this year A team from this school is at Ames in the northwestern Iowa basketball tournament. The following pupils make up the team, their fitness being determined both on ability to play and high scholarships Leo Collins, Jay Westcott, Carl Kuehnle Burness Bosalough, William McHenry Hugo Saggau, Harry Fred Meyers, John O Conner and Hubert VanNess

WOMAN A WITNESS AS HUSBAND IS SHOT

Iowa City, Ia, March 16.—Mrs Elsie Liniger Hooper, formerly a prominent North Liberty girl, saw her husband killed with his own revolver in an encounter with detectives in Omaha. She had just said goodby to him on the street, telling him she would live with him after he had restored $1,000 which he had obtained by fraud in California and Oklahoma

Some of the circumstances pointed to suicide, but a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death while resisting arrest Hooper told his wife on parting that he would never be captured alive. Two detectives stepped up as he started away. Hooper pulled a revolver and Detective Fleming grappled with him. Hooper's revolver was discharged and he dropped dead The detective said Hooper could have killed him if he had tried

TWO MEN GET AWAY FROM COLFAX LOCKUP

Des Moines Ia March 16 —Two men believed by local officers to be well known criminals, escaped from the Colfax city jail last night by sawing through the bars. They are supposed to have been given outside assistance as a box was found standing under the window out of which the men crawled.

Marshal Morgan of Colfax wired Chief Jenny last night to look out for the men. He stated that they escaped with only shirts and underclothes, but presumably received clothing from their outside assistant.

According to Mr Morgan, the men were each carrying guns and flashlights.

IOWA STATE NEWS.

LOGAN—Checking up the realty transfers of 1914 and comparing the number and prices with the same of last year, S. E. Cox and George P. Berry, recorder and deputy recorder of Harrison county, report the number of realty transfers of last year to be 160, and this year 116, between February 28 and March 10. This year the amount is $835,922 for the time mentioned. Though it is true that the number of transfers are fewer than the number of last year for the same time, yet the prices are in advance of last year. This information is verified by abstract firms and real estate dealers of Logan AUDUBON—Hal Wheeler, aged 21, son of Mrs. James Lee, living near here, committed suicide at noon yesterday at the home of Tom Newell in this county, where young Wheeler had lived for two years. Wheeler shot himself in the forehead. In searching for a motive for the suicide it was found that Wheeler had recently been told that his frequent visits at the home of a young girl near the Newells must cease, and as he had formed a great attachment for the girl it is believed that it was a case of unrequited love.

COUNCI BLUFFS—Rev. Charles W. Savidge, of Omaha, who married James S. Frear to Miss Sally Q. Reeves on the night of December 31, was not surprised when he heard that Frear had been arrested in Marshalltown charged with various crimes. Frear, alias Kemper, gave Rev Mr Savidge a check for $25 as his marriage fee, which check was worthless, says Rev Mr Savidge Mrs. Frear is now at the home of her parents here.

FORT DODGE—John Fitzgerald, a traveling salesman, with headquarters and residence at Des Moines, was ground under the wheels of an Illinois Central passenger train when he started to allight before the train stopped A friend on the train platform tried to dissuade him from attempting to get off but he stepped off, wavered unsteadily for a moment and fell under the wheels

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Night Watchman Fitzgibbons, of Vail, who was gagged and a gunny sack placed over his head by the yeggs who recently attempted to rob the Vail State bank received a postal card from the would-be yeggs, mailed from some town in Minnesota, on which said: "We'll be with you again, Honey, in the honeysuckle time Fitz is hoping they won't

IDA GROVE—Mrs George Rupert, one of the pioneer women of Ida county, died of pneumonia after an illness of four weeks Mrs Rupert was born in Cumberland county Pa in 1849, married there in 1872 and she and her husband came to Ida county in 1880 Her husband died in 1894 She leaves four children, two sons and two daughters.

SAC CITY The school district of Lake View has decided to give the women a chance to direct the management of its school At the annual election on March 9 Mrs. C H Schanck and Mrs Fred Wells were chosen directors to succeed Dr E E. Speaker and William Dean Both of the new directors were formerly teachers in the Lake View school

GRINNELL—The faculty of Grinnell college have selected the four senior students that are to be elected into membership in the Phi Beta Kappa society The four seniors receiving the highest grades during their college course were Chester Camp of Corning Joseph Welch of Primghar Evelyn Miller, of Calmar and Inez Henley, of Grinnell

WOODBINE—Bigler's Grove farmers club held a meeting at the home of J H Watkins four miles west of Woodbine yesterday. Corn judging [illegible] was put on in the morning session In the previous meeting the club members had an Ames graduate to [illegible] and took up live stock judging in the morning session

SAC CITY Two groups of boys representing the Delsarte Literary society and the North Side Y M C A met in Sac City last night to [illegible] question of government ownership of [illegible] The judges decided in favor of the [illegible] from Pleasant Hill Both organizations are maintained by rural communities

EAGLE GROVE—Hezel Doty, a former resident of this section, son of the pioneers of Wright county died at his home in Houston Tex The body will be brought here for burial He was prominent in Masonic circles Also as a politician and lecturer His son Henry Doty resides here

IOWA CITY Dr Henry Morrow, of Iowa City, has been appointed by the state board of control as head dentist of Iowa state institutions, and will have charge of the work for 15,000 inmates. Dr Morrow was formerly on the faculty of Iowa and California universities' dental colleges.

IDA GROVE—At a meeting of the Ida Grove Hose company it was determined to ask the Maple Valley Firemen's association to hold its annual tournament here in June The meeting of the association to determine the matter will be held at Wall Lake this month

CHEROKEE—Lillie Theodora Peterson aged 18, a senior in the Cherokee high school, died yesterday after a three days' illness The cause of her death was measles, grip and typhoid She was the daughter of Mr and Mrs E. A Peterson of Diamond Center township

COUNCIL Bluffs—George Johnson aged 30, a prominent farmer living near Shenandoah, died from injuries received when he went through a bridge with a threshing machine engine and was crushed A broken leg and scalds caused his death Johnson leaves a widow

CHEROKEE—The Cherokee concert band has been formally organized with a membership of 52 pieces Officers elected are as follows: Director, C E Brant, manager D R Goldie secretary-treasurer, W W Reeder, librarian M V Brunson

IDA GROVE—C A Woodworth, of Sioux Falls, S. D was appointed by the board of supervisors of Ida county as county engineer Mr Woodworth will be in charge of important road and bridge work to be done by the county this year.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Bennie Doremus, an inmate of the institution for feeble minded at Glenwood, was struck by Burlington train No. 7 at Mills station, two miles east of Pacific Junction, and instantly killed His mother lives at Boone, Ia.

CHEROKEE—Lieut Sidney E. Maize inspected Company M last evening and reports the local organization in excellent condition and well drilled After the inspection a promenade dance was given by the Cherokee concert band

NICE SUM AWAITS MAN IF HE SHOWS IN NEXT 10 YEARS

Parent of Marshalltown Man Leaves $5,000, to Be Held for Term of Years.

Marshalltown, Ia., March 14.—If William Dobson, formerly of Tama county, happens to put in an appearance within the next 10 years he will find himself possessed of $5,207 and its accumulated interest as a result of the will of his father, the late Sumner Dobson.

William Dobson disappeared some time ago and his whereabouts are not known. Before his father died the parent divided up his property among his 11 children, each share being $5,207.

The will provides that in the event William Dobson does not appear within 10 years or it becomes known to a certainty that he is dead, his share shall go to his son Donald, now 4 years old, when the latter becomes 21. If Donald Dobson does not live to attain his majority the money is to be divided among the other 10 children.

$550 PAID FOR AN IOWA PIG

Councilbluffs, Ia, March 14.—Record prices for the entire country were received at the big sale of Hampshire sows here yesterday afternoon by H. D DeKalb, of DeKalb. The sale was topped at $550, paid for a 2-year-old sow. Sixty-seven head averaged $87.45.

CLARKE PLANNED EXIT BECAUSE OF DISEASE

South Bend, Ind, March 14.—Mrs. Edgar A Ireland, former wife of Horace Greeley Clarke, who during the last 11 years had been living under the name of Harry Harrie, and whose body was found at Cudahy, Wis., is living in South Bend She refuses to talk regarding the case. She married Ireland seven years after her husband's disappearance.

At the time Clarke was supposed to have been drowned by falling overboard from a lake steamer the bride of six months refused to believe he was dead Later, however, she became convinced he was Life insurance for $5,000 was made payable to Clarke's sister, Miss Adelaide Clarke, of Iowa City, Ia

Brother Explains.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—The mystery surrounding the sudden disappearance of Horace Greeley Clarke in Chicago in 1902, today was solved by his brother Earl D Clarke, who explained that the man known as Harry Harrie had planned the "disappearance" because of incurable cancer of the face

"Much that has been written about the case was entirely untrue," said Mr. Clarke. "My brother was a divorced man and was not on his wedding journey when he disappeared Just why he dropped from sight as he did I don't know, but I suppose he felt he had to disappear in some way, as he had become broken hearted over his physical ailment He could not bear to have his friends and relatives see the ravages of disease which reputable physicans frankly told him could only end in death

"After a year he informed other relatives of his whereabouts and the reason for his having dropped from sight. Since then we have been in communication with him. I frequently sent him money and was planning to have him visit me here if he was able to stand the trip. We knew he would die of the disease, but were not expecting his death so soon"

THREE JUDGES TO HEAR CASE OF STERILIZATION

Council Bluffs, Ia, March 14.—Judge Smith McPherson, of the United States district court today announced that Judge Walter I. Smith of Council Bluffs, of the United States circuit court of appeals, District Judge John C Pollock of Kansas City, and himself would officiate at the final hearing in Council Bluffs, March 21, on the appeal of the convicts from the Iowa state penitentiary at Fort Madison from the sterilization law enacted by the last legislature and which was recently ordered by the state board of control of state institutions, should be put into effect

An injunction issued by Judge McPherson acts as a stay in the execution of the law until its legality is passed upon.

CHEROKEE TO SPEND BIG SUM ON METHODIST CHURCH

Cherokee, Ia., March 14.—The new Methodist Episcopal church in Cherokee will be erected on the corner of Eighth and Main streets. It will cost $26,300 and be constructed by C. F. Lender of Cherokee. The main auditorium will seat 500. There will be 15 Sunday school rooms.

In the basement will be a gymnasium, also a large social room and kitchen, and the heating plant. A fine pipe organ, donated by a member of the church, will be installed. The new edifice will be of Grecian design, 81x95 feet in size and will be built with a facing of light colored brick and terra cotta trimmings. The architect is J. C. Fulton of Uniontown, Pa. The old structure has been razed, services now being held in the court house.

WHITE EXPECTS PEACE IN MINERS' WORLD

Des Moines, Ia., March 14.—John P. White, president, of the United Mine Workers of America, addressed the state convention meeting in Des Moines this afternoon.

President White charged that the operators in the nonunion fields are seeking to force a strike in the union fields, and said that the United Mine Workers, in self protection, must organize all the coal fields of the country.

President White said he thought the chances good for a peaceable settlement of the wage scale controversy at the joint conference of operators and mine workers to be held in Chicago next week

CLERKS REPULSED BY DEADLY SNAKE IN BANANA STO

Ames Student Identifies Rep as Most Deadly to Be Fou in North America

Ames, Ia., March 12 —Several [illegible] in the grocery department of a [illegible] department store took chances [illegible] their lives by cutting bananas [illegible] store yesterday. One of the [illegible] cut a dozen bananas from a fresh [illegible] of the fruit that just had been [illegible] up. Another of the clerks went to [illegible] another dozen, and just as he was [illegible]ting the last of the dozen a hea[illegible] snake two feet long, stuck its head [illegible] of the stalk and waved its fangs [illegible] swayed viciously in the air

The bewra is the most deadly poi[illegible]ous snake known in the southern [illegible] of North America, it was said by [illegible] Mexican student in the state col[illegible] who was called to identify the rep[illegible] which was put in a glass jar by [illegible] means of sticks. The student said [illegible] snake is deathly poisonous by tou[illegible]ing any part of its body The st[illegible] will offer the specimen to the zoolo[illegible]ral professors of the state college

THRESHERMEN OBJECT TO SMALL TOWN RULIN

Des Moines, March 12 —Expre[illegible]ing the hope that councilmen in so[illegible] of the smaller towns of the state wo[illegible] "soon learn the requirements of mo[illegible]ern traffic," so that their towns co[illegible] be placed on the "map of enlightme[illegible] I. N. Snook, of West Point presid[illegible] of the Threshermen's Associ[illegible]ation [illegible] Iowa, today indicated his opposit[illegible] to some of the traffic laws which [illegible] declared now prevail in Iowa. T[illegible] president made the traffic question [illegible] most the entire subject of his annu[illegible] address before the convention [illegible] first business session of which is [illegible] progress here today.

President Snook reviewed the pro[illegible]ress of a test case now pending in th[illegible] supreme court, wherein is involved [illegible] question of whether a town council [illegible] forbid the passage of threshing ou[illegible]fits across cement crossings She[illegible] the case be decided against the thresh[illegible]ers. Mr. Snook said, then the next s[illegible] would be to attempt to get re[illegible] through the legislature.

"We represent investments aggre[illegible]ing $200,000,000," said President Snoo[illegible] "Should we be barred from the publ[illegible] roads? When the members of this o[illegible]ganization, who are taxpayers a[illegible] who represent such an enormous a[illegible]gregation of capital, attempt to ca[illegible] on their business legitimately shall [illegible] city council be permitted to tell us t[illegible] have no right to cross their str[illegible] crossings? Do you not see that so[illegible] city councils are discriminating again[illegible] a people who help build up the gene[illegible] welfare of every city in the state? A[illegible] the towns which thus tell us to ke[illegible] off their street crossings with our m[illegible] chines, are getting their support fr[illegible] the very hand they bite.

"The grain that makes the flour t[illegible] feed the universe passes through the[illegible] machines. Its value is almost incu[illegible]culable. In the year 1912, I think it was, we threshed in this state 2[illegible] 469,280 bushels. Think of this amou[illegible] of grain to pass into the markets of the world to bring back rich bank a[illegible] counts to Iowa and contrast it wi[illegible] the fact that the thresher must p[illegible] tolls in the way of police court fine[illegible] if he dares cross with his machine [illegible] what is known as a cement crossing [illegible] some of the smaller towns of the sta[illegible] Some of the towns are wide awa[illegible] and appreciate the requirements [illegible] modern traffic; others need to [illegible] awakened."

IOWA SCHOOL ELECTIONS.

SAC CITY—D. H. Hallett was re[illegible] elected, Harry McKean was chosen [illegible] succeed S. E. Humphries and L. [illegible] Wayt was elected to succeed Dr. W. [illegible] Findley.

SPENCER—Wirt Bronson receive[illegible] 395 votes, the largest of any candi[illegible] date. The others finished as follows: [illegible] J. R. McKee, 367, and M. E DeWo[illegible] 241. William Flindt, for treasurer re[illegible] ceived 325 votes.

MASON CITY—At the hottest schoo[illegible] election in the city's history, 1,384 m[illegible] voting, R. W. Barclay, Mrs. Eleanor [illegible] Stockman, and F. H. Cotton we[illegible] elected directors on the platform op[illegible] posed to Supt. H. M. Gilmore and th[illegible] present administration of schools. T[illegible] smallest plurality, that of Mrs. Stock[illegible] man, was 250. Bond issues aggrega[illegible] ing $65,000 for the purchase of add[illegible] tional school sites were defeated near[illegible] three to one, and the tax levy for su[illegible] pervised playgrounds also was bad[illegible] defeated.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Stymest Ste[illegible] enson and Dr. Earl Bellinger we[illegible] elected to the school board yesterda[illegible]

NEW HAMPTON—Five hundr[illegible] and sixty votes were cast. Three di[illegible] rectors were elected: W. G. Shaff[illegible] Chas. Gray and F. B. Strike. G. [illegible] Bigelow was chosen treasurer

DENISON—Albert Helsley and N [illegible] Hunt, the old members, were re-elect[illegible] by large majorities. Helsley receive[illegible] 321 votes, Hunt 291 and Mr Schlun[illegible] berger 101.

LE MARS—E. A. Dalton and Wil[illegible] iam Carel were re-elected school di[illegible] rectors without any opposition.

MISSOURI VALLEY PLANS MANY BIG IMPROVEMENT

Missouri Valley, March 12.—Mayor [illegible] C. Prather and other city officials [illegible] co-operation with citizens of Missou[illegible] Valley are planning extensive improve[illegible] ments here for the coming season.

In the near future they will doubt[illegible] less award the contract for 24,3[illegible] square yards of paving, 1,736 linea[illegible] feet of headers and 8,020 linear feet [illegible] curbs at an approximate cost of $50,0[illegible] to $70,000 depending upon the kind [illegible] material and the plan. In additio[illegible] there will be curb and gutter improve[illegible] ments with an approximate cost [illegible] $15,000.

Last season curb and gutter im[illegible] provements cost Missouri Valley abou[illegible] $18,000 and 65 per cent of this amoun[illegible] was met by cash payment, and th[illegible] people here are so well pleased wi[illegible] the improvement that they have de[illegible] cided to push the work with vigor dur[illegible] ing the coming season

A WINNING CHAMPIONSHIPS IN AGRICULTURE

Latest Is Winning Championship for Oats a Third Time.

ly was published the fact of le winnings by Canadian in several events during the e or four years. The latest f Messrs. J. C. Hill & Sons minster, Saskatchewan, who a hard contest for the oat nship over Montana At the Corn Exposition at Dallas ebruary, Montana oats were the championship for the tates. Waiting for the win- this to be announced was a oats belonging to the Ca- rowers above mentioned, and of these was a like quantity to a Minnesota grower, who red from the regular compe- cause he was at one time the f the trophy—the prize. The tries were side by side on the bench. It would not be pos- bring together three more amples. The Montana and hewan entries were of equal 50 pounds to the bushel. The ta sample was some three lighter. The award was us in favor of the Saskatche- . A remarkable feature and tly to the credit of the Ca- product was that the oats, 1913, were grown and shown e who had competed during two years, winning on each . This, the third winning, em for the third time the championship and full posses- the splendid $1,500 silver contributed by the state of .

ats which have thus given to Canada another splendid ad- card, were grown 300 miles f the international boundary oving that in this latitude, all ller grains can be grown with perfection and with more t yield than further south. In country are to be found farm- o produce oats running from 8 pounds to the bushel, and ields of from 60 to 100 bush- acre. Wheat also does well, high, and yields from 30 to 40 per acre. The same may be f any portion of Manitoba, hewan and Alberta, famed e world not only as a country championship grains are grown, ere cattle and horses are raised o carry off championships and wild grasses are abundant , cultivated hay and alfalfa wn, thus giving plenty of feed, ith a good climate, sufficient and plenty of water, bring results such as western Canada en able to record. Thousands mers from the United States ve their homes in Canada bear testimony to the benefits they derived from farming in west- anada.—Advertisement.

Raised the Limit.

was a stranger in the town, and on a late train. The cigar in the little hotel was locked e night, so he went out on the where he found an idler lean- gainst a post.

n you tell me," asked the strang- where I can get a cigar in this at this time of night?"

hy, sure!" exclaimed the citizen, htening up. "I know where you et two cigars!"—Lippincott's.

CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

Rev. Edmund Heslop of Wig- a., suffered from Dropsy for a His limbs and feet were swol- d puffed. He had heart flutter- ing, was dizzy and exhausted at the least exer- tion. Hands and feet were cold and he had such a dragging sensa- tion across the loins that it was difficult to move. After using 5 boxes of Dodds y Pills the swelling disappear- d he felt himself again. He says s been benefited and blessed by se of Dodds Kidney Pills. Sev- months later he wrote: I have hanged my faith in your emedy the above statement was author- Correspond with Rev. E. Hes- bout this wonderful remedy. dds Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at dealer or Dodds Medicine Co., lo, N. Y. Write for Household , also music of National Anthem lish and German words) and re- for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free.

. E. Heslop.

Good Understanding.

s. Swoops—Dear, would you ob- if I wore a slit skirt?

Swoops—No, indeed; I'm proud

LATEST DECISION GIVES LOW RATES TO INTERIOR IOWA

Washington, March 16.—In a decision just handed down by the Interstate Commerce commission, the proportional class rates from Mississippi river crossings to interior Iowa stations are reduced from 10 to 33 per cent on first class traffic. Reductions as a rule are smaller for the lower classifications. Missouri river points are not materially affected.

On traffic to interior Iowa points, proportionals are added to the rates at the Mississippi river in order to make the rates to such interior Iowa points. In the past, on this traffic, the eastern territory has been divided into 10 different groups and a different proportional used for each group. This led to much confusion and inconsistency. The commission has now established one set of proportionals applicable to all eastern traffic. The following comparison for five Iowa cities shows the difference between the old proportional and the new schedule which goes into effect March 1.

"For Des Moines the new proportional on first class traffic will be 34.8 cents, which is 3.3 cents less than the average now existing, and 6.2 cents less than the highest now existing.

"For Cedar Rapids the new proportional on first class will be 22.8 cents, which is 6.7 cents less than the average today and 10 cents less than the highest today.

"For Ottumwa the new proportional, 23.6 cents will be 5.7 cents less than the average, and 8.9 cents less than the highest today.

"For Waterloo, the new proportional, 25.6 cents, will be 9.2 cents less than the average today, and 12.9 cents less than the highest today.

"For Storm Lake, the new proportional is 50 cents, which is 5 cents less than the average today."

These orders by the commission cause a revision in the freight rates on over 8,000 articles, between over 1,000 towns in Iowa and several thousand in New York and other states east of Illinois, the western three-fourths of Nebraska and Kansas, Colorado, Utah and a few points in Wyoming and New Mexico. The eastern rates go into effect March 1, western rates April 1. Very few decisions by the commission are on such a large scale, affecting so many articles, and such a large number of cities. Mr. McCain, chairman of the Trunk Line association, referring to our Mississippi river case, pronounces it the most radical modification of the percentage system of rates existing between the Mississippi and the Atlantic coast that has ever been made by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Commenting on the new schedule Clifford Thorne of the Iowa Railroad commission, said:

"This closes a contest that has extended over a period of several years. Four years ago I started my campaign for state railroad commissioner, with this as my issue—that the state commission should secure a general revision of Iowa interstate freight rates. Up to that time, no department of the state government had successfully prosecuted an interstate rate case. Within 60 days, after I made my announcement, one prominent commercial organization filed a petition asking the state railroad commission to commence such a case on traffic from the east to interior Iowa cities. Other commercial bodies on the Mississippi river made a similar request for the river cities. In compliance with these petitions the state railroad commission commenced these cases but soon found they had no money to get ready for trial. The cases dragged along till the legislature made an appropriation. Then work began in earnest, several hundred exhibits were prepared, traffic men of the various cities and of the state commission, the commerce counsel and the attorney general, rendered invaluable service. A score of prominent business men in different parts of the state gave the cases constant attention and much valuable time.

"The decisions were rendered last summer, directing the carriers to revise their schedules in accordance with certain principles laid down by the commission. This they attempted to do, but we were not satisfied with much that they did. We accepted the rates proposed by the railroads from the Atlantic coast. The Interstate Commerce commission itself prepared a new schedule of rates differing from those prepared by the railroads from intermediate territory, including Ohio, western Pennsylvania, western New York, Indiana and Michigan.

"The commission has accepted the proportionals, west of the Mississippi, proposed by the roads. The commission prepared a new schedule from Chicago to Iowa points. The commission adopted the schedule prepared at its suggestion by the Iowa commission from and to Colorado, Utah, and a few points in Wyoming and New Mexico. The commission itself prepared a new distance schedule, between Iowa and Kansas and Nebraska. We have not secured all we asked for, but we have taken a long step in the right direction. The reductions are large in thousands of instances. We have won a great victory. These cases dealt chiefly with class rates. A few commodities will have to be lined up in the future. Then changes are constantly proposed by the railroads that must be watched. These run into the thousands every year."

Mr. Thorne said what had been secured must be carefully guarded, but the great task was practically over. He predicted this general revision of interstate rates, made for the first time in the history of Iowa, would mark the beginning of a new industrial era for the state.

A table prepared by the commission shows the present proportional for the high group in eastern territory, the present proportional for the low group in eastern territory, the average of the present proportionals and the new, or proposed proportionals. The showing in this table follows, as applied to towns in various sections of the state: Marks swore on the stand that she had dealt out a set of cards and had predicted the rosiness of his future through them. Judge H. F. Sims did not take the woman's testimony.

PROPOSED CLASS RATES FROM MISSIPPI RIVER CROSSINGS TO IOWA STATIONS.

ALGONA

Classes—	1	2	3	4	5	A	B	C	D	E
High group	55	41	32	24	20	22	18	15	12	10
Low group	53	41	32	22	18	22	17 5	14	11	9
Average 10 groups	54 6	40 9	32	23 7	19 8	22	17 9	14 9	11.9	9.9
PROPOSED	46 8	35 1	26 1	21 5	16 9	18 9	15 4	13 3	11.4	9.9

CEDAR RAPIDS

Classes—	1	2	3	4	5	A	B	C	D	E
High group	32 8	26 6	22 5	18 9	12 5	14.1	13	12	10	7
Low group	25 8	24	19 5	14 4	10 6	10 6	10 6	9 6	8.7	7.8
Average 10 groups	29 5	27 6	22 9	17 1	11 6	12 9	11.9	10 8	9.3	6.8
PROPOSED	22 8	19 7	11 9	11 4	8 3	8 4	8 3	7 2	6.2	5.2

CARROLL

Classes—	1	2	3	4	5	A	B	C	D	E
High group	55	41	32	24	19	22	18	16	12	10
Low group	52	39	32	24	20	21 5	18	16	12	10
Average 10 groups	54	40 8	32	23 4	19 6	21 9	18	14 9	11 9	9 7
PROPOSED	50	37 1	27 5	22 8	18 1	20 2	16 2	14	12	10

DES MOINES

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4	5	A.	B.	C	D.	E.
High group	41.	34 5	30	23	14 6	17 5	16.	14 5	11.5	9.
Low group	35	29	23	17 5	12.5	15.	12.	10 5	7.5	4.5
Average 10 groups	38.1	31.4	25.9	19 8	13 8	16.2	14.1	12 5	10.	7.5
PROPOSED	34 8	27 8	20.9	16 6	12 6	13 8	11.9	10.4	8.9	7.6

FORT DODGE

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4	5	A	B.	C.	D	E.
High group	54	41	32	24	20	22	18	16.	12.	10.
Low group	47.	37 5	29 5	22	17	19 5	16.	14	11.	7.
Average 10 groups	50 6	39 8	31.4	23 7	18.7	21 1	17 6	14.9	11.9	9.6
PROPOSED	41 2	31 7	23 7	19 3	14.9	16 5	13 8	11 9	10 2	8.8

MARSHALLTOWN.

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4	5.	A.	B.	C	D.	E.
High group	41.	34.5	30.	23	14.	17.	16.	14.5	11.5	6.9
Low group	35.	29.	23.	17 5	12.6	15.	12.	10.	7 5	4.5
Average 10 groups	38.1	30 4	25.7	19 8	12.9	15.7	13.9	12 5	10.	7.5
PROPOSED	34.	27.3	20 5	16 3	12 3	13 5	11 7	10 2	8 7	7 4

MASON CITY.

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	A	B.	C.	D	E.
High group	50.	41.	32.	23.	17.	21.	17.	15.	12	10.
Low group	43.	35.5	28.	18.	14.	18.	14.	11.	8	6.
Average 10 groups	46.1	37.8	30.6	20 6	15.7	19.1	15 7	13.8	10.9	9.
PROPOSED	38.	29.7	22 3	18.	13.7	15.2	12 8	11 2	9 5	8.2

SIOUX RAPIDS.

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	A.	B.	C.	D	E.
High group	55	41.	32.	24	20.	22.	18.	15.	12	10.
Low group	55.	41.	32.	24.	20	22	18	16	11 5	9.
Average 10 groups	55.	41.	32.	24.	20.	22	18	16	12	9 9
PROPOSED	55.	41.	31.	24.	20.	22	18	15.	12.	10.

STORM LAKE.

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	A.	B	C	D	E.
High group	55.	41.	32	24	20.	22	18	16.	12	10.
Low group	55.	41.	32.	24.	20.	22.	18.	15	11 5	9.
Average 10 groups.	55.	41.	32	24	20	22.	18	15.	11 9	9.9
PROPOSED	50.	37 1	27 5	22 8	18 1	20 2	16.2	14.	12	10.

WATERLOO.

Classes—	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	A	B.	C.	D	E.
High group	38.5	34 5	30	23.	14.	17	16	14 5	11 5	9.
Low group	31.5	28	22 5	17	11.5	13	11 5	10.	7.	4.5
Average 10 groups	34.3	30.6	25 5	18 3	12 5	14 7	13.5	12	9 8	7.4
PROPOSED	25.6	22	16 7	12 8	9 3	9.8	9 2	8.1	6.9	5.7

UNCLAIMED ISLANDS BECOMING VALUABLE

Christiana, March 14.—The arctic islands of Spitzbergen, unclaimed and almost uninhabited, the resort of whalers and walrus hunters and the only place within the arctic circle visited by tourists, are this summer to engage the attention of the powers, including the United States, in an effort officially to declare them neutral and provide for their policing during the summer months, when lawlessness on the part of the crews of visiting whalers and seal hunters has been increasing.

No power ever has made a serious claim to Spitzbergen, the mountainous islands north of Norway and northeast of Greenland having been regarded as almost valueless. But the discovery of coal, which is being worked principally by American capital, has completely changed the outlook, and incidentally brought the United States into the group of powers whose voices are to be heard concerning the future of the [illegible]

[illegible] international conferences will be held [illegible] July. Early in June representatives of Russia, Sweden and Norway will meet at Christiana to draw up proposals to be submitted to the general conference to be held two weeks later.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR CHICAGO INTER-OCEAN

Chicago, March 14.—Herman H. Kohlsaat, president of the Inter-Ocean Newspaper company, has been appointed receiver for the Inter-Ocean by George A. Carpenter, federal judge.

Chancery proceedings were started by the Lake Superior Paper company, which alleged that because of defalcation a receiver was necessary to conserve the property and preserve its good will as a going concern.

Shortly after the appointment of Mr. Kohlsaat a bill was filed in the state courts by the Central Trust company asking that a receiver be appointed.

These activities followed the filing of a suit yesterday by George Wheeler Hinman, president of Marietta college, former owner of the paper, against Mr. Kohlsaat for the recovery of an alleged unpaid balance of $96,262 on a note for $177,500 given by Mr. Kohlsaat in part payment for the paper.

Mr. Kohlsaat said the paper would continue to be published. He asserted the application for a receiver was a result of complications growing out of litigation regarding the revaluation of the lease of the ground occupied by the paper.

PROPOSED REPEAL OF TOLLS LAW ATTACKED

Minority Members of Committee Assail Policy of President Wilson.

Washington, March 15.—Vigorous denunciation of the Sims' bill, which he characterized as a notice to the world that the United States abandoned its policy of an American controlled Panama canal and virtually surrendered its power to regulate its commerce because of the new "peace at any price policy" featured a minority report to the House today by Representative Knowland, of California, against repeal of the tolls exemption clause of the Panama canal act.

The interstate commerce committee, of which Mr. Knowland is a member, has favorably reported the Sims bill, proposing a flat repeal. The Knowland minority report said in part:

"A situaton unparalleled and unprecedented in history now confronts this nation. The passage of the bill would give a British interpretation to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and thus surrender for all time rights vitally affecting this nation, commercially, strategically and politically.

"Thousands of patriotic American citizens insist that we can not maintain our national honor in the present controversy if we abjectly surrender every American right at Panama. The history of this country would have been less glorious had we failed to urge our contentions even when fully convinced of our right. When the Venezuela question stirred the nation, it was a mistake to this new 'peace at any price' policy for President Grover Cleveland to have declared in a message that commanded the respect of the world.

"'Today the United States is practically sovereign on this continent and its fiat is law on the subjects to which it confines its interposition.'"

The report warned the interstate commerce committee and members of the House that by the provisions of the Sims bill it would forever foreclose the right of the United States to pass through the canal without payment of tolls, either battleships, revenue cutters, colliers, transports or other government owned craft.

MILITANTS WRECK HOME OF M'KENNA

London, March 16.—A detachment of militant suffragets armed with hatchets and hammers smashed every pane of glass on the ground floor of the residence of Reginald McKenna, home secretary, in Smith square, Westminster today. The six women arrived in the square in an automobile and took by surprise the policemen who keep continual guard over the homes of the state ministers. All of those who took part in the attack were arrested, however as they were leaving. Mr. McKenna left town for the week end yesterday.

The six women gave false names. They were later arraigned at Westminster police court and each sentenced to two months imprisonment with hard labor. The policeman who has been on guard at Mr. McKenna's residence testified that the women "crept stealthily in Indian file along the side of the wall and then made a rush for the windows."

One of the prisoners who gave the name "Boadicea," said in court:

"I wouldn't have given much for him (Mr. McKenna) if we had got inside."

Another woman said:

"It is a lucky thing for you we do not shoot."

All the women pleaded guilty and said they had been driven to break Mr. McKenna's windows by "the great brutality shown to our beloved leader."

The magistrate in passing sentence, said he had never heard a sadder or more deplorable story than that which had been told to the court.

"Rot'" exclaimed one of the women.

MRS. PANKHURST STARVES WAY OUT OF JAIL AGAIN

London, March 16.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffraget leader, was again released from Holloway jail today. She had started a "hunger and thirst strike" immediately after her arrest on Sunday night at Glasgow and was weak and exhausted.

A demonstration had been arranged by the militant suffragets outside of the prison, but this failed owing to the secrecy with which Mrs. Pankhurst was removed in a taxicab to a nursing home.

Suffragists have charged the police with brutal treatment of the militant leader at the time of her arrest in Scotland. Mrs. Pankhurst fell during the scrimmage and the militant newspaper said the police threw her bodily into a cab where they allowed her to lie on the floor while they sat on the seats insulting her. An investigation is being made.

TENNIS CLUB BURNED.

Birmingham, England, March 16.—A militant suffraget "arson squad" set the torch to the Tennis club house and grandstand at the Olton club five miles from this city early today. The building was burned to the ground.

SCARED STUDENT STARTLES CROWD

Cries Nearly Start Panic Causing One Man to Leap Into Ash Barrel.

Boston, Mass., March 16.—An audience of 600, at a Glee club concert, at Boston university, was thrown into excitement, last night, when cries for help were heard from the library adjoining. Thinking the library was afire, the Rev. Dr. Kendall McLean leaped from a second-story window. He fell into an ash barrel and came out dirty, but uninjured. Several women fainted.

When order was restored, it was found that the cries came from a student, who had become so occupied with his reading, at the library, that he did not hear the closing bell and became alarmed when the lights went out.

LOSING HOPE WOMAN VERY ILL

Finally Restored To Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bellevue, Ohio.—"I was in a terrible state before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back ached until I thought it would break, I had pains all over me, nervous feelings and periodic troubles. I was very weak and run down and was losing hope of ever being well and strong. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I improved rapidly and today am a well woman. I cannot tell you how happy I feel and I cannot say too much for your Compound. Would not be without it in the house if it cost three times the amount."—Mrs. CHAS. CHAPMAN, R. F. D. No. 7, Bellevue, Ohio.

Woman's Precious Gift.

The one which she should most zealously guard, is her health, but it is the one most often neglected, until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected such women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

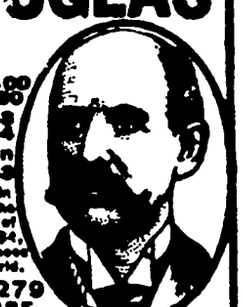
If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Men's $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50 $4.00 $4.50

Women's $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50

Misses, Boys, Children $1.50 $1.75 $2 $2.50



Began Business in 1876; now the largest maker of $3, $3.50, $4, and $4.50 shoes in the world.

$1,006,279 INCREASE in the sales of W. L. Douglas shoes in 1913 over 1912.

This is the reason we give you the same values for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 notwithstanding the enormous increase in the cost of leather. Our standards have not been lowered and the price to you remains the same.

Ask your dealer to show you the kind of W. L. Douglas shoes he is selling for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50. You will then be convinced that W. L. Douglas shoes are absolutely as good as other makes sold at higher prices. The only difference is the price.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

None genuine without W. L. Douglas' name stamped on the bottom. If W. L. Douglas shoes are not for sale in your vicinity, order direct from factory. Shoes for every member of the family at all prices, postage free. Write for illustrated catalog showing how to order by mail. W. L. DOUGLAS, 210 Spark Street, Brockton, Mass.

Your Liver Is Clogged Up

That's Why You're Tired—Out of Sorts—Have No Appetite.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will put you right in a few days. They do their duty. Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion and Sick Headache.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS

If you feel 'OUT OF SORTS' 'RUN DOWN' 'GOT the BLUES' SUFFER from KIDNEY, BLADDER, NERVOUS DISEASES, CHRONIC WEAKNESS, ULCERS, SKIN ERUPTIONS, PILES, write for FREE CLOTH BOUND MEDICAL BOOK ON these diseases and WONDERFUL CURES effected by THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY No. 1 No. 2 No. 3 THERAPION and decide for yourself if it is the remedy for YOUR OWN ailment. Absolutely FREE. No 'follow up' circulars. No obligations. DR. LECLERC MED. CO., HAVERSTOCK RD. HAMPSTEAD, LONDON ENG. WE WANT TO PROVE THERAPION WILL CURE YOU.

Guaranteed Everbearing Strawberries

40 ACRES solid to Superb, Progressive, Americus and other best everbearers. Get acquainted offer for testing. Send us 10c for mailing expense, and we will send you 6 high quality everbearing plants (worth $1) and guarantee them to fruit all summer and fall, or money refunded. Catalogue with history FREE if you write today.

THE GARDNER NURSERY CO. Box 174 OSAGE, IOWA

Readers of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

FOR ALL EYE PAINS Peffle's Eye Salve

PISO'S REMEDY Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists. CURES COUGHS AND COLDS

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914. And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E Baumgartner.

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary.

Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries.

G. G. Washburn.

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J D. G Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.

Martin Bachman.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.

A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June. 1914, Republican primaries.

I. C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole.

"Literary Convulsions"

Being a Series of Dementia Hullucinations Reported Semi-Ocasionally for this paper by ERNEST C. FOSTER

COPYRIGHT 1914 BY THE FOSTER SERVICE

DOMESTICS

Domestics are female tories of the China factories, smuggled into unsuspecting homes as servants.

A domestic can show more carelessness with a piece of cut glass than a fool can with a gun that isn't loaded. They have long been suspected, too, of plain clothes rusionists of the light, heat and power companies, as they have less concern about the high cost of living than a leading lady has of her subordinates in the chorus.

In cities, these promoters of bankruptcy are useful, not alone in keeping the police awake and well-fed, but in assuring the citizens one of these otherwise elusive arms of the law is contiguous to their property every night after ten o'clock, and that if any one wishes to rob their home he must first agree not to molest the kitchen.

There was a time, so our ancestors tell us when the life of a domestic was not one of ease. They were then brought into homes with the distinct understanding that their headquarters was the fourth room back, and that their entertainment was to be extracted from the broom and wash-tub, the piano and parlor being reserved for the mistress of the house. No one, however, gives full credence to this.

There are, though, even now some off-brand domestics who are very kind to their mistresses. It is said these often ask off not more than four or five days a week, and in some instances even offer to take care of the children should the mistress wish to step out for an hour or two.

But the life of a twentieth century domestic is not all glory. She is expected to be able to adore almost everything over which she reigns, even to the dog and the cat, but such adoration must never be permitted to drift toward the paternal portion of her realm.

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

OF A LOCAL NATURE

Mr. and Mrs A. F. Keraus who have been making their home here all winter with their daughter, Mrs T. F. Mitchell, left for their South Dakota home Monday.

Mrs. E M. Pavey came up from Mt. Auburn last week to visit her son, W. F., and to assist in caring for that new grandson. She will return home this evening

Miss Edna Suckow came home last week from Cedar Falls, where she is attending school at the State Teachers' College for a few days' visit at the parental home.

C. W. Wiles and John Josten made a deal last week whereby Mr. Wiles becomes the owner of the millinery shop building and Mr. Joster the owner of a Minnesota farm.

The statement of the condition of the First National Bank as per the call March 4th will be found in this issue and shows a handsome growth in business over the last call.

H. L. Suckow and son, John, returned Friday from Des Moines, where they had been taking in the auto show and visiting Carl, who is attending school at Highland Park.

Editor Magner, of the Klemme Times, was in Belmond between trains Monday. Mike is a hustling newspaper man and is giving Klemme the best paper that burg ever had.—Iowa Valley press.

Dr. R W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves", consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you.

Cecil Bradfield, of Dows, was here Monday visiting his sister, Mrs. M M. Magner. He recently dropped a plank on the great toe of his left foot and is now limping around with a broken toe.

The petition calling for an election on the consolidated school question is being circulated in the rural communities and is being taken very favorably in certain localities at least.

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our and new customers, we don't like to see a single go estray away to another town and think of buying goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts in price. You will not sell a [illegible] at $100.00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery that We Sell. Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other [illegible] cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell [illegible] Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the Best Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date. Also Island, Hayes, Sattley and the J. D. Tower goods Five kinds of line Engines, Letz Grinders, Aarrows, Acme Harvesters, Mowers, Rakes. The new Advance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers, Dr. Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles.

Call and See Us at our Old Shack,

HENRY LAU & SON

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surgeon

Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA;

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.

Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

W. F. MISSMAN

Physician and Surgeon

Office Phone No. 11-02
Residence No. 11-03
Office and residence in the State Sav. Bank building.

Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

J. E. BAUMGARTNER

The Tonsorial Artist

Will give you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.

2nd door west of State Savings Bank

Call in

Take Notice

CORN Belt Farm Land in Minnesota from $35.00 to $90.00 per acre. Easy terms Write,

W. H. Wolle, Belmond, Iowa

IF YOUR LIGHT SU[illegible]

are begrimmed with S[illegible] it would be

A Most Suitable [illegible]

Ladies and Gentlemen, bring them here for

CLEANING and PRESSI[illegible]

which we will do in a manner and at a price which will suit you

At your service

Garner Dress [illegible]

GARNER, IOWA

Dean's

Make the Clothes That Make the Man

Our Leader Blue Serge to your measure $18.00

For Strictly Tailor-Made Clothes, the Biggest Bargains of the year, send for our catalogue and we know you will be a customer for life.

Many styles and a large variety of materials to select from, which are shown in our new booklet.

Write us at once and it will be forwarded to you.

We bring Smart, Correct Tailoring to your door.

Dean's Clothes Shop

Mallers Building, Chicago

Kindly Mention Your Local Paper

ng

inery

ping

ve a great many w Spring Hats each ing the hand of a esigner in Originalewness.
ail to See Them.

John Josten

R. PARSONS
ENTIST
er State Savings Bank.
Phone No. 48.
mme - Iowa

low F. A. Bredlow
Bredlow & Son
Breeders of Pure Bred
-Horn Cattle
g Breeding Stock
e.
Garner, Iowa

d and Gravel
0 cents per load, cash,
in 30 days, after
60cts per load, All
nounts strictly cash.
nry Griffen,
Klemme, Iowa.

r Special!

just received a car

EN CREAM FLOUR

y of my customers
ed of any flour I pleased to have l and try a sack.
r is fully guaran-
if it proves unsat-bring back what left and we will our money.

l Prices on 5 and 10
, and will also give with that amount.

S. F. BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 54
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8 10
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

E. H. Schuldt was at Garner, Friday,

See A F. Hubbard for garden plowing.

George Ell was up from Belmond, Monday.

Fred Wilkins was a Garner visitor, Saturday.

Ed. Ell was a Mason City visitor, last Thursday.

J. E. Baumgartner was a Dows business visitor, Friday.

If you wish your garden plowed see A. F. Hubbard.

John Josten was transacting business at Goodell, Friday.

Lew Lewis was transacting business at Garner, Saturday.

M. M. Magner transacted business at Garner, Monday.

Mrs. W. R. Bloom was visiting Belmond friends, Tuesday.

Mrs. Philip Ell returned to her home at Mason City, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirkwood were Belmond visitors, Wednesday.

Chas. Papousik was an over-Sunday visitor with his parents in Garner.

A. F. Hubbard will plow your garden and do the work promptly and well.

P. M. Greisemer and Dr. Parsons were over-Sunday visitors at Mason City.

John Johnson and Iver Arvidson were transacting business at Garner, Tuesday.

C. W. Wiles is busy unpacking and arranging the stock for his hardware store.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Pabst and baby visited Belmond relatives and friends over Sunday.

FOR SALE.—Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles.

C. A. Arnold shipped one of his fine Duroc Jersey hogs to F. C. Geitz, at Belmond, Friday.

Tom Hamilton and wife were up from Goodell, Friday afternoon visiting at the C. W. Wiles home.

C. E. Gibbs returned Friday from a business visit at Melba, Marshalltown and other Iowa points.

Owing to a large amount of advertising this week there is not much space left for reading matter.

W. L. Sherwood, Dave Moser and Frank Rhodes attended the auto show at Des Moines last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keraus are rejoicing over the safe arrival of a fine baby boy since last Friday evening.

Miss Anna Lijenburg came down from her home at Thompson, Saturday, for a visit at the G. W. Klackhohn home.

Mrs. John Greutzmacher and daughter, Miss Hulda, and Mrs. George Gruetzmacher were Garner visitors, Wednesday.

E. C. Waddingham is preparing to open up his dry cleaning establishment this week. We hope that he meets with success.

WANTED.—Local agent to represent us in the sale of North Dakota Farms.--Dennstedt Land Co., 504 Putnam Bldg., Davenport, Iowa.

Mrs. Dr P. L. Parsons returned to her home at Traer, Saturday, after having some dental work done by her brother-in-law, Dr. L. R Parsons.

TOM ELDER
—THE—
"HOTEL MAN"

Chemical Dry Cleaner
Men's and Ladies'
Clothes Cleaned and Pressed.
Gloves & Furs Cleaned
Orders taken for Suits.
E. C. Waddingham
KLEMME, IOWA

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
March 21st.
"The Road To Ruin."
"Express C. O. D."
"A Study in Sociology."

Admission: 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Monarch
MALLEABLE
The Very Satisfactory Range

Make Your Cooking a Daily Pleasure

Uncle Sam Is A Careful Buyer

When the government sets out to equip any one of its numerous branches of service, its agents must be assured that an article will give service—will prove itself a money saver in the long run and, last but not least, save time and labor. In various branches of government service, after being subjected to the most rigid tests and careful examinations, the choice of a range has been the

MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE

as being the best fitted to stand the severe test of service.

What will serve the exacting purposes of Uncle Sam and the rigid examination of his agents, will bear your careful consideration.

Granite Ware Free

We have just stocked an excellent line of granite ware and in order to introduce it to our patrons we will give one piece free with every piece purchased at the regular price. Here's a bargain you should not miss.

WE SELL THE Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

C. W. WILES
THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

NOW IS THE TIME
TO DO YOUR SEWING

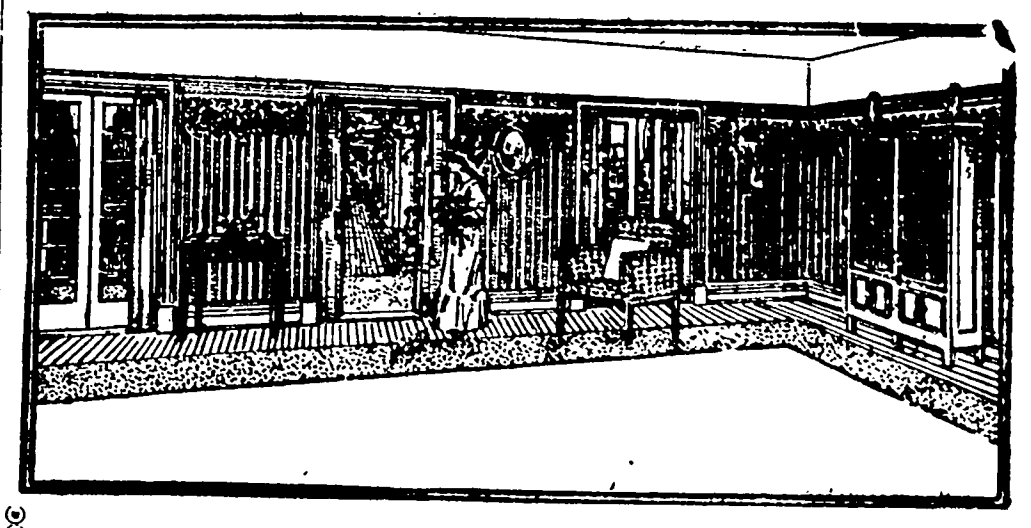
and this is the place to buy your goods. The store with one price and that the Lowest. We are busy unpacking Spring Goods and can show you a nice line of Messaline, Silks, Crepes, Ratines, Voiles, and Ginghams, Also Laces and Embroidery at prices that will please you.

Remember we carry the celebrated ALBERTA CORSET and have one to fit you. Be sure to call for the Alberta—the brand that speaks for itself.

Clean, Fresh Groceries Always On Hand.

Call In And See Us

J. N. DAY
The General Merchandise Store



WALL PAPER

On entering a beautiful home your first impression is the decoration.

The matter of decoration and beautifying your home becomes easy after an inspection of our complete line of newest creations in Wall Paper.

PRICES RIGHT

G. A. PABST, DRUGGIST

MAKES HARD WORK HARDER

A bad back makes a day's work twice as hard. Backache usually comes from weak kidneys, and if headaches, dizziness or urinary disorders are added, don't wait—get help before the kidney disease takes a grip—before dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease sets in. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought new life and new strength to thousands of working men and women. Used and recommended the world over.

A CALIFORNIA CASE

Louis C. Wardwell, 1550 Pacific St., San Bernardino, Cal., says: "I had so much pain in my back I could hardly get off and on the wagon. The jarring I got while riding brought on the trouble. The kidney secretions were filled with sediment. I tried many remedies, but Doan's Kidney Pills were the only one that cured me. They drove away all the pain and lameness and fixed my kidneys up in good shape."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a speedy, reliable remedy for lameness in horses and farm stock. Here's proof.

Lameness Gone

"I had a horse sprain his shoulder by pulling, and he was so lame he could not carry foot at all. I got a bottle of your Liniment and put it on four times, and in three days he showed no lameness at all, and made a thirty mile trip besides."—Walter B. Alorsford, La Salle, Col.

For Splint and Thrush

"I have used Sloan's Liniment on a fine mare for splint and cured her. This makes the third horse I've cured. Have recommended it to my neighbors for thrush and they say it is fine. I find it the best Liniment I ever used. I keep on hand your Sure Colic Cure for myself and neighbors, and I can certainly recommend it for Colic."—S. E. Smith, McDonough, Ga.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is a quick, safe remedy for poultry roup, canker and bumble-foot. Try it.

For Roup and Canker

"Sloan's Liniment is the speediest and surest remedy for poultry roup and canker in all its forms, especially for canker in the windpipe."—E. P. Spaulding, Jaffrey, N. H.

At all Dealers. 25c., 50c. & $1.00

Read Sloan's Book on Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Poultry; sent free.

Address

DR. EARL S. SLOAN, Inc., Boston, Mass.

Office Boy's Ambition.

The office boy was confiding to me the other day his ambitions to be a big man with our firm. He wanted to sit in a private office, take a couple of hours for lunch and "lord it" over a couple of hundred employes as does the G. M. at present. "I'll be the boss of this joint some day," he told me.

But that office boy is doomed to disappointment unless he changes his ways materially in the next few yeasr. In the first place, he's a loafer. He never does anything unless he is told.

It's because he doesn't use his brain that he appears stupid. He never uses his powers of intuition. He can't outguess the boss and "beat him to an idea." He lacks forethought and he's growing worse every day. Until that boy overcomes that listless inanity he'll never amount to anything.—Exchange.

THE BEST TREATMENT FOR ITCHING SCALPS, DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, the following special treatment is most effective, agreeable and economical. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura Ointment into the parting with a bit of soft flannel held over the end of the finger. Anoint additional partings about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the Cuticura Ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair. It is well to place a light covering over the hair to protect the pillow from possible stain. The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Shampoos alone may be used as often as agreeable, but once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment for women's hair.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Crazy Act.

Bill—He was crazy to get some office

Jill—Really?

"Yes, and now he's resigned"

"That looks more as if he was crazy."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels and cure constipation. Adv.

Cook's Occupation.

Mamma—Where have you been, Lisbeth?

Little Lisbeth—I was in the kitchen watching cook take the shingles off a fish

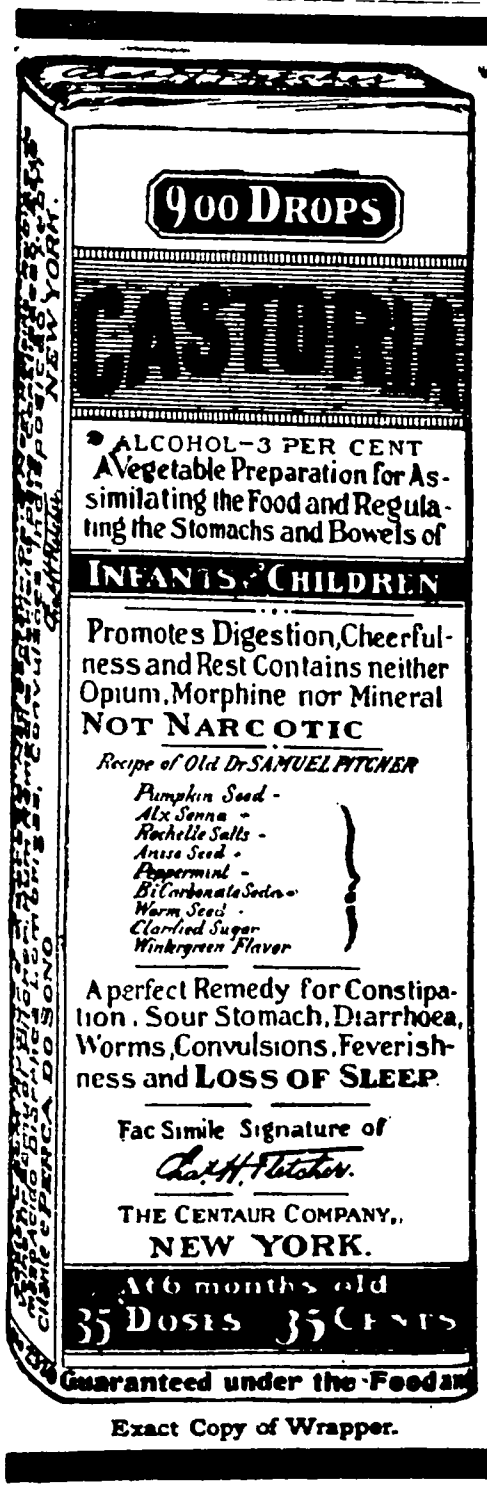
Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E W GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day 25c.

Summary Punishment.

Mr Dullcop—I see that Huerta has executed a coup d'etat.

Mrs. Dullcop—Did he have the poor fellow hung or shot?



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL—3 PER CENT
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral
NOT NARCOTIC
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx Senna -
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed -
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda -
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES 35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Foods

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XVII.—(Continued.)

Harlan forced back a smile. Harvard and 200 years of his father's culture had no answer to this. "I ought to be angry," he muttered.

She was regarding him with her old puzzled air of respect. "I reckon," she went on, "that friends can give one presents if they want to!" She sighed pensively. "You're funny people—you and your mother and everybody. I never can understand. And so I want to go away and be a great actress, and sometime come back here again with lots of clothes and a bulldog on a chain—"

"Aurelie!"

"A bulldog and a press agent—"

"Oh, Aurelie! I'd rather have you back again—the little wild-woods girl—Uncle Mich's girl—and not a prize beauty and an actress—not a bit!"

He had reached to take her hands, and with them drew himself down beside her. She laughed blithely: "Harlan, I'm a heap prettier than I used to be, ain't I?"

"Not 'ain't I,' Aurelie!"

"Well, then—something else! Prettier, and with clothes—you ought to love me a heap more, Harlan, if I amount to something."

"But I don't want you to amount to anything!" His arm slipped down her slenderness, he tried to shake her angrily; and then, with a great passionate pity, he swept her up in his arms in the old way—her breath upon his lips, the quiver of her warm flesh against his own. He was no more the boy; a new man's madness to possess her beat on him. It overbore his control, his heritage. It was not so that his father had loved—loved with this young lust of triumph, this barbaric holding of poignant life and the beauty that was in her. A flame, a plaything—whatever it was he held Aurelie, it was sweet to know she was lying in his arms, still and content. "If you knew how I cared! I haven't any law or morals with you—it's just you—and I want you to stay. You shall stay, Aurelie—by God, I shan't have you go away to be cheapened and ground up in the cities with all that life you'll lead! No—no!"

She looked up from his kisses. "If I stay, you'll marry me?"

"Yes, dear—a thousand times!"

"That's like you and old times, Harlan! But to live here in Rome—oh, they wouldn't have us!"

"I'll make them have us!" He cried it fiercely to the town below them in the dusky light.

"Mr. Curran said you could be district attorney next year. And that you were getting on fine. Oh, you'll have to give that all up, Harlan!"

He was still. Then he muttered. "But I love you, dear!"

"I know. But your mother—and what they all think of me! I never knew until yesterday how bad they thought!"

"You'll stay and make your place, dear. It'll be the big brave way. Oh, we were right before! The night seemed big and generous, didn't it, dear? And then we let it go. Oh, we were right and the world was wrong!"

She drew his head to her and kissed him, a soft humbleness in her eyes. Then she sat up and put his arm gently aside and looked down long at the valley. Somehow she could not quite forget. A strange idea that she had exchanged places with Harlan grew in her. Their last night in the hills it had been she who was burning with wild passion, this splendor of love that considered nothing in all their lives but love. And he had been the mentor, his cool sane blood that had saved them and held them pure.

And now, slowly, with her sense of the bigness of his love, grew the sense of his unrealized sacrifice. It seemed as if the long unequal years while he was fighting down the handicap, winning his place despite her lacking—she who had even no name except what Lindstrom had given her, no parentage save what a disreputable whisky peddler chose to tell of her, who was now the town's daughter of evil—the roll unfolded to her, and she was curiously shaken, groping amid hazards, yet cool with purpose.

"I want you to stay," he pleaded, "just to show these people how I love you, Aurelie. Why, we can laugh at it all together!"

She looked at him strangely still for a time. "No. We can't. Not always. Your father spent a fortune on your education. And all his life, and your mother's is centered on making you a career. I know it. Why, all the country sort of feel that! It's curious how things come to me afterward. I can't blame 'em a bit. Somehow, it's all sweet to me, Harlan. It's very fine, dear! Just is if I was away off and could look at both of us—and could smile and say 'no!'"

"No?"

"Maybe, I don't care enough for you any more!"

"Aurelie!"

"We're not children any more." She looked at him again, subduing the tenderness of her smile. He reached a hand to touch her, and with her Indian quickness she evaded him. He followed a step on the trail as she retreated. "I'm old Mich's girl, still. I'm not educated, and I've heaps of manners to learn, and lots of ways that hurt you—and oh, how they'd hurt you sometime if we were married! I know! It's just as your mother said."

"Aurelie!" he cried again and followed her.

"Don't you come! Harlan, I'd have to give all the new life up—and I wouldn't give it up. I've been happy—splendidly happy—working. I wouldn't give anything up—for you!"

He stood staring after her as she slipped away. He started again to follow, and she laughed a warning in the dusk of the laureled trail.

"I've just been thinking—and I don't love you."

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE SENTIMENTALIST.

Two weeks before the September primary election, Mr. Curran noted a curious reserved respect toward him from men of the town who had long ignored him as a mere disturber. And Arne Vance, coming in from a last tour of the county on his "pigs and politics" campaign, grimly explained it.

"The Honorable James Hall came home to work over his district, as the old crowd desired. And he got a frost, Wiley! He knows it—they all know it. They're scared. Tom Purcell and I have been comparing notes. We've showed Hall up something fierce on his votes in congress, and the farmers were glum to the Honorable Jim. And he never had a show with the new element—the foreigners in Earlville's new factory district. Hall's licked! Thad Tanner knows it. Judge Van Hart knows it! But"—he looked grimly at the candidate—"we want to cinch the fight. We need some money for printing and stuff. Got any?"

Mr. Curran smiled. "Good Lord, Arne! I'm bled dry as a bone! I tried to get some more on a mortgage at the bank. Cal Rice rubbed his hands and said, 'Wait till after election.' I don't know whether he's trying to scare me with a threat of foreclosure on the News, or wants to conciliate me in case I'm elected." He glanced at Janet ruefully. "But money? Our crowd has no money. Money be damned! I'm simply going on telling men that I'm Wiley Curran and I want them to vote for me—and why!"

The farmer-student went away dissatisfied. The candidate was in Miss Vance's office. He had been there an hour talking lightly of affairs but conscious of some right in the old intimacy. Janet had been reserved, impersonal, business like. She looked thoughtfully at him now.

"Wiley, you must have money. It's the crisis of your campaign. Arne's right. You're winning splendidly. The state press is noticing your fight down here. I should almost say the country is, for Hall is a national figure. It's splendid!"

It was the first touch of her old enthusiasm for his success. For his success was in the air. There was a sense of change, an undercurrent of panic on one side, of vivifying unity on the other. Men were talking of new issues, new figures—the control of a commonwealth was being wrested from accustomed hands, and the obscure group of malcontents in Winnetka county were acute with this feeling of being on the crest of a wave. The radical papers had taken up Arne Vance's phrase of a "pigs and politics" campaign among the farmers; it had undoubtedly caught the popular humor.

Curran nodded buoyantly. His constraint vanished with Janet's. Yet his intuition told him of a change in her. She sat forward now and spoke as one turning to a definite point of business. "Wiley, you need money. And I have it idle in the bank. I want you to use it."

He stared at her. A flush came to his face. "Janet?"

"You can give me your note."

"I could write a bushel of them—but who'd take them?"

"I will—for $500."

"It wouldn't be worth a cent at the bank!"

"Doubtless not. But to me—" She looked away seriously. Then, with hot impulse breaking through, "Oh, Wiley, I want you to win—win!" She swept up his hand from the table. "Your big chance, and I want to help!"

He was silent. Then muttered: "Janet, I can't take your money! I—I'm not worth it, girl. God bless you—I'd not feel right. I—our friendship so beautiful—so big a thing—" he would not finish. A damning sense of recreance was on him. She loved him, and he had never been able to make such a disaster of himself that she would not love him. That was the wonderful thing about women! And Janet, with her great wide horizons, to love him! Her steady, all-for-giving faith in him. Janet the confidant of men like Governor Delroy, the leaders of new ideals. Janet, whose work was ever calling her to finer achievements. She had refused advancement, she had waited—for him! No, he would say no more. A man had best stumble on in his own fashion.

"I'm sorry." She looked away impersonally. "I only meant it for the common good,—the new democracy we're fighting for. Just that—you are one of the leaders now—one of the coming men—I'd hoped." Her voice had died low. Then she went on in her business tone, "Go see Purcell today, will you, Wiley?"

Within the hour she called up the Honorable T. P. Purcell, Mr. Curran's political manager, and told him her check for $500 was to his credit in an Earlville bank. The candidate was not to be apprised at present. Young Mr. Purcell was too pleased to dissent; he leaned much on Miss Vance.

Mr. Curran walked to the Junction and took the interurban to Earlville that afternoon with the firmest intention to see his political manager at once. But he went into the Hotel Metropole with a director of the stone and contracting company which had been so disgruntled over the Tanner company's monopoly of county work and was, therefore, for reform and revolution. And after this conference he suddenly remembered Aurelie. He had been assuring himself that he didn't know she was under the same roof, but this was futile.

"I suppose she's leaving tonight," he mused, "and I ought to call up—why, of course I had! To let the little girl go away in this fashion would be a shame. Besides"—he reflected upon other reasons—"well, I must see after Aurelie." So, feeling rather brotherly, fatherly, and altogether equal to the matter, he inquired. And the burst of joy over the room telephone made him queerly giddy. See him? Why, come right up!

Miss Lindstrom was packing and entertaining Morris Feldman, of the Majestic theater, who was sitting on her trunk, impressive, prophetic and prepared to assume the glory of her burst on the world.

"I'll give you a letter, Miss Lindstrom to Cohan & Snitz, who put on them big music shows in New Believe me"—Mr Feldman laid diamonded hand over his fat "you got to show Cohan & Snitz Lindstrom. This here Chicago bunk, that don't go in New York Lindstrom."

"Ain't I just as good looking used to be, Mr. Feldman?"

"Forty ways for Sunday, Lindstrom. You look the part with them clothes—and I'm glad took my advice and put your old clothes. It's all the business Lindstrom. It don't go much Snitz, but Cohan he falls for Cohan he knows the goods when sees 'em. When it comes to a likes the big rangy lookers that hang lots of stuff on for his but you'll do, if you are little. something about you"—Morris his eyes amiably—"well, I can right with Cohan, believe me, Lindstrom. There ain't any except Max Levitan up in Chicago can put a girl into New York, Miss Lindstrom."

"That's good, commented Lindstrom, "but will you get trunk?—and hold that lid back while I stuff this stuff in."

Mr. Feldman did so. "When made your mistake, Miss Lind was hooking up with these blobs from Tulare, Cal. As newspaperman's show, believe one mistake. It took the edge here beauty bunk. If I'd been you, Miss Lindstrom, they'd naming cigarets after you now!"

"You're awful good, Mr Feld And I'll be mighty glad to get ter. Me and Miss Norman—I Miss Norman and I—will be She was rolling up five pairs of lings and stuffing them into the of a hat. "You see, Mr Feldman trying to improve my grammar believe me, it's some effort. Pa hunt rabbits—or jobs. I guess grammar'd hit 'em pretty hard York."

"My letter'll put you right. ain't many people wise to the theatrical business, Miss Lind In New York there's Cohan & and Gus Friedlander, and in Ch there's Max Levitan, and then me that runs this picture house Hirsch & Meyerstein. But it's top for most of 'em Miss Lind There's a great future for the ica actress, Miss Lindstrom. money—Get the money—Get money—' that's the way I heard put it up to Snitz when I cou ahead on The Girl and the Dub 'em one time. Believe me, you make good, Miss Lindstrom."

"Climb on that trunk with both commanded Miss Lindstrom; an protagonist of the American dra so. "Now run along—I want to my skirt—" pursued Miss Lind "And, oh,—there's Mr Curran"

She dashed to him as Mr Fe ambled out. She seized Mr Cu hands. "Do you know, somebod I shouldn't have kissed you this day?"

"I know," faltered Mr Curra "Why not?"

"Well—er—I'm running for gress."

"Well, I wasn't a-going to kis gress! But you know I think a of you. I never can repay all y for me, Mr. Curran. Why, I rem that I began to use better gramm ter that time I ran off throu woods and you comforted me you made me cry—and just th made up my mind to be somebody you remember, Mr. Curran?"

Poor old Wiley! He had not for a moonbeam on the trees' And would! That was his weakness gress would not stick in his mind night, try as he would.

"Well," Aurelie went on, shaki things and laying them in her su "when I come back with a bull great actress—I'll step out and t the people—right in front of the old curtain at the opera house Mr. Curran of the News, he did

"Then Aurelie," he mourne couldn't be elected pound They're terribly afraid of actress in Rome."

"They never had any' But I suppose they'll ever forget that a shanty-boat girl and came river with an old soldier who d whisky loup from Natchez to buque; and ran wild in the woo hadn't any mother to speak of jerked things about in the cast any name except that an Indian an gave me, and what Papa Lin had. I'm just not anybody—I jerked the case again and gri "Now, I cut my finger!"

"It's what people do who get m slam things."

"If I had anybody, they'd kis fingers when I cut 'em!"

Mr. Curran took that finger looked at it and kissed it gently. he looked up to see the tea laughter in her eyes.

"I'm glad you're folish!" she and he whispered:

"So am I!"

"I guess we're a good deal lik other."

"I'm afraid so! You're a p Aurelie. No wonder Harlan c make anything out of you. B broken up, poor chap!"

"Why can't you be sorry for little bit? I sent Harlan awa Curran! I wasn't going to ha career. I'm going to be somebo self. Be a new woman like Miss and write pieces for the paper not bother about a home and babies like I want!"

"Aurelie, I can't understand y She sat on the trunk and "That's on top. Down in my want to run away down-river Uncle Mich and to the Cajun where we went to the island ba I wore hyacinths in my hair—I Curran!"

"Lord bless you!" cried Mr. C "you love Harlan!"

"No, I don't. But I want to be by somebody just like I am—a wandery person who'd be willing off on adventures. And not ha people or careers. Just be bra foolish, like you."

Mr. Curran contemplated her calmly. "Aurelie," he demande you going ever to marry Harlan

"Never, never—never. It w because I was lonely, and a sen talist—is that it? It was such thing that summer. But now? have theater manager come a me roll stockings and stick 'em trunk! Mr. Feldman just did!"

"Aurelie," went on Mr. steadily and sternly, "about H you're making a great mistake throw him off!"

(Continued next week.)

KLEMME IOWA, THURSDAY MAR

Physiological.

tains more than 2,000,- which are the outlets number of sweat glands. keleton consists of more inct bones. An amount l to the whole quantity passes through the heart inute. The full capacity is about 320 cubic inches. irdc of a pint of air is xhaled at every breath in piration. The stomach es nine pounds of gastric stion of food; its capac- five pints. There are 00 separate muscles in ith an equal number of lood vessels. The weight is from eight to twelve beats 100,000 times in hours. Each respiratory ourth of an inch in length, about nine miles. The takes five and one-half ood and drink each day, ats to one ton of solid and ament annually. A man times in a minute, and or about 375 hogs- very hour of his existctory Explanation.

cher was sent to a grade ity school where the pu- nown to be very critical, y were not unruly. How- acher observed an aston- nce of "respect." She desperate when a melan- arose and solemnly in-ever teach school before?" ve taught before."

ever teach the third grade ight," said the boy, turn- lassmates. "She's taught re, but she never taught ade."

the teacher had no trou-

" Not to Come Back.

the famous French dress- of the spring styles: "My ntains narrow skirts, crin- some draped dresses, but dresses. I have designed which should prove par- pular, since, without be- shows off the leg and fig- ecret and charming man- arrangement fixed inside which the plaits are at- he leg. In this way the d in walking, and a wom- a particularly smart and stume without outraging ibilities."

ody" Unappreciated.

ing his struggle for fame, musical comedy star, was f a small opera company. pretty fair voice," says the and to give volume to our l chorus I would stand in and help out. One night as cadenzing my best, the the troupe tripped up be- d heard me sing."

e said, "don't do that. le to hear you out front."

you go—but save enough return ticket.

OT A MIRACLE

ain Cause and Effect.

some quite remarkable ening every day, which t miraculous.

ons would not believe that suffer from coffee drink- ely as to cause spells of ness. And to find relief in rom coffee to Postum is recording.

be a great coffee drinker, that it was killing me by heart became so weak I and lie unconscious for an me.

ds, and even the doctor, was drinking coffee that trouble. I would not be- still drank coffee until I ave my room.

y doctor, who drinks Pos- persuaded me to stop cof- Postum. After much hesi- luded to try it. That was ago. Since then I have of those spells, none for four months.

tter, sleep better and am y way. I now drink noth- tum and touch no coffee. seventy years of age all think the improvement rkable."

ven by Postum Co., Battle . Write for a copy of the book, "The Road to Well-ow comes in two forms: Postum—must be well and 25c packages. Postum—is a soluble pow- spoonful dissolves quickly hot water and, with cream makes a delicious beverage 30c and 50c tins. per cup of both kinds is ame.

a Reason" for Postum. —sold by Grocers.

Summary of Co to What Commi Government P

By the Bureau of Mu

It is a form of organization and a de and some official acts. It commits a theory of "popular rule."

It is an experiment, but a rational, no board government instead of "checks an except as to: Election, recall, legislat

Usually it provides for direct prima increasingly adds direct legislation and the commission plan that eliminates th plan, and even this plan does not inv

It is a simpler, less pretentious, less c municipality. It is not a city program ment. It is not a short cut to good go government.

It is a forward step in municipal gove appointing unless other forward steps an omical administration and the prosecut cure-ail for municipal ills. It has not to the extent often asserted, though it old type. It is not incompatible with t ness, though generally it eliminates "pa

It makes it possible for heads of dep actual work of government, when they full time. It does not make grafting im provide the means for detecting graft payrolls.

It makes possible better judgment on or five heads have a chance to think r It does not mean that collusion and corr binations can be made by three or four

It dims the conspicuousness of a too c mayor. It does not prevent sectionalis of improvement is not yet based on city tional log-rolling.

It compels publicity of and affords op franchise grants. It leaves practically

NEW WORLD OPENING FOR WOMEN HE SAYS

Dr. O. S. Marden Says Girls Are More Independent and Self Reliant.

From the Pictorial Review

Dr. Marden, whose books have been published in a score of languages and whose inspirational writings have inspired mankind and womankind for many years, is writing a new series especially for Pictorial Review which is designed to encourage freedom of thought and bigness of motive among his women readers. This is a woman's era and at no other time in the history of the world have greater opportunities been offered to them, and in thorough sympathy with this condition, Dr. Marden advises and points out the right road to the coming generation of young girls. We quote from the article appearing in the February Pictorial Review.

Each sex has natural endowments and qualities in which the opposite sex cannot hope to compete. Girls have many qualities which are peculiar to their sex, qualities which dominate in their natures, and the new woman should be trained in a manner to develop these qualities in which she is peculiary strong.

The ideal solidarity of humanity means that every member of society shall be so trained and so educated as to give the best of himself, not his second best, to society. As yet woman has only had a partial opportunity to develop herself. Her position has been something like that of an eagle tied by a string and bidden to soar into the ether, to utilize his wings which God has given him. Woman has been a man chained eagle. She has been beating her wings against the bars all these centuries, longing for her liberty, striving to get free, so that she could use her God-given powers.

For centuries, woman's development, education and training have been pointed toward man; they have been man directed, because he has been the stronger force in civilization, but the growing power of woman is rapidly emancipating her. She is going to have an equal influence, and an equal voice in the structure of society. The old-time training, the old schooling, will not answer the demands of the new civilization for the woman of the future.

The new girl is going to develop herself along the line of her own individuality, without any effort to imitate man's work, and she is going to be far more contented and very much happier, because of her more complete self-expression; her faculties are going to be developed along a much wider range. She is going to be a much broader human being; the development of her self reliance, independence, self-help, are going to bring out many new powers, and vast resources which were never aroused in the old-time girl. She will no longer be a helpless, clinging sort of a girl, a parlor ornament. She will consider it a disgrace not to have a life purpose and a worthy aim. The very foundation of self-respect is in independence and self-reliance. The only way to build up a strong, sturdy character is by way of that sort of self-help and self-reliance which will make you absolutely independent so far as your living is concerned. This is the only position in which a normal adult can thoroughly respect himself.

If a girl who has finished her education does not train herself for self-support, if she becomes a parasite, neither the wealth nor the standing of her family can keep her from being a weakling, a society drone. The consciousness of not being able to earn her own living strikes at the very root of her self-respect and weakens her life foundation, placing her at a tremendous disadvantage.

AMERICAN HOMES.

Indiana, in London Spectator.

Since you are thinking of combustible houses do allow me to mention the American laborer's house, which he builds, not as kind people think he ought to build, but as he wants his house. He builds three rooms, about 16 feet square—parlor, bedroom and kitchen. His walls are of wood, plastered on the inside; his ceilings are high; nothing is saved by throwing away the ends of "uprights", his win-hall We Hold Short Course?

P. C. Taft of the Extension Depart- ent at Ames, was here last Thurs- y afternoon and explained the full eek's short course that would be ut here if the people of this com- unity will prove that they would be illing to support such a notable ven- re. Klemme holds the distinction holding the first dairy short course per put on by the extension depart- ent and it is now up to the people this community to decide if they sh to be progressive enough to hold e first complete short course ever ld in Hancock county and we be- ve that they are interested enough that they will come to the rescue the committee who are boosting this venture and sign up for tick- s when confronted with the petition the meeting. Thursday, the following of- ers were elected: President, O. A Arnold. retary, A. D. G mer and P. M. Greisemer airman of advertising and membership. ese men will make excellent offic als but nnot do the work without support and it up to everyone who would like to see this rse a success to take hold and help boost. me people are under impressi n that the en who are sent here are "know-it-alls" d attempt to tell the farmer things that e not practical. We believe that this is wrong idea to carry. These men are es ially trained for the li e of work they at- pt to explain and a majority of them ar- ctical farmers and know whereof they lak.

t is planned to have each day a special , and take up some special li e of work r instance, one day will be devoted to ecroom and kitchen. This place heated by a stove with a pipe running up to a little parlor chimney. In a small cellar under his house cabbages and potatoes are kept, and, on a hanging shelf, butter and eggs and the washtub and sometimes fuel are there. Often he keeps fuel in a small shed. He always has "a bit of land" if he likes, and the kind people who think "a mite of land" a benefit to a workman would be surprised to see how often that land is covered with rags and bottles. The fewness of doors, partitions, and bricks makes this house cheap The thrifty young workman soon has a better house and slips into the grooves of success the unthrifty only changes to beds in his parlor, beds in his kitchen and more beds in his bedroom, and the thrifty are not a pin point in the great mass of the unthrifty. "Vast are the resources of parsimony," and if kind people could convince the unthrifty of this fact nobody would have to think about housing the poor

Wiser Marriages.

Mary Austin, in Harper's Weekly

Stripped to its essentials, marriage is an agreement between any pair to practice mate-love toward one another, with intention A vast amount of our modern custom is as extraneous to this as is that temple in India to the hair of the prophet's beard which is enshrines.

* * * * * *

Under all the stupidities of civilization, there is still operative in man an instinct as self-preservative as the movement of the natural animal to reject unsuitable food. By study, all forms and modes of marriage are seen to resolve themselves into the working of this instinct to prevent the too early withering of mate-love before its purpose is accomplished. The impulse which rejects the word 'obey" from the marriage service is one with the impulse which retains 'honor and cherish." What it means is simply that we have discovered that obedience has nothing to do with the permanence of love, but that no set of experiments has revealed a way to keep it alive and alight without honor and cherishing To love and to keep on loving. This is the one way of making marriage do its work in the world. Any call for reorganization of the fashion of living together, such as arise from time to time in our changing social environment, must conform itself to this necessity. It must derive its authority not from any pre-existing code of ethics or religion, but from its capacity to nourish the eternal need of each for the other.

* * * * * *

All doors but marriage being closed for attaining eminence, social position, fortune, human contracts, they demand it all of marriage, and by the evidence of the divorce court marriage is breaking down under the strain.

* * * * *

What must be insisted upon for the improvement of marriage before it is entered upon is the clarification of our ideas about it. We must see its naked power upon us for what good and what generic ill. Stripped of all the rag-tag of obsolescent modes, all the bright, tasteless tinsel of sentiment by which its vital functions are obscured, we must accept it, first and last, as a sex relation, striking its proper note in the chord of human endeavor, and, seeing it thus uncomplicated by problems of food and shelter, learn to ask no more for it than that it fulfil itself as the great adventure of sexual life.

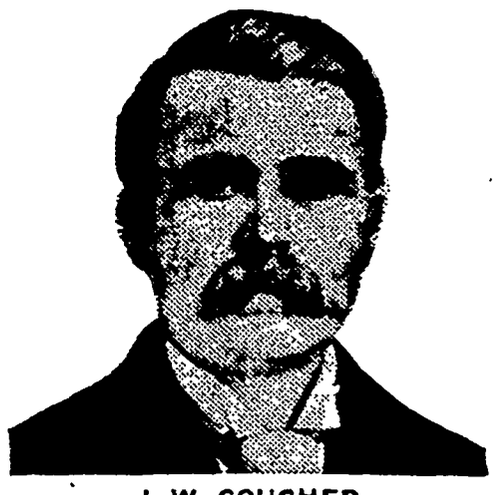
From the National Magazine.

A certain lady suspected her husband was in the habit of kissing the cook, a pretty German girl, and resolved to detect him in the act. After watching four days, she heard him come in one evening and gently pass through into the kitchen.

Now, Katie was out that evening and the kitchen was dark. Burning with jealousy, the wife took some matches, and hastily placing her shawl on her head, as Katie often did, she entered the kitchen by the back door and was almost immediately seized and embraced and kissed in the most ardent manner. With her heart bursting with rage the injured wife prepared to administer a terrible rebuke to her spouce. Tearing herself from his embrace, she struck a match and stood face to face with Katie's beau, one of the factory boys. Her husband says his wife has never treated him so well since the first month they were married, as she has for the past week.

Eats Freely But Has No Dyspepsia

A Little Pepsin in a Mild Laxative Promptly Corrected a Bad Indigestion.



J. W. GOUCHER

Fortu e is the one who can eat anyth without suffering the tor- ure pepsia, but as few are so ort should be taken in the nat g slowly, masti- atin ughly and taking shor e heavy meal of he da wards assisting igestio p person ought o know ods that do not gree, and these should be avoided.

When thes common-sense aids fail, he next thi o is to take a mild igestive to h laxative proper- es, and t one better than Dr. aldwell's epsin. It contains he greate aids to digestion, od pepsin. has other ingredients at act mildly on the bowels, which gether form a combination for the lief of dyspepsia or indigestion that unsurpassed.

Its action is to tone and strengthen e stomach and bowel muscles so at they can again do their work natrally without outside aid, and when at happy moment comes all medine can be dispensed with. It is the st remedy obtainable for any disder of the stomach, liver and bows, for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousss, headaches, drowsiness after eatg, gas on the stomach, etc. Thouands of users will testify to this, mong them Mr. J. W. Goucher, Stites, daho, who for several years had all the worst symptoms of chronic dyspepsia. Since taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin these have all gone, and although Mr. Goucher says he is 64, he does not look more than 40.

Syrup Pepsin is sure in its results, and a vast improvement over chewing or swallowing tablets and mints, or taking cathartics, salts, etc., all of which are harsh and nauseous and at best do but temporary good. You can obtain Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

SICKED" WIND ON HIS RIVAL

ervent Supplication May Have Had No Effect, but It Surely Came From the Heart.

When the minstrel show reached wn, in Alabama, there was barely time for the usual street parade. Awaiting the company at the depot was a large reception committee of darkies Every dark in the crowd was anxious to get the job carrying one of the show banners, not alone for the sake of the free pass paid in exchange for the duty, but for the added glory of taking part in the procession. This was a small and struggling troupe, however, which boasted only one banner—a large ornate square of imitation red silk. A big negro grabbed it as the property man passed it off the car, and clung to it, fighting off all opposition. As he started proudly up the street, with the flagpole resting proudly in the pit of his stomach, a stiff breeze caught the banner and it bellied like a sail, almost dragging the color-bearer off his feet, and forcing him to tack and jibe to keep from being capsized bodily. Observing his plight, a disappointed candidate for the job raised his voice in invocation from the sidewalk: "Sick him, wind," he yelled. "Sick him!"

A food for sore lungs. Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops. Cure coughs, by relieving the soreness—5c at Drug Stores.

Human Banknote.

"We can't all earn $5 a day sweeping floors in automobile plants, and so, commercial conditions being as they are, I don't blame very severely the girl who marries for money"

The speaker was Miss Elsie De Wolfe, one of New York's most brilliant women. The scene was the quaint, brick-walled smoking room of the Colony club, which she had herself decorated

"A poor girl," Miss De Wolfe went on, "married an aged millionaire.

"'Oh, how could you do it?' a friend asked her. 'Such an old fellow, too!'

"'My dear,' the young bride replied, 'if you were starving and somebody gave you an enormous banknote—a banknote for a million—would you bother to look at the date?'"

Putnam Fadeless Dyes color in cold water. Adv.

When a man starts out to make a fool of himself he usually works overtime on the job.

GO TO WESTERN CANADA NOW

The opportunity of securing free homesteads of 160 acres each, and the low priced lands of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will soon have passed.

Canada offers a hearty welcome to the Settler, to the man with a family looking for a home; to the farmer's son, to the renter, to all who wish to live under better conditions.

Canada's grain yield in 1913 is the talk of the world. Luxuriant Grasses give cheap fodder for large herds; cost of raising and fattening for market is a trifle.

The sum realized for Beef, Butter, Milk and Cheese will pay fifty per cent on the investment.

Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Brower 570, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Box Building, Omaha, Nebraska and H. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agt.

FARM IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." At druggists. 50c. large box, or by mail. The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

Offer Extraordinary

We will send you for 25 cents post prepaid, six of New York's latest hits—song and instrumental.

Send for Catalogue

THE ROGERS BROS. MUSIC PUBLISHING CO.
51-53-55 East 125th Street New York City

Saskatchewan Improved Farm Equipped machinery, horses, seed, buildings, etc. Snap. Write owner 605 WESTON, TORONTO, CANADA

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 12-1914.

A "Helping Hand" Extended to the Middle Aged Woman

THERE is a time in every woman's life when her organism undergoes an important change. This is a critical period. It is a time when a woman needs her full health and strength. For your own sake you should anticipate this turning point.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

has been recommended for over forty years as a tonic for women who are about to experience "the turn of life." It is helpful in the equalization of the circulation of the blood and in regulating the action of the bowels. Nervousness and low spirits disappear. Happiness and contentment take their place.

The latest in medical science is contained in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—newly revised edition of 1000 pages, only 21c. Address Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sold in tablet or liquid form by Medicine Dealers—or send 50 cents for sample box

LARGER and BETTER Than Ever

IS OUR STOCK OF Spring Clothing

Furnishings

Longley Hats

H. & F. Shoes

Cluett Shirts

Get to Know

Gildner Bros. & Myres

THE GARNER HOME OF HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable

Fred Kluckhohn

Coal Hauling

Very Low One-Way Fares

to

California

and

North Pacific Coast Points

On Sale Daily
March 15 to April 15, 1914

Personally Conducted Excursions

via

Rock Island Lines

In modern through Pullman Tourist Cars.

Daily attention and courtesy

Choice of routes—via El Paso, the direct route of lowest altitudes, or through Colorado and Salt Lake City

Dining car service unexcelled. Stop-overs permitted.

Let me quote you fares and plan the trip.

F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

Where Youthis

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like [illegible]rie."

And w[illegible] you [illegible] that the Hamilto[illegible] Pian[illegible] favorite all over the wo[illegible]ause of its resista[illegible]atic changes, you [illegible]and what a splendidly [illegible]ted instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

W. M Magner

A STU[illegible]

The M[illegible]

CHARL[illegible]

AUTHOR OF THE [illegible]

Copyright[illegible]

CHAPTER XVII.—(Continued.)

Harlan forced back a smile. H[illegible] yard and 200 years of his father's c[illegible]ture had no answer to this. "I ou[illegible] to be angry," he muttered.

She was regarding him with her puzzled air of respect. "I reckon," went on, "that friends can give presents if they want to!" She sig[illegible] pensively. "You're funny people—y[illegible] and your mother and everybody, never can understand. And I want to go away and a great actress, and sometime co[illegible] back here again with lots of clot[illegible] and a bulldog on a chain—"

"Aurelie!"

"A bulldog and a press agent—"

"Oh, Aurelie! I'd rather have [illegible] back again—the little wild-woods gi[illegible] Uncle Mich's girl—and not a pr[illegible] beauty and an actress—not a bit!"

He had reached to take her han[illegible] and with them drew himself down [illegible] side her. She laughed blithely "H[illegible] lan, I'm a heap prettier than I used be, ain't I?"

"Not 'ain't I,' Aurelie'"

"Well, then—something else' Pr[illegible] tier, and with clothes—you ought [illegible] love me a heap more, Harlan, if amount to something."

"But I don't want you to amount anything'" His arm slipped down h[illegible] slenderness, he tried to shake her an[illegible] rily; and then, with a great passiona[illegible] pity, he swept her up in his arms in t[illegible] old way—her breath upon his lips, t[illegible] quiver of her warm flesh against h[illegible] own. He was no more the boy, a ne[illegible] man's madness to possess her [illegible] of him. It overbore his control, his h[illegible] tage. It was not so that his father h[illegible] loved—loved with this young lust triumph, this barbaric holding of poi[illegible] nant life and the beauty that was her. A flame a plaything—whatev[illegible] it was he held Aurelie, it was sweet know she was lying in his arms, st[illegible] and content. "If you knew how I care

Infant Called.

Baby Webner, son of Mr. and Mrs Dan Webner, Jr., was born January 25th, 1914, and died March 14th, 1914 Age at death one month and nineteen days

The writer preached the funeral in the Webner home Sunday morning to a large crowd of sympathizing relatives and friends who evidently showed their love and sympathy to their fellow man by "weeping with those that weep."

Weep not, papa and mama, for baby, he has gone to be with Jesus A vacant chair is in our home; but heaven has gained another jewel

The remains were laid to rest in the beautiful cemetary at Klemme

REV J M HOWDESHELL

Notice Probate of Will

STATE OF IOWA } ss
HANCOCK COUNTY, }
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Notice is hereby given that an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of George Schroeder deceased was filed in the office of the undersigned on the 2nd day of March A. D 1914 and that May 11 1914 was fixed for the hearing proof in relation thereto

WITNESS my hand and the Seal of the District Court attached at Garner in said County this 2nd day of March A. D. 1914

J. W KNADLER.
Clerk of the District Court,
283 Hancock County Iowa.

Notice of Appointment of Administrators

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned have been duly appointed and qualified as executors of the Estate of [illegible] late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased.

All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance

Dated at Klemme, Iowa, March 9th, A D., 1914

CHARLES L. YAHNKE and F. A ARNOLD, Administrators

Notice of Appointment of Administratrix

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Administratrix of the Estate of Bertha Kleeman, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased

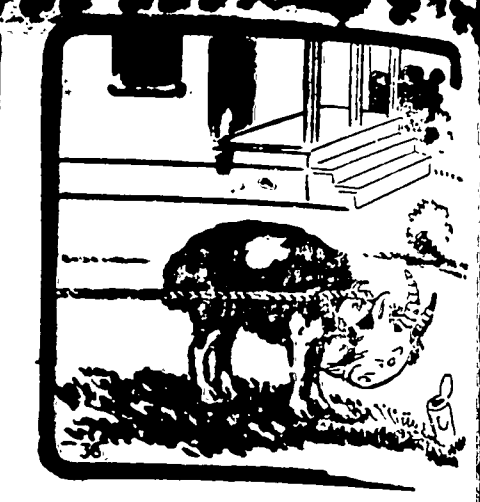
All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated Klemme, Iowa, this 9th day of March, A D., 1914

ROMA KLEEMAN LUDEKE,
Administratrix

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash.
Doors. Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick



There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons
INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY
BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

Some People Eat To Live

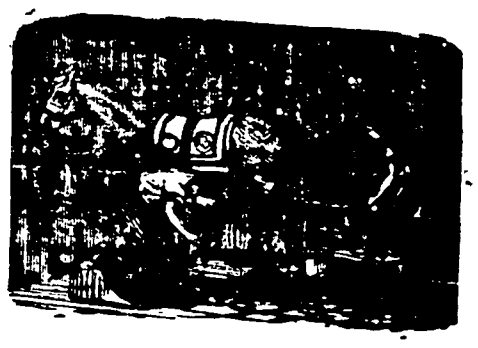
WHILE OTHERS

Live To Eat

WE CATER TO BOTH CLASSES

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.



W. F. PAVEY

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share of your patronage and if work is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

THE KLEMME TIMES

ME XVIII. NUMBER 31 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY MARCH 26. 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

ur banking business with, you can feel assured of mpt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

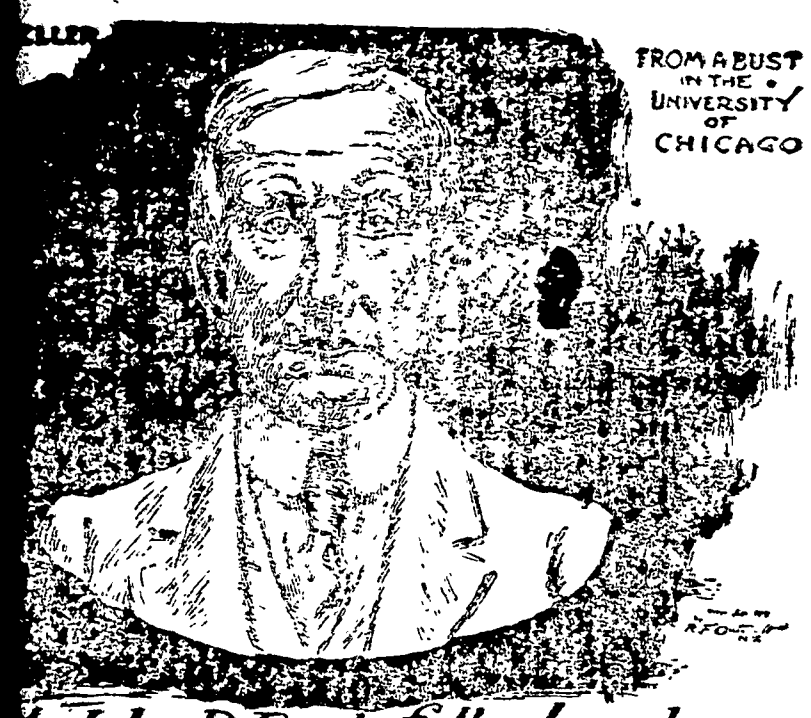
is proof of the success of this policy.



John D. Rockefeller have been hest man in the world if he had the first money he earned?

PUT IT IN THE BANK

John D. Rockefeller went into the of e went there with Two Thousand Dollars nad saved and with which he was ready good business chance. HAD HE NOT S MONEY IN THE BANK, he would been able to take the business chance to his stupendous fortune. John D. ler was no different from other fabul- h men. Their great fortunes were the esult of their FIRST savings.

Do YOUR banking with US

tate Savings Bank.

Iowa

al $15,000.00
us $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00

Can you beat it?

V. R. BLOOM

—THE—

AIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

uy hogs six days in the week at ghest market prices.

ness established 1890.

Shall We Hold Short Course?

P. C. Taft of the Extension Department at Ames, was here last Thursday afternoon and explained the full week's short course that would be sent here if the people of this community will prove that they would be willing to support such a notable venture. Klemme holds the distinction of holding the first dairy short course ever put on by the extension department and it is now up to the people of this community to decide if they wish to be progressive enough to hold the first complete short course ever held in Hancock county and we believe that they are interested enough so that they will come to the rescue of the committee who are boosting for this venture and sign up for tickets when confronted with the petition. At the meeting Thursday, the following officers were elected: President O A Arnold Secretary, A D Gruner and P M Gruesemer Chairman of advertising and membership. These men will make excellent officials but cannot do the work without support and it is up to every one who would like to see this course a success to take hold and help boost.

Some people are under impression that the men who are sent here are "know-it all's" and attempt to tell the farmer things that are not practical. We believe that this is the wrong idea to carry. These men are especially trained for the line of work they attempt to explain and a majority of them are practical farmers and know whereof they speak.

It is planned to have each day a special one, and take up some special line of work. For instance, one day will be devoted to draft horses and colts; one to beef cattle; dairy cattle, swine, soil fertility and rotation of crops. And something of especial interest to the farmer and also of the entertainment line will be pulled off a evening. On Friday evening it is planned to hold a tri-township spelling contest, which will include the townships of Elk, German and Avery and the two independent districts of Klemme and Goodell.

Messrs. W. F. Grieman and Gibbs Bros. who are both owners of fine draft stallions, have offered a prize of $10 for the best colt shown from their horses, and it is likely that other stallion owners will do as well.

The extension department will send six instructors, four men and two ladies. The price of the course will be $150 for Animal Husbandry and Agriculture and $100 for the Domestic Science course for the ladies.

We have tried to give a brief outline of the many good things that will be in store for those who purchase tickets for the course and will give the special features as they are arranged for.

Mr. and Mrs. Schlei in Wreck

A serious wreck occurred Saturday night at Mendota, Minn., on the C. St. P. M. & O. road when two coaches in the middle of the train left the rails and rolled over. One lady was killed and about thirty injured. Mr and Mrs E R. Schlei, of Fenton, were on the train and were seriously injured. Mrs. Schlei received injuries to her back and Mr. Schlei was cut about the head. It is expected that several of the injured will die. Mr. and Mrs. Schlei are well known and prominent people of Fenton, Mr. Schlei having been a visitor in Algona during the winter. Their many friends are glad that they were not killed outright as it is a miracle that more deaths did not occur. The coaches were of steel which probably explains matters. The wreck is supposed to have been caused by a broken rail.--Algona Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. Schlei are well known here. They were taken to a hospital in Minneapolis and are reported to be making satisfactory recovery.

Ed. Waddingham, who recently learned the clothes cleaning and pressing business at Hawarden, Iowa, went to Klemme Monday to open up a cleaning establishment of his own. Ed. is a good, reliable young man and we wish him success in his new venture.—Meservey Register.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00

Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN

Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU

Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD

5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.

Dollars Loose Are Wont To Roam

PUT THEM IN A SOLID HOME!

Safe To Your Credit In Our Vaults

They'll Be Cured Of All Their Wayward Faults

Majestic Range Sale

AT

Gruetzmacher Bros.

Sale Commences April 6

During this sale we will give away absolutely free with each range either a set of Aluminum or Granite and Nickel Cooking Utensils--these sets are worth $8.00.

A man direct from the factory will be here to demonstrate these ranges and will show their numerous superior points.

If you wish to purchase a range now and get it during the sale, do so and take advantage of the FREE COOKING UTENSILS.

Gruetzmacher Bros.

Hardware and Groceries

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

King Charles has seen many changes, largely effected by himself, in Roumania since he arrived there in 1866, after an adventurous journey in disguise from Germany. Notable among them are the changes in his capital and in his own palace. When he made his triumphal entry as the country's new prince, the carriage reached a house before which a guard of honor was stationed. "What house is that?" he asked. "That is the palace," replied General Goleski. The prince, thinking he had misunderstood him, said: "Where is the palace?" And the general was so embarrassed that he could only point silently to the one-storied building. The principal feature of the view from the windows on one side then was a gypsy encampment with swine wallowing in the main road before the palace.

Grievous as has been the damage wrought in Europe by recent storms it is unlikely that they were more violent than England's great storm of 1703. A strong west wind had set in about the middle of November and it increased in violence until on the morning of the 26th few people ventured out of their houses, and on that night houses were unroofed, buildings torn down and thousands of people were killed. About 2,000 stacks of chimneys were blown down in and around London In the Thames only four ships remained between London bridge and Limehouse, 500 wherries, 300 shipboats and 100 lighters and barges were entirely lost, and many were badly damaged. The damage in London alone was estimated at $10,000,000.

To encourage students to see as much as possible of the fatherland provision has been made for student shelters throughout Germany, where traveling students can find lodging for the night. There are 576 of these herbergen in Germany and Austria, which furnish lodging and breakfast free of charge to all students provided with the proper cards Practically the only expense attached to enjoying the benefits of the institution is the payment of 2 marks (approximately 50 cents) for a membership card. Students must be at least 16 years of age and attending a high school or university to obtain membership cards

The Berlin Lokalanzeiger reports that the impending Prussian issue probably will be $100,000,000 The issue is not connected with the estimate for the coming financial year, but is required for "productive" works already approved—especially railway extensions and improvements. In his speech in the diet introducing the new estimates the Prussian minister of finance, Herr Lentze, observed that the enormous increase in recent years in loans for railway purposes is a matter of grave anxiety because the borrowings affect the whole economic system.

The secretary of the state minimum wage commission of Minnesota believes that there should be a state law to abolish tipping. The secretary says that there can be no satisfactory arrangement of a minimum wage until tipping is stopped The commission can make suggestions regarding mercantile establishments, where tipping is not practiced, but when it comes to regulating wages of waitresses and other women workers, it is hard to make any suggestions because the nominal wage is not the actual wage received

The "Arabian Nights" did not become familiar to Europeans until 1704, when Galland translated them into French. Scholars cast doubt on the authenticity of some of Galland's work, accusing him—like Fitz-Gerald and Omar Khayyam—of inventing rather than translating, but with the public the success of the tales was immediate and immense Galland used to complain that students, returning home in the early hours of the morning, would knock at his door and demand the recitation of a tale

There are somewhat more than 500 recognized tree species in the United States, of which about 100 are commercially important for timber Of the 500 recognized species, 300 are represented in the government's newly acquired Appalachian forests. All American species, except very subtropical ones on the Florida keys and in extreme southern Texas, are to be found in one or another of the national forests.

"We can't give you a technical definition of the irony of fate, Bildad," says the horse editor of the Monroe County Appeal "When you become prosperous enough to own a polished topped pedestal dining room table, and are eating out of the kitchen sink to preserve its beauty (the table's beauty, not that of the sink) you will have an illustration three blocks more enlightening than a definition"

There is a dispute as to whether the tall hat is going, gone or coming back again, for there are vested—and frock-coated—interests in its survival "The other day," says a correspondent from a London suburb, "a man rang the bell, he wore a frock coat and a top hat and he asked if he might trim the hedge." This was a curious inversion of dress For the owner of the hedge has discarded both these emblems of prosperity.

How greatly hunting enters into British social life is shown by the fact that there are, according to a recent computation, 456 recognized packs of hounds in the United Kingdom. Of these England has 364 packs, Ireland 75 packs and Scotland 17 packs. In round numbers the packs which hunt the fox and deer total 9,000 couples of hounds, while of barriers and beagles there are 3,500 couples.

Americans familiar with the attractive appearance and convenient size of French bank notes will be interested in the design for the new 500 franc note by Jean Paul Laurens. The face of the note shows a peasant at the plow and a modern Ceres at the sides, and in the center a rich plowed field with the sea in the distance The dominant colors of the note are violet blue and dark green.

PRESIDENT BOWMAN QUITS SCHOOL JOB; CRITICIZES BOARD

John G. Bowman, Resigning From Head of Iowa University, Expresses His Mind.

Iowa City, Ia., March 23.—John G. Bowman, president of the State University of Iowa, yesterday tendered his resignation to the state board of education.

In doing so he made public a letter in which he severely criticises the board, accusing its members of violating a written agreement with him not to go over his head in dealing with members of the faculty, and charging that this has been done deliberately for the purpose of raising a personal issue with him, despite the understanding he had when he assumed the office that he was to be told frankly if at any time the board felt that the interests of the university would be served by his retirement.

In his letter he says:

"If it were possible that I have aggravated the significance of your action in its relation to myself, my course would still be the same. No man can be accountable for his responsibility unless his authority is respected, or for his policies unless he is given a free hand to carry them out This principle is recognized in all well governed colleges and universities, as it is in every well organized business. The efficient government of this university on any other basis is impossible, and I could not be a party to so hopeless an experiment even if it were your desire that I should."

Des Moines, Ia., March 21.—D. D. Murphy, chairman of the board of education, over the long distance 'phone last night denied the charge contained in President Bowman's statement. He said he could not understand what the statement meant.

The real reason for the resignation, according to the chairman, was that he had discovered that the board had lost confidence in his ability as an executive

Chairman Murphy was unwilling to specify the points on which the board is at disagreement with Bowman. The board has as yet considered no one to take the president's place, but will arrange for a meeting soon, at which preparations will be made to fill his place

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 21.—"The case of Prof Gustav Schoettle, whose discharge from the faculty at the State university led to the resignation of President Bowman, is only one case of many which has forced members of the board to the reluctant conclusion that Mr Bowman is incompetent to administer the affairs of the university," said James H. Trewin, former president of the board of education, this morning. "The board certainly never considered the bringing about the resignation of Bowman by indirect methods, in the way he indicates, but was merely offering him some good advice in reference to the administration of the department of music. The action of the board was not taken on any stories told by Mrs. Riedel, but on information coming from some of the best men in the faculty"

TOWN OPPOSES MAYOR WHO FRIGHTENED AUTOISTS

Correctionville, Ia., March 23.—Dissatisfaction over the result of the town ticket, has resulted in a people's ticket ticket, has resulted in a peaples' ticket being put in the field by petition, headed by A. C Smith for mayor who was defeated for the nomination in the caucus by one vote by A. W. Hatfield. Mayor Speaker, who has served nearly 10 years was defeated for renomination largely by automobile owners and other business men who think Speaker's administration of the law against autoists without numbers or lights, was not tempered by common sense Others opposed him because they though he was not strict enough in enforcing the law against bootlegging. It is a fact that some automobile owners from the country have driven to the edge of town and walked in, fearing arrest. Speaker has made a first-class business mayor

The tickets are

Citizens' Mayor, A. W. Hatfield, councilmen, W H Garber, the only one renominated, Anthony Welsch, A. T Bergstrom, E W Savage, G. H. Burris; treasurer, Ira Wesley, renominated; assessor, J W Horner, renominated.

People's—Mayor, A C. Smith; councilmen, J Thomas Mumford, John Bower, H A. Smith, George Waggoner, Rupert Kurzreiter; treasurer, C. W. Crawburg; assessor, S. E. Rowse. These are all new men.

The campaign promises to be the liveliest in years.

COUNTY ATTORNEY SUES CLERK FOR $324, FEES COLLECTED

Spencer, Ia., March 23.—Suit was commenced in the district court of Clay county by Fred Jensen, the county attorney, against C. S. Weaver, clerk of the district court, for $324 in fees collected by Mr. Weaver as commissioner of insanity.

Considerable interest is taken in the case inasmuch as it is being brought by Mr. Jensen on his own motion without the consent or direction of the board of supervisors. It has been the contention of Mr. Jensen and of Attorney General Cosson that suits of this kind may be brought by the county attorney at his own election without the consent of the board of supervisors, or even when the supervisors refuse to permit him to proceed.

Mr. Weaver has held the office of clerk of the district court of Clay county for 15 years and the fees in question run back to 1900. A case parallel to this one was tried in Oskaloosa some years ago with the result that the clerk was compelled to pay in the fees so collected.

CONGREGATIONAL PREACHER ORDAINED AT SAC CITY

Sac City, Ia., March 23.—The ordination of the Rev. Alex Russell, pastor of the Congregational church at Lake View, took place this week. The Rev. Dr. Lewis of Sloan presided. Other ministers participating in the exercises were the Rev. Jorgensen of Cnawa, Rev. J. T. Marvin of Grinnell, Rev. Steele of Kingsley Rev. Walker of Wall Lake, and Rev W M Short of Sioux City.

POLICE GIRLS USED IN GUARDING WOMAN ACCUSED OF CRIME

Davenport's Police Chief Finds Way of Keeping Watch Over Mrs. Guldburg.

Davenport, Ia., March 21.—"Police girls" made their appearance here yesterday when two young women were sworn in as deputies and charged to guard through the night Mrs. Anna Guldburg, dressmaker, who is accused of wholesale thievery by the three largest local department stores.

Mrs. Guldburg was unable to furnish bonds but pleaded to be allowed to go home and care for her two small children. Chief Hans Schramm then hit on the solution of the difficulty through the appointment of the two "police girls."

Mrs. Guldburg is believed to be a kleptomaniac. She says she started on her career of theft when she saw a rich society woman, handsomely gowned and bejeweled, pick up a tiara in one of the department stores and calmly put it in her handbag and walk off without paying for it. "I thought, if this rich woman can do this, why can't I," she says.

In the Guldburg home was found a big array of silverware, silver manicure sets, fancy handkerchiefs, silks, lingeries, linen table pieces, dollies, laces, gloves, beads, shirtwaists, silk petticoats, ribbons, embroidery, costly table cloths and aluminum kitchen utensils.

SANBORN GIRL DEBATERS WIN TWO VICTORIES

Sanborn, Ia., March 21.—In the triangular debate held by the high schools of Sanborn, Primghar and Hartley last night, both of the Sanborn teams were victorious, the Hartley teams won one and lost one, while Primghar lost both. The question was: "Resolved, That all corporations engaged in interstate commerce should be required to take out federal charters, it being conceded that such a plan would be constitutional and that federal license shall not be available as an alternative plan." The victorious Sanborn teams were composed entirely of girls, Mary Powers, Marie Flint and Ellen Lowe, upholding the negative against Hartley, and Nellie Mayne, Anna Keifer and Gladys Clark upholding the affirmative against Primghar.

CORRECTIONVILLE PROVIDES ANOTHER ELOPEMENT

Correctionville, Ia., March 21.—A newspaper notice of the issuance of a marriage license to Harry Cohrt and Miss Alice Parks, in Sioux City, was the first intimation their parents had that the wedding was imminent. It was also the first notice the parents had that the groom was 22 years old and the bride was 18. They had thought the boy but 17 and the girl but 16. A reported attempt by the father of the groom, Herman Cohrt, a real estate man here, to head off the wedding, was futile and the young people were married at the home of Oscar Wright, west of town, by Rev. J. A. Campbell of the United Evangelical church of this place Mrs. Parks, mother of the bride, and a widow, was visiting her son in Kingsley and knew nothing of her daughter's intentions. It is not known whether an effort to annul the marriage will be made. This is the second 16-year-old bride Correctionville has furnished in the past month. Both were elopements.

MONONA PROGRESSIVES MEET AND ORGANIZE

Castana, Ia., March 21—Dr. Aylesworth, state organizer for the progressive party met with a number of the "bull moosers" of this county in the town hall yesterday for the purpose of organizing the progressives of Monona county. The following officers were elected·

Chairman, E. D. Core, Onawa, vice chairman, S. S. Snyder, Castana, secretary, L. Haven, Onawa; treasurer, John Hawkins, Onawa.

An executive committee of 12 was also selected besides a committee on organization

Dr. Aylesworth brought a very encouraging report from the work over the state. He reported that he had assisted in organizing 42 counties in the state and made the statement that at least 90 of the counties will have county tickets in the field.

Arrangements are now being made in this county (Monona) to put up a full ticket. Monona county gave the progressive candidate for governor about 8,000 votes in 1912.

WOMAN'S SKIRTS AFIRE; DIES FROM INJURIES

Castana Ia., March 21—Mrs. W. H Smith died at her home near town this morning as a result of burns received the day before.

Mrs. Smith was giving her 5-month-old baby a bath and was sitting near a wood stove which was open in front to give stronger draft and it is believed her skirts were drawn into the fire.

Her skirts were all in flames before she discovered the fire. She had the presence of mind to get as far as possible from her babe and her invalid mother who were in the room.

By rolling on the floor she was able to extinguish the flames but not until she was so badly burned that medical aid could not save her.

Besides the little baby she leaves two other small boys, her husband, an invalid mother, two brothers and two sisters.

RAILWAY LAWYER HELD ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 21.—William E. Steele, who has been attorney for the Cedar Rapids and Marion Street Railway company for some time, was arrested on a warrant charging him with embezzlement. He was arraigned and gave an appearance bond for $500, which was signed by C. M. Barnes.

It is alleged Steele would effect settlement with persons injured in street car accidents and then turn in a claim to the company for a larger amount. Steele formerly was republican committeeman for the Fifth district and has been prominent in republican state conventions for a number of years.

EDITOR YOUNG DIES IN CEDAR RAPIDS; WAS WELL KNOWN

Had Been Connected With Gazette 25 Years—Leader in Many Organizations.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 20.—After a battle for life against heavy odds since last Saturday night when he was stricken with a complication of heart and kidney trouble, William G. Young, managing editor of the Cedar Rapids Evening Gazette, died at 3:35 o'clock this morning, aged 45. He had been connected with the Gazette 25 years. He was born in 1868 in a log cabin on the Gettysburg battlefield in the same house where General Meade made headquarters.

He came to Cedar Rapids from Traer, Ia., where he spent his boyhood.

Mr. Young was secretary of the Iowa Associated Dailies and one of the best known newspaper men in the state. He was a member of the Masons, Eastern Star, Knights of Pythias, Sons of Veterans and had been secretary of the National union 12 years. He is survived by Mrs. Young and one daughter.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The pallbearers will be his associates on the Gazette.

COUSIN OF EX-PRESIDENT SUFFERS LOSS OF LEG

Clarion, Ia., March 20.—T. T. Roosevelt, a prominent citizen residing at Ackley, who was shot in the calf of the leg while out hunting last fall, underwent an operation yesterday at the home of his son, Dr. Theodore Roosevelt, in this city. His leg was amputated at the thigh.

Mr. Roosevelt, who is a cousin of the ex-president, has been a miller in business, and is very well known throughout this part of the state, having interests at both Belmond, Ackley and other places. Last September, just after the season opened, he was out hunting with his two sons from this city. He was walking through the woods and stepped into a hole that was concealed by leaves. As he fell his gun was discharged and the charge went into the calf of his left leg a few inches below the knee. He was brought to town and given attention.

The wound never healed, however. His general condition otherwise has been fairly good For more than six months he has been confined to his bed. After consultation it was thought best to amputate his leg, as that was the only way his life could be saved. Yesterday the operation was performed by three physicians in this city. He rallied from the operation nicely and the latest reports state that he is doing well

UTE MUCH AROUSED BY WOMAN'S SUICIDE

Ute, Ia., March 20.—The funeral of Miss Faye Jones, 21 years old, who ended her life Monday by drinking a solution of concentrated lye rather than face a town scandal in which her name had been involved, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Jones. The body of the girl was buried in the little family lot in the town cemetery.

The girl ended her life Monday night at the home of her parents soon after word had been received in Ute of the arrest of Harry Sharp and Roy Fuller at Mapleton, Ia., on the charge of stealing a motor car belonging to L. J. Edgar, a Ute blacksmith.

The motor car in which a quartet went out riding was taken from the Leitzen garage late in the evening by Sharp and Fuller. The machine was found Sunday morning. The girls had returned to their homes, but Sharp and Fuller had left town. They were arrested at Mapleton by Marshall Kelley.

The death of the Jones girl and the arrest of Sharp and Fuller has caused a scandal in Ute. The two men have not returned to the city since their arrest in Mapleton Tuesday on a charge of stealing a motor car They waived arraignment before Justice A. J. Patrick and were bound over to the grand jury. They were released on bonds of $500 apiece, which were furnished by their fathers. The case will be taken up by the next Monona county grand jury, which will convene in Onawa the early part of April.

PLANNING TO REBUILD WEBSTER CITY PLANT

Webster City, Ia., March 20.—The plant of the Webster City Brick & Tile company, sold at receiver's sale to Henry Teget and P. W. Lee, will be practically rebuilt. It is the intention of the new owners to have the plant running at full blast within three months. Mr. Teget owns two-thirds and Mr Lee one-third. They plan, however, to incorporate at $50,000 and operate as a stock company.

H. M. Sparboe, receiver for the old company, sold the plant at auction for $11,000 to satisfy claims aggregating $46,816.09. The claimants will receive between 20 and 25 cents on the dollar. This plant was established back in the '80s by the late C. W. Soule.

When running, the plant will employ some 40 men. The rebuilding and operation of this plant means much to Webster City Mr. Teget will personally supervise it.

"CRADLE ROLL" RECORD HELD BY WEBSTER CITY

Webster City, Ia., March 20.—The record for the largest cradle roll in the state of Iowa is held by the Methodist Sunday school of this city. There are 60 names on its roll.

Mrs. H. O. Culter is superintendent of the cradle roll department of the Sunday school and has spent much time gathering in the babies. A child to be eligible to this roll must be under three years of age. The primary department of the school has a welcome song which they sing every Sunday when an addition has been made to the cradle roll. Mrs. Cutler is laying plans to entertain all the babies on the roll and their mothers some time this summer The superintendent keeps a card system of records showing the ages of all babies on the roll.

ATTORNEY REBUKES SUPREME COURT F... DECISION ON S...

Senator Saunders Says Co... Behind Times and Bloc... Improvement

Des Moines, Ia., March 18.—The supreme court of Iowa was called ... yesterday for not keeping up ... spirit of the times in the matter ... desire of all Iowa people for ... beauty. The case was one ... the painting of a sign on a ... in Counci Bluffs and the ... decided in favor of the sign ... ing for a reconsideration Saunders called attention to the ... act of the legislature to expend ... to beautify the capitol grounds, ... penditure of vast sums in Des ... to beautify the river front, the ... the legislature to protect parking ...

The City Beautiful.

"Everywhere public spirited ... are demanding that our cities ... beautiful and that many unsights ... jects shall be removed or screened ... here amid this agitation comes ... opinion of the supreme court of ... that the painting upon the ... store fronts is not unreasonable ... sightly, said Senator Saunders. ... without any law or ordinance regu... it of any character, civic pride ... sense of the proprieties has caused ... business men of the city of ... Bluffs upon the main street of the ... to refrain from such marring and ... facing of buildings. It seems to ... court has lost sight of the ... movement, and by this decision ... tempted to relegate us to the ... the prairie schooner and country ... lage."

OLD SOLDIER GETS PENSION AFTER 50-YEAR ...

Marshalltown, Ia., March 18.—... having waited nearly 50 years for ... sion, John P. Wagner, aged 72, a ... ber of the soldiers' home from ... tumwa, will soon be on the pay ... Uncle Sam as a civil war pen... At his age and service of 15 ... Wagner will be entitled to $... month.

The story of the denial by his ... ernment of a pensionable status ... interesting one. Away back in ... ber, 1864, Wagner committed an ... cretion by failing to salute a ... officer. Wagner was dishonorably ... charged by a courtmartial ... trial. This was on November 1...

In 1881 he tried to get Pres... Hayes to have the record of the ... department revoked and an hon... discharge substituted. President ... referred the case to the war ... ment and it ruled that it was ... out power to discuss the charge ...

Senator W. S. Kenyon recently ... up the case before the Senate com... tee on military affairs and word ... yesterday from Washington to ... fect that the House committee ... concurred in the Senate bill and ... ommended its passage without ... ment.

ELECTRICAL FIRMS WANT TO HIRE AMES STUD...

Ames, Ia., March 18.—Senior ... trical students at Iowa State ... are not worrying about jobs. Ma... quests than there are members ... class have been received from the ... electrical concerns of the country ... carefully trained Ames men.

Ten men are desired by a ... at Schenectady, N. Y., for the ... year college graduates' apprentice ... course. The Westinghouse people ... sending a man to Ames to select ... to six men for a similar course. ... Allis company, of Milwaukee, and ... Doherty organization also want ... men.

Though good positions with the ... prominent concerns are annually ... fered the Ames graduates, fully ... cent each year go to the large ... nies. Many of them have worked ... in competition with men from the ... most engineering schools of the ... try, into responsible positions ... engineering and selling departments ... these larger organizations

THREE BROTHERS QUARREL; ONE DIES IN ...

Delta, Ia., March 18.—Carl De... 25 years old, son of John Dewees, ... killed in a fight with his ... brother, Ike Dewees, on the D... farm, three miles west of Delta ... night.

Ike Dewees struck his brother ... over the head with a club when he ... terfered as a peacemaker in a ... between Ike and Harry Dewees ... other brother.

Ike Dewees was taken to Sig... and placed in jail. The Keokuk ... coroner held an inquest and the ... held he was responsible for the ...

The trouble started when Ike De... insisted on coming to Delta last ... He wished to drive his brother ... horse, and after he had gone ... barn Harry followed.

In a quarrel Ike and Harry ... blows, and when Carl tried to ... them, Ike picked up a club and ... him over the head. He died two ... later.

UNIVERSITY TO CELEBRATE BIG "FAMILY" DI...

Iowa City, Ia., March 18.—The ... for the annual University of ... "family" dinner has been set for ... day, March 31. On that evening ... students, faculty members and ... of the state university will sit do... the informal banquet in the armo...

The dinner will be held under ... auspices of the Iowa union and ... Women's league, the leading org... tions representing the men and ... students. It is the sixth time in ... history of the institution that ... event has been held and each ... has been found impossible to ... modate all those who wished to ...

YOUNG WOMEN ROBBED ON STREET BY T...

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 18.—... women were held up and robbed ... Saturday night by two young ... men armed with revolvers. The ... bers did not attempte to conceal ... faces and the women say they ... easily identify them. Two maids ... robbed within half a block of their ... trusts' homes of over $...

...Has Available Fighting ...orce of 110,000 Armed Men

...March 23.—In view of the ... regarding the number ... organization and equipment ... volunteers, statements by ... court, military correspon... London Times, and H. W. ..., prominent liberal writer ..., who have been touring ... important.

...court says the 110,000 men ... in the flower of their age ...ent physique. Decentrali... ...een the system of organi... ...country forms a separate ...are 65 battalions, of which ...fast. The volunteers have ...ars, 200 motorcycles and a ...stem of communication by ... and heliographs. Eighty thousand rifles, according to Colonel Dacourt, have been distributed in parcels, each containing five, to select men, so that wholesale seizure of the weapons would be impossible.

Between 60,000 and 80,000 men would respond to a call for the mobilization of the volunteers. He thinks the rifles of the volunteers obsolete and of several different patterns and that ammunition is scare.

"In scattered groups," Mr. Nevinson said, "they would try to harass the regular army sent to occupy the country. The movement, therefore, is not a bluff proper. Neither is it formidable from a miltary point of view. The intention is serious though fantastic, and it is formidable because no one wants to shoot his own people."

...SEEKS TO ...RT PREMATURE ... DISPLAY OF FORCE

...reland, March 23.—Ulster ...ted a very martial aspect. ... were occupied by soldiers ...r army and other detach... marching along the coun... ...ith long trains of baggage ...ition carts on their way to ...the various garrisons. At ...ist centers there was great ...mong the Ulster volunteers. ...ut the province, a feeling of ...citement prevailed and ...eemed waiting in anxious ... for something to occur.

...Lough also displayed con...ctivity. Two torpedo boat ...the Pathfinder and the At... ...rrived there today from ...and landed five officers and ... the Yorkshire regiment at ...us castle.

... hours, over 3,000 regular ...luding four battalions of in... ...th machine guns and two ... field artillery, all equipped ...ervice, have arrived in the ...ns of Ulster.

...ig Force Enroute.

...ops form the advance guard ...armed force, which the mil... ...orities are sending to the ...rovince of Ireland to pre... ...assumption of local govern... ...the anti-home rulers. Still ... are on their way to the ... the local military camp at ...h and from other army sta... ... The first arrivals in Ulster ...ng were the companies of ...alion of the Yorkshire light ...which were conveyed from ...acks in Dublin to Belfast ...board the torpedo boat de... ...athfinder during the night. ...mbarked at an early hour ...ng and marched to Carrick... ...tle, a disused military sta... ...anding he Lough. It lies 15 ...w Belfast and is of historic ...ing to its having been the ...ace of William III. Field ... mounted on the old forti... ...here this afternoon.

...Artillery Called Out.

...were issued to other batter... ...tillery at strategic positions ... city of Belfast.

...enerally expected here that ... brigade would be concen... Belfast during the week and ...th Queen's lancers and the ...ueen's Own Hussars, stationed ... Curragh, were yesterday ...with carbines and were ready ...northward this afternoon.

...sudden preparations by the ... so far have not created any ...monstration in Belfast. The ...f the so-called unionist pro... government, however, admit ...iety lest their over-enthusi... ...lowers precipitate riots dur... ...two days of idleness at the ..., and give their opponents ...t for opportunity for enforc... ...ous repressive measures.

...ward Carson, the Ulster union... ..., and his lieutenants desire ...rnment to take the first pro... ...step. Sir Edward, realizing ...ess of preventing an undisci... ...tbreak, as a protest against ...troop movements, today again ... Ulstermen to keep cool dur... ...week end.

...Belfast Seems Normal.

...ty this morning presented its ...utward aspect. All the places ...ss were open and in accord... ...h the urgent request of the ... leaders, all the men worked ...r usual Saturday closing time. ...ward Carson did not emerge ...m Craigavon, the residence of ... Craig, three miles from Belfast. ... continues to hold his "cabinet ... with Captain Craig, the Mar... ...Londonderry, the Earl of Ran... ... Earl of Clanwilliam and other ... workers.

... for provisions to be sent to ...n are given by telephone or ... dispatch riders. Martial law ...n declared within Captain ...state.

...East Belfast special service ...hich corresponds to the Amer... ...ute men, relieved the "West ... special service corps" this ... and took up its duties in Cap... ...g's grounds.

...d town hall of Belfast, which ...icial headquarters of the "pro... government," has been denied ... The important equipment as ... all documents, ciphers and ...pers have been removed from ...idden in a variety of places, ...ng distributed among the most ...t leaders of the unionists. ...s done in consequence of the ...ment of impending arrests, ...e unionists contend brought ... present crisis.

... "volunteer" in Ulster still ...ady for mobilization. ...rovisional government's "post... ..." by which letters and dis... ...are delivered by hand to the ...ost points of Ulster, quicker ... the government post, was busy ...t sending and receiving com...ions to and from the various ...tion centers of the unionists. ...s station on the roof of the ... hall also was at work, while ... the rooms of the building, ...ave been fitted with telegraph ...nts for the instruction of the ...telegraphers who are to take ... lines of communication, were ...h workers.

...rug stores of Belfast have laid ... supplies of surgical and medi... ...ment.

...elling of unrest among certain ...of the government troops is ...ong Some of the soldiers and the officers of the infantry battalions quartered in Ulster, including the Dorsetshire regiment and the Norfolk regiment, have openly expressed their disinclination to take the offensive. This does not cause any surprise among civilians, who generally expect wholesale defection A significant illustration of this attitude was given yesterday by the inhabitants of Enniskillen, who hung flags along the streets in honor of the arrival of a battalion of the Bedfordshire regiment.

BANDIT KILLS GUARD; POLICEMEN SLAY HIM

Outlaw Shoots Watchman and Wounds Two Officers in Running Fight.

Corona, Cal., March 23.—George W. Laporte a Santa Fe watchman, was killed early today by Sam Morie, a bandit found in a box car. Morie afterward was riddled with bullets by two policemen, both of whom he wounded before he fell dead. Twenty-three sticks of high power dynamite were found upon the body of Morie, who, according to papers found in his pockets, came from Los Angeles

Laporte was examining box cars on a siding when he came upon the bandit. He ordered Morie out of the car The bandit's reply was a bullet that pierced the watchman's heart.

Chief of Police Ramsay ordered a search and Frank Ewing and Charles Sherman, the town nightwatch came upon the slayer and he fled along the railroad tracks. Ewing ordered the man to halt. Morie had his hands in his coat pockets and fired his revolvers through a pocket. The bullet hit Ewing in the leg and as he fell he drew his own weapon and opened fire One of the bandit's bullets struck a rib in Sherman's side which deflected the missle from his heart Both policemen emptied their revolvers at the bandit and eight bullets hit the target

CASTRO IS FOUND BY POLICE RAIDERS

Port of Spain, Trinidad, March 23.—Gen. Cipriano Castro, former dictator of Venezuela, whose whereabouts had been unknown for several months, was located here today.

A party of detectives last night raided a hotel occupied almost solely by Venezuelans, and found there 40,000 rounds of ammunition and a few revolvers. This discovery led to a further raid early today. The police proceeded to a house which had been occupied for several months by Gen. Carmelo Castro, a brother of the former president. Armed with a search warrant, they went through the house. Among the effects of the occupants they found only one revolver and a few cartridges.

On entering one of the rooms, however, they found it occupied by General Castro himself. The one time dictator was extremely indignant over the procedure of the police, whose methods he denounced as harsh and unnecessary. It is stated that Sir George Le Hunte, the governor, cabled to London today for instructions from the foreign office regarding Castro. The police disclaim any intention of interfering with the general's liberty, but among the Venezuelan residents there is great excitement in regard to possible developments.

POLLOCK REFUSES TO RELEASE CONSPIRATORS

Kansas City, Kan., March 23.—Applications of three of the men convicted at Indianapolis in 1912 on charges of transporting explosives illegally, asking their release from the penitentiary at Leavenworth, were denied last night by Federal Judge John C. Pollock.

Philip Cooley of Utah, J. E. Munsey of Buffalo, and John Webb of Cleveland, asked release. They were not released on bond with the others of the convicted men while awaiting the final disposition of their cases in the supreme court. Release for the three was asked for on the ground that they were convicted in Indiana, while none was a citizen of that state.

GOOD WILL COSTLY TO THE OATMEAL COMBINE

Chicago, March 23.—Record of the transfer of the American Cereal company to the Quaker Oats company were read today in the record of the government suit to dissolve the Quaker Oats company under the Sherman anti-trust law. Tangible property of the Cereal company amounted to $3,500,000, according to the testimony, and $7,000,000 was added for patent and good will, raising the valuation to more than $10,000,000.

H. F. Dousman, former secretary of the Consolidated Oat Meal company, was questioned. The Consolidated company, it was testified, went out of business when it was replaced by the American Cereal company. The Consolidated company was the original oat meal pool and arbitrarily fixed prices, according to Dousman.

STRIKERS REFUSE TO OBEY THEIR LEADER

Miners, Ordered to Leave Tent Colony, Decline to Desert Camp.

Colliers, W. Va. March 23 —Striking miners of the West Virginia and Pittsburgh Coal company, who have been in camp near the company's property since the strike was declared last September, held their ground today. It was reported James Oates, their leader, who is on trial in the United States district court at Philippi for violating the injunction of Judge Dayton, had ordered them to leave their tents.

Joseph Bowers, who has command of the camp in Oates' absence, declared he would maintain the camp until he received orders from John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, to move. It was reported here that officials of the Ohio organization had instructed Bowers to keep strikers together and not abandon the camp.

A number of arrests were made during the night for alleged carrying of concealed weapons, among the men taken being a foreman at the Colliers mine.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN INTERESTS SCIENTISTS

Berlin, March 23 —German astronomers are already taking a lively interestc in a total eclipse of the sun that occurs August 21. The city of Hamburg is fitting out an expedition at its own expense, and Prussia will give assistance to an expedition headed by Professor Miethe, of the Technicological instituto in Charlottenburg. A number of German astronomers will attach themselves to American expeditions. Professor Miethe's expedition, which will be chiefly for the purpose of making photographs of the eclipse, will go to the island of Alsten, far up on the coast of Norway, where the path of the totality first touches the European continent The Hamburg expedition will make its observations in Russia. It is understood that the Russian astronomers are making extensive preparations for facilitating the work of the American and other foreign expeditions by having the proper astronomical calculations worked out for each important point in the path of totality.

COTTON BY-PRODUCTS BUSINESS IS DIVIDED

New York, March 23.—The lines of business conducted by the American Cotton Oil company will hereafter be divided and placed under the control of three allied companies, according to announcement today by R. F. Munro, president The business of refining and selling cottonseed oil will be conducted by the American cotton Oil company itself, the cotton ginning and cottonseed oil milling and fertilizer business will be conducted by the Union Seed & Fertilizer company, a subsidiary, and the manufacture of lard soaps and the like by the N K Fairbank company, another subsidiary.

The company denies that the reorganization has any connection with recent reports that the government had asked it to correct its affairs and says that the new arrangement is for the purpose of effecting a "more simple organization and a more effective carrying on" of the company business.

TOLLS RESOLUTION PROVOKES OUTBURST

Washington, March 23.—Senator Jones' much discussed resolution calling on President Wilson for information of what nations had protested against th Panama tolls exemption. was referred to the foreign relations committee after Senator O'Gorman and its author had withdrawn objections.

Senator Hoke Smith and Senator Jones clashed when the latter wanted the clerk ' read a newspaper story. saying the , resident wanted a limit on Panama tolls debate. Senator Smith blocked it, but Senator Jones, waiting until a bill on the calendar had been called up, read the article, which sought to show that the president had told members of the House that debate on the bill sh u l be limited to 15 hours.

"I don't believe the president made any such uggestion," said Senator Borah, republican.

IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE DANIEL WRIGHT ASKED

Washington, March 23 —A resolution to impeach Justice Daniel T Wright of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, was introduced in the House today by Representative Park, democrat, of Georgia, and referred to the judiciary committee, to decide what action shall be taken The committee recently dismissed as uncorroborated charges similar to those contained in the Park resolution, which alleged the justice was guilty of improprieties on the bench and in private life.

Justice Wright has attracted wide attention as the justice who sentenced Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison to jail terms for contempt of court in the Bucks Stove & Range company case

PURE BOOK LAW NEEDED, SAYS HARVARD LECTURER

New Haven, Conn., March 23.—"Literary criticism in book reviews is lacking in good taste and intellectual candor," declared Prof. Bliss Perry of Harvard, in the first of his Bromley lectures on journalism at Yale. "Criticism is influenced by the league between the publisher and the critic to obtain the best commercial result from the sales of books. Most criticisms are done by ill-paid and untrained journalists."

He also criticised the book advertisements. "The courts insist on labels for food," he said. "There is no pure food law for books. This indiscriminate advantage will ultimately defeat itself."

JUDGE, WHO IS TRYING FRAUD CASES, WARNED

Election Jugglers Threaten the Court—All Visitors Are Searched for Arms.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 21.—Work of selecting a jury to try Mayor Donn M. Roberts on charges of corrupting elections was begun today in the circuit court. A special venire of 100 men was summoned.

That the trial may last a week or longer was indicated when the state announced it had subpoenaed more than 100 witnesses and the defense, it was said, will have nearly as many. A large number of persons who have served as election officials here are among the witnesses.

Every person who enters the court room during the trial will be searched for weapons, in accordance with orders issued by the sheriff. Court officials recently received threats that they would be killed unless the prosecutions of the city officials for election frauds were stopped and two men now are held in the county jail under bond of $25,000 each on charge of conspiring to kill Judge Fortune and Felix Blankenbaker special judge.

SYNDICATE, WHICH 'STUNG' FRISCO, TO TAKE BACK ROADS

St. Louis, Mo., March 21.—A debt of more than $4,600,000 which the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad owed Albert T. Perkins, as syndicate trustee, is cancelled by the terms of an agreement filed with United States Judge Sanborn today. Two of the subsidiaries of the Frisco revert to the syndicate that promotes them. Judge Sanborn will pass on the agreement this afternoon.

The indebtedness was in the form of notes aggregating $2,573,386, which had been given by the Frisco to Perkins, as syndicate manager of the St. Louis Union Trust company, and certain collateral given to guarantee the payment of loans.

The notes represent the sum paid to Perkins for the New Iberia & Northern railroad, a line 120 miles long, in Louisiana, which the Frisco purchased from the syndicate. This road and the New Iberia, St. Mary & Eastern now revert to the syndicate. The separation from the Frisco marks a step in the reorganization which has been under way since the recent investigation of the Interstate Commerce commission into the causes of the Frisco receivership. The Frisco bought the New Iberia a short time before it went into receivership.

Attorneys for the receivers claimed that the purchase of the New Iberia & Northern was illegal, as the subsidiary had no physical connection with the parent road. Perkins had filed suit to enforce the payment of the notes, but the receivers had planned to fight this with denial of the validity of the contract.

The petition was filed with Judge Sanborn today, asking him to approve the cancellation of the debt.

This petition stated that on January 1, 1912, the St. Louis Union Trust company loaned Perkins $250,000 to aid in the construction of the Bloomington branch of the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico, another Frisco subsidiary, and on September 3, 1912, loaned Perkins $250,000 for building a Brownsville branch from Heyser, Tex., to Austwell, Tex The trust company claimed that the Frisco guaranteed the payment of these loans and had presented bonds of the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico as security. After the receivers were appointed it was impossible to issue the bonds.

The Frisco, by the terms of the agreement filed today, recovered four blocks of land in Dallas, Tex., worth $500,000, pledged to the trust company to secure a mortgage. The Frisco also transfers to the trust company all its claims to the contracts for the construction of the two branches of the Brownsville road and waived all claim on the New Iberia & Northern railroad and in New Iberia, St. Mary & Eastern.

Loomis C. Johnson, attorney for the Frisco receivers, said the settlement filed today reduced the indebtedness of the Frisco by more than $4,000,000, and prevented prolonged litigation.

The agreement cancels claims of the St. Louis Union Trust aggregating $1,833,393, and Chairman Lusk, of the receivers, said this afternoon that the total debt cancelled by the agreement approximates $4,600,000.

MILLIONAIRE IS SUED FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 21.—Bryant H. Howard, a San Diego, Cal., millionaire, was made defendant in a $1,500,000 breach of promise suit filed here yesterday by Maud Armfield, who alleges that Howard is the father of her 2-year-old daughter. In her action Miss Armfield asserted she married Howard at San Diego in the summer of 1909, only to learn in the following February that a complaint charging Howard with bigamy had been issued.

Howard left for Mexico, she alleged, to avoid prosecution, but returned later and influenced her to obtain an annulment of marriage. After he had obtained a divorce from his legal wife Howard refused to keep his promise to marry her, Miss Armfield alleges.

She says Howard is possessed of property valued at $3,000,000.

SHOE WORKERS STRIKE IN THREE FACTORIES

Portsmouth, Ohio, March 21.—After an all night session the joint council of the United Shoe Workers of America this morning called a strike in the factories operated by the Selby, Drew and Excelsior companies in this city. Approximately 4,000 employes are affected. The meeting of the joint counsel came as an abrogation by the manufacturers of the working agreement between the employers and employes and state industrial commission, which resulted in a settlement of a recent strike affecting the same companies.

The employers demanded that all employes sign a new "no strike agreement" for a period of six months or be discharged.

EARTH CRACKS OPEN; TWO MEN DISAPPEAR

Miners and Their Shanty Swallowed—No Trace of Them Found.

Pottsville, Pa., March 21.—The earth opened and swallowed two miners and a work shanty on the mountain side at the Kehley Run colliery at Shenandoah today, and although large forces of men have been put to work both inside the mines and at the surface, no trace of the men or building can be found. They may have been dropped a distance of 500 feet or any portion of it, and it may require weeks to learn their fate.

A third man working near the shanty at the time, saved himself by grasping a steam pipe and hanging on until help arrived.

CHEERING WILDLY, VOLUNTEER ARMY WELCOMES CARSON

Dublin, Ireland, March 21.—The fleet of British warships now lying in Bantry bay, in the southwest of Ireland, is expected to sail tomorrow for 'Kingstown harbor, which lies seven miles to the southeast of Dublin.

Belfast, March 21.—Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the unionists of Ulster, made a dramatic entry into the capital of Ulster province today. His purpose in coming here is to consult with the other Ulster unionist leaders and with the commanders of the Ulster volunteer forces.

The great activity displayed at unionist headquarters and in the army barracks have caused considerable excitement among the people of Belfast, who for days past have been momentarily expecting some decisive move on the part of the unionist chiefs or the government.

Before landing this morning, Sir Edward Carson received on board the steamer on which he had made the passage from England, Sir George Richardson, a retired lieutenant general of the British army, who is commander in chief of the Ulster unionist forces, together with his chief officers.

As the party came down the gangway from the steamer to the pier, they found drawn upon as a guard of honor the emergency force of picked men of the Ulster volunteers, who had been summoned to the unionist headquarters at a late hour last night. A big crowd gave them a noisy welcome, cheering wildly and firing salvos into the air from their revolvers. During the night, automobiles had been kept busy moving stores and documents from the unionist headquarters, apparently fearing a raid by the police, who have been keeping close watch on every move made by the unionists.

Precautions of a rigorous character have been taken at the Victoria military barracks here. Extra guards are on duty day and night. Urgent instructions have been sent to the military authorities in the south of Ireland to dispatch reinforcements immediately to the garrison stations in Ulster.

In response to instructions from army headquarters a detachment of 200 infantry arrived at Newry today from the Curragh, and another 300 from Mullingar. The garrison of Londonderry also was reinforced by 300 men from Mullingar and two warships arrived in Dublin bay.

Feeling among the public in Belfast has become tense since yesterday's debate in parliament. Soon after his arrival here, Sir Edward Carson issued an appeal to his followers to preserve calm.

LANSING TO LAND MOORE'S OLD JOB

Washington, March 21.—President Wilson today nominated Robert Lansing, of Watertown, N. Y., to be counsellor for the department of state, succeeding John Bassett Moore, and Cone Johnson, of Texas, to be solicitor for the department, succeeding Joseph W. Folk.

Mr. Lansing is an associate editor of the American Journal of International Law and the author of several works on international subjects. He will succeed John Bassett Moore. He is 50 years old, was associate counsel for the United States in the Behring sea arbitration in 1892-93; counsel for the United States in the Behring sea claims commission, 1896-97; solicitor for the United States on the Alaskan boundary tribunal, 1903, counsel in the arbitration at The Hague in 1909 of the north Atlantic coast fisheries case. His home is in Watertown, N. Y.

Mr. Johnson, who will succeed Joseph W. Folk, as solicitor, is about 49 years old and, according to the statement issued from the White House today, is "one of the most brilliant lawyers in Texas."

He was a candidate for the United States Senate once, but retired from the contest on account of ill health.

The White House described him as "one of the leading factors in progressive democracy of Texas."

With the naming of a new counsellor and a new solicitor all the vacancies in the state department will have been filed, a new third assistant secretary of state, William Phillips, having recently been nominated.

Mr. Lansing is a soninlaw of former Secretary John W. Foster, of the state department, a warm personal friend of long standing of John Bassett Moore, whom he succeeds, and now is the agent for the United States on the British-American pecuniary claims commission now in session here.

FORT DODGE PLANT BURNED TO GROUND

Fort Dodge, Ia., March 21.—Twenty thousand loss, partly insured, resulted from a fire which destroyed the planing mill of the Fort Dodge Manufacturing company early this morning. The cause of the fire is at present unknown. No decision has been reached concerning rebuilding the plant.

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E Baumgartner

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries and respectfully solicit your support and assistance Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.
THOS H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries June 1914
Christina Carlson

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries
Jennie Hammell

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries
G G Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914
E L STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will abide the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914
I D G Houghton
Goodell Iowa

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914
Martin Bachman

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election
A E Katter

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries
I C Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries A J Cole

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration. S. B. Durant.

"Literary Convulsions"

Being a Series of Dementia Hullucinations Reported Semi-Ocasionally for this paper by
ERNEST C. FOSTER

COPYRIGHT 1913 BY THE FOSTER SERVICE

APRIL

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. Now some painted, padded "chicken" is his cooing turtle dove. Time is fleeting, soon they're married—no more "chicken" is she then—nothing stirring in the coo stuff—just a fussy, cackling hen

Excepting All Fools' Day, when we must laugh and consider it a good joke if someone wants to shoot off one of our ears or burn our home—excepting the foolish custom of teaching children that rabbits lay Easter eggs—excepting these afflictions, the annual house-cleaning and a round or two with chills and fever, April is alright. The month, too, has a coquettish habit of beguiling a fellow out in his low shoes and B. V. D., and then surprising him with a hurry-up snow storm or a "spring shower" that feels like it had been held over from the December stock.

In days gone by, Easter—April's one big event—was religiously observed in commemoration of the resurrection of our Saviour. It is now observed as an international exhibit of millinery, its only relation to the original resurrection being the resurrection and rebuilding of last year's hats by women whose husbands have been too stingy (or too sensible) to provide a 1914 model

This is the month we sow the seeds and later reap a crop of weeds, for men somehow, to save their lives, cannot make garden like their wives. And, while 'twould be with much regret, I feel that all we men should let our better halves the credit take—yes, all there is in hoe and rake.

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd District of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June
Valentine Joslin Jr

Rural Education.

The editors of the Saturday Evening Post who have brains enough to produce a paper which has achieved a circulation of 2,000,000 copies and is probably the most widely read single publication in the world, have this to say of rural school consolidation.

It ought to be pretty well understood by this time that the one-room rural district school beloved of our grandfathers is mostly a scandalous institution The type of country school just out of the mail man and, sometimes [illegible] and sometimes [illegible] yet points of association.

A Vermont [illegible] covering thirty-two such schools shows that in three years [illegible] one hundred and seventeen different teachers of whom on an average—more than half served less than two years.

A great majority of these schools are poorly housed and hardly equipped at all, just a bare little room with a desk, a rostrum, a blackboard and a poisonous castiron stove. That efficient instruction can be had under such conditions is out of the question.

And there is less and less excuse for the typical one-room, ungraded rural district school. Our grandfathers could have that or nothing. In their day the nearest town was ten miles of more away and the road all but impassible half the year.

Now—all over the middle west at least—there are few rural districts that are not within easy haul of a village graded school; still fewer that might not have a fairly equipped graded school within easy haul by consolidating the districts. Already in some localities a wagon to bring in the country children is as much a part of the educational equipment as the traditional blackboard itself.

Like some other poor institutions the little red school house subsists mainly on prejudice and mere inertia. If educating children is worth all this effort, to give them tolerably efficient teaching is worth just a little more effort."

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our old and new customers, we don't like to see a single one go astray away to another town and think of buying goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts no price. You will not sell a [illegible] at $100 00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery the Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other doors cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell the Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the [illegible] Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date [illegible] Island Hayes, Sattley and the J D. Tower goods Five kinds of line Engines. Letz Grinders, Harrows, Acme Harvesters. [illegible] Rakes. The new Adriance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers [illegible] Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles

Call and See Us at our Old Shack,

HENRY LAU & SON

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19 KLEMME IA:
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

W. F. MISSMAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office Phone No. 11-02
Residence No. 11 03
Office and residence in the State Sav Bank building.
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

J. E. BAUMGARTNER
The Tonsorial Artist
Will give you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.
2nd door west of State Savings Bank
Call in

Take Notice
CORN Belt Farm Land in Minnesota from $5 00 to $90 00 per acre Easy terms Write.
W. H. Wolle, Belmond, Iowa

IF YOUR LIGHT SUITS

are begrimmed with [illegible] it would be

A Most Suitable Act

Ladies and Gentlemen [illegible] bring them her [illegible]

CLEANING and PRESSING which we will do in a manner and at a price which will suit you

At your service

Garner Dress Club
GARNER, IOWA

Dean's

Make the Clothes That Make the Man

Our Leader Blue Serge to your measure $18.00

For Strictly Tailor-Made Clothes, the Biggest Bargains of the year, send for our catalogue and we know you will be a customer for life.

Many styles and a large variety of materials to select from, which are shown in our new booklet.

Write us at once and it will be forwarded to you.

We bring Smart, Correct Tailoring to your door.

Dean's Clothes Shop
Mallers Building, Chicago

Kindly Mention Your Local Paper

...ate of Will

...A } ss
..., }
... CONCERN:
...y given that an in-
...ting, purporting to
... and testament of
...deceased was filed
...e undersigned on the
... A, D, 1914, and that
...ixed for the hearing
...thereto.
...hand and the Seal of
...t attached at Garn-
...y this 2nd day of

...KNADLER.
... District Court.
...cock County Iowa.

...ELDER

...HE—

...L MAN"

...PARSONS
...TIST
...e Savings Bank.
... No. 48.
... - Iowa

F. A. Bredlow
...low & Son
...ers of
... Bred
...rn Cattle
...eeding Stock
... Garner, Iowa

...d Gravel
... per load, cash,
... days, after
... per load, All
... strictly cash.
...Griffen,
...mme, Iowa.

...pecial:
...eceived a car
...EAM FLOUR
...y customers
...any flour I
...ed to have
... try a sack.
...fully guaran-
...roves unsat-
... back what
...nd we will
...oney.
...s on 5 and 10
...will also give
...that amount.

BUSCH

...ay Up.
...ing themselves
...ill please call
...ed the money.

...Algona, who it
...delivered a lec-
...r recent Dairy
...ided to become
...gress from the
... name will be
...ive party ticket
...nd while a num-
...d like to sup-
...ve much oppor-
...ny good in the
...e a chance to
...e general elec-
... more to say of

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 54
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8 10
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

St. Elmo To Night, (Wednesday)

See Roy Newman for horse clipping.

Good Milch Cow for sale. C. L. Yahnke.

Have your horses clipped by Roy Newman.

Miss Ella Schuldt was at Garner, Monday.

Frank Walsh was down from Garner, Friday.

C. L. Yahnke was a Germania visitor, Monday.

St. Elmo at the Opera House tonight, (Wednesday.)

St. Elmo at the opera house, to-night. (Wednesday)

Mrs. Wm. Fuller was a Garner visitor, Monday.

Miss Hulda Johnson visited Garner friends, Friday.

When you want your garden p owed see Fred Kluckhohn.

See Fred Kluckhohn when you want your garden plowed

FOR SALE —Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles.

Don't forget the meeting of the Commercial League, Friday evening.

Hurry and get your seats for St. Elmo at the opera house to-night, (Wednesday.)

Mrs. Sherwood is quite sick with pneumonia and is under the care of a trained nurse.

Fred Kluckhohn can do your garden plowing in a prompt manner and at a resonable price

Clarence Wiles has put in electric lights and a dandy National cash register He believes in being up-to-date

St Elmo, recognized as the greatest New York success in recent years, at the opera house tonight. (Wednesday.)

About thirty friends and relatives of Wm. Schlawein tendered him a birthday surprise Sunday and a very good time was reported.

WANTED —Local agent to represent us in the sale of North Dakota Farms.--Dennstedt Land Co., 504 Putnam Bldg, Davenport, Iowa

E P. Dow and family of Rake, and H. E Pietzke and family and Mr Allen and family of Lu Verne, spent Sunday with Mrs. A B Shafer.

S B. Durant of Madison township, was in town Friday feeling the pulse of the Republican voters and may decide to come out for Representative

Hod Lowhorn has been on the sick list the past week or two and Dr. Missman took him to the hospital at Mason City, Monday, where he may undergo an operation.

Germania will hold a May Festival some time during May. Outside professional talent will be used in conjunction with the best local talent which Germania is fortunate in having a large amount of. The business men of the town are guaranteeing the venture and it is planned to make it a gala time.

St. Elmo, from Augusta J. Evans' World Famous Novel, dramatized, at the Opera House tonight, (Wednesday)

The J. E. Harlan family have moved into their new residence property. A. W. Ross and family of Wellsburg, the machinist, at the new garage, will occupy the rooms vacated by the Harlans over the Gruetzmacher harness shop.

If you have not been taking in the "movies" of late you had better do so. The pictures are bright and clear since they have added an electric equipment and they are showing some mighty fine features.

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you.

B Swalve returned last week from a trip which took him to Chicago and Freeport, Illinois At the former place he went with a shipment of his own cattle and at the latter place visited old time friends and neighbors.

It is rumored that the reason the Hart Parr Co. at Charles City are closing down is because the International Harvester Co have bought the plant to avoid competition and not on account of slack sales as the company has not been able to make their tractors fast enough to supply the demand.

The announcement of Valentine Josten, Jr., for Supervisor from this district will be found in this issue Mr Josten has lived in this vicinity practically all of his life and his friends are numerous. He was urged to make the campaign and is out to win If he is elected he will make a very good official as he is capable in every respect

A. M. Greisemer went to Mason City, Saturday, where he had the plaster paris cast removed from his arm He still has to protect it and is now using a leather support on it. It will be some time before the arm will return to a normal condition but the doctors tell him that it will be only a question of time before it will be alright again. His many friends are glad to know that the arm is getting better.

The Idle Hour

Motion Pictures

Every

Saturday Night

Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
March 28th

For Another's Sin

Big 2 Reel Feature

and a side splitting comedy, entitled,

"FOR HUBBY'S SAKE"

Admission: 10 and 15 cents

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Monarch MALLEABLE
The Stay Satisfactory Range

Make Your Cooking a Daily Pleasure

Uncle Sam Is A Careful Buyer

When the government sets out to equip any one of its numerous branches of service, its agents must be assured that an article will give service—will prove itself a money saver in the long run and, last but not least, save time and labor. In various branches of government service, after being subjected to the most rigid tests and careful examinations, the choice of a range has been the

MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE

as being the best fitted to stand the severe test of service.

What will serve the exacting purposes of Uncle Sam and the rigid examination of his agents, will bear your careful consideration.

Granite Ware Free

We have just stocked an excellent line of granite ware and in order to introduce it to our patrons we will give one piece free with every piece purchased at the regular price. Here's a bargain you should not miss

WE SELL THE Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

C. W. WILES

THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

NOW IS THE TIME

TO DO YOUR SEWING

and this is the place to buy your goods. The store with one price and that the Lowest. We are busy unpacking Spring Goods and can show you a nice line of Messaline, Silks, Crepes, Ratines, Voiles, and Ginghams, Also Laces and Embroidery at prices that will please you.

Remember we carry the celebrated ALBERTA CORSET and have one to fit you. Be sure to call for the Alberta---the brand that speaks for itself.

Clean, Fresh Groceries Always On Hand.

Call In And See Us

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store

WALL PAPER

On entering a beautiful home your first impression is the decoration.

The matter of decoration and beautifying your home becomes easy after an inspection of our complete line of newest creations in Wall Paper.

PRICES RIGHT

G. A. PABST, DRUGGIST

A Human Churn

WHEN the food reaches the stomach it is subjected to a gentle churning movement by the muscular walls of the stomach" (See Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, page 45). In the liver, kidneys and skin, the blood is purified of its waste materials—these organs act as human filters, leaving the blood pure and clean—unless liver, digestive tract and kidneys are clogged.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

is a stomach, liver and kidney tonic—by assisting the stomach to assimilate, the liver to filter, the kidneys to act—the poisons are removed, the red blood corpuscles are increased and one feels light, fresh and active instead of logy, dull and heavy. The "Discovery" stimulates the stomach, increases action of heart and arteries and is a most satisfactory alterative in blood-taint of any character. The refreshing influence of this extract of native medicinal plants has been favorably known for over forty years. Everywhere some neighbor can tell you of the good it has done.

Sold by all medicine dealers in liquid or tablet form; or send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and a trial box will be mailed you.

Affirm Higher Qualities.

A persistent affirmation that you do possess the qualities which are necessary for your higher success, that you will develop them to their utmost strength, aids wonderfully in acquiring the desired possession There is everything in assuming firmly and persistently the part you wish to play in life. Resolve and believe that you are manly, or womanly, noble, vigorous and strong. Never for an instant allow yourself to think that you are weak and mean and contemptible. After a while you will retain permanently the character which you assume.—Unity

"BOUND FOR WESTERN CANADA"

A PRAIRIE SCHOONER SLOGAN, THAT STARTED FROM NEBRASKA.

Four horses abreast attached to a red painted prairie schooner, with windows and a protruding stovepipe, with the words, "Bound for Canada," on the schooner's side, was the object of considerable interest as it passed on the way northward from Nebraska a short time ago through the towns in Nebraska, South and North Dakota. After some weeks of strenuous traveling in this way, Mr J F. Jensen made the overland trip from Jameson, Nebraska, and with his little family made the regular customs entry at North Portal, in the province of Saskatchewan. Their destination was Willow Bunch, a district that Mr Jensen had selected as one in which it was possible for him to work out his fortune. He located on a good half section of land and intended putting on it some cattle that would fatten on the wild prairie grass that grows so luxuriously in that district In addition to this his purpose was to cultivate a portion of it and raise wheat, oats, barley or flax In short, a life devoted to mixed farming was what he had in view and it is easy to understand that he will make a success of it, and in a year or so will attach some more land holdings

Although his beginning may be small, it may safely be said that Mr. Jensen, like thousands of others who have begun life in western Canada on no more and with probably much less, will prosper He will not be far from a line of railway Schools will be close at hand and other social conditions so necessary in a new country are available.—Advertisement.

The Two Kinds.

Dr Talcott Williams, the brilliant head of the Columbia School of Journalism, said at a recent luncheon·

"The sensational type of newspaper is happily going out. The exponents of this type used to defend themselves with the assertion that their scandalous articles were a natural response to a natural curiosity.

"But to this a great editor once re- "'There are two kinds of curiosity Into one kind we stick our brain, into the other only our nose.'"

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Blaming the Woman.

"What's the matter with McGrouch? He is more bitter against women than ever"

"He had four queens beaten last night."

Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take. Do not gripe Adv.

No Civility.

"This is what they call a civil suit"

"You'd never think it to hear the way the lawyers are talking to each other."

Doctor up that Cough—Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops are a sure relief for all coughs and colds—5c at Druggists.

A short answer often helps things along.

Read the City Papers.

Teacher—What is a pedestrian?

Country Pupil—A fellow what gets run over by an automobile.

PIMPLES ON FACE AND ARMS

411 Howard St., Dayton, Ohio—"About a year ago my face, neck, arms and back were beginning to become afflicted with pimples and blackheads My pimples would get very large and appear to come to a head. If I tried to open them the pain would be terrible, but nothing could be taken from them. They itched very badly, I suffered terribly from itching. After scratching, the pimples would swell and after the swelling was gone my face would become very red and remain so for some time. My clothing caused the itching to be worse. When it was warm it was utterly impossible to sleep

"I used a cream and the more I used the worse they got. Shortly after, I read the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and determined to use them. The itching stopped almost immediately This was about three months ago and I am entirely cured now." (Signed) Miss Marguerite E. Jacobs, Jan. 13, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world Sample of each free, with 32-p Skin Book. Address post card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston"—Adv

On Thin Goods.

If you have trouble in making buttonholes in thin material, here is a way of overcoming the difficulty· Hold a piece of the material on the under side and cut the hole through this as though it were part of the waist. When the buttonhole is finished, cut away the under cloth very carefully so that it will not show There will be no difficulty, even with chiffon, if the cloth is folded two or three times.

The Noisy Noyes Again.

Ezra Pound, the Philadelphia poet whose work has thrilled London, said the other day of Alfred Noyes, his British rival

"Noyes declares that my torch of diluted Browningism, after a feeble splutter, has gone out Now, in revenge let me tell you a story about Noyes and Swinburne.

"Some time after Rossetti's death Noyes wrote a long memorial poem. He was so proud of this poem that he waylaid Swinburne one morning on Putney common and insisted on reading it to him.

"Swinburne tired to escape, but Noyes bawled the whole 30 stanzas into his poor deaf ear. Then, at the end, he said, with a complacent smile:

"'There, sir, is my poem on Rossetti. What do you think of it?'

"'It would be better,' Swinburne answered, 'if fou had died and Rossetti had written the poem.'"

WANTED TO KNOW

The Truth About Grape-Nuts Food.

It doesn't matter so much what you hear about a thing, it's what you know that counts. And correct knowledge is most likely to come from personal experience

"About a year ago," writes a N. Y. man, "I was bothered by indigestion, especially during the forenoon. I tried several remedies without any permanent improvement.

"My breakfast usually consisted of oatmeal, steak or chops, bread, coffee and some fruit.

"Hearing so much about Grape-Nuts, I concluded to give it a trial and find out if all I had heard of it was true.

"So I began with Grape-Nuts and cream, soft boiled eggs, toast, a cup of Postum and some fruit. Before the end of the first week I was rid of the acidity of the stomach and felt much relieved.

"By the end of the second week all traces of indigestion had disappeared and I was in first rate health once more. Before beginning this course of diet, I never had any appetite for lunch, but now I can enjoy the meal at noon time."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF "THE DAY OF SOULS," "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

24

CHAPTER XVIII.—(Continued)

She regarded him demurely through half-closed limpid eyes.

"Some people I know wouldn't be sorry if I did!'"

Aurelie was plainly playing with poor Mr. Curran. He felt it and was enraged. "If you weren't so grown up, I'd spank you. You—a young lady!'"

"I'm not. Ask Harlan's mother or some of the Shakespeare club. I'm vulgar and nobody—just Old Michigan's girl!'"

Mr. Curran sat despairingly down. Never to him had she been so beautifully buoyant, so arch with joy, so infinite with possibilities, so gay with blithe courage. Love Harlan? Surely not! This was life she was loving—smiles and tears and triumphs—she was enraptured with it all, and she was unfolding splendidly, dangerously, out of the hard and meager years she had served.

"John says the reason he won't let the family have your presents is because you're a contrivance of the devil!'"

"But you like the devil's contrivances, don't you, Mr. Curran?"

"I expect I do, Aurelie."

"And you don't care a hang what congress thinks!"

"I'm afraid not, Aurelie."

She came with laughter to him—and kissed him. "Nobody can see us! What's the use of hating anybody? Or being sorry? Or pining because they don't love you? Oh, let's just go on and be fine with every one! I'm trying to be religious. I say prayers when I ain't too sleepy. And I'm collecting Madonna heads, and I give dimes to all the beggars. Ada says it's silly to cross the street to give dimes to people, but I tell her it's religious!'"

"Somehow," he muttered, "I have to forgive you. Do you know you are living, Aurelie, every day? That's what it means—to be gay and happy and kind, and not bother too much about other things." He took her hands: "Dear girl, life isn't so much winning anything as always trying It's better to travel than to arrive, as some one said And oh, so many years I stood still—until you came, Aurelie I can't exactly explain it—you can't imagine how you helped me!'"

She looked at him wide-eyed. "Helped you?"

"I knew you wouldn't," he went on despairingly.

She was still for a time. "I wish I could understand! It's fine to know you. I never used to feel so hopeless after I met you. You made me happy because you saw something in me—I wasn't just common to you." He looked up to see some grateful shining in her eyes—"And the funny old town—we were both rebels, weren't we? And just suppose you did go to congress, and I became a real actress!" She stood by the window and stared out across the busy street to where, even in Earlville, one saw the encircling hills.

"What, then, Aurelie?"

"Why, we'd both remember how we helped each other'"

He went away with a surge of his heart he could not still. "Now write me every week," she had said. "Nice friendly letters—and not fatherly-advice letters as if you were baldheaded, Mr. Curran!'"

When he had gone home, he climbed Eagle Point trail before he could sleep. And he did a curious thing for a possible member of congress; he kissed his fingers toward the eastern hills and whispered:

"Because you're there, Aurelie—just because you're there!'"

CHAPTER XIX.

THE WAY OF HIS CASTE.

The day after the autumn primaries, state politics was conscious of a distinct shock. The "insurgent' governor had triumphed again, but that was expected. But what at once was the sensation, attracting even national attention, was the defeat of James S. Hall, chairman of the most powerful committee in congress, confidant of the president—beaten in his home constiuency, the sober caution counties of the Iowa reserve, by an obscure country editor'

The press buzzed with explanations. It marked the temper of the rural west, it meant the downfall of traditional control; it was revolutionary, demagogic. Curran was a socialist, anarchist, freethinker, what not! Nobody knew exactly. Down in his home county folk said. "Well, we always did sort of like Wiley Curran out our way." In the other precincts of the district they said. "That editor put up a slashing fight—he come over here and gave us facts!"

Anyhow, Curran was the regular-party nominee. In Rome the best people could not have been more indignant if one of the billiard hall idlers had gone into the First National bank and deliberately kicked Cal Rice on the shins. It was rumored that Thaddeus Tanner county chairman, who had complacently promised his bailiwick against the governor's league, was enraged beyond reason. He swore he would not support Curran, the old-line men would vote for the democratic candidate, whoever that spindling county organization put up, even if it was a yellow dog.

The county talked so much of Curran's spectacular victory that it forgot the local ticket. But all the old-line county officers were nominated—a Tanner slate clean. Young Mr. Van Hart, nominated without opposition, was the only new face to be in the Rome court house. Every one approved of young Mr. Van Hart, a quiet, reserved, altogether likable chap—he would have no opponent from the other party camp.

The Honorable Thaddeus Tanner met young Mr. Van Hart the day after the primary.

"Well, young man, what the devil did you mean by allowing this crazy anarchist to beat your father's old friend for congress?"

"I had nothing to do with Mr. Hall's fight, Mr. Tanner."

The county boss bared his yellow teeth and snorted. "That's what they all say It's these young fellers did it—fellers like them cow-college students whom Jake Vance and Purcell sent into every district to work for Curran. And these damned labor people over in Earlville—but I notice they all voted for you, Harlan, this McBride, hey?—and his cattle!"

"Conditions are changing."

The boss eyed his nominee with a shrewd doubt. "Young man, did your father ever talk much to you?"

"Father has no use for politics. He'd hardly presume to influence me."

Thad snorted again. These Van Harts always did irritate him with their ideas of the proper thing. Still they were useful, because their ideas of the proper thing did not allow them to oppose him either.

"Well, Harlan, I hope you understand you didn't even have to make a fight. People knew your dad—and they could just figure on you. It's a good thing you're our man."

Mr. Van Hart smiled impersonally. "I am not your man."

The county boss stared at him. Then he bit the end off a cigar. Then he spat on the sidewalk against the ordinances made and provided. "Well, I'm a son-of-a-gun!" he murmured. "Curious I never stopped to talk with you before'" Then he rubbed his gold-headed cane against Harlan's sleeve. "Young man, you're mighty young—you'll get over this."

But the honorable Thaddeus Tanner sidled into Judge Van Hart's chambers, after court that day, and had a talk of a number of things, but mostly of Harlan and what a brilliant career he had opened for Harlan. And the next day the Earlville Mercury-Journal—controlled through the stock which Cal Rice's wife owned in it—came out with a fulsome forecast of young Mr. Van Hart's career.

Harlan met Arne Vance reading that column to his sister when he left the office that night. The farmer-student fixed his black eyes on the nominee. "Trying to rope and brand you, eh?" See here—Mike McBride and I supposed we had something to do with your big vote."

Harlan smiled. "I think so, Arne. You surely put Wiley over!"

Arne grimaced, nodding his head toward Janet. "I know," continued Harlan. "Every one says she did it!" He put out his hand to Janet in the buggy. She appeared tired and distrait. "It has been a strain, hasn't it? But Wiley—it will be the making of him, Janet.

She smiled a rare gratefulness. "He can't fail of election now. Only"—she paused and Harlan lifted his serious eyes to hers. "I have sort of a feeling, Harlan, he'll do some of the erratic audacious things that have always wrecked him!'"

"Like taking up the cause of these pocket squatters, whom the county is going to evict for the new creek dam—Lindstrom—" muttered Arne "Did you see the News? He's already pleading some right of theirs."

Janet looked away. "Well, I hope—I trust—but it's like Wiley!" Then she smiled upon them. "Well, I am tired out. I'm going away."

"Away?" Harlan's tone lifted. "To rest?"

"To work. I feel as if—well, my work was done here, Harlan. And I have chances. To speak, to write—well, for all the fine things we used to discuss in the old News office, you remember. The child-labor laws—the women's movement—my old ambitions, Harlan."

He nodded sympathetically. Then muttered: "But your place here—it's hard to fill, Janet. The school system you've made a model for the state!" Then he was silent. Janet was thinking of the long year's fight. And the best people had not been with her until of late. She was too practical, too busily efficient, to be about the Shakespeare club teas at Mrs. Van Hart's. Harlan sharply differentiated her from the tabby affairs of High street.

He told his mother that night that Janet Vance would resign her next term and go east. The lady elevated her brows wisely. "I suppose that will end the affair between her and Mr. Curran."

"The affair" was a matter of years' gossip Harlan said nothing, he had never, after a man's fashion, bothered his head about it.

"I imagine it's true, then, that that Lindstrom girl has come between them."

He looked attentively at her with a trace of suspicion of her subtlety. Aurelie's name had never been mentioned between them except in the lady's amiable satire on her "career." But that was common to the town. And Harlan had never looked upon Aurelie's appeal to the erratic romanticism in Mr. Curran in that light. It seemed preposterous. Mrs. Van Hart went on with the cool impersonality, humanized by her sense of amusement, with which she looked on the affairs of her neighbors, even the ladies bemused in the Shakespeare afternoons: "I think it would be quite fitting. Those two—Mr. Curran in congress!—and imagine a person who goes along High street, whistling to all the dogs on his way to the postoffice, in his shirt sleeves, in James Hall's seat!"

Harlan looked at her in silence. The judge smoked his dinner cigar with his deprecating assent.

"His nomination, my dear, is more than amusing. He—and all the rabble of demagogism—take it as an indorsement by the people of the rant that is subverting our political theory. Our public men, our financiers, persistently yelped at by Curran's sheet, and our sober constituency applaud!" He looked mildly over his glasses. "My boy, I wish you had stayed out of it all!"

"I do not!" The mother was incisive. "It is time he was in the battle. It is the parting of the ways, and there is enough common sense in the county to make Harlan's career. It is the day of the young men."

And to Harlan's mind there memory of a phrase. A Vance and the tramp of his up the hill. He became conflict within him here familiar home. Here were the best people, ever singing forms, righteous, worthy veloping but needing privilege—this was the good another good out in the world hungry, lustful good to make place, to bre and privilege—this was the tle. There was no ground man's feet—he was with one the other. And slowly it came that, in the eyes of his par eyes of the world—a world caste, resistant with ideals much it might assent to the democracy—Aurelie was the the lower standards. It was to choose, and his love was it all, a sign post at the the ways. He might fight try to bear her from the common mode, but his social him exactly what that would his people, the "best people" a Nietzschean ruthlessness their faces against the tramp ward marching forces that wo or destroy.

Even now his mother touche heart of it. "I see that Mr News is insisting that the co the benefited landholders, sh those squatters in the pocket patches will be flooded by t dam. He insists they have a tle to that no-man's land."

"And acting on that anarchis ory," went on the judge "Lindstrom drove away the whom the contractor sent there that an excellent example—Curra not hesitate to put the law his cryings for what he terms To announce outlawry

"If Lindstrom is an outlaw Harlan said quietly, "the law one."

The judge looked up He re Nothing in his kindly life, his world, hurt as did the gossip had crushed Lindstrom's manhoo his son spoke as one who had aside glib phrases and easy pre and has stared at the soul of t crushed. The judge frowned, t discussion. "The law cannot count of a man's degeneration punishment. But you, my son are going into office as a public cutor—where did you get these

"Think. A fellow can't help the new things, father—the spir quiry, fearless, reasoning, values—"

The judge had shaken his h always annoyed him to have sider that it was not enough to tuous. It was comfortable to that everything was honest, wholesome, God-fearing and able to the constitution everyth cept the men who passed befo at the bench. They were another of beings; he deprecated their ence, and sent them to jail Whe land had gone up town the sighed. It was well enough to hind the impersonality of the the one-armed quarryman s guard over his wretched patch all society, mute, imbruted, Men had talked of it· Judge V sent him to jail two years ago hardly spoken to a soul since to his shanty, took his children school and become a sort of re fanatic and anarchist."

The judge spoke to his wife time. "My dear, do you suppo extraordinary affair he had wi girl two years ago had anything with it?"

"With it?" She looked up prise. "Lindstrom?"

"Yes. The girl has been ba know, and is—I'm told—extraor pretty."

The lady sniffed. "I told y she nearly upset my trap!"

"But Harlan—"

"Harlan did not glance at t scandalous behavior around thes The dust of that machine was in every one's face! And that a mere boy's infatuation—for a And her career since—the im stories they tell of her! As if possible with Harlan!" She had man matron's pride in this jawed serious son. A century of ican democracy was needed f the sober sturdy sort of whic had sprung.

The judge sighed again. "So he has never been quite the me since—he has seemed to loo now and then so measuring there has been something abn normal in his desire for work he were trying to forget!"

Harlan was in his office tw on that same indomitable app At 8 he closed the desk and went to Wiley's shop, for a light wa and he felt like bantering the as in the old days. It would h lief after the curious sense of s had come to feel at home. Yet h not bring back exactly the old comradeship with Wiley; and th was curious. He had felt oddly conscious as he was of a furti friendly interest in him. W dropped in the court house th candidates were cordial, but th a hushing of conversation. H to "mix with the county crowd said, under an idea that it wa a young man, and the only m on the ticket, should do. But how he was treated with resp passed by in the chaffing fel of the local politicians.

He spoke of it to Curran as t in the dusk. Curran was comp at ease since his triumph, he h covered a pleasant vanity in t regard of men. "Perhaps," su gested, "they're rather afraid Harlan. You've laid aside yo dog pipe, and the college clo not stick out so conspicuously, the same you're different." He young man intently. "And you'll be the district attorney, t one whom they are unable to s

"I don't see what any hon has to fear in that."

Curran smiled enigmatically actly! But there are Dan and Curry, the two men through Tanner's contracts board—all friends of your fath you—well, the old crowd wonder you."

Harlan looked away. B daughter was one of the two town girls under his mother's social chaperonage, who eastern connections.

"Well, they all supposed that of your father was safe!"

(Continued next week)

E OF LEPROSY ARMING FRANCE

Cases of Dread Dis- Country—300 in Paris.

cial: A commission has ed by the ministry of the vestigate the increase of nce. The commission is members of the academy nd the council of hygiene. ago there were only 50 is, now there are about er 300 throughout France, Alps, Brittany and Au-sion has requested a re- ubject from Dr. Marchoux, r institute, who has made cial study. He has advo- measures for the obli- ration of diseased persons ubsequent isolation and He says:

chanics of contamination own, it is known, at least is contagious by contact— well as men. Many rats are leprous—about 5 in opes that my confreres or er a method of prevention, re, but in the meantime y to take precautions. our climate or otherwise eturn to the state of af- centuries following the in- leprosy in Europe by re- aders. I would also sug- raint of leprous foreigners nce, also the expulsion of ered here, or their isola- pense of their home govation and treatment would iful. They would be cared to the best scientific Besides, we would permit of families of lepers and arriage. Those having suf- might even remain in mes, submitting to regular ection.

r Engineering Feat.

he Philadelphia Press.

s last week celebrated the of an aqueduct which will ,000 gallons of water daily from the eastern side of This vast body of water through concrete canals a distance of 234 miles. e is so big as to be hardly Literally a mountain een tunneled and piped to ow water drainage of 2,800 for the use of 2,000,000 re are on the route no less nnels, varying in length et to five miles, and the tunnel, last named, breaks of tunnel construction in Five years was allowed in of this work. It was actu- three years and six months t of $506,000 less than the own in the plans. Nearly re bonded in the entire s calculated that the drop from the intake to San lley will supply 120,000,- for electrical plants and an cover the cost of the thin a quarter of a cenis be the case this gigan- t in the far west is an- tion of the typical Ameri- mappalled in the presence s and of worldwide re- irtue of the determination e." The Los Angeles peo- d to burn red fire in honor ing done, and the whole res their worthy pride in terprise.

Margaret Anglin.

Woman's Home Companion.

an ever increasing group men and women whom we d from Canada and whom ntention of returning. Not Margaret Anglin a Cana- e was actually born in the building in Ottawa, her fa- on. Timothy Warren Ang- at the time speaker of the mons. Even while study- h convent schools in Tor- ntreal, Miss Anglin mani- atic talent, winning con- ess as an amateur read- n she was 17, against the parents, she went to New me one of the first pupils heatcroft's dramatic school. Frohman had promised to his Empire Theater Stock four pupils who acquitted most creditably at the blic performance, and it sequence of the opportunity ted that Miss Anglin, far te than the great major- aspirants, was enabled to ofessional debut early, with company and in a fairly art—that of Madeline West war play, "Shenandoah." the fall of 1894. Since Anglin's rise has been rapid.

to Wear Suspenders.

most extreme and inter- omen's wear novelties are uilt on lines to correspond suspenders, says the Dry mist. Some of them, made vet and finished with uckles, are particularly y are dressy, rather than effect, and are especially for wear with the new e skirts and fancy lace ally unique and attractive garters made of pleated attached to garters dec- hand-made roses. This propriate for wear with the ded skirt, with slashed h dancing frocks. Among holiday novelties now Tango" boudoir cap. This frill caught up, wired and point at each side. It can wide variety of novelty s, or chiffon.

rd by the Stars.

e National Monthly.

ave something to confess. because I have not told t I feared you would not a somnambulist."

anxious about that for a h, dear; it doesn't matter to me. I am a Presbyter- we are married, I don't hurch you attend.'

HORRIBLE ATROCITIES CONTINUE IN BALKANS DECLARES MAJOR FORD

Paris, Special: Misery in the most poignant degree is general among the Bulgarians, according to Maj. Clyde Ford, of the medical corps, United States army, who is returning to America after many months spent in the Balkan region.

Major Ford was detailed by the American government and accompanied the Bulgarian forces in the field with the especial object of observing the treatment of the wounded and prisoners by their captors. His final report to the secretary of war, which he will prepare soon after his arrival in Washington, will contain accounts of many fearful atrocities committed by the Turks and Greeks.

Bulgars a Manly People.

"All the parties to the recent wars," said Major Ford just before his departure from Paris "are guilty of acts of cruelty and rapacity. The Bulgarians, however, are a manly people, who expend the native violence of their character upon men, not upon women and children. No cases of cowardly outrages upon the weaker sex can be laid to their charge.

"On the other hand, such acts on the part of the Turks were almost innumerable. I saw in one place 400 skeletons of men and women, natives of small towns, whom the Turkish soldiers had summarily shot

Turks' Cruelties Continue.

"The cruelties of the Turks did not cease with their own war with the allies. They are systematically and without pity turning the Bulgarian population of the Adrianople district out of their homes and driving them across the frontier into Bulgaria.

"Close to Adrianople I saw an entire Bulgarian village destroyed. The Bulgarians were bundled into wagons on a half hour's notice and were not permitted to take any of their belongings with them except the garments they happened to be wearing. The Greeks are pursuing exactly the same course in Macedonia.

"I saw many thousands of Bulgarians driven out of Macedonia, which they and their forefathers have inhabited for generations. Their only refuge, of course, is Bulgaria, where the misery already existing is very great.

Fugitives Increase Misery.

"The flocking of these fugitives into the country has increased the misery to a desperate degree. Bulgaria fully deserves the sympathies of the Christian world. Her defeat in the last war was wholly due to the fact that Roumania stood ready to fall upon her from the rear.

"The plan of operations against the Servians and Greeks which was approved by King Ferdinand, and which I have carefully studied, would have insured victory if it could have been carried out. The Bulgarians had the enemy enclosed as in a trap.

"The Bulgarians are sincere, straightforward and trustworthy, without vicious tendencies. The Christian world knows what it owes them for standing for centuries as a bulwark against Islam. It now has an opportunity to pay that enormous debt, at least in part.

"I think there never have been an occasion when civilized humankind was under a more obvious obligation to render speedy and ample relief."

ENGLISH SUFFRAGETS ARE CONFIDENT THAT THEY ARE NEAR GOAL

Labor Party Makes Suffrage One of Its Planks—Women Point to Success of World Wide Move.

London. Special. Pressure of the demand for suffrage will be kept up by women of England with unrelenting vigor during the year 1914, according to announcement from the National Union of Woman's Suffrage Societies. This organization, which is working only along constitutional lines, will hold its annual council in February to map out its political campaign, which, it has already been decided, will be begun with a great mass meeting in Albert hall on February 14 "to voice the united and constitutional demand from all classes throughout the country for a government measure for woman's suffrage."

In review of the work of the past year it is pointed out that increased pressure has been directed upon the government in constituencies represented by anti-suffragist ministers, and upon strengthening the position of the labor party, the only party in the house of commons which has made the women's cause an integral part of its policy. The whole work has been concentrated on the demand for a government measure, attempts during the year previous for a bill introduced by private members or an amendment to the government's franchise bill having both failed.

A recent bye-election in South Lanark is cited as showing the activity of the women, in helping to sweep away a liberal majority, and reduction of the liberal strength is also reported in many important constituencies.

The review continues:

"Not long ago Sir Edward Grey admitted that the record of the house of commons on the woman's suffrage question had not been good, and if to suffragists it has been profoundly unsatisfactory, the success of the advance in the country is only the more significant. The pilgrimage in July from Edinburgh to London was the greatest demonstration which the national union, or indeed any suffrage society ever produced.

"At a time when resentment against militant methods was at its height, the country villages and the great towns showed their appreciation of law-abiding propaganda, by hundreds of crowded meetings. Isolated acts of hooliganism there were, but they gave way rapidly before the general good will which was above all demonstrated in the great final mass meeting in Hyde park on July 26.

"The support for woman's suffrage from responsible citizens is represented by favorable resolutions from nearly 200 county, town and rural district councils, and from the branches of nearly all the trades unions in the country.

"Practically all the greater woman's organizations support woman's suffrage, including the National Union of Woman Workers, which has once more discussed the question this year, and of the 50 suffrage societies existing, the national union alone has a membership of nearly 50,000, while between 28,000 and 30,000 Friends of Woman's Suffrage have been enrolled up to date. About $100,000 has been administered from headquarters during the year and the total number of meetings held is considerably over 2,700.

"One danger during the year has been averted. The passage of the manhood suffrage bill was rendered impossible in the face of the unredeemed pledges. After the speaker's ruling and the postponment of the bill till the end of the session was decided upon, the annual conference of the labor party by 2 to 1 passed a resolution opposing any further extension of the franchise to men without the inclusion of women. In the following September the trade union congress adopted a resolution censuring the government for failing to redeem its promises about women's suffrage and demanding a government reform bill which would include women. Finally the year has marked the growing strength of the movement in the church indicated by the sympathetic attitude of the church congress at Southampton and the letter of the Bishop of Winchester urging the definite prospect of the introduction of a suffrage bill as a first class measure.

"The strength of feeling amongst the more progressive liberal women and their determination to stand for suffrage principles or for what they regard as an essential part of liberal policy, is further seen in the recent formation of the Liberal Women's Suffrage union. Amongst men it has its counterpart in the Liberal Men's Association for Women's Suffrage.

"A review of the suffrage during the past year carries us far beyond the limits of our own country. When addressing the international congress last June Mrs Chapman Catt, the president, reminded her audience that the question of woman suffrage had been considered in 17 national parliaments during the past winter, and in 33 states and other legislatures. In the far east China was about to be admitted to the international alliance and even Persia now had her progressive movement. Of the enfranchised countries, Australia, California, Norway, Oregon and Washington sent official government representatives to the congress and during the session, news was received that Norway had obtained her full equal suffrage rights. The Territory of Alaska must also now be added to the list, and in June Illinois obtained enfranchisement on the same terms as men, involving the enfranchisement of her 1,000,000 women in Chicago.

"Since the international congress the parliament in Iceland has again passed the amendment to the constitution granting the vote to women on the same terms as men, and the bill now awaits the sanction of the king of Denmark. This will be granted, if the bill is confirmed by the newly elected parliament next April. On October 7th and 8th the reform bill in Denmark, including the enfranchisement of women, having passed its third reading in the lower house, was read for the first time in the upper chamber. When parliament opend in Holland, the queen in her speech gave a promise of a bill for amending the constitution and granting equal suffrage rights to women and in Poland the president of the diet when replying to a recent suffrage deputation, stated that his new proposal for reform would include woman suffrage, though not eligibility. The situation in Sweden is very encouraging and there is reason to suppose she will obtain her enfranchisement during 1914, while in Finland the parliamentary elections last August resulted in an increase in the number of women members of parliament, of whom there are now 21."

HUMAN SKIN CHANGING; SUPERMAN IS FORESEEN

Paris. Special: The race of supermen which may eventually replace present day humanity on our planet, according to some prophets, will have a skin greatly different from that of the man of today.

Prof. Daniel Berthelot, the eminent French specialist, declares that the skin of the human race has undergone great changes since our primitive ancestors. He finds notably that while the whitest of modern skins reflect almost all the colors of the spectrum, the skin of the more primitive races absorb the colors of higher and finer vibrations and only reflect the stronger colors at the spectrum's lower end. For instance, the skins of the primitive negro races reflected practically no colors at all. The red-skinned races reflected only the reds at the lower end of the spectrum, and the so-called yellow races only as far as the yellows in its center. The white skins of the races of today are able to reflect not only the blues, but also the violets at the top of the visible spectrum, although the strength and clearness of the reflection varies with each individual skin. But no skin has been found so far capable of reflecting the ultra-violet rays, which, although present in almost all light, vibrate at a rate too high to be visible by the human eye. It is, therefore, believed that the past evolution of the human skin foreshadows the existence in the distant future of an ultra-white race, which, in addition to its other capacities, will have a skin capable of reflecting the invisible ultra-violet rays.

There is always a censor at the German court dances who watches the dancers, and if any one is awkward or unacquainted with the steps he is notified that he will not be invited again unless he learns to dance better.

A FREE BOOK

That Teaches the People How to Avoid Catching Cold.

The thirteenth edition of the "Ills of Life" is now ready for distribution. Beginning on page three of this popular work on medicine, is an article stating in plain language how any one can avoid catching cold.

The article was written by a doctor. It was written by a doctor eighty-four years old, who is a hale and hearty man. It is his boast, founded upon fact, that he does not catch cold. He thinks he knows the reason why. He explains it in detail in this book. Every family ought to have a copy of it sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. O. Fred Linstrum, 1923 University Ave., St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I contracted a severe cold several years ago. Through the use of Peruna I fully recovered. I have never had any trouble since."

Mrs. Henry Martin, La Motte, Iowa, says: "I have found Peruna to be a great remedy for coughs and colds of children. A dose at bedtime will relieve them all night."—Adv.

Like and Like.

William Dean Howells said the other day of a certain type of "best seller" novel:

"The men who write these books are intellectually debased, and the public they write for is intellectually debased also. The thing reminds me of an anecdote.

"'What are you doing, dear?' a mother said to her little four-year-old daughter.

"'I'm writing a letter to Alice,' the youngster replied.

"'But, dear,' said the mother, 'you don't know how to write.'

"The little girl, however, as she calmly continued her pencil scrawl, answered:

"'Well, mother, Alice doesn't know how to read.'"

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c.

It's more difficult for a man to keep a secret after his wife discovers that he has one.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes do not stain the hands. Adv

When in doubt it's a good plan to tell the truth.

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada increased during 1913, by the addition of 400,000 new settlers from the United States and Europe. Most of these have gone on farms in provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lord William Percy, an English Nobleman, says:

"The possibilities and opportunities offered by the Canadian West are so infinitely greater than those which exist in England, that it seems absurd to think that people should be impeded from coming to the country where they can most easily and certainly improve their position.

New districts are being opened up, which will make accessable a great number of homesteads in districts especially adapted to mixed farming and grain raising.

For illustrated literature and reduced railway rates, apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

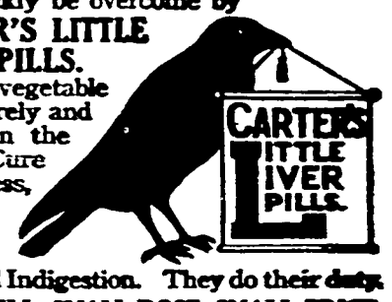
J. S. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and M. A. Garrett, 811 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agent

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.



Purely vegetable—act surely and gently on the liver. Cure Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, and Indigestion. They do their duty.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

FOR SALE by owner, 160 acres fine timber land in Taylor Co., Wis. at sacrifice. Timber will almost pay for land. 5 miles from town, creamery, etc. Write Harold Togstad, Madison, Wis.

Agent's Outfit—Black Hills Goldstone Jewelry, Postcards, Indian Bows and Arrows, Moccasins, (state size) postpaid $3.50, or Goldstone Jewelry samples 50c. CARR NOVELTY STORE, Deadwood, S. D.

Pettit's Eye Salve FOR ALL SORE EYES

a Message To Women

Those of Middle Age Especially.

When you have found no remedy for the horrors that oppress you during change of life, when through the long hours of the day it seems as though your back would break, when your head aches constantly, you are nervous, depressed and suffer from those dreadful bearing down pains, don't forget that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the safest and surest remedy, and has carried hundreds of women safely through this critical period.

Read what these three women say:

From Mrs. Hornung, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I am writing to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I failed terribly during the last winter and summer and every one remarked about my appearance. I suffered from a female trouble and always had pains in my back, no appetite and at times was very weak.

"I was visiting at a friend's house one day and she thought I needed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and have gained eight pounds, have a good appetite and am feeling better every day. Everybody is asking me what I am doing and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may publish this letter if you wish and I hope others who have the same complaint will see it and get health from your medicine as I did."—Mrs. A. HORNUNG, 91 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Was A Blessing To This Woman.

SO. RICHMOND, VA.—"I was troubled with a bearing down pain and a female weakness and could not stand long on my feet. Of all the medicines I took nothing helped me like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now regular and am getting along fine. I cannot praise the Compound too much. It has been a blessing to me and I hope it will be to other women."—Mrs. D. TYLER, 23 West Clopton St., South Richmond, Va.

Pains in Side, Could Hardly Stand.

LODI, WIS.—"I was in a bad condition, suffering from a female trouble, and I had such pains in my sides I could hardly move. Before I had taken the whole of one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt better, and now I am well and can do a good day's work. I tell everybody what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. JOHN THOMPSON, Lodi, Wisconsin.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

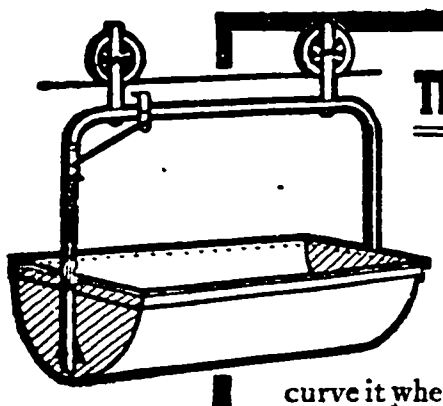
Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

PISO'S REMEDY
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.
25 CTS. FOR COUGHS AND COLDS 25 CTS.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 13-1914.



The MOYER Litter Carrier

Is built of 18-gauge galvanized steel, and water tight. Carries 5 to 7 bushels to the load. Lay the track straight or curve it where you will. Fewest parts of any carrier made. Come in and look it over.

30 DAYS Trial Free
Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON — Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm- list it with me

If you wish to buy – ask me about some good farms

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Very Low One-Way Fares

to

California

and

North Pacific Coast Points

On Sale Daily
March 15 to April 15, 1914

Personally Conducted Excursions

via

Rock Island Lines

in modern through Pullman Tourist Cars

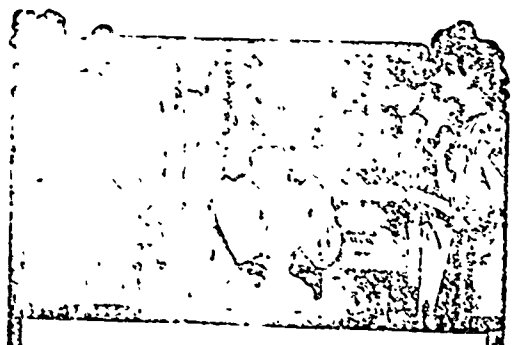
Excellent attention and courtesy.

Choice of routes — via El Paso, the direct route of lowest altitudes, or through Colorado and Salt Lake City.

Dining car service unexcelled. Stop-overs permitted.

Let me quote you fares and plan the trip.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa



Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

We Attract Attention.

The little town of Klemme is doing things in the way of advancement that should make some of the towns of our size sit up and take notice, and we believe the time has come when more attention should be given to the lighting of the streets of Buffalo Center. Read the following from the Klemme Times and think the matter over. Now that the stores close at 6:30 and pull down the blinds, our streets are as dark and lonely as Goldsmith's "Deserted Village."—Buffalo Center Tribune.

The little town of Klemme, in which M. M. Magner is now located, has a council which surely does things. This winter they have contracted for 700 loads of gravel to be placed on their streets. This winter private parties put in an electric light plant and most of the business houses have installed it. Last week the council closed a deal for fourteen electrolier lights for their Main street. They are also planning on putting a cement band stand in their park and a six-foot cement walk in the park leading from each corner to the band stand. This makes some improvement record but it's well spent and will bring big future returns in the way of growth and prosperity to the little village.—Ringsted Dispatch.

The announcement of S. B Durant of Madison township for representative will be found in this issue. Mr. Durant was born and raised in Hancock county and is well known throughout the county. He passed the teacher's examination for the rural school at the age of seventeen, and while teaching worked up to a first grade teacher and was one of our successful teachers for over ten years and knows the needs of the rural school. He has held nearly all the offices of trust in his home township and is at present school treasurer. He was a candidate for county auditor in 1902 and came within a few votes of landing the nomination and was a good loser. He is at present one of our successful farmers. He made a tour of the county and interviewed a number of the voters and on account of their hearty endorsement decided to become a candidate for the office. The legislature needs more practical farmers, and we believe that he would fill the office to the satisfaction of all.

Notice of Appointment of Administrators

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned have been duly appointed and qualified as Administrators of the Estate of G C Yahnke late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased.

All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance

Dated at Klemme, Iowa, March 9th, A. D., 1914

CHARLES L YAHNKE and F. A. ARNOLD, Administrators.

Notice of Appointment of Administratrix

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Administratrix of the Estate of Bertha Kleeman, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased

All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance

Dated Klemme, Iowa, this 9th day of March, A D, 1914

ROMA KLEEMAN LUDEKE,
Administratrix

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

There Is A String Attached Each Load Lumber that Goes of Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons
INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF MORE

Northern Lumber Company
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

Some People Eat To Live

WHILE OTHERS

Live To Eat

WE CATER TO BOTH CLASSES

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

W. F. PAVE

Blacksmith and Wood Workman

I would like a share your patronage and if what is intrusted to me I will give it my prompt and careful attention. All work guaranteed satisfactory in every respect.

GIVE ME A TRIAL

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 32 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY APRIL 2, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

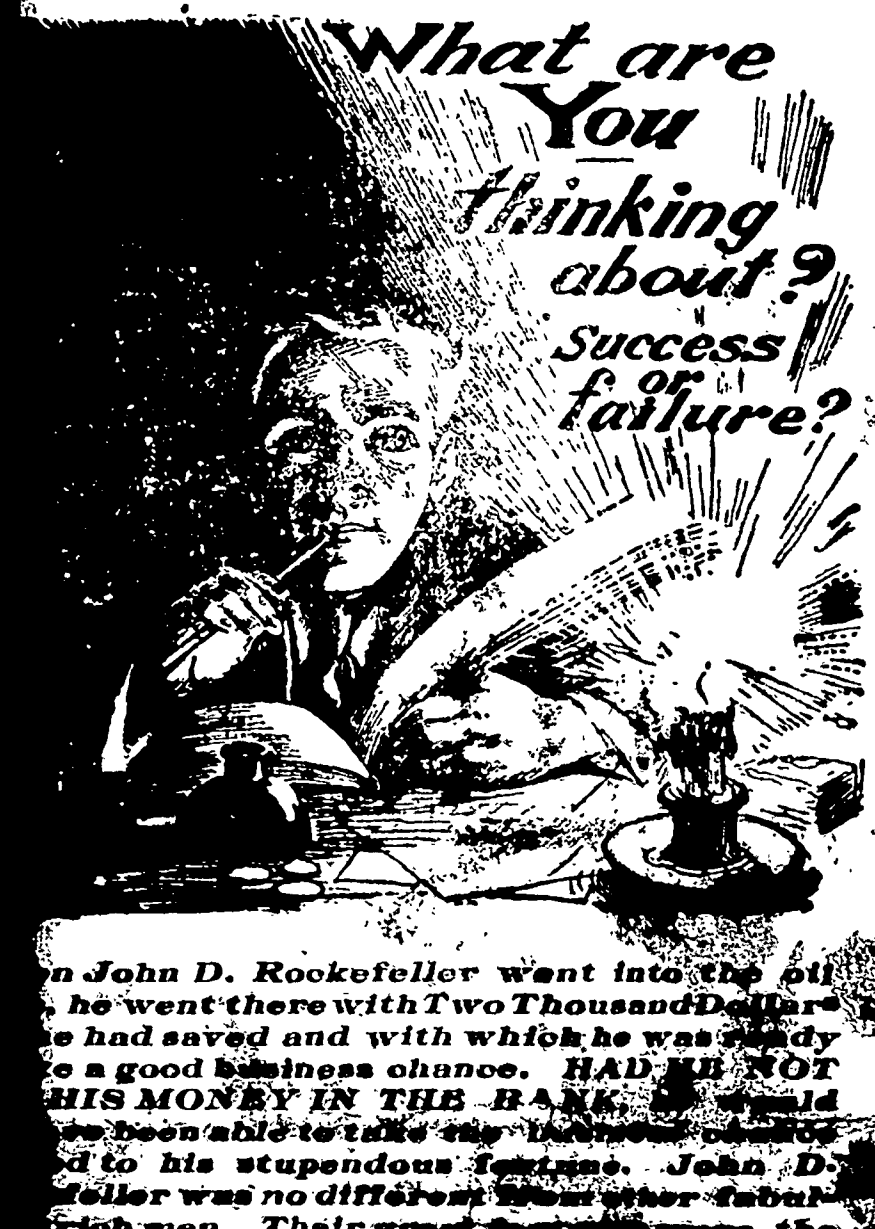
is proof of the success of this policy.



When John D. Rockefeller went into the oil business he went there with Two Thousand Dollars which he had saved and with which he was ready to take a good business chance. HAD HE NOT HAD HIS MONEY IN THE BANK he would not have been able to take the business chance which led to his stupendous fortune. John D. Rockefeller was no different from other fabulously rich men. Their great fortunes were the natural result of their FIRST savings.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

Klemme - - Iowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Surplus $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

Will buy hogs six days in the week at highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

How About a Ball Team?

Do the citizens and business men of Klemme want a ball team this season?. If we do we believe that it would be a good idea to follow the plan of the little town of Ringsted. They have already secured a good battery, pitcher and catcher, by securing them jobs in their town, with the privilege of playing ball whenever there was a game. Klemme, we understand, has some good local talent and by doing a little hustling would likely be able to import a few ball players by securing them some kind of a paying job. There is plenty of work here and a little advertising might land some good ball players.

Older citizens will remember the ball team Klemme had a few years ago, when Klemme used to hold the amateur championship of northern Iowa. Shall we try to equal our former record?

Gibbs Bros. have just received eight head of the famous Bates' Short-Horns from Marshalltown. These animals are from one of the best dual purpose strains in the business, and should prove excellent dairy animals as some of their dams have produced no less than 10,000 pounds of butter-fat in one season. The Gibbs Bros. are certainly always endeavoring to better their herd as much as possible.

Ralph Ebner received a very bad gash on his right leg Monday, when a circle saw which he was moving fell over on him. It required four stitches by the doctor to close the wound and Ralph has been enjoying an enforced vacation this week.

Fred Klucknohn purchased the Chas. Alvorent property last week and has already taken possession. Mr. and Mrs. Alvorent are moving to Wheaton, Minnesota. They have a large number of friends who are sorry to see them leave.

Herman Kotter one of our most highly respected young men died at the hospital in Mason City, Sunday. The funeral services were held at the Ell[illegible] church, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs E. R. Schlei of Fenton who were recently injured in a train wreck at Mendota, Minnesota, are still confined to a hospital in Minneapolis, but are recovering nicely.

[illegible] Church Notes.

Preaching [illegible] 10:30 o'clock a. m., and Sunday School at 11:30 o'clock.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

All are invited to these services.

Rev. J. M. HOWDERSELL.
Pastor.

FARMERS!

Send 25c. for a copy of the Farmer's Rapid Figurer and Calculator; the handiest book you ever saw; money back if wanted —E. C. Foster, Assumption, Ill.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00

Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN

Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU

Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD

5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.

THIS BANK IS ORGANIZED UNDER AND CONTROLLED BY LAWS ENACTED AT THE NATION'S CAPITAL

It's Never Too Late For A Bank Account Though The Earlier The Better WITHOUT IT You'll find the rainy day WILL BE A Great Deal Wetter

REMEMBER THE GREAT

Majestic Range Sale

AT

Gruetzmacher Bros.

Sale Commences April 6

During this sale we will give away absolutely free with each range either a set of Aluminum or Granite and Nickel Cooking Utensils--these sets are worth $8.00.

A man direct from the factory will be here to demonstrate these ranges and will show their numerous superior points.

If you wish to purchase a range now and get it during the sale, do so and take advantage of the FREE COOKING UTENSILS.

Gruetzmacher Bros.

Hardware and Groceries

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Connection between feeding and literary genius is commented on by Robert Sherard in his "Modern Paris." Zola, he says, wrote best when he was very stout, and when his bulk dwindled so did his talent. Theophile Gautier, himself enormous, maintained that a man of genius should be fat and for proof pointed to "that more barrel than man," Balzac; to Alexandre Dumas, "always fat and jolly;" to the "hippopotamus in breeches," Rossini, and the plump and well fed appearance of Victor Hugo and Sainte-Beuve.

A profit and loss account of the strikes of the last 10 years in the United Kingdom, prepared from government returns, supplemented by details furnished by trade union leaders in the principal industries, shows that the loss to the organized workers alone from stoppages of work due to disputes of all kinds has been equal to $84,741,000 in wages, not to speak of a vast sum spent in strike pay Against this, the net gain in wages resulting from disputes is returned as $13,200,000, leaving a net loss of $71,531,000.

The University of Minnesota, now a thriving institution, had hard times in its early days, and for some years prior to the reorganization of 1869 the university s buildings were unused This was brought to mind under rather amusing circumstances recently, when a land title complaint of the 60s came to light in the assistant county attorney's office in Minneapolis The man who made the complaint asserted that the land and the smaller frame buildings were not then in use except by stray cats

The larger part of the coal now bought by the government is bought under the general technical supervision of the bureau of mines. The cost of purchases under specifications prepared by the bureau for the use of the government now aggregates approximately $4 500 000 per annum, and the additional fuel bought under the general advice of the bureau now aggregates $3,000,000 per annum more, making a total value not less than $7,500,000

The city council of St Petersburg is considering a measure appropriating $25,000,000 for a supply of pure water, to be drawn from Lake Ladoga, 40 miles away On reaching the Ladoga pumping station the water will be driven into reservoirs and filters, whence it will flow through the pipes unaided to the capital and there be distributed The capacity of the works, which will be ready in 1920, is calculated for a population of 4,500,000.

A weather superstition has been smashed by an observant New York farmer He once heard a friend say: "We ll have more rain soon It cleared off in the night ' He wished to know what that had to do with it He told that it had a lot to do with it He doubted the contention, and agreed to keep an acurate record This he did and after two and half months had sufficient data to prove that there was nothing whatever in the supersition.

At official banquets in Gwalior, India, an ingenious American electrical device of silver is used for passing around the after dinner coffee cordials and cigars. This is in the form of a miniature locomotive and train of cars, which, operateing from an electric battery and running over a diminutive track laid along the table is so constructed that it automatically stops before each guest

The meteorological service of Russia finds itself in the position, rare in the experience of European scientific institutions, of having ample funds for its present needs and future development, thanks to a liberal increase in its budget recently authorized by the government

The public authorities in the Isle of Wight have decided to buy from the trustees of the Swinburne estate for public purposes the beautiful marine park between Shanklin and Ventnor, knowns as the Landslip The property consists of more than 40 acres

That the teaching of English in the high school needs thorough reorganization to bring it into touch with modern social and industrial demands is frankly stated by Professor James F Hosic, of the Chicago Teachers' college.

The storage of oil for fuel purposes is a new feature in the trade of the port of Manchester Hitherto the bulk of the oil stored on the banks of the Manchester ship canal has been for illuminating and lubricating purposes.

Revenues derived from the income tax in the United Kingdom for the financial years 1913-14, which ends March 31, are estimated at $230 000 000, of which amount more than $180,000,000 has been paid into the treasury

A rabbit— a Winsted (Conn) rabbit— cleverly eluded capture by a dog one day when he rolled down a hillside inside of a huge ball of snow, thus throwing the dog off the scent

Hyman Slavan, of Bridgeport, Conn , was ordered to stop keeping chickens in his bedroom, and explained that having no clock he used the rooster to wake up his wife in the morning

A woman whose pastor asked about her health replied dolefully: "I feel very well; but I always feel bad when I feel well, because I know I am going to feel worse afterward."

Among the fine old colonial homes in Bath, Me., is that of Mrs. George Shepard. The house was built in 1800. The paper which adorns the parlor was put on in 1802.

Russia is making efforts to develop unproductive parts of the Caucasus by preventing river floods and increasing irrigation drainage and canal construction.

The rapid growth of vegetation in polar regions, despite the brief summers, is attributed to the strength of the electric currents in the atmosphere.

At Quito, the only city in the world on the line of the equator, the sun sets and rises at 6 o'clock all the year around

STATE BOARD NAMES BOWMAN'S SUCCESSOR

Resolution Claims Agreement With Former President Not Violated.

Iowa City, Ia., March 30.—Prof. T. H. MacBride was chosen acting president of the State University of Iowa by the state board of education at last night's session. Professor MacBride is at the head of the department of botany and is the oldest member of the faculty in service He will assume office April 1 The board took this action unanimously

The board accepted the resignation of President John G. Bowman in resolutions explaining its action in the meeting at Cedar Falls which resulted in Professor Schoettle's removal as head of the department of music. In these resolutions it took action on what it believed to be the recommendation of President Bowman, and that the board had not intended to violate any agreements with President Bowman.

The resolutions adopted follow·

Resolved, That the resignation of John G Bowman as president of the State University of Iowa be, and the same is hereby accepted, to take effect March 31, 1914.

Resolved, That at the Cedar Falls meeting of the board music department matters were before the faculty committee and the board on recommendation of President Bowman, and that the action of the board in relation thereto was in form and intended as a recommendation in relation to the future of the department and was not a dismissal of the head of the department, but was believed to be consistent with the ideas of President Bowman as understood by the board, and was not intended deliberately or otherwise to affect the relations between President Bowman and the university and board

Resolved, That the board has not violated the agreement with Dr. Bowman nor dismissed or employed members of the educational staff without first having received and considered the recommendations of the president

D D Murphy, chairman of the state board of education, issued a statement last night detailing the circumstances which led up to the dismissal of Professor Schoettle at the Cedar Falls meeting Murphy said the board supposed it was acting upon President Bowman's recommendation

NEW YORK "LONELIES" TO GET ACQUAINTED

Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Will Co-Operate in Bringing the Young People Together.

New York, March 30 —"If the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations can give lonely men a chance to meet congenial, lonely girls socially at dances and elsewhere," said William Fellowes Morgan last night at a joint dinner of the organizations, "we will be doing much to solve loneliness, one of the greatest problems in New York sociology "

This suggestion by Mr Morgan, who is president of the New York Young Men's Christian association, met with the approval of Mrs James Stewart Cushman head of the Young Women's Christian association

"As an experiment," Mrs Cushman said, "we have recently invited members of the West Side Young Men's Christian association to socials at our recreation center for girls The plan worked admirably and I think we should both act on the result of the experiment and increase its scope It would be another way in which the strange boy and the strange girl could become acquainted."

FUTURES COTTON ACT ADOPTED BY SENATE

Bill to Regulate Dealing in Margins Passes Without Fight.

Washington, March 30 —After striking out the amendment legalizing pooling, the Senate today repassed the bill to regulate trading in cotton futures.

The pooling amendment legalized the pooling of cotton and the making of a stipulation not to sell on an exchange dealing in cotton futures.

The bill as passed yesterday with a provision to legalize the pooling of cotton to raise prices, was reconsidered on the motion of Senator Smith, of South Carolina, its author, because of objections It was also proposed to let the bill stand with assurances that the House would strike out the provision, but that plan was finally rejected.

Senator Kenyon declared the provision, in his opinion, legalized what the supreme court condemned as a violation of the Sherman law in the cases against James A Patten, and others, who were charged with agreeing to pool cotton and withhold it from the New York Cotton exchange in 1910, with a view of reaping $10,000,000

Senator Kenyon as an official of the department of justice, then had charge of the indictments against Patten and others

DON'T WANT TO SAVE.

Chicago, March 30.—Chicago's municipal store, where the needy were to purchase supplies at cost, has done a daily average business of $9.11 since it opened on February 19, according to a statement by the city controller's office. Advocates of the enterprise admit it has not filled any long felt want.

The store does not make deliveries, and a rigid investigation is made of each prospective customer. These are the reasons advanced by Joseph Meyer, county agent for the lack of a more extensive patronage

BIG WALL LAKE MAY BE CONVERTED INTO PRISON LABOR FARM

Board of Control Is Now Giving Consideration to New Plan for Reclamation.

Webster City, Ia., March 30.—Attorney General Cosson and J. H. McConlogue, W. J. Dixon and A. M. McColl, members of the state board of control, are in Hamilton county today for the purpose of determining the advisability of draining Big Wall lake and creating a state custodial farm. Although there was strong opposition on the part of hunters to the draining of Big Wall lake on a contract whereby a citizen of the state would get possession of the lake bed for a number of years at an extremely low rental, the proposition of the state itself taking the land is a different matter, and it is thought will not cause complaint.

The board of control is given power by the Thirty-fifth general assembly to establish custodial farms where prisoners serving terms in jails of the state may be sent to work out their support. The idea of using Big Wall lake has been suggested and the board has arranged to go up to look over the ground.

If the proposition does not appeal to the state officials, they may visit some of the other lakes of the state to ascertain whether any of them will be available for this purpose. Big Wall lake now covers between 800 and 900 acres of land

If Big Wall lake property is considered suitable by the board of control, plans will be made to bring about the change Probably some higher land will be needed upon which to place the farm buildings It is not yet decided whether the board will wish to put the project through at once or wait until the legislature convenes But if the lake is selected, the attorney general will advocate that the actual draining of the lake be done by jail prisoners In this way the farm land may be prepared and the farm be placed under cultivation by prisoners.

If the state wishes, it might establish a tile industry so that prisoners might make the tile to be used in draining the land, the attorney general says However, this is too far advanced, he declares. The immediate matter is the examination of the lake to see if it will be available for a farm.

W J Dixon, member of the board of control, was instrumental in getting the bill providing for the custodial farm through the legislature. He is greatly interested in the scheme of putting prisoners to work at useful labor instead of being permitted to lay idle in jails

DEPENDENTS AND DEFECTIVES INVOLVE HEAVY EXPENSE

Des Moines, Ia., March 30—Polk county last year spent $173,069 caring for the dependents, defectives and delinquents entrusted to its guardianship, according to statistics compiled by Horace Hollingsworth, secretary of the Associated Charities. Des Moines also spent $250,000 in private charity work, said Mr Hollingsworth at the close of his investigation. The combined county charity expenses totaled $423,069.

Expenditures from the pauper fund for the year were $41,570, he reported, while the county's insane patients cost the taxpayers $41.716 The relief given old soldiers and their families added $8.707 to the cost of the county government and the prisoners in the county jail required an expenditure of $9,620.

The arrest of criminals and other incidental expenses in the sheriff's office were $8,974. The juvenile court expended $24.938 in dealing with dependent and delinquent children. The patients at the tuberculosis hospital at Oakdale cost the county $2 119 and the county s patients at the hospitals for the insane created a bill of $21,507

Another big item of expense was the $6,733 paid for the care of children at the state orphans' home Other expenses of the county were $1,944 for the care of children at the state institution for feeble minded and $5,188 for patients at the state hospital for inebriates at Knoxville

CHURCH BUILDING AFIRE AT FUNERAL OF CHILD

Rowan Ia , March 30 --While another pastor was conducting the funeral service of the infant daughter of the Rev Mr Hammer, of the Methodist church here the church caught fire and was completely destroyed

The 13-month-old child died of pneumonia, and the Rev. C H Van Meter was called to preside at the last rites A hot fire had been built in the stove at the back of the church

As the Rev. Mr. Van Meter was preaching the funeral service to a congregation that crowded the structure, a business man who had attended the service was called away As he walked down the street he noticed the roof of the building was blazing

The discoverer of the fire hurried back and whispered the information to those seated in the back seats. They notified those in front and quietly passed out

NATIONAL LIFE'S RIGHTS RESTORED BY STATE AUDITOR

Des Moines, Ia March 30 License to write insurance in the state has again been given to the National Life association

State Auditor John L. Bleakly has renewed the license of the company, which he revoked several weeks ago, following an unsuccessful attempt to secure the retirement of Henry Pyle president of the association, from office.

The action of Auditor Bleakly follows a complete reorganization of the association, the resignation of Pyle from the presidency, the election of Judge James P Hewitt in his stead and the selection of E. T Meredith as a member of the directory board of the association.

YEGGS BLOW SAFE OF CEDAR RAPIDS GROCER

Cedar Rapids, Ia , March 30.—Yeggmen blew the safe in the F W Damour grocery store here last night, securing about $450 in cash They overlooked $284 in bills that was in an envelope in the safe The safe was drilled and [illegible] nitroglycerine sacks of [illegible] been piled around doors [illegible] noise The robbery was [illegible] morning

GOVERNOR IS LEADING PANAMA COMMITTEE; WILL SELECT A SITE

Clark and Large Delegation to Go to San Francisco in Interest of Iowa Building.

Des Moines, Ia., March 28.—An Iowa delegation, headed by Gov. George W. Clark, will leave next Wednesday, for San Francisco, for the purpose of selecting and dedicating a site for the proposed Iowa building, at the Panama Pacific exposition, according to announcement here, today. The commercial organizations of 15 cities have been asked to name the delegates.

The plan, announced today, is the result of the enterprise of citizens of Waterloo, Ia., who, after the last legislature had failed to appropriate for the San Francisco exposition, determined to see to it that the state was represented. A subscription of $50,000 was completed this week, and a delegation of Waterloo people, yesterday, called on Governor Clarke, who immediately joined the movement.

IOWA CITY AROUSED OVER ATHLETIC SCANDAL

Iowa City, Ia., March 28.—Circulation of petitions among the Iowa university alumni charging Athletic Manager Kellogg with incompetency and asking the state board of education to depose him and elect M. L. Eby to the managership caused intense surprise here today.

Later developments disclosed a real sensation The university athletic board, according to its members, secured a letter written by Eby to a university alumnus in Waterloo saying the petitions for Kellog's removal and his appointment would be presented to the state board of education in April by H. R Trewin and C. F Murphy, sons of Murphy and Trewin, members of the state board, and the petition would go through easily. Eby is an attorney employed in J H. Trewin's law office at Cedar Rapids and is assistant football coach at the university Professor Smith, chairman of the athletic board made the statement that if the state board should consider and act favorably upon this petition it would automatically eject Iowa from the big nine conference through violation of the rule providing for the complete faculty control of athletics. Petitions for Kellogg's removal were accompanied by a letter to the alumni signed by Dr H D. Osborne, of Iowa City.

The Daily Iowan, the university student paper, supported Kellogg at the start of the fight, and he has student backing Today's developments are expected to explode the movement for his removal

DANIEL MURPHY, INVENTOR, EXPIRES AT IDA GROVE

Ida Grove, Ia., March 28.—Daniel Murphy, aged 79, passed away in a hospital in this city yesterday after a week's illness with pneumonia. Mr. Murphy came to Ida Grove from Sioux City 19 years ago, and has been the head of the firm of Murphy & Sons, machinists, during all his residence here. He was a mechanic of rare skill and ability, and during the past year has been working on a self-starter for an automobile, and just a few weeks ago received his patent on the device.

Ten days ago he went to Chicago to make arrangements for the manufacture of the device, and returning home he complained of having caught cold, and last Sunday acute pneumonia developed and he was taken to the hospital

He leaves a wife and family of nine children, eight sons and one daughter, the former all residing and making their home in this city, with one exception, and the daughter, Mrs. John Shea residing in Sioux City No arrangements have been made for the funeral at the present time He was a veteran of the civil war and for many years was a resident of Dubuque, Ia.

EDITORS MEETING AS GUESTS OF MANSON

Manson, Ia , March 28 Manson is host to the winter meeting of the Upper Des Moines Editorial association. A business meeting was held yesterday and at 6 o'clock the visiting editors were entertained at a banquet in the Y M C A auditorium served by the women of the Congregational church Over 100 plates were laid, Manson people acting as hosts of the newspaper men.

At 8 o'clock a program of addresses in the nature of a memorial for Geo. I Long and Geo. D Perkins was given in the opera house The speakers were Sam Harris, of Jolly, Elmer E Johnson, of Iowa City, Harvey Ingham, of Des Moines, and A F Allen, of Sioux City A letter was received from Lafe Young, who is in Florida.

MARSH SAYS HE IS NOT AFTER OFFICE

Des Moines, Ia , March 28.—W. W. Marsh, prominent Waterloo democrat and booster, is not willing to permit his name to be used in connection with any nomination for office at the disposal of the democratic party. Mr. Marsh went to Des Moines last night to attend the Waterloo banquet given by the Dest Moines Press club.

"My name has been mentioned for every office from justice of the peace to senator and governor," Mr. Marsh said, "but under no circumstances will I be a candidate for office. My time is occupied with my business affairs, which I love too well to give up for politics. In fact, I haven't even thought of politics, so busy have I been of late "

COMMISSION ORDERS ROADS TO PAY FULL VALUE

Washington, D. C., March 28.—The Senate interstate commerce commission today ordered a favorable report on the bill of Senator Cummins to prevent railroads from limiting their liability for shipments injured or lost in transit.. The bill applies especially to live stock shipments and will require the roads, when live stock is injured or killed, to pay the shipper full value.

Live stock men throughout the west have been urging the legislation. A committee representing live stock shippers, including Prof. C F. Curtis, of Ames, was here recently in support of legislation of this kind

CHURCH TAKES FIRE DURING FUNERAL OF PASTOR'S DAUGHT

Crowd, Attending Services Rowan, Leaves Quietly— Burns to Ground

Clarion, Ia., March 27 The Me[thodist] Episcopal church, at Rowan completely destroyed by fire wh[ile] funeral service of the pastor's month-old child was being held little daughter of Rev Mr Ha[mmer] died of pneumonia, and the fu[neral] the Methodist Episcopal chu[rch] this city, Rev. C. H. Van Metre called to conduct the funeral

A hot fire was in the stove at rear of the church when the service gan, and it is probable that the b[ack]ing was on fire at that time church was full, and the funeral mon had been delivered. The choir rendering the closing song whe[n] business man who had attended service arose and left, and as he pa[ssed] down the street he noticed tha[t the] roof of the church was ablaze He [came] back and wisely whispered to tho[se in] the back seat, who arose and pa[ssed] out. The word was then passed a[round] and one by one the congregation a[rose] and quietly passed out, thus a[voiding] a panic.

All left the building and much of contents were saved before the b[uild]ing finally burned to the ground damage was done to the parsonage which was but 20 feet away The of the building was about $3 000 $2,000 insurance.

IOWA BALLOONIST SIGNED AS WARRIOR

Correctionville, Ia , March 2[7] —Stephen S. Shields, of this place, an experienced balloonist, has volunteered as an airman to serve in case of war He has been instructed to report twice a year, either at St. Louis or San Francisco.

CASE OF JOY RIDERS DISMISSED BY COU[RT]

Densin, Ia., March 27—The dam[age] suit against Crawford county for $34,000 brought by Martin Dugan Vail, because of the death of his [son] in an auto accident last Septem[ber] has resulted in a victory for the co[un]ty. On motion of the defense case was taken from the jury by judge on the ground that Dugan not made proper showing

It was shown that the party was riding and driving without legal [right] ing of the automobile.

MAHER NAMED PRESIDENT OF CHEROKEE COMMERCIAL CL[UB]

Cherokee, Ia., March 27.—The [com]mercial club in their meeting here night elected the following offic[ers] President Carl J. Maher; vice pr[esi]dent, F I. Gardiner, secretary W Little; treasurer, Robt. Leeds, Jr

FOUR MEN HURT WHEN AUTOMOBILE JUMPS BRI[DGE]

Bridgewater, Ia., March 27—F[our] men were badly hurt last night being piled up in the wreckage of automobile after it had plunged 20 down from a bridge near here. The was driven by M. F. Bunting and lost control of it just as the bridge reached. The others in the party Hugh Bunting, Oscar Townsley an[d] E. Richards.

"BILL" RICHARDS HELD ON ROBBERY CHA[RGE]

Des Moines Ia., March 27—[Bill] Richards, ex-deputy United Sta[tes] marshall and paroled convict pleaded not guilty to a charge of sault with intent to rob when raigned in police court He was to jail in default of $2,000 bond

Richards is held in connection the attempted hold up and robbery three women Monday night

FIREMEN LOSE LIVES IN SIOUX CITY FI[RE]

Sioux City, Ia., March 27 —Two men were killed and several others jured early this morning, when destroyed the entire quarter block cupied by the Moore Clothing comp[any] Anderson Furniture company Frank's hotel, involving a loss of least $400,000 The two firemen their lives when the front wall of Bolton block, occupied by the Ande[rson] company fell in on them

The dead

SEELEY L LAWTON, 213 First street, driver for Fire C[hief] George M. Kellogg

FRANK C. FULTON, comm[only] known among the department men as Frankie Ryan, 413 Steuben stre[et] member of Hose company No. 1

The injured:

Ed Roth, captain Hose company 3, lacerated hand.

Kenneth B. Gantt, pipeman, H[ose] company No. 5, crushed hand

Capt. William Doyle, pipeman, H[ose] company No. 2, deep gash in hand

Michael Katleman, wrenched ba[ck]

Flora Hoenke, minor injuries.

HOUSE VOTES MONEY TO PEPPER'S FAT[HER]

Washington, March 27.—Through efforts of Representative Good House today instructed the confe[rees] on the urgent deficiency bill to [agree] to the Senate amendment granting year's pay, or $7,500, to John Pepper Ottumwa, father of the late Repre[sen]tative Pepper. Mr. Good moved House instruct the confreres to r[ecede] from disagreement to the Se[nate] amendment. Representatives Con[ner] and Kirkpatrick spoke in support the motion, saying Mr. Pepper was and dependent. Chairman Fitzgera[ld] of the House committee on appro[pria]tions, yielded, though saying it had been the practice to grant such m[oney] save to widows and children of c[on]gressmen who died. The House by viva voce passed Mr. Good's mo[tion]

...Y OFFICERS ...EPARE TO RESIGN

...Cabinet Has Found No ...tion of Situation in ...Army Circles.

...March 30.—No solution had ... up to a late hour today of ...n caused by the resignations ...arshal Sir John French and ... Sir John Ewart from their ...t the head of the British ... cabinet, however, was still ...at its differences would be ... before it again meets the ...commons on Monday.

...he chief of the general staff ...djutant general to the forces ...their attitude it is generally ...at Col. John Seely, secretary ...or war, will leave the cab-

...he cabinet should be able to ... field marshal and the ad-...eral, the transfer of Colonel ...ome other field of activity, ...ill satisfy the liberal and la-...tents.

...meantime the opposition to ...t of the army in the coer-...ter is vouched for by no less ...ty than Sir Edward Richard ...staunch supporter of the gov-...who in a signed article in ...pool Post, says today:

... positive fact that when he ... war office early this week, ...shal Lord Roberts had in his ...list of nearly 900 officers of ... who are ready to send in ...rs."

...mbers of the cabinet separ-... for the week end and, most ...ave gone on visits to various ...he country.

...HAMMERING HUERTA GARRISON

... Mexico, March 30, 1 p. m.—...hting continued in Torreon ...ording to a telegram just re-...m General Villa. Villa added ...xpected to have the city by ...He gave no details.

... Mexico, March 30.—At noon ...r was fought in Mexico. It ...irium.

... Villa did not stop to mourn ..., but, with characteristic ...el officials were silent as to ...g which began yesterday at ...and which was reported con-...nto the night. The claimed ..., had no direct information ... front, but all expressed con-...hat General Velasco, the fed-...mander, will soon be compelled ...der.

...n load of merchandise for ...alacio, was made up today. ... that city are depleted and ...Villa instructed that duties on ...ons be suspended.

...IS SURE TORREON ...L BE CAPTURED TODAY

...Mex., March 30.—It was with ...tation that Torreon would ...nder the rebel attack today ...als here resumed their tasks ...ing.

...t reports yesterday were that ...onclovio Herrera had cut his ... the eastern side of the city ...e business section, to the bull ...he north; that General Villa ...out with more troops from ...alacio to join him and take ...command and that the feder-...making a final stand in their ...on the west side.

...confirmed rumor, at midnight, ...hat the rebels had taken the ...n as Cerro De La Cruz, an ... defense, but verification was ...ing early today.

...RAMATIC STORY OF THE ...HARDEST BATTLE OF WAR

...Palacio, March 30.—Rifles ..., pistols and hand grenades ...in 100 different encounters in ...w thoroughfares in the battle ... Palacio. The grenades, of ... manufacture, were lighted with ...ets, which are an unofficial ...e equipment of every Mexican

...d of both sides were mingled ...reets or found huddled under ...of earth which had once been ...uses or corrals, wrecked by ...lls.

...s say that no more furious ...egan preparations to move on ... He expects to co-operate ...0 men under General Herrera, ...nder orders to attack the town ... east. The newspaper corre-...s were permitted to enter the ...h Villa. Everywhere rebel ... were engaged in rescuing the ... and taking them to the rail-...here were stretchers, but not ...nough of them, but a stout ...h a blanket suspended, ham-...hion, sufficed.

...y was hot and the air fairly ...g with stale blood. Those ...h wounds disdained to desert, ...y a soldier, limping from a ...leg or with an arm supported ...d-stained bandage, was seen ...e stretcher bearers.

...Rebels First Repulsed.

...first assault in force took ... days ago. There was com-..., a small force of federals in ...nd premature reports of vic-...sent out. Soon, however, the ...received reinforcements, and ...sperate fighting which fol-... rebels had rather the worst ... General Villa withdrew.

...xt day, Wednesday, General ... the artillery commander, ...e city all day and part of the ...illa had learned that the fed-...mander, General Velasco, was ...ted in force in the town and ...self in the trenches inspiring ... to do their utmost, and the ...der, under cover of the bom-..., concentrated every available ...a fresh assault.

...as delivered Wednesday night, ...as not decisive, although the ...ld the stone roundhouse and a ... natural defenses in the out-... the city.

... The Final Charge.

...ay night the third and final ...as delivered. General Villa, ...th dust and sweat, a red ban-...kerchief about his neck, par-... He rode up and down the ... swearing and cheering, cursing ... calling on the saints. At times he ... apparently calm, and again in a fury. Through it all he urged his men forward and all seemed to realize that the attack was the last one. Human flesh could not stand more of the heat, the thirst and hunger, and the cruel scenes which followed one another until the whole picture was a confused blur of blood and fire, where men in their dying agonies whined for water or cried out uncanny vivas, petitions to Our Lady of Guadaloupe, and the other jargon of delirium.

On the way into the city from El Verjel in the morning, and particularly in the streets of the town itself, General Villa was constantly called upon to return the salutes of the wounded. Some of these were limping, not to the rear, but to the front, to catch up with their comrades. Some of them, already placed on hospital trains, escaped and returned to their commands

Rebels Show Fortitude.

Others, regaining consciousness as they were being borne away in litters, promptly cursed their would-be rescuers and tumbled out, joining the scattered procession following in the train of the general.

"Viva Villa! Viva Madero! Viva Constitucion!" they cried in cracked voices from parched throats. The remarkable endurance of these peons and their mad obsession to return to the front greatly impressed the Americans in the train of General Villa. There were men in that strange procession with deep gashes across their cheeks, men with great masses of flesh torn from their backs or thighs, in uniforms literally soaked in blood, and arms and legs torn and lacerated and blood matted hair pasted over their eyes.

There was more than patriotism to inspire the rebel assaults, for behind them lay the most cruel desert in Mexico, and ahead, in the possession of the enemy, food and shelter and the cooling streams of the irrigation ditches.

The wounded in the outskirts of the city were the first to receive assistance, but the small hospital corps, although working heroically, was absolutely inadequate to the situation. The dead who fell early in the assaults or who had been slain by federal shells were the first to be buried.

Dead to Be Burned.

At every water car station there were groups of wounded. In plain sight of the dying the dead were removed and the bodies dragged into shallow trenches. It will be necessary to incinerate many of the bodies of those who fell in the streets, as decomposition sets in rapidly here, and the business of fighting requires every available man. General Villa is anxious that the bodies shall be disposed of quickly to avoid a possible pestilence.

In the course of the battle there were instances of detachments, all of whose officers had been lost, running wildly about calling for new officers to lead them or joining other commands which were not leaderless.

Other detachments in the excitement of the fight, failed to hear, or deliberately disregarded orders to fall back, or seek some shelter observed by their calmer officers. They dashed unheedingly into barbed wire entanglements or the enemy's trenches and were mowed down in heaps by federal rapid fire guns.

Armored Trains Meet.

An odd incident of the engagement was the meeting of two armored trains at long range. One was on a siding and the other on a main track. They exchanged shots like two warships, but with little damage, and the federal train, which had the switch track, retired around a curve and was lost to sight. Gomez Palacio is a railroad town and is a network of tracks, which made the encounter possible.

General Villa said that his hat was off to General Velasco for his defense of the town. The conduct of the federals was a credit to them as soldiers, General Villa said, and General Velasco had proved himself a man of resource as well as of courage.

Three of his generals, it was reported, gave their lives in defense of the town, Generals Pena, Reyna and Anaya. It was reported also that General Ocaranza was seriously wounded.

GUNS AND AMMUNITION FOR PRESIDENT HUERTA

Liverpool, March 30.—John Wesley De Kay, of New York, formerly president of the Mexican National Banking company, sailed for New York today, after negotiating in Europe on behalf of Provisional President Huerta for 240 Creusot guns and 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

Both guns and powder are to be dispatched to Mexico within a week, from France," said Mr. De Kay.

NEW YORK CENTRAL CUTS DOWN FORCES

25,000 Men Dismissed Owing to Reduction of Business, It Is Said.

New York, March 30.—"Dismissal of 25,000 men by the New York Central railroad since December 1," said A. T. Hardin, vice president of that road, today, "is only a barometer of the company's business. The reduction of forces was not arbitrary. It came about gradually as traffic, mainly freight, declined and I can not see any immediate prospect that business will pick up and these men come back to work."

Mr. Hardin said this condition affected most of the eastern railroads. Of the 25,000 men dismissed about 15,000 were laid off east of Buffalo and 10,000 west of Buffalo. The reduction affected all branches of the service.

"Compared with 1913," said Mr. Hardin," the business of this year on the New York Central suffered a reduction of from 8 to 10 per cent. The reduction of the working force has been on the same ratio."

WOMEN ADMIT THEFT.

Kansas City, Mo., March 30.—Margaret Duke, 20 years old, and Mrs. Violet Geffene, 22 years old, pleaded guilty to shoplifting in the criminal court after a raid on Mrs. Geffene's apartments, where the police found hats, gowns and frills valued at $4,000 that had been stolen from department stores. Miss Duke was sentenced to three and one-half years in the penitentiary, while Mrs. Geffene received a sentence of four years.

TANNENBAUM IS SENT TO PRISON FOR YEAR

Young I. W. W. Leader Admits He Is Not Even Citizen of the United States.

New York, March 30.—Frank Tannenbaum the youthful leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, who recently led a crowd of between 200 and 300 homeless men into New York churches, where he demanded food and shelter for his followers, was found guilty of participating in an unlawful assemblage.

The jury deliberated about an hour. Judge Wadhams sentenced Tannenbaum to one year in the penitentiary and in addition imposed a fine of $500 or one day for each dollar not paid.

On cross examination Tannenbaum said his occupation was that of a bus boy, or waiter's helper; that he is 21 years old and had been in this country nine years and was not a citizen of the United States.

Members of Tannenbaum's "army" who were arrested and convicted of disorderly conduct are still in the workhouse.

In charging the jury, Judge Wadhams said that "though great must be the sympathy for the unemployed," the question of their conditions or "the rights of the Industrial Workers of the World" were not involved in this case.

"Neither are you to consider whether the Industrial Workers of the World followers led by this defendant were engaged in acts of amelioration of their condition in society," he instructed.

GLYNN WILL CALL LEGISLATURE BACK

Albany, N. Y., March 30.—The New York legislature adjourned sine die early today, leaving unfinished business that will require its return in extraordinary session. The senate and the house disagreed over appropriation bills.

The lower house quit business abruptly at 3:27 o'clock this morning without sending notice to the senate and the governor. Legislation, embodying the annual appropriation bills necessary to the maintenance of the departments of state was on the way from the senate to the house.

Regardless of party, senators expressed resentment because the house terminated its existence without notice, but they proceeded placidly, ending their session at 5:35 o'clock.

The appropriation bill over which the two houses disagreed, involved about $31,200,000. As amended by the senate, the total was $17,000 less than when approved by the house.

The assembly's objections were based on an alleged juggling of the items.

Assemblymen said the senate cut out $500,000 for hospital and other necessary departments to get money for carrying on two departments, which the assembly wished to abolish, the state fire marshal's bureau and the department of efficiency and economy. It also was contended that some of the alterations were intended to cripple so-called republican departments in the way of reprisal.

Confusion arose from cross purposes between the two branches in its closing day and much important legislation failed of enactment.

Harry K. Thaw figured prominently in the later proceedings of the session. A resolution condemning the state authorities for their activity in seeking to extradite him narrowly failed of passage, while bills incurred by the state on this subject shared the fate of the other items in the rejected appropriation bill.

The probable date for reconvening the legislature already has provoked much discussion. It is the prevalent opinion that the session will be called late in the spring or early in the summer.

Only such subjects as are recommended by the governor may be acted on at this session. Opinions vary widely as to whether Governor Glynn will confine himself to the necessary appropriations—thus fortifying himself against possible defeat of a broader program involving some of his pet measures such as hydro-electric and land banks.

BOIL EGGS ON ICE? 'TIS SIMPLE STUNT

Get Ultra Violet Rays, Divide Them Into Proper Angstrom Units, and—

Cambridge, Mass., March 30.—Can you boil an egg on a cake of ice?

Certainly. All you need to know is how to manipulate ultra violet rays of proper angstrom units on the egg. Be sure and have your violet rays ultra, though.

Dr. W. L. Bovie did it recently at the laboratory of the Harvard Center commission. He exposed a regular egg and a chunk of ice to waves of a length of about 2,750 angstrom units. After a time the egg was hard boiled, sure enough, and the ice wasn't melted.

CHINAMAN LEAVES LEGACY TO FIGHTER

Chicago, March 30.—Joe Choyinski, former prize fighter, and now a director at the Pittsburgh Athletic club, has been left a legacy of $10,000 in the will of Jim Pon, a Chinese, whom the boxer befriended years ago.

Choyinski,' first act of kindness toward Pon was in sending his boys to school. Later, when Jim Pon became wealthy, he sent Ned Ying to China, where the boy married. When Ned returned to America, leaving a little Chinese wife and child, he was halted by the immigration officials at Seattle. But Choyinski again came to his aid, explained by letter Ned Ying's American birth, and had his readmitted.

Choyinski has arranged to have Jim Pon's little grandson join his father here, and also arranged in accordance with Jim Pon's will, to have both Ned Ying's mother and wife [illegible] in China.

JOKE OF ANCIENT VINTAGE

Credited Just Now to the Chinese, But It Has Been Accorded to Many Nationalities.

A joke knows no birthplace and no date of birth. Jests that are supposed to be of modern Irish, or French or German origin, can be found in the writings of the ancient Greeks, who, perhaps, had them from still earlier jesters. In the Chinese "Hsiao-Lin-Kuang-Chi," or Laughing Book, are jokes that even in their oriental garb are much like jokes we have heard in western tongues. The New York Tribune prints one of them.

Two men, Chung and Kung, were warming themselves before an open stove. Chung, who was remarkable for his coolness and loquacity, said to Kung, who was exceedingly quick-tempered:

"My dear Kung, there is something that I should very much like to say to you. It relates to a circumstance I have observed for a little time past. But, bearing in mind your somewhat fiery and quarrelsome disposition, I have hesitated to mention it to you. However, I have at last decided that, if I do not mention the matter to you, I shall do wrong, and I have consequently determined to ask your permission to speak to you about it."

"Well, what is it?"

"Your coat, my dear Kung," said Chung, quietly, "is on fire."

"For pity's sake!" exclaimed Kung, angrily, jumping up and finding his coat nearly burned off. "Why in the world didn't you tell me before?"

"There it goes! What a frightful temper!" Chung murmured, as he moved away. "No wonder you are called hot-headed!"—Youth's Companion.

DRY SCALE COVERED HEAD

2760 Tamm Ave., St. Louis, Mo.—"My little daughter's head began with a dry harsh scale covering it. First it got a white scale over the top and then it got a dirty brown scab with pus under it. Her hair came out in less than a week and her head itched and bled. She had no rest. I had her wear a scarf all the time, it looked so badly. She was so sore and had such big brown scabs on her head that the teacher would not let her attend school.

"We took and had her treated for three months with no relief. She kept getting worse until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap every third day and the Cuticura Ointment at night. In three weeks her head was well of sores. Two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment completely cured her." (Signed) Mrs. Walter Rogers, Nov. 28, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Sure Thing.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my boy."

"What does the expression, 'I'm undone,' mean?"

"Well, when your mother uses it, my son, it means an hour's work buttoning up her dress in the back."

Interruptions.

"Does your husband read a great deal?"

"He tries to, but whenever he takes up a book I can usually find something I want him to do."

The fellow who contracts the habit of borrowing trouble is always in debt.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

1913 RECORD

Magnificent Crops in all Western Canada

All parts of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have produced wonderful yields of Wheat, Oats, Barley and Flax. Wheat graded from Contract to No. 1 Hard, weighed heavy and yielded from 20 to 45 bushels per acre; 22 bushels was about the total average. Mixed Farming may be considered fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. In 1912, and again in 1913, at Chicago, Manitoba carried off the Championship for beef steer. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent. For the homesteader, the man who wishes to farm extensively, or the investor, Canada offers the biggest opportunity of any place on the continent.

Apply for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates to

Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and H. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agent

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Kodaks DEVELOPING and PRINTING

Send for Catalogue and Finishing Price List.
ZIMMERMAN BROTHERS, 806 Pierce St., Sioux City, Ia.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

Polarine
FRICTION REDUCING MOTOR OIL
The Standard Oil for Motors
POLARINE is the oil for all types and makes of motor cars, motor trucks and motor boats, for winter and summer driving—maintaining the correct lubricating body at any motor speed or temperature and flowing freely at zero.
It is the "cream of motor oils"—the result of fifty years' experience in the manufacture of perfect lubricants. For sale everywhere.
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(AN INDIANA CORPORATION)
Makers of Lubricating Oils for Leading Engineering and Industrial Works of the World
(189)

UNITED ENGINES--The Price Makers

LISTEN! You who are prospective buyers of Engines. For the Next 30 day I am going to sell engines at Ten Per Cent Above Actual Cost, and I am going to tell you why. WHY?

I bought a bunch of engines on sixty days time and I am going to sell them for Cash or Note to you at the above figures and give you one of the best engines on the market today for the money. Come in and look over our line of Engines, Pump Jacks, Trucks, Etc. Get the benefit of these cheap prices. Trucks for any size Engine. Friction Pulleys, Governing Pulleys, Line Shaft with Pulleys. Shafts any length to suit purchaser. Sawing Outfits Complete. Power Washing Machines.

United States Cream Separator Easiest to Wash, Easiest to Operate and Best Skimmer on the Market. Have you seen the Sanitary Re-liner on the U. S.? Drop in and let me show you the latest in Cream Separaters.

A Little More About Those Engines The price I am going to make you on engines has got all Mail Order Propositions Backed Off The Map. I can sell you a Bigger, Heavier, and More Powerful Engine than you can buy anywhere for the figures I am giving you on the United Engine. I am not only going to divide the melon in slices but I am going to give you better than half.

ED. G. ELL

Highest Market Price for Eggs.

Klemme, Iowa

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

Boy Wanted:

In every town to sell the St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press, the best Sunday newspaper in the Northwest Splendid inducements to right boy. Reference required. Liberal supply of sample copies and full particulars on request.

Address,

Circulation Department

St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press

ST. PAUL, MINN.

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Notice of Appointment of Administratrix

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Administratrix of the Estate of Bertha Kleeman, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased

All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated Klemme, Iowa, this 9th day of March, A. D., 1914.

ROMA KLEEMAN LUDEKE,
Administratrix

Notice of Appointment of Administrators

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned have been duly appointed and qualified as Administrators of the Estate of G. C. Yahnke, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased.

All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated at Klemme, Iowa, March 9th, A. D., 1914

CHARLES L. YAHNKE and F. A. ARNOLD, Administrators.

Please Pay Up.

All those knowing themselves indebted to me will please call and settle as I need the morey. C. L. Yahnke.

Just For Fun.

Judge—Was this arrested speeder going as fast as a man could run?

Irish Officer—"Begorra, sor, he wuz goin' as fast as two men could run."

"We don't like the cream we get in Cannes," grumbled the tourist.

"Why don't you have it shipped from Cowes?" gurgled the Simple One.

Poet—"When this was written only God and I knew what it meant."

Skeptic—"And now God only knows what it means."

Judge—"Guilty or not guilty?"

Pat—"How th' divil can Oi tell until Oi hear th' ivvidence?"

Pop—(to Son) "I want you to stop this infernal borrowing and go into business for yourself."

Son—"Alright, Pop. If you'll lend me the money to start on."

Mike—Oi was jist wondering.

Pat—Phwat?

Mike—If St. Pathrick had only bin in th' Garden av Aden how different would be the history av th' wurruld.

Pastor—"I shall speak on "Married Life" in the morning, "Hell" in the afternoon."

Voice—(subdued) Why speak twice in one day on the same subject?

Tango, tango everywhere.
On the ground and in the air;
Springs in everybody's feet,
In the house and on the street.
Tango balls and tango teas.
Tango dinners if you please,
Tango wrenches, tango sprains,
Newest cures for tango pains,
Tango tunes from which to choose,
Tango blouses, tango shoes,
Tango skirts split to the knee,
Showing tango hosiery,
Circled by elastic whims,
On the shapliest of limbs:
And these last are, to my mind,
Things of joy quite unconfined!

Ready-for-Use Paint

YOU are paying your painter to paint; not to mix paint. Science and experience have demonstrated that machines can do the mixing more thoroughly than the hand, and the maker's name on the can, is safer than the use of unknown ingredients and varying skill.

Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint

is machine mixed—ready-for-use. The supreme result of over a third of a century of paint "know how." The "Little Blue Flag" on the can stands for quality in an entire line of paint products for every purpose—Floor paint, stains, enamels, varnishes, Mellotone for interior surfaces. Ask about them.

G. A. PABST

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 10. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

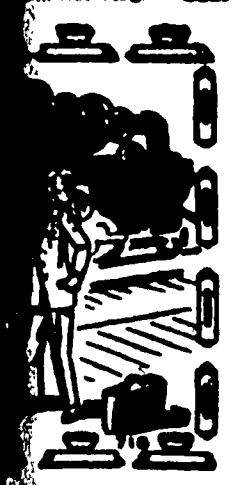
W. F. MISSMAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office Phone No. 11-02
Residence No. 11-03
Office and residence in the State Sav. Bank building.
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

J. E. BAUMGARTNER
The Tonsorial Artist
Will give you an easy shave or a neat hair cut;
2nd door west of State Savings Bank
Call in

...SONS
...T
...ings Bank.
...Iowa

...A. Bredlow
...& Son
...ed
...Cattle
...ng Stock
...rner, Iowa

...Gravel
...load, cash,
...ys, after
...load, All
...ictly cash.
...iffen,
...ne, Iowa.



...T SUITS
...ith Soot,
...be
...blic Act
...emen to
...re for
...PRESSING
...do in a
...a price
...you.
...rvice
...ss Club
...OWA
...like a wood

...ud chops for a

...u Have
..., Life Sus-
...th Giving
...T
...Really Need
...el The
...d Frills
...Right
...terhouse!

BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 54
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to 75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8.10
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000 Population in 1915

See Roy Newman for horse clipping.

The creamery now has a 194 patrons.

Good Milch Cow for sale. C. L. Yahnke.

Work has been commenced on the park improvement.

When you want your garden plowed see Fred Kluckhohn.

FOR SALE;—Two good work horses. C. W, Wiles

Bicycle for sale at a bargain, if taken at once. Roy Newman.

See Fred Kluckhohn when you want your garden plowed

Mrs. Baack and daughter, Anna, were Garner visitor, Wednesday.

FOR SALE.—Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles.

Miss Hulda Johnson and little sister were Garner visitors, today.

5 good residence lots on main street for sale. Inquire of C. F. Busch.

A. D. Gimer attended a buttermakers' convention at Garner, Thursday.

Jay Griggs went to Minneapolis on a business mission, Wednesday.

Fred Kluckhohn can do your garden plowing in a prompt manner and at a reasonable price.

Fred Haupt, Theo. Henschen, August Arvidson and C. W. Wiles were Garner visitors, today.

C. E. Gibbs departed Monday on a business trip which took him to Mason City and Marshalltown.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gimer and children were over-Sunday visitors with relatives and friends at Abbot.

Mrs. Magner and baby went to Germania, today on account the serious illness of one of her sisters.

Mrs. Henry Freie returned last Thursday from Mason City, where she had been visiting her daughters.

Ed. G. Ell went to Mason City, Saturday, to be present at the fortieth wedding anniversary of his parents.

Mrs. George Moir came down from Germania, Friday, for a short visit with Mrs Missman and other friends.

John Coobs arrived Saturday from Cumberland, Virginia, and will work here at the carpenter trade this summer.

Frank Wenck has been spending considerable time here of late, and both he and his friends are enjoying the visit.

There are only thirteen new ads. in this issue and they are all worth your attention. Pick them out and read them.

Mrs. A. Kirkwood returned Monday, from Ringsted, where she had spent a week visiting at the home of her son, W. M.

Emmet, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kahler fell on a cement floor, Saturday, and broke his left arm at the elbow.

WANTED.—Local agent to represent us in the sale of North Dakota Farms.--Denkstedt Land Co., 504 Putnam Bldg., Davenport, Iowa.

The Misses Gail and Esther Bloom who are attending school at Ellsworth College at Iowa Falls, are home enjoying a weeks vacation.

Anton Ahrenkiel was an over Sunday visitor at Iowa City, where his sister, Miss Mary, is in the hospital and had underwent an operation, Philip Behringer last week purchased the Ed. G. Ell property, possession to be given November 1st. "Nick" will build a new place just east of the park.

SEED POTATOES:—About 150 bushel of good Minnesota seed potatoes, Rural Yorkers and Burbanks for sale at a reasonable price. Hugo Neff at J N. Day's store.

Herman Schuldt has had a new barn erected and his old barn moved farther east and the house also moved. J. D. Bachman done the moving, and as usual done a very good job.

Miss Mary Ahrenkiel who has been at the hospital at Iowa City the past three weeks, returned home today. Her many friends are glad to see her enjoy such a rapid and complete recovery.

If you have not been taking in the "movies" of late you had better do so. The pictures are bright and clear since they have added an electric equipment and they are showing some mighty fine features.

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you.

John A. Johnson and family, and Iver Arvidson, departed last Friday evening for Nottja, Sweden, where they will spend the summer with relatives and old time friends. We join with their many friends in wishing them bon voyage.

L. R Nash who assisted in the Times office about three weeks left last Thursday for Rochester and will leave in a short time for his home at Colorado Springs. He is certainly a fine young man and we were sorry to have him leave. This leaves us alone once more but we expect to get some needed help in a short time.

The Idle Hour

Motion Pictures

Every

Saturday Night

Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
April 4th

Father's Choice

Changeling

Ways of Fate

Admission: 10 and 15 cents

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Uncle Sam Is A Careful Buyer

When the government sets out to equip any one of its numerous branches of service, its agents must be assured that an article will give service—will prove itself a money saver in the long run and, last but not least, save time and labor. In various branches of government service, after being subjected to the most rigid tests and careful examinations, the choice of a range has been the

MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE

as being the best fitted to stand the severe test of service.
What will serve the exacting purposes of Uncle Sam and the rigid examination of his agents, will bear your careful consideration.

We have the most complete line of Aluminum Ware in town and every piece is sold with a 20 year guarantee ann it is also priced within the reach of all.

We are prepared to do any kind of tin or repair work. If you need any eave spouting, come and get our price.

C. W. WILES

THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

SOMETHING TO EAT?

No season of the year perplexes the housewife more in search for palatable foods than the present one—too early to depend on the garden, and you're tired of winter's heavy, heating solids

OUR STORE WILL AID YOU

It's shelves are loaded with new arrivals for the spring and summer tables—bring your worries to us. And watch for the first shipments of new garden stuff. It's almost due and, as usual, we'll have it first.

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our old and new customers, we don't like to see a single one go estray away to another town and think of buying goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts in price. You will not sell a $200.00 horse at $100.00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery the Wood Bros. Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other doors can be had cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell the J. I. Case Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the Post Huron Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date. Also Rock Island, Hayes, Sattley and the J. D. Tower goods Five kinds of Gasoline Engines, Letz Grinders, Harrows, Acme Harvesters, Mowers and Rakes. The new Adriance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers, Dodd & Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles.

Call and See Us at our Old Shack,

HENRY LAU & SON

CORN CAN BE GROWN ON CANADIAN PRAIRIES

Manitoba is now commencing to produce considerable corn, chiefly for feeding purposes. In some cases, where the crop can be matured into the dough stage, silos could be used and would be a profitable investment. According to the Farm and Ranch Review, a correspondent visited a field of corn in southern Manitoba on September 28. The corn then was untouched by frost and it stood on an average eight and nine feet in height. The corn had developed into the dough stage, and the crop would easily exceed 20 tons to the acre. At many experimental farms, the same favorable showing of the corn crop has manifested itself. At the Brandon experimental farm this year several varieties, all very good yielders, matured into good silo corn.

Considering the success with which corn can be produced, and the advantages to be gained by so producing it, should not it receive the serious attention of the western agriculturist?

Corn is successfully grown in the northern part of Minnesota in similar soil and under the same climatic condition, and there does not appear to be any reason why like results should not be secured in western Canada. It is the opinion of many American farmers of experience that the corn belt is extending northward. The prairie provinces must gradually take up with mixed farming. More stock on the farms must be raised, and in consequence farming must to some extent be diverted from grain growing to other necessary crops If crops suitable for wintering cattle and especially dairy stock are to be grown, why should not corn be one of these crops? In Ontario and in the United States we find it forms the main bulky food for wintering beef and dairy cattle. They would not be without this profitable plant In fact, since its introduction almost twice as much stock can be retained on the same amount of land, besides considering its great value for keeping the land clean. Some may say that many crops that can be grown in Ontario and the States cannot be grown here, but not so with corn, even now we find scattered fields of corn in Alberta and Saskatchewan —Advertisement

The Fortunate Mr. V.

There is a theatrical magnate in New York who is up on the needs of the tired business man, but a little bit shy on general education In his office they were discussing the prevalent hard times— theatrical and otherwise.

"Well," he said, "there's one guy in this town that I envy. He s busy all the time Everywhere I go I see people using his machines"

"Who s that?" inquired one of the company

"Why, this guy, Vacuum, that makes all them patent cleaners!"

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Smart Rabbit.

A rabbit—a Winsted (Conn) rabbit—cleverly eluded capture by a dog one day when he rolled down a hillside inside of a huge ball of snow, thus throwing the dog off the scent.

Dr Pierce's Pellets, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Do not gripe Adv

Primitive Farming Implements.

In central Russia rye is cut with sickles, other cereal crops, as a rule, with scythes Flails are used throughout the country, except in the south, where threshing is done by means of stones dragged by horses, etc

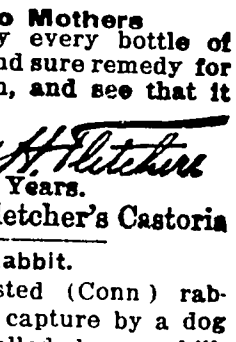
A woman seldom stops to think, and the chances are she wouldn't think if she did stop

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Men's $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50 $4 & $4.50

Women's $2 $2.50 $3 $3.50 & $4

Misses, Boys, Children $1.50 $1.75 $2 $2.50 $3



Began Business in 1876; now the largest maker of $3, $3.50, $4, and $4.50 shoes in the world.

$1,006,270 INCREASE in the sales of W. L. Douglas shoes in 1913 over 1912.

This is the reason we give you the same values for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 notwithstanding the enormous increase in the cost of leather. Our standards have not been lowered and the price to you remains the same.

Ask your dealer to show you the kind of W. L. Douglas shoes he is selling for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50. You will then be convinced that W. L. Douglas shoes are absolutely as good as other makes sold at higher prices. The only difference is the price.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. None genuine without W. L. Douglas' name stamped on the bottom. If W. L. Douglas shoes are not for sale in your vicinity, order direct from factory. Shoes for every member of the family at all prices, postage free. Write for illustrated catalog showing how to order by mail. W. L. DOUGLAS, 219 Spark Street, Brockton, Mass.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Author of THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XIX.—(Continued.)

Harlan watched him silently. The elder man went on more slowly: "It's just that things have come too easy for you, boy. Never had a rough and tumble fight in your life—clean, strong, sheltered! That's why I—I loved you, son! And why I—I envy you. I wasted so many years, oh, so many years!"

And while they sat in the dusk the eyes of both went to the street, to four men who were crossing from the court yard. One was Rube Van Hart. Rube and autumn were here once more. Another was Arne Vance. Another was T. P. Purcell, the dapper young lawyer-manager of Mr. Curran's campaign. And the fourth was a little, cheap-arrayed, fast-talking man at sight of whom Curran started with a smothered cry.

Rube greeted them all with his laconic shyness. "Finished with the Cotton Belt league, Wiley. They canned me when the pennant rush came. And here's a guy that used to know you, he says. Shagged up the line with me from Memphis. I happened to mention you, and he sure was delighted to find his old friend, Wiley! Ladeau, that's his name."

Curran was staring. "Maurice," he muttered at last.

The newcomer's small coffee-colored face wrinkled amiably. He held out his hand. Arne Vance and T. P. Purcell appeared noting, with merciless intentness, Curran's greeting. Curran, the most democratic of men, to whom even the lame dogs came for sympathy, appeared not honored by Ladeau's acquaintance.

"Curran," muttered Mr. Purcell, "Arne and I came on this man in front of the billiard hall. He was saying something—telling some crazy yarn. But we—we heard a bit, and we took him away!"

Curran glanced at his friend's face. Arne was grim The newcomer went on with reminiscent pleasure: "Yaas, I sho' remember dat Wiley man! I say, when dis Rube tell me he is here: 'Our ol' Wiley? Name o' God—dat same Wiley of dem ol' scalawag days! How we laugh—him an' me, and Gamblin' Gawge, when we all get run out of Ascencion fo' dem games we run;'"

The candidate was staring, listening. Ladeau beamed on. "And at Plaquemine we was all broke Name o' God, we all come down to ax ol' man Bouvier fo' feesh heads to make a cou'bouillon under de bridge."

Wiley raised a deprecating hand. He smiled wanly. "Maurice, I—I—never touched a card since" He smiled still on his political backers. "Never, since—"

"Since dat leetle Adrienne made you promise when you tak her to N'Awlyns. Ehue, dem ol' Creole days!" He sighed —"Dat leetle Adrienne of Butte La Rose!"

The dapper Mr. Purcell coughed Arne stirred. "Wiley, were you ever married?"

The chuckle of the stranger broke the pause "Married? Dem Cajun girls, when dey love—Nom de Dieu!—dey don't stop fo' marriage!"

The Honorable T. P. Purcell coughed again. He glanced hurriedly out the door at a passerby, then at the candidate. "I think, gentlemen, this is enough. All very interesting to Mr. Curran, but it's nothing to do with his campaign. I'm glad"—he wiped his managerial brow perplexedly—"we overheard this! I was coming to speak to Mr Curran about his campaign this fall, and we just stumbled on this—ah—gossip, fortunately! We brought him to you, Wiley!" He looked at his watch and smiled: "This talk—if it is true—Well, I must go! And Wiley"—he turned to the candidate—"remember the committee wants you to go through Dallas county like a house afire. Start at Pleasantville on the 10th. But Harper will speak with you, and we'll arrange the rest of the program later." He came to take Wiley's hand—"And, old man, I'd cut out all these malingerings of youth with our loquacious friend, here."

"Tom," muttered Wiley, "it was almost 20 years ago!"

"Then it's all outlawed. But this constituency of yours—and you know how sensitive they are to gossip of the sort. Decent wholesome, God-fearing people—you know Americans in general will never stand for any sort of—of—well, this sort of thing, Wiley! Puritans—that's it—that's what we are! Except about money! But this sort of thing"—he looked about at the others again and smiled. "Just between friends, eh?"

Arne nodded If Wiley Curran had confessed to philandering with the whole trike of Cajuns, whoever they were, there would have been those to love him. When Purcell had gone, Arne arose and touched Wiley's arm. "Look here, why didn't you ever tell some one of this?"

"Why? It was long ago—before I drifted west—when I'd landed in New Orleans broke from Cuba. We had a filibustering gang and it busted. Oh, well—" he sighed "Arne, what's the use of calling up things? I'm not ashamed of anything—much. Young and foot free—and, anyhow, I always played fair with women and everybody."

"I know it. But this—girl, Wiley? Did you marry her?"

There was a stillness for a long time. Outside a late bird was singing in the sugar trees and the wind was south. It seemed to bring a dream to Wiley's eyes, nights of youth, misspent but unutterably dear in memory.

"Did you marry her, Wiley?"

Wiley turned slowly toward him with a touch of defiance. "Yes."

Arne stood back. "That's all I want to know, old boy. And Janet, too! You'd better tell her. You'd better have everything above board to begin with. It's the only way. Purcell's right—the people, the great, clean, wholesome heart of the people. They sort of love you, Wiley, but they wouldn't stand anything in a leader that seemed—a—a double life."

"It never was that. I never concealed a thing. Only here, when I drifted back to the old town, what was the use? All dead and buried, Arne."

"This girl?" Arne turned abruptly to Ladeau. "You know what became of her?"

"Dat Wiley man—ask him."

"I was told," retorted Wiley, "that she died. It was after I went west—two years after. I—I sent her money, Arne. You see we never lived together—we couldn't make it go. And we parted—and she * * * died."

Arne took his hand. "I don't care. I won't ask any more. I'm with Purcell. We'll be with you to the finish." He turned away with a sort of choke. To Arne Vance, with his ascetic humor of a propagandist, his capacity for enthusiasm, Curran had become, since his victory, a figure panoplied with power, their leader, their loved one. He had still a boy's vision and the need of hero loving When he had gone out to his team at the hitching rail, Rube Van Hart sauntered after. "So Wiley's running for congress? Sufferin' Johnson, Arne—I can't believe it. But if this here Cajun I brought up from the bush league towns is going to hurt him, I'll kill the cus. Yes, sir, take him to Eagle Point and let him fall off—accidentally."

Arne looked back at the News shop. Harlan was in the door. The Cajun, in Wiley's office seat, rolling a cigaret, had come to stay, it seemed. Hurt him?" blurted Arne. "That story would beat him, if Tanner and his crowd ever got it. But we—we can keep it close, Rube, if you'll help."

"Help? Help Wiley? Why, we was kids together—him and me."

He got in with Arne and they drove off to the stables.

Back in the office, Ladeau, with the air of a barber in distress, oily haired, shabby of coat, was fumbling in a pocket for tobacco. Curran silently extended his case.

"Merci," smiled the Cajun. "Yo' sho' nev' fo'get old friends, Wiley"

Still Curran had no word. Harlan, studying him silently, had never seen him so in a dream. The stranger settled himself in the chair with the air of one who had come on a lucky turn of fortune "And I come up wif dat Rube and find yo' first thing. Rube say you run fo' congress."

"Yes. I have the nomination."

"Who'd t'ought dat? Old Wiley who used to play dat guitar fo' dem island girls to dance at La Cheniere."

The candidate ran his hands through his hair and looked off at the Methodist church spire. "It's different up here, Maurice. I—I'm mighty glad to see you—but I—I wish you hadn't come." He seemed to have forgotten Harlan's presence Suddenly he uprose and came swiftly to the other

"See here, Maurice, why can't you get out of town? You see you'll get to talking, if you hang around, and my friends—it will bother them Personally, I don't care, but they—the people, these western country people—"

He stopped. In Ladeau's small eyes was a curious confidence of evil

"Eheu! Dese Yankee! Dey boil d' coffee, Wiley! Savages! But dey don't know you, eh? Dat it?"

Curran was staring out the window. Ladeau came nearer. "I reckon yo' got a dollar fo' an old friend, Wiley?"

Wiley's hand went down. "Here."

"Mebbe $5? Look at dem shoes—name of God! Dat Rube—we walk from St. Joe."

"I—I haven't that much here, Maurice. But—well, I'll get it. But for God's sake, go; let me think a bit." Then, as Ladeau shambled on a step, he hurried to him. "Wait. You know of Adrienne? She died—are you sure she died?"

"Madame Artois tell me when I go back to N'Awlyns fo' years after She say she write yo'. She say yo' send back wan beautiful letter when Adrienne died—just what a poet would say, Wiley. Wan beautiful letter—but no money to bury Adrienne."

"I—I know. I was broke out in Arizona, Maurice. Madame Artois knows that. I just could thank her for taking care of Adrienne, that was all."

"Oh, madame know! She cry when she read dat letter. All women y' can make cry, somehow, madame she say. Eheu, dat beautiful letter."

Curran was watching past him to the western sky. "Tomorrow," he muttered, "come back, Maurice, and I'll do what I can—that money. But I—haven't much. I'm in debt terribly"

He watched Ladeau shamble down the street feeling of the dollar, turning presently into the billiard hall among the idlers. He did not see Harlan in the shadows. After a while he raised his hand toward the shiftless figure. "That—might have been me! Me—me! But God help me—I'm saved."

From the numbing vision of his own past he turned slowly and saw the younger man. He came to him swiftly. "Do you hear, Harlan? Just that—a shambler, a wreck!" He sat down and covered his face with his hands. Presently he writhed with some agony. God, what a man misses," he exclaimed, "what he flings away." What ghosts come back, Harlan! After 20 years."

"What is it, Wiley—that hurts so?"

"I don't know. Fear—that must be it. Nervous fear. Of late it's been so fine just to live, Harlan. To go down the street and feel that you've done something. That you have ambition, purpose; and that they've counted with men. That's it—that you've won! New hope, new courage; I've felt like shouting it to all the world."

"I know, Wiley."

"No, you don't boy. You've got to be down and out first; you've got to be adrift and lose hope, and know yourself the failure first, before you can ever realize how fine it is to succeed, how sweet it is to live. Oh, boy, when I was your age I drifted over all the old west—it was a big adventure. I wanted to write what I felt—its sweep and power and bigness. Nevada, New Mexico, California, Alaska—wherever life beat fast and free, I wandered. But I couldn't write it—no—no. It was too big and splendid for me—the epic. But I lived it, Harlan. And then I came back here when father died and left me the old shop. No one knew; I had failed, that's all. I settled down here and worked, but the old fine ardor was gone. Eight years of this village—common, prosy, dull—not to speak with of the big things but you and Janet! And then I awakened—why here was the poem I had dreamed and lost—here was my work, my place, my people—" He lifted his arm and swept it out to hills beyond the leafy square. "Yes, I got back my old spirit, my fighting soul, but I didn't put it into a poem, Harlan—but into politics, this battle—and won!"

Harlan had stirred before his ecstasy. Was this the man of yesterday?—this winging spirit, whom the smug town had never understood?—who had come back to an ennobling youth?

Wiley came to put his hand upon the younger man's shoulder: "I won, and there's something for me, Harlan. There's work there's life—there's love!" He straightened and struck his fists together. "And I am not afraid, boy! I tell you I've not been myself all this year—I've been reborn!" He sat at his desk and stared out at the summer night. "They glory of it! The beauty of it!" Again he turned and reached his hand across the table to his friend. "Oh, the great hours we've spent here, boy! You can't tell what it all meant. You are so different from me, but here your manhood was formed Harlan—and you watched my fight, too! Just battering away here at the old press—and then the light dawned. She came, Harlan!"

"She? Janet?"

The other man stared at him. "Janet? Why, no! Aurelie!"

Harlan did not stir. Then he muttered as to himself. "They told me!"

"Told you?" A high and serene smile came to Curran's face. "I didn't think any one knew! Why, who could guess? Oh, well—what matter! It's as Old Mitch says: 'A little child shall lead 'em! Done lead 'em to the land o' joy!' Yes; that was it Harlan. She led that old whisky-peddling soldier to love and decency; and she led me out of failure! God bless the kid with all her impudence and poses and absurdities!"

"You never told me, Wiley!"

"What was there to tell?" It just grew on me—that's all." Then he stopped still, so still were they both that the crickets in the old shop wall resumed their singing. Wiley first groped to utterance. He turned, and his voice was a whisper.

"Harlan, that old affair?—you and Aurelie? You don't love her!"

"Yes."

Again the pause. And again the mutter in the dusk. "Why, boy, you told me long ago you'd given her up. She outraged you—your people—your standards—everything. Why, I never dreamed—" He started speechlessly.

"No, I never told you. But I do, Wiley! I've waited—sometime she'll need me—sometime, when things go wrong in this abominable business she's in! I've worked and waited and kept silent—but I've watched!"

"She doesn't love you."

"She does."

The elder man was still. And suddenly the other leaned to him. "See here. What do you mean, Wiley?"

"Mean?"

"Yes. They told me—see here—do you love her?"

Curran was silent again. Then his soft laugh, but it was wrung from a strange loneliness

"Love her? Are they saying that? Poor kid! As if she hadn't enough to contend with as it is! And I?"

"I ask you, Wiley?" The younger man's voice arose in passion. "Tell me!"

"You ought to know. You know what you've always been to me boy. No one closer—no one in all the world! And what was finest for you—what was for your happiness—that is what I wanted always. But Aurelie—I couldn't think of that, somehow!"

"But love her, Wiley—you!" The younger man arose.

"No. I don't. Not that way. I can't. I'm a trifler with everything. Only Aurelie—I can't explain it. Some beautiful mystery is over it all. She touched me so! She's crept so near. She's made life and work so precious. God bless the kid! I tell you I can't understand it, Harlan!"

But the other man stared at him with his jaw setting. "I understand it!" He was up and turning to the door. "Yes!" And he was gone.

Curran sat in the dusk of his shop. "Who will understand?" he whispered. "Janet? Harlan? I can't myself! To dream of her—to shelter and protect her—if that is loving, then I love—"

He broke off, staring into the summer night. It grew palpitant with phantoms, fears, fancies—ghosts trooping out of the long years of failure and despair And he had thought of late that he had defeated the misbelieving horde.

CHAPTER XX.

A LITTLE SILVER CRUCIFIX.

That autumn, after the frost had put the fodder cutting by, Bert Hemminger, the member of the county board from the bottoms district, drove down the road that wound from the clay hills back of the quarries to town, and came upon a curious sight. About the abutment of the unfinished bridge, under which the diverted waters of Sinsinawa creek were to flow back to a long-choked channel, were cement barrels and grading machines, scattered as if abandoned in some confusion. No work was being done beyond the line fence, and 40 yards from that, on a blackened stump, sat a gaunt and silent man who rested a shotgun across his knees.

The county board member stared and then drove on. In front of Lindstrom's gate, where he turned to town, Hemminger saw Uncle Mich sitting on a broken wagon tongue. "What's this fool John doing up there?" he asked.

Michigan continued to whittle the old vegetable basket under whose cover he was wont to peddle his illicit trade. "Won't let the Tanner foreman finish the job, Mr. Hemminger. Done told 'em agin to quit. Perkins, the foreman, laid off his men and went back to town to complain agin."

"John'll get hurt foolin' with Perkins' dagos—and the law, too." The supervisor's eye went to the old man's basket. "Uncle Mich—when this new district attorney is elected, all you fellows will have to quit the whisky trade!"

"I reckon. The sheriff he ax all us bootleggers to let up until after he gets re-elected! But I quit for good."

"Quit? You!"

(Continued next week.)

ACTIVITIES OF

Kansas City has a woman

New York has a firm of chitects.

A good woman cigar mak $17 per week

Minnesota has over wage earners.

Women are barred fro school in Vienna

New York is to build a l for women.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward i woman suffrage

Blindness is more com men than women

The University of Nebr women instructors.

Boston school teachers from a union.

Austrian women are now the right to vote

New York's birth rate i the lowest since 1903

Florida club women have ing libraries.

Married women form a of the workers in England

In New York one femal nine is employed in a factor

Philadelphia has 1,200 gaged in the bookbinding tr

There are over 200,000 tra nurses in the United State

The Pennsylvania Fede Woman's Clubs has 31,000 m

Women of the Russian r appear at court with colored

Miss Mary E. Orr is one o est paid stenographers in th

Washerwomen employed in don laundries are taught m struction.

Nearly 5,000 women commi cide in the United States las

Women were pressed into snow shovelers in New York cently.

The number of women fac ers in New Zealand has inc per cent.

Mrs. J. C. Estes is at the h cheering up department of a sanatorium.

The Florida State College en has purchased a farm for students.

In Russia all women schol are forbidden to have more children.

Every 10th woman in th States is a prostitute, acco Judge Ben Lindsay.

The English birth rate is lower at present than it has many years.

Working girls in Ohio unde of 18 receive an average wag $3 to $5 per week

The English government pointed two women to the council for medical research.

The watch makers' and trade has but one woman, M Flint, who is an expert at h

In Oregon when a husband alcoholism the saloon keeper the wife a compensation.

In Cincinnati the girls in th tic science classes prepare t meals for the open air school

Women are supposed to liv than men because they do not brain cells as vigorously as m

The Patriotic League of Women have started a c against indecency in dress by ciety women of France.

Over 16,000 immigrant gi assisted by the Travelers' Aid of Philadelphia, during the past

Miss Julia Avery, of Madis is to supervise a suffrage farm Valley, Pa., where only women employed.

Miss Adelaide Keim, leading of B. F. Keith's Orpheum Playe adelphia, will quit the stage t the stork.

The Children's Dressmakers of New York, involving abou women workers, has decided t for more wages.

New Jersey has over 80,000 and girls, above the age of 16, in industrial occupations, with erage weekly wage of $6.90.

The New York Woman's Un club has a smoking room, wh members may indulge in a quie with their tea.

In New York state the parti to be under 18 years of age to p fancy in having a marriage a Mlle. M. Carpentier and Made Warner, two French women, boxed four rounds to decide the female boxing championship.

Emily G. Balch, head of the ment of political economy of W college, has been appointed a of the Boston city planning b

Five members of the senior the Woman's medical college, of sylvania, have just been appoi ternes to the college hospital.

In a plowing match, held at R son, England, recently, Miss Wood, who is 83 years of age, plowing her furrow with the them.

Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, of C nia, has the distinction of be first woman to receive the gol of the Mining and Metallurgical ty of America, for achievements

Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow late Edward H. Harriman, the r magnate, has given $35,000 to the ington Irving high school, in Ne city, for mural decorations.

Women workers in a Nantwic land, clothing factory have go strike because of the unpopu one young woman, who had to tected from the strikers by the Women in Williamsport, Md. nominated a municipal ticket, that while they do not have the to vote there is nothing in the to prevent them from holding

To increase the splendor of toilets Creole beauties make use Cucuyos, a large species of found in the tropical forests of America.

A woman's suffrage bill has b troduced in the Porto Rican le providing not only for the rights but the righ to hold public office serve on juries.

Doubtful Education.

From the New Bedford Stand

Perhaps the University of Wisco enshrined itself in the feminine h the Badger state by sending its pert to teach the 500 farmers' wi tending the Western Wisconsin Workers' convention how to be ent of Paris. She showed them a little instruction and practice they wear a hat indefinitely, making year after year in the latest st least, she is reported to have them how to accomplish this feat fear that the report was written uninstructed and ignorant man, to comprehend the principles involved in the succession of h merely of style and shape, but of Not even the influence of a great ity can undermine that conviction

...CTION BY THE MILITANTS IN ...Y WAYS AND IN MANY PLACES.

...ffragets in England began the active campaign of vio... though there had been sporadic outbursts ever since ... the deeds that earned for them the name of arsonets ... recont slashing of the "Rokeby Venus" of Velasquez are: ...e shop windows in the west end of London, costing ...ounds, smashed.
...d into mail boxes, destroying letters and packages.
...ed in the office of Mr. McKenna, the home minister.
...d other valuable plants destroyed in Kew botanical ...
...ge's country house burned and practically destroyed.
...o fire the Theater Royal in Dublin; a hatchet thrown at ...th which hit John E. Redmond.
...ge's horse stopped during the running of the Derby by a ...died from her injuries.
...ent pavilion in the Regent's park burned.
...o the house of Lewis Vernon Harcourt and attempted to ...
...wel room in the Tower broken.
...way stations and other houses burned, doing damage esti... $1,000,000.
...ced under the bishop's throne in St. Paul's Cathedral and ...in other places.
...pictures damaged at Manchester.
...overs of railroad signals in the hope of causing train wrecks.
...burn the British museum.
...mpts to fire churches, both old and new.
...office of the London Standard.
...pepper and snuff to members of the cabinet by the mails.
...squith attacked by women armed with dog whips.
...ardale, an aged peer, whipped in mistake for the prime ...
...ced in Holloway prison in an attempt to blow up the jail.
...nd adjoining property to the value of $400,000 burned at ...
...tempts to force an entrance to Buckingham palace or to ... while he was driving in London.
... rioting at street meetings, outside the houses of parlia... idences of the ministers.

THE INDUSTRIOUS PRINCESS.

...by the McClure News... Syndicate.)
...ime there was a king ...iful daughter, and, un... esses, she was indus... ...y she told her father ... weave a cloth of gold ...t tailor in his kingdom ... coat.
...claimed throughout her ...nds that the one whom ...him would she wed.
...en of high degree came ...at, but it was either too ...arrow, or the sleeves ... too short, for all who ... the coat was hung in ...e princess declared she ...until she found the man ... the coat.
...rts of the king's domain ...easant lad, who worked ...a living from his little ...around his house. But ...rain did not come to ...ables grow, and at other ... so long they decayed ...before the sun came out ...
... peasant was thinking ... when he remembered ...coat of gold cloth that ...d.
... I not try on the coat," ...aps I can wear it and ...es will be at an end." ...wn his spade and went ...
...y, there is a beggar at ...vant told the king. "He ... a peasant, and has ...the princess' gold coat. ...e in," said the king. ...ve a beggar try on my ...d the princess. ...ou would wed the one ...t fitted," the king re...ether he be beggar or ...re bound to keep your ...
... came in and the coat ...or him to try on. ...ed a beggar," cried the ...errible rage, "how dare ...y on my coat," she said ... "Do you think I will ...,"
...ou would wed the man ... the coat," the peasant ... a man and I claim the ...on."
...ted as though it were ...and he was a very hand... when the princess be... gold coat she ceased to weep. And as she looked at him she fell in love with him She walked toward him smiling and holding out her hand.

"You shall always wear a coat of gold cloth," she said, "when we are married."

But the peasant took off the coat and handed it to her. "Take your coat," he said, "I am poor, but I had rather remain as I am than marry you," and he went away leaving the princess, who was too surprised to speak.

Then she began to cry and begged her father to send for the peasant for she would wed no one but him.

Her father told her it was her own fault that she lost him, and by her own efforts she must win him back.

One day when the peasant was eating his dinner a beggar girl came to the door and asked for food.

"I will share my dinner with you," he replied, "but I am very poor and have little to offer."

After she had eaten the girl asked him to allow her to wash the dishes and make the house tidy, "for I am sure," she said, "there is no woman about to do it for you."

The peasant told her he was very poor and could hardly get enough from the land to support himself, "but I have this house," he said, "which will shelter two, and perhaps we can make the vegetables grow and keep from starving."

The beggar girl said that she would stay and they were married.

After they had been married some months the peasant came in from his work one day and called to his wife, but she did not answer. He looked everywhere and was feeling very sorrowful because he thought she had left him, when a carriage stopped at the door and a beautifully dressed woman stepped out. She opened the door and came in and the peasant saw that it was his wife.

"Are you ready to wear the coat now?" she asked, holding out the coat of gold cloth. "Have I not proved my love for you?"

The peasant was too surprised to reply but the princess (for it was she) put her arm around him and led him to the carriage. "I am the princess whom you refused to marry," she said, "because of her terrible temper, but I have overcome it, because I love you. Can you forgive me?"

The peasant put on the coat and got into the carriage. "To the wife who has worked so hard and been so faithful," he said, "I can forgive anything."

BETTY AND THE ROBIN.

...by the McClure News... Syndicate.)
...een ill and her mother ...in a comfortable chair by ...hen a robin hopped along ...tside. "I believe that is ...," said her mother. "It ...spring, now he is here." ...w to a nearby tree and ...tty watched him. "I ... is telling about the ...th, where he has been all ...aid. "I wish I could go ...owers bloom all the year ... sing and the oranges ...ld like to pick one."
...?" asked the robin, and ... by Betty's chair. "I did ...e open the window," said ... did you get in? And ...w you could talk," she ...iting for him to answer ...tion. "There are many ... not know," said the robin ...h to see the sunny south ...e." He flew back of ... felt something snap on ...
... you doing," she asked, ... your wings," said the ... can fly. Come along," ...have a long way to go." ...self fly out of the window ...nt toward the sky. "This ...iling," said Betty. "I ...ondered how it felt to ...uch better than sailing, I ...plied the robin. "I have ...iling, but you can fly up ... you can only sail straight ...
...on sailing when the boat ...down," said Betty, "and it ...sure. Where are we go...ked.
...outh, so you can pick ... the robin. "Oh! what a ...ce," said Betty, as the robin alighted on the ground in a garden filled with roses. "May I pick them?"

"Help yourself," said the robin. And Betty picked roses—white, red and pink. "Now we will go to the river and see it by moonlight," said the robin.

The moon was very large and bright, and shone upon the water in such a way that it looked like a bright path. The palms and tropical trees overhung the banks, and Betty thought it must be Fairyland. "I should think you would stay here all the time," she told the robin. "This place is so beautiful."

"No, I like the north in the summer time," said the robin. Next he took Betty to an orange grove, where the trees were in bloom and the air filled with the perfume of the blossoms.

"Wait," said the robin, "and you shall pick the fruit. Watch the trees." And slowly out of the white blossoms Betty saw a golden yellow appear; it grew larger, until the white waxen flowers were gone and in their place were large luscious-looking oranges. "Now you can pick them," said the robin. Betty picked one and away it rolled. She put roses on the ground and ran after it, but just as she had her fingers on it away it rolled again.

"It's time to go," said the robin, and up they flew. "Oh, my roses," said Betty, "I must fly back and get them."

As she flew away from the robin she felt herself go swiftly through the air, and then she jumped and found herself sitting in the chair by the window where her mother had put her. Out on the limb of the tree sat the robin singing as though he would never tire.

"I have been asleep," said Betty, "and I believe that robin is singing about the things which I saw in my dreams. I should not wonder if that was the way he took to tell me about his beautiful south."

...ons for Country Girls.

... issue of Farm and Fire... E. Boord makes a strong ...untry girls to stay where ... there is some unusual ...aking them move. She re... interesting facts about ... and poor opportunities ...girls in the cities, and con... the following warning:

"Think long and hard before you leave the home nest and the pin money of your chickens and turkeys, and the acquaintances who respect you as Mr. Brown's daughter, for in the city you are only one of thousands of wriggling, struggling human atoms who are trying to be the first to come out on top. It is true that there is room at the top for you, if you are the right girl and have chosen the right place, but make sure of this fact."

Uric Acid is Slow Poison

Unseen in its approach, hard to detect in its early stages, and cruelly painful in its later forms, uric acid poisoning is a disease too often fatal.

Bright's disease is one of the final stages of uric acid poisoning. It kills in our country every year more men and women than any other ailment except two—consumption and pneumonia. Bright's disease and uric acid poisoning usually start in some kidney weakness that would not be hard to cure, if discovered early, so it is well to know the early signs of kidney disease and uric poisoning.

When uric acid is formed too fast and the kidneys are weakened by a cold, or fever, by overwork, or by overindulgences, the acid collects, the blood gets impure and heavy, there is headache, dizziness, heart palpitation, and a dull, heavy-headed, drowsy feeling with disturbances of the urine.

Real torture begins when the uric acid forms into gravel or stone in the kidney, or crystallizes into jagged bits in the muscles, joints or on the nerve tubings. Then follow the awful pains of neuralgia, rheumatism, gout, sciatica, neuritis, lumbago or kidney colic.

"I don't know what ails me."

It is but a further step to dropsy or Bright's disease.

Be warned by backache, by sediment in the kidney secretions, by painful, scanty or too frequent passages. Cure the weakened kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a medicine made just for weak kidneys, that has been proved good in years of use, in thousands of cases—the remedy that is recommended by grateful users from coast to coast.

SCREAMED ALOUD
In Agony With Awful Kidney Ailments

Mrs. Clara Braech, 200 N 16th St., Lexington, Mo., says. "My whole system was filled with uric acid poison. I had terrible sharp, shooting pains in my head and sometimes I was so dizzy, I staggered and nearly fell. The poisoning affected my whole body and my hands, arms, limbs and ankles were swollen and sore. The pains got so bad I screamed and I thought I would die. I was nervous and languid and at times I had blinding spells. Remedies and physicians' prescriptions did me no good. In 1911 I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and had some procured for me. After I had taken them a few days, the soreness and pain began to ease up and I felt a little stronger. In almost no time, I was up and around, in good health. Doan's Kidney Pills purified my whole system and there is no doubt that they saved my life. Since I was cured, I have had no further trouble."

"When Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name"

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Sold by all Dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., Proprietors

Big Tax on Woman's Estate.

It rarely happens in Great Britain that a woman has the disposal at her death of more than $5,000,000, but the eighth millionaire estate to be probated during the present financial year is that of a Miss Easton of Felling in Durham and Layton Manor in Yorkshire, who died at the age of ninety-five. Her estate is valued for probate at $5,398,900. The duties on this will amount to more than $1,050,000.

The only other cases recorded in recent years of women who disposed at their death of estates over $5,000,000 in value are Mrs. Rylands, widow of a Manchester warehouse owner, who left $14,243,460; Mrs. Lewis-Hill, wife of Captain Lewis-Hill and widow of Sam Lewis, the famous West end money lender, who left $5,759,865; Baroness von Hirsch, who left $30,000,000; Mrs. Alexandra Ralli, who left $5,050,710, and Miss Ellen Morrison, who left $11,739,645.

Trapped.

His Wife—I met our maid Anne just now on the street and she pretended not to see me.

Her Husband—You ought to point out to Anna the impropriety of such conduct.

His Wife—But how can I? You see, she had another girl with her, and it was quite evident she didn't want her friend to know she was working for a woman who wore a two-dollor-and-a-half hat.

The Explanation.

"She says she never borrows trouble."

"No; that's a thing she prefers to give."—Judge.

CLEVER WIFE
Knew How to Keep Peace in Family.

It is quite significant, the number of persons who get well of alarming heart trouble when they let up on coffee and use Postum as the beverage at meals.

There is nothing surprising about it, however, because the harmful alkaloid—caffeine—in coffee is not present in Postum, which is made of clean, hard wheat.

"Two years ago I was having so much trouble with my heart," writes a lady in Washington, "that at times I felt quite alarmed. My husband took me to a specialist to have my heart examined.

"The doctor said he could find no organic trouble but said my heart was irritable from something I had been accustomed to, and asked me to try and remember what disagreed with me.

"I remembered that coffee always soured on my stomach and caused me trouble from palpitation of the heart. So I stopped coffee and began to use Postum. I have had no further trouble since.

"A neighbor of ours, an old man, was so irritable from drinking coffee that his wife wanted him to drink Postum. This made him very angry, but his wife secured some Postum and made it carefully according to directions.

"He drank the Postum and did not know the difference, and is still using it to his lasting benefit. He tells his wife that the 'coffee' is better than it used to be, so she smiles with him and keeps peace in the family by serving Postum instead of coffee."

Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum — must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

—sold by Grocers.

Nature's Wondrous Order.

Every blade of grass in the field is measured; the green cups and the colored crowns of every flower are curiously counted; the stars of the firmament wheel in calculated orbits; even the storms have their laws.—Blaikie.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes do not stain the kettle. Adv.

Let 'Em Fight.

"This is my idea of nothing to worry about."

"What is it?"

"One senator has called another senator a rascal and there's a controversy on."

Trimming Him.

Barber—And your hair needs trimming.

Victim—I suppose it does. You trimmed it yesterday.—Judge.

Except for his big ears, a donkey could not appreciate his own music.

The Army of Constipation

Is Growing Smaller Every Day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are responsible — they not only give relief — they permanently cure Constipation. Millions use them for Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Sallow Skin.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

Wanted Men with motorcycles, autos, rigs; all or spare time; canvass rural ... good wages. R. J. Holmes, Hazen, N. D.

Pettit's Eye Salve RELIEVES SORE EYES

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 14—1914.

Nature Never Intended Woman to be Sickly

As a matter of fact it is her right and her duty to enjoy perfect health and strength—to be just as strong and healthy as man—perhaps more so—in view of the fact that it is she who brings into the world the offspring.

Every woman can be strong and healthy. Don't resign yourself to a delicate life.

If you suffer from headaches, backaches, nervousness, low spirits, lack of ambition, or have lost all hope of being well again—it's more than an even chance that you will speedily regain your health if you will try

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

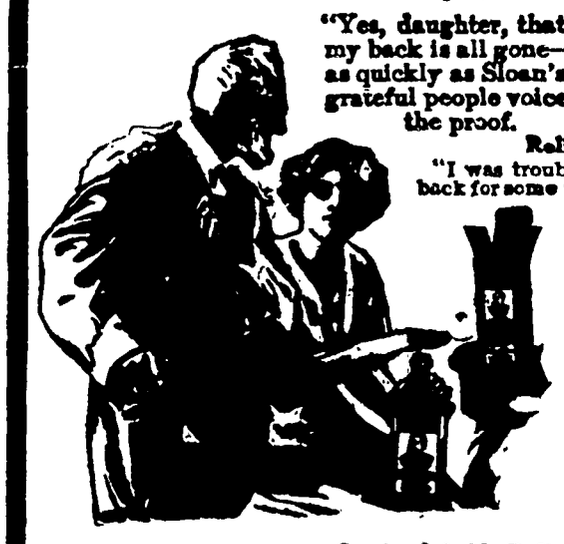
(In Tablet or Liquid Form)

This famous remedy is the result of years of patient research by a physician who has made women's peculiar ailments a life study.

Since its introduction—more than forty years ago—thousands of women in every part of the globe have testified to its wonderful merits. You, too, will find it beneficial. Try it now. Your dealer in medicines will supply you or you can send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate stomach, liver, bowels.

Rheumatism, Sprains Backache, Neuralgia



"Yes, daughter, that's good stuff. The pain in my back is all gone—I never saw anything work as quickly as Sloan's Liniment." Thousands of grateful people voice the same opinion. Here's the proof.

Relieved Pain in Back.

"I was troubled with a very bad pain in my back for some time. I went to a doctor but he did not do me any good, so I purchased a bottle of Sloan's Liniment, and now I am a well woman. I always keep a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in the house."—Miss Matilda Cannon, 364 Myrtle Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sciatic Rheumatism.

"We have used Sloan's Liniment for over six years and found it the best we ever used. When my wife had sciatic rheumatism the only thing that did her any good was Sloan's Liniment. We cannot praise it highly enough."—Mr. [illegible], Des Moines, Iowa.

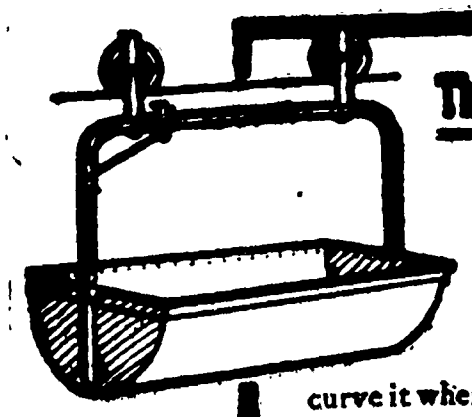
Sprained Ankle Relieved.

"I was ill for a long time with a severely sprained ankle. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and now I am able to be about and can walk a great deal. I write this because I think you deserve a lot of credit for putting such a fine Liniment on the market and I shall always take time to recommend Dr. Sloan's Liniment."—Chas. Reese, Baltimore, Md.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

At all Dealers—25c., 50c. and $1.00. Sloan's instructive book on horses, cattle, hogs and poultry sent free.

Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Inc. . . . . Boston, Mass.



The MOYER Litter Carrier

Is built of 18-gauge galvanized steel, and water tight. Carries 5 to 7 bushels to the load. Lay the track straight or curve it where you will. Fewest parts of any carrier made. Come in and look it over.

30 DAYS Trial Free Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm--list it with me.

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable

Fred Kluckhohn

Coal Hauling

Very Low One-Way Fares

to

California

and

North Pacific Coast Points

On Sale Daily
March 15 to April 15, 1914.

Personally Conducted Excursions

via

Rock Island Lines

In modern through Pullman Tourist Cars.

Every attention and courtesy.

Choice of routes — via El Paso, the direct route of lowest altitudes, or through Colorado and Salt Lake City.

Dining car service unexcelled. Stop-overs permitted.

Rock Island

Let me quote you fares and plan the trip.

F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M M ne

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E. Baumgartner.

I hereby announce myself Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary.
Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.
THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries June 1914.
Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.
Jennie Hammill.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries
G. G. Washburn.

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J D. G. Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.
Martin Bachman.

I hereby announce myself a candidate of County Supervisor of the 3rd District of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June.
Valentine Josten, Jr.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.
A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June. 1914. Republican primaries.
I C Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole.

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration.
S. R. Durant.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds.
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

There Is A String Attached to Each Load Lumber that Leaves Our Yard!

You May Not See It But We Know It Is There!

We Call It

OUR THREAD OF SATISFACTION
Because Our Patrons
INVARIABLY WEND THEIR WAY BACK WHEN IN NEED OF

Northern Lumber Co.
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all mers and town people business at

—NORTH ELEVATOR—

in all kinds of GRAIN, CO and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SO

EASTER CANDIES

We have a very fine Select

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

ATTENTION FARMERS:

This is the time of the year to get your Mach ready for Spring and Summer work. I am equ to do your Blacksmith work in a first class ma I also have the agency for the famous Robinson ure Spreader.

GIVE ME A CALL

W. F. PAVEY

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BROS

THE KLEMME TIMES

E XVIII. NUMBER 33 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY APRIL 9, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

r banking business with you can feel assured of pt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

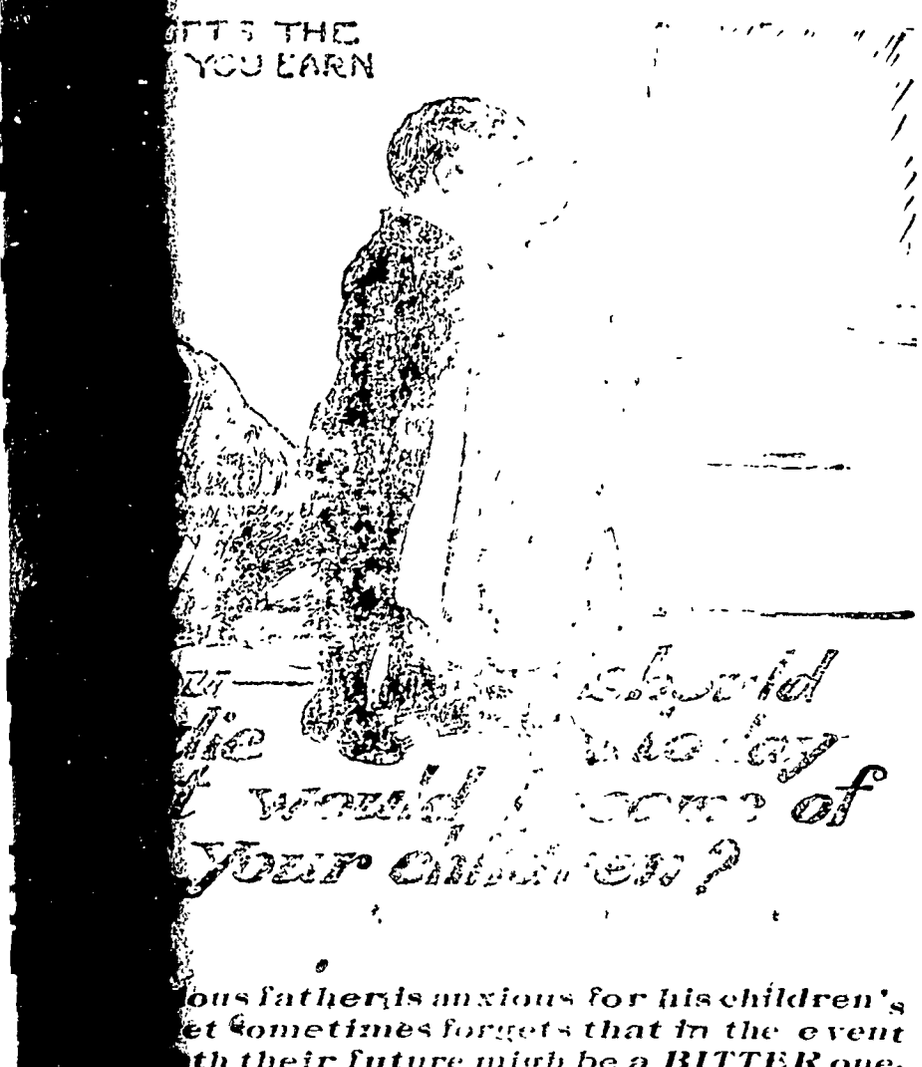
is proof of the success of this policy.



Should the worry of your Children?

ous father is anxious for his children's et sometimes forgets that in the event th their future migh be a BITTER one. f us know just when we are going to be Why not prepare for YOUR CHIL- ture by having some money in the ety fortune was made by making the rt. Why do you not make your first and put some money into our bank?

Do YOUR banking with US

ate Savings Bank.

Iowa

$15,000.00
$15,000.00 Total $30,000.00

an you beat it?

R. BLOOM

—THE—

IN COAL AND

LIVE STOCK

MAN

hogs six days in the week at est market prices.

ess established 1890.

Locals of Interest

SEED POTATOES About 150 bushel of good Minnesota seed potatoes, Rural Yorkers and Burbanks for sale at a reasonable price. Hugo Neff at J N Day's tore.

If you have not been taking in the "movies" of late you had better do so. The pictures are bright and clear since they have added an electric equipment and they are showing some mighty fine features.

The Rock Island freight receipts at this station for the month of February were over $8,000 00 and for the month of March nearly $7,500 00. Still they cannot afford to furnish Agent Mitchel with a helper.

Dr. R W Soultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point It will be helpful to you.

Those were mighty good cars the which Gibbs Bros, received last week but we were a little strong with ciphers in stating the record of some of their Dams. It should of read 1,000 pounds of butterfat in one season instead of 10,000

Al Flint, who is now running the Palmer Press, was forced to enlarge his paper on account of so much advertising, and by the looks of his sheet, must be prospering. By the way his merchants advertise, Palmer must be a busy little place. Mr. Flint has many Klemme friends who are pleased that he is enjoying so good a patronage.

Grandpa Jacob Wenz, who makes his home with his son, Wm. enjoyed his 85th birthday, Monday, April, 6. He is still hale and hearty for his age and enjoys all of his senses, although his hearing is somewhat impaired. He ha been a resident of this vicinity a very long term of years and came to America from Germany over 50 years ago. His many friends hope he lives to enjoy many more pleasant anniversaries.

Another larger special electric engine and dynamo have been ordered and will be added to the electric light plant equipment. The present power is not adequate to take care of all the patronage and the list of patrons is growing as fast as the places can be wired. In a short time the electroliers and residence lights will be installed and they will take a great deal of "juice." With this added power they will have plenty to take care of the growth of the patronage and insure excellent service.

English M. E. Church Notes.

Preaching Sunday at 10.00 o'clock a. m., and 7:30 p. m.

Sunday School at 11:00 o'clock.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

All are invited to these services.

REV. J. M. HOWDESHELL
Pastor.

FARMERS!

Send 25c. for a copy of the Farmer's Rapid Figurer and Calculator; the handiest book you ever saw; money back if wanted —E. C. Foster, Assumption, Ill.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25 000 00
Pres. - C H WIEGMANN
Vice Pres - ARO LAU
Cashier - F A ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits

Your 1st deposit Opens
A Bank Account
The Next One
Starts It Growing
You're Sure To Have A Bounteous Crop
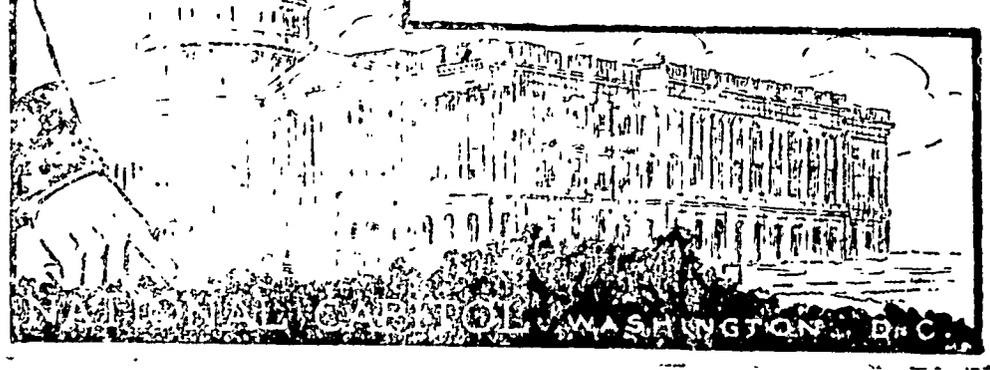
If Persisent
In The Sowing



REMEMBER THE GREAT

Majestic Range Sale

AT

Gruetzmacher Bros.

Sat. Is Your Last Chance

During this sale we will give away absolutely free with each range either a set of Aluminum or Granite and Nickel Cooking Utensils--these sets are worth $8.00.

A man direct from the factory will be here to demonstrate these ranges and will show their numerous superior points.

If you wish to purchase a range now and get it during the sale, do so and take advantage of the FREE COOKING UTENSILS.

Gruetzmacher Bros.

Hardware and Groceries

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial." — Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis. — "At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since." — Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Not Eau De Vie.

Tippler The doctor said I must drink lots of water

His Wife Very well But he doesn't mean fire water, remember

RASH ITCHED AND BURNED

400 South Hermitage Ave, Chicago, Ill.—"I was attacked with a breaking out on the inside of my arms It was a small rash or pimples and it itched and burned, especially at night, so that before I knew it I had made myself sore I had to wear the finest kind of cotton underwear, no woolen at all, because the least thing irritated it and made it much worse The rash itched and smarted until at times I got no sleep at all

"I had this trouble and took treatments for about one year, but they only gave me relief while taking them. Then I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I got relief right away In three months I was a well man again" (Signed) H W. Foley, Nov 5, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p Skin Book Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept L, Boston"—Adv.

Wisest Nation.

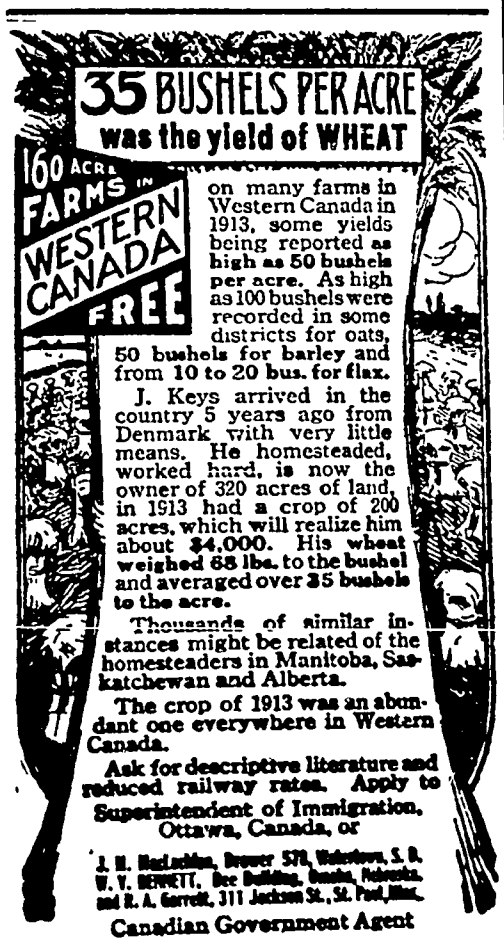
"It says here, 'One of the idols most revered by the Koreans is the figure of a woman seated, resting her chin in her hand,'" said Mrs Chatterley, reading the newspaper

"Which proves that the Koreans are about the wisest nation on earth," suggested her husband

"How's that, Joshua?"

"Well, said Mr Chatterley, with distinct emphasis, "simply because they make a deity of a woman who has sense enough to give her chin a rest"

Reputation and character are about as synonymous as the north and south poles.



on many farms in Western Canada in 1913, some yields being reported as high as 50 bushels per acre. As high as 100 bushels were recorded in some districts for oats, 50 bushels for barley and from 10 to 20 bus. for flax.

J. Keys arrived in the country 5 years ago from Denmark with very little means. He homesteaded, worked hard, is now the owner of 320 acres of land, in 1913 had a crop of 200 acres, which will realize him about $4,000. His wheat weighed 68 lbs. to the bushel and averaged over 35 bushels to the acre.

Thousands of similar instances might be related of the homesteaders in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop of 1913 was an abundant one everywhere in Western Canada.

Ask for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates. Apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

J. M. Macmillan, Brower 570, Watertown, S. D. W. V. BENNETT, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska. and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson St., St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agent

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF "THE DAY OF SOULS," "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

26

CHAPTER XX (Continued).

"Done quit. My little girl did it, Mr. Hemminger. She and Mr. Curran, they done want me to quit. Mr. Curran and our little girl."

Mr. Hemminger drove on with a sigh. The story of "them actresses" had done Mr. Curran no good, despite his winning fight. Neither did his Quixotic championship of the pocket squatters. Mr. Curran was always meddling in some unprofitable affair, the defender of some lame-dog case. When Mr. Hemminger reached Janet Vance's office to discuss the new seats for his district school with her, he touched on Mr. Curran's weaknesses. "Somebody ought to hold Wiley in tight, Miss Vance. He needs it. And he's coming on so big, Wiley is."

She smiled, wondering what curious pain it gave her to hear Curran praised by these rugged men of the country who daily came into her office. Her farmer constituents took a shy gratification in Janet's appreciation of their homely affairs. They were proud of her also. "Old Jake's girl was a smart one—maybe she would marry this new fighting governor who was so mighty interested in her! But then there was Wiley Curran! They were proud of him, too.

An hour later, glancing out, she saw Curran and Hemminger together, their shoulders to a heavy casting, which some farmer was trying to load in his wagon at Dickinson's warehouse. And again her faint smile came. Yes, they loved him—they had made place for him. And she? Well, she had done her part also for him. And she knew him so much better than any of them!

Curran had been busied all the final campaign. There was fear that the old county gang would knife his candidacy so his backers had kept him at the front. But he had no misgivings. He had returned to his home town brown and hearty, pleased with the sense of victory. He had discovered surprising qualities in himself, a caustic retort, a merciless clearness that pleased the farmers. The papers commented on his "brilliance." Janet had read and listened It was more than winning a campaign, it was the making of a man.

He saw her when he passed the court house and came to her, eager, volatile, bubbling with tales of the progressive cause. "I made 'em listen, Janet'"

Then in her calm eyes, back of her serene smile, he seemed to read again the inexplicable pain which he did not care to fathom And he went from her, steadied by a sense of her faith, but refusing to dwell upon it. It was like his estrangement from Harlan—at first it had been a desperate hurt. But through the weeks, rising with his new fighting life, he had fiercely told himself that he would yield nothing; he was crying out to life with a Dionysian gladness he would seize growth and power and recreate himself. So when he found a letter from Aurelie on his desk, he cried out as if a meteor had lighted his dingy shop. Aurelie, the village baggage, old Michigan's girl, the one-time rabbit hunter of the hills, the ridiculous beauty prize winner an actress trapesing over the land with an ambition to come back with a bull pup and a press agent to startle the old town! Janet was right: If there was anything needed to "finish" Wiley Curran it was Aurelie Lindstrom. But he would not admit this. His Celtic sense of romance begilded his world still, a bit of tinsel would hold his eye and always would. Yet he knew better than any one how desperately he needed the cool and sober judgment of men and women—that was what could make him; that was what was making him now in his new life, the faith, the love of these prosy farm folk of the midlands.

But Aurelie had written! And at once the walls of his shop fell away to vistas of enchantment.

"I'm engaged!" said Aurelie, in her firm, upright, high school hand. Mr. Curran started feverishly. "In a musical comedy and the manager says I can sing! Oh, what do you think of that? Not much, but enough. But Ada Norman says my face did it, and I'd never get a show if I hadn't made Cohan's office boy laugh. But I tell you, Mr Curran, we were right up against it! Ada and I pawned our trunks, and when she stacked me out in the best clothes we could get I sailed into some of these people. And I tell you Mr. Curran, the day I got my job we were down to oatmeal cooked over the gas jet in our room. But there's nothing in a race but the finish! Oatmeal isn't so bad."

"Oh, Aurelie!" groaned Mr. Curran, "and that taxi, and the dollar you gave a bell boy over at the Metropole!"

The letter went on "And what do you think, Mr. Curran, I was only in that chorus six weeks when Cohan & Snitz decided to put a road show out, and they picked me out of the New York production to understudy the comedienne. They said I was funny! I suppose I made faces and kicked up my heels——" "Oh, Rome! Oh, the Shakespeare club!" murmured Mr. Curran.—"So I'm going out on the road with the second 'Girl and the Burglar' company. We aren't so classy as the New York bunch, but it gives me a chance. I like new York. You ought to see the clothes I've got. When we open in Chicago on the 10th you just got to come and see me act.

"P. S.—Tell all those grannies who don't like me about 'The Girl and the Burglar.' But don't say anything about the oatmeal!'

"P. S.—Pretty soon I'll send you some stuff to put in the paper.

"P. S.—I saw three little rabbits under a bridge yesterday when the train went by. "With love,

"Aurelie."

The congressional candidate folded the letter over so that only "With love, Aurelie" showed. He gazed at it. Then he sat down and tried to recall Aurelie. What she liked, and how she laughed or rebelled—what inevitability of life had made her as it made all the rest of us.

He went about the next month, in and out of the county, speaking wherever the need took him. It was not until his next breathing space, that, back in his office to pick up the odds and ends of work—for the task of getting out the News had fallen to Aunt Abby and his mongrel printers—he met Harlan. While Wiley had been on his whirlwind campaign, Harlan had kept to his petty lawyering with Donley. He had no fight to make. The county committee took care of that. His sort of politics needed no noise nor appeal—it was not a part of the Cambridge-Virginia traditions of his family.

Harlan came in on him one chill night of October. Wiley had been hurt, for it seemed, since his return, that Harlan had evaded him. Others had noticed it. Arne Vance had truculently attributed it to politics—Harlan was going the way of the old gang, was he? Well, Arne had grimly forecasted it. Associations and traditions were too strong for Harlan.

Curran and Harlan faced each other now with a dumb recognition of the hurt in each other's eyes The old glad faith—where had it gone?

Curran had been at brief troubled analysis of it all, even with the turmoil of his battle. And Janet's serene aloofness, yet steadfast ardor for his success. "They think I love her," he had muttered restlessly, time and again. "I—why, it's ridiculous! Twice her age, and—lordy! getting bald as I am—and everything about me—a trifler with women." And then he studied. "Well, that kid! God bless her! Nothing ever hit me so hard. I wish they'd understand!"

But to save Mr. Curran he couldn't make out what he wanted any one to understand. He was in some bewildering struggle, he told himself—and could not understand himself!

He stood across his desk from the imperturbable young man. How Harlan had grown these years! His man's bulk and dignity, his outgiving of power and personality. Wiley had envied it even with his great hurt love for the boy It was curious how things come to one man without price for which another struggles lifelong in vain He tried now to come back to the dear familiar ground with Harlan, and Harlan would not have it.

The younger man was unfolding a paper from his pocket. And suddenly a fear shot through Curran that it had to do with that hushed story of Ladeau's. They had kept it well quiet, yet it haunted his counsels. But Harlan, his voice cool, tense, spoke of another matter

"Wiley, did you see this from the Chicago papers?"

Wiley took the review of last week's opening of "The Girl and the Burglar." He stifled a shout of amazement. The woman who had been doing the leading comedy business had been taken ill the first night, and a girl from the chorus, who had understudied the part, had played her role. Aurelie!

"Saved the first night!" gasped Mr. Curran. "And I've been on the road and never heard a word of it'"

The grim young man silently extended other clippings. The reviewers were surprised, felicitious. Cohan & Snitz had "got by" with a musical comedy that had been on its last legs until the Chicago opening. And a new face—a girl with a funny personality had pulled it through. A girl who sang and laughed with a happy audacity. A refreshing person who had no ingenue tricks, no footlight mannerisms—nothing except laughter and ignorance of convention. The reviewers suddenly recalled that this was the newspaper beauty contest winner of—let's see? Was it two years ago? No one cared. Only, to that fact Cohan & Snitz's publicity bureau seized as only a drowning Hebrew manager can seize on a drawning $40,000 show. They flung it broadside; they screamed it on every fence. The star roared and resigned. It did her no glory Cohan & Snitz would have deified their office boy if he could have saved "The Girl and the Burglar"; and here an unknown western girl of their chorus had all the press with her, and all the public by some happy-go-lucky nerve.

Mr. Curran laid down those clippings and wiped his eyes. "Where have I been?" he gasped again. "Asleep'"

"Read on," demanded Harlan.

Aurelie had been interviewed by the Times. She said she was from Rome, Ia., but adored a bull pup and lobster Newburgh. She was interviewed for the Telegraph—Sunday, first page, supplement, specially posed photos and a sketch by "Max"—and said she liked all the Johnnies and used their notes to stuff a pillow for the bull pup Next day, declared the veracious publicity bureau, she received eight pups from eight millionaires and fifty mash notes.

Wiley laid down the clippings once more. "The dear kid," he murmured "Eight million pups and eight million millionaires — I'd not care'" He looked up to meet Harlan's eyes. "And two months ago she was living in New York—cooking oatmeal over a gas jet! She's a humdinger'"

Humdingers are not in the Van Hart genealogy. In 1742, Ebenezer Van Hart married Agatha Ann Bunker, indentured servant. The Mrs. Van Harts of today never read the paragraph on page 28 about Agatha Ann, one time humdinger.

Harlan broke out wrathfully. "Wiley! You rejoice at it!"

"I reckon! The dear kid—let her go on just joyously! All she's done! The money she's sent back to Lindstrom's to pull 'em through! And now she's got Uncle Mich's patent leg paid for—at last. And Uncle Mich sent Peter in to ask me to come out. A regular party to christen Mich's leg—that is what Aurelie said we must have—with flowers and laughter and everybody happy!"

Young Mr. Van Hart arose. It was no use to quarrel with Wiley when his eyes were shining so! No use to remind him of congress. No use to charge him with making a fool of himself.

But Harlan shouted from the door: "Aurelie—you got her into this! And you ought to know how girls get on in these music shows—the only way! No—" he shouted on passionately—"you don't love her—it's a joke!"

The editor stood up and wiped his glasses and looked after Harlan's retreating figure. "Love her? Confound the boy!" He knocked his pipe out on the desk edge. "Hey—O! If I was 21—" he sighed. "But when I was 21 there was Janet, and I went out to see the tinsel world—" he sighed again. "And now Aurelie and her tinsel show! Yet I reckon I'm glad I am what I am!"

After supper he went up the bluff road. Along this trail she had come flying to him in despair. Above were the hills in whose autumn glory she had robed her loneliness. There the bleak field about the Lindstrom cottage lay. Out of all this meagerness she had come. And he had lifted her!

Even Lindstrom, gaunt and silent, welcoming him from the ravening dogs, could not chill his jubilance. He waved the papers toward old Mich. The household stared at him.

"Hear this—all of you!" And he began reading the tale of Aurelie's glory. Even John was stilled. Albert's pale eyes shone. Old Michigan waved his peg leg.

"Done come!" he crowed. "Just as Captain Tinkletoes and me said it was! Aurelie'd done occupy all the lands and states and countries! And I done got the new leg she's been buyin', Mr. Wiley. But I ain't goin' t' wear it. It's too fine and shiny, and cost a sight o' money fo' an old whisky runner like me. Wouldn't get that leg out in the rain and mud fo' a pretty! So we hung it up in the parlor."

"But Uncle Mich—"

"Finest leg, I reckon, in this yere hull government! And yere's another man who knows Louisany where the birds they sing so sweet—'way down river where Aurelie done come from!"

There was a scurry. Ladeau was out and beaming on Curran, terrierwise. "Ol' Mich"—he cried—"we struck up, talkin' dem ol' days! And I come offer my legal knowledge to dis case, Wiley."

"Legal knowledge?" Curran had put the unpleasing fact of Ladeau away weeks ago—and had paid him pittances of money. Now he was reminded.

"I study dat correspondence school of Pittsburgh when I was in Kansas. Ah, dat law—it hurt my healt'. So I carry bats for Rube. But dat law, I know heem. I advise m'sieu in dis trouble."

"The Lord will direct me." John's deep voice had the majesty with which martyrs walk to the stake. The iron was in his soul. Curran felt the vanity of argument. But Ladeau sniffed of some compromise he was about to make. He went on with a great harangue of terms and settlements, while the Dane sat in his Cromwellian faith in the right and grimly listened. On the table was a shotgun, and hanging on the wall, a repeating rifle. Outside his lean hounds watched the road with instant warning of approach

"But here's your family, John? What can you hope, if you get into trouble, for them?"

"God will answer. So I told the sheriff, Mr Curran, when he came to see me. 'An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth' So I told him, and he went away. The holiness brethren have prayed with me, Mr. Curran, and they tell me God will see my cause just."

Wiley reasoned charitably that this was to be expected of a university that had no windows open to the sunny side. "John, I'd think twice—"

Ladeau beamed ingratiatingly. "I have t'ought for m'sieu. My legal knowledge. T'ree t'ousand dollars we demand. I stand by m'sieu to get hees right. Name of God—no? Den we fight'"

Curran turned sharply on him. "Now you keep still in this, Ladeau! Grafting on John and Uncle Mich, now, are you?"

The Cajun shrugged. "I eat. I sleep. Up in dat loft with Uncle Mich," he sighed, "and here is dis room unused. It wait fo' mam'selle who run off fo' de stage!"

He sighed again, deprecating such foolish sentiment. But Curran looked past him. It was Aurelie's room. Mrs. Lindstrom was by his side at the door. "Not a thing changed, sir—just waiting for her." She glanced at John. "My man, I think he's sorry. Aurelie was always a good girl—kind as could be." Her toil-weary eyes lightened, meeting Curran's own. The boys crowded nearer Old Michigan lifted his shaggy head. Albert, the pitiful pedler agent, raised his glance from the catalogs he was everlastingly at. Even John listened imperturbably.

Word of Aurelie! Aurelie off in the world doing some sort of marvel! Aurelie, their defiant protector, the red-coated champion of old days when she fought the town boys for her ragged little foster brothers! Never would one of them forget.

"Done comin' home!" muttered Michigan—"some day!"

"And she won't be stuck up either!" said Peter. "She wrote Knute she was goin' huntin' with us up Eagle Point—when Nellie's pups grew big!"

They looked in the tiny room. Spotless, the bed hung in pink and white chintz, contrasting with the squalor of the kitchen room without. Her love of cleaness, of pretty things, her buoyant hopefulness and nicety spoke in every line. On the dresser was her latest photograph in a frame made of a walnut tree burl which the boys had found in the slough and which Michigan had dressed from its roughness. In a pitcher was a spray of late cosmos which Mrs. Lindstrom had saved from the last frost. Some way, for Aurelie they would shyly bring whatever of sentiment their hard lives held. Unseen, some grace of love she had left for them still hovered. They were waiting—the little white room held the air of a shrine.

And Curran, who knew of the clothes and food mysteriously carried into this house, for which Albert's piteous earnings and Mich's illicit trade had never sufficed, since John was crippled, felt the throb of their love. It had done more than give food, it had held them up with hope, with laughter and with joy. In spite of all; and even John no longer held her the devil's agent. But he would not speak of her.

Peter pulled open the drawer to her dresser. "Heres her little rosary, Mr. Curran. We found it under the clapboards, when the dogs chewed through after a rabbit." The boy's voice lowered tragically. "Paw, he throwed it there the night he made her run off—he said it was Catholic! And we hid it to wait till she comes home again, Mr. Curran."

Wiley took the bronzed chain and silver cross. A crude and simple piece of work such as a child might wear. But it was the only reminder of her vagabond life down river. Michigan touched it in Curran's hands.

(Continued next week.)

SPRING FEVER IS HERE

It Indicates Fresh Hope Renewed Buoyancy Spirit.

How wonderfully tight the wander-lust for the country one!

Spring fever, with all of fulness, is the harbinger hopes and a buoyancy of spi

I noticed a passenger on Chicago train the other da started out on his trip wit dent intention of becomin taken with one of the bes that he might shorten the tri the two cities. You have same thing yourself

But his book had been He had read only a few pa interest in it had lagged

From the car windows he ing the fields now bared of s ditches were carrying away and the still less sluggish cr now streams bearing the o the rivers. The farmer, in sleeves, was repairing the fe the winter drifts the cattle proof of a winter s stabling heading here and there t meadows, seeking the patches of grass; the farm field and stubble, was p repair this and that nece ture, here looking after his there his harrow, and on all scenes which reminded th that spring was here, at las

As the train sped on glimpses of the painter as on the weather-beaten buil revealed, the interest of was aroused and, when I the reason, he answered here and I feel its blood fl

The truth was, that others, he was planning th was to do the coming su was going out to the farm in Western Canada He ha to dig, his horses to get his grain implements to seed grain to prepare, and tails for the land that wa receive it. His was wha termed an "unrest"—to farm!

Thousands in Western day are making the prepara this interested man co Their summer fallows are the wheat, their spring being attended to, fences rebuilt or being put into deed, the entire country hive of industry.

Railroads are in readine care of a great rush of set charged with the reception are prepared to extend tesy and thus meet the judgment and without the tion. Thus, the enjoyme opening of spring is fully

At many of the stations many of the middle west trains of settlers' effects a ness to move to Western Ca only in these states are se kind to be witnessed, bu either coast and throughou ern states there is the su among those going to W ada this spring. The crops heavy and all reports a winter was enjoyable, also prospects for a satisfactory never better. There is pl yet to be had by homestead erwise. Adapted, as West is, to small grain farming cially adapted to cattle many of the farmers are p and large herds, as their means will permit.

The illustrated literatur by the Canadian governm tells the truth clearly and should send for a copy an one of those who has an interest, you may be the a perusal of such in straight, cold facts in the Advertisement.

It is quite natural that should want his patients heeled.

Strange as it may seem, who keeps his troubles to loses them soonest.

When a married man is it is generally because he hearted.

A pedigree is all right but it's money that make go.

Aiming high is a waste less your gun is loaded.

In giving everybody a do not forget yourself.

Boston school teachers form a union.

...co Heart.

...ian the other day was ... examine the heart ac... classmate's son.

"...'re got tobacco heart, I guess," ... physician.

"...doctor, I haven't—" protested ... young man.

"...now, I'm busy."

... father met the physi... told him that his boy hadn't ... years.

"...," said the physician, "...be in love."—New York ...

...D, HEART TROUBLE.

...6 boxes of Dodds Kid... Heart Trouble from ...uffered for 5 years. I ...lls, my eyes puffed, my breath was short and I had chills and back-ache. I took the pills about a year ago and have had no return of the palpitations. Am now 63 years old, able to do lots of ... manual labor, am ...rty and weigh about ... feel very grateful that ... Kidney Pills and you ...s letter if you wish. I ... third term as Probate ... Co. Yours truly, ...LER, Cimarron, Kan. ...ith Judge Miller about ... remedy. ... Pills, 50c. per box at ... Dodds Medicine Co., ... Write for Household ...ic of National Anthem ...erman words) and re... dishes. All 3 sent free.

...Economy.

...hink it was extravagant ...es to buy an automo...

... she married a chauf...

...e Weapons.

...rtainly a fierce oyster ...islature."

...actions shelling each ...

...erally True.

...ld's a stage."

...Everything on earth is ... in the moving pic...

...Appearance.

... on electric cooking ... up."

...inly has the appear... 'pi.'"

... the Style.

...n seeking everywhere ...ment."

... you try Washington?"

...n never does anything ...because he thinks it isn't ...

...poor ways of making ... mark is the world is painting ... town red.

Even a good idea will sometimes look like a man when he is down and out.

...Sure

...Favorite

...s the house-... much thank-... ...ooking—

...st

...oasties

...tory cooks them ... toasts them to a ...olden-brown, and ...m to your table ...t direct from the ...ge.

...p, easy to serve,

...rfully

Appetizing

... grocer—

...st

...oasties

EXPRESS MESSENGER ROUTS LONE BANDIT

Ordered to Open Safe, He Fires on Robber and Puts Him to Flight.

Athens, Ga., April 3.—An attempt, by a bandit, to rob a Seaboard Airline passenger train, near Comer, Ga., was frustrated early today, by R. C. Fletcher, an express messenger. After a pistol fight with Fletcher the bandit jumped from the train and escaped.

The bandit boarded the express car as the train was leaving a water station. Covering Fletcher with a revolver, he ordered the messenger to open the safe. Fletcher drew a pistol and opened fire. After several shots were exchanged, the bandit, handicapped by a bullet wound in the arm, dropped his weapon and leaped from the train. Fletcher was not injured.

CREW OF 170 MEN PERISH IN STORM WHEN SHIP SINKS

St. Johns, N. F., April 3.—The sealing steamer Newfoundland has been crushed in the ice just south of Belle Isle strait and the greater part of her crew of 170 men are believed to have perished.

Steamers in the vicinity picked up several bodies and a few of the crew who had survived on the ice floes to which they escaped when their vessel went down.

Fifty of the crew have been accounted for in this manner. Most of them were dead when found and several others were dying.

Great alarm is also felt for the sealing steamer Southern Cross, which is also believed to have been caught in the ice. The first reports said it was a part of the crew of the Southern Cross that had been picked up and that they were being brought into port by the Newfoundland. There are 173 men on board the Southern Cross. She was due here Tuesday.

The storm that has raged over Newfoundland for three days continued unabated today and the telegraph service to points along the coast has suffered.

120 Still on Floes.

The captain of the Newfoundland was Wesley Kean. Meager reports relayed from one vessel to another by wireless and more or less confused, state that of the crew of the Newfoundland, 120 men were still on the ice floes this morning. It is possible that some of the bodies picked up on the ice were those of members of the crew of the Southern Cross.

One report says that the men who left the Newfoundland were scattered by the moving ice fields in different directions radiating from the wreck like spokes from a wheel. The wind was blowing a gale off shore and there was a blinding snow storm in which the crew would be unable to find their way in any direction. They had little food when they left the ship and no extra clothing. Without tents or other shelter, many succumbed to hunger and exposure. It is feared here that few will survive. Vessels sent out from here are searching among the ice floes.

Curling, N. F., April 3.—Reports received here today state that the sealing steamer Newfoundland was lost off Cape Race and the greater part of her crew of 170 men perished. No word has been received of the sealer Southern Cross, reported in trouble in the same vicinity Tuesday. Rescue ships have picked up 50 bodies of the crew of the Newfoundland.

TOTAL LOSS OF LIFE IS EXPECTED TO EXCEED 300

New Yor@k, April 3.—Bokring & Co., agents here for the Red Cross line, owners of several steamers, including the Florizel, now on sealing expeditions off Newfoundland, said they had received a message today announcing that the sealing steamer Newfoundland and the greater part of her crew had been lost off Cape Race. The Florizel is believed to be engaged in the rescue work.

A private telegram received here from St. Johns, N. F., says the steamer Newfoundland was caught in a blizzard while sealing and over 100 of her crew were frozen to death. The Red Cross steamer Florizel picked up 50 men, dead and dying, after the Newfoundland sank. The total loss of life on the Newfoundland is about 170.

There is no news here from the sealer Southern Cross and this ship also is supposed to be lost with all on board. If so, the death list on the two boats will exceed 300. The sealing fleet sailed for the ice field on March 10.

The Southern Cross is the ship which Shackelton used in his Antarctic expedition.

The Newfoundland was owned by the Newfoundland Sealing company, limited. The steamer was built in Quebec in 1872 and registered 919 tons gross. She was 212 feet long, and had been engaged in sealing for a number of years.

The Southern Cross was commanded by Capt. John Clark. She was formerly named the Pollux and was built in 1886. She registered 537 tons gross and was 146 feet long.

COURT WILL NOT STOP DISTRIBUTION OF PLUMS

New York, April 3.—Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum today denied the petition of the Equitable Life Assurance society for an injunction to restrain the Union Pacific Railroad company from distributing as a special dividend to holders of common stock $80,000,000 in cash and stock of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The Equitable sued to restrain the railroad company on the ground that the holders of preferred stock in the Union Pacific were entitled to share in the dividend or else have the $80,000,000 regarded as an asset and held by the road. The Baltimore & Ohio stock was acquired by the Union Pacific from the Pennsylvania railroad in a deal whereby the Union Pacific released its Southern Pacific holdings as required by the supreme court decree dissolving the Harriman system.

It is understood that the Equitable will appeal from today's decision.

If Sealed in a Bottle it couldn't be more Dust Proof, Dirt Proof, Impurity Proof!

The new

"SEAL OF PURITY"

keeps out dampness—water—even the air. Everything undesirable is kept completely away from the fresh pure beneficial dainty inside.

So give constant and delicious aid to your teeth, digestion, breath and appetite with the gum with the "Seal of Purity."

BUY IT BY THE BOX

for 85 cents at most dealers. Each box contains twenty 5 cent packages. They stay fresh until used.

Chew it after every meal

Be SURE it's clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S.

Look for the spear.

14

Bolstering Bad Bills.

"How does Hamlet Fatt manage to keep in vaudevilie?"

"He has a certain value. He's a bolsterer."

"What's a bolsterer?"

"He's so rotten that he makes the rest of any bill look good."—Kansas City Journal.

To Him, for Instance.

Betty—Jack won't take "no" for an answer. What shall I do?

Tom—Say "yes" to some other fellow.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes are the brightest and fastest. Adv.

A child six to nine years requires one-half the food of a man.

Make the Liver Do its Duty

Nine times in ten when the liver is right the stomach and bowels are right. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS gently but firmly compel a lazy liver to do its duty.

Cures Constipation, Indigestion, Sick Headache, and Distress After Eating.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." At druggists. 50c. large box, or by mail. The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

VITAL FORCE

Disease germs are on every hand. They are in the very air we breathe. A system "run down" is a prey for them. One must have vital force to withstand them. Vital force depends on digestion—on whether or not food nourishes—on the quality of blood coursing through the body.

DR. PIERCE'S

Golden Medical Discovery

Strengthens the weak stomach. Gives good digestion. Enlivens the sluggish liver. Feeds the starved nerves. Again full health and strength return. A general upbuilding enables the heart to pump like an engine running in oil. The vital force is once more established to full power.

Year in and year out for over forty years this great health-restoring remedy has been spreading throughout the entire world—because of its ability to make the sick well and the weak strong. Don't despair of "being your old self again." Give this vegetable remedy a trial—Today—Now. You will soon feel "like new again." Sold in liquid or tablet form by Druggists or trial box for 50c by mail. Write Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's great 1008 page "Medical Adviser," cloth-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps.

Readers of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

Kodaks DEVELOPING and PRINTING

Send for Catalogue and Finishing Price List. ZIMMERMAN BROTHERS, 606 Pierce St., Sioux City, Ia.

Pettits GOOD FOR Eye SORE EYES Salve

17 JEWEL HAMPDEN Solid nickel case, $8.25 cash, paid. C. J. Skinner, Lake Andes, S. D.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 15—1914.

UNITED ENGINES--The Price Makers

LISTEN! You who are prospective buyers of Engines. For the Next 30 day I am going to sell engines at Ten Per Cent Above Actual Cost, and I am going to tell you why. WHY?

I bought a bunch of engines on sixty days time and I am going to sell them for Cash or Note to you at the above figures and give you one of the best engines on the market today for the money. Come in and look over our line of Engines, Pump Jacks, Trucks, Etc. Get the benefit of these cheap prices. Trucks for any size Engine. Friction Pulleys, Governing Pulleys, Line Shaft with Pulleys. Shafts any length to suit purchaser. Sawing Outfits Complete. Power Washing Machines.

United States Cream Separator Easiest to Wash, Easiest to Operate and Best Skimmer on the Market. Have you seen the Sanitary Re-liner on the U. S.? Drop in and let me show you the latest in Cream Separators.

A Little More About Those Engines The price I am going to make you on engines has got all Mail Order Propositions Backed Off The Map. I can sell you a Bigger, Heavier, and More Powerful Engine than you can buy anywhere for the figures I am giving you on the United Engine. I am not only going to divide the melon in slices but I am going to give you better than half.

ED. G. ELL

Highest Market Price for Eggs. Klemme, Iowa

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

THE KLEMME TIMES
By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second class mail matter

At the city election held in Corwith last week Monday a proposition to bond the town for the installation of a municipal electric light plant was voted upon. The men voted 115 for and 8 against, the ladies voted 57 for and 4 against. Corwith is beginning to wake up and take notice and we are glad to see that there are only 12 people who were satisfied to remain in the dark. They also voted on a bond for the extension of their water mains, which carried handsomely.

Lost, a door knob, finder please return to the Britt Tribune. Bailey has lost his door knob and is getting very lonesome as several of the cronies are having to make their daily pilgrimage to the Tribune office, as they cannot open the door. Perhaps some irate subscriber has got it in his pocket, and if they have they had better return it, as Bailey has a way of finding out things and will get the [illegible] party sooner or later.

Poet Not Used to Society.

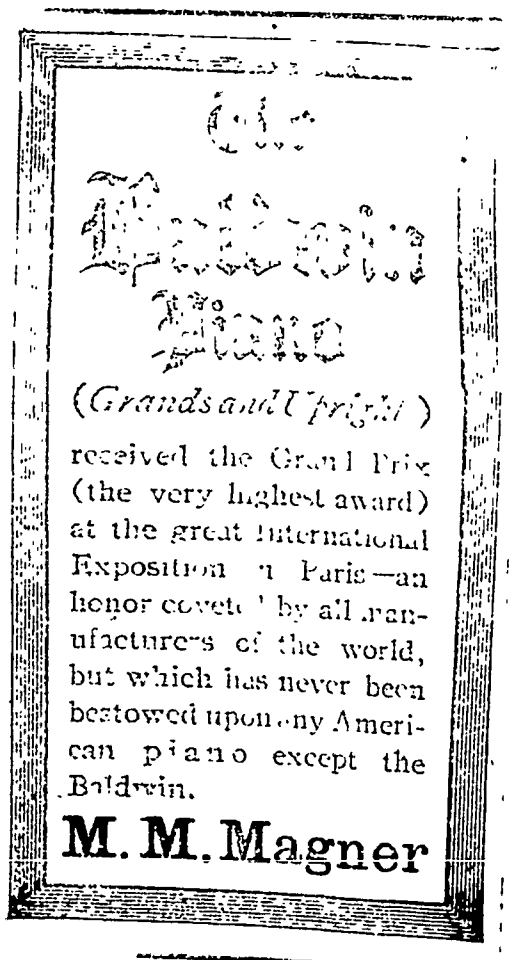
James Hogg, poet, known as the "Ettrick shepherd," was never quite happy away from the fields. Sir Walter Scott made a friend of him but he was not a social success. "In a shepherd's dress," writes a historian, "and with hands fresh from sheep shearing, he came to dine for the first time with Scott in Castle street, and, finding Mrs Scott lying on the sofa, immediately stretched himself at full length on another sofa; for, as he afterward explained, 'I thought I could not do better than imitate the lady of the house.' At dinner, as the wine passed he advanced from 'Mr. Scott' to 'Shirra' (sheriff), 'Scott,' 'Walter,' and finally 'Wattie,' till at supper he convulsed every one by addressing Mrs Scott familiarly as 'Charlotte.'"

Fighting Grasshoppers.

Giant grasshoppers are prevalent in the West Indies, where they are regarded as a serious sporting proposition. These creatures are active, powerful in proportion to their size and of exceedingly combative disposition. Apparently they would rather fight than eat up the crops and vegetation. They have spiked legs provided with spurs or gaffs, which they use as weapons against one another after the manner of trained gamecocks. A favorite pastime of the Carib sports is to match a pair of these insect champions against one another in a regulation contest, which is fought on the fingers of a human umpire's hand—often to his serious discomfort. There is liberal betting on the favorites.

Peg Woffington's Farewell.

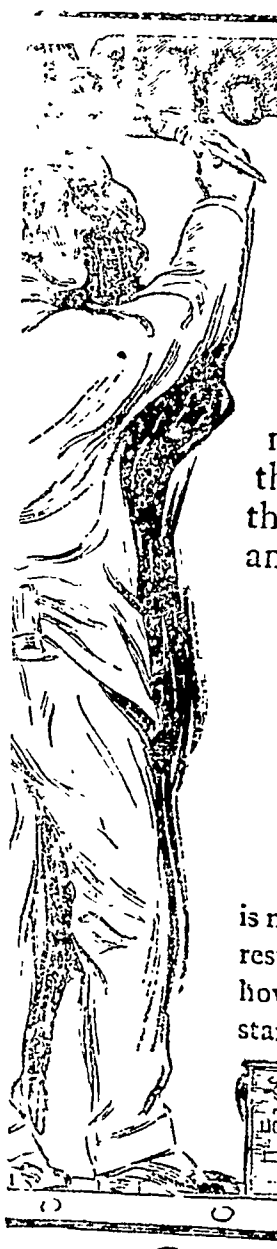
Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson's triumphant leave-taking of the theater forms a strange contrast to the tragic farewell of that popular stage favorite, "Peg" Woffington, relates the London Chronicle. Peg was playing Rosalind at Covent Garden on the night of May 17, 1757, for the benefit of two minor actors and a French dancer, when she was overcome with sudden faintness. She struggled bravely on until the end, when she staggered off the stage. Recovering after a few moments, she came forward to speak the epilogue, but had proceeded no further than "If I were among you I would kiss as many of you as had beards that pleased me, complexions that liked me, and breaths that I—" when, exclaiming in agony, "O God! O God!" she collapsed in a heap upon the floor. She never returned to the stage.



received the Grand Prix (the very highest award) at the great International Exposition in Paris—an honor coveted by all manufacturers of the world, but which has never been bestowed upon any American piano except the Baldwin.

M. M. Magner

When you know a news item call up the Times.



Paint to Use

Ready-for-Use Paint

YOU are paying your painter to paint; not to mix paint. Science and experience have demonstrated that machines can do the mixing more thoroughly than the hand, and the maker's name on the can is safer than the use of unknown ingredients and varying skill.

Lowe Brothers
High Standard Liquid Paint

is machine mixed—ready-for-use. The supreme result of over a third of a century of paint "know how." The "Little Blue Flag" on the can stands for quality in an entire line of paint products for every purpose—Floor paint, stains, enamels, varnishes, Mellotone for interior surfaces. Ask about them.

G. A. PABST

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19 KLEMME IA:
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

W. F. MISSMAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office Phone No. 1102
Residence No. 1103
Office and residence in the State Sav. Bank building.
Eyes Tested Glasses Fi

J. E. BAUMGARTNER
The Tonsorial Artist
Will give you an easy shave or a hair cut
2nd door west of State Savings

SONS

T

Savings Bank.

Iowa

A. Bredlow

& Son of

ed

Cattle

ng Stock

ner, Iowa

ravel

ood cash,

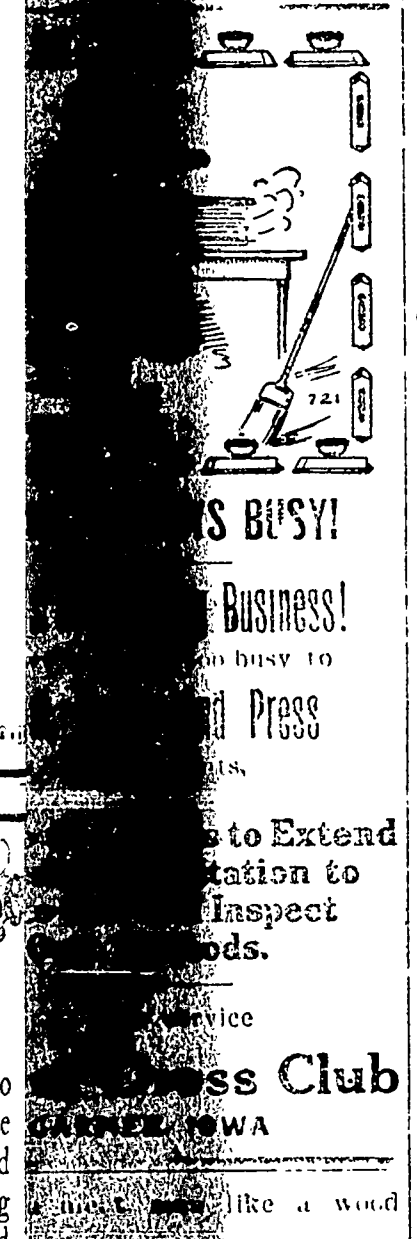
after

All

y cash.

ffice,

ne, Iowa.



S BUSY!

Business!

o busy to d Press

ats,

to Extend tation to Inspect

ods.

vice

ss Club

WA

like a wood

d chops fried

u Have

, Life Sus-

th Giving

T

Really Need

e! The

d Frills

ight

terhouse!

BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 54
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8.10
Cattle	4 00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

Twenty residence lots for sale—Ed. G. Ell.

Wm. Becker was a Garner visitor, Tuesday.

A. M. Greisemer went to Mason City, Tuesday

Walter Hoppe was an over Sunday visitor at Belmond.

Herman Priebe has been very sick the past few days.

Gilman's Big Show at the Opera House, Friday evening.

A. E. Katter was down from Garner, Monday, on business.

N. L. Palmer, went to Swea City on a business mission, Tuesday.

Chas. Papousik went to Mason City, Saturday, for a few days' visit.

FOR SALE;—Two good work horses. C. W, Wiles

Gilman's Big Show, a heap o' fun at the opera house Friday evening.

Dick Swalve recently purchased a Maxwell 25-4 from the Klemme Auto Co.

Sheriff Baumgartner was down from Garner, Monday, on official business.

FOR SALE —Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles.

5 good residence lots on main street for sale. Inquire of C. F. Busch.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lake returned Monday, and he will work in the Ridder garage.

Louis Sampson went to Garner, Tuesday morning to deliver the assessors books.

Twenty nine car loads of emigrant stuff was shipped in here during the month of March.

John Bock, Jr. was at Garner, Tuesday afternoon, delivering the assessors books.

Walter Ahrenkiel of Minneapolis, formerly of Goodell, was in town Tuesday, greeting friends.

George Thieman and sister, Miss Sarah, and Mrs. Herman Thieman, were Garner visitors, Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Parsons of New Albion, were here Monday, the guests of his brother, Dr. L. R. Parsons.

There will be special Easter services at the various churches next Sunday and all should plan to attend.

Mrs. Ed. Kluckhohn and daughter were down from Garner, Saturday, for a visit at the G. W. Kluckhohn home.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ell came over from Mason City, Saturday, for a few days visit with his son, Ed. G., and family.

The city council held an equalization meeting, Monday, but we did not hear of anything serious happening.

The remains of William Baumeister arrived here Monday from Supply, Oklahoma, for re-interment in the local cemetery.

W. R. Bloom departed Monday evening on business matters which will take him to Chicago, Cedar Rapids and Des Moines.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Albrecht departed for their new home at Wheaton, Minnesota, Tuesday, much to the regret of their many friends.

Clarence Kluckhohn and Ray Gimer returned Tuesday from a few days' sight seeing in Minneapolis, and—well, they wouldn't tell us where else.

Henry Moll of Garner delivered two very fine Percheron colts to Gibbs Bros., Monday. The younger one, which is less than one year old, weighed 900 lbs. and the other less than two years old weight over 1200 lbs. Some colts we claim.

Twenty residence lots for sale.—Ed. G. Ell.

Clifford Schwartz went to Garner on a business mission, Saturday.

Henry Schroeder arrived from Chicago, Saturday, for a short visit with friends and to transact business.

Wm Schaper was over from Charles City, over Sunday, visiting relatives and friends. He, and his many old time Klemme friends, enjoy their visits.

Herman Nuehring, who has been attending school at Phelan Luther college at St. Paul, returned home Saturday, and will remain until the fall term opens up.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Behrends and son, Henry, and wife, returned to their home at Ackley, last week after a visit at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Dick Swalve.

Mrs. M. Resmus, of Garner, and Mrs. Geo. Grentzmacher, of Klemme, were visitors at the O. Sandberg home, last Wednesday, guests of Miss Edith Sandberg.—Goodell Globe.

Britt now has 24-hour electric light service. Klemme was the first town in Hancock county to enjoy such a service. We will continue to lead in other matters. We lead and others follow.

Frank Kluckhohn and Frank Terfufen, who have been doing some carpenter work and plastering for the Kluckhohn Land Co. on one of their farms near Swea City returned home Friday evening for a week's stay.

Estherville suffered a $150 000 fire loss March 26, and Conductor Joe Nissen was among the fire victims, losing all of his household goods. Like the great Chicago fire, it was started by the explosion of a lantern.

Mrs Sam Kirkwood was taken very ill with appendicitis, Monday and was taken to the hospital at Mason City, Tuesday, where she will undergo an operation. Her many friends hope that she will enjoy a speedy and complete recovery.

Boy Wanted:

In every town to sell the St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press, the best Sunday newspaper in the Northwest. Special and inducements to right boy. References required. Liberal supply of sample copies and full particulars on request.

Address,

Circulation Department

St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press

ST PAUL, MINN

The Idle Hour

Motion Pictures

Every

Saturday Night

Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
April 11th

New Conductor

Whim of Destiny

The Widow's Strategy

Admission 10 and 15 cents

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Monarch MALLEABLE The Most Satisfactory Range

Make Your Cooking a Daily Pleasure

Uncle Sam Is A Careful Buyer

When the government sets out to equip any one of its numerous branches of service, its agents must be assured that an article will give service- will prove itself a money saver in the long run and, last but not least, save time and labor In various branches of government service, after being subjected to the most rigid tests and careful examinations, the choice of a range has been the

MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE

as being the best fitted to stand the severe test of service

What will serve the exacting purposes of Uncle Sam and the rigid examination of his agents, will bear your careful consideration.

We have the most complete line of Aluminum Ware in town and every piece is sold with a 20 year guarantee ann it is also priced within the reach of all.

We are prepared to do any kind of tin or repair work. If you need any eave spouting, come and get our price.

WE SELL THE Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

C. W. WILES

THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

SOMETHING TO EAT?

No season of the year perplexes the housewife more in search for palatable foods than the present one too early to depend on the garden, and you're tired of winter's heavy, heating solids

OUR STORE WILL AID YOU

It's shelves are loaded with new arrivals for the spring and summer tables—bring your worries to us And watch for the first shipments of new garden stuff It's almost due and, as usual, we'll have it first

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our old and new customers, we don't like to see a single one go estray away to another town and think of buying goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts in price. You will not sell a $200.00 horse at $100 00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery the Wood Bros. Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other doors can be had cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell the J. I. Case Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the Post Huron Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date. Also Rock Island, Hayes, Sattley and the J D. Tower goods Five kinds of Gasoline Engines, Letz Grinders. Harrows, Acme Harvesters, Mowers and Rakes. The new Adriance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers, Dodd & Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles.

Call and See Us at our Old Shack,

HENRY LAU & SON

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Mrs Harriet C. Adams is probably more versed on Latin American affairs than any other woman in the United States, she having covered over 40,000 miles in Central and South America, reaching every country and many points before unseen by a white woman.

The smallest school in England, if not in the world, is that in Augton, where, although there are five pupils on the register, only two are attending the school. A teacher is employed for their benefit and spends as much time on them as on a larger gathering

A new club for English residents in Paris, to be called the Imperial British club, is to be opened in Paris by King George during his coming visit. The new club, with a subscription of only $16 yearly will appeal to the 20 000 British residents of Paris

The committee appointed to revise, reform and codify the laws of China will soon commence its sittings in Peking. There are to be about 70 members, three from each province of China proper, with delegates from Tibet, Mongolia and Turkestan

Electricity is the only agent which will thaw frozen water pipes under ground With the aid of ele tricity the pipe can be easily thawed in a short time the passage of current through the pipe heating it enough to melt the ice

Pupils in the Dickerson high school, Jersey City, went to school from 4 30 in the afternoon to 10 o'clock at night on one occasion lately, in order that the adult members of their families might see the school plant in operation.

Newcastle, Me claims the record for longevity of the residents The last census gave it 1,066 inhabitants There are in its limits 35 people over 80 years of age There is one, Mrs Harriet Austin, who will be 100 in July

London's attempt to limit the speed of motor omnibuses to 12 miles an hour has proved impractical as when they are geared for this rate they lack reserve power for hill-climbing and frequently cause blockades

Mrs. Thomas Seahill of Ipswich recently opened and used a can of blueberries which had been kept in the cellar for 20 years They were used for pies and were as good as if they had been last season's fruit

In Formosa there is a tree between 2,500 and 3,000 years old with a circumference of 65 feet and the lowest branch 45 feet from the ground The tree is a species of cypress the Japanese 'benliki'

Argentine not New Zealand is often reported has the longest stretch of straight railroad track in the world A transcontinental line in Argentine crosses 175 miles of prairies without a curve

The largest tree in the United States is said to be the "Mother of the Forest," a giant redwood in the Calaveras big tree grove in California It is supposed to contain 140 619 board feet of lumber

Awakened by a noise in his chicken coop Josh Gentil of Edmonton Alberta shot and thought he had killed a fox but discovered it to be a pure black fox for which he has since refused an offer of $6 000

In the last 40 years there have been more than 10 000 boiler explosions in the United States in which about 11 000 persons have been killed and more than 15 000 injured

According to an Italian statistician who has classified 4 000 cases of self-destruction more suicides occur between the ages of 15 and 25 than at any other period in life

The city council of Bergen passed a measure at its last meeting appropriating 12 500 crowns ($3,42 710) for the purpose of erecting a public building to be used as a city market

More than 240 000 000 barrels of petroleum were produced in the United States in 1913 a gain of about 18 000 000 barrels over 1912 which had been the record year

Steam otter trawlers on the Newfoundland banks have proved so phenomenally successful that much fear is entertained lest many varieties of fish be destroyed

Rope filled horseshoes which pick up small stones and sand and present a rough surface have been invented in Germany for helping horses on slippery streets

A recent census the first of the kind ever taken credited Denmark which has about one-third the area of Wisconsin, with more than 5,400,000 fruit trees.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of industrial accidents can be eliminated 60 per cent by safety devices and 30 per cent by the proper training of workers

The construction of a pipe line 220 miles long has enabled oil to replace wood for fuel for navigation and other purposes in the interior of Congo

There is a man in New York who makes a good living by buying worn-out rugs from dentists for the particles of platinum and gold they contain.

Since 1870 the rocket type of life saving apparatus has saved the lives of more than 9,000 shipwrecked persons on the coasts of Great Britain.

Thirteen was the sacred number of the Mexicans and the ancient people of Yucatan. Their week had 13 days and they had 13 snake gods.

The average length of life, it is stated, rose from 21¼ years in the Sixteenth century to 40½ years in the Nineteenth century.

Atchison, Kan., has a cooking rate of 5 cents a kilowatt for those who wish to install electric cooking devices in their homes

The population of Ireland has been almost halved in 75 years.

CARLISLE EXPLOSION WRECKED CHURCH AND KILLED A. VANSCOYK

Leak of Gas at Church Lighting Plant Becomes Ignited From Flame of a Lantern.

Carlisle, Ia., April 6.—An explosion of gas in the Methodist church here last night killed Andrew Vanscoyk, aged 65. The church building was partly wrecked

Worshipers in the church detected escaping gas and Vanscoyk, lantern in hand, went out to investigate. A moment later an explosion blew out one side of the building and shattered all of the windows A panic ensued in the congregation, but no one was injured

Vanscoyk's body was found about 30 feet from the church badly mangled It is supposed he opened the door of a small cave in which the gas apparatus was kept and that the flames from the lantern ignited the gas

TO PROVIDE TASKS FOR STATE'S INSANITY PATIENTS

Mount Pleasant, Ia April 6.—Work of a financially profitable nature for the inmates of the Mount Pleasant state hospital, who are so hopelessly and violently insane that it is necessary to keep them continually in close confinement, is the plan outlined by the superintendent, Dr C F Applegate As a step toward this movement, Dr Mary Lawson, an alienist, has been engaged to introduce lace making, weaving and fancy work Dr Applegate has found that it is a trait of the psychologically abnormal mind that incessant work of a routine nature is necessary to keep the patient satisfied and quiet As an instance, a violently insane person will tear into the tiniest shreds anything that they can lay their hands upon, even to their clothing, while others will make multitudinous marks, designs and scratches upon the wall to keep themselves occupied Persons who are inclined to tear their clothes will instead be furnished with rags that may be used in rug making It is thought that the patients may be taught to become interested in the lace making and weaving, and that the results of their work will be of considerable profit to the state, besides the immeasurable benefit to the patient

INCREASED PAY ORDER IS RESCINDED AT DES MOINES

Des Moines Ia April 6 -The city council adopted a resolution rescinding the increase in pay for members of the police force and fire department yesterday Another resolution probably will be adopted rescinding the increase in pay to the officials of the police department The firemen lose not only their wage increase, but they may eventually lose the one day off in four and have to go back to the one day off in seven according to the reports in circulation at the city hall today Under the proposed increase, the firemen were to be raised from $85 to $95 a month The policemen were granted their wage increase last fall, after the firemen were granted one day off in four The firemen were granted their increase this spring when they appeared before the council previous to the city primary and demanded immediate action

FRED WHITE WITHDRAWS FROM SENATORIAL CONTEST

Des Moines Ia April 6 —Fred E White of Sigourney has withdrawn from the race for United States senator His illness is responsible for this action. He wrote his letter of withdrawal from his hospital bed in Ottumwa, where he was operated on Wednesday

The development of a disease, which makes it doubtful whether he could serve or make a campaign has made Mr White conclude that his duty to his party demands that he leave the field open to someone else he told friends at Ottumwa yesterday Mr White issued this statement

"A disease of which I had persuaded myself to believe I need not be afraid suddenly developed dangerous symptoms two weeks ago As a result I am here in the hospital to undergo a surgical operation This leaves me but one alternative—to withdraw from the senatorial race Fred E White"

UNIVERSITY WILL ANALYZE SAMPLES OF CITY WATER

Iowa City Ia April 6 —Any city or town in the state may have water analyzed for sanitary purposes in the University of Iowa's epidemiological laboratory free of charge according to a letter which has just been sent out by Dr C S Woods state epidemiologist. Provisions is made however, that no more than a limited number of samples is sent for analysis

Following is the letter which has been written to the city authorities by Dr Woods

Permit me to call your attention to the fact that the last legislature made an appropriation to the State University of Iowa for the purpose of engaging a state epidemiologist, who would study the causes of epidemics, and the means of controlling them and stamping them out Any city or town in Iowa may have water analyzed for sanitary purposes at the laboratory, free of charge provided, however, that not more than a limited number of samples is sent for analysis. In order to insure greater accuracy, special containers for the samples of water will be provided by the university. The container will be forwarded and returned at the expense of the applicant"

GETS LETTER FROM SISTER; DIES FROM HEART FAILURE

Shenandoah, Ia., April 6 —Mrs. Dunfee was found dead on the porch of her little home on Ninth avenue, by Mrs. Carl Aldrich, her near neighbor. She had then been dead about an hour. She was seen to get her mail from the box and go into the house. She had evidently read a letter from her sister in Ohio, laid the open letter and her glasses on the table and gone out on the porch and dropped dead from heart failure. The letter she had just read was from her sister, Mrs. Austin, in Ohio, and it conveyed the information that she and her husband proposed to move to Shenandoah and she should make her home with them.

STATE UNIVERSITY TO HAVE SUMMER COURSE WITH NORMAL FLAVOR

Special Course in Connection With New Iowa Requirement for Agriculture.

Iowa City, Ia., April 4.—The University of Iowa will give a course to school teachers next summer on how to give instruction in agriculture to the boys and girls of Iowa This is a step taken by the university in order to meet the requirement of the law passed by the last general assembly, providing that agriculture be taught in the public schools after 1915.

The instruction of the school teachers is aided through the co-operation of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts at Ames, as supplementary lectures will be given by an instructor from that institution

The work of teaching agriculture at the university will be directly in charge of J S. Coffey, who will give instruction in agronomy and animal husbandry He was formerly in the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois and is now in the agricultural department of Purdue university

This agricultural instruction to the teachers will be exceedingly practical Professor Coffey will take his classes to farms surrounding Iowa City and demonstrate the teaching of agriculture so as to be especially helpful to teachers who will be compelled to teach this subject with limited facilities in order to meet the requirements of the statute which makes it compulsory to teach agriculture

FORMER DENISON GIRL HAS BRIEF HONEYMOON

Pueblo Colo., April 4 —Marriage proved a disastrous culmination of a three years' courtship in the case of Dr Edgar C Stimmel and Miss Ella Harding, according to a divorce complaint that was filed in the county court by Mrs Stimmel Dr Stimmel is a Pueblo dentists well known and popular, while Mrs Stimmel was formerly the belle of Denison, Ia., where they were married January 22 of this year

The plaintiff alleges cruelty in her petition, and cites numerous alleged instances in support of her contention. She says that her husband, who "addressed her in endearing terms during their courtship and wrote her letters in a similar vein," suffered an abrupt change of heart after marriage and on one occasion told her to return to her mother as a wife was too expensive

INSURGENT WOODMEN IN VERY UNCOMPROMISING MOOD

Webster City Ia April 4 -If the Woodmen of Hamilton county have their way the so-called Chicago rates" will be abolished and the salaries of head camp officials reduced No officer or appointee will be permitted to serve more than two terms and no new rates or plan of operation can be adopted except by a majority vote of the membership. At a rousing convention held in this city, J D Porter and W J. Hubacher, of Webster City, were elected delegates from Hamilton county to the state camp to be held May 16, in Cedar Rapids under resolution instructing them as above noted

Word received by J. D Porter who has been one of Iowa's leading insurgents since the Chicago rate was adopted and who has been a delegate to the last two head camp sessions indicates that this state will be overwhelmingly insurgent If other states in the union take the same attitude that Iowa will take, there will be a regular "house cleaning" among present head camp officials of the order A letter received by Mr Porter from Rock Island Ill the home of the head camp, states that of the 27 camps in Rock Island county 25 are insurgent indicating that Illinois is as overwhelmingly opposed to the present regime as is Iowa

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 4 —By having their forces organized and pledged to vote favorable to the head officials of the Modern Woodmen of America the regulars swamped the insurgent members of the order by a vote of 40 to 25 on practically every proposition that came up at the Linn county convention R R Mayberry F A Sheets and E. B. Zbanek, all of Cedar Rapids and all regulars, were elected delegates to the state convention, to be held in this city May 16.

"TOO MUCH BABY TALK," SPEAKER TELLS TEACHERS

Cedar Rapids Ia., April 4 —Teachers in the primary and kindergarten grades use too much baby talk and talk too much themselves, according to Miss Elizabeth Hall, assistant superintendent of schools in Minneapolis, during the course of an address at the twentieth annual convention of the Northwestern Iowa Teachers' association here yesterday afternoon She said that Americans were being accused of having lost the art of conversation; that they often had to pin a tail on a donkey for amusement when they went out for an evening visit.

The convention is being attended by hundreds of teachers from many points in eastern Iowa. It was formally opened last evening by a program in Greene's opera house.

Burlington Ia., April 4 -A thousand teachers have arrived in Burlington to attend the annual convention of the Southeastern Iowa Teachers' association which convened yesterday. The delegates were shown the work in the public schools. The real work of the convention commenced today with sessions at the high school auditorium. Last evening there was a general reception at the high school

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 4. -Nearly 1,000 school teachers were gathered in the high school auditorium last night when President Raymond A Pearson, of Iowa state college, at Ames, addressed the Southwestern Iowa Educational association on "Vocational Education." The address of the president, Leslie I. Reed, of Des Moines, was also given last night

IOWA CITY—Prof B. Shimek professor of botany in the State University of Iowa, leaves April 6 for a six months' trip in Europe, to be spent in lecturing and studying at European universities and scientific conventions.

COMMISSION URGING USE OF CONVICTS FOR WORK ON IOWA ROADS

Several Iowa Counties Showing Interest and May Apply for Detachments.

Des Moines, Ia., April 3.—Arrangements are being made by the state highway commission to use prisoners from the Iowa penitentiaries this year in the improvement of roads more extensively than was done last season. Several counties now have under consideration plans for using convicts. Thomas H. MacDonald, engineer for the commission, was in the city yesterday discussing the proposition with Attorney General Cosson and Henry Sampson, assistant attorney general, as to legal problems presented.

Mr. McDonald declared that the experiment of employing prisoners at Ames last summer proved successful and that the commission expects to put into effect a large scheme of the kind this year Several counties will report within a week or 10 days and make formal request for a detail of prisoners if the financial arrangements prove satisfactory.

Warden C C McCloughry, of the reformatory at Anamosa, has reported he has 50 men which he will be glad to send out on road work this year.

This number will be divided into at least three camps and the parties will be sent into different counties. If there is demand for more men, Warden J. C. Sanders, of Fort Madison prison, may be asked to send out men.

The prisoners will receive pay ranging from $2 to $2.50 a day, according to their skill As at Ames last year, they will be provided with camps and guards detailed by the board of control will be in charge of the men.

Last year the cost of maintenance of each man was about $1 a day The remainder of the wages was turned over to the men Everyone of the 15 men at the camp was paroled at the close of the season One man had $50 saved up from road work to start out on.

CLAIMED BODY SHIPPED INTO IOWA IN A TRUNK

Waterloo, Ia April 3 --Somewhere in Iowa is a trunk containing the body of a ranchman who was murdered near Glasgow Mont., a week or 10 days ago This is the opinion of Sheriff Nacey, who telegraphed to Osage to arrest a suspect, a man who is passing through Iowa with his wife and child.

The unmarried homesteader disappeared and his team and wagon are said to have been sold by the man suspected of the crime The family, it is said, had a trunk checked at Nashua, Mont., and blood afterwards was found in the wagon box It is believed the trunk contained the body The trunk was traced to Minneapolis and then to McIntire, Ia. Local officers yesterday received word from Osage that it was believed the trunk would pass through here or was already in the city.

FARMERS GO TO COURT OVER RED POLL CALF

Waterloo Ia. April 3 -In an action brought by William A Umphalbaugh against Peter Croghan to determine the ownership of a Red Poll calf, claimed by both farmers the jury after being out a short time, returned a verdict in favor of Mr Umphalbaugh yesterday. Two previous trials resulted in a disagreement of the jury

The two farmers live southeast of Woodbine and each raised a red calf. One of the calves disappeared, and each farmer claimed the remaining calf They first argued the ownership in person and then employed attorneys to fight the case in court. The star witness in the case was William Barsby, a breeder of the Red Polls It was his opinion that the calf belonged to Mr Umphalbaugh The trial was largely attended by spectators friends, neighbors and relatives of the contesting farmers

FARMER'S LIFE SAVED BY RURAL MAIL CARRIER

Larchwood Ia., April 3 —While going to a pasture, L. P. Grotewold, a prominent farmer and dairyman, was attacked by his thoroughbred bull and but for the timely assistance of R. E. Holtzclaw a rural mail man, would have undoubtedly been killed. Mr. Holtzclaw was hauling water from town for use at his home when he was attracted by the actions of the animal pawing at what he thought was some old cloth or other object lying on the ground

Not thinking of his own danger, Mr. Holtzclaw left his team and jumped through the fence, taking with him a little stick he picked up on the way. He ran toward the animal and succeeded in scaring him off long enough for Mr Grotewold to roll away from the infuriated beast. Mr. Grotewold sustained five broken ribs and had several cracked He also had 10 stitches put in his ear, which was nearly torn off.

CROWD APPLAUDS WHEN NEGRO IS ACQUITTED

Sidney Ia April 3.—When the jury acquitted Henry Johnson, the aged negro and former slave, who was on trial here in the district court for the killing of Henry Porter, the crowd which filled the court room, greeted the verdict with a storm of hand clapping. This was Johnson's second trial In January, 1913, he was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced by Judge Arthur to 25 years in state's prison The supreme court reversed the verdict and granted a new trial.

On the night of December 19, 1912, at Hamburg, Johnson shot and killed another negro named Henry Porter. Porter had a wife and family in St. Joseph, Mo. He had been paying attention to Johnson's divorced wife and to his young daughters. Johnson claimed he was trying to protect his 16-year-old daughter, Pearl, from the evil designs of Porter and claimed he fired in self defense when they met on a lonely road Johnson was slightly wounded in an exchange of shots. He was born a slave in Kentucky in 1846, and was sold three times.

EASTER'S ORIGIN AND SIGNIFI

Ancient Missionaries formed Saxon Pagan Into a New Meani

Margaret Sangster, in the [illegible] Times

With the return of spring and birds, a general feeling ness prevails the world over we may have enjoyed winter goodbye without regret and onward to meet the spring thoughts of winter and in the which the painters image of son he figures, as an old and severe, with a snowy icicles clinging to his robes, pretty successor is always dancing and singing or flowers from full baskets

When the old paganism of the Saxons was given up for the of Him whom the people of those days called the White missionaries found established val to the goddess of spring name was Ostera, a word "to arise," and symbolizing the ing of nature after her winter This, in turn, pointed to the myth of Persephone, called by the Romans. The story youthful students as one of tiest and most poetical of ancient mythology was that Persephone was gathering a field near Aetna, in Sicily of the underworld suddenly from a dark hole in the ground chariot and four coal black swooping down upon the hapless girl, carried her off to be queen gloomy domain.

Demeter, the mother of Persephone wild with grief, ran up and down ploring everybody she met to what had become of her Finally the all-seeing and all-hearing god of the sun, from whom nothing that happened could ever be secret, took pity on the distressed goddess and told her of the fate that befallen her child. She of course more distressed than before begged Zeus and the other deities interfere and restore the lost one they declared themselves unable this unless Persephone had eaten ing in her new abode The dismal that she had tasted a pomegranate made her return to earth for a year impossible, but she was allowed to come back to her mother Demeter or Ceres, to the fields and the for half of each twelvemonth in which the flowers bloomed and fruits grew ripe, the corn and wheat flourished, and the land glad with harvest joy A legend similar to this is found in nearly all mythologies of the world

I have dwelt on this story of the Saxon goddess who was Persephone's mythological counterpart, in order to show that in the pagan religions there was a hint that victory of life over death is one of the grandest articles of the Christian creed. Persephone's months in the regions of darkness emblematic of death, winter with its silence and chill and cessation of activity, being a sign of that dreary state Her return to earth was a poetical way of saying that the power of death had been broken and spring had given life and bloom to the world once more.

I am coming step by step to the higher meaning which our Easter has for all who believe in the Lord's resurrection. In winter, you know there is no real death; it is only apparent, even when at rest, nature is busy under the snows the wheat keeps growing to make the next year's crop, while the sap is stirring in the heart of the trees, although they are bare and leafless. The early missionaries were bringing great happiness to the people when they taught to love and serve the Christ, in contrast with the dark and cruel gods, to whom they had hitherto given reverence, desired them to observe the feast of the resurrection, which always came round in the spring. Its name, Easter, was like that of the old goddess, rechristened and made beautiful and fragrant. In keeping with the Easter festival, again, the Christians simply endowed with a new and more lovely life the venerable feast of the Passover, which the Jews had observed from the date of the Exodus

Easter is full of brightness and joy not only because of the lower meaning given it by nature, the vanishing of winter death and the kindling of springtime life, but on account of the event, far greater and most mysterious and sacred, the rising of our Lord from the three days' bondage in the tomb.

Why does Easter not always come on the same date, as Christmas does, is a question asked by some little folks who have heard their elders regretting that there will be plenty of flowers to dress the churches this year, Easter coming so late. There was originally a good deal of trouble in deciding what day to observe the Easter festival, some pleading in favor of one day, some of another day, and it was finally decided, by a great church council at Nice, A. D., 325, that Easter should always be the first Sunday after the full moon, which happens upon or next after March 21, and if this full moon happens to be a Sunday, then Easter is the following Sunday. It is thus, you see, what we call a movable feast

In reality every Lord's day, which was the name given by early Christians to Sunday, is a feast of the resurrection, an anniversary on which we may devoutly say: "I believe in the life everlasting."

The most beautiful "Easter" that I know about is that which sends flowers to the sick and sorrowful on the morning of Easter Sunday

Appreciating Our Flag.

From the Troy Record

Baltimore is holding a preliminary celebration in observance of the centennial of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key during the war with Great Britain. The purpose is to attract widespread interest in observances which will begin next September and last 10 days. Regard for the flag is more in evidence today than ever before. We have Flag day. Our public schools have displayed the national colors for years. Young America is being taught to salute the beautiful emblem when it passes through the streets. Key's noble anthem was penned when, after many anxious hours during heavy fighting, he saw the flag, through the smoke, still waving over Fort McHenry. So long as our people respect the Stars and Stripes there will be little danger of a falling off in patriotism.

St

First in Everything

First in Quality
First in Results
First in Purity
First in Economy

and for these reasons Calumet Baking Powder is first in the hearts of the millions of housewives who use it and know it.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARDS
World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Illinois.
Paris Exposition, France, March, 1912.

money when you buy cheap or big-can Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's —more wholesome—gives best results.
superior to sour milk and soda.

arson Knew Better.

im Sugarfoot killed a fine
the entertainment of Par-grace, who was expected to t as rabbits were out of thought to avoid what ve an embarrassing situaaking the parson think it en he was eating r Heavegrace," said Uncle it came time for a second what part of de bird would ow?"
merry twinkle in his halfes Parson Heavegrace reall don' mind Ah thinks e de gizzard."—Pittsburgh
Telegraph

Cheerful Assurance.

did Gwendolyn say when you r to marry you?" asked Mr.
told me to come and see you."
he confident youth. "Having
I shall go back and tell her
't object to you in the slight-

Buying Them Off.

do you give those street mu-money for playing such vile ve them money for getting nds of pretty women are apt ore useful than ornamental.

kache Warns You

kache is one of Nature's warnings ney weakness. Kidney disease ousands every year.
t neglect a bad back If your back
—if it hurts to stoop or lift—if irregularity of the secretions—your kidneys. If you suffer head-dizziness and are tired, nervous orn-out, you have further proof.
Doan's Kidney Pills, a fine rem-bad backs and weak kidneys.

AN OKLAHOMA CASE

T Jones, 213
ne St., Pauls Okla., says confined to or days with trouble. I terrible pains
h my back ot dizzy and
ted. The doc-prescribed for but nothing me I had al-
ron up hope a friend
t me a box of Kidney Pills.
ree days they d me and four made me well.
today in the health."

Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box
OAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
R-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

A Guard of the Sepulchre

BY EDWIN MARKHAM.

Behold some of the watch came into the city and told unto the chief priests all the things that were come to pass, and * * * they gave large money unto the soldiers saying Say, his disciples came by night and stole him away while we slept.—Matthew

I was a Roman soldier in my prime
Now age is on me and the yoke of time.
I saw your risen Christ, for I am he
Who reached the hyssop to him on the tree.
And I am one of two who watched beside
The sepulchre of him we crucified.
All that last night I watched with sleepless eyes.
Great stars arose and crept across the skies.
The world was all too still for mortal rest,
For pitiless thoughts were busy in the breast
The night was long, so long it seemed at last
I had grown old and a long life had passed
Far off the hills of Moab touched with light
Were swimming in the hollow of the night
I saw Jerusalem, all wrapped in cloud.
Stretch like a dead thing folded in a shroud
Once, in the pauses of our whispered talk,
I heard a something on the garden walk.
Perhaps it was a crisp leaf lightly stirred,
Perhaps the dream-note of a waking bird,
Then suddenly an angel burning white,
Came down with earthquake in the breaking light,
And rolled the great stone from the sepulchre
Mixing the morning with a scent of myrrh
And lo, the dead had risen with the day
The Man of Mystery had gone his way!
Years have I wandered, carrying my shame
Now let the tooth of Time eat out my name
For we who all the wonder might have told,
Kept silence, for our mouths were stopt with gold

EGGS AND A BIT OF CHEESE; A MOTHER AND A NEW BABY POWERFUL EASTER SERMON

From the Pittsburgh Leader

"For a long time he wasn't able to work. Seven weeks ago this baby was born We had no money to pay anyone to take care of me He couldn't go away Last Monday the diphtheria sign was taken from the door I haven't a bite to eat in the house I haven't any money We can't stay in the house longer than the first of the month the rent isn't paid."

This was the plea of a wife to save her husband from going to prison and leaving herself and baby to starve alone

The signs of the sorrows of the mother hood of poverty were upon her

The baby of seven weeks, snatched from the clutches of death, was in her arms upon her bosom

The man for whom she pleaded to the judge had stolen a few eggs and some cheese from a store

He didn't loot the place, as some men would have done for that hungry wife and baby He took only what would keep off starvation until he could go out to get work

Just a few eggs, and some cheese Could any man have taken less? Would any man have taken less? Wouldn't you, or I, have taken more?

You will say that this tear-washed plea saved that husband and father from going to prison You will be wrong if you do

For the next six months that man must stay in prison, and that hungry wife must take care of herself the best she can.

She must find some way to keep the fountain from going dry that her baby does not perish from hunger

After 2,000 years of Christianity, this is as far as we have traveled

A man who steals a few eggs and a piece of cheese to save his hungry wife and baby just born into hardship and poverty from starvation, is sent to prison for six months, leaving a helpless woman, barely recovered from the ravages of maternity among the poverty smitten to starve or live as she pleases

Property must be protected It is sacred. That human life of the lowly which Christ loved so much, and preached about and was crucified for is nothing when balanced against sacred property

Here is a sermon of Easter that burns the eyes, and ears and makes the heart sick.

What would that Man of Sorrows have said to the owner of a few eggs and some cheese who would come to Him demanding punishment of the husband and father who took that bit that the mother of his babe be not too hungry?

Can you imagine the scorn with which He would have whipped the cry for "justice" to cast back into that endless flame of privation a woman and her baby because a man had taken a few eggs and some cheese? Is it hard to think what he would have said?

The life of a woman and baby thrown into the scales against a few eggs and a little bit of cheese Not much Just enough that the wife and mother need not be too hungry Not enough to stop her hunger, but just enough to fence off starvation for a few days.

This is as far as we have gone after 2,000 years of teaching the Gospel of Love spread over the earth by the Carpenter of Nazareth

How many thousand more years will have passed before all the world has learned the lesson Jesus taught?

Were that Man of Galilee on earth today He would either be under bonds to keep the peace or under the restraining provisions of an injunction.

H would smite that "justice" that exchanges the life of a mother and her babe for a few eggs and a bit of cheese.

He would challenge the law that says two human lives are worth less than a few eggs and a bit of cheese

His burning words would shrivel that law which places a few eggs and a piece of cheese above human lives.

His tongue would help to drive from existence that system which would punish a husband and a father for taking the only means left to him to ward off starvation from his wife and child.

Had a John Wiseman, a sick man, with a hungry wife, and sick baby, been delivered to The Master by the man who had lost those few eggs and that piece of cheese, and his friends, can't we imagine His great soul infinite in its divinity saying in substance as He did on an occasion

Let the first red-blooded man among you who, being hungry with a sick baby and a hungry wife would not take any man's eggs and cheese to stop that hunger for a day, cast the first stone."

Then, when the whole crowd had slunk away we can imagine Him saying John Wiseman, where are thine accusers? Doth no man accuse thee?"

No man, Lord"

Neither do I accuse thee Go, and steal no more"

Or can we not imagine we hear His voice saying

I was hungry and ye fed me not athirst and ye gave me no drink naked and ye clothed me not homeless, and ye gave me no place to lay my head * * * Inasmuch as ye have done to the least of these, my brethren ye have done to me

John Wiseman in the work house for six months, John Wiseman's hungry wife, and sick baby seven weeks old are preaching a more powerful, more human Easter sermon on how little we have learned after 2,000 years of teaching and preaching than any sermon that will be delivered in any pulpit in Pittsburgh today

An Anecdote of Lincoln.

A day in May 1863, found Lincoln visiting a camp hospital He had spoken cheering words of sympathy to the wounded, as he proceeded through the various wards

Now he is at the bedside of a Vermont boy of about 16 years of age who lies there mortally wounded Taking the dying boy's thin, white hands in his own, the president said in a tender tone "Well, my boy, what can I do for you?"

The young soldier looked up into the president's kindly face and asked Won't you write to my mother for me?"

"That I will" responded the president, and, calling for writing materials, he seated himself by the side of the cot and wrote from the boy's dictation It was a long letter, but he betrayed no sign of weariness and when it was finished he arose saying "I will post this as soon as I get back to my office Now, is there anything else I can do for you?"

The boy looked up appealingly to the president "Won't you stay with me?" he asked. "I do want to hold on to your hand"

Mr. Lincoln at once perceived the lad's meaning The appeal was too strong for him to resist, so he sat down by his side and took hold of his thin hand For two hours the president sat there patiently, as though he had been the boy's father

The Albanians.

Albania, to which Prince William of Wied has been called as ruler, is hardly even "a geographical expression," and it is inhabited by a sadly mixed lot of people There are few who accept the title of Albanians, and these are of the wildest and least desirable kind The more civilized repudiate the name of Albanians declaring themselves to be Turks, or Greeks, or Slavs A recent writer says, "Five different translations of the scriptures were required for colporteurs to distribute among them There are both Catholics and orthodox Christians among them—the sort of Christians who regard the crucifixion as a convenient starting point for a blood feud, and Moslems who like to realize the beauty of holiness by the waging of hold wars. In the mass they are a barbarous people, incapable of organized civilization They are intrepid soldiers, but good for little else, and with an invincible reluctance to accept any authority which imposes taxes."

Oldest Living Twins.

William and Samuel Muncy, of Babylon, L. I., who recently celebrated their 95th birthday anniversary, have the distinction of being the oldest living twins. They attribute their good health to the fact that they have lived an outdoor life as far as they possibly could. As youngsters they would, when their work on the farm was done for the day, go fishing in the evening, instead of making their way down to the general store to gossip. The two men eat whenever they feel hungry, do not smoke, chew, nor drink, and although there are seven physicians who are members of their family, they have never had occasion to call on them for aid.

Catering to All.

A Boston merchant tells of an old grocer in Massachusetts who was about as "slick" an article as one would care to meet.

"One day," says the Bostonian, "I stopped before his shop and looked curiously at a long line of barrels of apples, some marked with an 'A,' some marked with a 'Z.'

What is the meaning of these markings?' I asked. 'The barrels seem to contain the same kind of apples'

"They are the same kind, son,' the old gentleman replied, 'but some customers want a barrel opened at the top and some at the bottom.'"

First Catch Your Victim.

The Old Un Pluck my boy, pluck, first and last, that is the one essential to success in business

The Young Un Oh, of course I quite understand that The trouble is finding some one to pluck.—Cuban Times

Paradoxical Praise.

"I have a rare cook"

"Then is everything she gives you, well done?"

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases It is thoroughly cured by Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. The favorite family laxative Adv

A bachelor never knows whether to call a baby he or she so he says "It"

REMEMBER Pe-ru-na

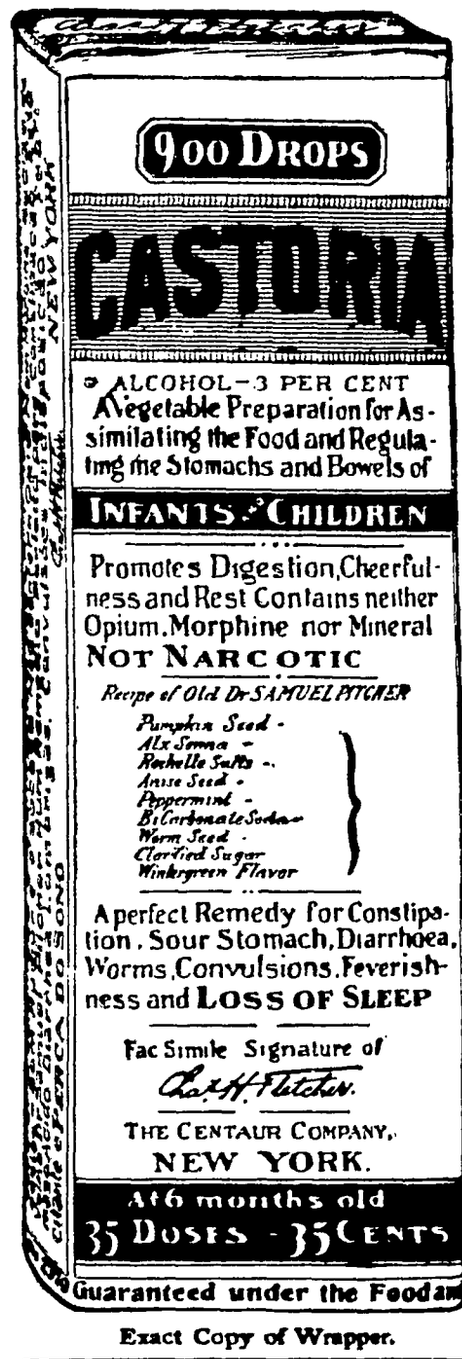
When You Call At Your Drug Store

Mr. Robert H. Norris, No. 1333 Henry St., North Berkeley, Cal., writes: "We have never had any other medicine but Peruna in our home since we have been married. I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble, but two months treatment with Peruna made me a well and strong man. My wife felt weak and was easily tired and was also troubled with various pains, but since she took Peruna she is well and strong."

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS

If you feel 'OUT of SORTS' 'RUN DOWN' 'GOT the BLUES' SUFFER from KIDNEY, BLADDER, NERVOUS DISEASES, CHRONIC WEAKNESS, ULCERS, SKIN ERUPTIONS, PILES, write for FREE CLOTH BOUND MEDICAL BOOK OF these diseases and WONDERFUL CURES effected by THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY No. 1 No. 2 No. 3 THERAPION and decide for yourself if it is the remedy for YOUR OWN ailment. Absolutely FREE. No follow up circulars. No obligations. DR LEURENO MED CO., HAVERSTOCK RD., HAMPSTEAD LONDON ENG. WE WANT TO PROVE THERAPION WILL CURE YOU.

$3.00 A DAY and Over Paid Men and Women (over 21 years of age) for distributing advertising matter in their districts. If you have had any kind of selling experience we can make you A BIGGER OFFER. Write immediately for territory Address Room 1560, Great Northern Building, Chicago, Ill.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL—3 PER CENT
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral
NOT NARCOTIC
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Foodan

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Making Farm Kitchens Comfortable

To cook over a stifling, exhausting hot coal range during the summer is misery that no woman need endure. The NEW PERFECTION Wick Blue Flame cook stove does the work of any stove ever made, while keeping your kitchens comfortable and cool

The NEW PERFECTION Wick Blue Flame cook stove has a fine cabinet top with warming shelves, and a portable oven that does the best baking and roasting you ever tasted. Special patented broiler broils on both sides at once, increasing tenderness and flavor.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

Burns clean, convenient, economical oil, no dirt, work or trouble. Soon saves its cost in fuel bills. Operated exactly like gas without the expense, none of the dangers of gasoline.

Let your dealer show you the different sizes—two, three and four burner. Ask especially to see the NEW PERFECTION Range with THERMOS oven, which gives you a splendid range and a fireless cooker combined.

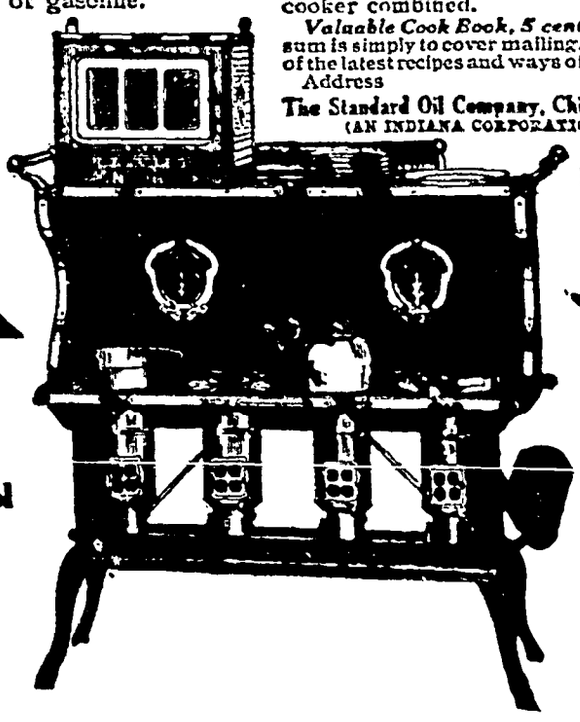
Valuable Cook Book, 5 cents. This sum is simply to cover mailing. 72 pages of the latest recipes and ways of serving. Address (180)

The Standard Oil Company, Chicago, Ill. (AN INDIANA CORPORATION)

Makes the Heavy Summer Cooking Easy

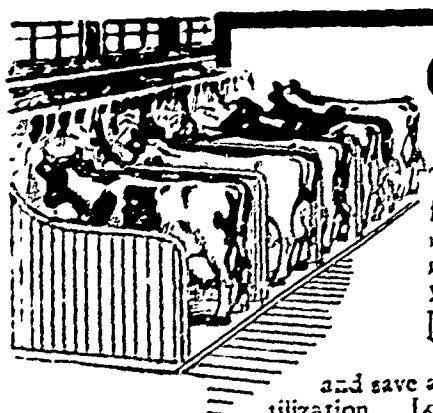
2, 3 and 4 Burner Sizes

No Dirt or Trouble



Keeps the Kitchen Cool and Fuel Bills Low

For Best Results Use Perfection Oil



Clean Cows Produce More Milk

Then keep the manure pile away from the stable — it's only a breeder of germs and flies to annoy your cattle. Use a

HOYER LITTER CARRIER

and save all your manure for fertilization. Loads from the stall to the carrier, positive automatic dump. Come in and see it.

30 DAYS Free Trial

Put up a HOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON — Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you want to sell your farm list it with me

If you want to buy ask me about some good farms

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly

Your patronage is respectfully solicited

Charges Reasonable

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E Baumgartner

I hereby announce myself Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary

Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination for the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G. Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa.—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and will abide and accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party of Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J. D. G. Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.

Martin Bachman

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June

Valentine Josten, Jr

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election

A E Katter

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries

J C Hastings

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration.

S. B Durant.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash.
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

WE SE...
Good Broad... in Just Th...
TO SPANK THE...
And ...
Put On The ...
To Keep them Dry ...
The Quality o...
Is Am...
That they will
WHILE ON ...
Northern Lumb...
N. L. Palmer, ...

NOTICE!

we are calling on ... f...
mers and town peop... f... business at

--NORTH ELEVA...

in allkinds of GRAIN. ... and LIVE STOCK

Will guarantee straight business will ... g... to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SO...

EASTER CANDIES

We have a very fine Selecti...

City Restaurant & Hotel

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

ATTENTION FARMERS:

This is the time of the year to get your Mac... ready for Spring and Summer work I am eq... to do your Blacksmith work in a first class ma... I also have the agency for the famous Robinson ... ure Spreader

GIVE ME A CALL

W. F. PAVEY

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves and Ranges. The best results are Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

Very Low One-Way Fares

to California

and

North Pacific Coast Points

On Sale Daily
March 15 to April 15, 1914

Personally Conducted Excursions

via

Rock Island Lines

... modern through Pullman ... Cars

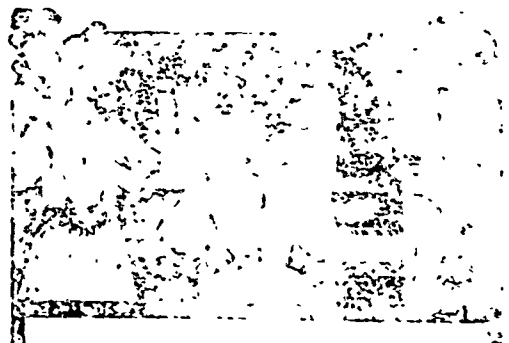
... attention and courtesy

... of rates — via El Paso, ... direct route of lowest altitudes, or through Colorado and Salt Lake City.

Dining car service unexcelled. Stop-overs permitted

Let me quote you fares and plan the trip.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa



Where Youthis

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you have a piano or have any ... we want you, for the pure ... joyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOL. XVIII. NUMBER 34 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY APRIL 16, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

...r banking business with, you can feel assured of ...t and faithful service in every department.
Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

...s built
...at a time;
...e great
...tures

...yramids of Fgypt, that were built many ...es ago, are still standing. The whole ...looks at them with inquisitive admira... ...storms and time have not destroyed their ...tude nor their symmetry. But they ...uilt one stone at the time. If the FIRST ...s had not been properly placed, the Pyr... would not be here today. A fortune can ...t, little by little, but not until after it is ...ED. If you want a fortune, START ...OW.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

... - - Iowa

...ital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
...plus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

RAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

... buy hogs six days in the week at highest market prices.

...siness established 1890.

Easter Sunday At Our Churches

Special Services Were Held At The Various Churches Here Last Sabbath

Last Sunday, Easter, was certainly a most beautiful day and the people of the entire community took advantage of the fine day and a very large number were out to attend divine worship.

A special program by the Sunday School of the English M. E. Church was given. Music was furnished by a special choir Sunday morning and the church was crowded by those in attendance. The program was very much enjoyed. In the evening Rev. Howdeshell gave as his sermon, "The Resurrection." This service was also very largely attended.

At the German M. E. Church, Sunday morning, Rev. Witter gave a special Easter sermon entitled, "Christ Is Risen" and a very large number was present. In the evening the Sunday School gave a special Easter program and it was enjoyed very much and the church was packed.

Rev. Thiel of the German Reformed Church gave a special Easter sermon Sunday morning, and in the evening the Young People's Society and the Sunday School rendered a fine Easter program. Both services were very largely attended and much enjoyed.

Building Boom On

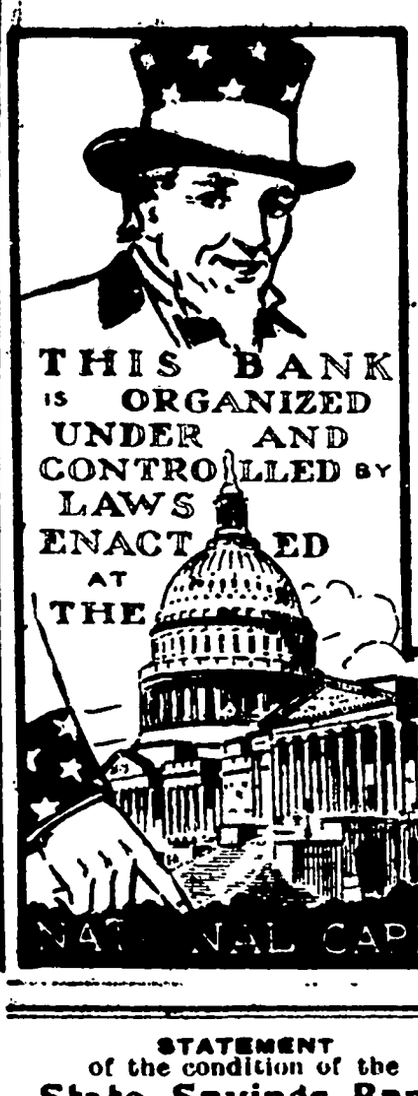
Many Fine Houses to be Built Here Soon

There will be a large number of houses built in Klemme this year but the exact number would be hard to state at this time. The following parties have already chosen their locations and the work of excavating the cellars and other preliminaay work has been commenced Ed. G. Ell will build a modern place just east of the park, and Mrs. Schuldt Dr Missman and A. M Griesmeyer will all build fine homes just north of the park, and J N. Day west of the park. A Wellemeyer will erect a fine home just east of G. W Kluckhohn and F. W. Kluckhohn and Wm. Keraus will build just north of G. W. Kluckhohn's. Everyone of these places will rank among our better homes and when completed will add much to the attractiveness of our little city. There is no doubt but what a great many others will be erected but we are not going to count our chickens before they are hatched. We believe that the 1914 building record in Klemme will equal any town in Hancock County.

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point: It will be helpful to you.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00
Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU
Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD
6 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.



We Know Of But One Man

Who could not do so. Our Historic Friend Robinson Crusoe
Marooned on an Island Where
A SANINGS ACCOUNT
Could not be Started in any Account
YOU LIVE ON THE MAIN LAND

STATEMENT of the condition of the

State Savings Bank

organized under the laws of Iowa, located at Klemme, in the county of Hancock, at the close of business on the 6th day of April 1914, made to the Auditor of State.

ASSETS

Amount of Bills, Bonds and other evidences of debt discounted or purchased actually owned by this Bank		$197,369 12
Gold coin in Vault	$ 845 00
Silver coin in Vault	885 60
Legal tender, National Bank notes & Subsidary Coin	6,615 16
Drafts, Checks and other Cash Items not dishonored	4,520 70
TOTAL - -		12,865 88
Amount subject to be drawn at sight on deposit with solvent banks		7,675 41
Overdrafts		2,326 42
Value of Real Estate		9,187 39
Value of Personal Property		1,750 00
Total Assets		231,174 .2

LIABILITIES

Amount of capital stock		15.000 00
Amount of Deposits subject to check	68.772 40
Amount time deposits	123.998 97
Total Deposits -		192,771 37
Bills Payable		5.000 00
Surplus fund		15,000 00
Other profits after deducting expenses		3,402 85
Total Liabilities		231.174 22

STATE OF IOWA } ss.
HANCOCK COUNTY.

We, W. R Bloom, President, and P. M. Griesemer, Cashier of the Bank above named, do solemnly swear that the foregoing statement is full, true and correct, to the best of our knowledge and belief, that the assets therein set forth are bona fide the property of said Bank in its corporate capacity and that no part of the same has been loaned or advanced to said Bank for the purpose of being exhibited as a portion of its assets.

W. R. BLOOM, President
P. M. GRIESEMER, Cashier

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence by W. R. Bloom and P. M. Griesemer this 11th day of April 1914.

SEAL

F. E. BLACKSTONE,
Notary Public in and for Hancock County

Attested by:
Aug. F. Katter,
A Kelly
D. A. Koss, } Directors.

First Declamatory Contest

The Klemme Schools will hold their first Declamatory Contest at the opera house, on Friday evening, April 17. There will be 12 contestants and besides the Klemme Junior Band will furnish music. There will be a cash prize of $10.00 which should furnish an incentive for the young people to work for. An admission of 15 and 25 cents will be charged. Everyone should attend our first declamatory contest and encourage the young people in their work Prof. Neese is to be commended in starting something of this nature. The program will start promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

Fell From Roof

While working on a new machine shed at the Julius Priebe farm south of town, Wednesday morning Art Cook, fell from a scaffold, lighting on his back across a rock and was quite badly injured. He was brought to town at once and is at present confined to his room at the Kirkwood restaurant. It is not thought that any bones were broken but his back is very badly bruised.

English M. E. Church Notes.

Preaching Sunday at 10:00 o'clock a. m., and 7:30 p. m.
Sunday School at 11:00 o'clock.
Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
All are invited to these services.

REV. J. M. HOWDESHELL.
Pastor

FARMERS!

Send 25c. for a copy of the Farmer's Rapid Figurer and Calculator; the handiest book you ever saw; money back if wanted —E. C. Foster, Assumption, Ill.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

A new style of architecture, novel and not unpleasing to the eye, has been introduced in the Rue Vavin, Paris, in a large six-story house of flats recently constructed Each story of the house retrogrades on the one below, leaving a wide balcony or terrace in front of its windows. The house has a distinct resemblance to a huge flight of stairs It is argued that the hygienic advantages of such a method of construction quite compensate for the waste of space

A new commodity being exported from Shanghai to the United States is rice bran For the last 10 years large shipments have been made to Germany, but not until this season has any been exported to America. In former years rice bran was used by the Chinese as feed for animals or neglected as waste Now the 10 mills in Shanghai from which it is to be had can not meet the demand. It is used as feed for animals, and also as a fertilizer.

A new method of curing stuttering by means of the kinematograph was described to the French Academy of Science recently. Dr. Marage has found that stutterers can be rapidly cured if their mistaken pronunciation of the word is shown to them on the film He takes moving pictures of a stutterer and a normal person sitting side by side and pronouncing the same sentence This film serves as a model for a course for practice which leads to a cure

Scientists of Denver, Colo., are making a study of Goss Aragon, 3½ years old regarded as an infant prodigy The child, the son of an Italian washerwoman and a Spanish laborer, not only knows his alphabet, but speaks English, Italian and Spanish He sings well, writes, dances and is a capable performer on four stringed instruments

Yale's senior class has apparently not been affected by the prevailing craze for the tango, a recent vote as to the "favorite amusement" of the class gave dancing only 12 votes, while the theater received 84. Other amusements received the "movies," 19 votes reading 17, bridge, 13 tennis, 12, golf, 8, and motoring 7

The American society for thrift offered a prize to school children for the best definition of thrift. The prize was won by Hazel Haag, of Warren, Pa Her definition was "Thrift is management of one's affairs in such a manner that the value of one's possessions is being constantly increased"

More than 100,000 000 cubic feet of gas a day has been going to waste in Guthrie, Okla., where at times five wells have been blowing simultaneously In order to shut off the waste it is necessary to bore through so as to strike the well below the leak and to draw it off

William S Bennett, chief of police of Neptune City, N J, is also superintendent of streets, health inspector, truant officer, license collector and janitor of the Borough hall For all the work he receives a monthly salary of $60.

Cola nuts, which had been exported from the gold coast of Africa to the value of about $450 000 annually for several years, advanced in 1912 to $650,000 worth Exports from southern Nigeria increased to nearly the same extent

A club has been formed in San Diego Cal whose members are bound by their membership never to wear any hat other than straw or Panama throughout the year 1913 There is a penalty of $100 for each lapse

A hematite ore discovery on the Kleena river has been acquired by a Vancouver company It is stated that a large body of ore has been removed by a glacier and deposited over an area one mile square

John I Tracy of Little Haddam Conn has the distinction of being the oldest postal carrier in two counties of this state He entered the employ of the government in 1853 and has an unbroken record

Italian farmhouses need improving, according to the opinion of the government, which has offered $7,585 in premiums to be awarded for encouraging the construction of model farm buildings

Some remarkable fights have been made in Russia recently by an aeroplane capable of carrying its crew, 10 passengers, enough fuel for 20 hours and 1,700 pounds additional weight

To each of the 2,000 employes in a confectionary factory in Wood Green England, the proprietor presented an alarm clock, with a view to encouraging punctuality among them

The latest fashion in Vienna is to wear flowers tinged on the edges with blue or green When flowers are presented a poem or letter is written on the petals with a fine pen

The Kaibab and the Coconino national forests adjoin each other Yet it takes from two to three days to go from one to the other across the Grand Canyon of the Colorado

Official estimates indicate that the gold production of the United States last year was the smallest since 1905, while that of silver was the greatest for quantity on record.

The great bronze statue of freedom surmounting the capitol dome in Washington is 19 feet six inches high and weighs nearly 15,000 pounds

Vera Cruz, Mexico, has the distinction of being the wettest place in the western world. It has an average annual rainfall of 180 inches.

The commonwealth ministry of New South Wales is preparing a national insurance bill on the lines of Lloyd George's measure.

Railroads of the United States annually consume more than 2,700,000 gallons of water for each mile of line.

For adults over 25 years of age the death rate is now about 40 per cent lower than it was 30 years ago.

RAWSON ISSUES CALL TO MEMBERS OF IOWA G. O. P. COMMITTEE

Session at Des Moines Tuesday to Consider Questions of Party Welfare.

Des Moines, Ia., April 13.—State Chairman Charles A. Rawson has issued a call for a meeting of the republican state central committee in Des Moines next Tuesday, at which the place and date of the next republican convention will be settled and the whole political situation will be gone over.

The meeting of the committee will be the first move of the republican organization as a whole toward the campaign activities. Chairman Rawson has been personally active for several weeks sounding out the sentiment over the state and gathering reports, but the committee meeting will offer the first opportunity for formulating definite plans for the general campaign of the entire machine

By a mail vote, taken within the last few days, vacancies on the committee in the First and Eighth districts have been filled. James M Brockway, chairman of the house good roads committee of the last general assembly, will take the place of Charles S. Crail in the First Mr Crail moved to California. In the Eighth, the place of R. V. Lucas, of Bedford, who has changed his residence to Mason City, will be filled by Dan Turner of Corning.

As a preliminary to the committee meeting, Chairman Rawson has been sending out from headquarters letters requesting of the county chairmen full information concerning conditions in their respective counties. The reports for the entire state will be assembled by the day the committee meets and will be ready for their information and use in picking out the weak spots

With the Cummins speech in Chicago the continued activity of friends of Judge C G. Lee, of Ames, in support of his campaign for governor, and the report that J I Myerly may be a candidate for the congressional nomination in the Seventh attracting their attention, political discussions were popular among Des Moines republicans yesterday

The report from Cedar Rapids that another meeting of the stalwart leaders was being held there yesterday in an effort to bring former Congressman Charles E Pickett out against the senator for the republican nomination caused little concern among the Des Moines Cummins men They branded the meeting as the last stand of a small group of standpatters who are acting upon personal bitterness rather than upon the backing of any definite demand for a considerable number of voters

GRAIN MEN CONDEMN CHARGE FOR SPOTTING CARS

Cedar Rapids, Ia April 13 —A resolution condemning the attempt of the railroads to assess an extra charge for "spotting" cars and directing the secretary to ask the Interstate Commerce commission in case the railroads are upheld to assess "spotting" charges against the regular rate for shipping and not against individual shippers, was adopted by the Western Grain Dealers' association at the closing session of the convention here today The matter of charges for coopering cars, which are now charged against shippers and which association members are now forced to pay, was referred to the Grain Dealers' National association for further action, seeking to have this charge placed against the carrier

The following officers were elected F D Milligan of Jefferson, president, S W Wilder of Cedar Rapids, vice president, J F Werte, of Cherokee, W S Beal, of Tama W K Neal, of New Sharon D K Peters, of Wellsburg C H Harms of Bartlett, directors

FARM CLUB MEMBERS TO MAKE SPECIFIC CRITICISMS

Woodbine Ia April 13 -A new program feature will be given a hesitating experiment by the Biglar Grove Farmers' club, one of the long established and progressive farm organizations of Harrison county The club will hold a meeting in June at the home of Mr and Mrs C L Strong, south of Woodbine and all of the members will be expected at that time to go over the Strong farm and make note of the commendable and objectionable features of the farm and garden. Following this inspection they are expected to make suggestions for improvement, either in the way of farming or as to other supplementary affairs about the farm

Mr Strong is an insurance agent on the side, and it is thought he will be able to go through this trying ordeal in its first experiment, better than any other member of the club

FOUR BOYS ARE CHARGED WITH BURGLARIZING SAFE

Mason City Ia April 13 —Four boys are now being held at New Hampton on the charge of blowing up and robbing the Weselman & Herr meat market at Calmar The boys range in ages from 17 to 21 years. Two arrests were made at Charles City, and two at Austin It is stated that one of the boys who was not directly connected with the blowing of the safe, stated that the boys were new at the business and poured in much more nitroglycerine than they intended to. The big safe was blown to pieces and the blast was so heavy that the front of the building was blown out. As yet officers have been unable to find the $200 that was stolen The boys' stories disagree and officers feel quite certain that the right parties are under arrest. They will be able to prove that all four of the boys were in town the night of the burglary

FARMERS ARE WORRIED OVER BELATED SEASON

Mason City, Ia., April 13.—Farmers are getting rather anxious to get into their fields to sow small grain. As yet not an acre has been sown in this vicinity The ground is still frozen to a depth of six inches on top and then, deeper down, diggers are finding considerable frost. It is not possible for farmers to get on their land in this locality before the 15th or 20th at the very earliest. This will make the season at least two weeks late.

IOWA COUNTIES GET AUTOMOBILE LICENSE FUND DISTRIBUTION

Division Made on Basis of Number of Townships—Woodbury Lands $8,344.32.

Des Moines, Ia., April 11.—Warrants for the distribution of $571,238.24 automobile tax collected by the state for the six months ending April 1, 1914, were sent out to the counties of the state yesterday by J. L. Bleakly, auditor of state. The apportionment is on a basis of $347.68 for each township. There are 1,643 townships in the state.

The melon cut by the state officials is considerably larger than the one of a year ago. Each county will receive a 60 per cent increase over the sum apportioned April 1, 1913. The amount divided among the counties yesterday was $571,238 24. A year ago the fund distributed was $357 927.55.

The distribution of the tax is by townships and not according to population or number of automobiles in the various districts The counties having the greatest number of townships get the biggest slice of the tax. Kossuth and Pottawattamie counties each receive $9,735 04, which is the high mark. The low mark is $4,172 16 There are 15 counties which receive this sum Polk county, which has the largest number of cars of any district in the state, receives $7,648 96 of the tax

The amounts each county receives follows

Adair	$6,950 60	Jefferson	4,172 16
Adams	4 172 16	Johnson	7 301 28
Allamakee	6,258 24	Jones	5,910.56
Appanoose	6,258 24	Keokuk	5,910.56
Audubon	4,172.16	Kossuth	9,725.04
Benton	6,953 60	Lee	5,910 56
Black Hawk	6,258 24	Linn	6,953.60
Boone	5,910 56	Louisa	4,172 16
Bremer	4 867 52	Lucas	4,172 16
Buchanan	6 562 88	Lyon	6,258 24
Buena Vista	6,258 24	Madison	5,562 88
Butler	5,562 88	Mahaska	6,605 92
Calhoun	5,910.56	Marion	5,215 20
Carroll	5,562 88	Marshall	6,258 24
Cass	5,562 88	Mills	4,519 84
Cedar	5,910 56	Mitchell	5,562 88
Cerro Gordo	5 562 88	Monona	6,605 92
Cherokee	5,562 88	Monroe	4 172 16
Chickasaw	4 172 16	Montgomery	4,176 16
Clarke	4,172 16	Muscatine	5,215 20
Clay	5,562 88	O'Brien	5,910 56
Clayton	7,648 96	Osceola	4,172 16
Clinton	6,953 60	Page	5,562 88
Crawford	7,301 28	Palo Alto	5,562 88
Dallas	5,562 88	Plymouth	8,344 32
Davis	5,215 20	Pocahontas	6,605 92
Decatur	6 562.88	Polk	7,648 96
Delaware	5,562 88	Pottawat'mie	9,735 04
Des Moines	4,867 52	Poweshiek	5,562 88
Dickinson	4 172.16	Ringgold	5,562 88
Dubuque	6,258 24	Sac	5,562 88
Emmet	4,172 16	Scott	6,562 88
Fayette	6,953 60	Shelby	5,562 88
Floyd	4,519 84	Sioux	7 996 64
Franklin	5,562 88	Story	5,562 88
Fremont	4,519 84	Tama	7,301 28
Greene	5,562.88	Taylor	5,910 56
Grundy	4,867 52	Union	4,867 52
Guthrie	6,910 56	Van Buren	4,867 52
Hamilton	5,562 88	Wapello	4,867 52
Hancock	5,562 88	Warren	5,910 56
Hardin	5,910 56	Washington	6,215.20
Harrison	6,953 60	Wayne	5,562 88
Henry	4,172 16	Webster	8,344.32
Howard	4,172 16	Winnebago	4 172 16
Humboldt	4,867 52	Winneshiek	6,953 60
Ida	4,172 16	Woodbury	8,344 32
Iowa	6,258 24	Worth	4,519 84
Jackson	6,258 24	Wright	6,258 24
Jasper	6,605.92

There will be another apportionment of the auto tax receipts on September 1 According to indications there will be another big sum to distribute as the collections of the motor vehicle department continue to average about $5,000 a day The amount apportioned among the counties does not represent the total sum collected From the gross receipts there was deducted 8 per cent for the highway commission's expenses and 7 per cent for the expenses of the motor vehicle department

BRAZZELL MURDER CASE REOPENED AT DUBUQUE

Dubuque Ia., April 11 - The work of impanelling a jury to try Mrs Dora Brazzell, charged with the murder of her husband, Charles Brazell whose mutilated body was discovered in their home January 22, is now under way

Since the grand jury returned its indictment the county attorney has secured half a dozen witnesses, whose testimony, it is claimed, will throw material light on the connection which the woman is said to have had with the murder and which will tend to connect up the various circumstances of her departure from the city

First of all, it was shown at the coroner's inquest that the couple had not lived happily, that he had paid attention to other women and that she had threatened to kill him It was shown they had quarreled and that he had struck her when she surprised him with another woman on Saturday preceding the Sunday and Monday before the finding of the body There is no evidence that he was seen thereafter The defendant left Dubuque for Forest City to visit her daughter on the Monday preceding the discovery of the remains

It is the theory of the state that Brazzell was slain Monday evening that his wife did it, or has guilty knowledge of it, and that she left the house in an excited condition They will seek to prove by witnesses that she applied at a hotel near the Illinois Central depot for a room, but was in such a state of nervousness that the clerk feared for her sanity and refused to accommodate her.

FORMER TRUSTED OFFICIAL NOW HELD AS CRIMINAL

Marshalltown, Ia., April 11 —According to word received here from Duluth, Minn., Harry R. Cammack, a former young railroad man of this city, is under arrest charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Cammack is alleged to have drawn a check on the First National bank of this city, and gave it in payment to A R. Sheff, agent for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, for transportation. Sheff caused his arrest when the bank pronounced the check worthless Another check drawn on the same bank was found on Cammack's person.

Cammack was chief clerk to C. W. Huntington, general superintendent of the Iowa Central, several years ago. Later he held a fine position with the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railway, in Chicago. He has been going down hill because of drink, it is said, and his wife one of the most popular girls this city ever knew and a splendid singer, is now clerking in a dry goods store in Los Angeles supporting her little daughter

PROGRESSIVE TICKET PARTIALLY OUTLINED AT DES MOINES MEET

George White, of Nevada, Is Named for Governor, and Will Push Tax Issue.

Des Moines, Ia., April 10:—Candidates for practically all of the state offices were brought out at the progressive party conference held here yesterday. These suggestions are not intended to bar any other candidates who may desire to enter the field, but are made merely for the purpose of assuring a regular state ticket. Any candidate can get on the primary ballot by proper petition and the voters will have the final determination in designating the nominees.

Without formal action of any kind committing the party to the slate, the following list of candidates were suggested: George White, Nevada, governor; H. B. Bettey, Davenport, lieutenant governor. W H. Sinyard, Archer, secretary of state, H. D. Tadee, Hillsboro, treasurer, M. E. Weldy, Des Moines, attorney general; F. H. Keyes, Council Bluffs, and L. R. Rosebrook, Oskaloosa, railroad commissioners.

J. B Fruden, of Dubuque, former state senator, was suggested for state auditor, but he could not be reached yesterday to secure his consent to make the race. For that reason the auditorship was left vacant.

Mr White, who will make the campaign for the governorship, intimates that he expects to put special stress on the taxation issue. Those at the conference, from all sections of the state, declared that the citizens are in open revolt against the increased taxation and that the republican politicians cannot patch up the disaffection.

Carl E. Franke, of Mason City, was named as national committeeman to succeed Judge John L. Stevens of Boone who resigned a short time ago. A special committee was authorized to fix the place and date for the state convention. About 100 progressive workers of the state were in attendance at the conference yesterday and all conditions point to the new party holding a permanent place in state political affairs.

HESSENIUS CASE WILL GO BEFORE PAROLE BOARD

Des Moines, Ia April 10.—There is not much doubt that within the next year the parole board will be called upon to pass upon the case of E. P Hessenius, of Cherokee county, serving an indeterminate sentence for manslaughter. The case attracted a great deal of attention at the time of the trial and was one of the hardest fought cases argued out before the supreme court last winter. The attorneys for the defense put up an unusually strong plea, which related almost entirely to the character of the evidence On both sides the evidence was purely circumstantial as there were no eye witnesses to the tragedy which brought about the death of Mrs. Hessenius The defense claimed she fell from a second story porch and received injuries which caused her death.

The court in the recent decision rendered discussed the evidence at great length and declared that there was strong support for the circumstantial evidence on both sides.

KELLEY BANK CASE NOW INVOLVES 92 CHARGES

Nevada Ia April 10 —The case of Anfin Anfinson against the State Bank of Kelley et al, is now on trial here, and embodies 92 counts. A motion has been made to separate the cases and try them separately, which if done, would drag the matter out for years in the courts here

This is a case brought by the creditors of the defunct bank caused by the defalcation of E. J Penfield, and is brought against the bank, C L. Siverly and A C Banks Penfield skipped out leaving the creditors and his associates to suffer the consequences. Siverly, now cashier of the Union National bank at Ames was then connected, or had been connected with the bank and Banks was the fatherinlaw of Penfield.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IS ORDER AT DES MOINES

Des Moines Ia April 10 —The new police administration will direct special effort toward the cleanup of disorderly houses and gambling in Des Moines, according to statements made by Councilman W. F. Mitchell, superintendent of public safety. The activities of the police will not be launched with a series of raids. Owners of such disorderly places will be given due notice to close up before raiding is started

Mr Mitchell made the following statement

I do not want to start in now and say things that will look as if the police department is going to make a big show. We will not be radical. But if there are any disorderly houses in Des Moines we intend to close them up If there are any gambling houses in Des Moines we intend to close them up. When the department is organized if such places are found they will be given due notice to get out of the city I do not care to say anything further on the policy of the police department. My one desire is enforcement of the law and I intend to carry out that policy in every department.

FURTHER SUSPENSION OF RAISE IN MEAT RATES

Washington D C. April 10.—The Interstate Commerce commission further suspended from April 15 until October 15 the proposed increased rates on fresh meats and packing house products from Mason City to certain points in Arkansas. The proposed raise was previously suspended from December 15 until April 15.

IDA COUNTY REPUBLICANS REGISTER AS PROGRESSIVES

Ida Grove, Ia., April 10 —B. O. Aylesworth, at one time president of Drake university at Des Moines, has been here for several days in an effort to boost the progressive party. He has succeeded in getting 71 of the leading republicans in Ida Grove to sign declarations of change of faith from the republican party to the progressive fold, and is now working in the surrounding towns. These declarations were filed with the county auditor yesterday. He is also endeavoring to persuade the leaders of the new party to place a full county ticket in the field.

IOWA FARM PRODUC... SHOW HIGHER PRI... THAN FOR LAST ...

April 1 Quotation on Corn ... Cents Above Average ... Past Five Years.

Des Moines, Ia April 1 —A... to the government's crop repo... was received by telegraph at ... weather bureau yesterday the ... price Iowa farmers were rece... their corn on April 1 was ... Compared with the preceding ... farmer is getting 18 cents mo... bushel.

Dr. George M. Ch... rector at the local station ... crease is due, in a large m... the fact that the 1913 crop was ... large as that of 1912 The ... average price of corn in Iowa ... cents.

The farmers are receiving ... price for their wheat as last ... cents. This is below the av... five years

Eggs were being sold by the ... at 16 cents a dozen on April ... is a cent more than they got ... ago. The average price receive... farmers of the country for eggs ... same date was 17 6 cents a ...

Iowa hay is bringing less ... than last year The report ... price at $9.08 a ton which is a ... of 32 cents as compared with ...

Judging from the report the ... of this state have lost many ... by disease this year than ... Out of every 1,000 hogs, 250 ... disease. In 1913 only 160 out ... thousand were victims of disease ... five-year average is 65 out of ...

ROCK RAPIDS VETERAN GETS HIS RECORD CLE...

Rock Rapids, Ia Apr ... Carroll, a veteran of the ... resident of Lyon county for ... and city marshal of Rock Rapids ... years, has at last succeeded in ... his civil war record cleared ... When a boy of 16 he ran away ... home in Ohio and enlisted ... about a year. He was captured ... confederates and for several mo... was in Libby and Belle Island ... On being paroled he was sent ... role camp at Columbus, Ohio ... waiting here with other paroled ... ers, he was induced to go to Za... O., and enlisted in the 10th Ohio ... alry, the recruiting officer telling ... would get him transferred ... former regiment. After another ... service he found that the trans... not been made, so he started ... Kanaway river for his former ... He met an officer of his first ... who informed him he was classed ... deserter and he had not better go ... He then enlisted in the 10th Ky. ... cavalry and served until the end ... war, serving altogether more than ... years. Many affidavits from his ... comrades show he was a brave ... ficient soldier during all his ... Senator Kenyon has just been ... passed by the Senate giving ... honorable discharge.

GETS LOCKED IN CELL WHILE INSPECTING

Des Moines, Ia., April 10.—... Gilliland, a constable of M... arrived in Des Moines yesterday ... after visiting several of the city ... parlors, decided that he would ... the police station, being interested ... this line of work in his home ... By the time the idea entered his ... head, however, he was slightly ... the normal state of sobriety ... colored man, whom he had met ... to show him the way to headquarters ... Gilliland proceeded to the office ... fice and introduced himself to ... Bob Leisure, the officer in charge ...

"I thought I'd come down to ... you and look the place over," ... teered Gilliland, as an officer ... searching him, after he had made ... eral futile efforts to convince ... he was sober. He was taken ... stairs, and remarked, as he ... cell that it was "some hotel." ... "Well, rest up a bit, smiled the ... liceman as he bolted the door ... "and we'll complete our trip to ... place a little later"

NEW EVIDENCE SECURED AGAINST MRS. BRA...

Dubuque, Ia., April 9 —The ... Dora Brazzell, charged with the ... der of her husband, Charles B... a street car motorman, whose ... body was discovered in their ... ter she had been absent from ... five days, has been postponed. ... Kintzinger sustained the motion ... prosecuting attorney for a con... until Thursday on the ground ... newly discovered evidence. The ... ecution has uncovered a witness ... will testify that on the night ... supposed to have left and the ... when the state holds the murder ... committed the defendant was ... highly nervous state and attempted ... secure a room in a local hotel ... sumably to change her blood ... clothing, and was refused. ... witness will testify she said ... lieved he was calling on other ... and that she would get him yet.

LOGAN OBSERVER WINS COUNTY PRINTING CO...

Logan, Ia., April 9 —Follow... spirited hearing before the board ... supervisors, the Logan Observer ... awarded the county printing ... of the Logan Gazette which ... the larger list. The Gazette ... M. Davis, stated that he will ... from the decision of the board.

Before adjournment of court ... tion for a new trial in the case ... against the Paynsville Land Co. ... was overruled. It seems that ... the jurors in the case, unfamiliar ... court procedure, went to his di... stead of going into the jury room ... the other jurors, at the close of ... structions of the court. However, ... refreshing himself, he deliberated ... the other jurors and joined with ... in the verdict.

EDWARD CRAWFORD IS CHIEF AT DES ...

Des Moines, Ia., April 9.— ... Crawford, former humane officer ... today appointed chief of police ... ceed J. W. Jenny by W F. Mitch... new police commissioner

ALCOHOL TO TE MOTOR CARS

Product Will Be When Gasoline Cents a Gallon.

Ohio, April 13.—Some statistics were brought convention of the Ameri- society here for the benes on "Some Economic Use of Gasoline," Prof. rooks, of the bureau of ton, said that gasoline roaching the 40-cent a at which point alcohol ctive competitor.

the present production America to be 250,000 allons each, and said it demand made on it by , dry cleaners and va- ies. To replace this oline by 96 per cent al- rom corn would require hels, Professor Brooks

S ORDER CAN GENERAL HAILS OLD GLORY

City, April 13.—The al armies facing Gen- revolutionary forces are their attack on Torreon, e war office advices re at noon today. The say the federals have in cutting the rebel lines mez Palacio and Toran embassy issued this received at the Mexi- from the secretary of tions in Mexico City, in- the forces of Generals oure and Maas have proceeded to attack the ged at Torreon, thus ut the strategic plan Velasco."

Spain, April 13.—The foreign minister today Joseph E. Willard, United assador to Spain, to re- government at Washing- rvene in favor of the 1,- subjects expelled from to official news re- the Sanish cabinet from expelled Spaniards are l situation and the gov- decided to approach the tes government in their independently of the Spain is taking to bring cts back to their own on, April 13.—Official re- arrest and subsequent re- erican marines at Tampico ved today by Secretary forwarded it to President White Sulphur Springs, W.

niral Mayo reported that, arines were released on his gave the Huerta comman- s to salute the American n apology. The time ex- o'clock last night. t received today did not r the demand had been ith, but Secretary Daniels press dispatches, saying commander had apologized that he had complied with ayo's demand.

Charge O'Shaughnessy officially ted General Huerta's apology arrest and detention of the and forwarded a copy of a issued by Huerta.

Paraded in Streets.

from the United States Dolphin carrying the pay- d a small detachment of t in Thursday at Iturbide Tampico. The Americans a supply of gasoline. They niform, but unarmed. The the American flag. Col- osa, commanding a detach- lexican federals, placed the and his men under arrest. paraded through the streets r a time under detention. e department summarized Shaughnessy's representa- Huerta's action in this state-on instructions from the rtment, the American charge City represented to the Mex- n office the extreme serious- situation growing out of the f the United States marines n federals at Tampico. A xplanation of the gravity of rrence was made by Mr. essy to General Huerta him- tated:

view of the fact that the ffairs of the United States the whale boat in which can sailors were, was flying an flag an investigation will establish the responsibility Hinojosa, and that if the in- should develop a great re- on the party of Colonel he penalty applicable to the be imposed by the compe- authorities.

erta Sends Regrets.

Huerta also stated that in the line of conduct, which ment of Mexico has always the fulfillment of its duties national character regarding it deplores what has oc- this city, which has grown hing more than the misun- of a subordinate official. r officer at once proceeded ut that the occurrence was al and he imposed on Col- osa disciplinary punishment authority of General Zarahaughnessy, reported that ations as above made had to the press of Mexico an would not comment on the statement, but will await a full report of all the circumstances before announcing whether Huerta's explanation will satisfy this government.

Despite the state department's renewed protest against wholesale expulsion of Spaniards from Mexico, Consul Hamm reported today that General Villa had reiterated his order that all Spaniards must leave the section under his control. He also reports confiscation of some Spanish property

No reply has been received to Secretary Bryan's communication to Carranza, demanding that all cases of expulsion be considered on their individual merits.

Meanwhile, Consular Agent Carothers and other consular officers in districts where there are Spanish colonies will continue to press the state department's demands for the safety of Spanish lives and property.

Consul Hamm reports heavy fighting at San Pedro, but did not indicate the results

Latest official advices were summarized in this statement:

"Chaotic conditions at Torreon are reported to the state department, but the commander in chief of the forces occupying the district has promised that all foreign property shall be protected It is insisted, however, that all Spaniards must leave the section under his control, and confiscations of the abandoned property have occurred."

Railroad connections out of Monterey are reported suspended since the first week of April Telegraphic communication is very difficult.

General Alvarado has wired Consul Hostetter at Hermosillo that a force of 200 men had been sent for protection of settlers in the Yaqui valley and that every effort was being made for their safety

CARRANZA MOVING HIS OFFICE TO CHIHUAHUA

Juarez, Mex April 13 - Gen Venustiano Carranza, his military staff, members of his cabinet and a large number of clerks left here for Chihuahua, the new provisional capital today

A pilot train with a guard of 400 soldiers left here last night to clear the way for the chief of the revolution. An official residence and executive officers are awaiting him at Chihuahua and with his office force on the scene, there will be scarcely an interruption of the workings of the provisional government A report from Torreon said that three rebel columns under General Benavides, Herrera and Ceos had engaged General Velasco at Parras There were no details.

NEW HAVEN FIGHT TAKEN TO COURTS

Washington, April 13—Joseph W. Folk, chief counsel of the Interstate Commerce commission expects to begin early next week, in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, proceedings to compel witnesses in the New Haven railroad investigation to answer questions concerning the operations of the Billard company.

If it is necessary to take similar steps to compel the production of the books and records of the Billard company, another proceedings will be started, according to Mr. Folk, at New Haven, Conn., as that is the seat of the concern

As to the witnesses, however, the situation is different. They are under subpoena to appear here and did actually appear, and their refusal to testify was made here. It is held, therefore that they fall within the jurisdiction of the district court.

In the proceedings to be started, the Billard company, the several recalcitrant witnesses presumably connected with the Billard company, the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company and the latter's subsidiary, the New England Navigation company, will be defendants, although the railroad and the navigation company have expressed a desire to comply with the commission's orders and to co-operate with it in every way in obtaining the information it desires DELIGHTFUL EVENING!

Columbus, Ind., April 13—When Mrs. John Birk, proprietor of the Birk hotel, was sitting in a theater last night a large man stepped on one of her feet, tearing the nail from one of her toes When she rose to leave the theater she was jabbed in the face with a hat pin.

Walking down the aisle, one of her feet caught on the carpet. She fell and her jaw was broken. When she stepped out on the sidewalk a man struck a match, the end of which entered Mrs. Birk's mouth and burned a hole in the tongue.

BUREAU TO DISTRIBUTE PURE FOOD INFORMATION

Washington, April 13.—A clearing house for pure food and drug information collected by the federal and state governments has been established in the department of agriculture. Announcement was made today of the temporary appointment of Dr. J. S. Abbott, formerly of the Texas food commission, as head of the new department. As soon as Dr. Abbott takes a civil service examination, his appointment is expected to be made permanent.

The new work has been taken up in fulfillment of a suggestion made last November by Dr. Alsburg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, at a conference here of state food and drug commissioners during which it was brought out there was much duplication of work by the states and the federal government in making tests and other food and drug work. Lack of conformity in enforcement of pure food and drug laws has caused the federal government much trouble.

Dr Abbott is a graduate of the University of Chicago, was formerly connected with the Southwestern university medical college and was a chemist on the referee board of the Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' association. He already has taken up his work here.

CLASSICAL OFFICERS.

Iowa City, Ia., April 13.—Chancellor J. H Kirland, of Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., was today elected president of the classical association of the mid-west and south, in convention here. Other officers elected were Vice president, Miss Harriett Kirby high school, Columbus, Ohio, secretary and treasurer, H J Barton, university of Illinois.

PROBLEM OF FARMER WILL BE DISCUSSED

Co-Operation Will Be Keynote of Meeting to Be Held Next Week.

Chicago, April 13—Co-operation by farmers is the keynote of the meeting to be held here four days of next week by the second national conference on marketing and farm credits and the Western Economic society Organization by farmers to sell their products to the best advantage and co-operation on the part of the farmers and dairy men form the major part of the subjects that will be dealt with in addresses by speakers of national prominence, whose conclusions will be debated afterward

The opinions of the American farmer on the projects of congress to furnish him with rural credit schemes are expected to form an important part of the debates

The rural credits idea, considered by its advocates as the best means of solidifying the borrowing power of farmers, reducing interest and enabling them readily to buy land and move their crops, will probably have to meet the criticism of its enemies that such a plan would deliver the farmer over to organized money power. The proposed Fletcher bill will be the center for this debate, it is said

ROOSEVELT PARTY TO EMERGE FROM JUNGLE

Colonel and Fellow Explorers Expect to Reach Manaos on April 27.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, April 13—The report that Col Theodore Roosevelt expects to arrive at Manaos on April 27 was confirmed today in telegrams received by Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs. The dispatches were sent by a Brazilian officer accompanying Colonel Roosevelt's expedition and by the governor of the state of Amazones

In spite of the difficulties due to the rainy season, these messages say the state of health of the members of the expedition who had arrived at Calama was excellent

Anthony Fiala leaves Manaos tomorrow for New York

TEDDY LIKELY TO BE DRAGGED INTO TREATY SQUABBLE

Washington, April 13—There is a movement on foot among democrats in Washington to start an investigation of the part played by the United States and President Roosevelt in the Panama revolution, it is declared. The proposed inquiry would seek to show that Colombia was the victim of grave injustice and throw the onus of the affair on the colonel. If they could make out a case against the colonel the political effect would be far reaching.

It is said that Colonel Roosevelt may even be called to appear at a congressional inquiry It is said, however, this proposal to drag the colonel into the affair at this late date is not looked upon with equanimity by some administration democrats.

Affects Tolls Fight.

There is no question that the Colombia affair is going to cut considerable of a figure in the debate on the Panama canal tolls repeal measure now pending the Senate. Senator O'Gorman, of New York, leader of the anti-administration forces in the upper house, had a conference last night with Secretary Bryan and went back to the capitol with new ammunition for the fight. He would not discuss the subject, but it is known he obtained information he will use against the administration.

The text of the new treaty will be made public next Wednesday. It has been reported that the measure contained an apology to Colombia, but this has been denied by President Wilson.

Powder For the Foe.

One measure which it does contain has created much discussion. That measure provides that Colombian warships shall have free use of the canal at all times, including international war.

Opponents of exemption repeal pointed to the fact that Great Britain in 1909 had agreed to preferential treatment for Colombian vessels because of Colombia's peculiar relation to the canal as evidence that Great Britain and President Wilson now are putting a new construction on the words "all nations" in the clause of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty guaranteeing equal treatment to the vessels of the nations of the world using the canal. Their claim is that these words were not intended to apply to the United States, their owner of the canal, and they will urge the admission of Great Britain in the Colombian matter as proof

T. R. Called it Blackmail.

"International blackmail" was the term applied by Colonel Roosevelt to the proposal to pay Colombia an indemnity for its loss of the territory now composing the republic of Panama.

Colonel Roosevelt was president at the time of the revolution that cost Colombia the canal strip. His denunciation of the treaty that was negotiated under the Taft administration is of peculiar interest at this time.

The indemnity proposal is not new. The Taft administration first offered $10,000,000 to Colombia, and later raised the offer to $25,000,000, but nothing came of the treaty. Secretary of State Bryan promptly took up the matter after the Wilson administration came into power.

That the proposed new treaty with Colombia, under the terms of which the government would practically assume responsibility for the Panama revolution, will never be ratified, was the opinion of leading senators today.

Not alone was this so, but there was a general belief that the administration would have trouble carrying any of the provisions of the Wilson-Bryan elaborate plan for a general settlement of all troubles with sister nations.

BEGIN NATION-WIDE WAR ON PICKPOCKETS

Police of Country Asked to Co-Operate With the New York Officers.

New York, April 11.—The police of the large cities in the country were asked today to help rid New York of pickpockets. The local police seek photographs, finger prints and histories of all the pickpockets in record in the United States.

The crusade was launched here on account of the systematic way in which the light fingered fraternity of late have escaped punishment. Police magistrates, and representatives of the police department at a conference today decided that the best way to stop it is to perfect their rogues' gallery records and take advantage of a recent decision of the court of appeals which makes it legal to use the sworn testimony of a complainant even though the complainant fails to appear in court. This would frustrate the favorite scheme of pickpockets under arrest, who send friends to buy off complainants or intimidate them.

REBELS REPULSED, BUT RENEW FIGHT

Juarez Mex, April 11—An official report from General Villa states that the reinforced rebels again attacked San Pedro and were fighting in the streets

Nogales, Sonora, Mex, April 11—Standing blindfold on the brink of graves open to receive their bodies, Francisco Fimbres and Jose M. Ganoba, members of a Huerta junta on the American side of the line, were executed in the cemetery here at dawn today by a firing squad Fimbres was captured several days ago while carrying a message from the junta to Ganoba, who was then at Montezuma.

Washington, April 11—Continued fighting at Tampico, with great damage to the valuable oil property there, was reported to the state department and nevy department today in dispatches from the warships on the Mexican coast. An official statement at the state department described the situation as to the oil properties this way.

"Several oil tanks have been struck, one is on fire and oil is running into the river. A number of refugees are on the warships."

The fighting at Tampico was described as heavy, with the rebels in possession of Dona Cecilia and Arbol Grande.

Rear Admiral Fletcher reported that Rear Admiral Mayo, has delivered another letter to General Zaragoza about the shots fired into the Pierce oil plant from federal gunboats Grave fears are felt here that there may be wholesale destruction of the properties.

Assurance was received that all American women and children have been gathered into places of safety.

Latest reports to the navy department were summarized in this statement

"At 3 p. m. Thursday Admiral Mayo reported from Tampico to Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz that there had been but desultory firings since daybreak Two women have been reported hanged for attempting to release prisoners from Cuartel. A constitutionalist prisoner has been reported hanged for having bullets in his possession.

"At 10 p. m Admiral Mayo reported further that there was a lull in the fighting during the afternoon. The Vera Cruz moved up to the vicinity of Tolisi road at 3 p. m. and did some firing There was also fighting in trenches near Altamira. Admiral Mayo has delivered another letter to General Zaragoza relating to damage by gunboats to the Pierce oil plant. An oil tank at Arbol Grande was on fire at 8:30.

"Sixty women and children have been taken on board the Des Moines and all American women and children have been brought up from points on the river below the city except at La Barra. Those who were there have gone aboard the German Tanker Osago. Admiral Mayo emphasizes that refugees desire refuge, not removal."

CARRANZA SAYS FOREIGN POLICIES ARE JUSTIFIED

El Paso, Tex, April 11.—General Carranza considers that his foreign policy has been justified in a call made upon him by H. C Myles, British consul at El Paso, to request that certain British owned mining property in rebel territory be protected.

"In this connection Pedro Fabela, constitutionalist minister of foreign affairs, today issued a statement as follows

"The British consul spoke to me unofficially regarding claims of British subjects. This is the result of our attitude assumed in the Benton case, of not answering representations by the American government in cases of foreigners who are not Americans.

"We consider that the first magistrate has obtained a diplomatic victory which is just and founded on international law.

"The British consul was given every consideration and today I shall take pleasure in answering his representations in accordance with the first magistrate. England gives an example to the rest of the nations who have not recognized the rebels in that British representatives will address themselves unofficially to the first magistrate in matters regarding British citizens. If all governments were to proceed in this manner, it would result in considerable attention to their claims and representations made in behalf of their citizens and this would avoid wrong interpretations about the stand that the first magistrate takes which is based on justice and right."

General Carranza announced that he would move his headquarters to Chihuahua.

USHER SAVES FORTUNE FROM TIPS IN 10 YEARS

St. Louis, Mo., April 10—John M. Green, head usher at the St. Louis union station, has saved about $10,000 which he received in tips in the last 10 years, he told his fellow ushers yesterday, when he announced his resignation

ON GALLOWS SAYS HE HAS WORLD CHEATED

Wife Murderer, Who Pays Penalty for Crime, Meets Fate With Optimism.

San Quentin, Cal., April 11—On the day which Cristendom has set apart to commemorate the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, Jeremiah Allen strode up the gallows steps and paid with his life for the murder of his wife on Christmas eve, 1912

He was silent on the scaffold, but an hour earlier, while waiting to be called from his cell, he said

"I'm going to swing today and I think I have the world cheated at that.

At his own request Allen was permitted to wear the wedding ring with which he claimed his wife from a life of shame, and which he found on her hand when, jealous of a paramour who had taken her back to the old life, he hunted her out and killed her As he stood on the scaffold there showed on his scalp a scar made by the bullet with which he had tried to end his own life immediately after the murder. In his pocket, as he walked smiling to his death, was a letter he had written to his partner, Joseph Rapp, declaring his forgiveness of the relatives who aided in his conviction and his good will to society

Friday is the day fixed by the California courts for executions and when Allen was sentenced the fact that this particular "bloody Friday" was also Good Friday, was overlooked

REFUSE TO ALTER RESERVE REGIONS

Washington, April 11.—Protest against including Hudson county, New Jersey, in the Philadelphia regional reserve district instead of the New York district was made to Secretary McAdoo today by Representatives Hammill and Kinkead. Some protests from banks in Jersey City and other towns along the Hudson river have been received at the treasury.

Mr. McAdoo told the congressmen that the relation of New Jersey banks with New York would not be disturbed by the fact that they had been put in the Philadelphia district except that their reserve will be kept at Philadelphia instead of at New York. He made it plain that the organization committee has no intention of revising the list of 12 districts and cities recently announced.

Protests may be heard by that committee, but the only hope to those who asked changes is in the federal reserve board yet to be appointed by President Wilson

Further sharp protest against action of the organization committee in locating reserve cities and districts was heard in the Senate today. The grievances of Nebraska banks were aired by Senator Hitchcock.

Hitchcock on Warpath.

Senator Hitchcock stirred the subject up by advocacy of his resolution calling on the organization for its data and returns. He wanted to know what representations were made in behalf of the different cities, how the 7,400 banks joining the system voted and what returns ultimately led to the shaping of the districts and selection of the cities. He declared the treatment meted out to the Nebraska banks was "an outrage."

"There are 241 national banks in Nebraska," he said. "How many of those voted for Kansas City, which is the federal reserve city of the district in which the entire state of Nebraska is placed? Exactly eight.

"In other words, less than 4 per cent. Yet the whole state is put into the Kansas City district. I consider this an outrage. The bankers of Nebraska consider it an outrage. They are indignant over it. The course of business there as a rule runs east and west. They are asked to make it run north and south. Gross injustice has been done to Nebraska and direct injury to the state."

Most of the Nebraska banks, he pointed out, transact their business with Omaha and Chicago.

He raised the question whether the organization committee in this and other things had complied with the law. He believed it had been violated, as the law requires the "convenience and course of business" to be observed.

FRIGHT RESTORES SPEECH TO WOMAN

Sight of Strange Man In House Cures Spell of Dumbness.

Rockport, Mass., April 11—Miss Sophronia Lowe hadn't been able to utter a sound since last Thanksgiving, a few days after her 65th birthday This was because of a throat affection caused by a heavy cold,

But Miss Lowe can talk now—high or low, shrill or soft She rented and occupied the half of a large house Not long ago a tenant was found for the other half. Miss Lowe didn't know it. Today she started to go to the attic of the house and met the other tenant.

He was a man. And Miss Lowe was so shocked, besides being pent up since Thanksgiving, that she screamed. And right from that instant she has been able to talk volubly. And has.

GUERNSEY COW TAKES CHAMPIONSHIP HONORS

Petersboro, N H., April 11—By producing 1,059.59 pounds of butter fat in a year, a new world's record has been established by a Guernsey cow at the Cassatt farm, at Berwyn, Pa., according to an announcement today by William D. Caldwell, secretary of the Guernsey Cattle association. The former record was held by a Holstein cow owned by F. F. Field, of Brockton, Mass., which produced 1,058 pounds of butter fat in a year

The Cassatt cow produced 19,039.58 pounds of milk during the year. Mr Caldwell says that the record of the cow was certified by state and government inspectors

UNITED ENGINES--The Price Makers

LISTEN! You who are prospective buyers of Engines. For the Next 30 day I am going to sell engines at Ten Per Cent Above Actual Cost, and I am going to tell you why. WHY?

I bought a bunch of engines on sixty days time and I am going to sell them for Cash or Note to you at the above figures and give you one of the best engines on the market today for the money. Come in and look over our line of Engines, Pump Jacks, Trucks, Etc. Get the benefit of these cheap prices. Trucks for any size Engine. Friction Pulleys, Governing Pulleys, Line Shaft with Pulleys. Shafts any length to suit purchaser. Sawing Outfits Complete. Power Washing Machines.

United States Cream Separator Easiest to Wash, Easiest to Operate and Best Skimmer on the Market. Have you seen the Sanitary Re-liner on the U. S.? Drop in and let me show you the latest in Cream Separators.

A Little More About Those Engines The price I am going to make you on engines has got all Mail Order Propositions Backed Off The Map. I can sell you a Bigger, Heavier, and More Powerful Engine than you can buy anywhere for the figures I am giving you on the United Engine. I am not only going to divide the melon in slices but I am going to give you better than half.

ED. G. ELL

Highest Market Price for Eggs. Klemme, Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Items of Interest

Mr and Mrs Frank Reese and son Albert Lea, were in town a few hours. Saturday, visiting his sister, Mrs. G, A. Pabst. Mr. Reese was at one time the local depot agent and is remembered by a number of the older citizens. He is now the Rock Island agent at Albert Lea.

E. M. Boren of Grinnell has moved into rooms over the meat market. He recently rented the pool hall and is at present cleaning it all up in tip top shape and expects to be ready for business in a short time. He comes very highly recommended and we feel sure he will run a model place of business.

The following parties have been reported to us as recent buyers of silos; John Bock, Jr. Herman Barz; Albert Barz; Wm. Becker; Herman Priebe; Julius Priebe. Wm. Lau; Valentine Jostes; Ben Nieman; A Anderson; Dick Swalve and Herman Ax. There may be a few others that we do not know but this is certainly a fine list and we are pleased to see so many farmers get the silo habit as we beleive they will never regret it.

Relatives and friends of Geo Kessler were shocked and saddened to hear Sunday of his sudden death, due probably to heart trouble. Mr. Kessler had been slightly ailing Saturday and Sunday morning was not feeling well. He got up from bed however, and to his wife's remonstrance replied that he wished to get a drink. He secured the drink of water and retired again to bed. A short time later when his wife went to tell him breakfast was ready, it was found that he was dead.—Belmond Press.

The "Big Gilman Show" that held down the boards at the opera house Friday evening caught a few suckers but not many, much to the gratification of the management of the opera house. We were not in attendance but they say it was so rotten that you could still smell them at the movies Saturday evening. But any manager will get stung once in awhile but the general run of shows that we have had the past season have gave good satisfaction and many of them would be welcomed back again, but nix on the Gilman stuff—it's too rough for us.

E. J. Murtagh of Algona. President of the County Savings Bank at that place, will build a $25,000 residence. This will likely be one of the finest houses in the Kossuth county capital.

The statement of the State Savings Bank found in this issue shows that institution to be in a flourishing condition.

Peg Woffington's Farewell.

Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson's triumphant leave-taking of the theater forms a strange contrast to the tragic farewell of that popular stage favorite, "Peg" Woffington, relates the London Chronicle. Peg was playing Rosalind at Covent Garden on the night of May 17, 1757, for the benefit of two minor actors and a French dancer, when she was overcome with sudden faintness. She struggled bravely on until the end, when she staggered off the stage. Recovering after a few moments, she came forward to speak the epilogue, but had proceeded no further than "If I were among you I would kiss as many of you as had beards that pleased me, complexions that liked me, and breaths that I—" when, exclaiming in agony, "O God! O God!" she collapsed in a heap upon the floor. She never returned to the stage.

The Baldwin Piano

(Grands and Uprights)

received the Grand Prix (the very highest award) at the great International Exposition in Paris—an honor coveted by all manufacturers of the world, but which has never been bestowed upon any American piano except the Baldwin.

M. M. Magner

When you know a news item call up the Times.

Ready-for-Use Paint

YOU are paying your painter to paint; not to mix paint. Science and experience have demonstrated that machines can do the mixing more thoroughly than the hand, and the maker's name on the can is safer than the use of unknown ingredients and varying skill.

Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint

is machine mixed—ready-for-use. The superior result of over a third of a century of paint "know how." The "Little Blue Flag" on the can stands for quality in an entire line of paint products for every purpose—Floor paints, enamels, varnishes, Mellotex for interior surfaces. Ask about them

G. A. PABST

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

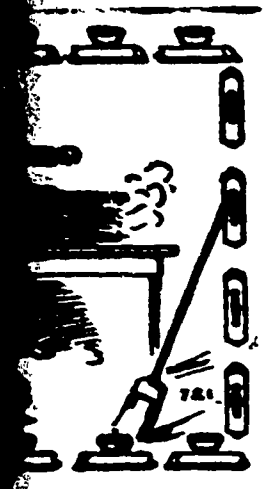
W. F. MISS
Physician and S
Office Phone No.
Residence No.
Office and residence
State Sav. Bank bu
Eyes Tested. Glas

J. E. BAUMGA
The Tonsorial A
Will give you an easy shav
hair cut.
2nd door west of State Sa

...SONS
...T
...ings Bank.
...a.
...Iowa

...A. Bredlow
... & Son
...ed
... Cattle
...g Stock
...rner, Iowa

... Gravel
... load, cash,
...ays, after
... load, All
...trictly cash.
...riffen,
...mme, Iowa.



...WAYS BUSY!
...sing Business!
...er too busy to
... and Press
...ruments,
...ress to Extend Invitation to ...and Inspect ...ethods.
...ar service
...Dress Club
...ER, IOWA
...t man like a wood

...saws and chops for a

...You Have ...become, Life Sus- ...trength Giving
...MEAT
...You Really Need ...e Elsel The ...ows and Frills ... All Right
... BUT
...u Porterhouse!

F. BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 54
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8.10
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

Twenty residence lots for sale.—Ed. G. Ell.

See Roy Newman for horse clipping.

Ben Swalve was a Garner visitor Monday.

John Coobs was a Garner visitor Tuesday.

J. W. Ramsay was down from Garner, Tuesday.

J. N. Day was a Mason City visitor Tuesday.

A small farm near Titonka recently sold for $300 per acre.

FOR SALE;—Two good work horses. C. W, Wiles.

H. Missman of Garner visited his son, Dr Missman, Tuesday.

FOR SALE.—Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles.

H A. Swiegard was down from Garner, Sunday, sporting a new runabout.

5 good residence lots on main street for sale. Inquire of C. F. Busch.

Rev. Thiel and confirmation class were at Garner having some pictures taken Monday.

The Klemme Co-Operative Auto Co sold Walker Smith a six cylinder Maxwell touring car.

S S. Matson and family of Goodell, were up in their auto, Sunday looking over our progressive village.

John Terhufen traded his Ford to the Klemme Co-Operative Auto Co for a famous Imperial touring car.

Frank Williams of La Grange, Illinois arrived Monday and will work in the Times office and assist the local ball team.

Mrs. F. Schuldt returned to her home at Britt, last week after a short visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roscoe Wiles

V. E. Carlson, who is now running an elevator at Atkins, Iowa was here for an over Sunday, visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Fronia Davis was over from Mason City a couple of days this week visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. Henry Freie.

Bert Hubbard who has been here for some time working for for his brother A. F. returned to his home at Clear Lake, Tuesday.

Mrs. G. A. Pabst enjoyed a visit, Wednesday, from her aunt Mrs. Homer Reese and her sister, Mrs. Towasan both of Belmond.

George Stokesbary and family and Frank Perkins and family of Corwith were over Sunday visitors, at the Frank Stokesbary home.

H. S. Bradfield of Germania, stopped off here Monday, for an over night visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. M. Magner and family.

Frank Terhufen and Frank Kluckhohn (Mutt and Jeff) went to Swea City, Tuesday, to do some more work for the Kluckhohn Land Co.

Twenty residence lots for sale.—Ed. G. Ell.

A good sign of warm weather—a hobo printer hit town today but as we did not look prosperous did not ask for the usual tip of brotherly love.

Lost–A fine black dog answering to the name of Sport near or in Klemme Sat. April 4. Finder please notify Henry Maitland. Telephone 44-08.

Now is the time to rod your buildings while the Sun is shining. We sell the famous Dodd and Struthers Lightning Rods.
Henry Lau and Son.

Mrs. George Schroeder and daughter. Miss Selma, returned Tuesday from Chicago, where they have been for some time visiting at the home of her son, Henry.

Mrs. A. Kirkwood and Mrs. Clarence Wiles went to Mason City, Wednesday, to see Mrs. Sam Kirkwood who is recovering nicely from her recent operation for appendicitis.

Dont forget that A. C. Kelly from Minneapolis will be in Klemme at Elder's Hotel Friday April 24 to examine eyes and fit spectacles and eye glasses and return every sixty days.

Put your horse up in the collar not with whip, but with Dr. Hess and Clark stock tonic. $1 75 per pail. No premium to pay for, you get full value in stock food.
G. A. Pabst.

A. W. Ross returned from Wellsburg. Wednesday. with his auto where he has been the past few days on account of the illness of his baby. As soon as the infant fully recovers they will move here.

The Ridder Auto Co. report the following auto sales for 1914. Wes. Lenz, Rev. Witter, Ben Nieman and Cal Newman were Ford purchasers, and Wm. Lemke, H. Lemke and John Griffen purchased Buicks.

Carl and Henry Schlichting returned last Friday from South Dakota. where they had been to attend the funeral of their brother John's daughter. She died from the effects of severe burns caused by trying to start a fire with gasoline.

The Kanawha Record claims that Daniel Gilligan who makes his homes with his daughter, Mrs. M. Cosgriff is the oldest citizen of Hancock county. He was 99 years old last December and it is only the last few months that his health has been making any noticeable failure.

The Idle Hour
Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
April 18th
Big Two Reel Feature
The Big Boss
Matches

Admission 10 and 15 cents
COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

Buy The Best

Your repair bills will be less in the future if you use the best material to be had in your work this Spring. and that is the ONLY kind we ... Make us prove it. And do it NOW.

How About That Range?

We have sold a number of the famous Monarch Ranges and we would be pleased to tell you of its many superior points

We have the most complete line of Aluminum Ware in town and every piece is sold with a 20 year guarantee ann it is also priced within the reach of all.

We are prepared to do any kind of tin or repair work. If you need any eave spouting, come and get our price.

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

C. W. WILES
THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

SOMETHING TO EAT?

No season of the year perplexes the housewife more in search for palatable foods than the present one—too early to depend on the garden, and you're tired of winter's heavy, heating solids

OUR STORE WILL AID YOU

It's shelves are loaded with new arrivals for the spring and summer tables—bring your worries to us. And watch for the first shipments of new garden stuff. It's almost due and, as usual, we'll have it first.

J. N. DAY
The General Merchandise Store

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our old and new customers, we don't like to see a single one go estray away to another town and think of buying goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts in price. You will not sell a $200.00 horse at $100.00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery the Wood Bros. Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other doors can be had cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell the J. I. Case Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the Post Huron Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date. Also Rock Island, Hayes, Sattley and the J. D. Tower goods Five kinds of Gasoline Engines, Letz Grinders. Harrows, Acme Harvesters. Mowers and Rakes. The new Adriance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers, Dodd & Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles.

Call and See Us at our Old Stock,

HENRY LAU & SON

TWO WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headache.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. KARSCHNICK, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case.

Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. SHERER, 126 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Neuralgia

sufferers find instant relief in Sloan's Liniment. It penetrates to the painful part—soothes and quiets the nerves. No rubbing—merely lay it on.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Kills Pain

For Neuralgia

"I would not be without your Liniment and praise it to all who suffer with neuralgia or rheumatism or pain of any kind."—Mrs. Henry Bishop, Helena, Missouri.

Pain All Gone

"I suffered with quite a severe neuralgic headache for 4 months without any relief. I used your Liniment for two or three nights and I haven't suffered with my head since."—Mr. J. R. Swinger, Louisville, Ky.

Treatments for Cold and Croup

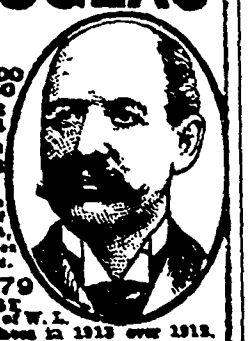
"My little girl, twelve years old, caught a severe cold, and I gave her three drops of Sloan's Liniment on sugar on going to bed, and she got up in the morning with no signs of a cold. A little boy next door had croup and I gave the mother the Liniment. She gave him three drops on going to bed, and he got up without the croup in the morning."—Mr. W. H. Strange, Chicago, Ill.

At all Dealers. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00

Sloan's Book on Horses sent free. Address

DR. EARL S. SLOAN, Inc., Boston, Mass.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES



Men's $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50 $4 & $4.50

Women's $2 $2.50 $3 $3.50 & $4

Misses, Boys, Children $1.50 $1.75 $2 $2.50 $3

Began Business in 1876; now the largest maker of $3, $3.50, $4, and $4.50 shoes in the world.

$1,006,279 INCREASE in the sales of W. L. Douglas shoes in 1913 over 1912. This is the reason we give you the same values for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 notwithstanding the enormous increase in the cost of leather. Our standards have not been lowered and the price to you remains the same.

Ask your dealer to show you the kind of W. L. Douglas shoes he is selling for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50. You will then be convinced that W. L. Douglas shoes are absolutely as good as other makes sold at higher prices. The only difference is in the prices.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

None genuine without W. L. Douglas' name stamped on the bottom. If W. L. Douglas shoes are not for sale in your vicinity, order direct from factory. Shoes for every member of the family at all prices, postage free. Write for illustrated catalog showing how to order by mail. W. L. DOUGLAS, 210 Spark Street, Brockton, Mass.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF "THE DAY OF SOULS," "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" etc. etc.

Copyright, 1913, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

27

CHAPTER XX (Continued).

"Done wore it 'round her neck when I stole her for Old Man Captain. Yes, sir, he done wanted a little child to lead 'em."

Ladeau slipped his oily fingers under the chain as Wiley laid it back.

"Eh? Dat strange work, Mr. Wiley!" He peered closer. "Only one man ever make dat. Francois on Cartres street—look, he mark all his silver so!" he turned the crucifix On the under side were crude letters. Ladeau put the trinket down and sighed "Eheu! Dat bisque I have eat in dat ol' silversmith shop'" He rubbed his stomach—"Dat bisque—"

But they had turned away to listen to Wiley Curran

"That crucifix, Mrs. Lindstrom? Might I take it and have it cleaned and send it to Aurelie? For a present from all of you—with love from all of you? Shes such a great lady now'"

She looked at Uncle Mich His face grew tender "I reckon I wouldnt' let anybody but you take it, Mr. Wiley. She loved that little cross and chain. But you—I reckon you can, Mr. Wiley!"

Wiley turned back to the table. The chain lay there. But when he lifted it the silver cross was missing. He looked about; then on the floor.

"Its gone! The crucifix"

The boys were searching in the rag carpet rugs Curran looked about again, at all of them—then at Maurice Ladeau. He was rubbing his hands with his old slovenly card-sharp trick, and smiling

"Maurice, it was there when I laid it down'" He came nearer The cajun shrugged. "It was there when you picked it up.'

"Merci' I been a thief den? Fo' a picayune bit of silver" I sho' never see dat'"

They looked about, under the bed and the dresser. But nothing was found. Michigan stumped out and crawled under the house to make sure it had not gone through some crack.

Done been curious!" He came back and set his shaggy brows hard on John and then Ladeau 'But you take the chain, Mr Wiley Mebbe we'll find the little cross'

Curran was annoyed "I'll get a new crucifix put on Uncle Mich Then I'll write Aurelie But it's curious'"

He went home and sitting in the shop took out the chain to muse over it. "Done come up river' He smiled and held it off toward the light—'God bless you, Uncle Mich' You and your little girl Done come up river to occupy the land To find the land of joy!'

And as he stood up later, closing the door to go to the cottage, he heard a roaring off to the west At first faint, then growing as the train sped through the uplands' cut and reached the Earlville yards In the News shop door, Mr Curran listened, holding still the rosary against his cheek where her own baby lips had kissed it.

Then with his old fancy he waved it toward the east Because you're there Aurelie—just because you're there'"

And a sudden impulse seized him. He was wont to do things on unconsidered impulses. He had an appointment with the Hon T P Purcell, his political manager, the next day at 10 o'clock. But he suddenly growled: Congress be damned'"

Then he whirled and dashed through the shop, up to his cottage and into his bedroom. Aunt Abby was snoring, as he crammed collars and brushes and tits and slippers into a suit case, and then dashed out again and over the fence with the lightness of a boy. He forgot to close the door He scattered toilet articles from High street to the junction But one thing he did not lose and that was Aurelie's rosary'

And by one of those curious chances of destiny which make or mar a man's life, the Chicago train was three minutes late, and he made it

CHAPTER XXI.

THE TINSEL SHOW.

He had no difficulty in finding her The posters before the Cohan & Snitz syndicate theater were featuring her The publicity bureau had spread far upon the value of that "$100,000 prize beauty" contest. Everything was fish, or more properly, Kosher meat that came to the net of Cohan & Snitz.

And to think,' murmured Mr. Curran that morning, after breakfast at the Sherman house, "that Vawter, the artist, and me of the News were at the bottom of it!"

Aurelie had made a go of it that was certain. Wiley learned of her hotel at the box office It was one that startled him, for to the sober Midlands, it stood for all the city's opulence, to Wiley it was barbaric, Byzantine, dangerous.

"What?" he muttered, "has our little Iowa girl go to do, living at the Graystone' How the mischief can she afford it?"

For he couldn't free himself from Aurelie's vagabondage of the rabbit-hunting days. She was a many-sided person who could skin rabbits or sing enticingly each night "If I Were the Only Girl in the World, Don't You Think You Could Love Me?" or some one other of those American folk songs which the Hebrews write for us—and sell us. Wiley passed a whole window pyramided with the great song hit, and Aurelie's picture was on top of it.

"Well, I'll be damned," he said. "You kid!"

He went in and bought a copy of "If I Were the Only Girl," etc. Then he ran across Jeffries of the Times, whom he used to know in Rome, and who envied Wiley for being his own master and the big frog in the little puddle; and Wiley said, "That's so," but secretly envied Jeffries his place in the big puddle of city newspaperdom.

Then Jeffries said curiously: "Saw you were in politics down in the old town, Wiley?"

"Sort of. The Delroy bunch got me to run against Jim Hall, and, bless me, if I didn't beat his head off in the primary."

"Thunder—you in congress! Oh, great guns, Wiley'"

"That's what they all say."

"Is Thad unanimous?"

"The old skunk will knife me, but the court-house ring is about down and out, I think. Had to put Harlan Van Hart on their ticket this fall to sort of brace it up. The people has riz up, and let a yelp, Benny, and I'm on the riz with 'em. Come on, I'll take you to a show this afternoon."

"Ain't one in town worth killing."

"What's the matter with "The Girl and the Burglar?"

"Some more bunk handed us from Broadway. But the girl in it is all to the good. She's peeled off a three-bagger with this town."

"Sing?" quavered Mr. Curran palpitatingly.

"Not much. No one can in these shows."

"Act?" continued Mr Curran, more palpitatingly.

"Not much. She doesn't have to. Nobody does. But this girl's got the nerve and personality, and the dear old public always falls for that. She just reaches out over the lights and grabs 'em with her smile."

"What—" faltered Mr. Curran, "is her name?"

"Ain't you heard? Aurelie Lindstrom. She came out of your corn belt somewhere. First season in the big business. Cohan & Snitz took her out of a Broadway bunch green as grass, and the first night here she saved the show by making faces. The leading woman blew up and quit right there."

"Let's go!" cried Mr. Curran.

"Can't. I'm on the city hall, today. But take it in, she'll do to pass an hour with."

Mr. Curran hurried away. He walked four blocks and gazed into another store front, piled with "If I Were the Only Girl," etc., "featured by Aurelie Lindstrom in "The Girl and the Burglar," and then another and another! And finally he went to the lake front and gazed on the massive pile wherein she lived. He had lost his nerve, he was afraid to go in. He forgot all about congress and affairs of state. He went to see a wholesale paper house on business, and took in the art museum, resolved that he would call on Aurelie at 5. Then he reasoned that was too close to dinner and he'd probably bother her and six or seven millionaires who'd be hanging around in the portieres, so he dined alone at the Annex and drank a pint of champagne as riotously as a country editor can drink champagne After dinner it was too late to see her, so he concluded it would be best to watch her act first and make up his mind unprejudiced by personal contact. By great luck he got a ticket from a speculator, for the house was sold out. His ticket was for the last row, downstairs, but he didn't care, it was enough to be under the same roof with Aurelie, the orchestra squawking and the program boys hustling over his feet, and all about him the dinner-filled and waddly importance with which people go to shows. Wiley had been long enough away from cities to take a pleasure in watching the mob crowd in, and hearing the rustle of their gowns and hats and smelling their perfumes. The esthete's soul in him drew away from their lust of feed and spectacle, their exploiting banality, yet he knew this repugnance had no place in a politician and he was trying to be a politician.

Then the orchestra played that chirrupy, zing-zing music, with which all musical comedies begin, and the curtain shot up to discover that theatric novelty which all good shows must have—the dilemma of the rich young man. This time he was in disguise abroad, where he had followed the daughter of the Wall street operator. Then the German innkeeper, the English lord, the American aunt, the chauffeur, the waiter, the girls in the cafe, the cablegram, the ticker, and all those novel things for which the American people pay $2, and at which they laugh delightedly. There wasn't any burglar, but he was necessary

Mr. Curran waited feverishly That kid, something surely would go wrong and spoil his delight!

But—she came.

Mr Curran forgot to breathe. She was beautiful, and yet not so as he had seen her in the woods. But it wasn't that—out of her abounding and fun loving health came alternately a droll abandon and then demureness, she was apart from all the professional people about her because of the delight with which she romped through her part. She hadn't a ghost of a stage voice, or a stage look, or a stage walk, the people were beginning to laugh when she came on, and she was laughing with them; and out of the silly dialogue of the rich young man, who delighted everybody by stealing the chauffeur's coat, she drew more $2 mirth for Cohan & Snitz.

"She can't act!" gasped Mr. Curran, horrified. "It's just only Aurelie'"

That was it. Just Aurelie enjoying herself immensely, laughing in a wondrous creation of a gown that wilted Mr. Curran even to think upon. Then she began to sing, still in a great good humor, that heart throb of the American people: "If I Were the Only Girl in the World, Don't You Think You Could Love Me?" and the boys in the gallery raised a tremendous racket She had to sing it four times and each time Mr. Curran rocked and moaned

"She can't sing! Oh, Aurelie!'"

But presently, with the uproarious pleasure of all these people, a great rapture came to Wiley Curran's heart. She was just Aurelie, yet magically she won her way, all health and grace and honest gaiety. That was all she had to give.

He went out after the act and had a drink, the tears in his eyes. "The kid—the dear kid!" he murmured, and had another drink.

When he got back the stage was a great splash of color, girls, hats, gowns, arms, legs, imitation champagne, conversation about sugar stock and motor cars, but Mr Curran waited impatiently for the comedienne. He couldn't get to his seat and stood by the rail. But when she came, this time in a dinner gown and opera cloak and sang 'My Rosebud Girl"—really, this time, with a native lyric sweetness—Wiley sighed with more content, which may, after all, have been the two drinks. It was an amazing splendor and success, and he looked about in complacence that he knew her and the others did not. And one of those glances went to the figure of a man standing near, which he watched curiously for it was familiar. Then he saw it was Harlan Van Hart. Harlan, in the gloom of the foyer, watching imperturbably. Before Wiley could move, the young man's gaze shifted. He came directly, and without surprise, to the other man.

"Wiley?"

"You here?"

"You saw the Journal tonight?"

"No." He shrugged toward the stage. "Of her?"

Harlan motioned enigmatically. "Come with me. I want to show you. Although, I don't know why I should."

Curran followed to the cafe. They took a table. Harlan waved the waiter aside. "It's this—" He drew the paper from his pocket. "Why I came here. By God, to save her, Wiley, if it's true!"

The news article announced the supposed engagement of Aurelie Lindstrom, of the Cohan & Snitz combination, to a young man whom all the west knew for his plunging on the board of trade, his motor racing, his divorce proceedings and his affairs with women of the underworld.

"I presume you know who Benham is?"

Curran's voice came in a whisper. "He lies! Ah, God, it's not so!"

"He dares publish it as so. And I came to see. I came to save her, and you—to amuse yourself!"

The older man stared at him. His hand came from his pocket. "I came to give her this. Her little rosary!"

Harlan's eyes were on it. It had lain upon her neck all those nights of his summer love with her. "Her name," he muttered on, "given as a former chorus girl—and coupled with Joe Benham's! It's horrible!"

"It's a lie!"

Harlan sat back cooly. His gray eyes beckoned the waiter "I'll see." He was writing on a tab. Then, to the waiter: "Ring for a messenger. I'll send for her. To meet us here after the performace."

Curran watched him silently Harlan had become the man. The touch of the Viking in his blond strength, which Wiley had always admired, was up, young, triumphing, primally ruthless. Curran would not have dared send that message—curt, direct, demanding that she come. He was conscious now of fighting against an obsession of the younger man's victoriousness. He would stop short of the gambler's chance, the staking of his all on his confidence in his own power.

And in 15 minutes the boy came back. She had written nothing, she had merely told him she would come. Then they waited an intolerable hour, talking vainly on matters of the town, politics and business, law and newspapering Wiley fidgeted, Harlan was imperturbably serene. The cafe filled with a crush of after theater feeders, the hum and motion became livelier as midnight drew on And then, when they were still trying to entertain each other with commonplace and constrained confidence, none of that old joy of intercourse between them, there was a stir behind their table and Aurelie was there.

They were both on their feet. Her amazement was delightful. She had a hand to each of them, crying out distraction she was provoked at them why hadn't they come like gentlemen to await her at the stage door instead of sending for her? She felt as if she had been arrested. Harlan looked at Wiley, and Wiley at him. She was puzzled—but she had come'

Already the cafe people were looking at them. Aurelie was colorful, aglow with small poses and careless graces; she smiled ingenuously on them with phrases of her barbarous French which, she had not been slow to learn, added to her distinction.

"I'm alone. I declined everybody for you!" And for their lives neither man knew at which she was looking—it must be both.

"You had an engagement, Aurelie?" Wiley asked her

"Oh, just a little one—not enough to matter, like the Paris lady's baby! I'll make them all wait—for you. You know these chappy chaps I've got acquainted with don't bother me much."

Wiley looked at Harlan. Plainly Joe Benham's millions and motors hadn't dazzled Aurelie.

"It's fine to see you-all." She persisted in "you-alls," and "I reckons," and "aint's," when she felt like them. "Just fine. I did feel hurt because none of my old friends ever looked me up in Chicago. And me a real lady now! Mr. Levy says they're going to reorganize the New York production and give me a chance on Broadway—little old New York where Ada Norman and I nearly starved to death"—she picked an olive from the dish: "Oh, tell me how is Uncle Michigan and the baby?"

Harlan didn't know. "Fine!" retorted Wiley. "And Knute says there were never so many rabbits up on Eagle Point. He's waiting for you to come back, and he's training old Nellie's pups to trail 'em."

She was filled with laughter. She had a pup that could beat Nellie's! Yes, sir! "And how is your old shop, Mr. Curran, and Aunt Abby and her Banbury tarts; and which drunk printer have you got now—Jim Mims or the Dutch one?" She played her part before her school-day lover; not for worlds would she have noticed his silent stubbornness. "Do you-all really want me to come back and play in the tin opera house? How big and grand it used to seem! I never went except way up in the gallery with Knute, and I used to see you boys—Mr. Curran in a front seat, for he didn't have to pay anything; and Harlan always there with some of the high school girls."

She sighed demurely. "That was before I went to school!"

"Aurelie," put in Harlan gravely, "you've not changed a bit."

"I'm not going to change. I'm not gone greatly on these cities. When all these managers and stage directors get on their high horse with me I say: 'Oh, you go to the devil—you don't impress me a bit!' And then they threaten to discharge me or something, and I say: 'Go ahead—I can go back to Rome, Ia., and play in the tin opera house! Hen McFetridge is going to buy it for me!'"

"You ever hear from Hen McFetridge?"

"The twins wrote me from San Francisco. They've made money again, out of mineral water this time."

(Continued next week.)

Issuing a Fore

"Say," exclaimed the man with the discolore want you to strike me o sand cards."

"All right, sir," respon er. "What shall I put o

"Just print 'None of it in big type Then when son asks me how I got th I can just hand him a c words."

PIMPLES ALL OV

1413 E. Genessee ave Mich.—"Cuticura Soap a cured me of a very bad face without leaving a sc broke out all over my large. They festered and head. They itched and caused me to scratch the sores. They said they warts. At night I was r itching. When the ba shave me my face would bly. Then scabs would wards, then they would the so-called seed warts back again. They were for about nine months a ble caused disfigurement lasted.

"One day I read in the Cuticura Soap and Ointm ceived a free sample of C and Ointment and it wa value to me that I bought Cuticura Soap and a box o Ointment at the drug sto both according to direction ten days my face began My face is now clear of th not a scar is left." (Sig C. O'Brien, May 12, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Oint throughout the world Sam free, with 32-p. Skin Book. A card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Bos

The way to write a satisf letter is to forget that you common sense.

Have You a Bad

Whenever you use your ba sharp pain hit you? Does ache constantly, feel sore and

It's a sign of sick kidneys, o the kidney action is disordered sages scanty or too frequent or

In neglect there is danger o gravel or Bright's disease Kidney Pills which have cured

A Texas Case

Mrs. B son, Ander Houston, Te "Two failed to r kidney tr had be of the kid passed pe The pain fering in was terrib nothing and bones had given Doan's Kid came to m and cured day I am health than ever before."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c

DOAN'S KID PIL

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFA

WESTERN CANADA

The opportunity of securing homesteads of 160 acres each the low priced lands of Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta soon have passed.

Canada offers a hearty wel to the Settler, to the man w family looking for a home; to farmer's son, to the renter, to all wish to live under better condi

Canada's grain yield in 19 the talk of the world. Luxur Grasses give cheap fodder for herds; cost of raising and fatt for market is a trifle.

The sum realized for Beef, Bu Milk and Cheese will pay fifty cent on the investment.

Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Brewer 576, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and R. A. Garrett, 211 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agt.

ARE YOU INTERES IN GOOD MUSIC

Just Think—New York's Latest So Instrumental Hits—Six for Twe Cents. SEND STAMP for CATAL

THE ROGERS BROS. MUSIC PUBLIS 51-53-55 East 125th Street, New Y

Kodaks DEVELOP and PRINT

Send for Catalogue and Finishing Pr ZIMMERMAN BROTHERS, 880 Pierce St., Sioux

Barber Suppli

The Kleeblatt Barbers Supply Co., 618 Pi Sioux City, Ia., will treat you right. Write

Pettit's Eye Salve

...T OFF"

...Naturalist En... by Well-...man.

...t and naturalist, ...ing the following ... was an enthusi... day, sauntering ... a friend who told ... of a rare plant

...d to a cabman ... Chelsea. Chel... a quiet old sub... ed the driver to ... stop by a ditch. ...ed ankle-deep in ... a few moments, ...re, pocketed it, ... cab, called out,

... looked at him ...nt, and then, with ...ion, drove rapid... ...ly and into the ...ate madhouse. ...ried to the porter.

...lty that the porter ... Lord De Tabley ... lunatic.—Sunday

---

...t Pellets first put up ...gulate and invigorate, ... bowels. Sugar-coated

---

Expert Opinion.

Richmond P. Hob... hero of the big boat... ...o harbor during the ... war, and who later ... being kissed by the ...liest line of girls ... was cross-examining ...nson, an anti-suffra... ...g before a congres...

... think women would ...n in politics?" asked

... do not," replied Miss

... why. We would like ... that."

...g, women are much ... than men?"

... possible?"

...ld know that better ...w of your experience ... the Spanish-American ...ular Magazine.

...h the "Blarney."

... who was begging in ... asked by a lady how ... a fine, strong man as ...sking for alms. With ... he replied:

...g is the only profes... ...in which a gentleman ... beautiful woman with... introduction."

... was quite profitable.

George Smiles.

... tongue of David Lloyd... ...y caused Sir John Ran... ...n the house of commons: ...ouse contemplates with ...ated inaccuracies of the ... the exchequer and his ...founded attacks on in... When the motion was de... George responded with ... O'Connor declares was the ...t speech of his career. ... was not carried.

UPWARD START

...g from Coffee to Postum.

...lented person is kept back ... interference of coffee ...rishment of the body. ...especially so with those ... are very sensitive, as is ...e with talented persons. ...imple, easy way to get ... troubles and a Tenn. ...ence along these lines is ...ering. She says:

...rom the beginning of the ... it hurt my stomach. By ... was fifteen I was almost ...wreck, nerves all unstrung, ... to endure the most trivial ... work or fun.

...as scarcely anything I ...at would agree with me. ... I did eat seemed to give ...uble than it was worth. I ... starving; was so weak I ...t up long at a time.

...hen a friend brought me a ...Postum. I drank part of it ... hour I felt as though I ...something to eat — felt ... That was about five ...nd after continuing Post... ... of coffee and gradually ...nger, today I can eat and ...ing I want, walk as much ... My nerves are steady. ... the first thing that did ... and gave me an upward ...Postum, and I use it alto... instead of coffee."

...ven by the Postum Co., ..., Mich.

...ow comes in two forms: ... Postum — must be well ... and 25c packages. ...Postum—is a soluble pow... ...spoonful dissolves quickly ...hot water and, with cream ... makes a delicious bever... ...y. 30c and 50c tins. ... per cup of both kinds is ...same.

...a Reason" for Postum.

—sold by Grocers.

Oakland Girl First Eugenic Bride; Hubby Is Perfect, Too

MRS. BENJAMIN R. BELL.

HERE'S CERTIFICATE OF EUGENIC HUSBAND

This is the first eugenic certificate figuring in a California marriage. It was issued by Dr J. N Hurdy, secretary of the Indiana state board of health, to Benjamin R. Bell, of Fort Wayne, who married Miss Laura Van Slyke, of Oakland:

CERTIFICATE OF HEALTH.

This is to certify that Benjamin R. Bell, a citizen of Fort Wayne, Ind., has been carefully examined by a representative of the Indiana state board of health, who pronounced him sound physically, perfectly healthy in every respect and free from all disease or diseases whatsoever.

California got its first eugenics bride when Miss Laura Van Slyke, Oakland society girl, married Benjamin R. Bell, of Fort Wayne Ind on February 1... When the minister said the words, Bell had tucked in his inside coat pocket a certificate issued by the Indiana state board of health, which he secured with the assistance of Mrs. William Jennings Bryan

Bell converted his bride, who scoffed at first "I think it's a splendid idea," is her latest opinion on the subject. "Everybody ought to emulate it"

Dr Bergella Ferguson, of Berkeley, examined Miss Van Slyke and gave her the eugenics certificate She declares the bride the most perfect specimen of womanhood she has ever seen.

Bell lives in Fort Wayne, Ind That state has no eugenic law, but he decided to get an official O K anyhow, finally securing the special appointment of a representative of the state board of health

At loss as to procedure he wrote to Mrs Bryan, who is head of the Washington Eugenics society. She referred him to Dr. C B. Davenport, of New York, who in turn referred him to Dr J. N Hurdy, secretary of the Indiana board of health.

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

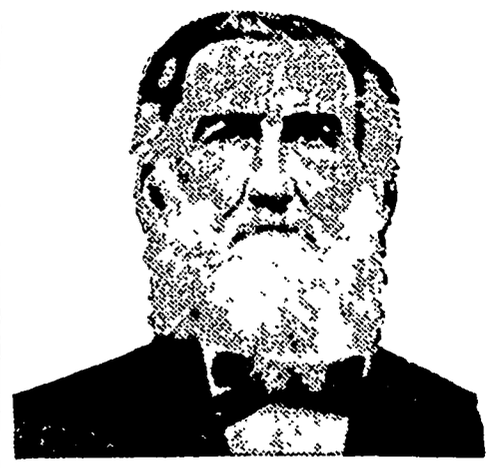
Dyspeptics Can Make the Rest of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-Tonic.

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptics who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Maj. S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 77 years he says he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe; constipation, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.



MAJ. S. MARTIN

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

PICKING TYPES FOR SOLDIERS

Large Hipped Men Are Best for the Cavalry.

From the London Times.

What sort of man makes the best soldier? The French army, where a good deal of intelligent attention is given to answering that question, has recently reconsidered and changed the standards by which men are assigned to the different branches of service. When the conscripts are enlisted for their required three years, the recruiting organization must fit all the round and square pegs of the contingents into the round and square holes in the army.

There are men whose trunk and shoulders first strike the eye. They are the "upper" men. Broad shoulders and long bodies in former days sent men to the cavalry to be turned into dashing dragoons. But it is now realized that on horseback they are top heavy, and keep their seat with the spurs. Therefore they are sent to the infantry Thanks to their long, broad backs, they can carry the heavy load of the foot soldier, and their short legs make them quick marchers. Very strong "upper" men go to the artillery, where great weights have to be lifted as well as carried.

The "middle" men have fairly short trunks and well proportioned legs with large hips. That brings the center of gravity down on the saddle when they are put on horseback. The "middle" men now become the dashing dragoons.

The "muscularly adaptable" also go to the cavalry as a rule. They are to be recognized by the curious way in which their arms appear to be detached from the shoulders. Their large trunks lose their prominence immediately there is any movement, for each limb appears to carry with it its own hinterland of body. They go to the heavy cavalry.

The "warrior type" combines muscular adaptability with broad shoulders and weight carrying capacity. A man of that type can serve usefully in any arm of the service.

The two most curious classes are the "round" and the "flat," both of which were represented at the Clichy examination. The "round" men are grown-up editions of the fat and flabby cupids of the Louis XVI period of art. Experience has shown that they will undergo, without complaint, an amount of physical fatigue that arouses the most insubordinate grumbling from the muscular and well developed man. They try to make up for that physical strain by overeating, and at the first breath of illness they go under.

The "flat" man is also dumb in his misery. His chest, his stomach, and his legs attain a dull level of mediocrity, and his face is almost flat. He, like the "round" man, dies of physical fatigue in an ordinary regiment. They are both sent to the auxiliary services.

Gentlemen in Blue.

From the Providence Journal.

A current item indicates that men are about to abandon their ancient sartorial sobriety Blue evening dress is coming into vogue

For some time past it has been evident that brilliant colors were more used in women's clothing than for many years The same kind of woman who a quarter of a century ago wore her "best black silk" to such social functions as came within her range, and five years ago wore an elaborate white blouse—which she called a "shirtwaist"—with a black skirt upon similar occasions, now sports a lively phantasy of cerise and purple. And in a different social class the liking for black and black-and-white has so far become a purely utilitarian attachment that women who can afford to do so are not willing to confess their incompetence in selecting colors by appearing in anything less than a "symphony" of some sort. The last cry in modishness of color has been the vogue of the wig dyed to match the vivid tone of the gown, producing, one may well believe, an effect that Solomon in all his glory never rivalled.

But now it appears that mere man is not left out of the struggle for kaleidoscopic picturesqueness. With a courage worthy of the cause the male has asserted his equality with the female and has chosen for his initial experiment brilliant azure-a color which, no doubt, is symbolic of his faith in future changes of an even more radical sort. So far American men have been backward in adopting the new fashion; but in London the blue evening clothes have been worn with distinguished success; and it may safely be prophesied that our more conservative tailors will not be slow in putting forth similar garments.

All this is really an improvement. The optimism of clothes is a more serious matter than many people realize How often may a gay cravat—derided, it may be, by acquaintances as unsuited to a man's general character—have saved a discouraged soul from giving up the fight? What is the inner significance of a sky-blue feather worn above a weary woman's face but a sort of indomitable determination? Might we not almost parody Fletcher's familiar lines and say:

Our clothes our angels are, for good or ill,
Our fatal shadows that walk by us still.

At all events the popularity of bright colors in masculine as well as in feminine apparel is assuredly calculated to increase rather than reduce the sum of human cheerfulness.

50,000 Horse Power Lightning Bolt.

From Harper's Weekly.

The "horse power" of a bolt of lightning which struck a house in Hesse last summer has been calculated by a German scientist at no less than 50,000.

The calculation was based upon the fact that the lightning instantly melted two large nails. An electric current of 300 amperes and 20,000 volts might, it is said, have accomplished the work in one second, but the lightning did it in a very small fraction of a second.

Polarine
Insures Perfection in Lubrication
Improper lubrication is often the cause of motor troubles for which the motor car, motor boat or motor truck itself is blamed.
Use POLARINE — perfect lubrication. It develops every motor's maximum efficiency, maintaining the correct lubricating body at any motor speed or temperature—flowing freely at zero, and obviating the necessity of changing oil for cold and hot weather driving.
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(AN INDIANA CORPORATION)
Makers of Lubricating Oils for Leading Engineering and Industrial Works of the World.

Such a Foolish Question.

"Tell me," he sighed—"tell me, beautiful maiden, what is in your heart?"

The Vassar girl gave him a look of icy disdain and then vouchsafed the monosyllable—"Blood!"

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

The Limit.

"Darling, I would die for you."

"Well, don't dye your hair green, pet."—Baltimore American.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes will last until the goods wear out. Adv.

Perhaps poets may be born, but liars are self-made.

There's nothing so gloriously uncertain as a sure thing.

Don't Persecute Your Bowels

Cut out cathartics and purgatives. They are brutal, harsh, unnecessary. Try

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Purely vegetable. Act gently on the liver, eliminate bile, and soothe the delicate membrane of the bowel. Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Indigestion, as millions know.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

BLACK LEG LOSSES SURELY PREVENTED by Cutter's Blackleg Pills. Low-priced, fresh, reliable; preferred by Western stockmen, because they protect where other vaccines fail. Write for booklet and testimonials. 10-dose pkge. Blackleg Pills $1.00 50-dose pkge. Blackleg Pills 4.00 Use any injector, but Cutter's best.

The superiority of Cutter products is due to over 25 years of specializing in vaccines and serums only. Insist on Cutter's. If unobtainable, order direct. The Cutter Laboratory, Berkeley, Cal., or Chicago, Ill.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 16-1914.

Wives! Mothers! Daughters! Just a Word With You!

A woman's organism is a very delicate thing—it very easily gets out of order—just like a delicate piece of machinery, it requires more than ordinary care and attention.

There are many signs which point to disorder, such as headaches, unaccountable pains in various parts of the body, listlessness, nervousness, irritableness, dizziness, faintness, backache, loss of appetite, depression, and many others.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

has been the means of restoring thousands of suffering women to natural health and strength. For more than forty years it has been successfully carrying on this great work. Today it is known throughout the length and breadth of every land. Women everywhere look upon it as a helpful friend. Let it aid you.

Sold in liquid or tablet form by druggists, or trial box mailed you for 50 cents from Dr. Pierce's Dispensary, Buffalo, N.Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate Stomach, Liver and Bowels

Clean Cows Produce More Milk

Then keep the manure pile away from the stable—it's only a breeder of germs and flies to annoy your cattle. Use a and save all your manure for fertilization. Loads from the stall to the carrier, positive automatic dump. Come in and see it.

LITTER CARRIER

30 DAYS Free Trial Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON — Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly

Your patronage is respectfully solicited

Charges Reasonable.

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Where Will You Spend Your Summer Vacation?

The mountains, the woods, the seashore, all offer the maximum in outdoor life.

Colorado and the Rockies fill every requirement—there are also Yellowstone Park and Pacific Coast, if one has time for a more extended tour.

North and east are the woods and lakes of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, offering for enjoyment every phase of outdoor life.

Further east are the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence River and Atlantic Sea Coast.

Low Fares will be in effect daily all summer via the Rock Island Lines.

Finest modern all-steel equipment

Rock Island

Let me help you plan a delightful outing.

D. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

A M Magner

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914. And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A. E. Baumgartner.

I hereby announce myself Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary.

Ray Thada.

Auditer

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries.

G. G. Washburn.

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court, and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J. D. G. Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.

Martin Bachman.

I hereby announce myself a candidate of County Supervisor of the 3rd District of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June.

Valentine Josten, Jr.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.

A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries.

I. C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole.

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration.

S. B. Durant.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

WE SELL
Good Broad Shin
Just The Kind
TO SPANK THE KIDS
And Then
Put On The Ro
To Keep them Dry While
The Quality of Our S
Is Ample Proof
That they will do the
WHILE ON YOUR RO
Northern Lumber Co
N. L. Palmer, Agent

NOTICE!

we are calling on all mers and town people business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR

in all kinds of GRAIN, CO and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & S

EASTER CANDIES

We have a very fine Select

City Restaurant & Hote

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

ATTENTION FARMERS:

This is the time of the year to get your M ready for Spring and Summer work. I am to do your Blacksmith work in a first class I also have the agency for the famous Robins ure Spreader.

GIVE ME A CALL

W. F. PAVEY

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardwar Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves a Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Pai ts, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BRO

THE KLEMME TIMES

XVIII. NUMBER 38 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY APRIL 23, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE hen You Select This Bank

anking business with, you can feel assured of and faithful service in every department.
Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

Beware of ooth Strangers

R MONEY IS SECURE IN OUR BANK

anker in Ohio is responsible for the nl, that if all the money taken out of munity by smooth strangers and "Get-ick" schemes had remained at home, it ke every road in the county.

do you not put your money safely in me bank, where it will help you and dy else in your community, and where get it when you want it.

Do YOUR banking with US

tate Savings Bank.

- - Iowa

al $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
lus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

V. R. BLOOM

—THE—

RAIN COAL AND

LIVE STOCK

MAN

buy hogs six days in the week at ighest market prices.

siness established 1890.

Ordinance No. 28.

An Ordinance amending Sec. 2 of Ordinance No. 27 of the incorporated town of Klemme, Iowa.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE INCORPORATED TOWN OF KLEMME, IOWA.

SECTION 1 That Section Two (2) of No. Twenty Seven (27) of the Incorporated Town of Klemme, to be amended to read as follows:

That for the purpose of this ordinance the following limits shall be known and are hereby established as the Town Fire Limits and shall include all that part of and portion of the Town within the limits and boundaries defined and described as follows, to wit:

All of lots 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 in block 8

All of lots 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 in block 7.

All of lots 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 in block 6.

All of lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 in block 10.

All of lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 in block 11.

All of lots 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 in block 12.

All in the original town of Klemme Iowa.

And all of lots 3, 4, 5, and 6 in block 7

And all of lots 3, 4, 5, and 6 in block 8

All in Klemme's Addition to the Town of Klemme, Iowa

SEC 2. This ordinance shall be in force from and after it's passage, approval and publication in the Klemme Times in the manner provided by law.

Passed, adopted and approved this 20th day of April A. D 1914

ED. G. ELL,
Mayor.

Attest
N. L. PALMER,
Clerk.

Band Concert Was Fine

The concert given by the Klemme Band at the opera house Tuesday evening was quite well attended and much enjoyed by those present. The boys are certainly improving rapidly and would make many older orgnizations go some to equal them. They rendered several very difficult selections and were heartily encored. This is the last indoor concert and they will soon commence the out-door concerts. The people of this community will have the opportunity to hear some mighty fine music this summer. We hope to announce the first street concert soon.

Partly Recover From Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Schlei arrived home from their trip to St. Paul last Thursday and although Mrs. Schlei is as yet far from having fully recovered She is able to attend to her house work pretty well. Mr. Schlei however, has fully recovered, and they are thankful that everything passed off as luckily as it did.—Fenton Reporter.

Only for the presence of mind of Mrs. Suurballe on Sunday morning, their residence would have burned to the ground. The lamp in the incubator became ignited in some manner and was beyond control. Mrs. S., threw heavy quilts over it and carried it to the first floor, where, with the help of Miss Walsh and Mr. Suurballe was terown out. Mrs. Suurballe narrowly escaped serious burns.—Goodell Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. White, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kepner, visited at the A. R. White home near Klemme, Sunday afternoon.—Goodell Globe.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000 00
Pres. - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres. - AUG. LAU
Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits.

IN THE UNITED STATES THERE
: IS STRENGTH :

The Mexicans know it now

So it is with Dollars
The Few are weak
THE MANY STRONG
Best Hurry YOUR BANK ACCOUNT ALONG.

THIS BANK IS ORGANIZED UNDER AND CONTROLLED BY LAWS ENACTED AT THE NATIONAL CAPITOL WASHINGTON D.C.

First Declamatory Contest

BY THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

Opera House, Friday Eve., April 24th

PROGRAM

1. Music : : : Selected
2. "Papa's Letter" : Florence Grove
3. "The Door Step" : : Holly Lewis
4. "Farmer Ben's Theory" : Hattie Musfelt
5. Music : : : Selected
6. "Lightning-Rod Dispenser" Agnes Elder
7. "Homesick" : : Mabel Waterman
8. "Soldier Tramp" : : Mae Church
9. Music : : : Selected
10. "Christopher Columbus" : : : : : Herald Gruetzmacher
11. "Schake und Agers" : Ella Ridder
12. "Little Yacob Strauss" : Edith Heupt
13. "Curfew Must Not Ring To Night" : : : : Manilla Carlson
14. "Easter Lillies" : Donna Baumgartner
15. "The Boys" : : Clarence Waterman
16. Music : : : Selected
17. Decision of Judges and Awarding Prizes.

JUDGES

Rev. Thiel Rev. Witter Rev. Howdeshell

ADMISSION - - 15-25Cts.

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

Are You Suffering From Auto-Intoxication?

The dictionary says that Auto-Intoxication is "poisoning, or the state of being poisoned, from toxic substances produced within the body." This is a condition due to the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver, or pores of the body failing to throw off the poisons. More than 50% of adults are suffering from this trouble. This is probably why you are suffering from nervousness, headaches, loss of appetite, lack of ambition, and many other symptoms produced by Auto-Intoxication. Your whole system needs stirring up.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

(In Tablet or Liquid Form)

will remedy the trouble. It first aids the system to expel accumulated poisons. It acts as a tonic and finally enables the body to eliminate its own poisons without any outside aid. Obey Nature's warnings. Your dealer in medicines will supply you, or you may send 50c for a sample package of tablets by mail. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The latest edition of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, should be in every family. No reason why you should be without it when it will be sent free to you if you will remit cost of wrapping and mailing—21 one-cent stamps—to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Calomel Is an Injurious Drug

And is being displaced in a great many sections of the South by Dr. G. B. Williams' Liver and Kidney Pills. These pills stimulate the Liver and Bowels without that weakening after effect which Calomel causes. Sold by dealers 25c. bottle Sample mailed free on request. The G. B. Williams Co., Quitman, Ga.—Adv.

Many Pounds at Party.

Bridget—They had a regular pound party at Mike O'Rourke's last night.

Nora—Tell me about it.

Bridget—Barney O'Flannigan pounded Pat McGinnis black and blue and the rest of the party pounded Barney nearly to death.

A CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

The Rev. Edmund Heslop of Wigton, Pa., suffered from Dropsy for a year. His limbs and feet were swollen and puffed. He had heart fluttering, was dizzy and exhausted at the least exertion. Hands and feet were cold and he had such a dragging sensation across the loins that it was difficult to move. After using 5 boxes of Dodds Kidney Pills the swelling disappeared and he felt himself again. He says he has been benefited and blessed by the use of Dodds Kidney Pills. Several months later he wrote: I have not changed my faith in your remedy since the above statement was authorized. Correspond with Rev. E. Heslop about this wonderful remedy.

Rev. E. Heslop.

Dodds Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at your dealer or Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for Household Hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free. Adv.

One Point.

Is there anything natural about that haughty dame?

"Oh, yes her lips curl naturally"

Adversity borrows its sharpest sting from our impatience.—Bishop Horne

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada increased during 1913, by the addition of 400,000 new settlers from the United States and Europe. Most of these have gone on farms in provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lord William Percy, an English Nobleman, says

"The possibilities and opportunities offered by the Canadian West are so infinitely greater than those which exist in England, that it seems absurd to think that people should be impeded from coming to the country where they can most easily and certainly improve their position.

New districts are being opened up, which will make accessible a great number of homesteads in districts especially adapted to mixed farming and grain raising.

For illustrated literature and reduced railway rates, apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

J. M. MacLachlan, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D., W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agent

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS

If you feel 'OUT of SORTS' 'RUN DOWN' 'GOT the BLUES' SUFFER from KIDNEY, BLADDER, NERVOUS DISEASES, CHRONIC WEAKNESS, ULCERS, SKIN ERUPTIONS, PILES, write for FREE CLOTH BOUND MEDICAL BOOK ON these diseases and WONDERFUL CURES effected by THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY No.1 No 2 No.3

THERAPION and decide for yourself if it is the remedy for YOUR OWN ailment. Absolutely FREE. No 'follow up' circulars. No obligations. DR. LE CLERC MED. CO., HAVERSTOCK RD. HAMPSTEAD, LONDON, ENG.

WE WANT TO PROVE THERAPION WILL CURE YOU.

Iowa Directory

Kodaks DEVELOPING and PRINTING

Send for Catalogue and Finishing Price List. ZIMMERMAN BROTHERS, 606 Pierce St., Sioux City, Ia

Barber Supplies

The Kleebiatt Barbers Supply Co., 618 Pierce St., Sioux City, Ia., will treat you right. Write them.

PAPA MIGHT HAVE GUESSED

No Doubt He Was Just as Badly Rattled as John Henry Some Two Score Years Ago.

John Henry was keeping company with Myrtle Marie, and when the father of the latter returned from the office one evening he was timidly approached by his pretty daughter.

"Papa," said the fair one, "did John Henry call on you this morning?"

"Yes," answered the paternal one, "but I couldn't make out much of what he said."

"Couldn't make out what he said!" returned Myrtle Marie, wonderingly. "What do you mean?"

"As near as I could understand," explained papa, "he said he wanted to marry me; that you had enough money to support him, and that we had always loved each other, so I told him to go home and write it out in plain English."

RED, ROUGH HANDS MADE SOFT AND WHITE

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, dry, fissured, itching, burning palms, and painful finger-ends, with shapeless nails, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Directions: Soak the hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear soft bandages or old, loose gloves during the night. These pure, sweet and gentle emollients preserve the hands, prevent redness, roughness and chapping, and impart in a single night that velvety softness and whiteness so much desired by women. For those whose occupations tend to injure the hands, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are wonderful.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Napoleon's Last Hope Crushed.

One hundred years ago Napoleon, surrounded by a few of his marshals who still remained faithful, was in bitter meditation at Fontainebleau. Apparently he realized for the first time that defection and opposition were getting too strong for him. When he learned that the allies had captured Paris he gave way to the whole fury of his Corsican temperament. But his indomitable spirit was not yet crushed. Despite the discouraging outlook he nourished a faint hope that he might recapture the city and regain his throne. To gain time to work out his plans he sent two of his marshals with an offer to abdicate in favor of his son, the young king of Rome. This offer was rejected without ceremony by the allied sovereigns, who had already agreed upon the restoration of the Bourbons

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Regretted Lost Time.

French convicts may earn large incomes The following is a case in point. Pere la Capinette murdered a man in a jealous passion a quarter of a century ago, and was sent to New Caledonia. A commission was recently sent out to inspect the convict prison and inquire into the government lands that are allotted to convicts who are released for good conduct. They found Pere la Capinette, white-haired, benevolent, and venerable with his seventy years, surrounded by his sons, whom he had brought from France. He showed the commissioners over the coffee plantation on which he had settled after his release. "I am making $5,000 a year now," he plained, and then added, with a sigh, "if only I had committed my murder 20 years earlier I should have been a millionaire now."

Some imaginary things do not exist, but imaginary troubles are real.

Also the crook finds it difficult to secure a partner that is trustworthy.

HIGHEST PRICED PAINTING SOLD TO PHILADELPHIAN

"SMALL COWPER MADONNA."

The "Small Cowper Madonna," by Raphael, bought the other day by P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia for the modest sum of $700,000, is the most expensive canvas ever brought into this country. The previous record was Mr. Widener's purchase of the "Mill" by Rembrandt, for $500,000.

The "Small Cowper Madonna" is but 24x17 inches. It was bought by the Duveen Brothers of New York city last fall in London for $500,000. Art experts consider it one of the finest works of the famous painter. It is one of the three which was painted in 1505 in Florence during the height of Raphael's enthusiasm for new masters. It is also called the "Panshanger Raphael" because it hung in the Cowper collection at Panshanger, England, the family seat of its former owner

The painting is famous for its easy and graceful execution, and the drawing of the hands, especially those of the Virgin, is of an elegance seldom seen in the other works of Raphael. The color is beautiful. The Madonna is seen seated on a stone seat near a bank overlooking an open landscape. She holds the naked child in her left arm. She is dressed in red, with a blue mantle lined with green loosely thrown round her waist and over her knees.

The background is a beautiful feature of the picture. It shows on the left a winding river flowing between wooded banks to the hills. To the right is seen, with its dome and campanile, the Church of San Bernardino, near Urbino, standing in bright sunshine under an almost cloudless sky of exquisite graduating blue.

Katharine Tynan's Poems.

From T. P.'s Weekly.

All of us were use to talk—not always were wisely—about the Celtic glamour, the Celtic twilight, and the rest. The thing is still here, perhaps all the more really for our silence, and today Mrs. Tynan, with whom Mrs. Meynell shares ungrudgingly the crown of womanly greatness in poetry, brings us a new book, "Irish Poems" (Sidgwick and Jackson, 3s. 6d. net), which has the very essentials of Irishry in every line. It could not conceivably have been written by a Saxon. Mrs. Tynan, however, is a modern, and has nothing to say of the legends beloved of Mr. Yeats of Mr. Trench. Most of her poems are devotional, many are just exquisite child songs; but over them all is that strange elusive wistfulness which we have all agreed to be the truest note of the Celt.

There's a mist that's over Ireland when the blackbird calls,
And when you come it's risin', and when you go it falls;
It's made of green and silver and the rain and dew,
And the fairest sun is over it you ever knew.
Och! sure it isn't mist at all, except a mist of tears.

That is fairly typical of the haunting sweetness of the volume, but it suggests only one side. There are a dozen equally fine lyrics that tell of the Irish land, but the finest poems in the book are purely devotional. Why should we shrink, even in a newspaper, from saying that the dominant note of these poems is their—holiness? To be religious and unashamed is, it seems, possible today only to an Irish poet. It is difficult to quote without spoiling some of the best poems, but here are the concluding verses from "The Tree."

God took up a seed of life,
Planted it in tear-wet earth;
"My poor Adam and his wife
Shall have shade and quiet mirth.
This, My tree, shall grow and grow
Till its branches fill the air;
Not My groves of Heaven may show
Princely fruit as this shall bear.

Hanging head and knees, alack,
This shall bear a noble Flower;
And My Tree shall give Me back
What I lost by Eden bower."

This is as certainly Celtic as it is mystic. One would like to quote the whole of "The Leper," but we can only extract the significant second verse:

Unclean! Unclean! But Thou canst make me clean;
Yet, if Thou cleanse me, Lord, see that I be
Like that one grateful leper of the ten
Who ran back praising Thee.

We permit ourselves one final quotation from "The House of the Lord," because it illustrates so happily Mrs. Tynan's method and temper:

There are lilies and daisies
In the House of the Lord.
The lover finds his lover
With a long, long regard.
The mothers find the children
Strayed from their watch and ward.
O, the meetings and the greetings
In the House of the Lord.

Perhaps there is nothing in the book quite so haunting in its pathos as the "Sheep and Lambs" of an earlier volume, but the vision is clearer and wider, the charm more mature.

Moral Cost of High Living.

From "The Point of View," in Scribner's.

It happens to be in today's paper, but it might be in any day's paper, and particularly in the reports of the divorce courts, as it is in this instance. There are cases, many of them, in which, domestic unhappiness having transpired into litigation, the trodden worm will turn and submit a counter-affidavit which is likely to carry strange illumination. Said the trodden worm immediately in question "To judge from the affidavits I have been guilty of everything under the sun. I plead guilty to but one crime, and that is the heinous one of being unable to supply my wife with autos, theaters, late suppers, and everything in that line that goes to make a New York woman happy."

The pathos of this is perhaps weakened by the explicit expression of it which follows in the mercenary rhetoric of the worm's lawyer and affidavit-maker. "Hopes for the future which I had when I first got married, have long since been shattered." After the previous revelation that might perfectly have been left to go without saying And speaking largely, why "New York woman?" The aggregate of money thrown away in the manners described is necessarily greater in New York than in other cities, purely by dint of the magnitude of the "metropolis." But the per capita expenditure upon foolishness is probably no greater than in other cities, and certainly the tendency to extravagant and silly expenditure is no greater. Silly woman of New Haven, Atlanta, Oshkosh, Peoria, of thee the fable is narrated, as the divorce records of those communities amply prove. It was, in fact, a Minneapolitan philosopher and "magnate" who said· "The high cost of living—you mean the cost of high living."

One would wish for a course of the philosophers to be inculcated upon silly women, if silly women ever listened to philosophers. For the root of the matter is that silly women insist upon expenditures which ruin or craze or deprave their husbands, as the case may be, not because they enjoy them, but because other people do them who may or may not be able to afford them. "As well be out of the world as out of the fashion" is a damnable saying which is in the mouths of many well-meaning women, and the application of which has tragical results.

Imperialism.

From Harper's.

Lord Morley, in his Notes on Politics and History, speaks of the "fashionable idolatry of great states," and brings forward, to prove that it is idolatry, the fact that self-government "was saved by three small communities so little in imperialistic scope and ideals as Holland, Switzerland and Scotland" What happened four centuries ago might well happen again. Most minds accept whatever ideas are fashionable at the time. It is now fashionable to confuse size with greatness. Once when Florence was as big as one of our smaller cities she was intellectually greater than the whole United States. It is also frequently believed that if a state is small it may be wiped out. The three states mentioned by Lord Morley do something to quiet that dread. The United States is so large within its own borders that the question for us is academic. No one of President Wilson's domestic services is greater than his firm stand for intellectual and moral principles in foreign affairs None of his services has a better chance of contributing to our actual creative greatness in the future.

Let Us All Hope So.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman is protagonizing for the notion of "kitchenless homes," all cooking to be done in scientific laboratories, "of course, with women inspectors." The brilliant agitator foresees masculine opposition. She says:

"Every man clings desperately to the idea of having his own private female cook. I'm sorry to say it doesn't matter. They won't like the new arrangement. You won't like it. But it's coming, and your children will thrive under it, for they will have the sort of food they need."

But, dear Mrs. Gilman, what are women to do with their time when the kitchenless home arrives? Already package foods, delicatessen conveniences, gas ranges, etc., have subjected them to ennui almost intolerable. Bridge whist has its limitations. Husbands who have nothing to find fault about are great bores. The worst possible menace to the home and the greatest possible stimulus to conditions that cause divorce may be hidden in the idea of the kitchenless home. Let's think it over. Maybe its inevitability has been prematurely announced. We hope so.

TORTURING TWI

Much so-called rheumatism is by weakened kidneys When kidneys fail to clear the blood of the acid forms into crystals of broken glass in the muscles and on the nerve casings. Te pains dart through the affected whenever it is moved. By cu kidneys, Doan's Kidney Pills eased thousands of rheumat lumbago, sciatica, gravel, and urinary disorders

A SOUTH DAKOTA CASE

W. R. Smart, Belle Fourche, S. D., says "Rheumatism caused me terrible suffering I had to give up work. I had to be lifted around and was perfectly helpless. Doan's Kidney Pills acted like magic in driving away the rheumatism. It soon left me entirely and I haven't had an attack since."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO

Only Legally So.

"The lawyer on the other side will probably give you a cross-examination."

"I don't mind the examination, why can't he be good natured about it?"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach liver and bowels Sugar-coated, tiny granules. Easy as candy. Adv.

His Condition.

The big red touring car struck a pedestrian, rolling him in the dust, maltreating him in general. The owner ran back, greatly excited, stopping his car.

"Is he dead?" he asked anxiously of the medical man who was examining the victim.

"Oh, no," replied the doctor reassuringly, "he's not dead, he's only down."

Too Late.

Dr. Alexis Carrel was commenting on the unhealthy life of the modern business man.

"I met the other day," he said, "one of your multi-millionaires, a man who had ruined his health by overwork.

"'I used to work 18 hours a day,' the poor old fellow wheezed from his bath chair. 'I know better, now that I'm old. Age brings us wisdom, but it doesn't give us any time to use it.'" Looked Like a Steady Job.

To be saved from the mouth of a shark by a Hawaiian duke must fall any young woman. Twice saved twice in the same day by the same duke is an experience granted to Miss Addie Dunbar according to that young woman's story of her arrival at San Francisco, recently from Hawaii. Duke Kahanamoku, of Honolulu, a world champion swimmer, played the hero role. The first time he drove away a shark that had attacked her, and helped her ashore. A few hours later, when swimming with Miss Dunbar's boat capsized and she was struck on the head by a wave and made unconscious, the Duke Kahanamoku swam to the rescue and landed her safely on the beach.

Smiles

Usually shown with Post Toasties

And why not when the famous "toastie" flavor begins operations!

There's a deal of skill required in cooking these thin bits of corn so that every one of the millions of crisp flakes has the delicious Toasties taste that makes one to call for more.

Post Toasties come in sealed packages—crisp and appetizing—

Ready to eat with cream or good milk, and a sprinkling of sugar if you like.

Post Toasties

—sold by Grocers

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF "THE DAY OF SOULS," "MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XXI—(Continued).

28

...frowned. Hen and Ben had ...Aurelie's good name in ...by going bankrupt back- ...stage tour. She rambled ...me, who made this up ...surprise me?"

...at each other. "We met ...said Harlan, "in the ...

...She read them a shrewd ...do you like the piece? ...lly, Mr. Curran. I don't ...of the stage as I did. ...and unless a girl is very ...won't get on unless"— ...—"unless she has the ... But people have been ...to me."

...Aurelie," murmured Mr. ...are mighty good to them."

...r. Curran a soulful enig- ..."That's why I like you, ...Just saying things like ...hed: "Harlan wouldn't!" ...him with long reproach. ...not smile. He was be- ...ying to imagine where ...equired all these manners ...overlaid her naturalness. ...autifully, yet with taste, ...her old vagabond love ...made them live with ...& Snitz knew this im- ...audiences. Pretty things ... But one of the review- ...Aurelie and the psychol- ...and Aurelie shuddered. ...did not psychology have ...sts!

...on plaintively merry ...do get tired. Ada Nor- ...aven't enough talent to ...my face. Just like a lot ...come up from the chorus ...I'll have to depend on the ...grease paint won't make ...lose. Then zing! says ...looked thoughtfully at ...ut you know I don't care. ...ave my money, and have ...e place and some babies, ...g rabbits sometime with ...the snow!"

...large and brilliant pro- ...!" Mr. Curran had to ...'s smile came doggedly ...as hard to resist her ...as unspoiled, but joy had ... In the hearts of both ...n a miserable shame that ...rreled over Joe Benham. ...ith, and the blatant press ...ho was thinking of Old ...tracking rabbits in the ...

...stabbing the town and ...h a vivacious and heed- ...aked of Rome, Iowa. So ...politics? What was he ...She just couldn't remem- ...told the comedian whom ...date" with tonight. She ...iend was running for the ... And Mon Dieu, the ...rpolated this in his lines ...r all up with laughing. ...didn't know, of course— ...d with her!

...tened. A Van Hart ...by a comedy man—and ...his lines was exasperat- ...operating as trying to be ...Aurelie! She was bubbling ...laughter. "District attorney! Of ...Something long and import- ...! I didn't mean the penitentiary!" And she almost had the two men ...ughing with her—almost. Only the ...sperate hurt was there. And not for ...orlds would they have mentioned Joe ...enham. Wiley looked triumphantly ...ross the table at Harlan. Right? ...Course he was right.

"But why did you come, Mr. Cur- ...n? Just to see me?"

"To give you this, Aurelie." He drew ...t the rosary, and her cry of joy, the ...mist rush of tears to her eyes was re- ...ard. She had the lost trinket to her ...s, to the amazement of all the after ...diners.

"...found it behind the clap- ...your little white room." ...t as you left it. They keep ...g for you, Aurelie."

...she cried indeed amid the ...s. Wiley looked away. "A ...a child, yes, Harlan," he ...and the other nodded. ...all love you. Even John. Your ...gifts and letters—why, even ...John couldn't get around it ...him, too—only he was too re- ...!"

...pointed at the rosary. "So ...elle. Or thinking of Uncle ..., and the baby wouldn't ...among this sort of peo- ...queer little chain of ...have been your mother's ...where it came from."

...dened. "My mother's? ...where?"

... A crazy silversmith on ... who thought he was a ...marked all his rosaries ...much else."

...it when I done come up- ...Captain Tinkletoes stole ...higan says he thought ...hen they stole me!" ...'s old yarn. But this ...to show you—but—the ...

...kly at him. He so un- ...it would mean to her. ...watching the two, saw ...piece of sentiment they ...vagrants of soul. ...ay anything about it," ...elle, "only it was my ...it's dreadful not to have ... Ada Norman and a ...e left an arch sad ...Curran. "Sometimes, I'd ...homeless stray. But ... must go rattling on ... and never do the ... Sometimes, I get the ...run off down-river with ...And take you, Mr. Cur-

Then she broke his enchantment with ...Harlan looks as if he ...ought we all were perfectly crazy! ...Well, I suppose one can't. Some chap ...going to write a new piece—just for ...A real star part. I think they ...call it 'The Girl with the Pink Eyebrow.'" Harlan's face set hard. That was it. "The Girl with the Pink Eyebrow," or "The Girl and the Duke," "The Girly Girl," "Half a Girl," "More Than Girl," or some other of the pandering to this modern age, which no longer able to exult in the rapine of cities, takes its lusts to the orchestra chairs. Which makes for a "good run" as well as art.

"So, I reckon I'll keep on working," Aurelie was saying. "Some day I'll buy a farm for Papa John and lots of things. They've offered me a contract for next season that scares me when I think of the old hungry days—those days when I was just Old Michigan's girl, with no name or anything."

They had read of Aurelie's salary. It was more in a week than Mr. Curran and his caterwauling Rome News made in three months. Back home people straightly refused to believe anything of the sort.

The after-theater feeders were leaving, swishing and waddling away with sidelong glances at this colorful black eyed girl who sat between the imperturbable young man and the older eager one. Harlan had beckoned for the waiter and ordered a cab

"It's 1 o'clock," he said, "and you ought to be at your hotel, Aurelie,"

She shrugged as if about to rebel, then was silent. Some old habit of obedience to him held her. Wiley guessed it. He would have sat all night watching this miraculous Aurelie. He resented Harlan's tone. When she had arisen and was busy with her wraps, each man leveled a challenge at the other. Then, to Harlan's lips a resolute smile came. "I told you she would come," he murmured.

Aurelie was approaching. Never had she looked so humanly beautiful as under the garish lights of the cafe vestibule—never so quick with feeling, so true with life. Her world had not spoiled her—had not touched the generous simplicity in her. When they were in the cab, whirling away to her hotel, she reached from her furs and patted Curran's hand with a happy little sigh.

"I do think dreams come true! Away down-river I remember putting hyacinths in my hair and staring down-river in the water. I thought I was pretty! And that came true! Just the gray cypress woods, and the lilies floating to the sea, and the mocking birds singing; and the Indian women catching shrimps on a stick, and Captain Tinkletoes telling war stories and digging for buried treasure! But Uncle Mich said we'd go off sometimes and see all the lands and states and countries. Oh, something very wonderful must be up in those lands and states and countries! And that came true! The land o' joy! We'll find it sometime, won't we, Mr. Curran—people like you and me!"

"Find it!" he cried, "Aurelie, it's here!"

"You understand," she answered, and settled back on the cushions with another luxuriant sigh.

The two men left her at the hotel. She had a curious, shy, studied, sweetness for them both in her parting that left them silent as the cab rattled away to the railroad station through the dreary after-midnight streets. Once, passing a corner lamp, Curran saw Harlan's face turned to him calm, hard, victorious.

The elder man could not repress his cry.

"Damn you, Harlan! You came here doubting her, and I never doubted her. She's good—good—always good!"

"I know. Because she loved me after all. That held her good through all this life—the notoriety and glitter—because she loves me, Wiley!"

The other man could not answer. His cry now was to his own heart. He seemed battling to evade some ineffable self-pathos that would find its way. Harlan—always to Harlan life brought the best without price, without struggle. He would say no more. When they were in the smoking room of the Pullman they again were silent; and when Harlan had gone to his berth, Curran went forward through the train seeking an open platform. He wanted the open, the stars and freedom—he must have air. He found an unclosed vestible and sat staring out at the night, the black of the prairie midlands, with far off the silken veil of the city flung luminous against the sky.

"Ah, well!" He tried to reason. "The boy—he loves her, after all. And all the years he's been first with me—first in everything." He could not grasp his sense of fatherhood, tender, mystic, encompassing, for Harlan. Yet always it had been so—this friendship that he had held so beautiful, so true. Then Aurelie had come to lay a finger laughlingly against this faith. To dazzle him, to enrapture him—to bring the hunt to Harlan's eyes, and inexplicable rebellion to his own.

"Eh, well—those children!" He arose, sighing. "It's for me to play the man at last! God bless them! I love 'em both and neither could understand how or why. And I can't either!"

He went back defying his rebellion, stumbling to grasp his old loyalty, that fine ardor for his friend, which had made the long years sweeter. It was hard to define his struggle. A faint smile came to his lips at the suggestion that he loved—nothing like that was a part of him, he had said long ago.

"I'd tell Janet," he muttered, "if she'd understand—but she wouldn't. Yet Janet—Janet knows me—and understands 'most everything!" Then his sad smile came again. "Janet—after all, she's nearest—and dearest. But, somehow, it took Aurelie to awaken me!"

CHAPTER XXII.

NEMESIS.

From that night Curran went about his work as if a lamp lighted the way for his feet. He amazed his supporters in the concluding weeks of the campaign. A serene, yet boyish joy, a confident step, a brightening eye, and brilliant daring in debates, a sense of power discovered and the rapture of achievement.

"What's come over him?" muttered Arne Vance to his sister. "It can't be just the election! Elected? Why, he'll roll up the biggest majority any man ever got in this country! The democratic central committee have as good as thrown up the fight. And the Tanner split is a joke—I'll bet Curran will even carry the High street precinct. Rube Van Hart and I went all around the square offering three to one on Curran and couldn't get a bet!"

Janet looked calmly at her brother. In his ardor of the fight he had not noticed her preoccupation of late. Steadfast in her work, resolute and untiring in her counsels to the impetuous and ill-controlled young men who dominated the headquarters of the impecunious progressive league over in Earlville and managed Curran's fight. "Thad swears he'll resign the county chairmanship if Wiley wins," he went on, "and that means the end of things'"

"Yes," she answered, "the end of things!"

He watched her curiously, noting now her weariness. He wondered if she had come upon that story of Ladeau's which he and Purcell and Rube Van Hart had so successfully kept stilled. Wiley himself might have told her. A least, with all Janet's loyalty, Arne discerned some unfathomable negation in her heart. He laid it to her tiredness; the stress was inevitably too much for a woman, even for Janet's superb health and iron vitality. But with a brother's constraint he did not intimately question the matter.

He was busied with plans for the big meeting the night before the election. Curran had never spoken in his home town. He had always evaded it, and early in the campaign his managers had thought it wise. But now, when he had addressed the people in every country district, in every town of the constituency—when he had met every issue and the progression of his cause had spelled his triumph everywhere, McBride, Purcell, the Vances, and all the exultant group of young men in Earlville, had insisted that they conclude the battle in his home spot. The battle, indeed, was won; but they wanted to brawl their victory in the faces of the old county ring at Rome. Curran had assented, he caught the fire of their ardor. And it would be pregant for his own soul. Here, where he had been the failure, he would sting them with his success.

"It can't go wrong," exclaimed Arne, "not even if every mossback in this town stayed away. We'll take care of that. The Earlville bunch will send over enough to pack that dinky opera house and then we'll overflow on to the court house lawn. Two bands and red fire, and we'll burn up half the sidewalks on High street. Rub it in—yell it in their faces, damn 'em'"

The town was talking of that windup meeting of the Curran campaign for two weeks. The old line county committee was helpless. Old Thad Tanner might curse impotently in his office; but on the street Curran walked with the consciousness that men looked back at him. The transformation suddenly became acute in the minds of his townsmen: the farmers, over their Saturday trading in the stores, said that "all the folks would come in to Wiley's meeting."

Old Mowry, the undertaker, with his 10 years' grievance against the county crowd since they threw him out of the coroner's office, ambled into the News and sat where he could stare at the Widow Steger's—always "waiting."

"Busted, Wiley!" He cackled: "Why, this mornin' even Dickinson admitted they was busted! Some of these days there'll be a board that'll pay me for that nigger I buried! Wiley, wa'n't I always your friend?"

Friend? The town, the county, the vast Midlands all voiced it.

He was getting his mail the day before election when Cal Rice, a white-faced, young man, habitually reflecting the last word of his wife's father, Thaddeus Tanner, detached himself from a group in the postoffice lobby to detain him. His pasty smile was apologetic.

"How's prospects, Wiley?" The banker had never before had anything but a grim nod for the editor.

"Splendid!" He felt a throb of magnanimous condescension.

"I suppose you'll want to renew your mortgage on the 1st?"

"I think not, Mr. Rice." Wiley smiled leisurely. "The Merchants' bank, of Earlville, will take it up."

Rice looked up quickly. "Ah, your friend, Purcell, I suppose?"

"I've a good many friends over there. Well acquainted these days. So I'll take up that mortgage when it's due. Eight hundred and forty dollars, interest and all, isn't it?"

"Something like that. Drop in this morning. We'll look it up." Rice figured a moment. "There's another matter, Mr. Curran. Come at 11."

Mr. Curran drew out his watch lazily. He found it hard to conceal his triumph. Cal Rice, of the First National, coming to him, wanting a conference! Beaten, eh? And they knew it—the whole court house crowd! They wanted to placate the victor, that was it. In a flash Wiley guessed it—Thad Tanner was going to offer some compromise, plead for some agreement with him—anything, so that Thad might retain control of the county committee. Curran in congress and solid as he was in the county would dethrone Thad from his local power "sure as shooting fish in a bucket!" All over town they had discussed that days ago. If Thad lost his grip some mighty unpleasant stories of board contracts might come out. They were gossiped about, had been for years.

And now Curran thrilled with it. He had felt it coming. He had told Arne, and Arne had cried sourly: "Kick the old son-of-a-gun out of your shop if he ever comes to you!"

Rice's next words sealed it. The banker shuffled nervously and then went on: "Curran, you've been dead wrong about the First National's attitude toward your fight. We're not—er—against you—not at all—not at all. And er—you'll come over at 11?"

"Hardly," Wiley drawled with irritating amiability. "Expecting a telegram from Governor Delroy—something about the campaign." He looked at his watch again, conscious that every man in the group was listening and in 15 minutes would spread the report that Thad Tanner was going to quit the fight on Curran. Then he said "Make it 11 15 Rice. Best I can do today."

(Continued next week.)

Recognized Him.

In one case the late Mr. Justice Hawkins sentenced all the prisoners to death. The sentences were afterwards remitted to terms of penal servitude, while one of the defendants, Alice Rhodes, received a free pardon.

In the summer of that year Mr. Justice Hawkins, feeling warm after a walk over Wimbledon common, called at an inn and asked for a ginger beer. He thought the barmaid looked at him strangely.

"Thank you, my lord," she said as she handed him his change.

"You know me, then?" exclaimed Hawkins, with a smile.

I shall never forget you," answered the barmaid. "It's not a year ago that you sentenced me to death."

The barmaid was Alice Rhodes.—London Mail.

Outwitted the Women.

While the men of a village named Borhoff, in the Vitebsk government, were holding a meeting, the doors of the room were suddenly flung open and the women of the village entered in a body, demanding that the men should there and then abolish the local vodka (spirit) shop, otherwise they would not let the proceedings continue.

Above the din was heard a voice: "They are right! Let those who are for the women's resolution come outside!" The women triumphantly trooped out—alone. The door was then suddenly locked, and the meeting proceeded.—Paris Daily Mail.

Cut Her Off From His Praying List.

A boy in McPherson county had been "working on" his grandmother for some time to induce her to give him a bicycle. She had half promised him, but the boy got impatient. One evening he was saying his prayers and omitted his grandmother from the list of those on whom he asked a special blessing. His mother noted the omission and called his attention to it. "Why, Gerald, you forgot to pray for grandma." "Naw I didn't, neither," said Gerald, "but grandma's got'a come across 'fore she gets any more prayers out'a me."—Kansas City Star.

Putnam Fadeless Dyes are the easiest to use. Adv.

A Bad Case.

Knicker—Is he deeply in love?

Bocker—Yes, he thinks all the girls on the magazine cover look like her.

It is easy to find fault that has never been lost.

IMMIGRATION INSPECTOR

Port of San Francisco Praises Peruna for personal benefit received.

San Francisco, January 6, 1914.

Mr. A. de la Torre, Jr., formerly U. S. Inspector of Immigration, Port of San Francisco, writes from No. 1111 Powell St., San Francisco, Cal.: "I take great pleasure in recommending your great national catarrh cure, Peruna, as the best I ever used. I sincerely express my thanks to you for the health which I now enjoy. It has done me and a number of my friends good, and I can assure you that I shall take every opportunity to speak in favor of what I consider to be the best remedy for catarrh in existence today."

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable — act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

Pettit's EYE SALVE FOR SORE WEAK EYES

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 17-1914.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

CLOQUET, MINN.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and I can recommend the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. JANNIE AKERMAN, c/o Rev. K. AKERMAN, Cloquet, Minnesota.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. MURDOCH, 25 Gordon St., South Quincy, Mass.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

UNITED ENGINES--The Price Makers

LISTEN! You who are prospective buyers of Engines. For the Next 30 day I am going to sell engines at Ten Per Cent Above Actual Cost, and I am going to tell you why. WHY?

I bought a bunch of engines on sixty days time and I am going to sell them for Cash or Note to you at the above figures and give you one of the best engines on the market today for the money. Come in and look over our line of Engines, Pump Jacks, Trucks, Etc. Get the benefit of these cheap prices. Trucks for any size Engine. Friction Pulleys, Governing Pulleys, Line Shaft with Pulleys. Shafts any length to suit purchaser. Sawing Outfits Complete. Power Washing Machines.

United States Cream Separator Easiest to Wash, Easiest to Operate and Best Skimmer on the Market. Have you seen the Sanitary Re-liner on the U. S.? Drop in and let me show you the latest in Cream Separators.

A Little More About Those Engines The price I am going to make you on engines has got all Mail Order Propositions Backed Off The Map. I can sell you a Bigger, Heavier, and More Powerful Engine than you can buy anywhere for the figures I am giving you on the United Engine. I am not only going to divide the melon in slices but I am going to give you better than half.

ED. G. ELL

Highest Market Price for Eggs. Klemme, Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES
By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter

Items of Interest

The T Kridoce home south of town is a regular hospital this week, there being nine children down with or just convalescing from pneumonia. Most of the cases are made worse in some of the cases by typhoid fever. Everything possible is being done for the afflicted ones, and we trust that all will eventually recover. Meservey Register

We wish to call your attention to the ad of H Howard Hunter, the Dows piano tuner, which will be found elswhere in this issue and he will be here again next week looking after all work. Leave orders at this office.

Mr. Ben Atherton of Klemme, Iowa, has been in Algona the past week stopping at the R Shilts home. Mr. Atherton recently purchased a farm near Burt and has been looking after some improvements on it.—Algona Republican.

A number of poles for the resident street lights have been put down and the work of wiring and installing the lights will be commenced soon. All of the electroliers have arrived and will soon be put in. We will have many city airs when all of the proposed improvements are completed.

If Willie Bernstock loves Miss Weinerwurst, that's their business and if they intend to get married they will wish some nice invitations and announcements, That Is Our Business, and they will live happily ever after. Call and see our samples and get our prices. The Times.

The new school grounds contain two blocks. The board purchased a half block where the new school house will be located. The whole block west of this and use the half block between this and the Core road, making two full blocks and one street.—Inter Signal.

A W Ross the machinist at the new garage was called to Wellsburg Wednesday morning on account of the death of his baby boy. The infant had been ailing for some time past and passed away Tuesday evening. Mr. Ross has made many friends since living here who extend the hand of sympathy.

The Kirkwood cafe have been making some notable improvements of late preparatory to the real opening of the ice cream season. Besides putting in a new fountain they have installed an electric mixer and have some nice palms in their ice cream parlor. They believe in being up-to-the-minute in every particular.

FARMERS!

Send 25c. for a copy of the Farmer's Rapid Figurer and Calculator; the handiest book you ever saw; money back if wanted.—E. C. Foster, Assumption, Ill.

Something to Sell?

Try a Want Ad. in The Times, only

5 Cts per Line

The Baldwin Piano

(Grands and Uprights)

received the Grand Prix (the very highest award) at the great International Exposition in Paris—an honor coveted by all manufacturers of the world, but which has never been bestowed upon any American piano except the Baldwin.

M. M. Magner

When you know a news item call up the Times.

Tell Your Painter to Use

Ready-for-Use Paint

YOU are paying your painter to paint; not to mix paint. Science and experience have demonstrated that machines can do the mixing more thoroughly than the hand, and the maker's name on the can is safer than the use of unknown ingredients and varying skill.

Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint

is machine mixed—ready-for-use. The supreme result of over a third of a century of paint "know how." The "Little Blue Flag" on the can stands for quality in an entire line of paint products for every purpose—Floor paint, stains, enamels, varnishes, Mellotone for interior surfaces. Ask about them.

G. A. PABST

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA.
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

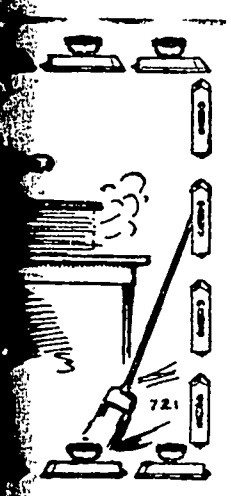
W. F. MISSMA
Physician and Surg
Office Phone No. 11-02
Residence No. 11 03
Office and residence in the State Sav. Bank building
Eyes Tested Glasses

J. E. BAUMGARTN
The Tonsorial Artist
Will give you an easy shave or hair cut.
2nd door west of State Savings
Call in

...RSONS
...TIST
...Savings Bank.
...No. 43.
...Iowa

...E. A. Bredlow
...dlow & Son
...rs of
...Bred
...dom Cattle
...ding Stock
...Garner, Iowa

...Gravel
...load, cash,
...ays, after
...load, All
...rictly cash.
...riffen,
...ne, Iowa.



...YS BUSY!
...g Business!
...too busy to
...nd Press
...nts,
...s to Extend
...vitation to
...d Inspect
...hods.
...ervice
...Dress Club
...RNER, IOWA

...ment man like a w...

...and chops for a

...u Have
...e, Life Sus-
...th Giving
...T
...Really Need
...! The
...d Frills
...ght
...terhouse!

BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	50 56
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	8.00 to 8.10
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000 · Population in 1915

Twenty residence lots for sale.—Ed. G. Ell.

See Roy Newman for horse clipping.

Oscar Musfelt went to Estherville, today.

Frank Schuldt was down from Garner, today.

Herman Coobs was a Mason City visitor, Monday.

Both of the elevators are shelling corn this week.

FOR SALE;—Two good work horses. C. W, Wiles.

Hugo Neff was a Mason City visitor, Monday and Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Howdeshell were Garner visitors, Saturday.

FOR SALE —Two good residence lots. Enquire of C. W. Wiles.

5 good residence lots on main street for sale. Inquire of C. F. Busch.

W. R Bloom and P. M. Griesemer were Mason City visitors, Friday.

A D Gimer went to Estherville today, to look after land interests.

Gus. P. Baack left for Sidney, North Dakota. Wednesday, on a business mission.

Miss Hattie Yahnke of Buffalo Center is here visiting relatives and friends.

Frank Kluckhohn and Frank Terhufen returned from Swea City, Wednesday evening.

Don't forget the Declamatory Contest tomorrow (Friday eve) Read program on first page.

Harry Bonwell left this morning for Alshua, for a short visit at the home of his parents.

Mrs. Weilland of Hayfield is here this week visiting her son. John and the Tom Blank family.

Mrs. W. F. Missman visited at the home of her parents in Belmond several days this week.

Mrs. C. Quandt and children came from Belmond Tuesday, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Blank.

August Arvidson and Wm Buchman departed Monday evening for Austin, Minnesota on a business mission.

A. F. Hubbard and family enjoyed a visit from his father and mother and sister of Clear Lake Friday and Saturday.

Mr and Mrs. Ben Swalve returned from a visit with relatives and friends Sat. at Ackley, Wellsburg and Eldora.

C. E. Gibbs visited several points in Nebraska last week looking for pure bred stock for the Sterling Stock farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Donath returned to their home at Garner, Tuesday. after a few days visit at the Mrs. George Schroeder home.

Swea City will add over a mile of water mains to their water works system this year. Swea City is one of the live towns on this branch of the Rock Island.

Now is the time to rod your buildings while the Sun is shining. We sell the famous Dodd and Struthers Lightning Rods.

Henry Lau and Son.

Twenty residence lots for sale.—Ed. G. Ell.

FOR SALE:—New Galloway Hay Stacker, Tower cultivator. and 6 ft. Deering binder in good condition. Cal Newman.

Sell your farm at $125 per acre and buy Oregon farm land at $25 per acre from the Central Land Co., 211 So. Dearborn St., Chicago. Send for circulars.

Dont forget that A. C. Kelly from Minneapolis will be in Klemme at Elder's Hotel Friday April 24 to examine eyes and fit spectacles and eye glasses and return every sixty days.

Put your horse up in the collar not with whip, but with Dr Hess and Clark stock tonic. $1 75 per pail. No premiums to pay for, you get full value in stock food.

G A. Pabst.

Oscar Swanson shipped two of his fine male Chester White hogs to Mr. Browning at Pine City, Minnesota, and to Mr. Fjeld at Forest City. Mr Swanson has a very fine herd of Chester Whites.

The dance last Friday was well attended and a general good time was reported. Another dance will be held on Friday evening, May 1st. All who enjoy the light fantastic should plan to attend.

The Northern Lumber Co. are raising the roof on their west shed several feet which will give a great deal of extra storage space for lumber They are preparing for the biggest business in their career.

The Ridder Auto Co report the following sales for this week: Eiko Buss a Buick. N. G. Moberly and Albert Fuller, Fords. Last week we should have said Ben Nieman purchased a Buick instead of a Ford.

SPECIAL SALE on all of our Pretty Ready Trimmed Hats Friday and Saturday May 1st, and 2nd. We will allow a 10 percent discount on above dates,

Yours to please,
Mrs. John Josten

The Meservey Register states that they are prospering more than any community that they know of. We ar afraid that you stick pretty close to Meservey. Brother Smith If you wish to see a real live town just drive over our way.

Dr. R W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you.

The Idle Hour

Motion Pictures
Every
Saturday Night
Promptly at 8:30

PROGRAM
Saturday
April 25th

BOOBS AND BRICKS
AMERCAN IN THE MAKING
TEMPERMENTAL ALICE

Admission: 10 and 15 cents

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

Buy The Best

Your repair bills will be less in the future if you use the best material to be had in your work this Spring, and that is the ONLY kind we sell. Make us prove it. And do it NOW

How About That Range?

We have sold a number of the famous Monarch Ranges and we would be pleased to tell you of its many superior points.

We have the most complete line of Aluminum Ware in town and every piece is sold with a 20 year guarantee ann it is also priced within the reach of all.

We are prepared to do any kind of tin or repair work. If you need any eave spouting, come and get our price.

WE SELL THE Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

C. W. WILES

THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

SOMETHING TO EAT?

No season of the year perplexes the housewife more in search for palatable foods than the present one—too early to depend on the garden, and you're tired of winter's heavy, heating solids

OUR STORE WILL AID YOU

It's shelves are loaded with new arrivals for the spring and summer tables—bring your worries to us And watch for the first snipments of new garden stuff It's almost due and, as usual, we'll have it first.

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store

Hello There! What's The Matter?

We would like to call the attention of both our old and new customers, we don't like to see a single one go estray away to another town and think of buying goods cheaper than you can of us.

It is the grade that counts in price. You will not sell a $200.00 horse at $100 00, would you? We sell all kinds of machinery the Wood Bros. Silo, with a number one Hinge Door. Also other doors can be had cheaper and the price will be right. We will also sell the J. I. Case Threshers and Engines they are number one goods, also the Post Huron Line of goods.

We sell the Flying Dutchman Spreader, the best to date. Also Rock Island, Hayes, Sattley and the J. D. Tower goods Five kinds of Gasoline Engines, Letz Grinders. Harrows, Acme Harvesters. Mowers and Rakes. The new Adriance Corn Harvester and Mowers.

Metz Automobiles, Motorcycles, Hand and Power Washers, Dodd & Struthers' Lightning Rods, the best yet. Lots of other articles.

Call and See Us at our Old Shack,

HENRY LAU & SON

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Throughout the south there are great areas of land where forests of white pine once stood, of which nothing remains but the stumps. There is a great deal of wood in these stumps, and many efforts have been made recently to make use of this material. There is now in operation at Slidell, La., a plant designed to extract the valuable elements from these stumps, and it is said to be the most successful effort of the kind that has ever been made. The tar, cresote, pine oil, turpine and charcoal made from a ton of stumps have market valuation of $14 20, recovered at a total cost of $7. The process followed is a combination of both steam and destructive distillation.

Governor Hodges, of Kansas, is reported as the author of a Roosevelt-Wilson comparison that has decided picturesqueness. He says "If Mr Roosevelt should meet a lion in the road he would shoot it through several times, draw his sword and thrust it through at least three times, take it by the tail and drag it to town and say 'Here it is, boys.' If Wilson should meet a lion in the road he would make up with it, pat it on the back, jump on it and ride it into town and say, 'Here it is boys.'"

Something altogether new in horticulture has been successfully tried in New Orleans where a tree was cut off at the roots and planted in the middle of the city for a Christmas tree last winter. Recently it was proposed to make it permanent. The roots were grafted to the stump, and an electrical current kept running up the tree through the roots, to start the sap. The tree joined and grew and is perfectly healthy at the present time.

At last reports there were in Alaska 38,476 reindeer with an average valuation of $25 each. There are 54 herds, and nearly 65 per cent of the animals are owned by the natives. The remainder are the property of the United States government and the Lapps who brought the animals into the Alaskan country. The income from these animals, exclusive of the meat and skin, which are made use of by the owners themselves, was $44,885.

California inspectors in San Francisco have found a new canker disease on chestnut trees recently imported from Japan. According to Dr. Haven Metcalf, the government's expert on such disease this appears to be of the same type as the chestnut blight which is ravaging the forests of the eastern United States and it is possible that the new disease would be equally as destructive if it became established in this country.

The United States experts use box kites in many meteorological experiments, but have hitherto found difficulty in transporting them across the country from one station to another by reason of their shape and size. A novel type has been devised which, by cutting a few strings and loosening four bolts, permits the kite to be knocked down into flat, compact form, very much like a collapsible box or carton.

Caleb Chapman, a gypsy, acts as instructor to a basket making class at Bushbridge, near Goldalming, Eng., which has been established to revive a village industry and is attended by 34 men and women. Chapman never takes off his hat while teaching and sits on a chair without a back. He lives in a tent at Forest Green, and walks 12 miles to Busbridge every week to attend to his class.

Between the Canadian wireless station at Glace bay, Nova Scotia, and the United Kingdom an immense volume of press communication is carried on. Much of the news from London and from the continent of Europe which is printed in newspapers of the United States and Canada is sent by wireless to Glace bay and relayed by cable or overland telegraph to New York and other large centers.

The lowest pedal stop in existence has just been installed in a Lowell, Mass., church. It is 128 feet long, and gives a note technically known as CCCCC, vibrating only four times a second. The sound is so soft that it can hardly be heard and yet so strong that it prevails against the heaviest chords.

The epitaph on the tombstone of Dr. Rees Bronant, in Gardiganshire, Great Britain, sets out the following facts in Welsh. He christened 1,496 children, he buried 1,792 persons, he preached 8,000 sermons, he spoke 271 times on total abstinenece, he paid hundreds of pounds of chapel debts by lectures.

It is stated that more than 30 egg "circles" have been established in the Cape province with the object of promoting an egg industry equal to supplying the South African market and even to create an export trade. At present South Africa imports eggs to the value of $35,000.

Almost a century of service for one firm is the record established by the Schmidt family, of Chicago. Since 1857 one, two or three members of the family have been in the employ of the firm continuously, while the aggregate term of three is 98 years.

This winter for the first time in 19 years ice in the Seine river, France, has interfered with the movements of shipping at Rouen and caused an interruption in the immense barge traffic to Paris.

After 33 years of continuous service as a trustee of Columbia university Seth Low has resigned. For 10 years of this period, from 1890 to 1900, Mr. Low was president of the university.

Ants have been found in Dalmantia that actually make bread by chewing seeds into pulp, forming it in loaves, baking them in the sun and then storing them away for future use.

Nothwithstanding two decrees by the local Italian government in Tripoli ordering the Arabs to return and cultivate the gardens in the oasis about Tripoli, only a few have responded.

England received more than $1,000,000 in taxes from the vast estate left by Mrs. Elizabeth Easton, who died recently in Yorkshire at the age of 95.

GOLDEN IMAGE OF FROG WARDED OFF SHOT, SAYS MAYOR

New York, April 20.—Michael P. Mahoney, the gray haired crank, who yesterday attempted to assassinate Mayor Mitchel and in so doing wounded Frank L. Polk, corporation counsel, was arraigned in the Tombs police court today on a charge of attempted murder in the first degree. He was held in $25,000 bail for the action of the grand jury.

When the amount of the bail was anounced by Magistrate Simms, Mahoney smiled broadly and said: "Why not boost it a little. The more the merrier."

Mr. Polk was resting quietly at the New York hospital today. Surgeons expect he will recover rapidly if no complications develope. He spent a comfortable night and seemed to be greatly refreshed today.

Before his arraignment Mahoney was taken to police headquarters, where 250 detectives all masked, looked him over." None of them was positive he had ever seen the man before.

New York, April 20.—Mayor Purroy Mitchel, who narrowly escaped an assassin's bullet yesterday, thinks a talisman given him when in Costa Rica brings him good luck.

While thus expressing himself to friends last night, Mr. Mitchel displayed a little gold image of a frog, about an inch and a quarter long, which he carries with his knife on one end of his watch chain. It is one of those small gold tokens that are dug out of old graves all through Central America and usually sold to tourists.

"When this was given me," said the mayor "I was told that it would always bring me good luck. I believe it has."

The arraignment today on a charge of assault with intent to kill of Michael P. Mahoney who first gave his name as David Rose to whose erring aim Mayor John Purroy Mitchel owes his life, marked the first move in the program outlined by District Attorney Charles Whitman for trial.

On Monday Mr. Whitman will present the case to the grand jury and an immediate indictment is expected, making its possible to bring Mahoney before a supreme court justice for trial at an early date. Mahoney faces a possible prison sentence of 20 years, but should he be adjudged insane he will be committed to an asylum for the criminal insane.

Frank L. Polk, corporation counsel, who was struck in the jaw by the bullet intended for the mayor, spent a restless night and suffered much pain. The bullet was removed last night and the patient is expected to recover rapidly. His physicians announced today that he would be able to leave the hospital within two days and, after a rest of two weeks, be able to resume his official duties.

From the many incoherent letters written by Mahoney in which he attacked the official acts of Mayor Mitchel, of this city, of Mayor Armstrong, of Pittsburgh, and of Colonel Goethals, governor of the Panama canal zone and, after a two hours' study of the aged man District Attorney Whitman expressed the opinion that Mahoney was of the 'embittered and sodden type of hobo.'

Mr. Whitman said that while the best course might be to have Mahoney confined in an asylum, the mayor and Mr. Polk must be consulted before a final decision is reached.

The attempted assassination caused Commissioner Arthur Woods to assign a secret service squad of eight men under command of a police captain to guard Mayor Mitchel. The commissioner had ordered that the mayor be guarded day and night.

Mayor Mitchel after seeing that Mr. Polk was made as comfortable as possible at the New York hospital, returned to his office and finished the day there as customary. Last night he attended a dinner at the New York Press club where he told the members of that organization that he had expected some such happenings as the act of Mahoney but that it does seem unfair that anyone else should have to take the consequences of the hazard that properly belongs to me."

The mayor went on to say that he did not believe the attack on him to be due to the concerted action of a group of agitators. He believed, confidently, he said that we have not come to that point in this city or in this country and that we never will, where things of that kind are the result of concerted action by any group. When such a thing as that does happen it is the product of the disordered brain of some unfortunate individual—the man who does not think straight, who warps the facts that he partly gathers from the daily press in regard to action of a government."

Says He Was Insulted.

To Police Captain Thomas Tunney, the mayor's assailant told the story of his life, a story that was confirmed by entries in his diary and which gave little ground for a belief that Mahoney acted under commands from another. He told Captain Tunney that he had called at the city hall to remonstrate with Mayor Mitchel and had been "insulted" there. "I then decided to kill him," he said. "I went down to the city hall, Wednesday, with the intention of killing him then, but I cooled off. Today (Friday) I went down there again with the intention of finishing the job."

The prisoner then told of waiting from 10 o'clock until the mayor and his party started to enter their automobile shortly after 1 o'clock, and how he stood barely five feet from the object of his hatred when he fired. He expressed regret that he had attempted to take Mayor Mitchel's life and was particularly sorry that the bullet had hit Mr. Polk.

Last Wednesday, Mahoney left his room in East Fiftieth street which he had occupied since last November. He told his landlady that he had a chance for a job as a carpenter in Pittsburgh. Instead, he went to a Bowery lodging house, where he registered under the name of James Mahan.

Mahoney was born on March 17, 1842, near Cork, Ireland. He came to this country about 60 years ago, but could not recall the exact date. His wanderings about the country began, he said, soon after he lost a suit for damages against a man who sold him a farm in Kentucky, because there was no fence about the property. Because he could not or would not pay the costs of the suit the property was foreclosed and sold for much less than its value. This was in 1888.

IOWA STATE NEWS.

DENNISON—The voters of Dennison have voted to buy or errect a municipal lighting plant. On this votes the council entered into an agreement with the local company to buy the plant at a valuation to be agreed upon by three experts, action to be taken within 30 days of the filing of the experts' report. Over two weeks ago two of these reported the value at $30,000. Professor Hill, of Iowa City, the city's choice as expert, dissented, setting the value at some $18,000 and scoring the company for not giving him full information. The council has not decided what is best to do, and in the meantime the 30 day limit is nearing an end, after which the city can be sued for breach of agreement.

ORANGE CITY—Mrs. Louise H. Campbell, of the Iowa State college at Ames, is meeting with an enthusiastic reception from the women of this place, where she is conducting a course in domestic science under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the American Reformed church. Over 100 women have joined the class, which will hold its final session Friday. Cooking was the subject of Mrs. Campbell's lecture Monday. "House Decoration and Dress," was discussed today and tomorrow there will be a talk upon "Home Nursing." Gentlemen will be invited to the final lecture on Friday to hear Mrs. Campbell talk upon "Home Management and the Care of Children."

IDA GROVE—Mrs. Mary Julia Jacobs died at her home in this city Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, having reached the ripe old age of 86 years. With her death, and that of Mrs. Betsy Cubbage and George Haun, they having lived to be 81 and 83 years respectively, it makes a combined age of 250 years. Mrs. Jacobs had lived continuously in one home in this community for 36 years. She leaves a number of children, and grand children only two of whom live here. No date has been set for the funeral.

IRETON—Programs have been issued for the annual convention of the Sioux City Sunday School association, which meets for a two days' session at Ireton April 30 and May 1. Besides a number of ministers and Sunday school workers of the county who appear on the program, W. D. Stem, of Des Moines, secretary of the state association, will be present and deliver several addresses. Hon. Anthony Te Paske, of Sioux Center, will deliver the closing address.

MASON CITY—The supervisors of Cerro Gordo county has put the highest mark on permanent bridge building than ever before. During the summer months they expect to construct 250. This will be 57 more bridges than were built one year ago. The bridges will all be built of concrete. Two of the bridges to be constructed in this city, are very large ones one spanning Willow and one spanning Lime river. Several years ago the supervisors decided that cement was the only material to use both in the construction of bridges and culverts.

DENISON—It now seems probable that no one from Crawford county will stand at the primary for republican nominee for state senator in the district made up of Harrison, Monona and Crawford, and now represented by Senator Crow, of Mapleton. Mr. Klinker late county attorney here, has been spoken of, but it is now understood that the field will be left open to Dewell or Harrison, or someone from the counties other than Crawford, which has had the nominee many times before.

CORNING—The death here of Banker W. W. Runyan is largely attributed by friends to the worry and excitement resulting from the elopement of his daughter Miss Grace Runyan, and Earl Jones some months ago. Mr. Runyan's name was associated with this escapade in such a manner as to bring him into great prominence and his friends declare he grieved greatly. Miss Runyan who has been in the east only recently returned.

MASON CITY—By a deal closed here, 2,500 acres of Cerro Gordo county land that had never had a plow set in it changes hands. The land was owned by the Thomas M. Howe estate and was bought in the early days for $5 per acre. Local capitalists are the purchasers. The aggregate price is $187,500. Much of the land is close to Mason City and is entirely unimproved.

MASON CITY—Mason City schools will have no athletic director this year according to the decision of the board of education. There will be no superintendent of the school but a grammar school superintendent will take care of all grade work and be responsible to the board while the high school principal will be responsible for the work in the high school.

IRETON—Mrs. Mary Otkin, the proprietress of Hotel Ireton, was united in marriage Thursday to J. R. Bratcher, a former business man of Ireton. Mr. Bratcher formerly had charge of the Slagle elevator and left here last fall. Mr. and Mrs. Bratcher left on the evening train for a honeymoon trip.

CENTERVILLE—James Euwer, aged 23, in an insane frenzy Friday took a knife and mutilated his own face almost beyond recognition. He began slashing himself near his own home, and threatened with his knife neighbors who approached. He was captured by the police after a desperate struggle.

DUBUQUE—A warrant has been sworn out for Emery D. Faatz, aged 28, a trusted driver for the Wells Fargo Express company, who has been missing two days. Eight hundred and twenty-five dollars, $500 of which was in silver dollars and weighed 30 pounds, also is missing.

LOGAN—While on the roof of a building on the E. O. Gunnett farm seven miles southeast of Logan, John Kimplell of Council Bluffs fell and received two broken ribs and a ruptured blood vessel. He was taken to Council Bluffs for treatment.

LEMARS—George Adler, a 19-year-old youth, was precipitated from a barn roof when a scaffold broke while he was engaged in painting. He alighted feet first, and the ligaments in his legs were badly torn and he suffered internal hurts.

IOWA CITY—The new Masonic temple in Iowa City is pronounced completed and will be taken possession of at once by the Masonic order. The dedication services will be held in May. The building was erected at a cost of $35,000.

LEMARS—The Baptists of LeMars will build a new church this year on the site now occupied by an old wooden church.

FAMOUS IOWA WOMAN DIES IN A SANATORIUM FROM HEART TROUBLE

Was Only Woman Insurance President in America—Was Rated Unusually Shrewd.

Des Moines, Ia., April 20.—Mrs. Charles E. Rawson, president of the Des Moines Life Insurance company prior to its sale to a Chicago company, and at that time the only woman in the world to hold such a position, died suddenly last night at a sanatorium in Nevada, Mo., of heart trouble.

Mrs. Rawson had been prominent in insurance affairs in Iowa for many years. She was Miss Louise Benson of Storm Lake, prior to her marriage to the late Mr. Rawson some 20 years ago.

Mrs. Rawson figured prominently in court a few months ago in a suit resulting from the sale of the Des Moines Life. Arthur Reynolds, of Des Moines, president of the American Bankers' association asked damages of $40,000, alleging that she had misrepresented the facts to him. Mrs. Rawson, according to testimony, cleared $600,000 out of the deal.

ARGUMENTS PRESENTED ON STERILIZATION MEASURE

Keokuk, Ia., April 20.—Arguments on the constitutionality of the Iowa law imposing the operation of the vasectomy on prisoners in Iowa penitentiaries twice convicted of a felony were presented yesterday to Circuit Judge Walter J. Smith. Judge John C. Pollock, of Kansas, and Judge Smith McPherson, of Iowa, sitting in the federal court.

Although admitting that the law did not apply to any prisoner now in Iowa prisons and advising the court that the Iowa board of parole has recinded its order of sterilization, Attorney General Cosson, in his arguments, asserted he had no objection to an injunction being issued against the board of parole and the warden and physician of the Fort Madison prison to present them from performing vasectomy on the complainants, but he did not want a decision upon the constitutionality of the act.

Attorney George B. Stewart, representing 23 convicts in the Fort Madison prison insisted that an injunction should be issued.

TEACHERS DESIGNATED FOR LEMARS SCHOOLS

LeMars, April 20.—The following teachers have been secured for next year in the LeMars schools: Mary Mourning Paul Sheeks, Dora Reese, R. M. Altwooll, Jeannette McClintock, Ola L. Chew, Nermia Fellows, Elsie Newell, Ethel Bryant, Ethel Lyon, Frances Crouch Leonora Kriege, Lyda Farrell, Edith Harrington, Anna Pollock, Katherine Farrell, Hazel Mix, Bridget McDonnell, Josephine Winslow, Meda Gallagher, Bernice Laux, Katherine Boehmke, Selma Bartels. There are four vacancies yet to be filled.

MINERS VOTE TO ADOPT FORMER SCALE OF WAGES

Albia, Ia., April 20.—Returns announced here in the referendum vote taken by the miners of district 13 on the proposal of the national policy committee to accept the old wage scale indicated that the proposition met with the favor of Iowa and Missouri miners. The vote in 69 of the 86 locals resulted in a majority of approximately 2,500 for the committee's plan, and it is not believed that this will be lowered when the scattering returns are received. It will require a week's time to secure the official votes when this is announced. The joint wage scale conference will be resumed in Des Moines with every likelihood of a speedy settlement of the disagreement over working conditions as both sides are said to be desirous of entering into a harmonious contract for the year. The call for the resumption of the conference is expected next week.

MINISTER DECLARES PROHIBITION IS WRONG

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 20.—The Rev. J. H. Lindemeyer, who was ruled out of the ministerial association because he signed the saloon consent petition, has answered his critics in a vigorous style and at length. He says he has made a study of prohibition and challenges proof that it is not morally and economically wrong. He also accuses some of the members of the ministerial association of being false prophets and says "Some of these men, instead of preaching the law and the gospel, the atonement, sin and grace, ruin and redemption, lecture on literary, political and social or economic subjects, thereby proving that they are ashamed of the gospel."

AUDUBON COUNTY BOY KILLED UNDER DISC PLOW

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 20.—John Beck, aged 16 son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beck, of Audubon mutilated by a disc plow which he was operating. The young man had the lines wrapped about him and when the team ran away he was pulled from the seat in front of the disc. In this position the horses dragged the lad across a 40-acre field and the body was not released until the lines had been cut by the wheels.

The lad had assumed charge of the farm, his father being seriously ill from typhoid fever.

FIRST DEFENSE WITNESS DISCREDITED BY STATE

Dubuque, Ia., April 20.—The defense in the Dora Brazzell case commenced the introduction of testimony yesterday. John Wiedershied, star witness for the accused woman, testified he saw Charles Brazzell, the murdered man, on Tuesday, January 20, the day after the state holds the murder was committed by the wife.

Later in the day Wiedershied was recalled for recross examination and admitted he had served time from Jackson county for forgery. He previously testified he had never been in trouble. It is possible the defense will conclude its testimony today.

SALE OF COOK [illegible] DRAWS 1,000 BU[illegible] FROM MIDDLE ST[illegible]

Only M[illegible]dium Prices Se[illegible] Thoroughbred Stock of Buyers and Pr[illegible]

Odebolt, Ia., Apr[illegible] sion sale of the fa[illegible] Brookmont farm H[illegible] at the sale pavilion a[illegible] six miles north of [illegible] yesterday. It is est[illegible] persons were pres[illegible] coming from distan[illegible]

Buyers were report[illegible] Canada, Texas, Mis[illegible] Indiana, Illinois, Mon[illegible] other distant states a[illegible] nent among the b[illegible] Powell, of Guthrie [illegible] bought the first Here[illegible] the Cook ranch of [illegible] now $250 land, pay[illegible] and $400 cash each for cows.

Sixty-one lots were disp[illegible] the opening session, inc[illegible] mous bull. Genero[illegible] owner had previously [illegible] bid, and which went to [illegible] Norway, Ia., for $[illegible] way, of Illinois, and Ty[illegible] S. D., remained in [illegible] the $900 mark was passed.

NEW YORK WINE DEALER DIES FROM SHEER [illegible]

Burlington, Ia., April [illegible] Leone, a wine merchant, w[illegible] is at 260 West T[illegible] York, died at a hospital [illegible] night as the result of a [illegible] he appears to have rece[illegible] traveling in California a t[illegible] He rushed into the Burl[illegible] station late last n[illegible] de[illegible] men were pursuing him w[illegible] knife. He was trave[illegible] ne on Fe train, he said, from [illegible] he was accosted by [illegible] who said if he did not [illegible] their wine busin[illegible] him. In order to a[illegible] the train at Fort Mad[illegible] sought a hotel there. He ha[illegible] registered when he was stricken to see one of the [illegible] the hotel. He fled to the [illegible] in Fort Madison and asked [illegible] tion. A taxicab was ordered which brought him to [illegible] some 20 miles. He there [illegible] and then collapsed, being [illegible] hospital.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY MAY BE CALLED TO PROVE [illegible]

Council Bluffs, Ia., Apr[illegible] lowing a rigid examinatio[illegible] election frauds here, con[illegible] Wiley S. Rankin of Mason [illegible] ant attorney general, a furth[illegible] gation is now being made [illegible] Attorney Frank H. Capell [illegible] T. P. Lindsey, and there [illegible] that the inquiry has progre[illegible] to the point where a spec[illegible] jury will be called.

Affidavits have been tak[illegible] score, both on behalf of the prosecutions of the men engag[illegible] buying and selling of votes, [illegible] defense. It so happens that [illegible] of fraud in this particular [illegible] are directed almost entirely [illegible] democratic candidates and [illegible] friends of the accused men—[illegible] ber some of the most [illegible] politically in southwestern [illegible] crying that it is a partisa[illegible] Some of their affidavits [illegible] refer to some pretty sh[illegible] actions by republican can[illegible]

WITNESS TELLS OF MEN CALLING ON MRS. BR[illegible]

Dubuque, Ia., Apr[illegible] yesterday started weaving the guilt about Mrs. D[illegible] trial in the district court o[illegible] of murdering her husband Brazzell, motorman. Fred [illegible] ductor, was an important w[illegible] testified he was one of the [illegible] ter the Brazzell home when [illegible] was discovered and swore [illegible] woman's bloody handkerchief bed when he entered, but [illegible] appeared. The state made [illegible] on Mrs. Brazzell's character. Mike Feyen swore that he [illegible] men callers entering the [illegible] Brazzell was not at home.

To refute the claim of Mrs. [illegible] that she had been summoned [illegible] City by the illness of her [illegible] Miss Minnie Cushman, a teache[illegible] public schools there, the stat[illegible] placed Supt. W. J. Hunt on [illegible] ness stand. He testified Miss [illegible] man had not been ill and was [illegible] a class when her mother [illegible] school hours. He said her gre[illegible] cold and surprise marked her [illegible] ter's countenance as the mo[illegible] peared.

OFFICEHOLDERS LIBERAL TO CAMPAIGN MA[illegible]

Des Moines, Ia., April [illegible] checks of $200 each were sent [illegible] publican state central committe[illegible] from the state house as a fund [illegible] the committee headquarters [illegible] June primaries. Officeholders [illegible] sponding somewhat liberally [illegible] mittee reports, and it hopes to [illegible] enough to keep the headquarters [illegible] during the primary campaign [illegible] the men who are nominated will [illegible] pected to contribute to the fu[illegible] call for money is rather early [illegible] owing to the fact that the co[illegible] feels the necessity of doing [illegible] able work this spring.

The donations are averaging [illegible] 3 per cent of the salary of the [illegible] holders. Several candidates [illegible] ported to be building machines [illegible] own, in addition to contributing [illegible] thing to the republican comm[illegible]

ARRESTED AT HUMBOLDT FOR CRIME IN C[illegible]

Humboldt, Ia., April 18.—A [illegible] gave the name of James Nolan [illegible] rested here today charged [illegible] murder of a homesteader near [illegible] Can., last March. Canadian [illegible] had been trailing the man since [illegible] 9, following the finding of the [illegible] steader's body.

Nolan was taken from a tr[illegible] this afternoon on his way [illegible] Dodge with his wife and little [illegible] ter. Trunks in the man's po[illegible] were searched, but nothing was [illegible] to throw further light on [illegible] Nolan broke down and begged [illegible] returned to Canada.

ROYAL MEN [illegible] COXEY'S BRIGADE

"General" Having Trouble in Keeping "Army," After Getting Recruits.

[illegible] Ohio, April 18.—Fifteen [illegible] made up "Gen." Jacob S [illegible] "army" of unemployed when it [illegible] for the village of Osnaburg six [illegible] today. A large crowd saw [illegible] "general's" aides assemble the [illegible] to make the start on the second [illegible] of the pilgrimage to Washington. A corps of five fifers, organized by Lieut. Paul Anderson, followed [illegible]-year-old David Coxey, the "general's" son and courier of the "army" who [illegible] the line of march on his pony [illegible]. Wilson, of Rockdale, Pa., [illegible] decided not to march to [illegible] but took an interurban car [illegible] to meet the "general" in [illegible].

[illegible] Anderson, the "army" recruiting officer, last night and early today visited the brick yards and railroad [illegible] near Canton in an effort [illegible] recruits. He gave out [illegible] of 18 men who had agreed [illegible], but only 15 appeared. [illegible] members of the "army" [illegible] benches or on the floor in [illegible] last night. "General" [illegible] his son were quartered at a [illegible]. The "general's" mule was [illegible] every barn.

[illegible] the meager proportions [illegible] army." Coxey says he has no [illegible] giving up the march.

SHOT AT YORK MAYOR, STRIKES ANOTHER

[illegible] April 18.—An assassin's [illegible] at Mayor Mitchel, as he [illegible] the city hall in an auto- [illegible] for luncheon, missed its [illegible] wounded Frank Polk, [illegible] counsel. The man who [illegible] was instantly overpow- [illegible] He is David Rose, his age [illegible] he gave evidences of [illegible] unbalanced.

[illegible] crashed through Mr. [illegible] knocking out nearly all [illegible] and inflicting a serious [illegible] necessarily fatal wound. [illegible] into the city hall, then [illegible] hospital.

[illegible] was hit by the bullet, but [illegible] undoubtedly intended [illegible] Mayor Mitchel's com- [illegible].

[illegible] the city hall said that [illegible] to see the mayor sev- [illegible]ely, but because of his [illegible] had not been permitted [illegible].

[illegible] ambulance surgeon was [illegible] Polk's wound, Rose was [illegible] the mayor and a score [illegible]. He refused to answer [illegible] about himself. Two [illegible]sed to Mayor Mitchel [illegible] his clothing.

[illegible] occurred at the Park [illegible] to the city hall plaza, [illegible]1 o'clock. At that time [illegible] Row is congested with [illegible]en and women on their [illegible]m luncheon.

Captures Rose.

[illegible]el, Police Commissioner [illegible] and Mr. Polk had just [illegible]'s office in the city hall [illegible]owntown restaurant for [illegible] three crossed the plaza [illegible] Row, where stood the [illegible]obile, driven by Detec- [illegible]Neun.

[illegible] got in first, Mr Polk and [illegible] Woods following in the [illegible]. As the mayor sat down, [illegible] through the crowd on [illegible] Row, and walking up to a point [illegible] the chauffeur, took quick aim [illegible] Mr. Mitchel and fired.

At the crack of the revolver, Neun [illegible]aped from the car onto the shoulders [illegible] the man and bore him to the side- [illegible]walk. This prevented him from pull- [illegible]ing the trigger of his revolver a sec- [illegible]ond time.

While the detective and Rose were [illegible]struggling on the sidewalk, the former [illegible] to get possession of the re- [illegible]volver, Mr. Polk staggered and was [illegible]ved from sinking to the sidewalk by [illegible] mayor.

Blood was spurting from the mouth [illegible] the prosecution counsel and he was [illegible] carried to the police station in [illegible] basement of the city hall, where [illegible] attended him as best they [illegible] first aid material, pending [illegible] arrival of surgeons.

[illegible] A policeman standing a few feet [illegible] automobile, blew his whistle [illegible] as he saw Mr. Polk stagger. [illegible] policemen he assisted the [illegible] detective in holding Rose. [illegible] the would-be assassin into [illegible] basement, where he was [illegible] in a room adjoining that [illegible] Mr. Polk was being treated [illegible] Mitchell came in and stood [illegible] prisoner. Rose was trembling [illegible] and his hands shook.

Refuses to Explain.

"Why did you shoot at me?" the [illegible] him.

[illegible] mumbled. "I won't say [illegible]," he finally shouted.

[illegible] detectives had put question af- [illegible] to him, he said, his name [illegible]." When his clothing was [illegible]. However, it was found that [illegible] and trousers both bore the [illegible] Rose." The man was [illegible]. When asked where he [illegible] he had no home.

The questioning was still in prog- [illegible] when Mr. Polk was removed to [illegible] hospital. His face, chin [illegible] bandaged and blood was [illegible] pouring from his mouth when he [illegible] the ambulance. A surgeon said [illegible] all his lower teeth had [illegible] out and that the jaw [illegible] pierced in two places.

In the prisoner's pockets were two or [illegible] three letters and a newspaper clipping [illegible] relating to the Goethals police bills. [illegible] One of the letters was a brief one, in [illegible] an envelope stamped and addressed to [illegible] "Mayor [illegible]ong, Pittsburgh, Pa." It [illegible] was dated [illegible]14, and read:

"[illegible] You have done your [illegible] part [illegible] will soon pay. We will [illegible] do our [illegible] and you will see what part [illegible] will [illegible].

The letter was unsigned.

Wrote Threatening Letter.

[illegible] A long rambling letter on the general [illegible] subject of Mayor Mitchel's record on [illegible] the police question began:

"Mitchel, You never lost some of your old tricks, and you never will."

A great crowd surrounded the city hall, while Mr. Polk and Rose were inside. Several morbidly curious in the crowd picked up teeth that had been knocked from Mr Polk's mouth and had fallen on the running board of the machine.

At the New York hospital, after a more detailed examination, it was said that Mr Polk's injury would not prove fatal.

"Mr. Polk is conscious," said a bulletin given out at the hospital at 2:30 o'clock. "He is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances."

HINDUS WOULD FORCE SELVES INTO CANADA

Shipload of Mongolians Enroute to British Columbia, Following Court Order.

Vancouver, B. C., April 18.—Determined to test the temper of British Columbia under the recent decision of the Canadian courts which held that as fellow subjects of the British crown, no province of the Dominion could bar East Indians, 400 Hindus are on their way across the Pacific.

Curitt Singh, a wealthy East Indian, it was learned today, has chartered the German steamer Komagata, which sailed from Shanghai April 14 with 200 Hindus and will take on more at Hong Kong and Nagasaki.

Feeling has become so acute that earlier this year British Columbia attempted to hold popular sentiment in check by putting a temporary embargo on immigration from whatever source, hoping that during the life of the embargo, some solution could be found.

The decision of the Canadian courts ran counter to this hope and the arrival of Komagata is awaited with considerable apprehension.

APARTMENT BLAZE CLAIMS 11 LIVES

New York, April 18.—A fire that swept through a five story apartment house at 741 Eighth avenue today claimed 11 victims and resulted in the serious injury of three others.

Only four of the bodies taken from a theatrical boarding house that occupied half of the building could be identified.

The identified dead are:

WILLIAM WALLACE, 46 years old.

MRS. NELLIE WALLACE, his wife.

MRS. NELLIE SPENCER, a cloak model.

MURIEL DAVIS, 3 years old.

MRS. GEORGE C. DAVIS, died in hospital.

The injured are.

Joseph Messer.

Martin Welsh.

Charles Burke.

The fire started in a pile of waste in the basement of a 5 and 10 cent store, which occupies the ground floor of the building. It spread rapidly up stairways and shut off escape. All of the dead and injured were taken from the rear rooms and halls, where they were caught while attempting to reach the roof.

One man was killed in trying to escape over roofs. The fire was under control in less than an hour, but in that time many thrilling rescues were made by the firemen working from ladders in front and from windows of a nearby tenement building.

Captain Smith, who was suspended by his feet from a window prevented Louis Boylan from being dashed to death when a ladder broke on which he was crawling from the burning building. Captain Smith seized Boylan and held on to him until both could be dragged to safety.

IMITATE BIRDS WITH NEW FLYING MACHINE

Paris, April 18.—A new type of flying machine the object of which is to enable a man to imitate birds in utilizing the wind to the exclusion of other motive power, was described at the congress of the society of savants. The invention is that of Dr. A. Magnan, and the flight it is intended to make is a kind of a continuous volplane.

After the manner of large birds, the apparatus is provided with a spreading tail and two tapering wings, the wings being so placed as to enable it to remain motionless. The control of the machine must be acquired by practice, as in the case of a bicycle. But it is admitted this will present great difficulty and less danger.

CRIMES ARE TRACED TO NEGRO SOLDIERS

Honolulu, April 18.—As the result of a series of burglaries, holdups and other lesser offenses, apparently committed by members of the Twenty-fifth infantry, colored, Major General Carter stated today that he will increase the provost guard and if necessary confine the entire regiment to barracks.

General Carter ascribes the trouble to the action of recruits. His determination to put an end to the series of petty crimes follows the third escape of Private Herman Lewis, who is facing cumulative sentences amounting to 80 years on charges of highway robbery. It is believed that Lewis has been able to effect his escapes through the connivance of fellow soldiers.

WILL ASK PRESIDENT TO PARDON IRON WORKERS

Kansas City, April 18.—At the convention of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor today, consideration of a resolution to lay the Illinois Central and Harriman line case before the industrial relations committee was the first business on the schedule. Other matters that was expected to be laid before the convention included a proposition to have the officers and delegates of the convention to sign a petition asking President Wilson to pardon the structural iron workers convicted at Indianapolis.

A course in real estate has been added to the curriculum of Western Reserve university.

BOY CLAIMED BY TWO WOMEN AS THEIR SON

Judge Must Emulate Solomon in Disposing of Kidnaped Child.

Opelousas, La., April 18.—Scores of women were waiting, today, at the doors of the St. Landry parish court house, where the state will attempt to forge the last link in its chain of evidence against W. C. Walters, on trial on the charge of kidnaping Robert Dunbar, 5 years old, and claimed by two women as their son.

Walters, an itinerant, was arrested in Mississippi with the boy in his possession. Mrs. C. R. Dunbar of Opelousas, identified the child as her son, who disappeared in 1912. Later, Julia Anderson, of North Carolina, claimed him as her offspring and said she had given him into Walters' possession.

INCENDIARY BLAZE FAILS TO CONCEAL DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Geddes, S. D., April 18.—W. H. Menzie, manager of the Farmers' Co-operative Lumber company in this city and Miss Blanche Signal, the firm's bookkeeper, were murdered in the lumber yard office some time Thursday night. The unknown assailant then set fire to the building and the structure was completely destroyed.

The charred remains of the man and woman were found in the fire ruins early this morning. The bodies were lying side by side and the hands and feet of both victims had been tied with wire. Miss Signal's skull had plainly been crushed with a claw hammer, which was found nearby. Mr Menzie's skull also had been fractured with some blunt instrument.

Theories of Crime.

Although the skull fractures in both cases were sufficient to have caused death, it is assumed that the murderer was not convinced that the blows had been effective and bound the victims to prevent any possibility of them regaining consciousness and making their escape from the fire.

While all sorts of theories and opinions are rife today around this city, which has been thrown into great excitement by the crime, there is very little of a substantial nature on which to base suspicion. Local sentiment is divided as to whether the motive was merely one of robbery or of revenge.

Advocates of the revenge theory allow their conjectures to cover a wide range of possibilities, with very little of a definite nature on which to base conclusion. Their theories revolve around these general propositions.

1. That the murder is the culmination of feelings aroused in the prosecution of the so-called lumber trust cases, in which Mr. Menzie was the chief complainant.

2. That it might have been a frenzied, jealous manifestation on the part of some man or woman.

Mr Menzie and Miss Signal were last seen alive about 8 o'clock last night, when they went to the office to work. A meeting of the company stockholders had been fixed for today and the manager and bookkeeper had a large amount of extra work in prospect in preparing a complete showing of the company affairs to submit at this meeting.

Company Involved.

The co-operative company had become heavily involved, a condition which the manager claimed was due to unfair competition by the old-line lumber companies. Arrangements had been completed to sell the entire property to a new company and the transfer of interests was scheduled for tomorrow, following the final meeting today of the stockholders, many of whom rushed to town from the country at news of the crime.

Although the county coroner and sheriff arrived here this morning to make an investigation of the crime, it is not certain that an inquest will be held until a little more time has been spent in the effort to line up a specific theory. The fire was discovered about 11:30 o'clock and the theory of the local authorities is that the murder was committed between 10 and 11 o'clock. It is supposed that the murderer lost no time in tying up the victims and firing the building after striking the fatal blows.

So far as known today no large sums of money had been kept about the building, such as would incite an attack of this kind. It is supposed, however, that the manager and bookkeeper did have the cash on hand before them in the process of checking up a final balance and the possibility is conceded that some individual, peering into the office window, might have been moved to the attack.

In connection with the robbery theory the killing of Miss Signal is taken to point to some local person. The view taken on this point is that a stranger would have been satisfied after felling the man and would naturally rely on intimidating the woman. On the other hand a local person, in fear of recognition, would have been inclined to kill the woman, as well.

On authority of the county officials a telegram was sent this morning for a detective from the Sioux City department. Assurances have been received of the assignment of a competent operative and the detective is said to be working on the case here this afternoon, althought his identity has been kept a secret here for obvious reasons.

Victims Are Prominent.

Mr. Menzie was about 50 years of age and of rather powerful physique, and the general belief is that he must have been taken entirely unaware. The coroner is making a detailed examination of the victims' wounds, with a view of formulating a theory as to their probable positions when attacked but has derived no definite opinions on that point.

The murdered man had been prominent in business and political affairs of Charles Mix county. For several years he was chairman of the democratic county central committee and he served three years as a member of the board of county commissioners, part of the time as chairman. He formerly lived on a farm near Wheeler, where he had extensive holdings. Mr. Menzie was one of the chief promoters of the co-operative lumber yard, established here about six years ago, and the understanding is that he lost considerable money in this venture.

Miss Signal lived in Geddes with her widowed mother and has been regarded as a young woman of splendid character. She was a faithful and competent employe for the lumber company and especially considerate of her mother, who is entirely prostrated today by the lumber office tragedy.

Local authorities late last night, following the fire, picked up three young fellows for investigation. All of these proved themselves to be farm hands in this community and they were released. No other strangers had been noticed about town.

The fire department had a hard fight, to save the string of five elevators, just across the street from the burning co-operative yard, but they managed to hold the loss to the one plant. It is estimated that the fire loss will amount to $30,000, well covered by insurance.

BULLET HOLE FOUND THROUGH MENZIE'S SKULL

Geddes, S. D., April 18.—The doctors finished an examination of the bodies of W. H. Menzie and Blanche Signal just before noon today.

A bullet hole was found in Mr Menzie's skull, leading from the right to the left side of the head through the brain. The bullet is about the same size and type as used in a revolver which was kept in the office for protection.

The sheriff and his deputies made another search just before noon in the ruins and recovered the pistol, immediately beneath where Menzie's body was found. One shell bore evidence of having been discharged and another seemed to have exploded and blew the barrel off the pistol. Two $5 gold pieces and a wallet containing some paper money were also found near the spot where the body had lain.

The authorities have not given up the murder theory and have secured bloodhounds from Mitchell. Detectives are expected to arrive on tonight's train. It is the opinion of the state's attorney that the bodies were placed in the position in which they were found to mislead and create a false impression.

NEXT WHITE HOUSE WEDDING ON MAY 7

Only Immediate Families and That of Vice President to Be Present.

Washington, April 18.—The president and Mrs. Wilson announced today that the wedding of their youngest daughter, Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, and Secretary McAdoo would take place on Thursday, May 7.

The announcement from the White House giving the date of the wedding, also said:

"In accordance with the wishes of Miss Wilson and Mr. McAdoo the wedding will be very small, only the vice president and Mrs. Marshall, the cabinet and the immediate members of the two families are to be present."

WOODMEN FIGURED IN RECOVERY OF CORPSE

Omaha, Neb., April 18.—It became definitely known from an authorized statement given out at the Woodmen of the World headquarters in this city that that organization was responsible for the return to the United States of the body of Clemente Vergara, the American citizen taken to a lonely island and murdered by Mexican soldiers.

Sovereign Commander W. A. Frazer, who has spent most of his life in Texas, however, declined to talk of the matter. He was in Texas when Vergara's body was returned to his relatives and had several talks with Governor Colquitt. Vergara was a member of the organization, and the insurance policy on his life paid in this city yesterday by the fraternal order, resulted in publicity being given to the manner in which the body was returned to American soil.

Vergara was a member of a wealthy family of Spanish descent. He was a good friend of Mr Frazer and of Governor Colquitt. To his rashness of talk is credited the loss of his life. He was fearless and jealous of his property interests. He belonged to the better class of Spaniards residing in Texas, according to the information given out here.

Proof of death required by the fraternal order brought out the facts in the case.

SIVERLY EXONERATED IN KELLEY BANK CASE

Ames, Ia., April 18.—Clyde L. Siverly, cashier of the Union National and Union Savings banks, of Ames, was in no way connected with E. J. Penfield, proprietor of the Bank of Kelley, a private banking institution, according to the verdict of the jury in the case of Nels Anfinson against the Bank of Kelley and others. Henry Banks, fatherinlaw of Penfield, was held by the jury for an amount of $21,624.96 in favor of the creditors of the defunct bank.

Penfield, about three years ago, took all the available assets of his bank and absconded, leaving his bank to collapse. His peculation amounted to about $30,000 at the time of the trial, which was begun in the state district court in Nevada four days ago.

SULZER APPEAL LAID BEFORE HIGH COURT

Albany, N. Y., April 18.—The appeal in the mandamus proceedings against the state comptroller, through which William Sulzer hopes to have the United States supreme court pass on the validity of his impeachment, was submitted to the court of appeals today. There were no oral arguments, the facts in the case being presented to the court in lengthy briefs.

Mr. Sulzer sued out the writ to compel the payment to him of the governor's salary from the time of his removal last October. The lower court decided against him.

FARMER SLAYS WIFE AND TRIES SUICIDE

Woman's Denial of Infidelity and Refusal to Give Up Ring Ends Fatally.

Boonesville, Ind., April 18.—Pushing his wife, Mary, 42 years old, against a hot stove in his home here today, William Folsom, 52 years old, formerly a prosperous farmer, killed her while he fired two shots into her heart, killing her instantly. He then shot himself three times in the breast but doctors say he will recover.

The shooting followed [illegible]'s denial of [illegible] and her refusal [illegible] ring. The Folsoms have [illegible] children, ranging in age from 3 to 15 years.

BILLARD COMPANY OFFICIALS READY TO PRODUCE BOOKS

Washington, April 18.—All the recalcitrant witnesses in the Interstate Commerce commission's inquiry into the financial operations of the Billiard company with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad have agreed to testify fully concerning the facts in their possession and to produce the books and papers of the Billard company.

Chief Counsel Joseph W. Folk of the commission today received from Homer S. Cummings, attorney for two of the witnesses, Hemmingway and Morehouse, a telegram saying that his clients would respond to questions.

Another telegram from Henry Stoddard, representing Whipple and Field, gave assurance that his clients not only would answer questions which they refused to a week ago, but would also produce books and other documents of the Billard company desired by the commission.

Change of Front.

Confronted by indictment and criminal prosecution, for their refusal to respond to "lawful questions," of the commission, the witnesses concluded not to press their contention that the questions asked constituted an invasion of their personal rights.

It is known that the federal grand jury yesterday voted indictments against the four named witnesses. In view of the acquiescence of the men in the demand of the commission for the information the indictments may not be returned to the court. Meantime, the indictments probably will be held in suspension.

It is expected that the next hearing will be on April 29. At that time opportunity will be afforded the witness to comply with the agreements entered into with Mr. Folk by their counsel.

John L. Billard, promoter of the Billard company through Mr Cummings, today assured the commission that the published statement that he had said the commission instituting criminal proceedings against the witnesses "was bluffing" was incorrect and that he never had said anything that could fairly be construed into such a statement.

SENATE AGREES TO SUMMON GOETHALS

Washington, April 18.—Col. George W. Goethals has been summoned before the Senate canal committee to testify on the economic features of the Panama tolls exemption for coastwise vessels. He is expected to favor repeal.

The colonel was asked to come at the request of Senator Simmons, but may not reach here before April 24, the day set for the closing of the hearings. In that event Senator Simmons will not ask for an extension of the hearings, but either request that Colonel Goethal's testimony be incorporated in the record or presented on the floor of the Senate.

Sentiment was said to be crystallizing in the committee today for an amendment to the Simes repeal bill stipulating that the United States will give up no rights of sovereignty over the canal by the repeal of the exemption.

Supporters of that idea hope to win the president to that view.

Almost Unanimous.

At the hearing today Welding Ring of the executive board of the New York chamber of commerce favored repeal on the ground that the exemption clause was a subsidy and violated treaty obligation, and said that his organization had voted for repeal by 333 to 7.

Senator Bristow, opposing repeal, asked Mr Ring, why if tolls are charged through the Panama canal they should not be charged for entering New York and other harbors and rivers on which large sums of money have been spent.

Senator Simmons contended there was no discrimination between American and foreign ships coming to American ports and rivers.

Senator O'Gorman brought out the fact that the Merchants association, a New York organization larger than the chamber of commerce, had opposed repeal.

Senator Simmons read a telegram from Richard Olney, secretary of state in President Cleveland's cabinet, praising President Wilson for his attitude for repeal.

Howard S. Smith of the New York chamber of commerce, also appeared in support of repeal.

KANSAS CITY WANTS BETTER GRAIN RATE

Kansas City, Mo., April 18.—A hearing on a complaint filed with the Interstate Commerce commission by the Kansas City board of trade against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and other railway lines, involving grain rates to this city from Iowa points, was opened here today by a special examiner for the commission.

The complaint alleges that some Iowa lines that do not reach Kansas City have a class rates on grain in the absence of a through commodity rate. The local interests hold that it is unfair to assess class rates when there are combination rates possible that are lower.

Save This Unnecessary Labor

Your men's time is too valuable to be spent this way when a

MOYER Litter Carrier

will save one-half the time. It's an incentive to keep your barn clean. And time saved is money in your pocket. Read the free trial offer and see the carrier itself here.

30 DAYS' Trial Free

Put up a MOYER Carrier. Use it 30days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as towhether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON — Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN

"THE LAND MAN"

... wish to sell your farm—list it with me

... to buy—ask me about some good farms

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

... to your ... promptly and ... attended to.

... charges ...

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop

Coal Hauling Done

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E Baumgartner.

I hereby announce myself Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary.

Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I ... the decision of the ... Republican party ... Hancock county at the Primary ... to be held in June 1914.

J D G Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.

Martin Bachman

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd District of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June

Valentine Josten, Jr.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.

A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries.

I C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J. Cole.

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration.

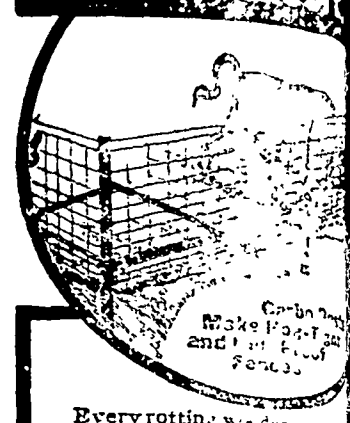
S. B. Durant.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors. Blinds.
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

35c for One Saves 2 Rolls



Every rotting ... ruins two or more ... ing. Avoid the ... your fence last ... farm's appearance.

CARBO ...

See Card ...

CARBO STEEL ...

NOTICE!

we are calling on all ... mers and town people ... business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR

in all kinds of GRAIN, CO... and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be ... to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & S...

EASTER CANDIE...

We have a very fine Selec...

City Restaurant & Hote...

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

ATTENTION FARMERS:

This is the time of the year to get your M... ready for Spring and Summer work. I am ... to do your Blacksmith work in a first class ... I also have the agency for the famous Robins... ure Spreader.

GIVE ME A CALL

W. F. PAVEY

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardw... Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves ... Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We ... also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Fee...

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BRO...

Where Will You Spend Your Summer Vacation?

The mountains, the woods, the seashore, all offer the maximum in outdoor life.

Colorado and the Rockies fill every requirement—there are also Yellowstone Park and Pacific Coast, if one has time for a more extended tour.

North and east are the woods and lakes of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, offering for enjoyment every phase of outdoor life.

Further east are the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence River and Atlantic Sea Coast.

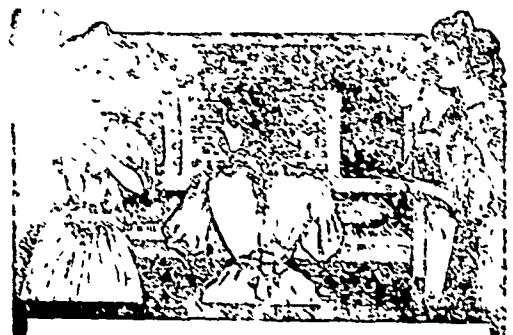
Low Fares will be in effect daily all summer via the Rock Island Lines.

Finest modern all-steel equipment

Rock Island

Let me help you plan a delightful outing

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa



Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

W. M Magnel

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 37 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY MAY 7, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

to do your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

Let us help you

We always have time to listen — Come in.

When a man is sick he pays a doctor for help before he uses it; he does the same with banker. The banker gives advice cheerfully When you are in financial difficulty why not consult us? It is strange that the men whose advice is as cheerful as it is free, is sought BEFORE men have risked and lost money, but AFTER. If you want some financial help, come in; we will welcome you.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

Iowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

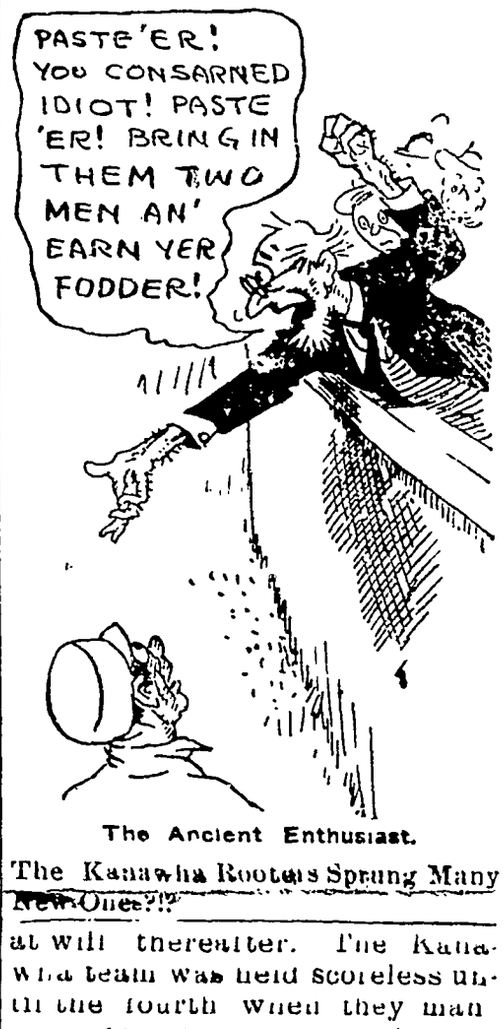
will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

Win First Game

Klemme Bests Kanawha On Their Own Grounds By Score Of 18 to 7.

The Klemme ball team journeyed over to the little German town in Amsterdam, commonly known as Kanawha, Sunday and came home with the long end of the score. The game was played in a pasture and fast fielding was impossible but the Klemme boys had their batting clothes on and they clouted out 18 safe drives to their opponents 7. The game was devoid of features outside of the extraordinary display of different ball suits. The Klemme team started out with a rush and scored 5 runs in the first inning and scored almost



The Ancient Enthusiast.

The Kanawha Rooters Sprung Many New Ones?!?

at will thereafter. The Kanawha team was held scoreless until the fourth when they managed to get a score and then were held scoreless until the eigth when our pitcher weakened and his support took a slumber and they forgot to wake up until after the game was ended and Kanawha scored 3 more in the ninth.

Bonwell and Ziesmer were at the points for Klemme and done very good work, considering it was their first workout of the season. (Walter) Johnson, pitcher and Huxley, catcher were the Kanawha battery and outside of a little wildness on the part of the pitcher did very good work.

Following is a brief summary of the game. A tabulated score cannot be furnished as the official scorekeeper could not count over 10 and became all "balled" up before the game was half over.

KLEMME

	ab	r	h
Parsons, 1b	4	3	2
Kluckhohn, ss	5	3	3
Magner, 2b	5	2	2
Williams, 3b	6	2	1
Ziesmer, c	6	2	4
Epps, rf	6	2	1
Countryman, lf	4	3	2
Coobs, cf	5	0	1
Bonwell, p	5	1	2
	46	18	18

KANAWHA

	ab	r	h
Huxley, c	4	0	0
Shockley, 1b	3	1	1
Miller, 3b	4	0	1
O'Keefe, 2b	4	1	1
Kearns, rf	3	1	1
Carr, ss	4	1	1
W. Johnson, lf	4	2	1
G. Johnson, p	3	0	0
Stewart, cf	3	1	0
	32	7	7

Klemme—5 0 3 1 6 0 3 0 0—18
Kanawha—0 0 0 1 0 0 0 3 3— 7

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25 000 00
Pres - C. H. WIEGMANN
Vice Pres - AUG LAU
Cashier - F A ARNOLD
5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits

If You've Never Had A Bank Account

JUST TRY IT!
IF YOU'VE STARTED ONE STAND BY IT!

For Rest Assured The Day You'll See When Very Thankful You Will Be—

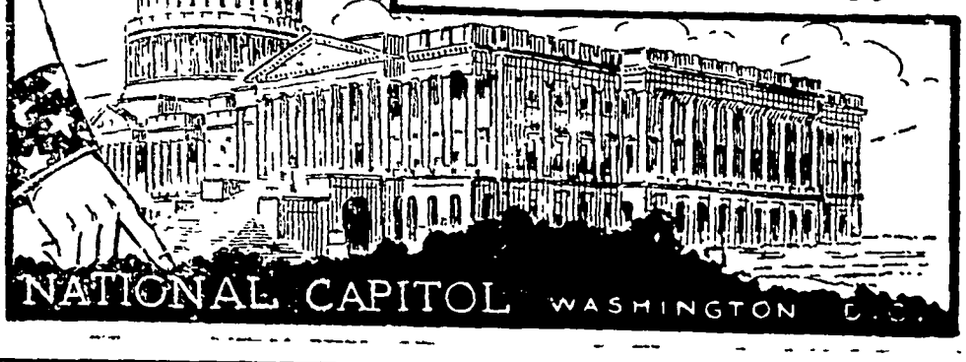
To Spy It



Wear a Flower for Mother's Sake

To honor the best Mother who ever lived--your own. That is the purpose of Mother's Day.

Sunday, May 10

A white flower for Mother's memory
A bright flower for Mother's living

We shall be prepared for Mother's Day with a large assortment of fine, fresh flowers, appropriate for the occasion, and offered at our usual moderate prices. All customers served promptly. Roses, $1.50 per dozen, Carnations $1.00 per dozen. A nice box of mixed flowers prepaid for only $1.00.

Hill City Greenhouses

Progressive Florists Forest City, Iowa
Arthur Wellemeyer, Agent

Send Mother a Bouquet on Mothers' Day. We have Correspondents to deliver flowers fresh anywhere in the U. S.

SPECIAL NOTICE

This is the Piano tuning season. Every piano should be looked after in the spring

I will tune all pianos at a special price beginning April 1st. This applies to new customers only and for the first tuning. I do this to advertise; I also guarantee all of my work. I have a car and will go anywhere within 50 miles. A post card will bring me to your house to examine your piano. I also do all kinds of organ work

Give me a trial and I will please you or you get the work free. Phone 501-2 or write

H. Howard Hunter

DOWS, IOWA

TRY A WANT AD.

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

AUTHOR OF THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

30

CHAPTER XXII—(Continued).

"The paper," he muttered; and signed it as a dying man might drag a pen across its page Then he sat back staring "Thank God," he whispered, "not too late--and she need never know!"

When he arose they did not know his face, so changed was it by agony. The judge saw him cross the street in the sunshine and enter his office. There, the printer and the press boy saw him fumble among the type of his ancient fonts, his lips moving as he worked. He dragged his steps nearer the printer presently "Box this, Jim—open the front page form—run it. And get the paper out tonight. I—I'm going." His gray lips whispered

He moved out slowly, and on the corner in the cold sunshine of the November noon looked at letters of flaming red on the boards of the old opera house A farmer had stopped his shaggy-bellied team to spell the wording

TONIGHT!!

OUR CONGRESSMAN!!!

Curran could not make out more He crept about the corner where the side street led to the foot of the bluff Creeping, that was the way it seemed, when he reached the trail to the hills.

Her hills! The hills of the Midlands! The place of the best men and women.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE BETTER PEOPLE.

Many men of the county drove to town early that day It was the ever-present restlessness of election eve, and in this instance a sense of new issues, of unusual and dramatic sequences was in the air Then it was to be the night of the "big Curran meeting" at the opera house, the windup with red fire and the band, and the country people, with a lively appreciation of the spectacular were eager to hear the candidate Wiley" would make the most of his last chance to scald the county crowd" with his satire, that was sure All the day the court house was thronged with farmers, politicians candidates standing about smoking, gossiping The dingy central corridor was a reek of tobacco and smells

Harlan was wont to pass here on his way to his office He had not concerned himself with the 11th-hour wrangles and petty intrigues, for he had no opposition in his own fight. The "county crowd would put young Van Hart over," every one said, and approved The countrymen looked back at him with diffident respect. When he reached Miss Vane's d- he saw her at her desk. Hemminge the lonely insurgent board member from the river district, was there, sitting, awkward, constrained, holding his hat. Harlan was waving his hand cheerily in passing, when Janet arrested him with a gesture Her eyes had a hard brightness When the young man came in she bade him close the door

Then she sat again The hubbub of voices in the hall was lessened

Janet motioned Harlan to a chair "We," she began quietly, have been discussing you Mr Hemminger and I have discussed you for two weeks"

Harlan looked up at Hemminger with a surprised smile 'Indeed' Now, I had noticed Hemminger in your office a number of times lately What is the extraordinary interest'"

She disregarded his easy banter "Harlan,' she went on sharply 'you'll be the next prosecuting attorney"

"Without a doubt On the first of next month'

She seemed dwelling on the three weeks intervening. Then "We are going to confide in you something that we might have said before, only"—her glance held a curious suspicion—"well, I thought we'd better wait until after the election You owe your nomination to Tanner the old crowd and—well, you'll pardon my frankness, but we hesitated"

"Hesitated" What on earth are you driving at'"

Hemminger smiled uneasily "Wondered where you'd stand, Mr Van Hart Kind o' thought it would put you in bad to load this on you'

He still looked his wonder at Janet. She was unlocking the drawer of her desk She took out an envelope and from it a yellow and worn bit of paper "We shall demand' she began decisively that the first act of your administration is to go before the grand jury and ask for the indictment of Tanner and Dan Boydston and Archie Curry for the giving and the accepting of bribes on the county road contracts for the last six years"

He looked silently at her Hemminger shifted his hat nervously

"The proof Miss Vance went on "is here' She laid the yellow slip of memoranda on the desk It was covered with careless entries, figures abbreviations To Harlan it meant nothing 'This is Boydston's writing —Boydston the go-between"

"Those old yarns' Harlan murmured then her dominance stilled him He looked again at the paper "You mean this is—proof'"

"This and Boydston's confession"

"Confession'"

"It amounts to that His admissions to Hemminger his fellow board member, on the way the last deal—the Lindstrom Pocket deal—was put through. He admitted he took money—he offered Hemminger $500 to keep silent on this."

She tapped the paper Harlan stared at her incredulously "Why, I saw Boydston coming from the bank not an hour ago. There was a conference of some sort. Father was there, and Tanner and Wiley Curran. There are rumors that Tanner threw up the fight, and wants to make an agreement with Wiley and his league backers to keep their hands off the county committeeship!"

"Boydston," she retorted quietly, "has confessed, two weeks ago. He dare not tell Tanner. He has been begging, threatening, pleading with Mr. Hemminger to keep silence, and to destroy this"—she fingered the paper. "Last Tuesday a week ago this was placed in my hands by a mistake. The silliest thing a bribe-taker ever did, and only a bungling old farmer like Boydston could have done it. I drove out to the Diecks' place to get a petition that the people have been circulating there to divide their school district. This is the place Boydston sold to Diecks when he moved to town. Well, this German had charge of this petition and kept it in a crack of the chimney in Boydston's old sitting room. When I called for the petition his wife—who can't read a word of English—handed me an envelope, which I did not look at until I came back to town. Then when I went to file that petition I didn't have it. Instead, these slips of memoranda. I couldn't make any sense of them. But there were computations of money paid, and money divided, all in Boydston's handwriting. I studied it and the dates, and it struck me curiously that the dates of the transactions tallied with several county board meetings And then it dawned on me like a lightning flash. I sent for Hemminger, and we compared the notes with his recollections of board transactions. Why, Boydston had actually put Thad's name after one division of $300 between himself and Curry! I couldn't believe such idiocy. Then Hemminger took the memoranda to Boydston and demanded an explanation, and Boydston collapsed in his front parlor and admitted it. He lost his nerve completely—begged and wept for Hemminger not to show the memoranda—to allow him to settle some way or other; and, above all, not to tell Tanner. Hemminger brought the notes back to me. Ever since we've been wondering—and discussing you!"

Harlan met her defiant gaze steadily "Well?"

"The county crowd put you in. Boydston, in his frenzy, declared it would do us no good to publish the notes. He said the new district attorney was Tanner's man' Said we couldn't get it to the grand jury without you."

The young man turned his serious eyes on Hemminger "Yes?"

"Harlan," put in Janet, 'we decided to wait. I consulted no one I was afraid if we exposed it just before election it would look like a roorback of our people and would hurt Wiley some way or other. You know to attack the best families this way—with Tanner's money and power and the Mercury-Journal—well, we could not prove the facts for weeks, and it would look like mere politics on our part. But you"—she watched him coolly—"I made up my mind today I wanted to know what you'd do when you're elected.'

"Do?" He stared at her with a trace of anger. "Janet you ask what I'd do" Blow the lid off—send Boydston and Curry to the pen! Tanner, too, if I can get him'"

She looked off through the window at the bank corner. "It will be a tremendous job, Harlan, you, a new man—wholly without experience in office, bucking a combination that no man here ever dared to fight The money, the influence, the Best People"

He followed her glance out to the country folk idling about the ancient sidewalk of the First National Farther down High street, under the leafless maples, he could see the tidy lawns, the prosperous houses, and then his home. The judge was slowly driving in from lunch behind Old Dutch. So long he watched, so imperturbably, that she could not guess the struggle in his mind. Not of right or wrong, but to grasp issues dimly limned beyond. One fights for one's class, one's kind, one's heritage of thought and feeling, basic greed, the instinct to survive, vestigial promptings from feudal privilege to protect and exculpate—all battled in his subconsciousness for delay and pretext and caution.

Hemminger, the pale-eyed countryman, shuffled his feet with nervous apprehension. "I guess there are people out there"—he lifted his bony finger to the hills—"who will be with you in the fight. Better people—"

The young man suddenly tipped his chair forward with a smile.

"I thank you for the word, Bert," he smiled. He reached for the memoranda. Janet's eyes silently followed him. Almost a trace of suspicion was in them when Harlan placed the papers in his inner pocket. He arose. "I'm going to see father He's in his chambers by now"

Janet, too arose with a sharp protest But before she voiced it the door burst open A man reeled in, drunk, in his shirt-sleeves, even though he came from the chill November street. Jim Mims, the News printer, stared wildly at them.

"Where's he gone? Where's Wiley?"

The printer staggered to Miss Vance's desk. He wiped his unshaven chin, his bleared eyes rolled. "What 'a you done with him?"

"What's the matter?"

He spread a damp and ink smeared copy of the News before her. "There'" he waited, "he told me to run this box on the front page! I didn't read it! He set it up, he gave it to me. Me and Aleck we run the whole issue off and then started to fold the mail list, when I first read it! I was drunk, that's it, or, damn me, I'd never put the press on it' No, sir, not even if he told me!"

The "box" enclosed a bold face type in the center of the sheet: "For personal and business reasons, Wiley T. Curran withdraws from the congressional contest in the Eighteenth district."

Nothing more.

Janet was paling to her lips. In the pause, Harlan seized the paper. "Come!" he shouted and dashed from the room. They followed him, the tramp printer a wailing babbling rear guard. When he reached the News shop he came upon Miss Vance and Hemminger staring at the pile of papers that made up the weekly issue. Young Van Hart was searching feverishly over the editor's desk.

"Not a word," he muttered; "nothing to explain. Has he gone crazy?"

"There's his big meeting tonight," Hemminger blurted. "I hear the band boys practicing. But Wiley—God A'mighty! has he gone wrong?"

Harlan suddenly turned on them. "That conference! He was called to Tanner's office this morning. I know, for father was there'"

"They—they"—Janet controlled her voice—"smashed him, Harlan! Somehow, with something' Drove him out of the fight'"

The younger man turned to Hemminger. "Bar that door! Keep Jim and Aleck here. And don't let a paper go out!"

"Press time they'll somebody come 'round," blubbered Jim. "Some old woman, or some of the old preachers whom he always gave papers to for nothing. And the kids to carry 'em, and the 4 o'clock mail to make!"

Harlan was bolting the rear door. "Hemminger, draw the curtains. Don't let a person in, don't answer any questions. You don't know anything, remember'"

Janet threw a blank sheet from the stock shelf over the printed issues of the News. Then she turned. "Harlan, do you think this matter of Boydston has anything to do with it?"

"No" He motioned her out the door. "Come, I'm going to father's chambers. There's no court today. And I want you, Janet"—he fixed his blue eyes on her fiercely. 'Wiley—he and I have not been friends of late—but this! If they broke him unfairly, dastardly, I'll fight!"

She nedded. She knew the estrangement, knew it as she knew the old rare love of men between them She had no time to speak until she was with Harlan again in the court, in the judicial chamber just off the hall of justice

Judge Van Hart was writing at his table He glanced up with some annoyance, then, at sight of his son, with surprise. At Janet's entry he arose with his old fashioned courtesy and bowed

He had no time for speech. Harlan broke out with the wrath of a man past reason He towered above the judge when he reached the table

"Father, what did they do to Curran?"

The judge's face flushed and set to the impassive study it wore upon the bench It was as if he had expected this from his son, as if he had dreaded it. But a tremor was in his voice at the other's menace

Mr Curran has withdrawn."

Yes, yes' But what did you do?"

"I? My son, I was called into conference with some gentlemen. It—was rather a matter of importance— party importance—I may say, of immense importance to the community They wished me—wanted representative men to witness—'

"What did you do to Wiley?"

The judge controlled himself by an effort "Sit down, Miss Vance. I—this —very unfortunate—painful—"

I wish to know' she said clearly. 'We demand to know"

You were there father And he has withdrawn"

A wan smile came to the magistrate. "Very good I assure you it was voluntary on his part Embarrassing, doubtless, but'—he tried to smile on in Harlan's face and failed "My boy, the truth' Something he dared not face among honest men"

Janet's eyes were blazing "You accuse him? I demand to know'

The judge coughed awkwardly 'My dear, it is something you, perhaps, have not heard—this campaign -the heat of politics"—he spoke deprecatingly—he detested politics. "If you will withdraw, I might explain to Harlan. Since he demands it."

"I demand it'" she cried "I shall not go'

"She shall not go," said Harlan 'Do you know of that old yarn, Janet, that's been bandied about? Of Wiley's —marriage years ago?"

"Yet," she answered calmly 'Heard and forgave Only—if he had only come to me with it'"

'Was that it, father? That'"

More than that," the judge sighed. It was a delicate affair to mention before women He had that archaic idea of women which could defend a social economism that sent them to walk the street, but would retreat at the suggestion that they really walked upon legs

He seated himself. "My boy, I do not know how to begin. The man was sent for. He was told that he was unfit to represent this sober and moral constituency at Washington. He was shown that the truth once out would defeat him among our people, even at this late day."

"The truth?" shouted Harlan, "let's have the truth'"

"The gentlemen discussed the affair with him. He defied them. We then proved to his satisfaction that this—marriage—resulted in issue. That he had a child, in fact—living. And here!"

They watched him ceaselessly He fingered with a paper knife and glanced out the window. It was distressing to be annoyed by having to tell the truth. Janet moved at last, breaking the spell upon them all.

"I do not believe—" she muttered, and then looked at the judge with stubborn courage. "Well, then I do' And is that all?"

"Another detail. This child of his is the girl whose notoriety has set the town by the ears for two seasons, Aurelie Lindstrom."

They did not answer. Then he heard his son whisper "It's a lie'" "But Harlan had turned from them to the wall.

"He has admitted it. It was proven to his own complete confession."

Without the window the sparrows twittered, and the fragmentary music of the band practice came to the room. Along the street and in the square, the group could see the passing country people, the teams, and hear the moving of steps in the court house corridor.

Janet spoke again. A ways her calmness prevailed. "How admitted it'"

The judge shrugged uneasily. "You just came to tell me that he had withdrawn. Is that not enough? What answer can you demand more?"

The woman had arisen. She looked at her watch. From the room she could see the News' front windows, the door shut, Hemminger's face appearing once when a lad demanded entrance and was refused. Her head was aching with the press of bewildering problems. Some way out, some light, something to break the hopelessness of it all! She could look down the street to the opera house, the gathering country people reading the bill boards.

(Continued next week.)

It has been asserted by many eminent specialists that there is no doubt that by the beat of the pulse alone the sex and age of a person could be told.

Is Your Stomach Wrong?

Sooner or later you will be wrong in every organ of your body. It is a well known fact that over 95% of all sicknesses are caused by ailments of the digestive organs. If you have the slighest suspicion that your stomach requires treatment, don't delay a moment. Little ills soon grow into serious ills.

DR. PIERCE'S

Golden Medical Discover

soon rights the wrong. It helps the stomach digest the food and manufacture nourishing blood. It has a tonic effect and soon enables stomach and heart to perform their functions in a natural, healthy manner, without any outside aid.

As Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains neither alcohol nor narcotics there is no reaction. For over forty years it has stood the test of use and abuse and is today the greatest remedy of its kind in the world. Buy now. Take it home today. Sold by Medicine Dealers in liquid or tablet form, or send 50c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial box.

For 31c you can get the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages — cloth bound — to pay cost of mailing. Write Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HAD LETTERS ON THE ICE

Maid Meant Well, but She Misunderstood Instruction Given Her by Mistress.

Minnie, the new maid, admired her young mistress exceedingly, and was very willing to obey all her orders, however incomprehensible they might be to her.

"Minnie," said Mrs. Lane one morning, "I have just ordered some lettuce When it comes I want you to put it in the ice-box right next to the ice. Can you remember?"

"Oh, yaw, meesis," replied Minnie, with seeming understanding, "my feex heem all gude."

Mrs. Lane was very popular socially and it was several days later when she realized that she had received no letters from home, nor, indeed, any other mail. She looked in the letter box, but found nothing there.

"Minnie," said Mrs. Lane, going to the kitchen, "have you taken any letters from the postman or out of the post-box lately?"

"Oh, yaw, meesis," beamed Minnie, rushing to the ice box. "My bring heem for you. My do like you told me the other day, meesis."—National Monthly

The Best Course.

At the Lambs' Club one night a player whose conceit is in inverse ratio to his ability was complaining to William Collier that, by reason of the curious hostility of the critics, he was unable to obtain a lucrative engagement.

"What do they say?" asked Collier.

"That's just it—they don't say anything about me. I tell you there is a conspiracy of silence."

"Join it," advised Collier.

Cheerful Outlook.

Lady (engaging a page boy)—Well, how soon can you come?

Page (readily)—At once, mum.

Lady—But surely your present mistress won't like that.

Page (brightly)—Oh, yes, she will, mum! She'll be only too glad to get rid of me.

Worth Blowing About.

Bacon—I see it is said that whales are estimated to live for 1,000 years.

Egbert—No wonder they blow.

HAPPY NOW

Family of Twelve Drink Postum.

"It certainly has been a blessing in our home" writes a young lady in regard to Postum.

"I am one of a family of twelve, who, before using Postum, would make a healthy person uncomfortable by their complaining of headache, dizziness, sour stomach, etc., from drinking coffee

"For years mother suffered from palpitation of the heart, sick headache and bad stomach and at times would be taken violently ill. About a year ago she quit coffee and began Postum.

"My brother was troubled with headache and dizziness all the time he drank coffee. All those troubles of my mother and brother have disappeared since Postum has taken the place of coffee

"A sister was ill nearly all her life with headache and heart trouble, and about all she cared for was coffee and tea. The doctors told her she must leave them alone, as medicine did her no permanent good.

"She thought nothing would take the place of coffee until we induced her to try Postum. Now her troubles are all gone and she is a happy little woman enjoying life as people should."

Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum — must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

—sold by Grocers.

Shrewd Elopement Tr

The newest elopement trip cently worked in Switzerla the parents of the couple trip to the top of a mountain they were there the couple sled, coasted down the mo and were away on an expr the parents could get down tain on the railway

SCALP ITCHED AND

Greenwood, Ind — First gan to fall, then my scalp burned when I became warm pimples on my scalp, my falling out gradually until scarcely any hair on my couldn't keep the dandruff My hair was dry and lifeless lost rest at night from the itching sensation I would hat off and scratch my head I happened to be

"For several years I was with pimples on my face. them were hard red spots, full of matter, and many I was always picking at caused them to be sore. my face look so badly I was to be seen.

"I tried massage creams and all kinds of hair tonics made remedies, but they things worse. Nothing did until I used Cuticura Soap ment. I washed my face Cuticura Soap, then put Cuticura Ointment on Three use of Cuticura Soap and has made my face as clean as can be" (Signed) Hamilton, Sept 24, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment throughout the world Sample free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston

Opinion Poorly Expressed

Papa was enlarging on his mer's trip abroad He was "Oh, yes, Italy is a great place "How about the fleas" listener.

"Everybody there complained them, but I did not have any me."

Johnny quietly looked up book and said "You're a father, a very lucky dog."

Kill the Flies Now and disease. A DAISY FLY KILLER Kills thousands. Lasts all season or six sent express paid for $1. 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A pessimist complains he 1,000 oysters without coming pearl; an optimist gives them he has eaten that many oysters out getting ptomaines.—Boston Mail.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy infants and children, and see

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years

Children Cry for Fletcher's

Why Is This Thus

Every married man knows much easier it is for his wife cover a hole in his pocket than a button is missing from his Exchange.

SPECIAL TO WO

The most economical, cleanly germicidal of all antiseptics

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder be dissolved in water as

As a medicinal antiseptic for in treating catarrh, inflammation ulceration of nose, throat, caused by feminine ills it has For ten years the Lydia E. Medicine Co. has recommended in their private correspondence women, which proves its Women who have been it is "worth its weight in druggists. 50c. large box, The Paxton Toilet Co., Bo

...KE ...EW WOMAN

...L. Pinkham's Vege... ...nd Dispelled ... Headaches ... Dizziness.

"I would be very un... ...d to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked ... of organic weakness. ... pains in my hips and ..., headache, dizziness, ... energy, limbs ached ... tired. I was hardly ... ...ework. I had taken ...'s Vegetable Com... ...other occasion, and it had ... I took it again and it has ... now I feel like a new ... have my hearty consent ... and testimonial in any ... it will benefit suffering" —ORPHA TURNER, 431 S. ..., Ohio.

...e suffering from those ... peculiar to their sex ... the ability of Lydia E. ...table Compound to re... ...h.

...'s special advice ... E. Pinkham Med... ...nfidential) Lynn, ...tter will be opened, ...wered by a woman ...rict confidence.

...etchedness ...tipation

...overcome by ...TLE

...on. They do their duty. ...LL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. ...t bear Signature

...Hood

...d News.

... disguised as a district ... was delivering play tele... ... by his sisters, who were im... ...ches of a more or less ... nature. When it came Lil... ... she read aloud from her ... yellow paper, amid finely simu... ... waves of woe: "Railroad wreck. ... was instantly killed. Your loving ..."

Putnam Fadeless Dyes guarantee satisfaction. Adv.

Real Meaning of Leisure.

"Leisure," says Deacon W. C. Palm, "is no time to loaf. It's a time to ... things you've been wanting ..."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate ... stomach, liver and bowels. ... tiny granules, easy to take as ...

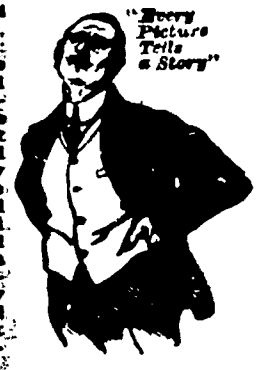
Cost Well Paid for It.

... manufacturer works ... his employes, it is only ... with the eternal fitness of ... He gets more pay.

...Has You a Bad Back?

... back ache night and day, ... a burden and rest impossi... ... suffer stabbing, darting ... stooping or lifting? Most ... due to hidden trouble in ... if the kidney secretions ... too frequent of passage, ... trouble is complete. De... ... way to serious kidney ... backs and weak kidneys ... Kidney Pills—recommended ...

A KANSAS CASE



...Store, 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

... CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

WHEN A GIRL IS READY TO MARRY

William A. McKeever, professor of child welfare in the University of Kansas, has set down in his book, "Training the Girl," recently published by MacMillans, 10 characterizations of the young woman who is theoretically prepared for marriage. They are as follows:

About 10 years after the beginning of the adolescent period probably the body and mind of the young woman are in the optimum condition for all the requirements of marriage.

She should have finished the so-called common school, which should have contributed to her thought a permanent interest in people and in public affairs

She should have served a reasonable period of apprenticeship in all the duties of the household and should possess a knowledge of how to deal justly and sympathetically with the so-called household assistant (Mr. McKeever's term for "hired girl")

She should possess a thorough training in the business affairs of the home—in purchasing economically the furniture, food supplies, clothing and the like; and should be informed upon all other business matters necessary as a guarantee of her ability to save as well as to spend

She should be ready to unite her efforts with those of some young man of honest mind and purpose should be willing to settle down with him in very modest surroundings and to help him win the battle for bread and a good home.

She should possess such acquired charm of personality and such a knowledge of the characters of men as to enable her to win a worthy and loving companion and should be prepared to co-operate with him in living a worthy life.

She should have well-matured sentiments as regards children of her own and should possess the courage of her convictions sufficiently to discuss the child-rearing problem with her fiance before marriage

She should possess an interest in some kind of civic social or religious work and should plan to give at least a part of her thought and effort to the service of the common welfare

She should have received experience and training in undergoing such trials and disappointments during the growing period as befitted her years, and thus gradually have been prepared to meet the heavy ordeals practically certain to be visited upon those who do their part in building up a substantial family life.

She should be well prepared to take up and pursue successfully some line of independent work, and this as a safeguard against the time when an unforseen occurrence might throw her back upon her own means of suport.

Success in Cowardice.

From Tit-Bits.

"I attribute whatever success I have had to my cowardice. I have always feared to wade in so deep that it was difficult to wade out."

This unusual comment on a successful career was made by a man who has just retired from business at the age of 81, after making a fortune.

Does it pay in the long run to be always careful?

Two of London's most prominent business men do not think so. One of them, Mr H. Gordon Selfridge, advanced the opinion that 'Twentieth-century nerve, coupled with good judgment, is one of the first elements of success.

"Human nature is so marvelously complex that any one quality does not really mean much. It does not pay to be foolhardy.

"The man who never ventures never does big things. There is one word which is the keynote of success in business today. It is initiative."

Mr. A. W. Gamage, when questioned on the subject, said he did not think that the word cowardice was the right one to use.

"I should rather call it prudence," he added. "The man who is always prudent can do well, but if he never takes chances he can rarely make a really big success.

"I believe in the maxim, 'Nothing venture nothing win,' but at the same time it is possible to take chances with prudence.

"The man who does so usually makes good, but the man who takes chances recklessly is asking for trouble."

The World's Corn Record.

In 1899 Z. J. Drake, of North Carolina made the record crop of corn from an acre. The yield was 255 bushels. This is the way he did it. He spread on the acre 1,000 bushels—say 50 tons—of stable manure. He also worked into the soil 600 bushels of whole cotton seed, 4,000 pounds of home-mixed commercial fertilizer—formula not given—and 400 pounds of nitrate of soda. This fertilizer, with the labor of applying it, is estimated to have cost at least $300—so the crop did not pay.

In 1910 a North Carolina boy grew 228¾ bushels of corn on an acre. His fertilizing operations cost him at least $200. Compare these yields with that of the Page county, Iowa, boy who described in Farm and Fireside the methods he used in growing about 93 bushels to the acre. He used no fertilizers at all, planting on alfalfa sod, and carefully cultivating. The North Carolina experience is the more astonishing, the Iowa accomplishment more profitable.

Misery in Albania.

In the mountain fastnesses of Albania, the people who did not take part in the Balkan war, but quietly tilled their fields and watched their flocks while others fought, are now paying the price of war, says a writer in Harper's Weekly. Last October the Servian and Montenegrin troops descended upon the little country and pillaged, burned and destroyed 100 villages. They burned and dynamited 12,000 houses; shot, speared or burned to death 8,000 people, men, women and children. They made 125,000 people homeless, drove off the cattle, horses, sheep and goats, carried away the corn from the harvest, burned the winter supply of fodder, and destroyed $10,000,000 worth of property. The result is, that at this moment the population of Albania is starving. They have no food to eat, and no seed corn for the coming planting.

That's Tan-Going Some!

From the New York Evening World.

And now I'm a cripple I'm forced to admit
That there's many a "slip" twixt the "whirl" and the "dip!"

"I Spend My Hard-earned Nickels for

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT

I get the most pleasure for the longest while."

You can't get a bigger buy for a nickel. It is as delicious as economical—as beneficial as delicious—as popular with your family as with you.

It's as clean as it's fresh. It's always clean and always fresh because the new air-tight, dust-proof seal keeps it so. Every sealed package is personal to you.

Look for the Spear

Purify your breath, preserve your teeth, harden your gums and keep your digestion good with this mouth-cleansing pastime.

Chew it after every meal

Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S

Polarine

FRICTION REDUCING MOTOR OIL

5,918,098 Gallons Polarine Sold Last Year

1,536,232 Gallons More Than in 1912

The constantly increasing use of POLARINE by thousands of motorists is indisputable evidence of its lubricating efficiency.

It affords perfect lubrication to all makes and types of motor cars, motor trucks, motorcycles and motor boats.

POLARINE maintains the correct lubricating body at any motor speed or temperature.

POLARINE remains liquid at zero. POLARINE differs from all other motor oils, in that it lubricates perfectly at extremes of temperature.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(AN INDIANA CORPORATION)
Makers of Lubricating Oils for Leading Engineering and Industrial Works of the World

35 BUSHELS PER ACRE was the yield of WHEAT

160 Acre FARMS WESTERN CANADA FREE

on many farms in Western Canada in 1913, some yields being reported as high as 50 bushels per acre. As high as 100 bushels were recorded in some districts for oats, 50 bushels for barley and from 10 to 20 bus. for flax.

J. Keys arrived in the country 5 years ago from Denmark with very little means. He homesteaded, worked hard, is now the owner of 320 acres of land, in 1913 had a crop of 200 acres, which will realize him about $4,000. His wheat weighed 68 lbs. to the bushel and averaged over 35 bushels to the acre.

Thousands of similar instances might be related of the homesteaders in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop of 1913 was an abundant one everywhere in Western Canada.

Ask for descriptive literature and reduced railway rates. Apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

J. S. Dedrick, Drawer 578, Watertown, S. D.
W. V. BENNETT, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska.
and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson St., St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agent

Iowa Directory

Barber Supplies

The Kleeblatt Barbers Supply Co., 518 Pierce St., Sioux City, Ia., will treat you right. Write them.

Kodaks DEVELOPING and PRINTING

Send for Catalogue and Finishing Price List. ZIMMERMAN BROTHERS, 508 Pierce St., Sioux City, Ia.

Pettit's Eye Salve FOR EYE ACHES

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 19-1914.

READERS of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested.
Glasses Fitted

W. F. MISSMAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office Phone No. 11-02
Residence No. 11-03
Office and residence in the State Sav. Bank building.
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

J. E. BAUMGARTNER
The Tonsorial Artist
Will give you an easy shave or a neat hair cut.
2nd door west of State Savings Bank
Call in

Something to Sell?

Try a Want Ad. in The Times, only

5Cts per Line

The Baldwin Piano
(Grands and Uprights)
received the Grand Prix (the very highest award) at the great International Exposition in Paris—an honor coveted by all manufacturers of the world, but which has never been bestowed upon any American piano except the Baldwin.
M. M. Magner

THE KLEMME TIMES
By M. M. Magner

Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa.

Subscription price $1 00 per year in advance

Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter.

Items of Interest

Bert the little 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs Will Jones had quite an experience Friday night. The Skaves girls, who had been visiting friends, were leaving on the motor and he followed them into the car and closed the door which he could not open when the car started. He was carried several miles into the country and let off near Mr. Norem's place where he remained all night. His parents who had become alarmed at his disappearance, finally concluded that he must have been carried to Clarion on the motor, engaged an auto to go and get him. When returning, their autoskidedd on the slippery road and tipped over in a ditch full of water. They luckily escaped drowning and other serious injury.—Belmond Herald.

We would like to call your attention to our goods. We would like to sell you a Hayes, Flying Dutchman or Sattley corn planter and you must act at once in order to get one. We sell all kinds of farm goods. also automobiles We want to rod your buildings with Dodd and Struthers Lightning Rods. We will give you a job like it ought to be done and give you a Dodd guarantee. Henry Lau and Son.

If Willie Beanstock loves Miss Weinerwurst, that's their business and if they intend to get married they will wish some nice invitations and announcemnets, "That Is Our Business", and they will live happily ever after. Call and see our samples and get our prices. The Times.

Good Shepard dog for sale — Inquire at this office.

Belmond Has Ball Team

There will bea ball game next Thursday afternoon between the north and south sides of Main street. Thede Lieuwen will be captain of the north side and Cecil Jones will lead the south side Business houses have been asked to close and a big crowd at the game s hoped for. The new team is being lined up and will play at Dows next Sunday. It has been determined so Mr Jos. Loes informs the Press, not to play in Belmond on Sunday provided week day games command sufficient patronage to support the team. There is a movement on foot to have as many business houses close their doors during the progress of all games.—Belmond Press.

From The Goodell Globe

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. White and A. F Church and family spent Sunday with ralatives in Klemme.

Miss Vida Houghton is finishing her school near Klemme, which was closed on account of measles.

Joe Heginger was a business visitor at Klemme, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Boren were visitors at Klemme, Tuesday.

W. P. Church and family were callers at the Henry Church home near Klemme Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W F. Beier and son Walter visited with relatives in Klemme. Sunday.

Kanawha Here May 15th.

The Kanawha ball team will play return game here on the afternoon of Friday, May 15th. They are coming over with the hopes of winning back lost honors and a tough battle is looked for. All of the fans and fannies should attend and root for the locals as they need your support The Klemme boys are trying to organize a good home team and at the same time make it self supporting and if this is done, they must have good atendance.

The Garner High School ball team defeated the Lake Mills High, Saturday, 4 to 1.

The Dows team defeated the Belmond team, Sunday at Dows, 2 to 1.

MINISTERS

(Times Special Service)

Ministers are the conductors licensed by the Vale of Sorrows. Golden River and New Jerusalem Transit System for the guidance of tourists along the straight and Narrow R. R. to Paradise.

The qualifications of a minister are merely the patience of Job, the tact of Chesterfield, and the courage to assault Old Nick with a backing consisting mainly of women and children. He should also possess slumber routing sourcrousness and business ability enough to make a bi monthly bazaar pay a 500 per cent dividend. In addition to these trifles, a minister should have faith that passath understanding, nope of his salary arrearages, a string of degrees, and a working knowlege of sin Saukrist. song. materia medica and yellow legged chickens He must be a Doctor of Divicity. prescribing and dispensing a free salvation a counselor proffering advice that he knows will go unheeded; and a shepherd of sheep that scamper after every black ram.

The duties of a minister are to live on pledges, deliver lectures on a land he has never seen, to keep occupants of the Seeing-Paradise car from losing their balance. and to weld Reno-proof bonds of matrimony

---

Starts New Enterprise

L. C. Hill arrived Monday from Des Moines and will run a cleaning and pressing establishment in the Boren pool hall. He has had a great deal of experience in the business and we believe that he will make a success of it. He will do cleaning, pressing, altering and dyeing. If you have any work along that line do not forget to patronize the home industry

---

FARMERS!

Send 25c for a copy of the Farmer's Rapid Figurer and Calculator; the handiest book you ever saw; money back if wanted —E. C. Foster, Assumption, Ill.

Red Tape.

Red Tape is the bulwark of inferior minds Language is said to conceal thought: red tape paralyzes action. Politicians use red tape to create offices without it. government would be so simple that everybody would understand it. If you would accomplish big results, look not upon the tape when it is red.—Life.

To Clean a Refrigerator.

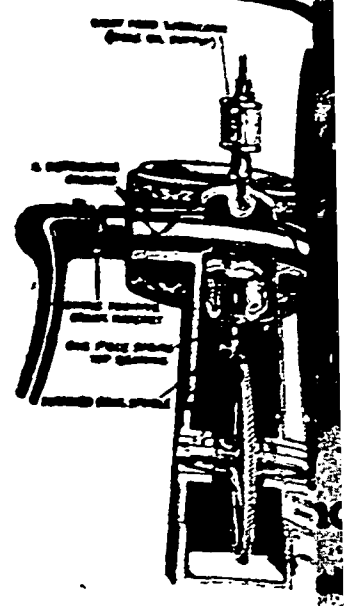
When white spots appear on the refrigerator lining take all the food out and rub the zinc with kerosene. Leave the refrigerator open for several hours, then wash with ammonia and warm soapsuds and let dry thoroughly.

Common Ground.

It makes mighty little difference, says the Boston Transcript, what altitude records aviators break, they're all planted at a uniform level.

(Copyright, by McClure Syndicate)

A Perfect Separator Oiling System



The new system of De Laval automatic oiling provides for a constant and liberal supply of CLEAN oil to every wearing surface of the machine at all times. There are no oil holes to fill up with dirt or perhaps to be neglected altogether, and every part is supplied with clean oil from oil reservoir automatically and constantly.

In other, so-called, automatic oiling systems some of parts have to be oiled by hand and no provision is made getting rid of dirt that may get into the oil from the outside or of small particles of metal which come from wear, so after a short time the oil supply becomes foul and unfit to the finely adjusted wearing parts.

DE LAVAL

CREAM SEPARATORS have the only automatic oiling system that provides for a constant supply of fresh oil and, at the same time, a constant discharge of the used oil together with all worn metal particles or dirt which may have gotten into the used oil.

The perfect system of De Laval lubrication means an easier running and a much longer wearing machine. Come in and let us explain the advantages of De Laval automatic oiling.

F. H. RIDDER
KLEMME, IOWA

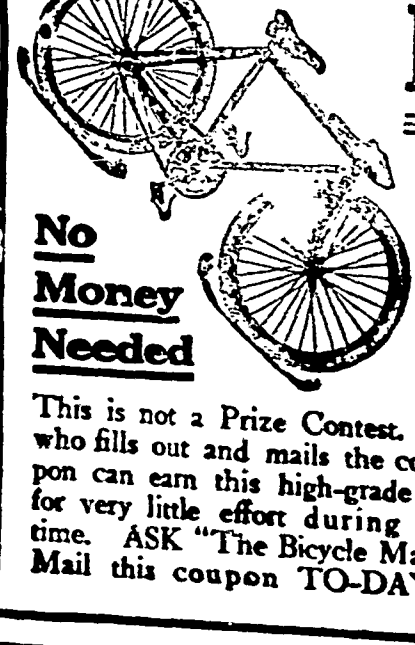
Ready-for-Use Paint

YOU are paying your painter to paint; not to mix paint. Science and experience have demonstrated that machines can do the mixing more thoroughly than the hand, and the maker's name on the can is safer than the use of unknown ingredients and varying skill.

Lowe Brothers
High Standard
Liquid Paint

is machine mixed—ready-for-use. The supreme result of over a third of a century of paint "know how." The "Little Blue Flag" on the can stands for quality in an entire line of paint products for every purpose—Floor paint, stains, enamels, varnishes, Mellotone for interior surfaces. Ask about them

O. A. PABST



Boys!

No Money Needed

Do you want this dandy BICYCLE ?

This is not a Prize Contest. Every boy who fills out and mails the corner coupon can earn this high-grade Bicycle for very little effort during spare time. ASK "The Bicycle Man." Mail this coupon TO-DAY.

FILL OUT AND MAIL THIS COUPON

Dear "Bicycle Man"
Please tell me how I can get one of your high grade Bicycles, without money for very little effort.
Name.....
Address.....

Those who are looking for a Better Advertising Medium than the TIMES Are Still Looking.

RSONS
IST
Savings Bank.
No. 48.
Iowa

F. A. Bredlow
dlow & Son
ers of re Bred
Horn Cattle
Breeding Stock
Garner, Iowa

Gravel
load, cash,
days, after load, All strictly cash.
Griffen,
me, Iowa.

Hour
tures
y
Night
t 8:30

Friends
e y Night
w.

10 and 15 cents
YOUR FRIENDS

like a wood

and chops for a

You Have
, Life Sus-
th Giving
T
Really Need
. The Frills ght terhouse!

BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	52 57
Oats	33 34
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	7.60 to 7.75
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

FOR SALE—One Creamery share. Tom Elder.

Huerta has sufficient breath to say "Nuff"!

C. F. Beier visited friends at St. Paul, Sunday and Monday.

Sam Kirkwood has been laid up with the mumps this week.

5 good residence lots on main street for sale. Inquire of C. F. Busch

Ray Greer was an over Sunday visitor at the parental home in Abbot.

The cable for the electroliers is being put in this week and the posts set up.

Mrs T. F Mitchell was an over Sunday visitor, with her mother at Miller.

Wm. Stille returned Monday, from Mason City, where he had been in the hospital.

Dr. Parsons went to Traer, Tuesday, for a couple of days visit with his mother.

P. M. Griesemer and Chas. Papousek spent Sunday with their parents in Garner.

A. M. Griesemer has been on sick list at the home of his parents in Garner, the past week.

Mother's day will be observed at the various churches next Sunday by a special program.

There will be a dance at the opera house on the evening of May 15th. Dont forget the date.

Over 50 tickets were sold from here this morning for Garner on account of the Yankee Robinson circus.

Mrs. George Schroeder and daughter, Selma went to Garner Wednesday, for a short visit with friends.

Henry Lenz of Lansing, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Yahnke and family.

FOR SALE:—New Galloway Hay Stacker, Tower cultivator, and 6 ft. Deering binder in good condition. Cal Newman.

FOUND—A solid gold band ring on the streets of Klemme, April 20. Owner can have same by calling at this office and identifying same.

J. D. G. Houghton of Goodell, candidate for clerk of courts, was in town Monday, calling on his many friends in the interests of his candidacy.

G. A Pabst is enjoying a visit from his mother, Mrs. Henry Pabst, brother Arthur, and little niece, Miss Dororthy, all of Anderson, Indiana.

Sell your farm at $125 per acre and buy Oregon farm land at $25 per acre from the Central Land Co., 211 So. Dearborn St., Chicago. Send for circulars.

Now is the time to rod your buildings while the Sun is shining. We sell the famous Dodd and Struthers Lightning Rods.
Henry Lau and Son.

Herman Priebe has been very sick this week with a complication of ailments but we are glad to note that he is much improved at this writing.

Henry Schuldt had the misfortune, Saturday, to have two of his fingers badly mangled in a corn sheller. It is thought that the injured members can be saved.

E. M. Boren now has the pool hall fixed up in fine shape and it presents a very neat appearance. He believes in running a clean moral place of business and is bound to meet with success.

SPECIAL SALE on all of our Pretty Ready Trimmed Hats Friday and Saturday May 8th, and 9th. We will allow a 10 percent discount on above dates,
Yours to please,
Mrs. John Josten

Dr. R. W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back", for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you.

C. L. Yahnke returned Saturday, from Minnesota. While he was there he traded off his livery barn and house for farm near Glenwood, Minnesota We are glad to state that this will not mean the removal of his esteemable from our midst.

Saturday was gala day for the candidates in Klemme. All three of the candidates for recorder. Miss Chrystine Callison, Mrs. Jennie Hammill and G. G. Washburn were here interviewing the voters. They all seem to think that their chances of landing the nomination is very good.

FOR SALE—I have traded Minnesota land for the C. L Yahnke residence, Livery Stable, horses, buggies and two automobiles. Will sell the stock and autos seperately, or all together to suit the purchaser. Will be sold at a bargain. Make me a cash offer.
Thos. Frankson,
Pioneer Bldg.
St. Paul, Minn

Elmer Hagg a former publisher of this paper was in town a few hours today calling on his friends He has just gave up a job as foreman of the Democrat office in Estherville and purchased a half interest in a small job office at Sioux Falls, S. D., and will go there in a short time to assume charge of the business. His many friends at this place will wish him success.

A large number of our exchanges are giving Judge Quarton very favorable mention in his race for congress. It looks like the Judge will have a very strong following in the general election. There is still plenty of time to look up Quarton's qualifications and the more you do so and compare him with the other candidates in the field, the more votes he is bound to poll.

A. J. Arends received word on Monday afternoon of the sudden death of his brother, a policeman in Cedar Rapids, by coming in contact with a live electric wire which had fallen to the street. A. J. went down Monday night to be present at the funeral.—Meservey Register

Notice

There will be a Home Talent play and Basket Social in the Frank Rhodes School on Wednesday evening, May 13, 1914. All are cordially invited and ladies are kindly requested to bring baskets.

Mabel G. Wilkins,
Teacher

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

Sherwin-Williams Paint

(Covers the World)

We have just added a large stock of this celebrated paint and would be pleased to give you money saving figures on your paint contracts. It pays to use good paint—there is no better than Sherwin-Williams.

How About That Range?

We have sold a number of the famous Monarch Ranges and we would be pleased to tell you of its many superior points.

We have the most complete line of Aluminum Ware in town and every piece is sold with a 20 year guarantee ann it is also priced within the reach of all.

We are prepared to do any kind of tin or repair work. If you need any eave spouting, come and get our price.

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

C. W. WILES

THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

SOMETHING TO EAT?

No season of the year perplexes the housewife more in search for palatable foods than the present one—too early to depend on the garden, and you're tired of winter's heavy, heating solids

OUR STORE WILL AID YOU

It's shelves are loaded with new arrivals for the spring and summer tables—bring your worries to us. And watch for the first shipments of new garden stuff. It's almost due and, as usual, we'll have it first.

J. N. DAY

The General Merchandise Store

Birth Announcements

A small card, 1 5 16x2⅛ inches, for the name of the new baby and a large card, 2¼x3½ inches, for the parents' name and announcement. Envelopes to match, and sufficient ribbon to tie cards. Both cards punched.
Cards and envelopes are bordered in blue for girl and pink for boy. Ribbon to match; put up in a neat box containing 50 each size cards and ribbon. Any amount will be printed that you desire. An appropriate way to inform your friends of the Stork's visit.

Get Them at the Times Office
"Mike's Place"

Neat Job Work at Right Prices at the Times Office.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

There are operated in the United States more than half of all the motor vehicles in the world, the number, including motorcycles, being 628,185, as compared with England's 125,728. The balance of a total of 1,161,911 is distributed throughout the other countries of the world. France ranks third with 89,185, and Germany fourth with 70,006. The total number of motor trucks is given as 69,556. Usually the number of automobiles in any country greatly exceeds the number of trucks, although Germany is reported as having 49 126 trucks and only 15,618 pleasure cars These figures probably fall far short of the actual number of vehicles in use today It is estimated that 300 000 motor vehicles were manufactured and put into service last year.

Trap shooting is the principal sport of Spain, and this is practically true of Jerez de la Frontera. The king's cup, emblematic of the national championship and presented by his majesty, Alfonso XIII, himself an ardent patron of the sport, and one of the crack shots of Spain, has been held by the organization in that town for the last two years. The next competition will be held there soon and is expected to attract several hundred of the best shots from all parts of the country as entries for this event

To determine the letting of a piece of meadow land, a quaint device was resorted to at Butterwich, near Boston A candle was lighted and a pin stuck in its side Then bidding commenced The candle burned until the flame reached the pin, which fell out, and the land was declared let to the last bidder prior to the pin falling. There are people, still living, who remember when the sandglass was used at auctions in Lincolnshire and the candle and pin is a revival of an ancient custom

The enormous number of Brahmins and Mohammedans, in India, whose religions strictly prohibit the drinking of alcoholic beverages, are finding in aerated water a substitute that violates no religious principle Among natives, of the strictest caste prejudices, who are ordinarily careful not to eat or drink anything that has been prepared by persons of other castes, no objection seems to be raised to aerated waters which, being made by machinery, are regarded as free from contamination

Dr W H Roots, of Kingston, London the oldest divisional surgeon in the metropolitan police, has retired after over 40 years service The appointment has been held by ancestors of Dr Roots for many years One of them it is related, was called to attend Dick Turpin on Kingston Hill, when that notorious highwayman met with an accident there A guinea which Dick Turpin paid for the doctor's service is still kept as a curiosity by the family

For about 100 years Denmark has had a system of agricultural apprenticeship to teach the practical side of farming The boys serve three years on farms in different parts of the country, spending one year on each farm and receiving a small wage. They report annually to the Royal Danish Agricultural society, sending in notes on their experience instruction and observation

Frank E Hall of Bangor, Me has a beautiful violin thought to be of Italian make about 200 years old and worth more than $300 Recently he had an accident in which the instrument was completely smashed into small pieces, but a local repairer, after many months work succeeded in gluing all the many small pieces together so that the tone is as good now as ever

In La Crosse Wis, 161 election officials were employed for a day and the whole election formality gone through with at an expense of about $2 000 in order that 1 vote might be cast for the single office of justice of the supreme court There was only one candidate for the office and almost no one took the trouble to vote

Assisted by a trolley car Alexander Morton moved a large house from one location to another at South Norwalk Conn in less than 30 minutes The city authorities gave him only so much time in which to do it and with the aid of a car and a large gang of men with rollers the trick was done.

A novel newspaper has appeared in St Petersburg called the Vagabonds' Gazette It is intended for circulation among the criminal classes and its chief contributors are well known to the Russian police Signed articles relating the details of famous coups are an important feature of the new journal

Two 'k-nuts were ambling home at an early hour in the morning after a festive evening 'Doesn't your wife miss you on these occasions?" asked one "Not often" replied the other "She throws pretty straight"—Cleveland Leader

Another perfectly good reason for "pure shoes" legislation is that it is so disappointing to an arctic explorer to bite into a boot which he bought at cowhide prices and find that it is imitation leather—Louisville Courier-Journal

Oil fields in German New Guinea are to be developed, four large companies seeking concessions. It is announced from Berlin that the legislative budget carries $120,000 for geological studies in Nerman New Guinea, prior to granting concessions

A comparison of 526 star athletes of the naval academy with 580 nonathletes, in both cases from the classes of 1892-1911, shows that, apparently, the non-athletes are in better physical condition than the athletes.

Homing pigeons in calm weather can travel at a speed of 1,200 yards a minute With a brisk wind prevailing and blowing in the direction of its flight, a pigeon has been known to make 1,900 yards a minute.

Wood blocks are used for paving the streets of Berlin only on the sharpest grades and to give a better footing on the bridges and their approaches.

IOWA'S INHERITANCE TAX DOUBLES RECORD ON PREVIOUS YEARS

Collections for Periods Ending May 1, $341,533—Number of Estates, 629.

Des Moines, Ia., May 4.—The state of Iowa received $341,533.18 through the collateral inheritance tax during the year ending May 1, 1914, according to the report of Quincy A. Willis, deputy treasurer of state. This amount is more than double the receipts from this source which the state enjoyed during the same length of time in past years.

There were 629 estates adjusted during the last year, upon which the collateral tax could be levied on all or a part. The statutes provide that 5 per cent of all sums bequeathed to all persons or institutions, not direct heirs, shall be paid into the state treasury. Although the law is an old one, the collection of the tax usually brings forth protest from those who have to give up a small part of the amount they receive. The public never seems to get used to the law.

The largest estates upon which the state tax was collected were the O. H. Perkins estate of Des Moines, which amounted to $491,065, and the George H. Reinicker estate of Hamilton county, amounting to $587,248. The heirs of Oliver H Perkins paid $24,553.25 collateral inheritance tax and the Reinicker heirs paid $29,362 40.

Two other Polk county estates of importance settled during the year were the James S. Lewis estate tax of $3 974 59 on $79,491.80, which was given to others than direct heirs, and the Francis G Van Woert estate, upon which $1,817 64 tax was paid.

The receipts from this source were heavy during the month of April at the treasurer's office. Seventy estates paid in various amounts. The sums exacted by the state vary, but most estates of fair size pay in sums in the vicinity of $500 to $1,000.

BIG PROGAM AHEAD FOR LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Des Moines Ia., May 4—Preparations have been made for the improvement of 150 continuous miles of the Lincoln highway through Marshall, Story, Boone, Greene, Carroll and Crawford counties so that the Lincoln highway commission may come into Iowa this year and begin the work of hard surfacing the continental road, declared Dean A Marston, chairman of the Iowa highway commission, who came to Des Moines yesterday to confer with Governor Clarke Mr Marston lives at Ames, one of the towns on this highway

The chairman asserts that work is under way in Dubuque on the Hawkeye highway About $90,000 will be spent in macadamizing the road Of this amount $30,000 is furnished by the government and $60,000 by the county Ottumwa Mason City, Burlington and Waterloo boosters have planned paved roads out from the cities also, it is reported

WOMAN CANDIDATE ON SOCIALIST TICKET BARRED

Des Moines, Ia, May 4—Following the filing of an opinion by Attorney General George Cosson holding that women are not eligible to hold state offices W S Allen, secretary of state, is omitting the name of Mrs. Ida M. Dowell of Muscatine, socalist candidate for secretary of state, from the primary ballot which will be certified today to the county auditors of the state Women have been candidates for state offices in previous campaigns, but none ever was elected. It is said that previously the question of the eligibility of women to office was not raised, therefore there had been no ruling on the point

No objection whatever has been made to placing the name of Judge C G Lee of Ames, republican candidate for governor on the primary ticket owing to the question of his eligibility.

OFFICIALS SHIFTED ON M. & ST. L. CENTRAL DIVISION

Marshalltown, Ia, May 4.—Trainmaster A C Murphy, of the central division of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railway, has resigned, and G W Barr of Monmouth, trainmaster of the Illinois division, succeeds him The change became effective today Chief Dispatcher R P Wilson, of Oskaloosa, succeeds Barr, and R W. Lamphere, a dispatcher, has taken Wilson's place as chief Murphy will go to Portland, Ore The central division extends from Albert Lea, Minn, to Albia, Ia, including branches

JUDGE DEFERS DECISION ON NEW BRAZZELL TRIAL

Dubuque, Ia, May 4—After arguments on motion for a new trail presented by attorneys for Mrs. Dora Brazzell convicted of murder in the second degree for death of her husband, Charles Brazzell, last January, had been concluded Judge Kintzinger announced he would consider the matter

GETS BADLY BURNED FROM GASOLINE IN CAR RADIATOR

Magnolia, Ia, May 4.—Percy Purcell was painfully burned in the face here by the explosion of gasoline that he mistook for water and poured into the radiator of his car. Mr. Purcell filled the radiator of the car and then struck a match to make an inspection, when the explosion occurred.

MOVILLE MAN KEEPS HIS MARRIAGE SECRET

Moville, Ia, May 4.—O B. Betz, who came here on February 19 to clerk in the Leader store, has been in the ranks of the benedicts since March 27, and the news just leaked out here. The bride was Miss Zoe Delaney, a teacher at Waterbury, Neb. Mrs. Metz was here for a couple of days and returned to Waterbury, where she will continue teaching till the end of the term.

ALLEGED LEMARS ELOPERS HELD ON STATUTORY CHARGE

LeMars, Ia., May 4.—Mrs. Ernest Farris and Robert Hamilton, living southeast of LeMars, were arrested in Sioux City and brought back here and arraigned on a statutory charge. The information was filed by Ernest Farris, husband of the woman, who, on going home a few nights ago, found his wife had departed. The pair were held to the grand jury in default of $500 bonds.

MANY BELIEVE PARKS KILLED MRS. BIERIE AND THEN SUICIDED

Various Theories Advanced for Recent Double Tragedy at Fredericksburg.

New Hampton, Ia., May 3.—Since the first excitement in regard to the double suicide at Fredericksburg Tuesday has quieted, it is possible to gather some details concerning the tragedy.

Many believe that both shots were fired by the same hand, and Mr. Daniels, the father of Mrs. Bierie, seems positively convinced of this fact. Mr. Parks had carried the revolver which was used for nearly a year. His wife was afraid of the gun and took it away from him some time ago. He told her she might as well give it back to him for he would buy another one, so she returned it.

Mr. Parks had been drinking heavily, it is said, for the past few months, and his wife asserts that he drank a quart of whisky between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock on the night of the tragedy. It seems difficult to ascertain whether Mrs Bierie and Mr. Parks were in the same room at the time of the first shot.

Since Mrs. Bierie's separation from her husband and in spite of the unsavory damage suit which Bierie had filed against Parks, Mrs Bierie had made the Parks home her headquarters From there she went to various places to work as a nurse The peculiar situation of her stopping at the Parks home is explained by the fact that the two women had lived neighbors all of their lives, and were good friends. Mrs. Bierie was spending Tuesday evening at the Parks home, when he and his wife began to quarrel Mrs Bierie said the trouble was all her fault and left the room crying, and rushed upstairs, as they through to pack her clothes. Parks followed her and the two shots were fired.

SIOUX CITYAN AWARDED ONLY SENIOR FELLOWSHIP

Iowa City, Ia, May 3—Thirty-two fellowships and scholarships in the University of Iowa have been awarded by the state board of education.

Following is the list and departments. Senior fellowship, F. E. Haynes, political science, Sioux City.

Junior fellowships A. L. S. Bray, botany, New Westminster, Can.; E O. Dieterich, physics, Dubuque, J. W. Doolittle, physics, Sibley, Harry H Gould, psychology, Iowa City, Carl J Knock, psychology, St Peter, Minn, Anna E. Lindblom, English, Fairmont, Minn.; I K. Pollock, political science, Libertyville; J. W. Richardson, education, Albia, Philip Sodergren, psychology, Holdridge, Neb.; A B. Swanson, German, Boone; Totaro Wada, political science, Japan.

Scholarships. Ada M. Barker, history, Brooklyn; Eloise Zrainerd, English, Iowa City; L. A Brueckner, education, Iowa City, Lida B Coolidge, English, Edgewood, S E. Elliott, mathematics, Akron, Hertha J Falk, botany, Davenport, Leon V. Fees, geology, Guthrie, Okla, H A Foster, sociology, Cedar Rapids, H H. Gold, education, Ouray, Colo., F. E. Harvey, Latin, Rolla, Mo, G H Hilliard, education, Vinton, Thesle T. Job, biology, Des Moines, Helen Moon, mathematics, Iowa City, Robert L Masson, economics, Washington, Harold H Maynard, economics, Kansas City, Mo., Jacob W Meyer, education, Hanning, Beatrice Parkhill, English, Hopkinton, Washburne Shipton, geology, Hanover, Ill., Carrie Stanley, English, Corning

The list includes fellowships and scholarships for the university year of 1914-1915.

ROADS REFUSE TO FILE REPORTS OF ACCIDENTS

Des Moines, Ia, May 3—Contending that the railroads operating in this state do not come under the Iowa employers' liability and workmen's compensation law, the roads, with the exception of the Great Western, have refused to make reports to A L. Urick, labor commissioner, upon accidents which occur through the operation of the lines. The attorneys for the companies have explained that it is important that nothing be done which may be construed to be an acceptance on the part of the railroads of the new law which goes into effect July 1.

The operators of the railroads assert that they are under the federal liability law and that their employes cannot claim protection under the Iowa statute. Although many of the Iowa lines do not run out of the state, they claim the same rights that the interstate lines have, by reason of the fact that they handle business destined for points outside of the state.

REPUBLICAN TICKET ABOUT FILLED IN IDA COUNTY

Ida Grove, Ia, May 3—With only two days remaining for filing nomination papers, the several political parties have considerable business ahead in Ida county. The progressives have as yet filed no papers, but it is understood they will have a full county ticket County candidates who have filed for the republicans are George C. Hubbard, for treasurer, Charles S. Macomber, for attorney, F. G. Stough, for recorder; W. J. Scott, for clerk, Hobart Williams, for recorder, Dr. D. W Farnsworth, for supervisor. Democrats who have filed are Richard Varner, for auditor, Thomas McLeod, for sheriff, and H J. Von Dohren, for recorder. McLeod has been sheriff of Ida county 13 years.

STARTS $10,000 SUIT ON ALLEGATIONS OF SLANDER

New Hampton, Ia., May 3.—Papers have been filed for a suit which promises to be sensational. Attorneys for Miss Louise Klatt, of this city, have filed papers upon the members of the firm of Johnson & Hilmer, for $10,000 damages, the accusation being that of malicious slander.

Miss Klatt was employed as bookkeeper and clerk at their "Corner grocery," and claim they accused her of dishonesty. She left their employ and entered the department store of Sheakley & Kennedy Bros., where she is now employed.

Prior to her connection with the "Corner grocery," she was employed for several years by M. J. Walker in his grocery store She resides with her mother and brothers in this city

NO VALID REASON TO CLAIM JUDGE LEE IS FRIENDLY TO SALOON

Campaign Manager Takes Issue on Reported Criticism at Sioux City.

Des Moines, Ia., May 2.—W. S. Weston of Webster City, in charge of Judge Lee's campaign headquarters here, today addressed a letter to the Marshalltown Times-Republican in response to a news story from Sioux City, alleging that anti-saloon league workers had classed the Ames gubernatorial candidate as friendly to the saloon interests. Investigation discloses that Judge Lee was not cited in the formal resolutions at Sioux City, but that one of the speakers had criticized him.

Mr Weston says in part:

If there is anything either in Judge Lee's personal habits, private opinions or official acts to lend the least color to such a charge, those bringing it should specify what it is. The only possible basis for it is a decision rendered by him in a case at Fort Dodge wherein he held that a consent petition was sufficient, and was afterwards overruled by the supreme court. By a previous decision in the same court he put out of business every saloon in Webster county, outside of Ft. Dodge, and by the same process of reasoning would not be "an enemy to the temperance cause" The consent petition case turned on the question of whether or not 79 voters should be counted who had signed statements to the board of supervisors authorizing the withdrawal of their names from the consent petition and afterwards filed affidavits asking that their names be counted on the consent petition, and not on the withdrawal petition, and 36 names about which there was a question as to their agreeing with one or the other of the poll books used at the preceding general election There was no dispute about the facts and the case was decided on the record made before the board of supervisors. A lengthy finding was filed by the court setting out in great detail the reasons for the conclusions reached and citing numerous authorities The finding is too long for a newspaper article, but the concluding paragraphs are as follows:

"This is a government by law, which law is made by the people When the law is interpreted it should be administered as it is found to exist If the results are not satisfactory the remedy lies in the change of the law, not in overriding it. The conclusions in this case are briefly:

"1 That if the signature on the statement of consent corresponds with one of the lists kept by a clerk of the last general election and properly preserved, it is prima facie evidence that such person voted at that election and the signature should not be rejected because the spelling in the other poll book is at variance.

"2. That where authority is given to the board of supervisors to withdraw the signatures or to ignore it in the canvass that authority may be revoked at any time before the board exercises the same.

"3 That the board of supervisors, in order to exercise such authority, must take some final action as a board with that purpose in view

"4. That since the record of the board of supervisors in this case shows that action was not taken upon the withdrawals until the authority given had been revoked by 79 signers, there is no right to ignore their signatures upon the statement of consent, but the same must now be counted"

"It is the finding that at the time the statement of consent was filed and at all times until the board of supervisors took its final action upon said statement there were 1,069 valid and legal signatures of persons who voted at the last preceding general election in Fort Dodge, Ia., affixed to it and that therefore a majority of the legal voters in said city were in favor of the same and that the statement of consent was and is sufficient"

It would be just as logical to claim that Judge Lee was in favor of arson because he granted a new trial in the case of a man convicted of this crime because he was not himself satisfied of his guilt to such a certainty that he was willing to pass sentence or in favor of murder because he directed a verdict in a case where the evidence was insufficient to sustain a conviction or opposed to the right of private contract because he set aside a deed procured by duress and fraud

CLAY COUNTY SELECTED ON CHOLERA EXPERIMENTS

Ames, Ia, May 2—Hog cholera prevention demonstration is to be carried on this year by the United States department of agriculture in Clay county, with the state veterinarian and Iowa State college co-operating, according to an announcement made by President R. A. Pearson to 318 Clay county farmers who were the guests of the college Wednesday on a special excursion trip

After consultation with the officers of the Clay county Improvement association President Pearson and Dan C. F Curtiss selected Clay county as the best field for the new work As in Dallas county, the state veterinarian, Dr J I Gibson, will have charge of quarantine measures, the government men will direct the use of serum, and the extension department of Iowa State college will furnish veterinarians to lead in the educational side of the work

Practically every township in Clay county was represented in the large delegation of members of the Clay County Improvement association, which led by W. A Posey, county agricultural adviser came in a special train to see the college and its equipment. The excursion was promoted by the United States bureau of plant industry.

IDA COUNTY GIRL MAKES CHARGE AGAINST FARMER

Ida Grove, Ia, May 2.—Information was worn to by Miss Luella Schutt, a farmer's daughter, residing a mile and a half west of this city, charging Robert Todd, a well known Ida county farmer, with assault with intent to commit a felony. Todd appeared before Justice of the Peace Carl E. McCutchen and obtained a continuance until May 6.

About 10 days ago Todd, who owns an automobile, invited two Ida Grove citizens to ride to Battle Creek, and at the edge of town they passed Miss Schutt, who was on her way home from working in the city laundry, where she is an employe. Todd was acquainted with her and stopped his machine and asked her to ride the balance of the distance home in the car. She accepted, but when they reached the Schutt farmhouse he did not stop the machine, but kept on toward Battle Creek, telling the girl that they would have supper in Battle Creek and then return home, all in a joking manner, he says

INVENTOR SCHROE... FAMOUS, DIES P...

Made Several Fortun... Spent Them on Resea... On Eve of Anothe...

Chicago, Ill., May 4—Carl S... civil engineer, chemist and ... who made several fortunes an... ed them in the interest of sc... yesterday on the eve of per... invention which he had expe... bring him still another fortu... will pay the expenses of hi... which was held today

Friends say Schroeter de... 20 hours a day to work in... laboratory. As engineer he ... tended the construction of ... fice buildings in New York ... cago. As a chemist he evol... las for water proofing, whic... tensive use today As an in... patented a coke oven and ... which makes lace curtains ...

In the role of inventor Sch... perfected a dry distillation ... disposing of mixed refuse ... planned to give a demonstra... to city officials in charge of ... garbage problem, within th... days.

Mr. Schroeter was born in ... 68 years ago. He served th... Franco-Prussian war as an ... engineers and was decorated ... iron cross for bravery and ... neering feats

WOULD POSTPONE TOLLS BILL

Washington, May 4—Sena... today offered a resolution to ... action on the Panama tolls ... until the question had been ... ly" voted on in the election o... tire House of Representatives ... senators next November

Norris Opens Fire.

Withouth waiting for the ... canal tools exemption bill to ... formally before the Senate ... Norris began debate on the ... with an appeal for a resort to ... tion. He favored ... Hou... measure, with an ... ner... ly stating the United States ... rights thereby, but called upo... dent Wilson to invite Grea... arbitrate the dispute as to ... the United States to discri... favor of its own vessels.

The exemption of coastwise ... from tolls, Senator Norris ... amounted to nothing less th... sidy to a class of vessels alre... joying a monopoly, and not d... nearly as much as America ... engaged in foreign trade and ... with all the ships of the wor... argued that the exemption w... benefit shipper or consumer ... the difference in the cost of tra... tion by rail and water was ... 33 1-3 per cent—that the ... would not affect the water ra...

Same as Free Railroa...

He insisted the governme... more right to pay the legitima... transportation of goods across ... mus than it had to build a ... road across the continent.

Senator Norris criticized the ... taken by Senator Lodge, that ... ted States has a right to disc... in favor of its own vessels, to ... surrender that right out of re... the opinion of the civilized wo... the other hand, the Nebraska ... said that to decline to arbi... question would be to reverse ... tense the United States ha... making in the family of na... years.

It would not do, he argued, ... the weakness of the case by s... civilized world was against th... States, and therefore a fair tri... arbitration could not be procu... suggests the court of abritra... sist of three members of the ... court of the United States a... judges of the highest court of ... with possibly the president of ... land or a citizen of that co... lected by the president of Sw... sitting as the seventh membe...

"I should expect the decisio... a tribunal to be unanimous."

STEAMER SIBERIA IS SAFE I...

Tokio, May 4.—Great relie... here at the news from Manila ... Pacific mail steamer Siberia ... yesterday by wireless to have ... great peril off the coast of Fo... safe at Manila.

No satisfactory explanation ... able in Tokio as to how the ... reports of yesterday came to ... seminated. The Japanese au... have decided to investigate. ... recalled the warships she di... yesterday to the aid of the ... posed to be in distress.

A dispatch from Manila ... last night said the Siberia ... into the port at 11 a m. to... an uneventful voyage from ... which port she left April 29. ... Zeeder, of the Siberia, said he ... the reports that his vessel was ... tress arose over confusion in ... letters of the steamer Per... which vessel he had been in co... cation. These letters are "M... and they doubtless were mista... "S. O. S.," the marine wireless ... for aid.

The wireless operator on b... Siberia added that the atm... conditions had been bad, mak... cult the sending of wireless ... The first erroneous reading ... wireless calls from the Sibe... dently were made on the Os... tion in Japan. They were in... as setting forth that the stea... met with an accident and was ... tress. Other wireless reports ... sponsible for the belief that ... sinking.

On receiving the news the ... government dispatched cru... merchant ships from Formosa ... the Siberia was supposed to b... A British warship steamed ... speed to her assistance and th... ican naval authorities at Ma... hurried preparations to send ...

[illegible]MISSION [illegible]L IS REPORTED

Measure Makes Guilt Personal —Proposed Board to Be of Five Members.

[illegible]ington, May 4.—The adminis- [illegible] interstate trade commission bill [illegible] framed by a sub-committee of the [illegible] interstate commerce committee, [illegible] to the full committee, was [illegible]e today. Railroad repre- [illegible] will be heard on the bill by [illegible]ittee May 11 and 12, and [illegible] interested as opportunity of- [illegible].

The bill would provide for a commis- [illegible] of five, not more than three of one [illegible] political party, at $10,000 a year. Each [illegible] would be allowed $5,000 [illegible]ary. The commission would [illegible] to "investigate the or- [illegible] business, financial condi- [illegible]ment and its relations to [illegible]ions of any corporation [illegible] commerce as congress [illegible] power to regulate under the [illegible].

[illegible] also would empower the [illegible] to call on the districts [illegible]rce its orders against [illegible]. The bill makes guilt per- [illegible] directors, officers and [illegible] responsible for violations of the [illegible]orations and providing a [illegible] of one year's imprison- [illegible] penalty against such offi- [illegible].

[illegible]NERS AND MINE GUARDS ARE TOLD TO GIVE UP ARMS

[illegible] May 4.—Under author- [illegible]resident Secretary of [illegible] today issued a procla- [illegible]on the people in the [illegible] of Colorado to surrender [illegible]munition to the United [illegible]fficers now in charge at [illegible]ubled localities.

[illegible]arrison's proclamation [illegible]Major Holbrook at Trin- [illegible]most sweeping terms and [illegible] disarming of not only [illegible] mine guards. The text [illegible]ation is:

[illegible]nder existing condi- [illegible]session of arms and [illegible]y persons not in the [illegible]ce of the United [illegible] to provoke disorder [illegible] domestic violence and [illegible]restoration of normal [illegible]peace and good order, [illegible]authority of the pres- [illegible]United States call on [illegible]ll persons not in the [illegible]ce of the United [illegible]ave arms or ammu- [illegible]r possession or under [illegible]to deliver them forth- [illegible]fficer at the place here- [illegible].

[illegible]will be issued for all [illegible]mmunition delivered. [illegible]pplies to individuals, [illegible]tions and corpora- [illegible].

[illegible] command at each place [illegible]re stationed is charged [illegible]oclamation [illegible]rrison's determination to [illegible]amation for the surren- [illegible]s reached after mature [illegible] reports from Major Hol- [illegible]ad. It was pointed out [illegible]g the surrender of arms [illegible]mmanders at the respec- [illegible]the government assumes [illegible]lity for the protection of [illegible]which individuals, corpor- [illegible]tions and firms hitherto [illegible]arding on their own ac- [illegible]is was laid on the fact [illegible]ping terms of the proc- [illegible] all "not in military [illegible] of the United States" to sur- [illegible] their arms, applies only to lo- [illegible] where the United Sattes troops [illegible] present.

As the trouble districts are widely [illegible]attered throughout Colorado no army [illegible]fficer will be in supreme command of [illegible]he military forces sent into the state. [illegible]ecretary Garrison will issue his or- [illegible]ers directly to the officers in com- [illegible]mand of the forces in the various lo- [illegible]alities.

Garrison Explains.

In explanation of the proclamation [illegible]ecretary Garrison made the following [illegible]tatement:

[illegible] from the commander in Col- [illegible] that the use of firearms has [illegible]. In the district from [illegible] south, an area of about [illegible] miles, there are at least 60 [illegible]. They are located mainly in [illegible] and are very difficult to reach. [illegible] and those sympathizing [illegible] have recently organized and [illegible] themselves and the operators [illegible] hundreds of mine guards who [illegible] armed.

[illegible] troops in certain local- [illegible] have served to aggravate the [illegible]. Certain stores in Walsen- [illegible] broken into by some troops [illegible] with the organization and [illegible] were taken [illegible].

[illegible] in the Canon City dis- [illegible] are similar to those in the Walsen- [illegible] district.

[illegible] was a very serious conflict [illegible] where women and children [illegible] men, were killed and since [illegible] the feeling has been exces- [illegible].

[illegible] commanders in the field, have, [illegible] wise judgment, have [illegible] and with the limited num- [illegible] at their disposal are doing [illegible] possible.

[illegible] that the proclamation [illegible] parties to give up arms [illegible] fully and promptly com- [illegible] will be a great source of danger [illegible] removed.

IT'S WORSE THAN MEXICO SQUARES JOHN P. WHITE

Scranton, Pa., May 4.—"Our boys [illegible] have gone to Mexico to com- [illegible] the Mexicans to salute the "Stars [illegible] while out in Colorado [illegible] are tearing the flag out of our [illegible] and [illegible] men for 'daring to [illegible] it stands for,'" John [illegible] White, [illegible]ent of the United Mine [illegible] America, declared in an [illegible] today. "More men have [illegible] in Colorado in the last two [illegible] Mexico," Mr. White con- [illegible] John D. Rockefeller, jr., [illegible] has [illegible] interest in the human [illegible]. His [illegible] in spite of his riches, [illegible] has devoted his great [illegible] and intelligence to money [illegible].

IMPORTANT WITNESS SAILS FOR EUROPE

John Hall McKay, New Haven Attorney, Evades Government Summons.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—New interest was added to the investigation by the Interstate Commerce commission into the financial relations of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the Billard company by the unsuccessful efforts of the commission to summon John Hall McKay, who has been mentioned as counsel for former President Mellen and who, in the opinion of Chief Counsel Folk, is an essential witness. It was learned by the commission that Mr McKay was at his office in New York yesterday and that some time during the day he sailed for Eurpoe Mr Folk is now trying to find out if his departure was before or after his name was brought into the proceedings

GERMAN WOMAN IS VICTIM OF WRATH OF MEXICAN MOB

Washington May 4.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan discussed terms of mediation of the Mexican problem for an hour late today Secretary Bryan on leaving the White House said that the discussion was of a general nature and he was not at liberty to make public details other than those already known

Vera Cruz, May 4.—That Mrs Clara Beckemeyer, a German woman, who according to rumor was mistaken for an American, was killed by a mob in the streets of Mexico City on April 27, is the news brought here today by refugees from the federal capital. No confirmation of the incident has been received here

Under the impression that the trains still were running on the Interoceanic railroad, the refugees went to the station of that line instead of to the depot of the Mexican railway over which road all other refugees have left the capital so that the news of the woman's death was not widely known among Americans and was late in reaching Vera Cruz.

Mrs Beckemeyer was a widow of three months She wore at her collar a small silk German flag, but the mob regarding this merely as a flimsy disguise of nationality is said to have dragged her through the streets until she died

MINISTER ROJAS RESIGNS FROM HUERTA'S CABINET

Washington, May 4.—Licentiate Esteba Ruiz has been appointed minister of foreign affairs in the Huerta cabinet to succeed Portillo y Rojas, retired The Spanish ambassador here was officially informed of the appointment by cable this morning He is communicating the new appointment to the mediators.

Ruiz the new foreign minister, was under secretary of Portillo y Rojas. He has assisted in the mediation negotiations and it is authoritatively stated that the change will not affect the continued progress of the mediation plans Ruiz had been looked to as probable Huerta commissioner in case the mediators proposed a commission representing all parties to the controversy

The Spanish ambassador, Mr Riano, carried the cable announcement of Ruiz's appointment to the Argentine legation. The mediators were at once called together and a conference began with the Spanish ambassador taking part Washington Surprised.

The appointment of Ruiz and retirement of Portillo y Rojas the lateer having made known last night, came as a complete surprise to officials here, particularly to the mediators and the Spanish Ambassador who had received no hint of an impending change. The mediators had carried on all their negotiations up to this time with Portillo y Rojas and his retirement was regarded as unfavorable until the cable announcement reached Mr Riano that Ruiz had taken the direction of foreign affairs

The mediators had planned three sessions today the first beginning at 1 o'clock. Up to that time they had 'not heard of Ruiz' appointment. But the over night development on the rtirement of Portillo y Rojas was receiving close attention, as the mediators had carried on all their negotiations with him up to this time The proposition of good offices was made to Portillo y Rojas and accepted by him. So that his removal took away one who had been a chief figure in the progress thus far made

The mediators stated, however, that the retirement of Portillo would in no way affect the negotiations It was pointed out that the acceptance of the Huerta government, both of good offices and of the armistice, was in complete force, so that the retirement of the minister was construed by the meditators as being merely the change of one man and not of great significance on the main issues of mediation.

Huerta at the Helm.

Outside the mediation conference, the bearing of the Ruiz appointment caused widespread speculation. The fact that he had been mentioned as a probable Huerta commissioner in case the mediators proposed a commission to settle the entire trouble, led to the belief that Ruiz would pursue the same friendly policy shown in the negotiations up to this time. But in some quarters it was felt that Huerta himself was directing affairs with a strong hand, and that Ruiz was more amenable to Hueta's direction than Portillo y Rojas had been.

It was pointed out that according to the Mexican constitution, the minister of foreign affairs succeeds to the presidency in case of the president's retirement when there is no vice president, as is the case now in Mexico. Hence Portillo was next in line for the presidency and Ruiz is now in that position.

Senor Ruiz has been in the Mexican government service in various capacities for many years, but has never affiliated himself with any particular faction. His position has been analogous to that of an assistant secretary in our state department.

KENYON WOULD UPSET ROCKEFELLER SCHEME

Iowa Senator Wants to Abolish Educational Fund Backed by John D.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—Senator Kenyon introduced a bill today to repeal the act under which the Rockefeller general education board is incorporated. He declares this institution which has been paying part of the agricultural department employes and which draws part of its support from properties involved in the Colorado strike ought to have its charter taken from it and that this government must not, be in partnership with the "invisible government."

To the general education board, John D. Rockefeller has contributed $42,000,000 in 1903 for the carrying on of farm demonstration and other educational work. Among contributions to the board was over $2,000,000 worth of stock in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company now involved in the coal strike resulting in sending of United States troops to Colorado.

ANARCHISTS MAY GET ROCKEFELLER

New York, May 3 A banner bearing a skull and crossbones and the caption "No 26 Broadway" was displayed at a large meeting of the Anti-Militarist league today, held at Mulberry Bend park, only a few doors from the Standard oil building Alexander Berkman, the anarchist who shot Henry C. Frick, called the meeting to order Marie Ganz, was the first speaker. She reiterated threats of personal violence to John D Rockefeller, jr.

Mr. Rockefeller did not appear at his offices today His secretaries said that, although he was not ill he was greatly broken up by the ordeal of criticism he had undergone in connection with the Colorado mine strike. They said Mr. Rockefeller felt he had been made to bear the brunt of criticism and he hoped in the near future to devise some plan whereby he may relieve the situation, so far as the demonstrations against him are concerned

"Mourners" On Job.

"Mourners" were again marching up and down in front of the Standard Oil building at 26 Broadway A threat to keep a hearse on the scene did not materialize

Among the marchers were Sarah Greenwood and Elizabeth Freeman, English suffragets Miss Freeman was released this morning from the Tombs prison, against her will. With Upton Sinclair and another woman she had gone to prison rather than pay a fine of $3 for disorderly conduct Upton Sinclair has inaugurated a hunger strike. He says he has eaten nothing but an orange and a dish of ice cream since Monday.

Last night Mr. Rockefeller issued a statement characterizing as "infamous" any allusion to conditions in Colorado as "Rockefeller's war." The conflicts in Colorado were not between mine owners and strikers, he asserted, but between the strikers and the state troops.

For more than an hour Berkman and other spectators denounced Rockefeller in the bitterest terms. Then, singing French and Italian airs, the crowd fell into marching order and swept northward toward Union Square They hooted the capitalist's name as they marched Banners bearing the letters "I. W. W." were conspicuous in the line.

TEDDY'S PACE TOO MUCH FOR NATIVES

New York, May 3.—Anthony Fiala, the explorer who was in charge of one of the Roosevelt expeditions in Brazil, arrived in New York today on the steamer Denis, from Rio Janeiro He vividedly described the experiences of the expedition, both before and after he separated from Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit on February 4. Telling of his 400-mile journey across the country with Roosevelt, Fiala said.

"At times we were all forced to dismount from our horses and cut our way with knives through the dense undergrowth When we reached Matto Grosso we rested for a couple of days and then all went hunting. In one party, which went for tiger cats, were Colonel Roosevelt, Kermit, a Brazilian chief of police, a Brazilian colonel and several natives. Kermit, I believe, is made of coiled wire all bound up in bronze He's tougher than his father, if such a thing is possible. The party started out early in the morning and pushed their way all day through swamps filled with crocodiles and snakes in pursuit of a tiger cat they had scared up.

Wore Out Natives.

"The Brazilians did the best they could with the negro boys, kept up for several hours. But the pace set by the colonel, even in their own jungle, was too much for them. Late at night, a boy returned to the camp and said that the colonel and Kermit were about two miles off in the jungle. When they finally came out their clothing was torn to shreds and their arms and legs were bleeding in many places But they were carrying the Brazilians' guns and shoes. The Brazilians had quit and were lying on their backs in a dry place recuperating. The tiger cat got away.

"The principal difficulty every one in the party experienced was with the food. I lost over 20 pounds in three weeks. I believe Colonel Roosevelt lost some, too. I never want to see another bean. Colonel Roosevelt, however, ate many of them and did not seem to mind.

"The great hazard in South American exploration is the rapids and falls in the rivers. On the Papagaio river, after I had left the colonel, I had with me six canoes. At the Rapids of the Devil we were simply sucked under. Everything and everybody went overboard. The natives, stark naked, reached the shore with some difficulty. I had been making a map of the river and had a board strapped to my wrist. That hindered me some and I went down several times. Finally I grabbed a limb and reached shore. I later learned that Colonel Roosevelt had also lost some of his canoes."

WORKADAY AFFAIRS BEING RESUMED IN CITY OF VERA CRUZ

Release of Prisoners and Kind Treatment Give Mexicans Better Opinion of Americans—Wireless Connects the Coasts.

Vera Cruz, May 2.—Vera Cruz went back to civil government today under the laws of Mexico administered by the American officials The civil government however, remained subordinate to martial law.

General Frederick Funston's brigade disembarked and marched to the Sand Hill barricks and other quarters to relieve Rear Admiral Fletcher's blue jackets, who went back to the men-of-war.

General Funston established his headquarters in the barracks deserted by General Maas and Admiral Fletcher withdrew his staff The marine corps was distributed to work with the army Refugees continue to arrive and preparations are being carried forward for their departure The navy transport Hancock is lying at Puerto, Mex., to take aboard those coming down from Mexico City She will bring them here for transportation to New Orleans and other ports on the transports Monterey and Morro Castle.

Late last night the refugees from Mexico City had not arrived at Puerto, Mex It could not be learned where they were detained, but it is known that in the surrounding country there is no evidence just now of federal activity Consul Canada's advices from General Maas indicated the latter was far inland and close to Mexico City.

Battle Rumors Denied.

Continued reports of renewed fighting at Tampico, that the battleships Utah and Florida were being held in readiness to sail and the Dixie was loading with marines for that port all lacked official confirmation There are no evidences here that Mexico is in the throes of a crisis The shops, scarred by rifle balls, again are busy Women, who hid in terror of what they believed would be the consequences of the landing of foreign troops, walk again safely abroad Men who held close to walls in fear of "snipers" now go boldly about their business The inhabitants have taken a new and enlightened view of the Americans

The release of prisoners from the water soaked dungeons of Fort San Juan De Uloa, where many came forth blinded from the years spent in darkness, was a revelation of the character and the attitude of the United States

Mexicans of the better class openly express gratification at the restoration of order and the resumption of business. But aside from the fact that the troops are here, Vera Cruz knows little and only wonders when the invaders will leave or will go to Mexico City

Shuttle trains continue to run from Vera Cruz to the point where General Maas destroyed the railroad to the capital and there meet passengers from trains coming down from Mexico City. Consul Canada says that practically all Americans in his district have been accounted for.

Tribute to Jackies.

Rear Admiral Fletcher's order for the withdrawal of bluejackets issued today, paid a high tribute to officers and men not only for valor in action, but also for orderly conduct and the resourcefulness which resulted in the quick restoration of normal living conditions for the citizens of Vera Cruz. The admiral personally thanked his command and declared:

"The highest honor is due those who gave their lives in the service of their country." Among the wireless messages reaching Rear Admiral Badger's flagship was one from the cruiser South Dakota on the west coast. It said the cruiser had aboard 65 refugees from various points.

The Cuban gunboat Cuba is now anchored with the American fleet. Her last visit here was made when she came to take away Francisco Madero after he had been deposed from the presidency by the Huerta-Felix Diaz agreement. The killing of Madero prevented the Cuba from carrying out her mission.

REBELS HAVING ACCEPTED MEDIATION ARE URGED TO CONSENT TO AN ARMISTICE

Washington May 2.—Acceptance of the principle of mediation by General Carranza, chief of the constitutionalists, is considered the most hopeful development since the mediation plan was attempted. In the face of constant protests from constitutionalists here that they feared a trap and would not take part in mediation, the action of Carranza was unexpected. It has put mediation on a broad basis and afforded some ground for expectation that peace can be restored to distracted Mexico

Carranza has been strongly urged by some of his American friends to participate in the mediation plan and he apparently took the view that he would be placed in a better light before the world if he accepted mediation and gave it a trial than if he refused it.

With mediation accepted by this country, Huerta and Carranza, the next question is whether a cessation of fighting between Huerta and Carranza can be arranged. Having accepted mediation in principle, it is doubtful if either can refuse an armistice, although if he orders fighting stopped, Carranza will go against the wishes of many of his military advisers, who are eager to press on.

Huerta Must Go.

The elimination of Huerta is the irreducible minimum of this government and it is expected to be a minimum for Carranza also. This is one place where the negotiations may stop and stop suddenly. Unless it soon appears that Huerta can be eliminated neither this country nor Carranza can long afford to haggle about it.

If Huerta is merely playing for time, that fact will soon be apparent. Should he get out, then comes up the big question of arranging a temporary government under which an election can be held. On this score, the constitutionalists are especially dubious, because they suspect the A. B. C. powers of conniving with Cientifico elements in Mexico to patch up a compromise which will be hurtful to their interests.

On the whole however, the outlook for success of mediation is regarded in Washington with more optimism today than at any time yet and this is due to the fact Carranza has disregarded the views of the more warlike of his advisers and has determined to meet mediation half way

Constitutionalist leaders insisted that Carranza, though willing to listen to the mediators, would refuse to halt his armies But it is believed in most quarters here that he will yield and grant an armistice

Washington, May 2.—It was asserted here today on unquestionable authority that the South American envoys, who are seeking to avert a crisis in Mexico have appealed to European governments for friendly offices to facilitate mediation between Mexico and the United States The appeal, it was stated, did not include a request, as reported from abroad, that the powers use their influence on President Wilson to name conditions, which would insure success of the negotiations

Ask Rebels to Stop.

It also was learned that a proposal to General Carranza, as head of the constitutionalists, to join the armistice proposed between the United States and Huerta has been made by the mediating envoys The proposal was forwarded to General Carranza following his acceptance of the good offices of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, and is a part of the plan of the envoys to secure a general cessation of hostilities in all Mexico pending the mediation negotiations

The request of the powers, it is declared, already has borne fruit as several diplomatic representatives of European nations have consulted with Secretary of State Bryan with relation to the negotiations Denial of previous reports from abroad with regard to this matter, it was pointed out, were based on the report that the powers had been asked to insist on a modification of the attitude of the United States. Officials here, who are in touch with the negotiations, insist that such action, was not even considered, and that the friendly offices of some of the European governments had been extended before the mediation envoys made the general request

It is believed here any step taken by the European governments probably would be limited to emphasizing through their representatives here the hope that the mediation would be successful and their desire to facilitate this purpose. There was no desire, it is said, on the part of these governments to interfere with the policy of President Wilson

The mediation envoys, Ambasador Da Gama of Brazil, Minister Naon of Argentina and Minister Suarez of Chile, renewed their conferences today after the Brazilian ambassador had conferred with Robert Lansing, counselor for the state department.

VILLA AND CARRANZA ARE NOW IN COMPLETE ACCORD

Chihuahua, May 2.—As a result of conferences between General Carranza and General Villa, the attitude of the constitutionalists toward the United States will not be affected by the occupation of Vera Cruz.

The announcement of this policy and Carranza's acceptance in principle of mediation, offer of Argentine, Brazil, and Chile were the principal news developments of the last 48 hours

The interview between the two leaders occurred behind closed doors, but yesterday they took a long automobile ride about the city together and next Monday it was announced General Carranza, as chief of the revolution, will accompany Villa to Torreon, there to review the victorious rebel troops

While official announcements are often received skeptically here, statements that Villa and Cararnza are in complete accord are generally accepted here as true.

The automobile ride and Carranza's contemplated trip south, long urged by Villa, are regarded as confirmatory evidence.

ENTIRE BORDER NOW UNDER CONTROL OF REBELS

Brownville, Tex., May 2.—For the first time during the present revolution Mexican constitutionalists today are in control of the entire portion of the frontier of Mexico which is divided by the Rio Grande from Texas The territory is 800 miles long and includes four strategic garrison towns.

The rebels completed their control of the section this week when Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras were occupied without resistance. Previously Matamoras, opposite to Brownsville at the mouth of the Rio Grande, and Juarez, were the important northern points under the sway of Carranza. The federal garrison of Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras evacuated after United States forces seized Vera Cruz.

Besides the four large towns, the rebels also hold on the border Las Vacas opposite Del Rio San Ygnacio below Nuevo Laredo, Guerrero and Mier Small garrisons hold each town except Piedras Negras, where Colonel Murgias has 1,200 men There is no large federal force north of Saltillo now that Monterey has fallen and General Guajardo has been defeated at Allende

The remnants of Guajardo's force from Piedras Negras and of the Nuevo Laredo federal garrison are believed to be scattered.

MEDIATION OFFER BORN OF DESIRE FOR PEACE

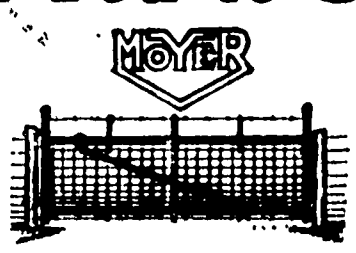
Rio Janeiro, May 2.—An ardent desire for peace and the union of the people of the two Americas was the sentiment which prompted Brazil, Argentina and Chile to offer their services in mediating between the United States and Mexico, according to Dr. Lauro Miller, the Brazilian foreign minister.

The idea of offering mediation was, not that of Brazil alone. Dr. Miller said, but was a simultaneous inspiration in the three republics.

Dr. Miller concluded that Europe had fully recognized the important part being played by Argentine, Brazil and Chile and was watching with lively interest the efforts of the three South American republics to prevent war between the United States and Mexico.

After an extensive experiment in a clinic in Cologne, the physicians announce that the average pulse rate of persons free from heart defects is 80 a minute during sleep and 74 when awake, the subjects in either case being at rest in bed.

I Want You to See the



FIVE YEARS GUARANTEE

30 Days Free Trial Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not

"Fixing Gates"—ever figure out just how much time you put in around the place fixing gates? Always out of order—broken down and hard to open. See the MOYER in this store. It's an everlasting gate. It has many exclusive features you'll find in no other. Strong and simple—guaranteed for 5 years by the manufacturer.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm—list it with me

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms.

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Where Will You Spend Your Summer Vacation?

The mountains, the woods, the seashore, all offer the maximum in outdoor life.

Colorado and the Rockies fill every requirement—there are also Yellowstone Park and Pacific Coast, if one has time for a more extended tour.

North and east are the woods and lakes of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, offering for enjoyment every phase of outdoor life.

Further east are the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence River and Atlantic Sea Coast.

Low Fares will be in effect daily all summer via the Rock Island Lines.

Finest modern all-steel equipment

Rock Island

Let me help you plan a delightful outing.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent.
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa

Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E. Baumgartner.

I hereby announce myself Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary.
Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.
THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.
Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.
Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries.
G. G. Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.
E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.
J. D. G Houghton,
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.
Martin Bachman

I hereby announce myself a candidate of County Supervisor of the 3rd District of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June.
Valentine Josten, Jr.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.
A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June, 1914, Republican primaries.
I C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J Cole

I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration.
S. B. Durant.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath.
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

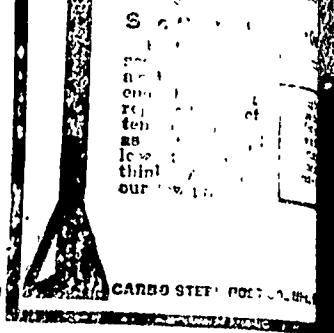
35c for One Saves 2 Rods of Every rotting wooden ... ruins two of ... ing. Avoid th... your fence ... farm's appearance ...

CARB...



NOTICE!

we are calling on all ... mers and town people ... business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR

in all kinds of GRAIN, CO... and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be ... to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & S...

Ice Cream And Soft Dri...

Our new fountain is at your service and ... dispensing the latest and most popular ... and fancy dishes. Try a Tango Sund...

City Restaurant & Hote...

A KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

ATTENTION FARMERS!

This is the time of the year to get your M... ready for Spring and Summer work. I am ... to do your Blacksmith work in a first class ... I also have the agency for the famous Robin... are Spreader.

GIVE ME A CALL

W. F. PAVEY

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardwa... Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook Stoves ... Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We ... also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Fee...

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BRO...

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 38 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY MAY 14, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

...banking business with, you can feel assured of ... and faithful service in every department

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

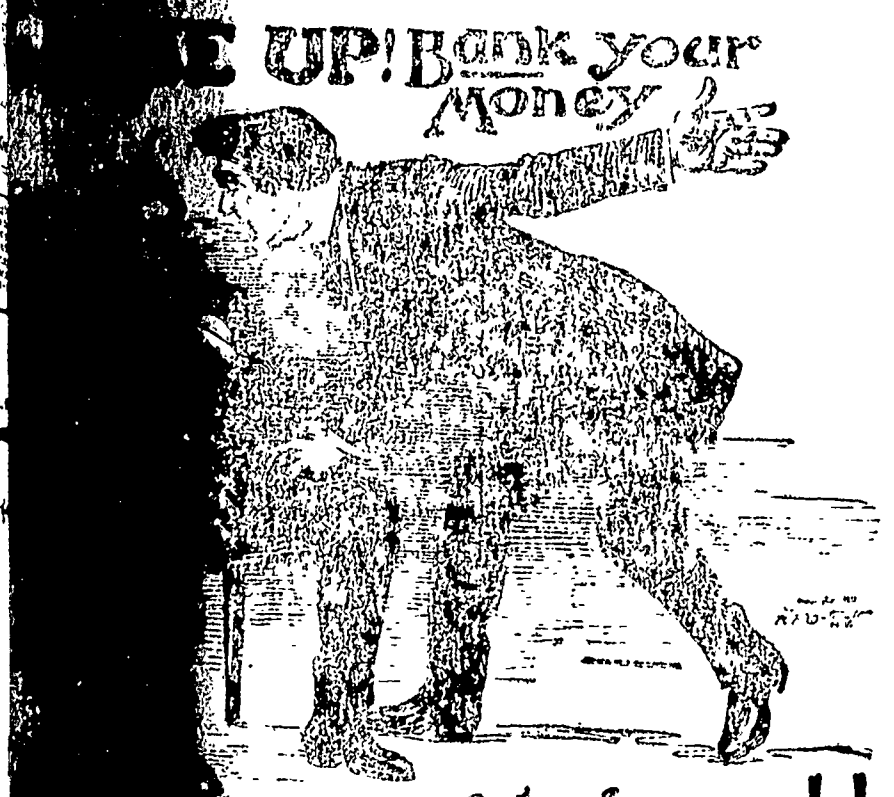
...proof of the success of this policy



...ou going to grow old
...a dollar in the BANK?

...up in the POOR HOUSE is not a ...spect. Old age comes as sure as the ... A comfortable OLD AGE is the ...every man. The way to have this is ...NEY to make it comfortable. The ... you could save by cutting out a ...gauges would grow into a big sum ... your life reached its December. ...ing the May time of your life pre- ... December.

... YOUR banking with US

...te Savings Bank.

... - - Iowa

...al $15,000.00 | Surplus $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00

Can you beat it?

R. BLOOM

—THE—

...N COAL AND

...IVE STOCK

MAN

...ogs six days in the week at ...t market prices.

...s established 1890.

Dies On Engine

Geo. Meyer Passenger Engineer Dies at Germania, Wednesday.

George Meyer, a well known engineer on this branch and who has been holding down the passenger run thru here for some time passed away very suddenly at Germania, Wednesday while in the cab in charge of his engine. The cause of his untimely death was heart failure and it has cast a gloom among all of his railroad associates and many friends.

THE GIRL AND THE TRAMP

The Nomadic Instinct.---A Splendid Play That Cleverly Depicts It

Our boasted civilization is only a veneer after all and, not a great way beow the surface there is a nomadic instinct that has made the best of us, as well as the worst of us, at some time or another silently wish to be entirely free of the trammels and conventionalities of our ordinary environment, to break away from our ordinary life, so to speak, and to roam hither and thither, sans care, sans though: of tomorrow and enjoying to the full the freedom of today. We have just felt that we wanted to be a real tramp, a simon pure tramp dirty ragged, hungry and all. Yet, with wish the feeling, there has always been the thought, too, that we would still be different from the ordinary hobo, because men good and bad are mortals out themselves, and that hidden from the world at large, there would yet be the undying spirit of the real gentleman beneath the tattered garments.

Something of this idea has been utilized by the talented author of Geo. L. Barton's justly celebrated play so aptly called "THE GIRL AND THE TRAMP." This perhaps real secret of the drama's success. The splendid, rollicking humanness and uncouth individuality depicted so admirably by Happy Jack, appeals strongly to our nomadic instinct; and when, at the end, he comes out strongly in his real character of the refined gentleman, we all feel a thrill of satisfaction, engendered by the honest belief that what he has done and is, is just what we would do and be under similar circumstances.

The play possesses wonderful heart interest from the beginning to the end; is chock full of intensely dramatic situations, and yet with all the same with comedy element hilarious, side-splitting fun. In fact, it may well be likened to a April day a delicious mingling of sunshine and shadows, or tears and laughter.

The play really possesses considerable literary merit, being far above its class in the matter of construction and technique. And the company too, is exceedingly meritorious. It has the essential for a good dramatic performance-evenness. Of course, the part so splendidly portrayed by Happy Jack-the tramp-is the central figure, but so well are the other characters grouped about him that the ensemble is well nigh perfect.

Nor have the other accesories to a high class performance been neglected. The elaborate scenery carried is admirable throughout, and the mechanical effects well nigh marvelous, so that, altogether a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment is assured all who see it. Those who have had the good fortune to have seen it before will be surprised and gratified at the many new and interesting things that have been introduced.

"THE GIRL AND THE TRAMP" will be the attraction at the Opera House, one night, Tuesday, May 26.

Ed. G. Ell, Mgr.

Be sure to attend the first concert to be given by the Klemme Band on next Thursday night.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital - $25,000.00

Pres - C. H. WIEGMANN

Vice Pres - AUG. LAU

Cashier - F. A. ARNOLD

5 per cent Interest On Time Deposits

THIS BANK IS ORGANIZED UNDER AND CONTROLLED BY LAWS ENACTED AT THE

You Can't Gainsay

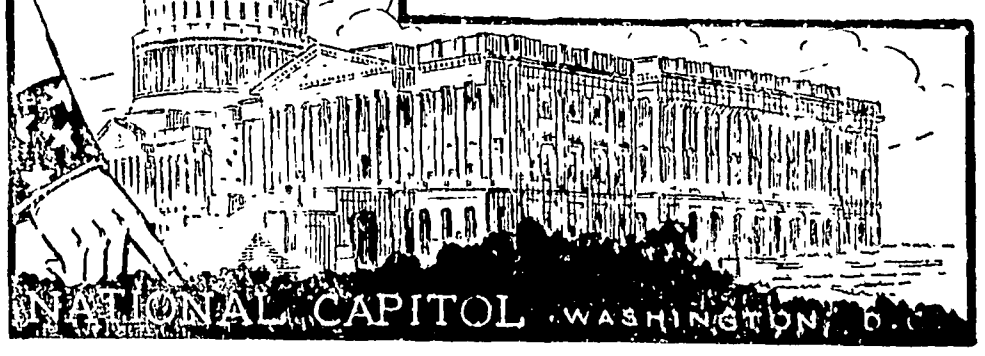
The Rainy Day

UNLESS YOU SAVE YOUR MONEY

If Each Week Through Life

You'd Save E'en A Tithe

YOU'D FIND IT BRIGHT AND SUNNY



SPECIAL NOTICE

This is the Piano tuning season. Every piano should be looked after in the spring

I will tune all pianos at a special price beginning April 1st. This applies to new customers only and for the first tuning. I do this to advertise; I also guarantee all of my work. I have a car and will go anywhere within 50 miles. A post card will bring me to your house to examine your piano. I also do all kinds of organ work.

Give me a trial and I will please you or you get the work free. Phone 501-2 or write

H. Howard Hunter

DOWS, IOWA

Goodell Locals

Mrs. Ina Ahrenkiel is on the sick list this week.

Miss Eliza Cashman sold over seven dozen carnations for mother's day.

Mr and Mrs Allie White and son visited at the Church and White homes Sunday.

Miss Mildred Matson who is attending college at Grinnel, spent Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Savogue and son Harold visited the Africa family in Kanawha Sunday.

Our young people's society The "Rose-buds" and "Dew-Drops" were pleasantly entertained at the Ellis Burke home Friday. They went out from here in Hay-racks. All enjoyed the evening and voted Mr. and Mrs. Burke royal entertainers.

Mr. and Mrs Glen Avery and daughter Majorie, and Mrs. Lorens Hanson were at Garner on business Thursday.

Prof. R. D. Case has accepted the position of principal in the Kanawha schools for the coming school year.

The First "White Way"

The hustling little burgh of Klemme is the first town Hancock county to establish a street lighting system consisting of up to-date electroliers. Britt was the first town in the county to have electric lights, and at the time of the installation of the plant here, the main thoroughfare was lighted by large arcs. Only a few of these remain, being replaced by the small incandescents. The larger towns of the county will look with envy on the town of Klemme when they get their "white way."—Britt Tribune.

First Band Concert, May 21.

The Junior Band will start the open air band concert season, next week, Thursday evening, May 21st. If you enjoy good music be here to take in the concert. The boys will give you some good music this summer.

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

Ruts are the bane of country roads, and one farmer has experienced until he has found a way to eliminate them. The idea is simple to fill the ruts of a prairie wagon road with concrete. The filling should be four or five inches thick, and about eight inches wide on top the surface being hollowed out about one and one-half inches deep for vehicle wheels. It is easy to drive over, as the wheels follow the tracks "with first intent," and four years' wear on the experimental roads built by the originator show no wear nor corrosion.

A gang of laborers was employed digging a mysterious ditch across the street. It was a sewer or a place to put a gas pipe, or something. One man in particular was working as if he were a chorus man in a play, just going through the motions and pretending to dig a ditch The foreman came along and spoke to him "Don t be afraid," he said, with rich sarcasm "Lean on th' shovel now an' thin. If it breaks I'll pay for it'"

Since the wireless telegraph apparatus was first rendered practicable in 1896 it has been gradually perfected and its use has extended to every large body of water and to many large land areas. In such regions as South America and Africa, where the construction and maintenance of the ordinary wire telegraph lines are difficult it is proving of value for land communication, but its greatest service has, of course, been on the oceans

The coal produced in the Groundhog district, Vancouver, is said to be the only hard smokeless steam anthracite coal in the world outside of Wales, Pennsylvania and West Virginia The opening of the Panama canal will enable vessels using hard coal to come through the canal with a small amount of fuel in their bunkers and replenish their supplies at one of the Pacific stations with coal from the British Columbia mines.

Canadian trade in agricultural implements is summarized in a return tabled in the House dealing with the last fiscal year Canada imported binders, reapers, mowers, plows, seeders and cultivators to a total value of $2,080,527 and exported, during the same period, a total of $3,228,866 The implements most largely imported were plows, while binders led in the exports.

The increasing importance of the automobile as a factor in international trade is apparent from the fact that the exports of automobiles from six leading manufacturing countries now aggregate $19,000,000 in value, an increase of $10,000,000 over those of 1912 and $70,000,000 over those of 1908. In this growing trade the United States occupies a prominent place.

Lon Lovelace has discovered a new sport which he practices on Thousand Island lake in Wisconsin He has built a combination aeroplane and iceboat, with which he can sail either on the ice or a short distance above it He has spent the last winter hunting wolves which are crossing the lake and are unable to escape to the land before he overtakes them

Charles Ackerson, of Bridgewater, Conn., deserves the prize as rural free delivery mail carrier During the last winter, with snow drifted to eight or 12 feet much of the time and his route leading through 21 miles of such traveling, he has not missed a single trip He carried a snow shovel every day and often had to shovel out a road for his horse

After being absent from home for 21 years, Richard Hoffman returned to Belleville, N Y., with the intention of surprising his brother, who he supposed would not recognize him When he reached his brother's house, however, he found that the pleasant man he had been talking to on the train had been his brother, who had known him all the time

Dr Kleiber Swiss scientist, has discovered that the thick layer of ashes covering the ruins of Herculaneum and Pompeii contains large quantities of potash and argil, a valuable agricultural fertilizer He believes the region around Vesuvius is rich in potash. It is proposed that the Italian government shall exploit the volcanic deposits commercially

Among the most recent substitutes for rubber is seaweed In England there is being made from seaweed a product which is said to be as good as rubber for the manufacture of tires and similar purposes, and while it has not been used for boots the experiments seem to indicate that it will be found cheaper and more durable than leather or rubber.

An enterprising firm in Hull, England, making oil, mill and other machinery for export, has a private picture palace for showing its machinery in operation under various circumstances The firm finds this particularly valuable in entertaining foreign customers who want to see how the machinery is employed in actual practice.

At a Polish wedding in New Jersey the guests enjoyed a 48-hour feast, at which a ton of oysters, seven calves, 12 dozen chickens and a "small mountain of sandwiches" were consumed. After the feast the bride, according to an old custom, danced with whoever would give her a quarter, and earned in this way about $4.

The king of England held a privy council at Buckingham palace the other day for the appointment of sheriffs for the ensuing year. The list of names of gentlemen eligible to serve was submitted to his majesty, who made the appointments by pricking with a silver bodkin opposite the names of the selected candidates.

Robert Lansing, who has been appointed to succeed John Bassett Moore as counsellor to the state department, has, like his predecessor, from his entrance into the law specialized in international matters, and has represented the United States as counsel before a number of arbitral tribunals and claims commissions.

BOY FORGER SEEKING WILD LIFE PICTURED IN EASTERN MOVIES

Fooled Parents With Romantic Tale of Property Tangle at Iowa City.

Iowa City, Ia., May 11.—Carried away by moving picture dramas of the west and by dime novels of cowboy life, Reinhard Frye of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who is under arrest here for forgery, started his career as a forger by counterfeiting a letter to his parents to secure the money to bring him west.

About three weeks ago Frye showed his parents a letter which he told them he had received from the west. The letter was supposed to have been written by a man by the name of John Barley, who was dying of consumption on a ranch near Iowa City, Barley said in his letter that he was willing all his property, his ranch, and $1,000 to Frye in payment for a kindness which the latter had done for him many years ago The letter was being written by Sally Gordon, a little girl of 12, Barley dictating the letter on his death bed.

It seems that Frye then told his parents that a woman living in Iowa City was protesting the will and trying to deprive him of the estate because he had refused to marry her. He told them that he was going west to claim the ranch and property willed to him.

He had little money, so he persuaded his parents to give him $20 to come to Iowa City. When Frye arrived he found none of the scenes which he had read about in the novels or seen in the motion pictures. His money was gone and he was far from home and relatives His dreams of the west were shattered and as a last resort to get back to his parents Frye forged the checks which finally brought about his arrest.

A message was received today from Niagara Falls stating that Frye's past record had been good there Before he left for Iowa City the boy was an employe of the Carborundum company, working as shipping clerk. His father likewise worked for the same company.

ENTIRE STATE BOARD STANDS WITH PEARSON

Des Moines, Ia., May 11.—That the entire state board of education is backing President R. A. Pearson, of the Iowa State college, at Ames, in the controversy with W. J Kennedy, head of the agricultural department, who is said to be slated for discharge, is expressed by Roger Leavitt, of Cedar Falls, member of the state board, in a letter today. Mr. Leavitt's letter follows:

"I deeply regret being drawn into the Ames controversy by the unauthorized publication of a private confidential letter written before the heat of an unfortunate conflict had died away. I will say that together with every member of the state board of education. I have the utmost confidence in President Pearson's ability to handle wisely all administrative matters at the State college. The board stands back of the president as a unit"

The letter referred to was written to Prof W J Kennedy at the college by Mr Leavitt. It was made public by Mr. Kennedy in an attempt to show the trouble at the college was due to his refusal to indorse the co-ordination scheme of President Pearson.

TO RAISE $50,000 FUND FOR COLLEGE AT LEMARS

LeMars, Ia , May 11 —The trustees of Western Union college met here this week in annual session. Those in attendance were C. G. Unangst, E. K. Yeakel and J C Plagge, from the Illinois conference, H T. Wright, from the Kansas conference, M. T. Maze and J A Brown, from the Platte river conference, D. S. Hauk, J. H. Mayne and Geo. Bender from the Northwestern conference J Auracher, D. D., J. G. Walz, W. F Stahl and A. A Couser from the Des Moines conference. The local representative, Fred Evans, was also in attendance

One of the big things done at the board meeting was the crystalization of plans for the raising of $50,000 for the college as a contingent fund. This money is to be secured through a 30 days' simultaneous campaign in the five co-operating conferences.

NEAGLE MAKES OFFER FOR HOSTELRY AT IDA GROVE

Ida Grove, Ia., May 11—At a mass meeting of business men and citizens held Thursday night, a committee was appointed to solicit stock for the erection of a new and modern hotel. C. M. Neagle, an old hotel man, at one time manager of the Mondamin in Sioux City, was here to attend the meeting, and made his proposition of furnishing the hotel clear; that is, if the citizens of the town would erect the building he would place the interior furnishings therein and take a lease on the same and operate it. He made a favorable impression, and the committee will complete their work as soon as possible in order to get building operations under way. The wrecking of the Hotel Ferguson is under way

RAILROAD MAN KILLED AS RESULT OF FIST FIGHT

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 11.—John Gilroy Runyon, a Milwaukee engineer, died in the bunk house at the Milwaukee roundhouse. William Sayles is being held in connection with the death.

According to Fred Runyon, a brother of the dead man, his brother was given his death blow by Sayles in a fight following the accusation against Sayles of his having attempted to steal a railroad call boy's bicycle. Runyon's death resulted from a burst blood vessel in the throat.

Runyon was 49 years of age and leaves a widow and two daughters at Perry, Ia., where he has made his home for the past 25 years.

SOLDIERS' HOME INMATES STAGE OLD AGE ROMANCE

Marshalltown, Ia. May 9.—A romance of the soldiers' home resulted Thursday in a wedding, when Benjamin F. Sacks, aged 79, led to the altar Mrs. Mary J. Knowles, aged 67. It was the third marriage for the bride and the second for the groom. The old people never met until both became members of the home Sacks came from Ogden, Ia and Mrs Knowles from this city.

TALBOT SUPPORTERS BOLT MEETING WHEN UNABLE TO CONTROL

Present M. W. A. Officers May Try to Handle Head Camp Through Contests.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 9.—The insurgents were in easy control of the state Modern Wodmen convention here yesterday, but the so called regulars bolted the meeting and selected an independent delegation to the head camp meeting. As similar action was taken in Nebraska, and at some other points, it is presumed the old officers will try to handle the head camp session with trumped up contests.

The regulars held district caucuses yesterday forenoon and framed up their list of delegates to the head camp to be announced by districts. The insurgents had prepared a similar list, which was offered by Captain Hart. This is what caused the upheavel. The regulars contended the state convention did not have the power to overrule the recommendations of the county conventions. The insurgents in turn offered a section of the bylaws in support of their claims. Julius Rohwer, of Ida Grove, who was chosen yesterday as state counsel, ordered a roll call on the substitute motion and then amid cries of "shame" and "cowards" the 39 regulars left the hall, throwing the convention into an immediate uproar. When quiet had been restored the roll call was completed, showing Kuehnle's motion had been lost, 97 to 22. The roll call on Coptain Hart's list of delegates resulted 100 in favor and 9 again. This gave the insurgents the victory by nearly a two-thirds majority.

The following delegates were selected to the national convention:

J. C. Peck, Washington; George F. Jager, Balliva; John H. Scholl, Maquoketa; L. H. Bowman, Clinton; S. R. Amlong, Muscatine; H. C. Littleton, Clarion; John D. Dennison, Dubuque; T. W. Purcell, Hampton; William Kober, Waterloo; George A. Davis, Fayette; A. S. Wright, Osage; G. E. Barlow, Clear Lake; William S. Hart, Waukon; P. A. Hawley, Marshalltown; F. S. Hamilson, Vinton; J. S. Remley, Anamosa, Ed Shields, Eddyville; Dr. J. E. Flenor, Oskaloosa; C. W Lyon, Des Moines; William M. Wade, Woodward; Allan Talbot, Indianola; William Householder, Chariton, Charles Emerson, Creston; W H. Hewitt, Lennox, Ed D. Carr, Council Bluffs, Dr J. A. Hall, Stuart, C J. Eatinger, Orient; John D. Porter, Webster City, Thomas O'Conor, Emmetsburgh; L. C. Trauger, Livermore; F. B Miller, Jefferson; J. W. Howe, Whiting; J. R. McKee, Spencer; Henry H. Nelson, Sibley, and J C. Larkins, Mo'ille.

The resolution adopted declared that the socalled Chicago rates should be repealed; that a reduction in the salaries of the head officers should be made and that none of them should be re-elected

Muscatine was selected as the convention city in 1917, as state conventions are held only every three years.

The bolters went to another hall and held a convention in which they adopted resolutions sending delegates who were chosen at the district caucuses. These delegates consist of 17 regulars and 18 insurgents. It was also voted that the delegates go to Toledo uninstructed. F R. Korns of Des Moines, national director, made a speech at the bolting convention, in which he denounced the insurgents in strong terms.

COVERED DITCH PLANNED FOR DRAINAGE DISTRICT

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 9.—Instead of the open ditch that is usual in drainage districts along the Missouri river lowlands, one district near Missouri Valley is to have a covered drain, according to a decision of the joint boards of supervisors of Harrison and Pottawattamie counties held at Council Bluffs yesterday afternoon

There has been considerable discussion for some time of the project for draining what is to be known as the Seaton sub-district, a few miles southeast of Missouri Valley. The sub-district was recently formally established, and Engineer Seth Dean was instructed to prepare plans for the ditch These plans were submitted at this session of the two boards and were approved.

The covered drain, or huge tile, is to be laid through the Seaton district in such a manner as to form the general drainage system for the district, draining the surplus water into the Boyer river ditch, flowing southwesterly into the Missouri river, on the Pottawattamie side of the county line.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR ELKS' CONVENTION

Iowa City, Ia., May 9.—The complete program for the annual reunion of the Iowa State Elks' association, June 17 to 19, has been announced.

The convention will start on Wednesday, the last day of the commencement exercises at the University of Iowa. The headquarters will be at the Iowa City Elks' home, where the delegation will register, receive badges and be assigned to rooms.

On Thursday morning there will be an open meeting for the delegates, members, visitors and general public at the Englert theater, with George T. Reddick, of Iowa City, presiding. Mayor George W. Koontz will give an address of welcome on behalf of Iowa City, while W. H. Bates will extend a welcome in behalf of Iowa City Elks. A response will be made by J. E. McDonnell, of Des Moines.

The annual business meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon. It will be followed by a baseball game on Iowa field between Waterloo and Sioux City Elks at 4. p m. The visiting ladies will be entertained at the Country club at the same hour.

On Friday will come the great Elks' parade in the morning. At 2 p. m. on Iowa field a great carnival of athletic sports will take place, including baseball, pushball, tug of war, races and like features. Band concerts, automobile rides and dances will also be included in the two days' program.

SENATOR KENYON OFFERS TO ENROLL IN MILITIA

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 9.—Senator W. S. Kenyon, in a letter from Washington to Maj. S. B. Philpot, of the Fifty-sixth infantry, Iowa National Guard, declares that he wants a commission in the National Guard in case of intervention in Mexico.

FOUR SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENTS ON IOWA HIGHWAYS TUESDAY

Two Dead and Eight Injured Is Day's Tolls—Fatalities at Sac City and Remsen.

Sac City, Ia., May 8.—August Ruschke, a farmer living southeast of Sac City, was killed last evening when the automobile which he was driving struck the railing of a bridge a mile south of the city and turned over into the ravine. John DeBourg and a Mr. Higgins, who were also in the car, escaped with minor injuries. It is claimed the car was going about 30 miles per hour.

Remsen, Ia., May 6.—Josephine Klostermann, the 16-year-old daughter of F. J. Klostermann, of Remsen, died yesterday from injuries received when an automobile driven by Rose Mullenkamp turned turtle. Frances Mullenkamp had her arm broken and Marie David suffered a broken nose. The four girls were on their way from Remsen to LeMars when the accident occurred. The driver looked behind, thinking there was something approaching and lost control of the car.

Mashalltown, Ia., May 6.—Four people were injured, but none fatally, when an automobile skidded and overturned near this city. The injured are: Mrs M L. Smith, this city; Velma Bridges, aged 3, Montour; Harold Bridges, aged 18, Montour, and Milan Bridges, aged 16, Montour. Harold Bridges, who was driving, threw on the brake when the wheels began to slip in the mud One of the rear axles broke and the car overturned.

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 6.—Walter Weedman of Woolstock, is near death and Roy Hockmann, of Woolstock, has his left shoulder badly hurt as the result of an automobile accident north of this city The car in which they were riding turned turtle and rolled over three times. Weedman is internally injured

PROGRESSIVES CAN WRITE NAMES OF CANDIDATES

Des Moines, Ia., May 8.—Progressive leaders in this city claim they will have to worry no longer concerning the nomination of county tickets for the fall election. In an announcement issued from the state headquarters of the party, Chairman J. H. Wyllie said that the party had discovered a way for nominating candidates under the Iowa primary law that is easier than the regular process of filing nomination papers, for candidates may be nominated in case two or three voters will write the names of their choice in the blanks left for county officers on the ballot provided for progressives. As the names of the regular certified candidates will be carried on the ballot, the men whose names are written upon the ballots also will be nominated, is the claim.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATION MAY BE BASED ON 1910 VOTE

Des Moines, Ia , May 8.—State Chairman Rawson, of the republican party, is indulging in some meditation on what vote to use as a basis for the republican state convention in July. The attorney general's office has ruled that the chairman may use the vote of any prior election but that fails to solve the problem for the chairman. If he uses the vote for W. H. Taft in 1912 the representation at the convention will be almost negligible The vote for governor in 1912 is also not satisfactory. It was deemed most probable today that the vote for former Governor Carroll in 1910 would be selected as the basis for the apportionment of delegates.

IDA COUNTY FARMER SENT TO CHEROKEE HOSPITAL

Ida Grove, Ia., May 8.—Elmer Reppert, a well known farmer of the northwestern part of the county, was before the insanity commission yesterday and was committed to the hospital at Cherokee. Reppert made a deal this spring for a residence in Holstein, and moved to that place from his farm. He has worried considerable over the belief that he made a bad trade, and, having suffered from a severe illness recently, he collapsed mentally Tuesday. As he is of a destructive turn of mind in his dementia, it was thought best to send him to the hospital. He is still a young man, and has a wife and one adopted child.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE, DES MOINES, JUNE 9 TO 11

Des Moines, Ia., May 8.—The grand lodge of Iowa, A. F. & A. M., will hold its 71st annual communication in Des Moines, June 9 to 11, 1914, meeting in the city auditorium.

The grand lodge school of instruction, conducted by the custodians, will be held in the Masonic temple, commencing Friday, June 5, and closing Monday evening, June 8.

The headquarters of the officers of the grand lodge will be at the Chamberlain hotel. The grand master and grand secretary will have offices on the parlor floor, where the list of committees and location of rooms will be displayed.

PHARMACY BOARD MAY ANNUL SOME CERTIFICATES

Des Moines, Ia., May 8.—Four of the 26 druggists indicted by the Polk county grand jury for the illegal sale of liquor appeared before the state pharmacy board yesterday to show cause why their certificates should not be revoked. They entered protest against the cancellation of the certificates regardless of their conduct.

The board took the cases under advisement. The board is inclined to deal leniently with those convicted for the first offense, but may revoke the certificates of druggists convicted for the second offense.

CONVICTED ELOPER GETS THREE YEARS IN PRISON

LeMars, Ia., May 8.—Robert Hamilton, residing near Kingsley, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary at Anamosa, pleading guilty to a charge of adultery. Hamilton eloped two weeks ago with Mrs. Ernest Farris. The woman's husband caused their arrest.

GREATEST YIELD O WHEAT IN HIST INDICATED FOR

First Official Estimate Year's Production at 000,000 Bushels.

BIG INCREASE IN AC

Spring Plowing Well Adva Seeding Is More Than Hal —Hay and Pasturag Are Good.

Washington, May 9—The fir estimate of the size of the cro ter was made today in the report of the crop reporting b ted States department of ag issued at 2:15 p m The repo the condition on May 1 of wint rye, meadow lands and pas percentage of spring plow spring planting completed, t age of winter wheat to be h the estimated outturn of th wheat crop and the stocks o farms May 1. The figures ar

Winter Wheat—The average tion of winter wheat on May per cent of a normal, compa 95.6 per cent on April 1, 91.3 on May 1, 1913, and 85.5 per average for the past 10 ye 1.

The area of winter wheat r on May 1 to be harvested was 387,000 acres, or 1,119,000 acres the area planted last autumn 866,000 acres more than the vested last year (31 699,000 ac

The condition on May 1 is of a yield per acre of appro 17.8 bushels, assuming averag tions to prevail therafter On mated area to be harvested t produce a final crop of 6 bushels, compared with bushels harvested in 1913, bushels in 1912, 430 666,000 1911, and 434,142 000 bushels The outturn of the crop pro be above or below the fig given, according to whether t tion from May 1 to time of h above or below the average c

Rye—The condition of rye was 93.4 per cent of a norm pared with 91 3 per cent on 91.0 per cent on May 1, 1911 per cent the average for th years on May 1.

Meadow or Hay Lands—Th condition of meadow or hay May 1 was 90.9 per cent of compared with 88 5 per cent 1913, and a 10 year average o 88.1 per cent.

Hay on Farms—The stocks farms on May 1 were estim 7,832,000 tons, compared with tons on May 1, 1913, and 4,7 on May 1, 1912.

Pasture—The average co pastures on May 1 was 88 of a normal, compared wit cent on May 1, 1913, and average on May 1 of 85 6 pe

Spring Plowing—Of spring 70.9 per cent was completed 1, compared with 67.2 per ce 1, 1913, and a 10 year averag 1 of 66.6 per cent.

Spring Planting—Of spring 56.4 per cent was completed 1, compared with 57 0 per ce 1, 1913, and a six year averag 1 of 54.6 per cent.

The Revenge of Neglect

From The Survey

We may as well face the fa long as we and our children in a community, we shall be from all the evils that are in that community, and, though be able to exclude from our moth, the housefly, the ages burglar, we cannot exclude fr ride in on the trails of our f are tracked in on our shoes in food and drink, in washes, in wares. They come by messe carriers and servants, as do th of evil.

We need not go to the slums not wish. They will come t wreaking upon us the revenge things, they will avenge the

Yet it is not vengeance th wanting. They only want hel do not dream how much we them, beside alms. They stan and look at us, beseeching, knock at our forbidding portal white death, who has been th low, is not abashed by any stopped by any bar He co from the filthy hovel to our peers in upon us through th while we feast, and laugh. open the door, and strides in down at our very fireside, faces of our best beloved, cry out and die!

The revenge of the slums f upon the individual, but upon all its interests and activitie

It falls upon the city in lo and money, taxes paid for po crime, for the cost of disease

It falls upon the civic organi ignore the slums, by the bli very ugliness and buyers from borhood, and injures all ad erty.

It falls upon them, too, by class of citizens that are a to civic progress.

It falls upon the business killing or weakening valuab men, whose loss is felt in t and manufacture.

It falls upon the churches, b those who defeat and defy the ing the whole moral tone o munity, and increasing the the powers of good.

These are the ways in w scourged by the slums, a learn our lesson, we must com fer as well as the poor.

Ocean Traffic Impe

From the Christian H

Several decades ago a learn delivered a course of lectur which he proved to his own that the Atlantic ocean co crossed by steam. Steam po discovered and applied on was confident it could never the ocean. Under the peculia of the heaving waves, the storms, the rolling of the forth, you could never ap navigation across the Atlan in which that lecture was on the first steamer that cr lantic. The captain took sort of curiosity. That book a very large sale, but the quite a run of steamers ev the professor ceased to sp could not be utilized on the

KLEMME

...PAT... ...ERA CRUZ TR... ...RAGE OF YAN... ...GHTERS

...to the self-restraint and dis... of the United States expedition... in Vera Cruz, who even though ... are shot down in their ... shooters, check their ... and obey orders, is paid ... Bathon, staff correspon... Washington Star with the ... forces at Vera Cruz.

...dangerous, unfair posi... United States troops who ... ordered not to shoot except ... command, who are com... uphold by their conduct the ... United States that this ... making war against ... pot shooters and mal... sneaking ammunition ... lines to pick them off ... all this is told by The ... respondent, who has lived ... stirring experiences with ... and bluejackets.

...te Story of Trials.

...of letters printed here... on describes the troubles ... of this United States ... Cruz, which at the time ... numbered 5,100 and ...stions of grave political ... the officers have to solve ... the correspondents are ...cabling to their papers by ...sors.

...ticklish problems is how ...th the 1,200 malcontent ... the cuartels, whom they ... by court martial and who ...ought before a civil tribun... also how wearied by their ... the city these troops have ... to sleep in the streets, ... of their barracks because ...een smallpox and spinal ...atients there before them. ...intimate story of the hard... Uncle Sam's boys at Vera

...AN'S DEATH TOLL.

...INGROVE BATHON.

...pondent of the Washington ...ith the American Forces ... at Vera Cruz.

...z, Mex., April 22 (by mail ... The Michigan, in common ...her battleships of the fleet, ...d her toll of life.

...iotism which has found its ...t expression in the demand ...lag shall be honored was ...me to the men of the Mich... ...e death of Chief Gunner's ...well under circumstances ...typical of the splendid be... ...the men of the fleet in the ...cumstances at Vera Cruz.

...who belonged in the 4th ...of this ship, went ashore ... Michigan battalion was ...s afternoon, in the First Com... ...artillery company), because ...general charge of the field ...he Michigan's battalion. He ...class man, highly thought of ...icers and was about to be ...rpedo gunner's mate.

...eutenant Commander Green... ...mmanding the Michigan's ...ave the order to march, as ...nded on the Vera Cruz dock ...roceeded in good sprits, not... ...ing the "snipe shooting" they ...from the housetops, through ...ario, to Avenida Indepen... ...e principal street of Vera ...e newspaper correspondents ... to the Michigan had been ...through this street half an ...ore and many other people ...g to and fro.

...hots From Housetops.

... had been fired from the house... ...ost every block or so as the ...'s men came ashore. The ... company in which Boswell ...ated was between two infantry ... of the Michigan outfit. Be... ...of the shots from the housetops ... marched with eyes on the ...buildings through which they passed, ... rifles raised, threateningly, at ...their unseen enemies.

...Then came the shot that struck Bos... ...well in the main street of Vera Cruz, ...as the men marched to take up their ...intended position in the barracks of the ...Nineteenth federal Mexican infantry.

...As Boswell fell, there was, just for a ...second, a glancing at officers by the ... and the command came to a halt. ... Commander Greenslade and ...nt Thomas got a squad to... ...a few minutes to go into the ...through which the march had ...made.

...Mexicans were found and ar... ...in one of the upper stories of one ...buildings. The battalion had ...on. The squad followed. An... ...squad took Boswell's body back ...landing and from there to the ... officers of the Michigan's bat... ...say that as their men realized ...one of their number had been as... ...ated in cold blood, it was "touch ...for a moment what they would ...that block of the Avenida Inde... ...encia. True to their teaching, ...ever, the men of the Michigan, as ...the men of all the battleships, ...fast, and took no revenge.

...Men Ashore at Vera Cruz.

... Cruz, Mex., April 23 (by mail ...)—Nine battleships of the At... ...fleet have each landed approxi... ...300 men in this city, making a ... 2,700 of these men, the ships ... the Arkansas, Florida, Utah, ...an, New Jersey, New Hamp... ...Vermont, Minnesota and South ...a. The Louisiana, the other ...ip here with the fleet, has not ...ded men and is not expected to ... At this writing she is coaling, ... expected to "up anchor" and ...for Tampico, to join Admiral ... forces, which include the tor... ...boat destroyers sent there yester... ...orning.

...addition to the 2,700 men above ...oned, there are men ashore from ...airie and Chester of the Atlantic ...an addition of about 600, as well ... marines under Lieutenant Col... ...eune, which came from the ...k and other similar ships. This ...a total of 5,100 United States ...and marines in the expedition... ...ce in possession of Vera Cruz to... The gunboat Nashville came in ... The Solace, hospital ship, ar... ...esterday. The dead and wounded ...ing taken to the latter vessel.

... living, breathing, excited city of ...Vera Cruz today deals with the present, ...the necessities of the moment, as man ...after man is added to the list of those ...who have been "pot-shotted"—"sniped,"

...and marines call it. A fe... ...go a squad of men from the ...et up a machine gun be... ...hind ...cade of sacks of coffee ..."comm... ...ed" from the railroad ter... ...minals ..."let fly" through a house ...in which ...ey had caught a sharp... ...shooter who had "picked off" one of ...their men. There were said to be ...others in the building, and the Florida ...men thought the machine gun test a ...better one than the so-called "acid" ...test of asking questions, such as "where ...did you get this gun," and "what are ...you going to do with this ammunition?"

Palaver Doesn't Go.

The "amigo-mio" business, meaning "you and I are friends," "doesn't go" any more. The Mexican steps up, tries to palaver, but the bluejackets and marines have been through that, with men dead and wounded on the roster of almost every ship, and they roughly lay hands on him, search every pocket of him, and even look into the top of his shoes to see if he has ammunition or a revolver which he may be carrying to some "snipe shooter" in the loft of a nearby building. The ensigns from the navy ships and the lieutenants from the marine corps turn their backs upon some of these proceedings.

An American officer walks briskly up to a store or residence, detachment behind him, and in "click-click," icy fashion, as one who cocks a gun, says. "I'm in charge here."

As a contrast to this may be seen the movement through the city of the captain of H M. S. Essex. A sailor lad precedes, carrying the British flag, then comes Captain Watson, followed by an aid, four paces to the rear, an orderly, behind, a guard of four men. Twice a day, most formally, morning and afternoon, he visits the British consulate, learns of the situation of his countrymen, and is ready to act in their behalf, as has been told of today in the cables describing the search for the British residents between here and Mexico City, who started for Vera Cruz from the capital and found themselves stalled with the railroads cut.

News of Army's Coming.

Vera Cruz, Mex., April 23 (by mail steamer).—The question arises tonight—as news is received on shore and in the fleet that a brigade of the army has been ordered here from Galveston—how long will this expeditionary force be known as such, and when will "headquarters" begin to date its reports as from "Mexican army of occupation""

Questions of a political character are necessarily constantly arising, and although the cable censor will not permit the correspondents, who are making their reports by cable, to send advices of a political or semi-editorial character to their journals, the fact remains that the future of Mexico, rather than the necessities of the moment, furnishes a problem for officers in charge here that ought to give the public at home the gravest concern.

For instance, tonight, every jail and prison in this city is filled with malcontents, charged with having arms and ammunition in their possession contrary to the orders of the commanding officer of the fleet.

Who is to try these malcontents? Of what can they be convicted, except from "Mexican army of occupation""

Malcontents in Prison.

If there were here a case of actual war, defined as such, courtmartials might solve this problem. But the Mexican people have been told that the United States is not at war with Mexicans. These people, these malcontents, cannot be turned over to the Mexican courts, the magistrates of Vera Cruz, with the expectation that any impartial judgment of their cases may be had. In the first place the magistrates refuse to sit. In the second place if any consented to sit he would do so only under Mexican law and would throw out of court, under the statutes, any case brought before him of one who had fired, killed, or attempted to kill in defense of his country.

What is to become of these prisoners who have shot down American bluejackets and marines, is a question that will give the gravest concern to those in charge of the Vera Cruz expeditionary force. There are tonight 1,200 of these prisoners in various cuartels. They are being fed and well taken care of in other respects. Even in the hospital, San Sebastian, where there are a number of attempted assassins, junior surgeons and nurses from the fleet are ministering to their needs, in co-operation with the Vera Cruz authorities and the Sisters of Mercy.

Dealing With Snipe Shooters.

Vera Cruz, Mex., April 24 (by mail steamer).—At the Porfirio Diaz plaza are established the four landing battalions of the Michigan, the Louisiana, the Minnesota and the North Dakota. Here it is that the Michigan men have taken their stand after an exciting night. In this plaza, beautiful with cocoanut palms and roses in full bloom, death has looked upon these men all night. In this plaza, where stands the statue of Benito Juarez, a George Washington of this country, the officers and men of the Michigan landing battalion believe, this morning, that they have found a way to bring liberty in this city, at last, not only to members of the expeditionary force, but to Vera Cruzanos as well. That is by taking up each case of "snipe shooting" as it comes.

When the Michigan's men landed they went into the Nineteenth regular infantry barracks, with the other men from the Third regiment of the naval brigade. Consul Canada sent a message advising headquarters to get out of that. He said there had just been 60 cases of small pox and 42 cases of spinal meningitis there.

The Michigan's men were tired, and they resented being obliged to move again.

So, as it seemed they were to keep on moving, the Michigan's men began to move after the "snipe shooters." They "took up" in real, serious earnest each case of "snipe shooting" that occurred. They wanted a little liberty, a little peace. They were tired of having some Vera Cruzano run up and say he had been nearly killed by one of his fellow citizens' bullets and wanted protection, and exceedingly tired of being shot at themselves.

In Vera Cruz many houses connect with each other, especially over the roofs. Those familiar with recent Mexican history will remember how Felix Diaz got into the United States consulate from the roof of a nearby hotel, where he was escaping Huerta's men, and came aboard the Michigan.

Not Allowed to Rest.

So the Michigan's men began to go up spiral staircases and through dark corridors, hunting for their "snipe shooters." In every case they investigated they found at least one Mexican, perhaps two, three or four.

Lieut. Com. J. W. Greenslade, in charge of this Michigan battalion, said to me today:

"After clearing the entire infantry barracks we settled down in comfortable quarters, but at 8 p. m. were driven out into the cold world because the doctors decided the barracks were full of spinal meningitis and smallpox. Pleasant!

"So we bunked in the avenue in front of the variety theater and were very comfortable under God's own sky. In addition we patrolled one section of the city all night.

"Our men are splendid and our control over them practically perfect.

"I could not say too much for them."

He added

"It takes some nerve to do what these men are doing. We tell the officers, 'Take two squads and search that house.' Eighteen men run up, twice as many more volunteer, half stay on the outside to watch the roof, and between us all somehow, we get these 'snipe shooters,' and their guns and ammunition, too. Spiral staircase work, such as we have had to do, is pretty good work, I think. These fellows never know what they are going to meet at the top of these staircases."

A story is being told this afternoon in the Michigan outfit about the patrol of Ensign Roth, fired on last night by "snipers" Roth slept on the sidewalk, before his turn came to go on duty. A "sniper" came, easily, around the corner, and before the men could wake their officer with the butts of their rifles they saw their chance, and four of them fired again and again. Roth says the assassin bled to death, he had so many wounds.

Arms Hid in Their Beds.

Vera Cruz, Mex., April 26 (by mail steamer). Capt. A. P. Niblock, commanding the battleship Michigan, has succeeded Captain Simpson, commanding the battleship Minnesota, in command of the Third regiment, which holds the left front of the American forces now invested in and surrounding Vera Cruz, between the city and the troops of General Maas.

Captain Simpson returned to the Minnesota last night, on which ship Charge d'Affairs O'Shaughnessy has been quartered

This apparently peaceful Sunday in Vera Cruz has been broken, Captain Niblack tells me, by the capture in the Municipal hospital opposite this square of 23 pretended convalescent Mexicans with arms in their cots, "snipe shooters," from whom all danger was supposed yesterday to have passed

The fact illustrates the situation. Despite the most drastic measures against the Vera Cruzanos, who have hidden arms and ammunition and who have "pot-shotted' Americans, the attempt to continue this work of assassins goes on. It seems inconceivable that civilized people could use hospitals for such work, but they do, and today's incident proves it Threats of executing Mexicans found with arms have proved unavailing. These people, when taken, tell of a high spirit of patriotism, notwithstanding the fact that it is evidenced in a manner contrary to the American point of view

'Pot-shooting." on the whole, however, has considerably abated today The continued confiscation of arms has brought this about. Today the relentless and implacable search continues, and as force of entry is used, the result is that the treacherous Mexican, in order to obtain revenge upon his fellow-citizen who is his enemy, is often turning informer This is just what the American authorities want.

The Vera Cruzanos, notwithstanding these precautionary measures, give every evidence today of being a light-hearted people. The city is a city of shopkeepers to a great extent, and American money, with the influx of the Americans, has flowed in here in plenty "gold not Mex." All the stores have been open today, although wartime prices prevail. A sack of charcoal, with which Vera Cruzanos cook, for instance, costs $5 Mexican. As the rate of exchange is about three to one, such a sack of fuel costs $1 66, about. This, necessarily, is utterly beyond the reach of the poor people and what food they get they eat raw

Those Wiley Babies.

From the Los Angeles Tribune.

That Dr. Wiley is the father of two boys there is no reason to doubt. Columns of print have heralded the fact. There is no excuse for being in ignorance concerning it.

That they are fine boys seems to be a proposition upheld by masses of evidence. Each time either of them gains an ounce or cuts a tooth, the news is flashed to the ends of the earth, and while the ends of the earth make no particular sign that they care a whoop, the next ounce and the next tooth mean another message.

When a man has been a bachelor to a point beyond the time when his children's children should be playing about his knees, and then gets married, fatherhood swells him with an especial pride. Naturally, he thinks that the babies come to bless his domestic circle are the only real kids that ever happened.

Possibly it is wrong to disillusion mature papa, but the fact is that the land teems with youngsters just as healthy, just as bright, just as beautiful as his own.

It would be a sorry sort of a world if its replenishment had to depend upon men who marry late in life. What then of the joys of grandparentage? They would exist for about one person in a million.

Many, oh very many, blessed babies cheer the households of the land. Some are reared by faddists and some without fads, but, given light and air and wholesome food, the chances of one are about as good as those of another. Few, however, arrive to such a circle that every dimple is a world-wide episode, and every case of colic bruited abroad.

What is being attempted here is the statement, bald, perhaps impolite, that the public has babies of its own, deems them as good as any ever born, and is getting tired of the Wiley youngsters. They have had the center of the stage for a long time, on the apparent theory that the world is a baby show and the judge had awarded them all the blue ribbons.

HUGE SUM NEEDED TO RESTORE ROCK ISLAND

Expert Says It Will Require $65,000,000 to Make the Property Pay.

New York, May 11.—Approximately $65,000,000 will be required to effect such economies and general improvements as are necessary to place the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad system on a proper physical and financial basis, according to F. W. McKenna, a railroad expert engaged by the bondholders' protective committee of the railroad company, whose report was made last night

Mr McKenna's report, which has been awaited with much interest by holders of Rock Island securities, is more exhaustive than that made some weeks ago by T M. Schumacher, the chairman of the Rock Island company, who estimated the system's needs at $49,000,000.

Regarding the road's physical condition, the McKenna report says about 20,000 cars ought to be retired. He recommends an investment of about $15,000,000 in new cars, which would increase efficiency by at least 50 per cent, he estimates.

Capital requirements, as contemplated by Mr. McKenna, call for about $41,000,000, the expenditure of which, he says, would result in increased revenues over existing conditions of at least $5,000 000.

Construction of a short line from Chicago to Kansas City by way of Peoria, Ill., and Keokuk, Ia., would also have a potent effect, says Mr. McKenna, in reducing transportation expenses. These and other improvements, he believes, would go far toward restoring the stock of the railway company to at least its par value.

MILLIONAIRE POST COMMITS SUICIDE

Santa Barbara, Cal., May 11.—With a bullet from a rifle he had previously concealed in his apartment, Charles W. Post, millionaire manufacturer of cereal foods and national propagandist against union labor, killed himself at his winter home here today. Evading a trained nurse, who had been attending him since he returned from the east a few weeks ago, he went to his apartments placed the muzzle of the rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger with a toe

Mr. Post was convalescent from an illness which necessitated a major operation some months ago at Rochester, Minn. At that time he was hurried to Rochester, Minn in a special train so that he might arrive in time for surgeons to save his life.

Returning here a few weeks ago, he seemed to be exceedingly nervous and Mrs. Post, who came to their winter home with him, engaged trained nurses to attend him.

Mr. Post arose at his usual hour this morning, breakfasted and lounged about until 10 o'clock, when he excused himself, telling the nurse on duty at the time that he wished to go to his apartment to lie down. What happened then is a matter of conjecture. A shot was heard Mrs Post and a nurse rushed to the apartments upstairs and found the millionaire stretched on the floor, dead.

Both Mrs. Post and the nurse said they did not know how Mr Post had procured the rifle. Its presence in the room was taken by them to indicate that he had planned his death some time in advance.

FOUND GREAT FORTUNE IN SEARCH FOR HEALTH

Battle Creek, Mich., May 11.—Charles W. Post was one of the founders of the so-called health food industry. His business interests here for the manufacturing of breakfast foods represented millions of dollars. Although Mr. Post's office address was in this city, he also maintained a residence in Washington, D. C., for several years.

Mr. Post was born in Springfield, Ill., in 1854. He engaged in the hardware and other lines of business there until 1884, when his health broke down. He traveled extensively in search of treatment for some time and arrived here in 1891. His search for health was responsible, it is said, for his investigation into the health food subject and when his health had been regained he turned all of his attention to that line of endeavor.

Employing thousands of workmen. Mr. Post took an active part in local civic affairs. In 1908 he was made president of the National Citizens' Industrial association of America and for several years he attracted wide attention because of his attacks against labor unions. He was an ardent supporter of the "open shop."

Mr Post travelled abroad a large part of the time during recent years and his art collections in this city is regarded as one of the most valuable in the country.

The news of his death as a great shock to his friends and relatives here who thought he had practically recovered from his recent illness.

OPERATION SUPPOSED TO HAVE CURED MILLIONAIRE

Chicago, May 11.—Two months ago Mr. Post was hurried across half the continent to Rochester, Minn., for treatment for an attack of appendicitis which was believed to threaten his life. The operation, which was performed March 10, was considered successful and he departed for his western home apparently cured.

The illness from which Mr. Post suffered was first manifested last December. At first it was considered a recurrence of a stomach trouble from which he formerly suffered.

The trip from Santa Barbara, the winter home of Mr. Post, to the hospital at Rochester, Minn., was made with all the speed possible. As an extra precaution against delay, the special train which carried the invalid was followed over the different roads by an extra engine prepared to take up the trip should accident interfere with the train.

The arrival at Rochester, March 6, was three and a half hours ahead of time. A crowd at the station hampered the removal of the patient to the hospital and he was examined by specialists in the car before being taken to the hospital, where the operation was performed four days later.

DANIELS READS RIOT ACT TO REFUGEES WHO COMPLAINED OF MAYO

If Rescue Had Not Been Left to British Officers, Massacre of Foreigners Would Have Resulted, He Says.

Washington, May 11.—A delegation of American citizens from Tampico called on Secretary of the Navy Daniels this afternoon and denounced the administration's Mexican policy These men will call on Secretary of State Bryan and lay their grievances before him

Secretary Daniels informed his callers they ought to be happy they got off with their lives He said they had gone to Mexico to get big profits and they shouldn't expect the United States to look after them if they didn't stay at home.

They told Secretary Daniels if that was the view of the Washington administration they were ashamed of their American citizenship.

Furthermore, the delegation accused Rear Admiral Mayo of cowardice, because he steamed out of Tampico and left them to the mercy of the Mexicans, after this country had ordered the seizure of Vera Cruz.

Secretary Daniels told them they didn't know what they were talking about: if Rear Admiral Mayo hadn't steamed away they would all be dead, and if Tampico had been seized many more would have been killed also.

Secretary Daniels' callers were W. L. Lucas, spokesman for the refugees, J. B. Wood, H. W. Dixon, H G. Kerren, L. M. Fouts, W. M Hanson and Dr. W. M. Turner.

New Light on Incident.

Mr. Daniels asserted that the course of the government had made it possible to bring all Americans out of the Tampico district in safety, and that its first efforts always had been to protect lives first, although property interests had not been disregarded.

The statement threw new light on some of the circumstances that have guided the department in its actions, and announced that Admiral Mayo refrained from sending his ships into the river at Tampico to bring out Americans only upon the urgent request of the British naval commander there, who asked that for the sake of all foreigners he be allowed to take out the Americans.

The American vessels were withdrawn from Tampico in the first place, the secretary said, because it was thought their presence at Vera Cruz would be essential Later, he explained, it would have been impossible for Mayo to have gone into the river with his ships to rescue refugees.

"It had it been possible, however," continued the statement, "under cover of the guns of the ships available to have brought these refugees in the city of Tampico, itself safely on board, word of aggressive action by the Americans would have spread to the surrounding country far swifter than any relief expedition could have traveled to their rescue, and it is almost certain that reprisal on American citizens would have followed and lives would have been lost So clear was this that the captain of the British man of war earnestly advised Admiral Mayo not to send any ships back to Tampico, basing his recommendation on his judgment that it would be precarious, that it would only result in the loss of life

"So earnest was the British captain, and so confident of this, that he offered to undertake the work of collecting all of the refugees and taking them out to our ships if we would only refrain from further arousing sentiment, which was nearly at white heat at that time, by sending our ships up the river."

AMERICAN BRIG, SEIZED BY MEXICANS, IS FREED

On board United States steamship California Matzatlan, Mex. May 11. (Via San Diego, May 9.)—The American brig Geneva was captured on the high seas April 26 by the Mexican transport Korrigan, according to information received here today. At the demand, however, of Captain Margruder of the United States cruiser Raleigh the brig was released.

VICE CONSUL SILLIMAN REPORTED SAFE AND WELL

Washington. May 11.—American Vice Consul Silliman, reported imprisoned by Mexican Federals, at Saltillo, is safe and well, according to assurances made to the French legation in Mexico City, by the Mexican war minister and transmitted to the state department, today.

JAPANESE IS KILLED.

Douglas, Ariz., May 11.—The report that two Americans had been killed at El Tigre May 6, has proved untrue. A Mexican named Daniel Rascon escaped from jail, wrested a rifle from a guard and shot and killed a Japanese mason who was standing near. Rascon was shot and killed by soldiers called to the scene by the shooting. The Japanese is said to have acted as consular agent for his people at El Tigre.

ENLARGE HOSPITAL CORPS.

New York May 11.—Col. L. Mervin Maus, surgeon of the department of the east on Governor's island, received a letter today from the surgeon generaly of the army in Washington, asking that a special enlistment be made immediately for the hospital corps in order to organize field hospitals, ambulance companies, evacuation hospitals and other medical units for troops in the field.

STAGE BELATED PARADE.

Kansas City, May 11.—Prevented by heavy rain last Saturday from making their long heralded demonstration Kansas City women will this afternoon join in a big suffrage parade through the business and residence districts of the city. There will be 100 automobiles flying the colors of suffragists and bearing banners proclaiming "votes for women."

WIMBORNE LOSES.

London, May 11.—Walter S. Buck master's polo team today beat Bar... Wimborne's reconstructed team by nine goals to eight in the final test match played at Hurlingham.

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeon
Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA;
Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested. Glasses Fitted

W. F. MISSMAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office Phone No. 11-02
Residence No. 11-03
Office and residence in the State Sav. Bank building.
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

J. E. BAUMGARTNER
The Tonsorial Artist
Will give you an easy shave or a neat hair cut
2nd door west of State Savings Bank
Call in

Something to Sell?

Try a Want Ad. in The Times, only

5Cts per Line

The Baldwin Piano
(Gold and Prights)
received the Grand Prix (the very highest award) at the great International Exposition in Paris—an honor rejected by all manufacturers of the world, but which has never been bestowed upon any American piano except the Baldwin.
M. M. Magner

THE KLEMME TIMES
By M. M. Magner
Published every Thursday at Klemme, Iowa
Subscription price $1 00 per year in advance
Entered at the Post Office at Klemme as second-class mail matter

Items of Interest

We should co operate to make this a good, clean and progressive place to reside It will cost us something to do it, but St Peter will not accept our money if you go to heaven, and if theology is right it will burn up in the other place. Therefore, get busy, be a booster and let us help push, pull, follow, lead or any old way so that the best can be secured for the town and community. The Times is here for your welfare. Are you ready to help us?

Great Clearance Sale of Millinery May 15th to 23rd. I have sold my Millinery Store and must dispose of the Spring and Summer Millinery Goods Also Veiling, Auto Veils, Auto Hoods, Chiffons, Sofa Pillows and Fancy Hand Bags. A fine line of Stamped Goods and other articles too numerous to mention. We will allow a discount of 15 and 20 per cent on Ready Trimmed Hats, Chiffons and Drawn Linens.

MRS. JOHN JOSTEN
Klemme, Iowa

The branch of the M. the St L. R. R. which runs through Britt. Corwith et al added two more passenger trains beginning Monday, May 11th. making six passengers each day. It looks like the Rock Island could afford to keep up the present passenger service of two passengers and a bob tail freight as they are likely have to, some on account of not having Fort Dodge on one end and Albert Lea on the other—two extremely wet spots. Some people like to get their whistle wet every time they take a trip

Epworth League Election

The members of the Epworth League of the German M E Church held their annual election last Friday evening The following officers were elected

President	Leonard Sampson
2d Vice Pres	Minnie Lenz
3d Vice Pres	Esther Gruetzmacher
1st Vice Pres.	Mrs. W Utter
4th Vice Pres	Lily Ridder
Sec	Hudah Gruetzmacher
Treas	Martha Lau
Librarians	Herald Gruetzmacher, H. E. Lewis
Organist	Esther Gruetzmacher

Play At Rockwell, May 20

The Klemme ball team goes to Rockwell for a game with the fast Rockwell team, Wednesday, May 20. The Klemme boys would appreciate the fact, if a good bunch of rooters from here would accompany them, as they are going up against against a pretty fast proposition and a little support from the bleachers might help some

Social Notes At Burt

Nine cases and two kegs is a lot of suds to lick up in two days That appears to be the record here Saturday and Sunday, and it rained Sunday too.

Some poor wayfarer with a thirst that seemed unquenchable broke into the Northwestern depot and swipped four quarts of forty-rod whisky. The party to whoom the booze was shipped has been suffering with a bad thirst, while the fellow who stole it is a lot worse off for having run the dirty truck down his asbestos lined neck—Monitor

Nearby Ball Games

Ringsted	12
Dolliver	0
Lake Mills High School	3
Britt High School	5
Belmond High School	10
Britt High School	3
Goodell High School	3
Kanawha High School	4
Belmond	1
Dows	0

Kanawha Here May 15th.

The Kanawha ball team will play return game here on the afternoon of Friday, May 15th. They are coming over with the hopes of winning back lost honors and a tough battle is looked for. All of the fans and fannies should attend and root for the locals as they need your support. The Klemme boys are trying to organize a good home team and at the same time make it self supporting and if this is done, they must have good atendance.

Bailey's Ravings

(From Britt Tribune)

A sample of the city water has been sent to the state university for analysis and reported to be A No 1 and fit to drink Quite a number of our citizens are drinking more or less since the liscenses were given up and others have threatened to try it.

An employee of the Rock Island road was killed the other day, in order to hold an inquest on him the coroners jury sat on the railroad right of-way. The fellows name was so long it would'nt go into a building cornerwise and so they wrote it on the fence.

Some one broke into the meat market and stole $28 00 in cash last Thursday night They monkeyed around after that patry $28 00 and left a pig's liver and a pound of steak on the the counter. They must have been scared away somehow. This will take all the profit off a hen and a link of sausage for the poor butcher.

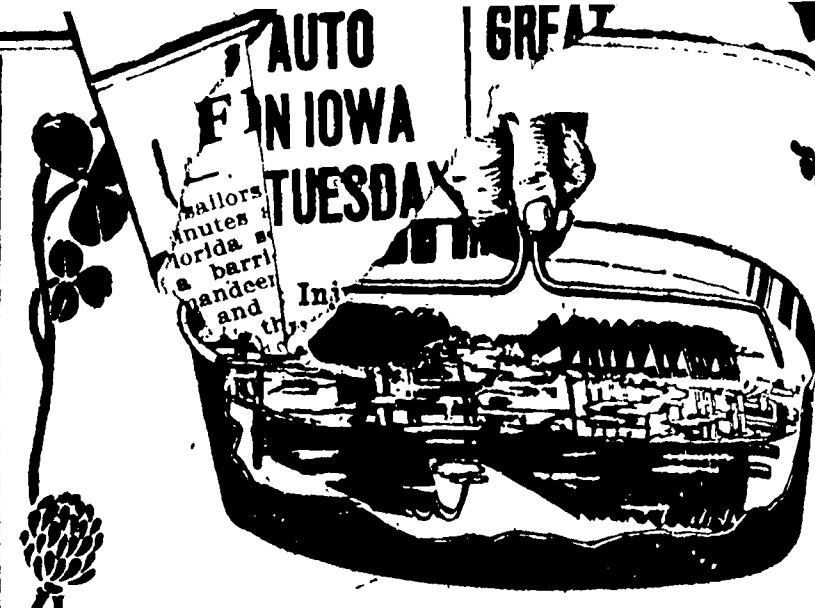
Neighbors Castle and Turner had a meeting at the bank corners where the old grocery building stands in the street Each had an automobile and were going in opposite directions, both turned out, both stopped suddenly. There was but one auto, it had eight wheels. They finally decided to cut it in two in the middle and each take one half. They retired and one of the autos will have to be retired too.

Clara and Bertha Heimendinger and the two Stone girls took a short ride in an auto Tuesday. Had it not been for a tree that happened to be in the way, they would have gone farther. One of the Stone girls went through the wind shield which cut her face some but not dangerously A lamp or two was smashed and they stopped quite suddenly The tree escaped with slight damage They were turning the auto around, so it was moving slow Had they been running 80 miles an hour they would have ruin the tree entirely.

We cannot vouch for the truth o the following. Down in the old country of Oklahoma, an airship went up ten miles high and accidentally dropped a two inch auger from the tool box. The heaviest end, of course was the lower end, and it's passage thru the air made it gyrate with fearful velocity, when it struck the ground it bored a hole 800 feet deep and pierced an oil vein on a lot owned by the aviator. His receipts from the oil was very large and he bought a gross of augers, going up each day two or three times, each ascension producing a flowing well. Rockfeller heard of this and imediately wired his agents in Oklahoma. "This is a case that cannot be settled at that end. We will attend to it here. Go on and settle the 'Colorado War.'"

Truth Bluntly Expressed.

A boy gets scolded for mussing his hair 'and tearing his clothes. But when he gets older and tries to look like a tailor's ad. he isn't nearly as much of a comfort to his parents.—Exchange.



DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS
ARE EASIEST TO WASH

The construction of the De Laval bowl is such that it can be completely taken apart for washing. The discs, bowl parts and tinware have no tubes, crevices, holes or corrugated surfaces as are found in other machines and which are very hard to clean.

The De Laval discs are washed as a single piece and the whole machine can be thoroughly

Cleaned In Five Minutes

There is no part of the De Laval bowl which cannot be easily reached and seen, so that the operator can always tell when or not every part has been properly cleaned.

The ease with which the De Laval can be thoroughly washed and kept in a sanitary condition is one reason why creamerymen prefer De Laval to other separator cream, and is likewise one of the reasons why butter made from De Laval cream has scored highest at the National Dairy Show for over 20 years

F. H. RIDDER
KLEMME, IOWA

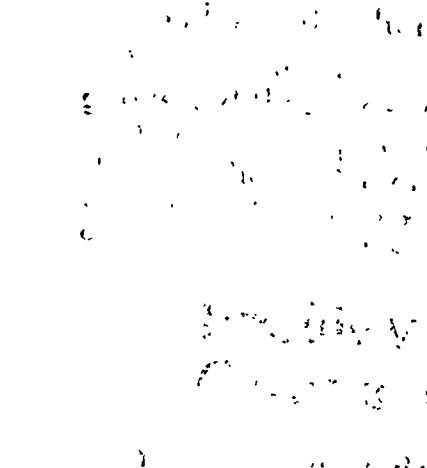
Guarantee
Worth Twice
We Ask—

...nings of ordinary paint...
...pay your money, get the...
...nsaction.
...ifferent. When you paint, we issue a Gold Bond, absolute insurance against ...tering or fading.

...Vrooman Paint

...& Vrooman Paint. You...
...the knowledge that ...our paint investment...
...ed. We'll be

C. A. PASST



Boys!
Do you want this dandy BICYCLE ?
No Money Needed

This is not a Prize Contest. Every boy who fills out and mails the corner coupon can earn this high-grade Bicycle for very little effort during spare time. ASK "The Bicycle Man." Mail this coupon TO-DAY.

FILL OUT AND MAIL THIS COUPON
...% The ...
236 W. ...
New Y...
Dear "Bicycle ...
Please tell ...
get one of your ...
Bicycles, without ...
for very little effort.
Name.....
Address.....

Those who are looking for a Better Advertising Medium than the TIMES Are Still Looking.

...PARSONS
...TIST
...Savings Bank.
...No. 48.
...Iowa

...A. Bredlow
...dlow & Son
Breeders of
Pure Bred
...Horn Cattle
...Breeding Stock
...Garner, Iowa

...d Gravel
...per load, cash,
...days, after
...ier load, All
...strictly cash.
...Griffen,
...emme, Iowa.

...le Hour
...ictures
...ery
...y Night
...y at 8:30

...T DEATH
...LEY ::
...KIDS
...ST COM-
...ATION :
10 and 15 cents
...RING YOUR FRIENDS

...than like a wood
...ers

...s and chops for a

...You Have
...esome, Life Sus-
...trength Giving
...MEAT
...You Really Need
...e Else! The
...ws and Frills
...All Right
...BUT
...Porterhouse!

...F. BUSCH

KLEMME MARKET.

Corn	55 57
Oats	33 33½
Wheat	70 to75
Barley	40 50
Hogs	7.50 to 7 60
Cattle	4.00 to 7.00

Klemme, Iowa, 1,000
Population in 1915

Herman Priebe is now able to be out.

Work on the park band stand has commenced.

FOR SALE—One Creamery share. Tom Elder.

The Kirkwood Cafe has installed an electric piano.

5 good residence lots on main street for sale. Inquire of C. F Busch.

Don't forget the ball game, Friday afternoon, Kanawha vs Klemme

Mr. and Chas. G. Schmidt have a new son at their home since last week

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hubbard and Mrs. A. Kirkwood were Clear Lake visitors, Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Roscoe Wiles have been entertaining a little son at their home since Sunday.

There will be a dance at the opera house on the evening of May 15th. Dont forget the date.

F J. Wenck is assisting in the State Savings Bank While A. M. Griesemer is enjoying a short vacation.

FOR SALE:—New Galloway Hay Stacker, Tower cultivator and 6 ft. Deering binder in good condition. Cal Newman.

The Ruka family drove up in their car from near Belmond for a visit with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Sam Kirkwood. Sunday.

H J Klemme's fine Belmond residence caught fire last week on Wednesday and considerable damage was done before being put out.

FOUND—A solid gold band ring on the streets of Klemme, April 20. Owner can have same by calling at this office and identifying same.

N. L. Palmer says that his feed shed business has increased so much that he has been forced to place a roof over the entire lumber yard.

Now is the time to rod your buildings while the Sun is shining. We sell the famous Dodd and Struthers Lightning Rods.
Henry Lau and Son.

Mr and Mrs Henry Freie and daughter, Mrs. Cloyd Lowhorn returned from Eagle Grove, Wednesday, where they had been to attend the funeral of their son Frank's little girl.

The A. D. Gimer family autoed to Doughtery, Sunday to visit their nephew, R. H. Fouts, who is the butter maker at the new creamery in that town. Mrs. Gimer's mother remained for a more extended visit.

FOR SALE—I have traded Minnesota land for the C. L. Yahnke residence, Livery Stable, horses, buggies and two automobiles. Will sell the stock and autos seperately, or all together to suit the purchaser. Will be sold at a bargain. Make me a cash offer.
Thos. Frankson,
Pioneer Bldg.
St. Paul, Minn.

I will be in town Friday, May 22nd and will be prepared to take any photo or outside views that you might wish. Leave orders at the Times office or notify me of the same.
J. Geo. Fell

"Belmond Has It" is the title of the of a slogan adopted by the Belmond Commercial Club. They held a slogan contest and the above slogan furnished by C. P Luick was chosen out of a bunch of fifty-five.

Dr. R W. Shultz, Osteopathic Physician, Garner, Iowa For "lame back', for stomach, bowel, or liver trouble, or for "nerves," consult an Osteopathic Physician. Get the Osteopathic view point. It will be helpful to you.

There is much rejoicing at the Fred Kluckhohn home this morning owing to the safe arrival of a dandy baby girl. Mother and child are doing nicely One oft he nearby neighbors seen Fred out in the back yard this morning "hollering", "papa" in tee rain barrel. just to see how it would sound.

Will Suckow received a very bad dislocation and fracture of the ankle when he was thrown from a horse, Saturday evening He was taken to to Mason City in the Henry Stroemer auto, where he was placed in hospital and the injured ankle set. It will likely be some time before he is able to walk without the aid of crutches.

Miss Maude Pratt has been chief telephone operator at Britt for a number of years passed away, Saturday, Feb. 13. She was one of the most loved employees that the Northern Electric ever had and the congregational church was the last sad rites were held in large enough to accommodate the friends that came to pay respects to the departed.

We would call your attention to our line of goods we like to sell such as the Planet Jr. Dutchman cultivator and planter and you must see us in order to get one of the best kinds of farm goods and automobiles We want to paint your buildings with Dutch Boy Painters Lightning Rods and give you a guarantee done and guarantee

To whom it may concern-The black horse Gulopin not proving a success as a factory breeder, we are putting the gray horse Gulopin on the road, and will make the rest of the season at the stands of the black horse.
Gibbs Bros.

The Fred Musselman family who recently moved to Minnesota, sold their farm there and have moved back to Klemme. Their many friends are glad to have them return, and we suspect that they are as equally well pleased for you will certainly have to go some to find a better place to live and a more live town than Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kirkwood and Bessie Mae, accompanied by Miss Anna Bonnicksen, all of Ringsted, came down in the former's car. Sunday, and as usual were unable to make the round trip on account of the storm and took the train home. Monday morning. The Kirkwoods visited his parents and friends and Miss Bonnicksen visited at the Magne- home

JOHN O. LEWIS

HEREBY ANNUONCES HIMSELF A REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS

COUNTY TREASURER

Sherwin-Williams Paint
(Covers the World)

We have just added a large stock of this celebrated paint and would be pleased to give you money saving figures on your paint contracts. It pays to use good paint---there is no better than Sherwin-Williams.

How About That Range?

We have sold a number of the famous Monarch Ranges and we would be pleased to tell you of its many superior points.

We have the most complete line of Aluminum Ware in town and every piece is sold with a 20 year guarantee ann it is also priced within the reach of all.

We are prepared to do any kind of tin or repair work. If you need any eave spouting, come and get our price.

WE SELL THE Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

C. W. WILES
THE NEW HARDWARE MAN

SOMETHING TO EAT?

No season of the year perplexes the housewife more in search for palatable foods than the present one—too early to depend on the garden, and you're tired of winter's heavy, heating solids

OUR STORE WILL AID YOU

It's shelves are loaded with new arrivals for the spring and summer tables—bring your worries to us. And watch for the first shipments of new garden stuff It's almost due and, as usual, we'll have it first.

J. N. DAY
The General Merchandise Store

Birth Announcements

A small card, 1 5 16x2⅛ inches, for the name of the new baby, and a large card, 2¼x3½ inches, for the parents' name and announcement. Envelopes to match, and sufficient ribbon to tie cards. Both cards punched.
Cards and envelopes are bordered in blue for girl and pink for boy. Ribbon to match; put up in a neat box containing 50 each size cards and ribbon. Any amount will be printed that you desire. An appropriate way to inform your friends of the Stork's visit.

Get Them at the Times Office
"Mike's Place"

Neat Job Work at Right Prices at the Times Office.

AFTER SUFFERING TWO LONG YEARS

Mrs. Aselin Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one was born I was sick with pains in my sides which the doctors said were caused by inflammation. I suffered a great deal every month and grew very thin. I was under the doctor's care for two long years without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it we got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the third bottle of the Compound I was able to do my housework and today I am strong and healthy again. I will answer letters if anyone wishes to know about my case."—Mrs. JOSEPH ASELIN, 623 Monroe St., N. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for woman's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

GO TO

WESTERN CANADA NOW

The opportunity of securing free homesteads of 160 acres each, and the low priced lands of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will soon have passed.

Canada offers a hearty welcome to the Settler, to the man with a family looking for a home; to the farmer's son, to the renter, to all who wish to live under better conditions.

Canada's grain yield in 1913 is the talk of the world. Luxuriant Grasses give cheap fodder for large herds; cost of raising and fattening for market is a trifle.

The sum realized for Beef Butter, Milk and Cheese will pay fifty per cent on the investment.

Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

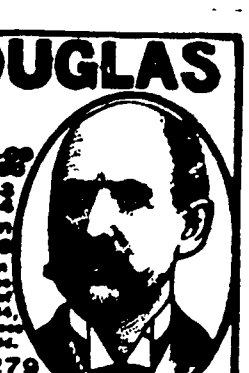
160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

J. M. MacLachlan Drawer 579, Watertown, S. D. W. V. Bennett, Bee Building, Omaha, Nebraska and R. A. Garrett, 811 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minnesota

Canadian Government Agt

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES



Men's $3.50 $4 $4.50 $5
Women's $2.50 $3 $3.50
Misses, Boys, Children $2.00 $2.50 $3 $3.50

Began Business in 1876; now the largest maker of $3, $3.50, $4, and $4.50 shoes in the world.

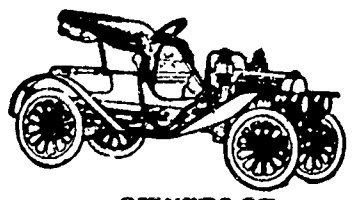
$1,006,279 INCREASE in the sales of W. L. Douglas shoes in 1913 over 1912.

This is the reason we give you the same values for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 notwithstanding the enormous increase in the cost of leather. Our standards have not been lowered and the price to you remains the same.

Ask your dealer to show you the kind of W. L. Douglas shoes he is selling for $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50. You will then be convinced that W. L. Douglas shoes are absolutely as good as other makes sold at higher prices. The only difference is in the price.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

None genuine without W. L. Douglas' name stamped on the bottom. If W. L. Douglas shoes are not for sale in your vicinity, order direct from factory. Shoes for every member of the family at all prices, postage free. Write for illustrated catalog showing how to order by mail. W. L. DOUGLAS, 210 Spark Street, Brockton, Mass.



OWNERS OF

MAXWELL-BRISCOE

2-Cylinder Cars

May Now Purchase Repair Parts for These Cars Direct from Us

ALL LITIGATION WITH THE CARLSON MOTOR TRUCK COMPANY HAS BEEN TERMINATED IN OUR FAVOR, AND THE MAXWELL COMPANY HAS OBTAINED AN EXCLUSIVE LICENSE TO SUPPLY THESE PARTS TO MAXWELL OWNERS.

The Maxwell Company has been furnishing repair parts and will continue to furnish to owners of Maxwell-Briscoe Cars, Brush Runabout Cars, Royal Motor Cars, Columbia Motor Cars and Maxwell 4-Cylinder Cars, repair parts accurately made from new and complete designs of substantial parts. All parts at remarkably low prices.

Owners write direct for Price List of Genuine Parts

Maxwell Motor Sales Corporation

Newcastle, Indiana

A STERLING NOVEL OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

The MIDLANDERS

By

CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

THE DAY OF SOULS, MY BROTHER'S KEEPER etc. etc.

Copyright, 1913, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

(CHAPTER XXIII—(Continued).

"Ah, well!" She turned "I will have to believe it, Judge Van Hart! I thank you. I—I—" she stared at Harlan. He must have sat without a sound. He was by the table, his head resting on his hands. Something like a whispered cry came from him when Janet moved toward the door. When her fingers were on the knob, his voice arrested her.

"Don't go, Janet! In God's name let me think! Aurelie—Aurelie!"

The father was staring at him in his turn. It seemed to the woman that the judge's face was graying. He reached to touch his boy's arm and could not, his hand dropped uselessly.

"My son," he quavered, "what do you mean? Aurelie? His child—and you?"

The other man raised his head. "I love her—that is all."

He arose and faced them. "Know it now, all of you!" His stubborn speech forced its way between set teeth. And Wiley—God help Wiley! I understand! I'm going to him—going—going!"

He found his hat and was rushing to the door when Janet stopped him.

"Wait! I want you, Harlan."

"I'm going to Wiley. They beat him down with this! His life's ambition, his hope—he renounced it all for her! I see that, Janet!"

"Yes. But here—you can save him!"

"Save him?"

"Does he want the truth known? Do you want it known? You love her, Harlan!"

He stopped. The judge raised his his hand dispassionately Janet hurried on You can save him. Tanner's out there—I saw him when I came in, talking with the sheriff. In the corridor! Bring him!"

Harlan stared. "I'll kill him!" he muttered. Then she saw a light break on his face. He was gone.

They stood face to face, Janet and the magistrate, when Harlan returned. They had not spoken. The judge appeared unnerved at last. Tanner put a curious face in the door When Harlan closed it behind him, he started in a grinning trepidation The younger man motioned him to the table. He laid upon it the pages from Boydson's slip. Then he turned to the little gray boss and quietly, as if beginning an address to a jury, he spoke "In January, a year ago, you paid Dan Boydson $250 to be divided with Curry and another supervisor for putting through the contract you got for building the Broad creek bridge. On April 2 of this year, you paid Boydson $400 to secure the road contracts in district six—and in June you paid him $50 to award your company the Singinawa creek dam work. And before that," he glanced over the slips, "you have bribed two, and possibly three, of the board, for the last seven years to put road and bridge work not where the county wanted it, but where it was most profitable to you. I am going to bring all these instances before the January grand jury."

The litle boss had stood hat in hand, his cigar cocked downward, listening He never moved until the recital was done Then with a grimace, he tilted the cigar His eyes shifted to Janet Vance.

"Where did you get them facts?"

"Do they read right?"

"I ain't saying anything. But where did you get them figgers?"

"Boydson confessed."

The judge was staring. Tanner took a step nearer on the rug He adjusted his glasses critically

Harlan's hand came down on the table before him. "Don't touch that paper!"

"Young man, I ain't no ruffian. Le' me see." He looked slowly.

"Boydson's writing, isn't it?"

"I'm not saying. I'm not talking. Only," he looked past Janet to the judge "What the hell do you want, young man?"

"I want you to say!"

"I ain't saying anything. You must have gone crazy."

Harlan was folding over the notes in his pocketbook. "All right, Thad! Don't! But I'll be district attorney on the first of next month!"

The little boss took out a cigar. "Judge," he grinned, but his lips were trembling, "what the hell have we got into?"

The judge suddenly burst from them with a groan "Tanner! Don't speak to me—don't look at me, I tell you."

The boss watched Harlan. "I never could account for folks. For the day before election things are moving into a mighty rumpus! Look at the folks in town? I been waiting half an hour for the boy to bring me a copy of the News"

"And I," retorted Harlan, "am waiting here for the paper you have in your pocket Curran's signed withdrawal"

"Eh?" The boss fidgeted His eyes went to the judge. "You told them?"

"I did. Tanner, this is damnable! This is an outrage," the judge turned on Harlan. "My boy, you misunderstand me. I knew nothing—know nothing The hate of this"—he shivered—"God, it is in my blood, our very blood, Harlan! The dirt, the turmoil, the sensationalism of it all."

"Father, I did not dream you did. You brought me up in the reverence of the law—its spiritual quality, its invincible purity. I could not dream dishonor of you. But you—you hesitate. You stand still. It is not enough in a man—not enough in a judge. The only good is the fighting good."

"What do you mean?"

"I want Curran's withdrawal. I demand it."

"He is out of the fight. He dare not speak tonight! His own paper is printing his resignation!"

"Give me that resignation," Harlan advanced on Tanner. "Give it to me—or I'll take it from you."

The boss retreated. He looked toward the door. Janet was moving to it. "Keep off, damn you!" he growled.

Harlan was following him. Thad's hand went into his coat pocket. "Keep off! Here then, make a trade. Gi' me that stuff of Boydston's. I tell you! I'll keep my mouth shut. If you gi' me that stuff that damn fool wrote!"

"Well!" Harlan's grim smile came. The little gray boss reached a trembling hand from his pocket. From the door Janet turned. She had torn the paper from Taner, even as Harlan was searching for his own.

"Go!" she cried. "That's enough. Those notes are mine, Harlan. You can't trade them!"

Harlan's smile deepened. With a sweep of his hand he hurled Taner against the wall. "You rat!" He looked back to his father. "I want you all to listen. I am going to marry Aurelie Lindstrom. I am going to prosecute Boydston and Curry and Tanner. And if you"—he smashed the other man closer to the floor—"if you ever mention—or if I ever hear a word against the name of the girl I'm going to marry, I'll walk in to the First National bank and kill you. Is that plain?"

The little boss struggled to answer The judge laid a hand on his son's arm "Harlan! Marry her? Your family—your mother—"

The young man gave him a brief attention. "Very good." He lifted the little gray boss to his feet. "Tanner, my father wouldn't kill a man under any circumstances, would he? It's been bred out of him, and his generations before him. But I've got it back somewhere! If there's any need at any time!"

He kicked the door open and threw the boss out.

There was some commotion in the corridor, so much so that Thad's exit was not noticed. An excited boy was dashing down the hall calling for Maryat the sheriff. He could not find him, and stopped before Harlan at the door.

"Mr. Van Hart, they want you or some officer! There was a big fight at the quarry! The contractors' dagos tried to sneak into Lindstrom's field and start work, and he shot into em. He killed three, and one's the foreman!

At Harlan's back the judge was listening. The young man saw something out of the window as he turned A column of white smoke going up from the back yard of the News' shop, and a glimpse of Janet's gown He just realized that she had gone. And that, for the first time in 50 years, there would be no issue of the Rome News

The boy was pulling at his sleeve in a hysterical excitement.

"Hold on, I'm going, son!" But he turned again to his father. The judge was striving to speak.

"He said Lindstrom! He said Lindstrom! Killed the men!"

"You sent him down," the son muttered briefly "I'm sorry, father"

CHAPTER XXIV

THE PRICE IS PAID

At suntset Curran was far in the hills. There was a tiny hunting shack in the thick of an oak scrub ridge where he had often spent the night in other seasons, with Harlan or Arne, seeking the squirrels and wild pigeons, and now, unconsciously, his steps led thither. Without thought, without purpose—only he must be alone with his crisis of defeat, he must keep reason, he must grope for the tatters life had left him.

All the afternoon he had wandered, keeping from the roads, and meeting no one. He had beheld the silent Midland country, the cloud patches chasing one another over the close cropped meadows from ridge to ridge, the valleys bleak in the November hush. Afar he heard the farmers snapping the corn from the frozen husks throwing it with a rough cadence against the bump boards of the wagons; and now and then he saw the yellow piles among the shocked fodder and the pumpkin vines. Again he saw a threshing crew, the red machine roaring, the flow of chaff, the glint of the fork tines as the pitchers threw the the bundles to the hand cutters, the farm boys wallowing in the bright straw, the girls coming out to bid the hands to dinner which the neighbor women had gathered to prepare. All this fine hearty life seemed strangely unreal, but curiously his mind absorbed itself in it. He pictured the long table in the farmhouse, the host welcoming the threshers, the discussion of the yield and price with the weighers and sack sewers, as the owner let the brown wheat run through his fingers. All this he had been giving up with his new larger life, this prosy country friendliness which only this year he had discovered and loved, and which had made place for him, given him honor. And now, at the moment of his miracle, the precious knowledge of their trust, and that he was equal to this man's work, he had fallen; again, the wanderer, the man without understanding, the poet without song

He turned from it all with tear-filled eyes, climbing higher in the bluffs The leaves were new-fallen, showing the far-winding river, the bronze shields of the corn coming up to the black muddy roads, leading to the towns, first past the modest homes of the workers and hired folk, and then to the heavy-faced houses of the rich. After all, a pleasant friendly town, coming at last to know him; a wholesome town blown always with odorous air and filled with the voices of people, boys climbing the cattle trails, sweethearts wandering along the pebbly watercourses of Sunday afternoons; or old men and women coming slowly along the walks under the arching maples, speaking kindly, knowing every one and the children of every one.

From the last high ridge, where the uplands began, he could see the great vistas. The smoke over the mines and factories in Eariville, the Mississippi, a band of dull silver strung along the hills of Illinois; and now, on his home shore, far to the north, a single farm wagon, toiling up the red gash of a road to the yellow bluff, then rattling on, a crawling speck at last, the wrapped figure in the seat alone and desolate under the sky, the low-pressing globe of gray. He thought it might be his friend, Hemminger, going back to his home people. He would tell them the news. He wondered how they would receive it; if they would not be saddened? They would open their weekly paper, the damp and soggy little sheet as it came from its old press, and read his announcement. The talk would go about—some nameless blight that had struck down their champion, and only the infinite silence would answer. He thought of the farmers driving homeward from the rally that would not take place, rough garbed, silent, in a sort of awe of Thad Tanner, the little gray boss who was on top again. They would guess at this much. But Curran who, somehow, had appealed to their own secret sentiment; who had come clearing an obscure message, the fighting good, the newer ideal of democracy—something past the money lust of the republic—he, who had dreamed that out of their gray and honest lives he might weave the colors of his own infinite possibilities—what would they think of him?

Tomorrow was the election, and by night the great fight would be won. They would all win, Delroy, the militant governor, the junior senator; all the men of the north in the brilliant campaign. But he who had been of them, of whom the home folk had been proud as he voiced their conscience against outworn theories of wealth and privilege, he had fallen. He thought of how they would discuss him tomorrow about the polls, his useless name on the ballots—a man apart, branded with a nameless stain, the eternal whisper following him. Yes, he had found bottom after the resurge of his life. He had risen to fall. Love had made the way and then defeated him.

From the high point he saw a yellow scar and knew it was the quarry, with beyond the shanties of the pocket squatters. Up this trail she had romped and grown, his child, his little girl, laughing the way of her vulgar upbringing, all unknown and uncared for. And he—he might have done so much—he who all his thriftless life had needed the touch of a hand in his!

He tried to recall the first time he had seen her—a dark-haired child in a red dress going past his shop with the barelegged Lindstrom boys. Then a schoolgirl, slim, with sharp-eyed little Gallic tricks and poses; and then the maid he had come to know. Moody at times, and lonely; passionate still with eagerness to live and be. And thence on to his miracle—laughing her way into his dreams, the bizarre romance in his obscure struggle, lifting him by her kinship of feeling, of adventure, of follies and extravagances. Oh, the way they had come unknowing'—the two outcasts to their triumph'

Then he bowed his head with humbleness at this other miracle. With all her droll playing with him, her grateful fondness for him, he had been the pure in heart. The wonder of it! That always, his passion had been a sheltering and protecting one—a fatherhood, indeed, that defended her against the town's tongues, that exulted in her success. And once again he looked off to the east and his mystic impulse came He kissed his fingers to the dun sky and whispered: "Because you're there, Aurelie—just because you're there'"

At dark he went to the cabin, and before a tiny fire sat long. A morrow was to be thought of—a sober reckoning tomorrow, the long straight road. He would have to go, he reasoned; he was crushed, destroyed here. And then a flame of dogged courage swept him. No, he would not go! He had done no wrong Fate had struck him down, but he accepted. He would make his fight—a losing fight, perhaps—with the infinite cruelty of ostracism and the jeers of misundrestanding, the mutter of nameless things that men whisper only to their kind, always about him. But he would stay, he would steel his soul to it, with some sort of new patience and pride in renunciation that none could know. Unless it was best for her! Then he would go, gladly the wanderer; silent, crying down his fatherhood, his lonely love for her. For she had best not know he whispered—never, never! What need of this burden on her?

In the dark he groped about this circle, and nothing could he find except that what was for her, he would do. Nothing else would matter. Then he slept, as he had not dreamed he could sleep, in a child's peace; or as one who had emptied his soul, beholding a flame burn it out to purity. Once, in the night, he awakened and found his lips muttering "Thank God!" and then slept again in his inexplicable peace. Only, on this consciousness, there seemed to come sounds, faint and far, like the firing of a shot now and then.

When dawn came he arose, hungry and stiffened with weariness and cold, but with a cleansed hunger, a somber resolve, a feeling of the need of men. When he came out the low pressing gray of the sky was still on the hills. He looked down and saw a farm wagon on the far valley road. It came to him that this was election day, and about the polls the groups were gathering. But on the hush of the morning there came again sounds that he could dimly recall in his dreams—gunshots. Once they were almost like a volley.

Now, on his descent to town, he could see black distant figures, men moving out the road along the creek.

CHAPTER XXV

THE COMMUNAL LAW

It was still very early when Curran left the trail in the road back of his cottage and came down past it to the News shop. The housekeeper was not about. He wondered at that; she must be sleeping later than usual. In the back yard was a heap of burned paper ash that puzzled him. He came through the shop, opened the front door and looked out.

The square was deserted. One or two clerks were setting out the vegetable crates and displays, but around the hitching rail there was not a team, nor all down High street a human being. Curran was surprised—it must still be very early.

Then about the corner by the bank a stiffened lame old figure crept. Curran regarded Uncle Michigan in surprise. His eyes had the look of a hunted animal, staring above his shaggy beard.

"Mr. Wiley!"

"Uncle Mich!"

"I'm goin' to the station to meet her, Mr. Wiley. I telegraphed last night, and she'll done come to save Knute and Peter and the baby!"

"Save them? Mich!"

(Continued next week.)

For Lunatics

He—I learn that the eclipse is not visible in the United States

She—I wonder why we are not allowed to see it

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases Cure the constipation and cure the disease Easy to take.

Clean Record

The artillerist always has a gun in the feminine gender.

"You see, sir, she was silenced!" he explained, rubbing his eyes.—Puck.

While They Last

"My wife is learning to correspondence course. She asks how to mix biscuits. Reply by return post."

"What if the biscuits instead of burning after she gets them in the oven?"

"Then she telegraphs." Journal.

ERUPTION ON CHILD

R. F. D. No 2 Jackson daughter who is ten years suffering from an eruption the body. In the beginning small red spots and after to bloody sores We tried of ointments but they did any relief for our child almost day and night and could touch her, because ered with sores from head

"We had heard about Soap and Ointment and with them, and after using dies, that is to say, the Ointment, only a few days our child could sleep one week she was (Signed) August F Barg 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment throughout the world. Sold free, with 32-p. Skin Book, card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Bo

The Real Reason

"Bacon ought to have plays, even if he didn't"

"Why so?"

"Because they have so parts."

He Simply Asked

First Clubman—Well, I haps. Last week I thought for rheumatic fever, but just to stave it off, and today my left shoulder suggests may be neuritis or—

First Clubman—My didn't mean it literally

Self-Protection

"You are demanding a fee for automobiles in Cr protested the tourist.

"We've got to, in self replied Sheriff Joe We the nervous strain Every while a tire would blow report would break up game in the township."

The Human Body

The boy entered the lently as possible, conscious taken a very long time to short distance. The cashier sternly and demanded

"Do you work here?"

"Yes," stammered the b

"Your name?"

"John Thompson"

The cashier gazed long ly at the mystified young marked: "Ah! Thompson member your face. It's time since I saw you last

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Good Digestion Follows Use

Indigestion and the attacks comforts of mind and body tain to follow continued use proper food.

Those who are still young bust are likely to overlook that, as dropping water wears stone away at last, so will heavy, greasy, rich food, lead loss of appetite and indigestion

Fortunately many are enough to study themselves the principle of cause and their daily food. A N. Y. man writes her experience

"Sometime ago I had a ble from indigestion, caused rich food. I got so I was digest scarcely anything, cines seemed useless.

"A friend advised me to Nuts food, praising it highly a last resort, I tried it. I to say that Grape-Nuts lieved me of my trouble, up and strengthened my gans so that I can now eat desire. But I stick to Grape

Name given by Postum Creek, Mich. Read "The Wellville," in pkgs. "There son."

Ever read the above letter one appears from time to time are genuine, true, and full interest.

Supplies

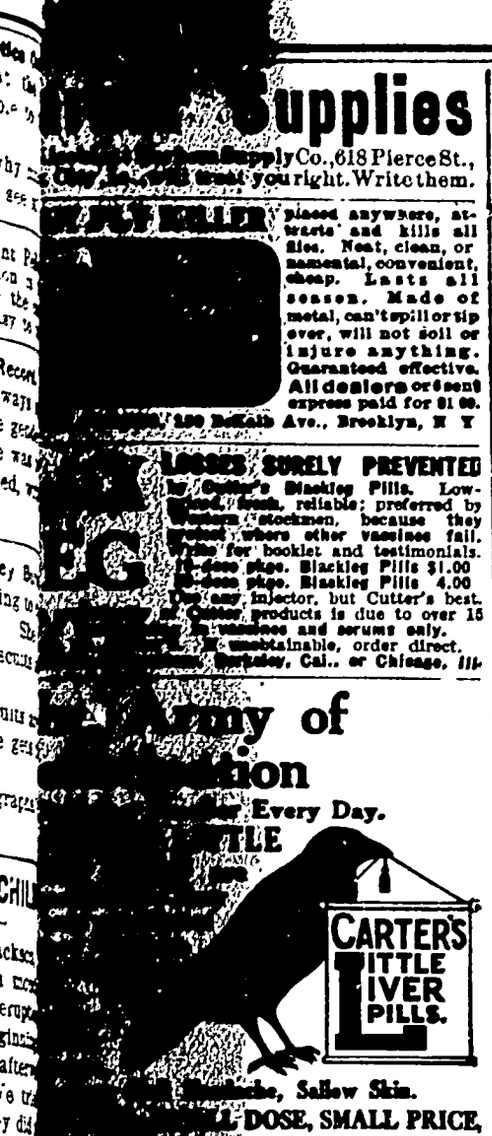
Supply Co., 618 Pierce St., ... you right. Write them.

KILLER placed anywhere, attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, or ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over, will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or sent express paid for $1.00. ... Bedford Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

LOSSES SURELY PREVENTED ... Cutter's Blackleg Pills. Low-priced, fresh, reliable; preferred by ... stockmen, because they protect where other vaccines fail. ... for booklet and testimonials. ... dose pkge. Blackleg Pills $1.00 ... dose pkge. Blackleg Pills 4.00 ... injector, but Cutter's best. ... Cutter products is due to over 15 ... vaccines and serums only. ... unobtainable, order direct. ... Berkeley, Cal., or Chicago, Ill.

...ny of ...tion

... Every Day. ...TLE



...che, Sallow Skin.
...L DOSE, SMALL PRICE.
... bear Signature
...Wood

...OF HIGH PLACE

...Secretary McAdoo's ...ight Be Said to ...n a Moral.

...erks at Washington ... for higher salaries. ...t the only ones who ...rom lack of income, ... Secretary McAdoo, ...loyes should receive ...sation, considering ...lities. Apropos of the story of a bank St. Peter at the Gate. ... you steal?" inquired ... keys, suspiciously.

...oney was there in the ...

...wenty millions some- ...

...re you paid a year?" ... dollars."

...med St. Peter, "take ...

...ry Axiom.

... make poor money. ...rary aim leads to the ... commonplace alone ...t sellers."

...was Ripley Hitchcock, ...critic and editor of New ..., smiling:

... with the true literary ... broke."

... Her Choice.

... believe the best place for a ... is the stocking.

...—There is one thing sure; ... depositor will be well heeled.

But a note never falls due at the proper time.

Simplified Breakfasts

... for good days

... package ... crisp

Post Toasties

... and add cream or ...

... with some fruit, a cup ... Postum, and a ... or two if you ... have a simple breakfast ... wholesome and ...

... are bits of corn ... cooked, delicately ... and toasted to an ... "brown" without ... by hand. They ... taste good, and

"The Memory Lingers"

... Grocers— Everywhere!

THE MOCK PRODIGAL

By Ella Randall Pierce.

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

From his retreat behind the green vines of the shaded veranda Britt Maxon somberly eyed his younger brother, the gay, central figure of a lively group on the lawn.

All his life Cecil had been a care and a trial. He had defied restrictions, outraged conventions, dipped into all the petty dissipations of the town, loafed, laughed and snapped his fingers at everybody who sought to restrain, advise or reproach him. His final act before his disappearance had been the appropriation of a small amount of his firm's cash—which sum his father had promptly made good—and an attempt to elope with the minister's pretty daughter. The girl, however, had faint-heartedly left him at the second railway station and returned home, weeping and repentent

Yet, for all the dark record of a checkered past, here he was at home again, with the family and half the town gathered about him, each one trying to outdo the others in gladsome hospitality.

"Vive the returned prodigal!" The elder brother's meditations were bitter. "Isn't it wonderful! The folks wouldn't make such a fuss over me if I stayed away 50 years. They're making every day a fete day now, and nobody knows or cares whether I'm in it or not."

Britt Maxon was usually of good humor and kindly disposed toward every one, even the erring younger brother; but, at this moment, his mood was hostile. His watching gaze took in not only the lithe, boyish figure of the returned truant, but the slender, blue-gowned girl who had been beside him almost constantly since his arrival. Mora Kemp, too! And she had scarcely known Cecil before his absence.

"That's the way with women," reflected the watcher. "Give a man the reputation of a dashing, devil-may-care scamp, and they'll find him charming. Yes, Cecil's a mighty good-looking fellow—more like a gypsy than ever. But I thought Mora Kemp had common sense! Well, I'm off."

He turned abruptly, running into his sister, Fanny, near the inside stairway.

"Oh, Britt, will you come and hull some berries? I'm going to make some of those biscuit shortcakes Cecil's so fond of. He says he hasn't seen one since he went away. And Miss Kemp's going to stay to tea. She and Cecil are going over to the farm house now for the extra cream. I said I'd send Molly, but they think it'll be a lark."

Britt considered the long, lonely path across the wooded hills to the farm house, and ground his teeth. His brother was certainly making the most of his early opportunities.

At the tea table, encircled with guests, none was so merry as Cecil and the blonde girl who sat at his right hand. She turned two or three times to challenge her older friend, Britt Maxon; but the dull, savage mood kept possession of him, and his attempts at gayety were clumsily mechanical.

In the evening Cecil played the mandolin and sang fascinating foreign songs, some of them accompanied by languishing glances into the nearets feminine eyes. When it was time for the little party to break up, he went home with Mora Kemp.

"A little more of this sort of thing and I'll turn prodigal myself," declared the elder brother. "Cecil's a hero! I've been sane, safe and steady so long, I've ceased to be interesting. It's time I gave them all something to think about."

A week later, after Cecil and Mora had been out canoeing, and the former had carelessly upset the boat; and had then made a heroic rescue, carrying the girl in her dripping garments to the Maxon home, Britt felt that his time for action had come.

The next day, everybody in town was talking over the strange news. Britt Maxon had gone away mysteriously! Britt Maxon had suddenly given up his fine position with the richest firm in town! Britt Maxon had thrown his family into a panic, and Fanny Maxon and Mora Kemp had been seen crying on each other's shoulder, while Cecil was trying to comfort them.

"Let the duffer go—it'll do him good," cried the gypsy-like one. "I'm glad to see Britt cut up a bit. Show he's human."

"I don't believe he's gone away to 'cut up,'" said Mora, with dignity. "But imagine him leaving his splendid position with the Lomax-Tweed company."

"Why, he started to work there a mere boy, at $3 a week," wailed Fanny. "And he'd just been made president of the Canton club. And I'd counted on his playing all my accompaniments this winter."

"I'll play for you," offered Cecil, blithely; but his sister shook her head. Cecil was given to introducing startling improvisations in all his musical performances. "Oh, well, Britt'll be back before winter."

"Indeed, no," sighed Fanny. "He wrote to mother—which is more than you did when you ran away, Cecil—and he hinted at a trip to South America."

Cecil whistled. His travels had never taken him as far as that.

The summer passed, and no message came from the absent one; but Mrs. Maxon received a gift now and then, bearing some distant postmark. The tokens came unsigned, but the mother smiled softly when she saw them.

Once, Mora Kemp found a handkerchief of delicate Mexican handwork in her mornin's mail; but she spoke of this to no one.

It was early in the next spring that the station master at Canton saw a familiar figure approaching from the halting, eastbound train.

"Ginger—Britt Maxon! Well, I thought we'd see you back about this time."

Then he shook hands in a hearty way, and fell to chatting as in times gone by. Britt walked through the main street of the town, where old friends greeted him casually as though he had been seen but the day before. Two or three stopped him to ask about his travels; but he felt that his return was not causing a sensation.

To be sure, Fanny flung herself upon him with a girlish cry of delight, and his mother's hand trembled in his own for an instant; but—"I knew you'd come back, Britt," said Mrs. Maxon gently.

"And say, Britt," whispered Fanny, as soon as they were in the hall again, "you got back just in time. Cecil's gone away again!"

"Gone;" echoed Britt, "And mother?"

"Oh, she isn't worrying about him this time. He's a born tramp, and he's just kept the whole place upset anyway. But Cecil coaxed old Mr. Lomax to try him in your place with the firm; and he didn't make good. And last night Mr. Lomax was asking after you, and—and——"

"Good-by, Fanny!" cried Britt, catching up his hat.

An hour later, he had secured his former position with the Lomax-Tweed company. "Glad you came in just at this time," commented the head of the firm. "We thought likely you'd rather settle in Canton."

Bewildered, the young man took a seat beside her. "Has your conscience never troubled you, Mora?" he asked feelingly. "Don't you know it was because of you I went away?"

Her golden head dropped. "And, now, because of me—Cecil's gone," she faltered. "Yes, that's true. I didn't care for him as he—but it wasn't my fault, Britt."

His heart gave a wondrous throb, and his face shone like the sun. "Can it be possible!" Then he laughed happily. "Well, the prodigal's returned; and while everybody seemed to expect him, and there is no excitement in town * * * I'll be satisfied if you'll just make a little fuss over me, Mora—darling."

"You a prodigal!" sweetly jeered Mora, from the shelter of his arms. "You're only a make-believe, dear old faithful!"

BRAVERY OF DISTINCT TYPES

Danger of Battle Field Harder to Meet Than Inevitable Death.

From the Boston Globe.

Bravery in the face of only possible death, as on the battle field, and bravery in the face of certain death, as in the case of a Titanic shipwreck, are of course two very different things. The danger of the battle field is much harder to meet because of its uncertainty. Men easily summon courage to meet the inevitable.

It is the fear of the mishaps and perils of ordinary life—all our dreads, worriments, anxieties, forebodings, solicitudes, morbidities, apprehensions of illness or of poverty—that need most to be met and overcome A vast literature has sprung up within the last two decades, telling us how to be forewarned and forearmed against all real and imaginary evils.

The gist of that doctrine, boiled downw into two words, is: "Don't worry. If you really must worry, then worry as little as you can. If you find yourself in sudden peril or emergency, regard the situatioin calmly and keep very cool. If you are in imminent danger of being run over by a motor car, preserve your presence of mind, for motorists assert that it is only the people who lose their heads who get run over.

Exactly how a nervous person, man or woman, is to preserve the requisite presence of mind in a great and sudden danger has never been adequately set forth, though many very entertaining volumes have been written to prove the folly of fear

NOW IS THE TIME TO CLEAN YOUR FURNACE

From the Baltimore News.

In the May Woman's Home Companion a contributor writes an interesting and a practical article on the care of furnaces. He says that spring is the time to overhaul your furnace as soon as the fire goes out for good. Many householders wait until fall, and this is a bad practice. It is often difficult to get workmen at such a time, and the furnace is also likely to rust. The average cellar will cause iron to rust during the summer months. Therefore as early as possible care should be taken to protect the furnace and piping. This contributor goes on, in part as follows:

"First of all, the ashes should be removed from the fire pot and the grate left entirely clean. Ashes absorb moisture, and if left in a heater will injure it. Then remove the smoke pipe and, after giving it a coat of rust-preventing paint, set it in a dry place for the summer; the attic is a good place. Shake all soot out of it and see that the damper is in good order. When the smoke pipe is replaced in the fall, just before you are ready to light your furnace, the joints where it enters the furnace and chimney should be covered with 'asbestos cement,' applied like mortar. This is a great draft aid.

"If the furnace shows any tendency to rust, whether it be a steam, hot water or hot-air one, cover all such parts with a coat of paint such as is especially prepared to prevent rust upon furnaces. Paint the piping also, especially at the joints. Much piping these days is covered with a suitable covering, which prevents loss of heat from radiation where it is not needed. This, of course, prevents rusting. Tin hot-air pipes can also be covered to advantage. If a steam or hot-water furnace is not brick set (and most are not these days) a covering of asbestos, which may be applied in the form of plaster, will prevent much useless radiation from the furnace."

LARD DISHES COST $5,000,000

Grocers' Apparent Thoughtfulness Goes to Make Up High Cost of Living.

From the Philadelphia Times.

Consider the lard dish. It is a thin shell of wood, featherlike in its lightness. The grocer obligingly gives it to you free with your pound of lard. Probably you always thought it was rather "nice" of him, too. Would it astonish you, dear madame, to learn that this thoughtful act of your grocer, multiplied a few billion times throughout the country, has robbed you and your sisters of $5,000,000 annually? Yet that's a fact. Figures show that these insignificant little wooden dishes, used for the sale of lard and butter, have helped thieve away this sum—enough money to build and endow a university or a great laboratory for scientific research.

So next time you buy your pound of lard, or your pound of "tub" butter, request your friend on the other side of the counter to weigh his wooden dish and the commodity you purchase separately. He'll have to do it, or the bureau of weights and measures will make it hot for him. This is only one of several important regulations just promulgated by the new bureau. Another that the housewife ought to know about, and act on, forbids the sale of "a nickel's worth" of a commodity, or a "bag" or a "box" of any article. Buy a pound, or a quart, or half a dozen—but buy a definite amount for a definite price.

Out of just such small matters is "the high cost of living" made up. To reverse the old adage, we are "pound wise and penny foolish."

Progressive Persuasion.

From Tit-Bits.

The cloak room man at a large restaurant fell suddenly unwell, and a substitute took his place. The new man was told not to give out any coats or hats without proper identification, and so, when an old gentleman demanded his hat and explained that he had lost his check, there was a great to-do on the part of the substitute.

"But that's my hat, the shabby brown one," said the old gentleman. "It's got my initials in it—F. X. G."

The substitute looked inside the hat, and sure enough the initials were there.

"Hump!" he said, suspiciously. "You might have seen these intitials somehow."

"But here they are on my shirt, too," said the old gentleman, unbuttoning his waistcoat. "See? F. X. G."

"You might have stolen the shirt," said the substitute.

"Good heavens!" shouted the old gentleman, and he tore open his shirt and undervest. "Maybe this will satisfy you! Hey?" And he pointed to the letters F. X. G., tattooed on his breast in blue.

The substitute stared at the tattooing closely; then at last he handed over the hat. As he did so he said, reluctantly:

"Well, since nature wrote them initials on your skin, I guess they must be yours for a fact."

A Boon to the Farm Housewife

The kitchen loses its terrors with the NEW PERFECTION Wick Blue Flame cook stove. Does exactly the work of the coal range without the terrible exhausting heat and the dirt and trouble. Burns clean, convenient, economical oil; almost saves its cost during the season.

NEW PERFECTIONS come in 2, 3, and 4 burner sizes, which your dealer can show you. Ask him to explain the special burner construction, how the broiler broils on both sides at once, and about the patented fuel reservoir, refilled without turning off your fire.

Makes the heavy summer cooking easy, the kitchen pleasant. None of the dangers of gasoline; no smoke, no odor.

New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-stove

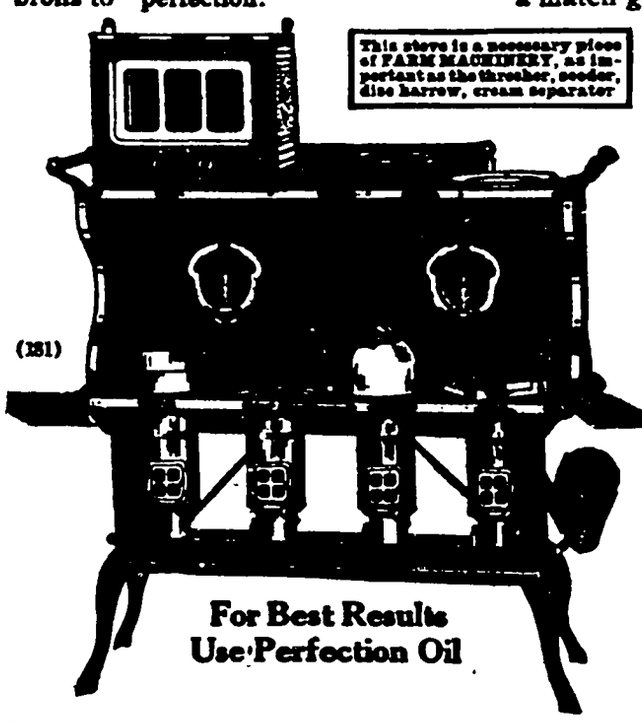
Be sure and see the latest model with the new THERMOS oven, an invention that gives you a range and fireless cooker combined. Don't forget that fuel saving soon makes up the price of the stove. That a cool kitchen makes cooking easy, especially when striking a match gives you your fire.

Note, in the picture, the cabinet top, the fine, big oven, the shelves and the towel racks. Roasts, bakes, toasts and broils to "perfection."



72-Page Cook Book FREE, for 5 Cents Postage. Address

The Standard Oil Company
Chicago, Ill.
(AN INDIANA CORPORATION)

For Best Results Use Perfection Oil

Burns Clean, Safe, Convenient Oil— Most Economical of Fuel

AT MEMORY'S KINDLY WILL

Brightly Burning Fire Aroused Sentimental Thoughts, Though Not of "Love's Young Dream."

He was sitting in front of a brightly-burning fire talking to her. After a while he said thoughtfully:

"This reminds me of a grate that I used to sit in front of years ago."

"I can well imagine how you enjoyed those evenings," she responded hopefully; "open fires give one such a sense of home." But he went on talking of drafts and heat and ashes and the hygienic condition of a room ventilated by a fireplace.

"I have never known a grate," he continued, "like that one in the home of the girl where I used to go so often."

A long silence followed, the crackling of the fire being the only sound in the room. It was broken at last by him in a voice that had echoed of a dear memory in its tones:

"You cannot imagine how I loved that—grate!"

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Something to Be Thankful For.

Casey had been ill more than a week when his wife met Mrs. Murphy on the street and the following conversation ensued:

"Mrs. Casey, and how is your husband gettin' along?" asked Mrs. Murphy.

"Ah, indade, Pat is a very sick man," said Mrs. Casey.

"Sure, and what is the matter with him?" inquired Mrs. Murphy.

"'Tis the gangrene, the doctor tells us, Mrs. Murphy."

"Ah, that's bad," sid Mrs. Murphy, "but let's praise the Lord for the color."

Putnam Fadeless Dyes make no muss. Adv.

But even if a man has no ax to grind, he can usually get a job turning the grindstone for some one who has.

The weaker a man is the stronger his habits grow on him.

Quite Probable.

Pat was showing his freshly landed friend through New York, and the sights were pointed out to the newcomer with the pride of one thoroughly at home in the land. Finally they paused in front of Trinity church, at the head of Wall street, and while the ancient graveyard was being explored, the bell in the steeple began to ring.

Casey, the newcomer, looked up at the tower a moment, and then turned to his friend. "Tell me, Pat," he said, "why does the bell ring at this time of day?"

Pat studied the questioner a moment, and then observed: "'Tis my idea there's some wan pullin' th' rope."

STOP THAT BACKACHE

There's nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. You are lame when you awake. Pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to rest and next day it's the same old story.

Pain in the back is nature's warning of kidney ills. Neglect may pave the way to dropsy, gravel, or other serious kidney sickness.

Don't delay—begin using Doan's Kidney Pills—the remedy that has been curing backache and kidney trouble for over fifty years.

A TEXAS CASE

J. H. Lee, 412 W. Walnut St., Cleburne, Texas, says: "For four years I had intense pains through the small of my back. I could hardly pass the kidney secretions and morphine was the only thing that relieved me. I had gravel, too. Finally, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they permanently cured me I haven't suffered since."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS

If you feel 'OUT of SORTS' 'RUN DOWN' 'GOT the BLUES' SUFFER from KIDNEY, BLADDER, NERVOUS DISEASES, CHRONIC WEAKNESS, ULCERS, SKIN ERUPTIONS, PILES, write for FREE CLOTH BOUND MEDICAL BOOK on these diseases and WONDERFUL CURES effected by THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY No.1 No.2 No.3 and decide for yourself if it is the remedy for YOUR OWN ailment. Absolutely FREE. No 'follow up' circulars. No obligations. DR. LEROY MED. CO., HAVERSTOCK RD., HAMPSTEAD, LONDON, ENG. WE WANT TO PROVE THERAPION WILL CURE YOU.

THERAPION

Pettit's Eye Salve SMARTING SORE LIDS

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 20-1914.

ADDRESSED TO WOMEN

In the Expectant Period

Before the coming of the little one—women need to be possessed of all their natural strength. Instead of being harassed by forebodings and weakened by nausea, sleeplessness; or nervousness—if you will bring to your aid you will find that most of the suffering will not make its appearance.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

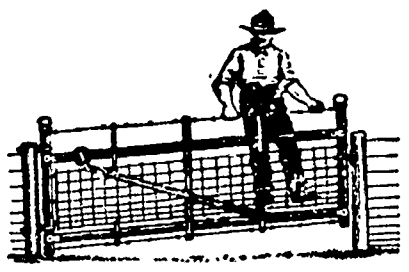
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of a life study of ailments, disorders and irregularities peculiar to women. Its continued supremacy in its particular field for more than forty years is your assurance of the benefit to be derived from its use.

Neither narcotics nor alcohol will be found in this vegetable prescription, in liquid or tablet form. Sold by druggists or a trial box will be sent you by mail on receipt of 50 one-cent stamps.

Address Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels

This Will Break Most Gates!



How many gates will support a 200 lb. man at the extreme end without breaking? You can do this on a MOYER and make the test more severe by jumping on it. It is a terrific strain—more than any gate will get in actual use, but it shows the wonderful sturdiness of the MOYER. See it at this store.

30 Days' Trial—Free

¶ Put up a MOYER Steel Gate. Use it 30 days. Give it actual wear. Use your own judgment as to whether you keep it or not.

Exclusive Dealers

H. LAU & SON Klemme, Iowa

G. W. KLUCKHOHN
"THE LAND MAN"

If you wish to sell your farm list it with me

If you wish to buy—ask me about some good farms

KLEMME DRAY LINE

A. F. HUBBARD, Proprietor

A share of your patronage is solicited

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Leave Orders at Kirkwood's Restaurant

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully

Your patronage is respectfully solicited

Charges Reasonable

Fred Kluckhohn, Prop.

Coal Hauling a Specialty

Where Will You Spend Your Summer Vacation?

The mountains, the woods, the seashore, all offer the maximum in outdoor life.

Colorado and the Rockies fill every requirement—there are also Yellowstone Park and Pacific Coast, if one has time for a more extended tour.

North and east are the woods and lakes of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, offering for enjoyment every phase of outdoor life.

Further east are the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence River and Atlantic Sea Coast.

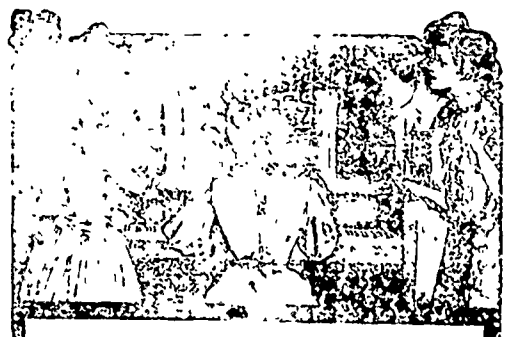
Low Fares will be in effect daily all summer via the Rock Island Lines.

Finest modern all-steel equipment

Rock Island

Let me help you plan a delightful outing.

T. F. MITCHELL, Agent,
Rock Island Lines
Klemme, Iowa



Where Youth is

the Hamilton Piano has a place.

Whether you own a piano or have any idea of buying one, we want you, for the pure enjoyment of it, to hear the Hamilton.

There is a quality in the tone of this piano found in the kind of music that lives:—warm, deep and sweet; and it is a tone that sings.

It's the great thing, this human interest, in the tone of a home piano particularly and one that except in the costliest makes, is met with as rarely as songs like "Annie Laurie."

And when you know that the Hamilton Piano is a favorite all over the world, because of its resistance to climatic changes, you can understand what a splendidly constructed instrument it is.

Come in and hear it.

M. M Magner

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Hancock county at the June primaries, 1914 And as it has been customary to give all officers two terms I would sincerely appreciate the same favor of the voters of this county.

Yours truly,
A E Baumgartner.

I hereby announce myself Republican candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county subject to the decision of the June 1914 primary.

Ray Thada.

Auditor

I hereby make public announcement of my candidacy for the office of County Auditor before the coming June Primaries, and respectfully solicit your support and assistance. Peck Hanson.

TREASURER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county treasurer of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

THOS. H. THOMPSON.

Recorder

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries, June 1914.

Christyna Callison.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder at the June Primaries.

Jennie Hammill

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Recorder of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the coming June primaries

G. G Washburn

CLERK OF COURTS

To the Republican Electors of Hancock county, Iowa:—

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock county, Iowa, subject to the decision of the June primaries of 1914.

E. L. STILSON,
Corwith, Iowa

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court and that I will accept the decision of the voters in the Republican party in Hancock county at the Primary election which is to be held in June 1914.

J D. G Houghton.
Goodell, Iowa.

Supervisor

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Supervisor of the 3rd district of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June 1914.

Martin Bachman

I hereby announce myself a candidate of County Supervisor of the 3rd District of Hancock county subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary in June.

Valentine Josten, Jr.

Supervisor 2nd District

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for the office of Supervisor of 2nd District of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June Primary election.

A E Katter.

County Attorney

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock county, subject to the June. 1914, Republican primaries.

I. C. Hastings.

Representative

I hereby announce myself as Republican candidate for the nomination of Representative of Hancock county, subject to the June primaries. A. J Cole

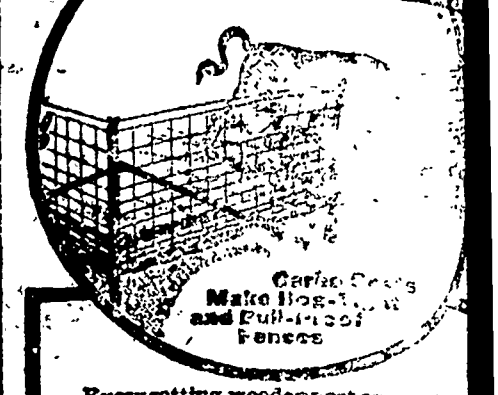
I hereby announce myself a Republican candidate for Representative of Hancock county subject to the June primary. Feeling grateful for past support, I kindly ask your consideration.

S. B. Durant.

We Sell at Right Prices

Lumber, Lath,
Shingles,
Posts, Sash,
Doors, Blinds,
Cement
Fencing
Lime
Plaster
Roofing
Sewer Pipe
Drain Pipe
Brick

35c for One Post Saves 2 Rods of Fence



Every rotting wooden post on your farm ruins two or more rods of expensive fencing. Avoid this extra expense and make your fence last a lifetime, improve your farm's appearance and raise its value.

CARBO
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
Steel Posts

the one best post proposition for the farmer on the market. They are the only flexible, steel fence posts made. Easy to set—no concrete or special tools needed. Can't rot, break, burn, get out of place. Rust and acid proof. Ordinary staples for any kind of fence. Strong enough for end and gate posts without permanent foundation.

See Carbo Posts at our store.

Better come in today, and see for yourself—and then take enough home to replace those rotten wooden ones, as a trial. Cost less than you'd think. Ask about our low prices.

CARBO STEEL POST CO., Mfrs., Chicago, Ill.

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

NOTICE!

we are calling on all farmers and town people for business at

--NORTH ELEVATOR--

in all kinds of GRAIN, COAL and LIVE STOCK.

Will guarantee straight business will be given to all.

Telephone No. 16 Yours for business,

AUG. LAU & SON

Ice Cream And Soft Drinks

Our new fountain is at your service and we are dispensing the latest and most popular drinks and fancy dishes. Try a Tango Sundae.

City Restaurant & Hotel

A. KIRKWOOD & SON Props.

ATTENTION FARMERS:

This is the time of the year to get your Machines ready for Spring and Summer work I am equipped to do your Blacksmith work in a first class manner I also have the agency for the famous Robinson Manure Spreader.

GIVE ME A CALL

W. F. PAVEY

DON'T FORGET

This store when you need anything in the line of Hardware and Farm Implements. Full line of Heaters, Cook stoves and Ranges. The best makes in Farm Machinery. We also handle the best Paints, Oils and Varnish.

Groceries, Flour and Feed

Our prices are right. You are invited to call.

GRUETZMACHER BROS.

THE KLEMME TIMES

VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 41 KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY JUNE 4, 1914. $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

When You Select This Bank

do your banking business with, you can feel assured of prompt and faithful service in every department.

Our earned Surplus of $15,000.00

is proof of the success of this policy.

Are you comfortably fixed? You can be if you Bank your money NOW

Every man looks forward to being comfortably fixed some day, but whatever any man looks forward to cannot be acquired over night. If you want to be comfortably fixed SOME DAY, you must begin by starting a bank account NOW. Your money saved in the bank, and your loan interest in seeing your balance grow is the thing that will make it grow.

Do YOUR banking with US

State Savings Bank.

Klemme - - Iowa

Capital $15,000.00 | Total $30,000.00
Surplus $15,000.00 |

Can you beat it?

W. R. BLOOM

—THE—

GRAIN COAL AND LIVE STOCK MAN

will buy hogs six days in the week at the highest market prices.

Business established 1890.

Primary Results

Monday was an ideal day and owing to the supervisor contest a fairly good vote was polled. Some surprises were sprung but the result was the wish of the majority of the voters and all of those nominated will make good officials.

The following is the vote in the county.

For Recorder

Hammill	1283
Callison	584
Washburn	232

For Representative

Durant	1089
Cole	729

For Sheriff

Baumgartner	1607
Thuda	408

For Treasurer

Thompson	1179
Lewis	842

For Clerk

Stilson	973
Houghton	945

For Govenor

Clarke	1092
Lee	551
Rowley	138

For Supervisor

Buckman	201
Justen	164

Cummins carried the county by nearly 500 majority.

Graduating Exercises

The graduating exercises held at the opera house last Friday evening was very largely attended and very much enjoyed by those present. The graduates this year consisted of three boys as follows: Clarence George Waterman, Holly Aaron Lewis, Herald Alvin Gruetzmacher. Mr. Waterman gave for his oration, "Memorial Day", Mr. Gruetzmacher, "The Rise, Reign, and Fall of the United States", and Mr. Lewis, "Thomas A. Edison.

The hall was very prettily decorated in the class colors, pea green and pink.

We wish to join the many friends of the graduates in extending congratulations. They will enter some other school and take more advanced work.

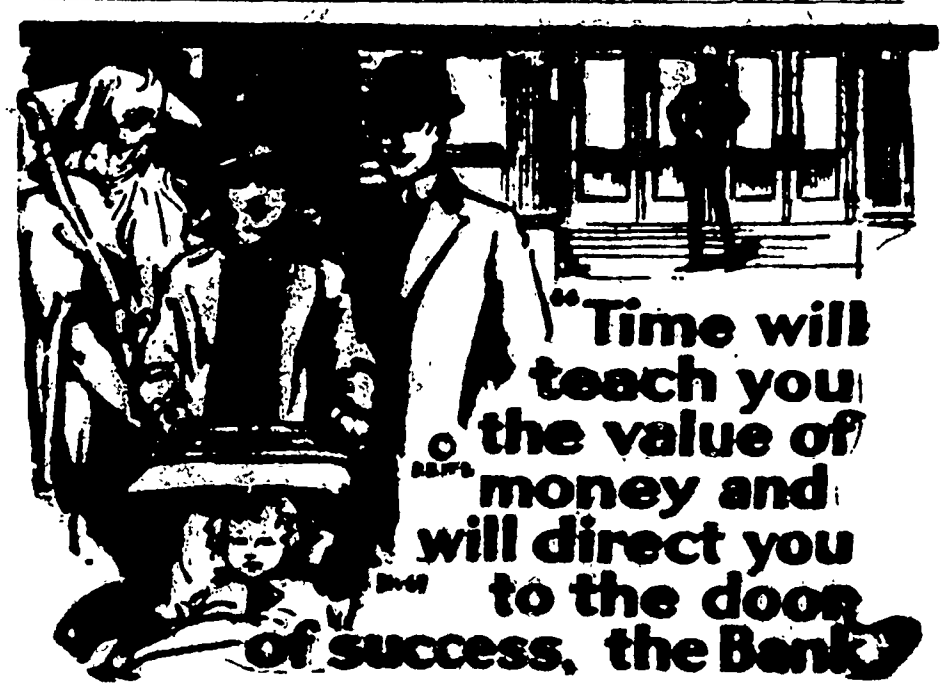
Roads Were Fine And Town Was Booming

An auto trip to Klemme and Goodell yesterday with Mr. D. Mosher convinced us that Hancock county is alive on the good road proposition. Near F. L. Lemke's place a fine stretch of grade has been put in. Over near Geo. Avery's we found another half mile of grade going in, besides a big fill over southwest of Klemme, where the road is being straightened. The dragging had been well attended to also. We found the town of Klemme fairly bubbling over with buildings and improvements of all kinds.—Meservey Register.

Papers Consolidate

The Belmond Herald and Iowa Valley Press have been consolidated, and this leaves Belmond, with only one paper. The consolidated paper will be known as the Herald-Press and will be owned by a stock company. The Ramsay Bros. are the chief stockholders and will manage the business.

Come to the Carnival and ball game next Tuesday and Wednesday.



Your account will be appreciated in this progressive Bank if you desire satisfactory banking relations.

Here you have the advantages of the best service and a system that insures accurate supervision of every detail employed in safe banking. You will be under no obligation whatever in seeking our advice relative to your banking arrangements and we pledge confidence.

4 Per Cent Interest Paid on Savings

First National Bank, Klemme, Iowa

Prepare Now For Fly Time — SCREENS — Wire and Cloth Netting And Frames

We carry a FULL LINE of WIRE NETTING for window and door screens. Galvanized and copper wire for those who demand the kind that lasts longest. We CUT any SIZE you want. You can PHONE.

C. W. WILES

A. C. LAU & SON

Highest Market Price for GRAIN AND LIVESTOCK

Six More Silos

The following parties have just received Independent silos which they purchased through Walter Ross: Wm. Smith, Geo. Kessler, Ralph Elder, Albert Fuller, Fred Gates and Fred Wilkins. This will make over 20 silos erected in this community this spring.

Look Here

You dont need a new roof. Come and get you some Arco Seelit. This will stop your leak for 10 years. It will also stop the leakage in your water tank or hog troughs. It will do wonders for you. Try it.

Henry Lau and Son,
Klemme, Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

M. M. MAGNER, Publisher.

KLEMME, IOWA

In the concluding part of a recent address before the wireless society of London, A A Campbell Swinton, speaking of the wireless transmission of power, first referred to the strong belief of Messrs. Tesla and Pederson in its future and then called attention to the fact that on a clear day the earth receives from the sun no less than 4,500,000 horsepower to each square mile of surface. This enormous supply of power comes in the form of electro-magnetic waves and via wireless. Evidently, therefore, there is no doubt as to the possibility of transmitting stupendous amounts of energy without wires Regarding the possibility of using this carrier efficiently for any other purpose than that of simple communication, Swinton seemed skeptical.

Congressman John J. Whitacre, of Ohio, who recently caused considerable comment throughout the country by the statement that congress is no place for a man who is intellectually honest, began his career as a student in a law school, taking care of the office of a justice of the peace for a minimum wage at the same time. In time he became a successful lawyer, but finally engaged in the manufacturing business and in this he has risen to fortune. He owns a large building tile plant and has paid little attention to law as a profession for years In congress he seldom makes a speech It is said of him that he is one of the greatest readers in the House

The annual report of the Massachusetts Bible society calls attention to the fact that it keeps on sale at its Boston depository bibles or parts of bibles in 42 languages. Here is the list Arabic, Armenian, Armeno-Turkish, Bohemian, Bulgarian, Chinese, Croatian, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, Flemish, French, Gaelic German, Greek, Hawaiian, Hebrew, Hungarian, Icelandic, Irish, Italian Japanese, Korean, Latin Lettish, Lithuanian, Malay and Philippines, Norwegian, Polish, Portuguese Reval-Esthonian, Rumanian, Russian, Ruthenian Servian, Slavic, Slovak, Slovenian Spanish, Swedish, Syriac Turkish, Welsh and Yiddish

A friend who went to see Verdi when he was staying in a villa at Moncalieri found him in a room which, Verdi said, was his drawing room, dining room and bed room combined, adding. "I have two other large rooms, but they are full of things that I have hired for the season ' Verdi threw open the doors and showed him a collection of several dozen piano-organs When I arrived here he said all these organs were playing airs from Rigoletto,' 'Trovatore' and my other operas from morning till night I was so annoyed that I hired the whole lot for the season It has cost me about 1,000 francs, but at all events I am left in peace"

Entering a tram car a Scottish fishwife thought she recognized another passenger as an acquaintance. She bent forward and with a smile said "That's you, isn t it" I hardly kent ye "Aye, that's me," replied the other, "and that's you isn t it" Hoo are ye?" "Oh, A'm nae that bad ' was the reply After this silence ensued and the first speaker, on further scrutiny, became convinced that the woman opposite was not an acquaintance, after all. Again she bent forward and with an apologetic smile remarked "But that's nae you at a ' ' "Nae," replied the other "It's nae nane o' us '

Hollanders boast that God made the world, but the Dutch made Holland Land reclamation a task that has been prosecuted steadily for centuries with such indefatigable energy, is still going on as actively as ever in Holland. From 200,000 to 25,000 acres of land are reclaimed every year It is said however that more than 250,000 acres of the best soil is still under water not including the great area under the Zuyder Zee the reclamation of which is a perennial topic of discussion

At the present session of the Canadian parliament the government was asked the reason why contracts were given last year for American coal for the Intercolonial railroad, a government road rather than to Canadian mines. The answer was made that the American coal could be procured at a more reasonable figure and with a quicker delivery From the discussion which ensued it would appear that this year's contract had been awarded to American firms.

Dr Bottlinger, of Munich, has made a very interesting attempt to show that gravitation is absorbed in traversing a medium, so that the interposition of a third body between two others affects their mutual attraction. He is of the opinion that the attraction of the sun on the moon is enfeebled when the earth comes between them, that is, when there is an eclipse, and it is to be remarked that the effect of two consecutive eclipses nearly destroy one another

As Somersetshire is devoted chiefly to dairying, cattle raising and shepherding the Somerset horned sheep, the Devon long wools, and the hardy Exmoor breed are there found in perfection, as well as herds of nonpedigreed Shorthorns for the production of the famous Cheddar cheese. Agriculture is extensively carried on in Gloucestershire and Wiltshire also, but one does not there find the variety of Somerset

The total membership of the Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Disciples, Congregational and Episcopal churches in Los Angeles, Cal., is approximately 50,000. This is 5,000 more than was reported a year ago, says the Northwestern Christian Advocate, making a 10 per cent gain in membership, compared with a 2 per cent increase for the same denominations throughout the country.

In order to visit her husband, who was 90 miles away, Mrs. Albert Baker, of Eugene, Ore., recently rode on horseback 180 miles in four days, part of the time riding through a drenching rain. On the way she had to cross the Coast Range mountain, over heavy, muddy roads, and rarely found houses closer than five miles apart.

APPENDIX AND OTHER INTERNAL MECHANISM ALL ON WRONG SIDE

Unusual Anatomical Conditions Revealed by Operation at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., June 1.—George Arger, 22, a laborer, is recovering from an operation for the removal of his appendix from his left side. He is declared by Dr. Howard J. Wright and Dr. J. W. Grenman, who operated upon him to be "a man in 30,000 men."

Argey, in colloquial language, is "all balled up" inside. His appendix, Dr Wright explained, should have been found on the right side. His heart, instead of thumping Argey's left side, beats its tango against the right laterals

Argey is transposed, internally. Organs which should be on the left side perform their functions on the right side of his body and those that should ordinarily be found on the right are opposite their proper positions.

And still Argey suffers no discomfort. His heart action is normal and all the other organs perform their work just as they do in a man of normal construction He was operated upon for appendicitis, and when the pain appeared on the left or wrong side, the doctors merely thought it had been projected They made their incision, however, above the pain, suspecting an unusual condition of affairs, and right there, before their eyes nestled the vagrant appendix, nearly 90 degrees of latitude away from home

"The case is extremely unusual," said Dr Wright "I believe there have been only a few score reported in the history of surgery I should say that only one person in 30,000 is so transposed as Argey."

JUDGE M'PHERSON ROASTS IMMIGRATION INSPECTORS

Des Moines, Ia , June 1 —Judge Smith McPherson, of the federal court took occasion to pay his respects to the method employed by immigration inspectors to deport aliens, in an opinion given yesterday releasing Joseph and Barbara Schmoan, natives of Syria, from the county jail

"It is utterly unavailing and farcial for the inspector to hold a hearing in private and when he has concluded to then advise the alien that he may have the assistance of a lawyer, who may inspect the records and offer counterproof," says the opinion

The court puts himself on record in the opinion as strongly against the practice of putting fallen women in jail and denying them the ordinary treatment accorded other prisoners.

"If this policy is to be maintained of putting women in jail and denying them the right to consult lawyers or to see their friends, and if such is to be the established course, then it is not for us longer to complain of the treatment of Americans who are thrown in jail in certain other countries, now fresh in the minds of American people," continues the decision

FIRE AT ROYAL ENDANGERS ENTIRE BUSINESS SECTION

Royal Ia , June 1.—The thriving little city of Royal came very near being destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon when the H. Rasmussen blacksmith shop caught fire and burned to the ground. The extreme danger to the town arose from the fact that the burned shop abutted on the Royal Lumber company's lumber yards If this had caught fire, the adjacent lumber shed and yards of the Jones-Hendricksen Lumber company would have burned also, which would have endangered the main business portion of the town A strong wind was blowing in the direction of the lumber yard at the time, but prompt action on the part of the bucket bridge saved the day The fire originated from an explosion of the gasoline supply pipe to Mr Rasmussen s gasoline engine

WEBSTER CITY WOMEN GET $500 CONTRIBUTION

Webster City Ia , June 1 —The Methodist Ladies' Aid society of this city got a big surprise this morning in the way of a $500 contribution from a former member of the church, who has lived in Spokane Wash now for many years The contribution came to Rev C H Kamphoefner, pastor of the church, with the request that it be turned over to the ladies and that they use it to apply on the amount this organization had pledged on the fine new $35,000 church

The donor was O O Hall, a former well known Webster City attorney The Hall family lived in Webster City years ago and were prominent in the business and social life of the city The gift of $500 is much appreciated by the ladies who had pledged $3,500 toward the building fund of the church besides paying for the new pipe organ

NEW CHURCH AT HORNICK DEDICATED SUNDAY, JUNE 7

Hornick, Ia , June 1.—Formal dedicatory services of the Hornick Congregational church will take place on Sunday, June 7, with morning and evening services. At the morning service, Rev. E. D. Calkins of Castana, will give the invocation and Rev. E. C. Wolcott, of Sioux City, will deliver the sermon. Reception of new members will be conducted by the pastor, Rev E. C. Ford, of Sioux City, followed by a communion service, conducted by Rev. George Croker, of Whiting, and Rev. E. D Calkins, of Castana. At the evening service addresses will be made by Rev. William Hardcastle and Rev. Wallace M. Short.

EARL PERKINS SENTENCED TO 20 YEARS IN PRISON

Glenwood, Ia., June 1.—In district court Judge Thornell is hearing the case of T. Q. Records against George O. Free, treasurer of Mills county. The case is the outgrowth of paving Vine street. The concrete paving was defective. The street was resurfaced with brick. An injunction was granted Records in the payment of assessment against his property.

Judge Thornell overruled motions for new trials in the cases of Earl Perkins, convicted at this term for assault, and that of Arno Schaller for obstructing the highway. Perkins was given 20 years and Schaller five, years at Fort Madison.

AUTOMOBILE BANDITS HOLD UP YOUNG MEN ON IDA COUNTY ROAD

